Justice McReynolds, Ardent New Deal Foe, Quits Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22 (AP)-Justice James Clark Mc-Reynolds, outspoken opponent of much new deal legislation, notified President Roosevelt today that he would retire from the supreme court February 1 after 26 years of service.

The veteran jurist, who will be 79 years old February 3, was the only member of the tribunal described by administration officials as "conservative."

His retirement opens the way for Mr. Roosevelt to make his sixth appointment to the nine-man court. There have been reports that Chief Justice Hughes, 78, might retire soon, but they have been unconfirmed. Friends expressed the belief that Hughes would remain on the court as long as his health permitted him to do the work.

Attorney General Robert H. Jackson has been mentioned frequently as a possible appointee to the first vacancy on the court.

McReynolds' notification to the president was a formal, two-sentence letter, it stated his intention of withdrawing from the court under the law permitting the retire-ment at full pay of $20,000 annually of justices over 70 who have served 10 consecutive years on the supreme bench.

"I have the honor to advise you," McReynolds wrote, "that on the first day of February next I will avail myself of the rights, privileges and obligations declared in the act of congress entitled an act to provide for retirement of justices of the supreme court approv-ed March 1, 1937 x x x and retire from regular active service on the bench as an associate justice of the supreme court.

Dana X. Bible, bald-headed Texas university football coach, made a staunch defense of the game before a banquet crowd of more than 200 persons Tuesday evening as the Big Spring Steers, champions of district 3-AA were honored by the Llons club.

Mixing a bit of philosophy with a store of humorous stories about the game, Bible contended strongly that football is making a vital contribution to the educational system of the nation by inculating into its participants the spirit of clean, fair, or competition and cooperation. Owing to the Lions club annual football banquet Tuesday night, Big Spring high school's basketball roundelay with San Angelo in the local gym on the same night was called off. Blissfully ignorant of the change, this department announced to the paying customers that their attendance would not only be welcome but would be downright appreciated. According to the district 3-AA basketball league schedule, Big Spring would entertain San Angelo and Sweetwater would be host to Colorado City.

Now, the game is called for Thursday, January 23. The following night Big Spring will move into Colorado City for another lick at loop competition. We sincerely hope that is ner and a dance in addition to the business meeting. Membership of

This part of West Texas has again been left out in the cold as far as state athletic recognition is concerned. San Angelo put up a bustling fight to draw the Texas High School Coaches' Association's annual parley and grid show to West Texas in August, but lost out to the beckoning finger of Houston.

West Texans can console themselves with the thought that it took a good many years for Southwest football to gain a spot in the national picture, and now look at it.

Basketball season has just passed the midway mark, but it looks as though some city cagers will display their wares after all. Plans are nearly completed for a major-city league, with the games to be played in the high school gym. Backers of the project made a deal with school authorities to hire the court on an hourly basis twice a week and intend to start immediately.

Wall Between Town, Country Disappears

en built is in the steady process of demolition. Reference, of course, is to the once formidable barrier between town and country.

If there ever was any reason for existence this "spite" fense, it escapes us. It just grew up because neither side had proper understanding of the problems of the other; and suspicion flourished.

Today, the man who lives in the fartherest corner of the county is closer than was the walking man who dwelled in the remotest corner of town back in the days when the wall was built. Rapidly, rural homes are getting the same conveniences extended previously to urban dwellings.

As a natural course, each group is more sympathetic with problems of the other. They know now that what helps the one helps the other.

A great stride was made two years ago when

One of those walls which never should have the chamber of commerce inaugurated its goodwill dinner series. Town and country men got to know each other better by simply visiting. The idea was so popular that suggestions have been made-and well they might be-that the chamber be known as the Howard County Chamber of Commerce.

Little more than a year ago county and city commissioners began having joint meetings to help Iron out minor differences. Since then relations of the two units have been improving. Now the county commissioners court and the city commission have agreed to name members to a joint committee to study the charity problem—the biggest bone of contention between the two. On the basis of what has been accomplished already, there is reason to believe that this matter may be solved and another chunk of the wall rolled away.

Dallas Plane Factory Almost Bomber Proof

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON-The foreman of a huge airplane factory walks through the shop, tapping this man and that on the shoulder, "As part of the defense program," he says, "we're having a camouflage drill. Get up on the roof and play a round of golf." unds silly, doesn't it? But take the word of a group of Pitts-burgh steel firm officials here to iscuss plant construction possibilities with the national defense commission, something like that can happen in a few months in Texas, Here's how:

Work already has started at Hensley field, near Dallas, according to J. Gordon Trumbull, steel company engineer, on a 20acre, all-blackout, camouflaged plant for the North American Aviation Co Construction plans call for a dummy golf course on the 20-acre roof. And what could make the camouflage so effective as having a couple of foursomes apparently dubbing around in case enemy scouting planes were out searching for possible objec-

Walls of the plant are to be f pre-fabricated, corrugated, plinter-proof steel. There will not be a window in the building. Exits and entrances will have double doors, like storm doors, so that under no circumstances can light escape from the building. Inside the corrugations of the walls will run the tubing for airconditioning and wires for flourescent lights which will illuminate the interior night and day. The plant is the second structure built along these lines by ing the Allison airplane engine plant at Indianapolis. The comin Liverpool, England, where the structures have been tested under actual war conditions. According to cabled reports from London, one of the chief benefits to the building under bomb-fire is that when direct or close hits blow out the walls, damaged sections can be replaced almost instantly.

SEE CONSTRUCTION RECORD The Texas plant, officials say, will be completed in 105 days from the time work started, believed to be a record for construction of a factory of such size.

The Dallas plant is just another step in the use of pre-fabricated steel in the defense program. At Quantico, Va., the Marine Corpo base, 100 enlisted men and their families soon will be occupying the first defense housing program homes built of pre-fabricated, welded steel panels. The same construction is being used in 100 twelve-family apartment units for shipyard employes at Newport News, Va.

These houses are demountable under roofs of sheet steel panels and, except for outer sidewalls of asbestos shingles over insula tion board sheathing, are completely of steel. In the case of the Quantico two-family units, ten men working eight hours can a single day. Each side of the 48by-28-foot buildings contains a living room, combination kitchen and dinette, two bedrooms and a

The defense commission has under consideration still a third pre-fabricated steel housing program, the designer of which claims he can house 700,000 per--sons in six months.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds-

Many Oldtimers Hold Limelight In Movies

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD - There was quite a to-do a few years back over Hollywood's "discovery" of the astounding fact that actors and actresses long past the spring chicken stage had boxof-The "discovery" was prompted by the renewed career of Marie Dressler, a hopeless has-been who couldn't get anywhere in Holly-wood until Garbo talked. The connection was not direct, only if Garbo hadn't talked in "Anna Christie" then Marie wouldn't have talked either, and Marie have had to wait a few years before showing the locals when life really begins if your

About that time Lionel Barrymore, too, was picking up an ar, and Will Rogers was giving leasons in the art of being yourself to win friends, and pretsoon it looked as if anybody under 40 would have to be content with playing second fiddle to the aldsters especially after May Robson, talked into it by her Marie, got herself a job with Frank Capra and renewed her career with "Lady for a Day." . . .

the only producer on Broadway

Well, youth finally got a look-in again, aided by the Temple las-sic and the Gable kid, and Hollywood got around to noticing how nicely Lana Turner wore sweaters. This put Hollywood approximately back where it was in the beginning and where it had remained until Clara Bow and "It" left the movies together.

With Mickey Rooney on top of the heap and Judy Garland in the leading ten, and Wallace Beery the only real old-timer in that select group, youth shouldn't have to lose sleep for awhile over another life-begins-at-40 peril. Yet, if you look around the sound stages today, you'll see the brigade of the elders hasn't been entirely washed from the impor-

You'll see, in fact, that the Dressler-Rogers-Robson school is still functioning. No boxoffice leads yet—outside of Beery—but they're a threat.

Lionel Barrymore is still in there pitching, and his kid brother John Wwhom it's now safe to call an ex-romantic) has joined the battle on the side of the characters. May Robson carries on with the nerve of an ingenue tackling her first lead.

And down "Tobacco Road" you'll find Marjorie Rambeau. If Miss Rambeau had been away somewhere, her "Tugboat Annie" could have been called a comeback. As she hadn't "Tugboat Annie" was merely a starring ve-hicle deserved because never, in a long series of supporting characters, had she falled to make herself memorable.

And some of the younger boys, as if to keep in step, continue to anticipate the years in their characters. Claude Rains is no youth, but he's not the snow-haired ec centric of his Belasco impersonation, nor yet is he the cane-bearing music master of his Lemps. Ditto Walter Brennan, Not to be outdone. Orson Welles, and he only 25, finishes his "Citizen Kane" as a doddering antiquity.

Big Spring Schools Receive Defense Class Applications

Applications are now being received at the school administration of fice from two of three classes to be accomposated in a national defense training program scheduled to start at the high school in February. W. C. Blankenship, city school superintendent, said that applica-tions would be received from out-particular defense work.

Soon the division for refresher courses will be opened for applications. The Texas State Employment Service has listed 73 men as eligible for the refresher courses, and 143 boys eligible for the bracket between 17-24 years. The advisory committee has recommended instruction in aircraft sheet metal, machine tools, elec-

David threw her a kiss. He got back into the car, turned it around, and headed for his own home-the Wiley cottage, on Elm Street, wherein he had cared for a seemingly endless stream of relatives. He smiled to himself as he drove along, thinking that if all the pills he had administered to ailing relatives were piled into
