President Urges Nation to Build on Honest Work

WASHINGTON, July 17, (AP)—President Roosevelt tonight called the "civilians" conservation corps the "vanguard of the new spirit of the American future."

"In sneaking to you men of the civilian conservation corps, I think of you as a visible token of encouragement to the whole country. You—nearly 300,000 strong—are evidence that the nation is still strong enough and broad enough to look after its citizens."

"You are evidence that we are seeking to get away as fast as we possibly can from soup kitchens and free rations—because the government is paying you wages and maintaining you for actual work—which is needed now and for the future and will bring a definite financial return to the people of the nation."

"Through you the nation will graduate a fine group of strong young men, clean living, trained to self-discipline and above all, willing and proud to work for the joy of working."

Too Much in Recent Years, Large Numbers of Our Population Have Sought Success as an Opportunity to Gain Money with the Least Possible Work.

"It is time for each and every one of us to cast away self-destructing, nation-destroying efforts to get something for nothing and to appreciate that satisfying reward and safe reward come only through honest work."

"That must be the new spirit of the American future."

"You are the vanguard of that new spirit."

The story of the mobilization of the corps of 300,000 young men and its transportation to camps throughout the 48 states within two months was told by Demn.

He said it surpassed the accomplishment during the early days of American participation of the Great War.

TEN DOLLAR BILL 82 YEARS OLD

G. F. Bartlett was exhibiting a ten dollar bill here this week, found among other keepsakes in his father's trunk, dated back to 1851, issued by a bank in Dayton, Ohio. The bill was only printed on one side, and was so dilapidated from time and service that but little of the printing was legible.

The bill was folded in an old time purse, which no doubt, was older than the bill itself.

TREATED HIM RIGHT

Last Friday night a Gorman farmer heard some one in his chicken roost and when he got up to investigate they ran off.

He followed the party away from the house and caught him at a vacant house nearby when he came to get on his mule. The irate farmer made him give up the chickens and then started to bring him to town. The boy undertook not to come but when a shotgun was laid alongside his head he came right on in to town, marched up to the sanitarium, got his head dressed and was taken on to jail. The next day he made bond. —Gorman Progress.

We take this method of thanking our friends and loved ones for every kind word of sympathy and every act of kindness during the illness and death of our dear Companion and Mother. May God's richest blessing rest upon every one of you.

Barbecue for Thresher Crew

The crew of the Ford Barnes thresher celebrated the end of their run with a barbecue and rodeo at Mr. Barnes' farm near Whon last Friday. About a hundred and fifty people from all over the South end of the county attended, including several visitors from Santa Anna.

Steer riding and goat roping were the chief events of the rodeo, and kept the crowd interested as fairly good time was made in the goat roping and the steer riding furnished plenty of action with about half of the riders successful. Rex Cooper of Rockwood won the goat roping, while Verner Lee Karr, Mutt Black, Demery Knox, Kenneth Bingham, and Jack Wright tried their hand at riding. Harold Steward and Carl Knox rode Jersey yearlings and put on almost as good a show as the older boys.

Dinner was served from the thresher chuck wagon, drawn up under the big live oak trees at the old Blackwell Well. The evening was filled with barbequed chicken and goat, bread, pickles, and iced tea for all present. Frank Brown had charge of the barbecue, and was largely responsible for the success of the affair. Wesley Tennison, preacher of the threshing crew, delivered a short sermon immediately after lunch.

A dance Friday night completed the celebration.

COLEMAN SEEKING VOTE ON 3.2 BEER

COLEMAN, July 17.—Advocates of 3.2 beer in Coleman county, who several weeks ago started preparing petitions to present to the county commissioners' court asking for an election in the county August 26, and then changed their minds, changed their minds again and started circulating petitions to present to the court asking that a local option election be held on that date.

One of the petitions was being circulated here and others were sent to Santa Anna and Goldsboro. More will be sent to other towns in the county.

Leon L. Shield is chairman of the forces in the county favoring the beer amendment and repeal of the eighteenth amendment to the federal constitution.

HEAT WAVE BROKEN; SOME RAIN

The extreme heat wave that has been so oppressive the past three weeks was broken first of the week with cooler weather and some rain. A light rain, varying from one-half inch to three-fourths inch fell in most parts of the county Tuesday afternoon and evening, which was greatly appreciated.

The following officers were elected. President, Beth Barnes; vice president, Mary Garrett; Reporter, Rhea Boardman. The Hi-Stitchers meet Monday of each week. Members of the club are Mary Garrett, Beth Barnes, Rhea Boardman, Mary Dellinger, Mary Alice Lawrence Evelyn Kirkpatrick, Mary Bradford, Christine Zachary, and Margaret Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Pilcher of Ballinger visited in the E. K. Blewett home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Rose and children, Truitt and Juanita of Conroe, and Mrs. H. M. Bishop of Goose Creek were recent visitors in the Brush Aldridge home. Mrs. Bishop remained for an indefinite visit while the others have returned to their home.

Santa Anna Genius Is Builder of Own Radio Set

Friends here of G. A. Morgan, Jr., son of Rev. and Mrs. G. A. Morgan, claim that the young man is a real genius, although he makes no such claims. He has constructed his own amateur short-wave radio set. He has a Federal station license, operating under call letters W5-CTU, and has a Federal operator's license. Since being granted his government license he has talked with amateur operators all over the United States and in Mexico and Canada. He has also heard communications from several other countries, including Cuba, South America, England, China and Japan.

"Gus," as he is known to his friends, is an honor graduate of Santa Anna High School of the class of 1933. He has had no technical training outside of general science in high school, but has taken up the study of electricity and radio by himself. He is also able to repair radios. His other hobby is stamp collecting and he has a wonderful collection of rare stamps. He is also active in church work, serving as president of the young people's division of the local Methodist Church school.

Producing Results

The new deal has its champions and its critics. Much of the praise and denunciation, of course, is pure politics, and the unbiased citizen will dismiss it as such.

The fact remains, however, that before the new deal went into effect thru the action of congress and the administration the country was on the verge of economic collapse.

Mr. Roosevelt has a congress in sympathy with him and his ideas. He is therefore able to put his policies into working effect. He has gathered around him in advisory and other capacities a large number of educators and economic experts, who care little for purely political considerations. The president in conjunction with them is working out an economic program which is not only producing results, but is restoring the confidence of the people in our form of government.

Without confidence there can be no effective progress. With confidence it requires only a strong guiding hand to bring the country back to normal conditions.

Mr. Roosevelt appears to be supplying the guiding hand. The people, irrespective of political considerations, should assist him by supplying the confidence—for in the last analysis we are all Americans. Politics is a secondary consideration—or at least that is what it should be.

MORTUARY

Friends here will sympathize with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cobb of Coleman in the loss of their son who died Tuesday from an infection in the head.

According to information received here, the boy was in swimming with other boys some place near Coleman recently, and making a dive hurt his head. The family later went to San Antonio, and the boy went swimming in a public swimming pool in the Alamo City. He contracted an infection in the head and died shortly afterward. His remains were buried in the cemetery at Coleman Wednesday afternoon.

Several from here attended the funeral.

J. H. Rainey was unfortunate while in Coleman last Saturday afternoon. Mr. Rainey had finished threshing Saturday morning, drove over to Coleman with a load of tote grain, and also carried a partial load of wheat for U. S. Brannan. He sold the grain, cashed the check, put the roll of bills, amounting to $23.00 in his pocket and before he left Coleman for home, lost the entire roll. In the roll were five $5.00 bills and eight $1.00 bills.

NEXT!

Newspapers from over the country have been rather free in the use of space recently, telling about people frying eggs on the sidewalk; chickens being hatched from eggs in the woodpile without the aid of a hen; chickens being hatched from straw pens, where eggs were laid by hens and covered up accidentally and various other freak happenings, but here's the latest one from Santa Anna.

The Jones Produce Company purchased several cases of eggs last week from a house in Melvin, over in McCulloch County, received them from a truck Saturday evening, placed them in the vault on cold storage where the temperature was down to 30 degrees, and Monday, when they candled the eggs, they found two baby chicks, hatched from eggs on cold storage. Believe it or not, C. W. Jones and D. A. Marshall both confirm the statement, and one of the chickens is still living, according to reports. NEXT!

Hubert Speck returned last week from Liano, with his wife and son who spent several days there visiting with relatives and friends.

Two Dixie States Vote Wet

Arkansas and Alabama are 17th and 18th

(AP)—On the face of incomplete returns from yesterday's special elections, Alabama and Arkansas, traditional dry strongholds, have joined the wet parade, becoming the 17th and 18th states to vote for repeal of the 18th amendment.

Although the vote in each state was not complete the repealists apparently had won in Arkansas by a ratio of 3 to 2 and in Alabama, one of the driest in the nation by statute, the drys conceded defeat.

The voting in the two Dixie states was considered by both wets and drys as a crucial test of prohibition sentiment.

RATIO IN ARKANSAS 3 TO 2 FOR REPEAL

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 18. (AP)—Still maintaining the 3 to 2 ratio for repeal established in early returns, a tabulation at 11:40 p. m. (central standard time) gave 54,150 for repeal of the 18th amendment and 34,193 against on the basis of returns from 1,030 of the 2,103 precincts in the state.

Incomplete returns had been received from all of the 75 counties and the vote tabulated was estimated at more than two-thirds of the total cast.

There appeared no doubt that the repealists had won.

A vigorous campaign was conducted in Arkansas by the United Prohibition Forces and the Roosevelt "New Deal" club. The former made a whirlwind campaign of the state in sound trucks with prohibition speakers, mostly ministers, carrying appeals into virtually every section to "hold Arkansas for prohibition."

Despite the outcome of the election, Arkansas remains as dry as a "camel's tonsils," according to an opinion by its attorney general, under the state "bone dry" law, which has been in effect since 1916.

ALABAMA DRY LEADERS CONCEDE DEFEAT

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 18. (AP)—Tabulations at midnight of the prohibition referendum in Alabama Tuesday with returns from 1,145 out of 2,137 ballot boxes in the state gave for repeal 70,254; against 43,852. This included returns from 66 out of the 67 counties and represented approximately three-fifths of the vote cast.

Dry leaders conceded that repeal had carried.

Dry strongholds, reporting late, cut sharply into the lead for repeal piled up in early returns but a heavy lead was maintained with city boxes again pushing the vote for repeal far out in front.

Returns from smaller rural counties cut down the early repeal lead.

Pastor Wingo is Surprised With Birthday Party

Members of the First Baptist Church gathered at the home of their pastor, Rev. Hal C. Wingo, Monday night and surprised him with a birthday party. The entire crowd of about 250 had gathered when the Wingo family arrived home at 8:30 o'clock, and were greeted with the songs "Happy Birthday to You," "The More We Get Together," and "Smile." Rev. Wingo was directed to a chair on the lawn placed in view of everybody.

Mrs. J. Ed Bartlett gave the introductory and explanatory address which was followed by a solo, "Give Him the Roses While He Lives," rendered by Mrs. Lee Hunter after which she presented Rev. Wingo a bouquet of roses from the Sunday School.

Following Rev. Wingo's response, two readings, "Homefolks," and "An Interpretation of Faith" were given by Miss Ernestine Thames. Various games, including a "Spiral Snake-down" and "Birthdays" were enjoyed by the group.

Delicious cake and ice cream were served to the large number present, after which they sang "Auld Lang Syne" and were dismissed in prayer.

Many gifts were left for the pastor and his family.

All present reported a most enjoyable occasion and wished the pastor many more happy birthdays before leaving for their homes.

Work More Simplified Later

Thursday morning County Agent C. V. Robinson called this office and requested us to announce that the local committee was clothed with authority to issue permits to plow up your cotton. Those who signed the cotton acreage reduction contracts can now apply to your local committee for a permit, proceed to retire from production either by plowing it up or in some other manner destroying the crop. Mr. Robinson also requests us to urge that farmers secure permits Friday and Saturday, July 21 and 22 and proceed at once. Now get busy!

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice, Santa Anna, Tex.

MONDAY: Well, the cotton acreage reduction movement has been declared a success and as soon as all the contracts can be tabulated in Washington, farmers whose contracts are acceptable will be notified, and as soon thereafter as the work can be dispatched, official checkers will visit each field and stake off the part that is to be removed from production. When the work has been completed another checker or local committeeman will visit your premises to see that the job has been done. At that time proof will be made and the proof sheet forwarded to Washington, D. C. If the contract and proof sheet correspond, a check will be mailed to the farmer and the event closed. All things considered, farmers should be receiving notices by the first of next week of their acceptances, and barring unavoidable delays, all the work should be done and checks be coming in by the middle of August. Those who signed the contracts, apparently, are the lucky ones, provided they are accepted. Not saying anything about the weather, a matter of fact, you are not supposed to plow up or in any way destroy any portion of your crop until you have been officially notified and your premises checked by one having authority. However, unless we have rain in this section within the very near future, you need not worry about lines between the part that is to be removed and the part that is to be left, for none of it will be worth a whoop anyway. If this doesn't bring a three inch rain this week, we will try some other method in our next number. This is our Monday article, and we hope by Thursday we can add a P. S. in Red Rooster style.

The editor, accompanied by Mrs. Gregg and son Burton, attended the afternoon singing at Bangs Sunday, and greatly enjoyed the program. Prof. L. A. Gordon was not much in prime but Merle Brooks, Bill Huggins, the Lindley sisters of Trickham and several others, were in fine attitude and mood for singing and the program was splendid. The house was filled to overflowing, notwithstanding the fact that the program had only been announced three days. Prof. Gordon submitted a proposition to begin a two weeks normal school of music there Monday of next week, and a committee was appointed to work up the class.

PLOWS CALL FOR PLOWMEN

With all the efforts being made by the Administration at Washington to help farmers to get better prices for their products and to stabilize agriculture, there is danger that some farmers will think the Government is going to do everything for them. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace hit the nail on the head when, in his St. Paul speech, he said that, while the Farm Adjustment Act gives the farmer tremendous power to right old wrongs, it is not self-operating. "It is a good piece of social machinery," said the Secretary, "but it is up to the people of the United States to drive it."

We have never seen a self-driving tractor nor a plow that didn't have to have a man behind it. And in the long run the success of any attempt to improve farm conditions lies with the farmers themselves. Legislation may give them wider leeway more freedom from economic anxieties, but the ones who will benefit most are the ones who maintain the most of the American spirit of independent effort and unceasing work. We think there is much to be said for the resolution recently adopted by the Wyoming Stock Growers Association, which follows:

This association is of the opinion that it was the rugged individualism of the people of this country that has made the United States the greatest country of the world, and that the impractical theories of men and women with no experience in business to create a government where people shall work three hours a day and three days a week, where all is ideal and nothing is real, would reduce the United States in a short time to the conditions of a third-rate power.

We do not understand that there is anything in all the new farm relief program which can take the place of individual initiative and effort.

A scientist tells us that there are more than fifty kinds of fatigue, and we believe him. But ours is all rolled into one.

It's as Al Smith says, keeping two sets of books will not prevent ultimate payment, for all being announced three days ago and from the same pockets.

FEEDING EUROPE'S SURPLUS

With more than twelve millions of our own people out of employment, with other millions barely existing on their meager incomes, our immigration laws permit immigrants from other countries to stream into the United States, hereby adding to the distress of those who are already here.

Thousands of these immigrants work for less than our own people can support their families on, and selfish employ-ers give the jobs to them in preference to American citizens because they can save something by so doing.

Other immigrants arrive, only to find that the milk and honey and gold they expected to find on the streets is not there. Disillusioned they become charges upon their respective communities. More bread taken from American mouths.

It is true that most of these immigrants are to be found in the cities, but it directly affects the country districts because they absorb the jobs by under-working Americans and make it increasingly difficult for men from country towns and farms to find any kind of employment in the centers of population.

Others drift out to the towns and work for little or nothing. Often for their keep, and this adds to the unemployment of the home people.

As long as we have a list of unemployed among our own people these immigrants should not be permitted to land in this country. It is difficult to take care of our own. We should not be required to care for the surplus of other countries. The immigration laws should be tightened up for our own good.

TEXAS DEMOCRATS URGED TO SUPPORT REPEAL

AUSTIN, Texas, May 31.—Although as an organization, the Texas Democratic National Committee will take no active part in the repeal and modification campaign preceding the election called for August 28th, the active heads of the organization, Roy Miller, Director, and Frank Scofield, Finance Director, in a statement issued today, called upon Texas Democrats to support both repeal and modification, as a national platform demand. In their statement the organization leaders declared:

"While we realize that both prohibition and modification are controversial questions among Texas Democrats, we feel it our duty to urge adoption of both the repeal and modification proposals at the special election called for August 28th. The question as to whether or not Texas shall be wet or dry is not involved. The Chicago platform contained a ringing appeal, both for repeal and modification. In his acceptance address, President Roosevelt committed the Party irrevocably to both proposals.

"Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment will merely re-establish and make effective great fundamental Democratic principles, namely, States Rights and local self government. All that repeal of the 18th Amendment will accomplish, so far as Texas is concerned, is to give our citizens the right to determine for themselves whether the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors will be permitted or prohibited within the borders of our State. Inasmuch as prohibition is now in effect in Texas, under State Constitutional Amendment, that Amendment subsequently will have to be repealed before intoxicating liquor can be legally manufactured or sold in Texas.

"So far as modification is concerned, we are only asked to concur in and conform to the action of the Congress of the United States in revising the definition as to what constitutes intoxicating liquor. Congress, in its wisdom, has seen fit to declare by legislative enactment that any beverage having an alcoholic content of not exceeding 3.2 by weight is non-intoxicating. The question of prohibition, therefore, is in no way involved.

"In accepting from Texas the decision of the Congress and our great President which reflects the judgment of the Democratic Party in national convention assembled, we feel that the Democrats of Texas, regardless of their views with respect to prohibition in Texas, with the utmost consistency and without violence to their convictions, can support both repeal and modification."

ANOTHER "IF."

(No Anologies to Kipling Nor Anybody.)
If you can rise at 4 o'clock each morning
And milk a bunch of restless, bawling cows;
If you can run a balky separator,
And pour out slop to pigs and shoats and sows;
If you can stay your hunger with a breakfast
Of pork and eggs, and biscuits hard as rocks,
If you can smack your lips and swallow coffee
That tastes like soap-suds used for washing socks;
If you can drag a matted and a shovel,
And blithely set to cleaning out a ditch,
And never stop, although your palms are blistered,
Sweat blinds your eyes, and both your shoulders itch;
If you can dig and not be tired by digging,
By plowing, hoeing weeds or pitching hay;
If it's your absolute, profound conviction
That eighteen hours is just a loafer's day;
If you can load the back end of a flivver
With eggs, chickens, fruit and garden sass,
And drive to town and sell 'em to your grocer
For half enough to pay for oil and gas;
If you can spend the whole night irrigating
And start out in the morning fresh and bright;
If you can smile when cotton bolls are shedding,
And when your melon vines curl up with blight;
If you can dig up money for the mortgage,
And taxes for the county and the State;
If you can keep your head and not go rabid
While listening to some oily candidate;
If you can work and work, and go on working,
Until your weary race of life is run,
I don't know what other folks would call you,
But I'd call you an average farmer, son.

We thought it the limit when Morgan admitted that he and his pals had paid no income taxes for two years, but along comes old Otto Kahn, another international banker, who calmly admits that he has paid none for three years. Does anyone but the poor man pay?

Would you like to make a few millions over night and join the income tax cheaters' club? Just invent an automobile that is immune from wrecks and accidents. Car crashes are becoming so numerous they are just common events of the day.

Let's have a new deal for America, with Europe holding its own bag.

need more law training. Perhaps, but we are of the opinion that the one thing they need right now is freedom from political domination. They can't enforce the law and hold their jobs.

There is another side to human nature. We cuss officers who accent craft, and honor political leaders who pay it to them.

Don't censure the weather man for the recent heat wave. He was only trying to distract your mind from the depression.

What is brotherly love? Seems to us we recall hearing it mentioned some years ago, but I don't if we remember what it is.

Some congressmen are funny birds. They betray their constituents when in office and then they are amazed when they fall of re-election.

After his program of rehabilitation is completed, Mr. Roosevelt might also replenish the treasury by auctioning off the members of his brain trust as living souvenirs, etc.

Pity the poor income tax dodgers. When congress puts new teeth in the law they'll have to hire more smart and expensive lawyers to study up new schemes for cheating Uncle Sam.

If congress would put a tax on these insufferable heat waves it might make them more endurable. There's nothing quite so exhilarating as knowing that somebody or something else is being soaked.

Any commodity price rise that doesn't carry an equal increase in wages and salaries is generally the result of speculation and gouging, and is often more detrimental than beneficial to the consuming public.

Since we don't have to pay it, we're in favor of soaking 'em on income taxes until they grunt. It's a relief to see those rich birds squirm.

Buy American, too.

A Business Training Vs. A College Course

Under the present conditions, is it wise to undertake a four-year College Course? A very prominent educator said recently that since the World War the Colleges of the country have been over-crowded with students with the results that there is now an enormous over-supply of college graduates. Young men and women with even Masters Degrees are walking the streets unable to find employment. They are told by the business men that their Degree is very valuable and desirable to have, yet they must know how to do some specific thing in order to be of any service to them.

A young man or young woman with a high school education, supplemented with a Complete General Business Course, stands a far better chance to find employment than one who has, or will spend four years in College. A four-year College Course equips one for just a very few places, mostly teachers. The records disclose more than fifteen thousand surplus teachers in Texas alone. The same thing is comparatively true in other states. This record is not much inducement to spend the time and money for a college degree and be unable to find employment.

Business is on the upgrade and this means, of course, that we will see a vast improvement in the employment situation immediately. We hope by fall to be placing every one of our students who graduate.

Comparing the chances for immediate employment and the small cost in taking a business course with that of a College Course, and the cost incident to a college course and the slim chance of employment thereafter, we think the odds greatly in favor of a business training.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just roasts in the bowels. Gas blooms up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is bad. Often it breaks out in blotches. Your skin aches and you feel down and out. Your system is poisoned.

It takes these good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get down the bile, get it flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, natural, vegetable extracts, amazing when you know how they make the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware of substitutes. 25¢ each. 60¢ for 3.

They may lose whatever appliances, whatever equipment a e needed to do their work, but as long as their minds are as good as ever they can manage to get new "plants" and go ahead again.

THE PURCHASED PRESS

Paris Morning News: With the beginning of the campaign for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment to the Federal constitution and for amendment of the Texas constitution to permit the sale of so-called non-intoxicating beer, come the first whippers that the press has been or will be bought and that friends of prohibition will not get the support they should have in so important a matter.

These charges are made by two classes of people. One, through ignorance of the conduct of newspapers and the character of the publishers. The other by people who know better but who make the assertion or insinuation because they are so determined to vilify everyone not in agreement with them that they hesitate at nothing.

This condition has obtained in practically every campaign in what are commonly called moral issues, and most newspaper men are so accustomed to it that they will pay it little or no attention.

Newspapers generally print advertisements for either or both sides in a campaign preceding the casting of ballots, and there is no reason to think they will not have some advertising of both sorts in this affair.

They probably will have more from the repealists because as a rule people spend money more readily when they see a profit ahead of them than for principle. It is quite likely that the brewing interests and the liquor dealers will spend more than those opposed to these interests.

But the thing to keep in mind for it is the simple truth, is that while newspapers will print advertising of both kinds their editorial columns will not be for sale and will reflect only the beliefs of their owners and editors on any question that is of interest to the public.

MORTUARY

Mrs. Jno. M. Slaughter, 74 died at her home here last Saturday, after suffering for several days with an illness that medical science failed to control.

She was married to Mr. Slaughter in 1897 while living in Mason county. She became the step-mother of a large family of children when she married, and it was said of her that she loved them and looked after them the same as a mother indeed.

The remains were buried in the local cemetery Sunday afternoon, following funeral services at the Methodist Church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. G. A. Moran, assisted by other pastors in the town.

Deceased is survived by her husband and children, and a large circle of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Slaughter moved here from Brady about seven years ago. She was never rich in this world's goods, but is rich in the world to come, having lived an upright, Christian life and was prepared to go.

FISH SAVES A SHIP; TAIL PLUGS UP LEAK

LIVERPOOL, Eng.—Here's a fish tale that saved a ship: The 342-ton Admiral grounded near the entrance of Wicklow Harbor, Ireland, and water poured into her hold through a gap in the hull.

A cargo was put ashore, and pumps went into action. Pretty soon the hull was strangely empty. No more water was rushing in.

It was soon discovered that the tail of a big fish, still alive, had become wedged in the hole. Engineers cemented the fish, till still wigging, in this position. A certificate of seaworthiness was obtained and the ship crossed the channel to Liverpool.

The Matter of Divorce

Shall the securing of a divorce be made more difficult, or shall it be made easier? The question has been agitating religious organizations for some time, and is no nearer solution.

Possibly there are two sides to the question.

If a couple is unhappily married, and it is impossible to reconcile their differences, many people believe that a divorce is the logical step, rather than to compel them to live in misery for the rest of their lives. Such a life often leads to marital indiscretions.

On the other side, there are those who firmly believe that marriage is the most solemn and important step in life, and once contracted should be faithfully adhered to by both parties. It is unquestionably a fact that many divorces could be prevented if both parties to the union were willing to meet on common ground and make a sincere effort to bridge their differences.

In such cases, however, it is generally a fact that one or the other of the parties has formed and outside or clandestine attachment and is eager to break away from the old love and get on with the new.

Much of this trouble is brought on by the fact that today a majority of people do most of their thinking after marriage instead of before. They pay too much attention to exterior charms instead of to mental and moral qualifications.

They rush into marriage blindly, and their eyes are not opened to the true facts until it is too late.

MODERNISM IS FEATURED at Chicago's "A Century of Progress." A striking example is found in the five amazing micarta murals depicting, symbolically, progressive steps in the career of gasoline and motor oils at the Gulf Refining Company's "All-action" exhibit. Micarta is made by a secret formula in which the glowing, marble-like effects are created with the help of dyed aluminum sheets.

Last week the mercury registered the highest in this vicinity it had been in fifteen years, according to several records. About 110 was the highest we found the thermometer at any time but several times we hesitated to look for fear it was so hot we just couldn't stand it. 110 was not enough, and it need never do that again for our benefit, as we could thrive (physically) on cooler weather.

Smile anyway.
