Santa Anna ISD Recognized For Outstanding Safety Program

Mr. Jim McPherson, Superintendent of the Santa Anna Independent School District was recently honored for outstanding employee safety by the North Texas Educational Insurance Association at its annual meeting conducted in Austin, Texas.

The Association consists of 104 participating school districts located throughout northern and central Texas.

The district is a member of a uniquely designed partially self-funded workers' compensation program developed by Hibbs-Hallmark & Company and administered by Claims Administrative Services, Inc., both located in Tyler.

Hibbs-Hallmark & Company currently provides workers' compensation programs to over 23 percent of all schools in Texas.

The purpose of the meeting was to recognize those districts that have held both the number and severity of employee accidents to a very low level. The combined savings during the 1992-93 school years, for all participating districts, was over 1.4 million dollars when compared to the costs of fully insured programs. The total savings for all districts since inception of the programs in 1991 exceed $11 million dollars.

The Santa Anna Independent School District was a Diamond award recipient with the actual losses from employee accidents equaling less than 10 percent of the fund set aside by the district for claims expenses. The actual savings to the school district was $21,287.

"Our self insurance program was designed to provide the highest level of safety and offer the greatest potential for premium savings to the districts," said Billy Hibbs, President of Hibbs-Hallmark & Company. "We have a team of safety professionals who help the districts to implement a strict set of safety policies and procedures."

Claims Administrative Services, Inc. President, Barry Jones, stated "Safety in the workplace is such an important issue and the administrators who have achieved such a high level of success in the area of employee safety deserve this special recognition. The taxpayers should also be pleased to know that the Board of Trustees and the administra-

Recently Appointed Council Lady Files For Election

Wanda Campbell has filed as a candidate for one of three City Council seats up for grabs in the May 7 election. Ms. Campbell was recently appointed to serve on the council after Tom Hays resigned citing health problems. Her place as well as those currently held by Emmitt Simmons and Karen Morris are to be filled in the election. There has been no indication from Simmons or Morris as to their intentions for seeking another term.

In the school board election, both incumbents whose terms expire, Barbara Simmon and Sharon Guthrie, have filed for re-election to their posts. As of Tuesday afternoon, they were alone as school board candidates.

March 23 is filing deadline in the city election and the school board election.

Santa Anna Volunteer Fire Department Begins Associate Membership Drive

The Santa Anna Volunteer Fire Department has begun their annual associate membership drive.

The year 1993 was a busy year for the local fire department responding to 46 rural fires and 11 city fires. Many of the rural fires answered were big and were in rough country.

With the help of the Texas Forest Service, the local fire department was able to obtain a five ton G1 truck. The truck has been outfitted with the necessary equipment including a 1000 gallon tank.

The Forest Service requires that a building to house the truck be provided by the fire department. Presently the local department is constructing such a building.

Due to the numerous calls in 1993, outfitting the new truck, the construction of the building, upkeep, repair and replacement of fire fighting equipment, expenses have skyrocketed again.

The local volunteer fire department asks for your assistance in their annual associate membership drive.

Officers with the fire department are Donald Strickland, chief; Lee Ray Huggins, assistant chief; Scott Patterson, president; James Morris, vice president; Freddie Dodson, secretary-treasurer; Marty Donham, captain; Bobby Morgan, assistant captain; Wayne Philpot, assistant captain; Freddie Dodson, reporter;

Library Notes

Check It Out

By Alice Anna Spillman

Several people have remarked about how different the TV movie of Heaven and Hell was. The publicity does say based on the book by John Jakes. Apparently this gives great freedom. The library has a copy of the book if you want to read the original story. Promotions list a TV movie called Christi to be shown over the Easter weekend. This book is on library shelves, so you might plan to read it before April 3.

While looking for the John Jakes books we noticed that the first book of the series is missing, North and South is long overdue. In fact, we are working on a list of books that are out there on someone's shelves. Please check because others may want to read that book you have.

Several weeks ago this column mentioned several books that had been requested. Last week Mrs. H. W. Norris brought in the Bridges of Madison County. She received two copies at Christmas and wanted to share with the library. This is still number four on the Best Seller list. We have been told that it is an old fashioned love story. Thank you Juanice. By the way The Client also came in. So come read 'em.

M. L. Guthrie brought a couple of years of Highlander Magazine. There are stories and information about families of Scotland. If you have Scot ancestors, do come enjoy these. M. L. also had a year of Victoria Magazines. Many of us remember when decorations in homes were like this. Family pictures show some of the same clothes. Take a trip into the past. Take another beautiful trip! Mrs. Gladys Barnes brought a year of Smithsonian Magazine. It is said you could spend a week at the museum. But this magazine also shows articles that are in storage. What interesting, beautiful, curious, unusual things.

The library is trying to build a file on veterans from our area. If you have information you would like to store, bring a copy by the library. We asked Mrs. Rose Bass to share information she had given about her husband's return trip to Europe. He was with the 36th Division in Europe during World War II. He took his whole family to visit historic places. The newspaper article also had a tribute to Gary James. He was a local boy who gave his life in Vietnam. The park at the Armory Building is named for this veteran.

There's more so read next week. Thank you to all our friends!

Runyan, 27 for Baker Rudolph, and 10 votes for Ray Villarreal. Countywide totals showed Rudolph with 561 votes; Ragsdale 541; Neff 483; Runyan 350; and Villarreal 190.

In the County Clerk race, Ralph Terry received 103 votes in the Santa Anna box while JoAnn Hale had 67. Kay LeMay garnered 125 votes for Treasurer; 85 for Barbara Freeman Young. County totals in the Clerk race were 868 for Terry; 851 for Hale; and 401 for Jo Chapman. County totals in the treasurer's race, Lemay 1409, Young 745.

Billy McCrary was re-elected Commissioner of Precinct 2 without a challenger.

The only Republican race in the county saw Kay Taylor Rankin defeat Charlie Hunter for the chance to oppose a democratic candidate for County Judge in the fall general election. Hunter outpolled Rankin in Santa Anna, 8-6. Countywide, Rankin received 125 votes, Hunter 100.

'Round & About

Pete and Winnie Rutherford were in Belton last Wednesday to meet Don and Gloria Rutherford and Holly of Deer Park.

Kevin Rutherford of Mary Hardin Baylor University received his certificate of Who's Who Among American College Student. He has a grade point average of 4.0

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rutherford, Julie and Shanna of Grape Creek visited with Pete and Winnie. They also visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Omer Cullins. Sunday afternoon they attended the funeral of Vera Cullins in Coleman.

Australian Travelers Will Remember Santa Anna Visit

Two young men from Australia will likely always remember Santa Anna after their visit here last week. Traveling from California, Santa Anna was their first sight of Texas in the daylight and the first person they became acquainted with was Police Chief Carlos Torres.

He was on a routine patrol last Thursday morning when he noticed a strange van parked in a residential area of Wallis Ave. Thinking the possibility of a stolen vehicle, he called for a check of the California license plates. Sure enough they had been issued for another vehicle. Upon further checking he found two men in their early twenties, who turned out to be from Australia traveling across the United States, asleep in the vehicle.

After some questioning by Torres and Highway Patrolman Pat Solis, it was determined the van was not stolen. The young fellows had started out from California after purchasing a first vehicle there.

SAHS Academic Team Tied At 9th

In an earlier article about the Santa Anna High School Academic Decathlon Team, it was stated the three students, Mitch Guthrie, Andy Tidd and Bryce Ellis, placed in the top ten percent of the state competition held at San Marcos recently, when we should have said "in the top ten" of 46 teams.

The local students were in 8th place before a tie breaker in the top five was settled. There was a tie for second and fifth places. The Santa Anna team had the 10th best score among teams from Class A through Class AAA and tied for 9th place.

.....Still an achievement of which to be very proud!

There's more so read next week. Thank you to all our friends!

That vehicle conked out on them in another state and they bought the van, simply transferring the license plate from the first vehicle and using it on the van causing the "stolen vehicle" confusion.

However the two were still in a bit of trouble, since the investigating officers had found drug paraphernalia in their traveling home away from home.

When the two men eventually left for Houston to visit a friend after paying a fine to Justice of Peace Nance Campbell for possession of the drug paraphernalia, they had by that time, believe it or not, taken a likin' to the friendly folk of Santa Anna.

The two were amazed with the fact they were allowed to walk down to the sandwich shop for lunch while some of the particulars of their case were being taken care of at Torres' office. While out they got to see some of our little Texas town. It is reported they were also quite impressed with the friendly atmosphere around these parts in spite of their dilemma.

Be Aware: Spring Brings Thunderstorms

Thunderstorms and spring showers contribute annually to the growth of beautiful Texas wildflowers. While appreciating the benefits of thunderstorms be aware of possible severe weather resulting from thunderstorm activity.

Thunderstorms create lightning, as well as the potential for tornadoes, flooding and flash flooding. The safest place during a thunderstorm is in a substantial building. Avoid using electrical appliances or the telephone. Lightning can strike near a building and travel through power lines into the building.

During a thunderstorm, remember, keep alert to changing weather conditions and listen to National Weather Service Bulletins for weather information.

The above pictures from a 1993 issue of the Electric Times capture two types of lightning, cloud-to-ground and ground-to-cloud.

Ground-to-cloud lightning is common from tall buildings, mountaintops and is shown above flashing upward from a television communications tower.

Cloud-to-ground lightning is what most people are in danger of being struck by. Most trees and people survive such strikes, particularly if first aid is near a victim.

Lightning strikes with hundreds of millions of volts and a 55,000 degrees temperature peak. This peak lasts only a few millionths of a second—barely long enough to even singe a victim's clothing.

Coleman County Well Represented At RC&D Meeting

COLEMAN—Willard Allen, president of the local chapter of the Resource Conservation and Development Area in the Concho Valley, reports that nine representatives from Coleman County were in attendance for the first RC&D annual meeting in San Angelo recently.

More than 100 representatives from Coleman, Coke, Concho, Crockett, Runnels, Tom Green and other areas were in attendance and Coleman was recognized for its large delegation.

Those attending from Coleman were Allen, Larry Seymour, Eddie and Kay Taylor Rankin, Skip Casey, Ray Villarreal, Lena Clevenger, Mary Ellen Mares and Delia DelaRosa.

Resource Commissioner Peggy Garner was guest speaker and in her address she "applauded West Texas for its efforts in forming the RC&D in the Concho Valley and adjoining areas."

The RC&D program is designed to help care for and protect natural resources and improve the areas involved economically. It also provides non-profit organizations an opportunity to acquire grant money for various projects in the county.

The local RC&D recently sent six people to grant-writing school and is anxious to have the trained personnel write grants for worthy causes in the county. Allen said the local chapter is working hard to be used as a pilot county enabling the state to place 100 dry fire hydrants here so other areas may observe how they operate. They are seeking the help of James Abbott, assistant state conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service in their efforts.

House Foundation Damage May Not Be Covered By New Insurance Law

by Sandra Haverlah

During the 1993 legislative session, Texas lawmakers passed legislation that reformed the Texas Department of Insurance and affected many other areas of insurance.

Among the legislative changes was a law passed giving insurance companies the ability to disallow damages to a homeowner's foundation, even if the homeowner has insurance coverage.

Termed the foundation exclusion rule, this move by legislators caught many homeowners off-guard and may leave many Texas homeowners stranded and in possible financial ruin. The foundation exclusion rule, supported by insurance companies, allows insurance companies to exclude from homeowners' coverage damages to the foundation of a home that is at least ten years old.

Many homes that are built on clay or mud areas and older homes have problems with their foundation after several years. These problems include pipes leaking, causing water damage and requiring the foundation to be torn up, pipes replaced and have the foundation rebuilt. Other homeowners have experienced problems with severe cracking or shifting.

Those who have a foundation problems say that it is a homeowner's nightmare. Imagine a cement foundation home and having to remove the foundation, while keeping the walls intact, repair pipes and repouring the foundation. The cost of this can be astronomical - tens of thousands, depending on the size of the house.

The costs of repairing foundation damages are expensive, and insurers decided they didn't want to pay for these repairs anymore. Consumers fought the battle and lost, so now we deal with the legislation and try to inform homeowners about the changes.

If you own an older home in an area of Texas with clay or mud, you will probably find out at renewal time that your insurance company wants to exclude your house foundation from coverage. Most of these folks will leave in East and Southeast Texas.

There is some question as to whether the company can force a homeowner to accept the exclusion. The lawyer-types are deciding whether the law allows insurance companies to force homeowners to accept the exclusion or if homeowners have the right to buy the coverage.

Appraisal District Begins New Year With Election Of Officers

By: Barbara Kingsbery

Coleman County Tax Appraisal District's board of directors met Monday, February 28, to begin the new year.

Three of the members are new to the group, including Charles Yarbrough, Gouldbusk; Harold Skelton of Coleman; and Billy Don McCrary of Santa Anna. Returning for new terms are Barbara Kingsbery of Santa Anna and D. G. Allen of Novice.

Kingsbery was re-elected board chairman. Other officers chosen were Yarbrough, vice chairman; and Skelton, secretary.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and monthly bills were reviewed and approved for payment.

Chief Appraiser Bill Jones presented the tax collection report showing more than $2.5 million collected for the current year. This is more than $100,000 ahead of January, 1992. Total tax collections stand at 63 percent, also ahead of last year. Collections were expected to be good during January as property owners took advantage of the early payment discount.

The final review of the 1993 budget was given by Jones, showing more than $9,000 excess which will be returned to the taxing entities later in the year.

The group discussed the appointment of a member for the review board to replace Marian Johnson, who has served the limit of two consecutive terms. The board also voted to re-appoint Don Rhone and Tommy Connelly to the agriculture advisory board.

Santa Anna Elementary Announces Distinguished Student Roll

In an effort to include more students and boost the student morale, Dean Bass, principal of Santa Anna Elementary has implemented a new honor roll system in the elementary school.

Not only will the Distinguished Student Roll reflect grades, it will also be a reflection on effort, conduct, unexcused absences and visits to D-Hall.

The Distinguished Student Roll is divided into three levels: blue, red and white.

A uniform matrix is being used by all teachers to determine the level on which a student may fall.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN - A program established in the 1970s to relieve crowding in Texas prisons should be abolished, Republican gubernatorial candidate George W. Bush proposed last week.

"Mandatory supervision," the program under which 3,000 prison inmates were released in 1993, allows convicts to go free without a release date being set by the parole board, after time served and good conduct equal their sentence.

Those released under the program are supervised by parole officials until their actual sentences have expired.

Bush's proposal, if passed by the state Legislature, would block the release of nonviolent offenders. The Legislature in 1987 stopped mandatory supervision of violent offenders, except those convicted

An official of Texas Hotline Inc. of Stephenville, named in one of the suits, denied wrongdoing. Officials of Summer Sky Inc. of Stephenville, which was named in the same suit, and A Place For Us of Houston, named in the other suit, declined to comment when contacted by the Associated Press.

The suits, filed in state District Court in Travis County, seeks civil penalties, court costs, attorney's fees and damages.

"This practice is not only detrimental to patients who are misdiagnosed, but also to taxpayers who bear the burden of insurance fraud and health care fraud," Morales said.

The resignation of state transportation Commissioner Henry R. Munoz III last month came after inquiries by The Dallas Morning News into his travel practices and the use of state vouchers.

Munoz of San Antonio, cited family and business obligations as reasons for resigning, and said his leaving had nothing to do with a request made by the Morning News for his travel records.

Munoz, 34, said he had been considering resigning since last year, after a promotion at his San Antonio architectural firm.

However, according to the Morning News, officials said the Richards appointee was forced out by top aides of the governor "after more than two years of questionable spending practices and conflicts with other state officials."

Study of Two Trade Pacts
House Speaker Pete Loney, D-Hale Center, has appointed a special House committee to study aspects of two international trade agreements.

The committee, named last week, will assess the impacts on Texas of the North American Free Trade Agreement and the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

A second special committee will examine problems of small businesses in attracting capital in today's lending climate. Loney said it will give special attention to agricultural and minority-owned businesses.

Charter Bus Rules Eased
The Texas Railroad Commission has reversed an old rule by allowing charter buses to operate statewide without having to offer regular route service, Commissioner Mary Scott Nabers announced.

"With this change, travel service should improve for Texas," Nabers said.

Before the change, no one could provide charter bus service unless the company was willing to provide regular route service as well, Nabers said.

Other Highlights
Secretary of State John Hannah has predicted that 16.5 percent of Texas' record 9 million registered voters will cast ballots in the March 8 primary elections.

Texas Supreme Court candidate Charles Ben Howell sued the Texas Trial Lawyers Association and three prominent lawyers last week, alleging that they promised to raise funds for and support him, then reneged.

A DISPATCH FROM THE UNIVERSITY WORLD

The University Of Texas System

NEWS

By Jack Maguire

UNIVERSITIES HOPE TO TURN SWORDS INTO PLOW-SHARES AT AMARILLO!

Top officials of three major Texas universities have set out to dismantle weapons of war and turn their components into benefits to mankind.

The site of their project is a plant 17 miles northeast of Amarillo. Known as Pantex, it has been the only place in the United States where nuclear weapons have been both assembled and disassembled.

It was at the Pantex plant that plutonium was added to nuclear warheads. This element, chemically related to uranium, is the force used to trigger atomic instruments of destruction.

With the end of the Soviet Union, America is down-sizing its arsenal. This requires destroying the weapons and recovering the plutonium. The Department of Energy has authorized the project, which can take as long as three years.

Meanwhile, a consortium of university scientists believe that plutonium has uses far more beneficial to mankind that destruction. They want to establish a research facility at Pantex.

Dr. Dale Klein, associate dean for research at the University of Texas at Austin College of Engineering, is among those spearheading the project.

He argues that plutonium is a much maligned element that has great potential as a fuel for commercial reactors. He believes that additional research could turn up other constructive uses for the material that is being removed from the weapons.

Klein is not alone. Joining him in the effort are Dr. Lee Peddicord, interim vice chancellor for engineering at Texas A&M University, and Dr. John Borrelli, associate dean for academic affairs at Texas Tech University.

The three will head a task force to examine how the universities can work with the Department of Energy during the disassembly of the nuclear weapons. Other task force members will be selected from each institution.

"We have a unique opportunity to dismantle weapons of destruction and turn them into benefits for mankind," Dr. Klein told 150 Panhandle business and professional leaders.

The groups agrees that the Pantex nuclear weapons complex should not be destroyed, but reshaped. The Amarillo Economic Development Corporation put up $325,000 in an effort to keep Pantex in the area and will focus on turning Pantex into a major research facility.

Destruction of the warheads means that up to 20,000 plutonium cores from the weapons will be stored at Pantex for up to 10 years. This caused some environmental concerns early on, but these have been allayed by the Los Alamos National Laboratory in New Mexico.

The lab assumed that a hypothetical airplane crashed into a Pantex storage area, exploded and spread contamination over an 80-mile area.

The conclusion was that such a dispersal accident posed no significant threat to the area or its aquifer.

Dr. Klein explains why. He says the radiation from plutonium can be stopped by a piece of paper or even the skin. This exposure is not a health concern.

If the proposed research consortium becomes a reality, it could mean up to 1,000 new jobs for this area of the Panhandle.

CALLING MINORITY WOMEN--Doctors in Texas and across the nation are looking for minority women in a country-wide effort to prevent breast cancer.

White women are responding. Minorities are not. Physicians at institutions like the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Cancer Center in Houston don't know why. Anderson is one of 222 centers involved in the study.

When the study began in April 1992, researchers hoped to enroll 16,000 women nation-wide. Thus far, 8,000 have signed up, but only 240 are black, Hispanic, Asian or other minorities.

Needed are volunteers who have had a personal or family history of the disease. By studying them, researchers hope to determine whether the drug tamoxifen can prevent breast cancer in women age 35 or older who are in this high-risk category.

Dr. Victor Vogel, who is directing the study at M.D. Anderson, says minorities may be uncomfortable discussing breast cancer with male doctors. Some may be unwilling to contribute to a health care system "that has not served them well in the past."

BELIEVE IT OR NOT--- Texas A&M University and the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio are starting a cooperative education program.

Promising biomedical and social science students from Texas A&M soon will be getting a taste of research in the laboratories of the Health Science Center.

Not only that, but they'll get paid for doing it.

Students in the program must have enthusiasm and plans to attend a professional or graduate school. They will alternate semesters, studying at College Station for one and then working the next at a co-op site like the San Antonio Health Science Center.

They'll be paid as laboratory technical assistants or social science research assistants.

NOTE WORTHY--- Scientific journals aren't among the large circulation publications, but they're of special interest of faculty at Rice University.

A recent survey shows that chemistry research papers from Rice are among those most cited in academic publications devoted to science.

Harvard ranked first in the survey, followed by Cal Tech, Yale and the University of Chicago.

Rice came in at fifth---the only Texas college or university to make the top 15.

Issues Impacting Small Rural Communities Toward The Year 2000

By: Carol Katzer, CEA-H.E.

"Issues Impacting Small Rural Communities Toward the Year 2000" is the theme for the 2nd Annual Ag Day to be held in Coleman County on Thursday, March 17, 1994.

The year 2000 is only six short years from now. We are not only changing centuries but our methods and lifestyles are now changing daily. As we prepare to break into the year 2000, maybe we should stop and take inventory of where we think we will be.

What is happening on the agriculture front? What current trends will continue to grow stronger? What new trends are developing? What is happening on the town scene? What new products will develop? What current products on the market will be more or less important?

Make plans to attend Ag Day, Thursday, March 17 at the Coleman Junior High School. It promises to be an enjoyable and informative event.

or family room, good design is equally important. Light-colored laminates, coated steel in a wide variety of colors and mixtures of glass and wire, wood slats and laminated wood particle board are visually appealing. They are also easy to clean. Clean laminated wood with a dusting product, glass and wire with a multi-surface or glass cleaner, coated steel with an all-purpose cleaner.

Practical features include adjustable shelving that can be arranged so floor space underneath can be used for a desk or other furniture, units that can be reconfigured to adapt to changing needs and shelves that are pin-mounted into the dry wall so they can hold heavy items.

Wheat Problems?

Recent rains have improved the outlook on wheat pastures and small grain fields. This has increased the interest or concern about greenbugs. Greenbug control is a difficult decision which requires some thought about several variables. Spraying decisions must weigh-out the cost of pesticide application versus the outlook for the spring. The economic threshold for greenbugs (or the amount of greenbugs required to do sufficient damage to wheat that will cause an economic) loss is 100 to 300 greenbugs per linear foot of drill row. This should be an average of several areas checked over the entire field. One should remember that greenbugs are difficult to see and find especially on a cold day when they may be underneath loose soil.

The most economical means of greenbug control is heavy grazing and producers who plan to graze out wheat probably don't need to spray for greenbugs unless populations are excessively high. However, on ungrazed, small grain fields, spraying of wheat field may be justified if 100-300 greenbugs are found. Some of the products labeled for greenbug control include Lorsban 4-E, Cygon or Methyl Parathion.

Medicare Recipients Can Sign Up Now For Medicare Part B

"If you don't have Part B of Medicare and you want it, you have from now until March 31 to sign up," says Eric Johnagin, Social Security manager in Brownwood. Every year, the government offers a three month enrollment period during which people who turned down or previously dropped the Part B coverage can sign up for it.

Part B coverage, also called "medical insurance," helps pay for doctors' care, outpatient hospital visits and other medical services. Individuals are offered the option of signing up for Part B at the same time they are automatically enrolled in Medicare's Part A program. Part A helps pay for inpatient hospital care and certain other services.

Individuals who want to sign up for Part B should call the Brownwood Social Security office or call Social Security's toll-free number: 1-800-772-1213. Callers are advised to avoid peak business periods by calling later in the week and later in the month.
