16 Carloads Of State, County Police On Manhunt

MT. PLEASANT, Feb. 11. (AP)—Sixteen carloads of state and county officers have surrounded a wood near here seeking a lone armed man who held up the drivers of an automobile convoy early today after he was suspected of burglarizing two stores here and two in Talco.

They have recovered the man's first car, which they said was stolen in Henrietta, Texas, and have taken statements from the convoy driver, who was en route from Detroit, Mich. to Fort Worth with six new automobiles.

Wet, muddy roads and drizzling cold weather are hampering the search. More patrolmen and rangers are arriving to aid in the search of the woods which are bounded by Talco, Mt. Vernon and Bogata.

Sheriff Coker said the burglaries today were at the Richardson food store and the Allen feed store, both owned by the same person. He said he had heard there were two other similar burglaries at Talco.

He said he believed the man who held up two men in the convoy was responsible for the burglaries because burglary tools were found in an abandoned car.

Little Chance Seen To Break Arms Deadlock

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Feb. 11. (AP)—Virtually all hope was given up today of breaking the American-Russian deadlock on the United Nations program for worldwide arms limitation.

Authoritative sources said if the deadlock could not be broken when the security council meets this afternoon the arms program may be sidetracked temporarily for a cooling-off period.

Only Russian agreement to the US view can prevent this. American sources said the US delegation was holding "firm" to its stand that the proposed disarmament commission should not invade the field of atomic energy.

The US is insisting that the terms of reference of the proposed 11-nation arms reduction commission should state specifically that such a body should handle only conventional weapons and not infringe on the work or duties of the already functioning atomic energy commission.

The Russians, in opposing this, argue that it is unnecessary to write this into the arms commission's terms of reference.

Candle Shortage Also Hits Britons

LONDON, Feb. 11. (AP)—England suffered a candle shortage today as well as a coal shortage today.

With electricity turned off for five hours a day in more than half the country, housewives and office clerks raided available candle stocks in an effort to dispel the gloom.

Another result of the fuel shortage was the temporary suspension of Greyhound racing, the ministry of fuel ruling out as unessential the use of electricity to operate the mechanical rabbit.

Actress Is Slain In Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 11. (AP)—Still stymied in their investigation of the "Black Dahlia" mutilation murder, police confessed today they were at sea again in a probe of the city's second sadistic murder in less than a month — the trampling to death of a former movie bit player.

Ending hours of questioning, officers booked Frank French, 47, discharged Marine corps sergeant, on suspicion of murder, but Detective Gene Bechtel of the police homicide detail said:

"His story stands up very well. French's estranged wife, Jeanne, 40, known in films as Jeanne Arford Thomas, was found — her body bludgeoned and covered with heel marks — on a lonely west Los Angeles hilltop yesterday.

Bechtel said French told him his wife came to his boarding house late Sunday night, asked him to go out with her, but he declined and went to bed.

"French said they parted about a week ago, agreeing to live apart for six months," the detective declared.

Mrs. French's son, David Wrathner, 25 of Redondo Beach, collapsed when told of his mother's death. He was her son by a marriage to David Y. Wrathner, Texas oil man. They parted in 1924, and she won custody of the boy.

Republican Adviser To Marshall Sought

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. (AP)—President Truman was said today to be considering asking one of three Republican members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to substitute for Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) as an adviser to Secretary of State Marshall at Moscow.

The three Republicans mentioned by Democratic colleagues aware of the plan are Senators H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey, Burke H. Hickenlooper of Iowa and Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., of Massachusetts. Indications point to Smith as the most likely choice.

Vandenberg, who served with Senator Connally (D-Tex.), as an adviser to former Secretary James F. Byrnes, has said he does not want to go to the opening of the foreign ministers conference next month. He indicated, however, he would answer any "S.O.S." if the state department needs his help later.

Friends say the Michigan senator thus far has made no recommendation to Mr. Truman for a substitute. The bipartisan participation in foreign policy began with the attendance of Vandenberg and Connally as delegates to the San Francisco United Nations conference in 1945.

Congress Asked To Hike Social Security Benefits

Poe Confident 'Inch' Blockade Not Possible

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. (AP)—The top bidder for the Big and Little Inch pipelines said today he is "confident" coal-producing Pennsylvania will not make good its threatened blockade against the movement of natural gas across the state.

E. Holley Poe, president of the Texas Eastern Transmission company, whose cash bid of $143,127,000 was the highest of six "valid" offers opened by the War Assets Administration yesterday, said he "expects no trouble" in Pennsylvania if his company is awarded the 1,800-mile tubes.

"There has been interstate commerce in this country ever since the constitution was adopted," Poe told reporters.

All the acceptable offers received by WAA called for gas transmission in at least one of the two great wartime petroleum conduits. That fact seemed certain to revive the controversy in Pennsylvania, where state law forbids stream-crossing permits except for petroleum and petroleum by-products.

Governor James Duff, former state solicitor, has ruled that natural gas is not a petroleum by-product. Further, a majority of Pennsylvania's congressional delegation sought vainly to postpone the federal government's policy decision to accept the highest firm offer for the lines, regardless of the gas-vs.-oil controversy.

GOP Still Tries For Tax Slash

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. (AP)—Beset by dissent in their own ranks, Republicans raced against time today to make good on promises of a slash in government spending and income taxes.

GOP fiscal leaders were reported to have arrived at a preliminary agreement on a program about like this:

1. Pare President Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget some $6,000,000,000 and slap a congressional ceiling on total federal spending. This is where the time element comes in.

2. Divide these savings about equally between debt retirement and individual tax relief, which would permit an overall tax cut of about 20 per cent.

3. Hold open the question of just how tax relief will be distributed between large and small taxpayers. Republicans are split wide open on this issue.

Fuel Crisis In Britain Expanding

LONDON, Feb. 11. (AP)—The Labor government cabinet reviewed the critical coal shortage again today and informed sources said it soon might extend the domestic electricity cuts to the entire nation, including Scotland.

Factories were closed. Unemployment queues lengthened. The dole was back. Homes and stores were darkened. Public indignation mounted.

The weather turned freezing again as the nation dipped further into inadequate stocks from the recently socialized mines and more snow was forecast. Stock prices sagged. Winston Churchill shouted in parliament last night about "incompetence in high places."

Auto-Truck Mishap Here Kills Man, 25

An automobile-truck mishap near Cosden refinery at approximately 9 o'clock this morning caused injuries which resulted in the death two hours later of Henry Parr, 25, of McKinney, Texas. Parr died shortly after reaching a local hospital.

The young man was one of three occupants of a vehicle headed west on Highway 80. Other riders were Mrs. Marvin Dunlap, 29, and her five-year-old daughter, Caroline, of 2104 Skyline street, Abilene.

Mrs. Dunlap suffered a broken knee cap and was to undergo an operation at a local hospital sometime this afternoon. She is a sister to Parr.

According to witnesses, the accident occurred when Parr, who was at the wheel of the Dunlap machine came over a rise in the road and ran squarely into the truck, which was making a left-hand turn into the refinery grounds. The driver of the truck, whose name could not immediately be learned, escaped unhurt.

Mrs. Dunlap said she was enroute to Kermit to join her husband. Dunlap came here upon learning of the tragedy.

Congress Group Ponders Hoof, Mouth Disease

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. (AP)—Two Congressional Agriculture Committees today faced the growing problem of what to do about Mexico's outbreak of foot and mouth disease.

Both Dr. B. T. Simms and Dr. S. O. Fladness, suggested that Congress give the Agriculture Department the funds and authority to attempt to eradicate the disease in Mexico, in cooperation with the Mexican government.

Dr. Simms, who is head of the Bureau of Animal Industry, told the House Agriculture Committee, for example, that a serious outbreak in this country would increase the cost of meat and milk production "from 5 to 20 per cent."

Dr. Fladness, chief of Field Inspection for the Bureau told the Senate committee: "It would be worth all the money and effort it takes to stamp out the epidemic."

ARE LAWYERS SO DISCREET?

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 11. (AP)—Sen. Allan Carson introduced a bill into the state Senate to re-vamp a law which he said reflects upon attorneys. A phrase in the existing law says the court shall appoint "some discreet person or attorney." Carson wants it to read "attorney or other discreet person."

Filipinos Will Decide Issue Of Equal Privileges

MANILA, Feb. 11. (AP)—One month from today, the Philippines' 3,000,000 registered voters will decide the controversial issue of equal privileges for American investors. High administration advisers predict the proposed grant of equal rights to Americans in exploitation of the islands' natural resources and in ownership of public utilities will be approved by a 75 or 80 percent margin in the national plebiscite. Since Nov. 19 when President Manuel A. Roxas fired the opening gun for parity in an address to Philippine university students, he was pressed an unremitting campaign throughout the republic. Former President Sergio Osmeña, while committing himself personally in favor of parity, refused to enter an active campaign. Members of his conservative wing of the Nacionalista party have actively opposed Roxas' views. The most prominent of such opponents are Senators Tomas Confesor, Tomas Cabili and Eulogio Rodriguez. Under a 65-word section of the Bell Philippine trade relations act of the US Congress, parity must be adopted before benefits of the Philippine rehabilitation act of 1946 become effective — except for payments of $500 or less.

COXSAIN BRINGS FRIENDS TO NAVY

CHICAGO, Feb. 11. (AP)—Coxsain George McNamara, 21, has lost that lonesome feeling for the boys in his home town of Monmouth, Ill. McNamara, who is assigned to general duty at nearby Glenview naval air station, went home Saturday on a weekend pass. Yesterday he advised the station that he had persuaded eight of his home town friends to enlist in the organized reserve. The station, pleased of McNamara's recruiting prowess, furnished an R4D twin engine transport to bring McNamara and the eight recruits to the station.

Red River Area Industries Asked

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 11. (AP)—Declaring that the Red River watershed must "pioneer" in building an industrial empire equivalent to its natural resources, Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex.) yesterday called for industrial development of the area. The Texarkana congressman told the annual convention of the Red River Valley Improvement Association that the area has tremendous potentialities as an industrial center.

Valley Gravity Canal Plans Are Started

McALLEN, Feb. 11. (AP)—Final conferences on plans for a $67,500,000 valley gravity canal and drainage project are expected to be held here within the next two weeks. Howard Robbins, manager of the Reclamation Bureau's McAllen office, said officials from Denver, Amarillo and Washington are expected to attend the meeting. Robbins said the conferences would be aimed at a final agreement before congressional appropriations are asked on a report to be submitted to Reclamation Commissioner Michael Straus.

Water Conservation Group Protesting

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11. (AP)—Continuance of the Southwestern Power Administration was protested yesterday by the Texas Water Conservation Association. Appearing before the House Appropriations Committee to protest providing funds for its continuance, J. E. Sturrock, of Austin, said there was no justification for its continuing. He said the Texas Water Conservation group contended that "the ultimate objective of the Department of Interior (under which the SPA operates) is to nationalize the power sources of this country."

Steel Plant Sale Soon Predicted

Dubonnet, New Ice Cream, Is Made By Banner

Whole Cherries Add Creaminess And Flavor

Dubonnet, a new ice cream treat that Banner Creamery introduced on the market several weeks ago has already become distinctive in the Banner refreshment line and is scheduled to gain more and more popularity during the summer months.

Dubonnet is an ice cream delicacy containing whole cherries that give the cream a pink color and creamy goodness. The new variety is in addition to such popular ice cream flavors as vanilla, chocolate, strawberry, banana nut, coconut fruit and orange pineapple cream.

Getting ready for the biggest season which is just around the corner the Banner plant is undergoing extensive overhauling and is making repairs in ice machinery. Recognized not only for dairy products, Banner operates the ice plant here with regular home and business deliveries. Ice trucks likewise are being overhauled and made ready for the spring season.

For the convenience of patrons, Banner maintains dock service for those who prefer coming to the plant for ice. They also sell milk, butter, ice cream and sherbets and are in operation from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

Banner customers, who have patronized the company for many years, buy products with the assurance they are getting the best. Employees must meet rigid health regulations, and the company must comply with sanitation regulations called for by the city and state health departments.

Rowe's Aides Are Auto Specialists

Now that motorists are feeling relief from the proverbial 'first of the year' financial worries, a great many are taking time out to make certain their cars are in good running condition and will see them through 1947.

To those persons, H. M. Rowe extends an invitation to drop by his garage at 212 East Second St., and let him and his staff of experienced mechanics have a look at the automobile and give a general estimate of the work to be done.

Rowe, who has been in business for himself since 1939, is a firm believer in the old adage "The proof of the pudding is in the taste," and offers his work on this basis.

Rowe customers are as definite in their choice of mechanics as many persons are in their selection of a physician, for they have learned through past experiences that the shop turns out the best work possible.

Since they guarantee their work, car owners have the satisfaction of knowing that the job will last and be well done.

Offering the service of complete motor overhauls on all makes of cars, the owner believes that periodic motor tune-ups keep a car in the best running condition, offering better motor performance while saving on gasoline consumption at the same time.

Parts of the best quality, including a good supply of Chevrolet parts, are available at Rowe's which also has a few transmission parts in Chevrolet models.

As a special service to customers and as a safety precaution always advisable, the garage offers a free inspection service on brakes. "So many drivers let their brakes go until the drums are ruined before they have them fixed," Rowe states, "And with

Old Mission Road May Become Parkway Route

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 11. (P)—The old Mission road, which bore also the names of the Natchez trace, the route De Bienville, the San Antonio trace and others, now lost in many places in Louisiana, may once again become an artery of travel across the state.

The old road once provided a route connecting Spanish possessions in Florida with those in Texas and Mexico. Later in its history it provided a pathway across Louisiana for travelers to and from the Natchez trace and the wilderness road.

Now before Congress is a proposal by Rep. A. Leonard Allen of Winnfield for a $150,000 survey of the Natchez trace extension between Vidalia on the Mississippi and Pendleton's ferry on the Sabine. If approved, the result may be the creation of a national parkway along the route.

The historic road, old when the first white man beheld it, followed the paths of buffaloes, once numerous in Louisiana, along the ridgelands north of the state's Alluvial plains which were often under water before the streams followed the buffaloes and the trail was well defined when French and Spanish explorers began their conquest of the territory.

Growing in importance, it was long the main thoroughfare of travel from the Mississippi at Vidalia to the French outpost at Natchitoches from the east and from the Spanish province of New Spain to the Iberian frontier post in Louisiana, Los Adais, only seven leagues from Natchitoches.

Later the ancient thoroughfare felt the hurry hordes of Anglo-Americans streaming westward with their herds and covered wagons into Texas, followed later by troops of the young republic as war with Mexico drew near.

And the old trail again rang to the martial tread of soldiers and horses during the war between the states.

Beyond Natchez, the road swung up to Nashville and joining with the wilderness road, went over the mountains into Kentucky, dropping back into Tennessee at Knoxville. Other roads connected the trace with the new capital at Washington.

To the west, beyond the Rio Sabinas, the San Antonio trace, or El Camino Real, passed through San Augustine and Nacogdoches to San Antonio and on across the Rio Grande to the provincial capital at Mexico City.

Of late years, sections of the road, once so crowded, are used no longer. Some parts of it have been incorporated into the state's highway system while others have been completely lost from the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

A&M Freshmen Getting Paid For Chores Now

BRYAN, Feb. 11. (P)—Texas A&M freshmen are getting paid for a former traditional chore, the Bryan Eagle said in its issue of Feb. 8.

The paper said "Seniors at Texas A&M College, barred from ordering freshmen to clean up rooms and run errands, are reported making written and verbal contracts with 'fish' to do these chores, agreeing to pay them 40 cents per hour.

"One such contract was made a few days ago, according to well-authenticated reports. It was in written form and was attested by a notary public in the College Station area.

"Following this it was reported other seniors contacted lawyers in the campus sector, inquiring if a written contract were more binding and were informed, an oral contract would stand up. Some of the seniors however, not accustomed to sweeping and wiping up, are said to feel the written contract would be safer."

Lobbyists Of Texas Listed By Congress

By PAUL BOLTON
Herald Austin Bureau
AUSTIN, Feb. 11.—Texas legislators who talk about making lobbyists before the Legislature register might borrow a leaf from the Congressional notebook. Current issues of the Congressional Record have been reporting on lobbyists who must list their employers, rate of pay, expenses and other details.

Here are names of Texans filed within three recent issues of the Congressional Record culled out of a good many pages of exceedingly fine print:

Fritz G. Lanham, lately the congressman from Fort Worth, is now listed as the Washington representative of the Trinity Improvement Association at a stipend of $250 a month; of the National Patent Council of New York; and the American Fair Trade Council of New York; from which organizations he receives a total of $10,000 a year.

Dale Miller, listed with the address Mayflower Hotel, lists three employers: The Dallas Chamber of Commerce, the Intracoastal Canal Association of Louisiana and Texas, and the Texas Gulf Sulphur Company. In reply to the question on the official blank, showing compensation, Miller lists $6,000 per annum "from each of the three employes," and as expenses he lists "an aggregate of approximately $400 to $450 a month."

J. E. Sturrock of Austin says he is General Manager of the Texas Water Conservation association and goes into some detail regarding his objectives: "To support all legislation both state and national having to do with the development of conservation, protection and utilization of the water resources of Texas through existing state and Federal agencies. To oppose all legislation creating Federal valley authorities and all legislation which seeks to superimpose Federal control over state control in the distribution of the state's water resources," Mr. Sturrock

Austin Man Shot In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 11. (P)—Police last night reported a 35-year-old Austin man was shot in the knee as he and a companion attempted to flee from Officer W. E. Stover.

Stover said he had arrested the pair in connection with the robbery of a service station earlier in the evening. He said the two men jumped out of a patrol car after it had halted near detective headquarters.

Stover declared he fired one shot after the pair refused to halt. The second man was apprehended a few minutes later.

Clash of Pickets, Workers Is Probed

HOUSTON, Feb. 11. (P)—An investigation of a clash between pickets and workers yesterday at a new home addition was ordered by District Attorney A. C. Winborn.

Four persons were injured in the flareups yesterday, and four squads of deputies were posted around the project as a precaution against further trouble.

J. L. Bryant, 59, business agent for AFL Carpenters Local 213, filed a charge accusing Frank W. Sharp, 40, developer of the project, with carrying a pistol.

Sharp was one of the four injured, as was Bryant.

A spokesman for Sharp earlier had said the men were injured after mass picketing of the addition began.

In 1895, an incident of world-wide historical value took place.
Harvey Lillard became deaf.
He was in a stooped, cramped position when he heard "something pop" in his neck.
He was deaf for 18 years.
In his neck was a large visible bump. Fortunately, it could be seen, otherwise it might have gone unnoticed.
D. D. Palmer said: If PRODUCTION of that bump PRODUCE deafness, REDUCTION should restore hearing.
He pushed the bump, three days in succession: bump was gone, and hearing WAS restored.
Fortunately that bump WAS REDUCED; fortunately, hearing WAS restored.
That incident started and established a truth heretofore unknown and unused.
Would the average man, upon a single isolated case, have discovered a universal human principle and practice?
Was this man justified in laying down an all-complete, all inclusive, and all-exclusive universal human principle?
51 years have justified that conclusion.

DEAF, MUTE FOR 61 YEARS SPEAKS, HEARS AFTER FALL
Seattle, May 29 (UP) — A 61-year-old deaf mute threw away his pad and pencil today and chatted happily with his fellow workers at the Seattle army services forces depot. He was speaking and hearing his first words since childhood.
Claude Berger's silence of 61 years was broken dramatically when he tripped and fell as he stacked boxes at his job. The shock of the fall apparently restored his hearing and speech. As his friends rushed to aid him he said, distinctly, "I feel fine, I can hear a little now."
The significance of what had happened came to him as he was taken to the depot's medical office.
He rushed to a nurse, threw his arms about her and cried: "Thanks to the Lord, I can speak, I can hear."
Berger said he had been deaf and speechless ever since an attack of scarlet fever suffered when he was three years old.—"St. Louis Post-Dispatch", May 29, 1946.

Investment In Housing, Humanity

Housing in general is a major community problem, and although the way may seem too slow, it will, in time, satisfy most of the needs.

However, there is one area of housing which is apt to be ignored unless there is considerable thinking to the point of creating concern and crystallizing action. It is that in the northwest part of the city. Here practically all of our Latin-American citizens reside along with a major portion of the Negro population.

A close analysis of the situation doubtless will convince those genuinely interested persons of a desperate need for housing in this part of the city—not supplemental housing alone, but new housing to replace much of what already is there.

Fortunately, some families have been able to provide adequate quarters for themselves, but for every one of these, there are many other families which dwell in inadequate places or shacks miserably unsuited for human habitation. Most people have no conception of the degree of squalor in which some of these residents are obliged to exist. Not only are the hovels uncomfortable, unsafe and unhealthy, but they pose unsanitary hazards of concern to all the community. Moreover, common sense leads to the expectation that such conditions might contribute to anti-social attitudes or certainly will smother ambition to rise above the present station. Thus, we have an investment in citizenship and humanity to be considered.

Now, what can be done? There are three courses, each linked with finances. One is to furnish finances to individuals who wish to build low-cost, permanent and sanitary housing for which they can pay over a long period of time at a rate within their means. A second is for individuals or concerns outside that area to enter the building field, providing small but suitable quarters at modest rents. A third is to undertake a large-scale housing program, either privately or publicly, which would remove, at one stroke, a large portion of the blight and replace it with something modern and adequate.

Of course the question of soundness of risk will have to be answered in each case, but many are of the opinion that this type of housing offers the greatest opportunity for safe return and reasonable profit. From a community point, there is no question of what such a step would mean in helping these people to help themselves. We all should receive great dividends from it. Is there anyone with vision and courage enough to start it?

Pants For Parachutes

NEW YORK. (AP)—This little tale is one you don't have to believe. I don't myself.

But it is a legend among the Army Transport pilots who used to ferry Chinese troops in the Far East. Some fliers insist it is true.

Hauling Chiang Kai Shek's troops wasn't a pleasant duty for anybody concerned. The Chinese soldiers were ignorant city coolies or bewildered farm boys—most of them not mad at anybody and more interested in a rice bowl than the war.

These Chinese passengers liked to gamble. Many veteran C-47 jockeys swear that the winners on occasion picked up the loser and tossed him out the plane door amid general Chinese laughter. It was certainly a sure way to get out of the Army.

And that brings us to our tall story, probably dreamed up by a tired co-pilot bumping "The Hump."

A plane heavily loaded with Chinese soldiers was flying over rugged mountainous terrain. Suddenly the plane developed trouble. The mountains began to get closer. The ship was losing altitude.

"We've got to get rid of some of the weight fast or we'll crash," the pilot told his crew. "There isn't a place to land."

"There's no freight to chuck out," said a sergeant. "All we're carrying is passengers."

"I know," replied the pilot, "but we're going to ram into a peak in another few minutes if we don't lighten this ship."

"By the way," the sergeant pointed out, "I just checked and there's only one parachute aboard."

"The pilot said something unprintable. 'I'll see what I can do,' said the sergeant. 'Hell, there's no use in everybody getting killed.

ed." He went back into the plane, lined up the Chinese troops before them to jump out. They were interested in his game but couldn't quite make up their mind to play. None would go out.

"Hell!" said the sergeant. He buckled on the only parachute—western device whose function the Chinese had no way of knowing. Then the sergeant took off his trousers, tied a knot in each leg end and holding the pants by the belt swished them back and forth overhead. They billowed with air as he bent his knees as if to jump.

The Chinese grinned. They got the sergeant's idea. They could float through the air with the greatest of ease if they followed his example. Off came their trousers. They tied the knots and lined up in front of the door.

But still none would go first. No—their ancient courtesy decreed that the American visitor should have the honor of preceding them.

"Hell again!" said the frustrated sergeant. "I knew this would happen."

But the plane was almost scraping the peaks. He had to act.

"Follow me!" he shouted, and holding his pants overhead leaped out. As soon as he disappeared from their sight he pulled the ripcord of his parachute—his own ticket to safety.

One by one the docile passengers—true to his orders—jumped out after him, each clinging to his knotted pants.

The lightened plane rose and went on. And the passengers? No complaints have been heard from them. At least they got out of the Chinese Army.

Gardner Sails For Another Port

SHELBY, N.C. — On Feb. 6, the lead story in this column began: "Today O. Max Gardner sets sail for his new post as American ambassador to the Court of St. James."

This writer has never made a correction with more sorrow and regret, but that column should have read: "Today O. Max Gardner sets sail for a great new destination to serve at the Court of His Maker."

And it should have continued: "Max Gardner in life seldom had time to do the things he wanted to do. He was too busy doing things for others. He was not so well known to the nation, because he spent so much time working for his friends."

"Max Gardner was the type of man who, when he sat down for a visit, wanted to know all about the other fellow's problems never mentioned his own. When Harry Hopkins was having trouble getting confirmed as secretary of commerce, it was Max Gardner who sat up long midnight hours preparing him for the senatorial cross-examination."

When Stuart Symington was having headaches as war surplus property administrator, it was Max who gave him wise and patient counsel. And when this column was used by ex-congressman Sweeney of Ohio in one of the biggest libel suits in history, it was Max Gardner who spent long and tedious hours battling that suit.

"Max Gardner was offered many high offices, but turned most of them down. He loved people more than position. In fact, he hesitated a long time before accepting the proffered post of ambassador to London. GARDNER'S BUSINESS CAREER

"I was scooped on his appointment. Max had asked my advice about taking the plunge into diplomacy—a new field for him. This led my hands regarding any public comment. My advice, I'm sure, made little difference, but I felt that our relations with Great Britain never were more important, and that now more than ever we needed in London a blunt-speaking, bona fide American, not a social whirler, to interpret the people of the USA to the people of Great Britain."

"A few weeks earlier, Max had sold his North Carolina rayon mill. He had built it years before, when rayon was new and had a highly hazardous future; so in many ways he hated to part with it. But his son, who had managed the mill was dead, and his passing something went out of Max's life and finally he sold out.

"I remember the day Max deposited the check in the bank.

"Just a few hours before he died, Max phoned me from New York to say good-bye. He was in excellent spirits and full of enthusiasm for his big new job. "Only a few people outside the family knew that Max for many years had nursed a heart condition. That was why he did not run for the Senate in 1944. Bob Reynolds' term was up in that year, and though the two

With some pride he showed me the deposit slip—in seven figures.

"You're looking at a real live millionaire," he said whimsically. "And I've no idea what to do with the money."

"Yet in making that money, Max had never deserted his creed that it pays dividends to look out for the other fellow. His mill was the first in the south to adopt the minimum wage; and last year while northern labor leaders were battling with US Steel and General Motors for wage increases, Max voluntarily increased wages in his mill. He had found it always paid him dividends.

HOW NEW DEAL BEGAN "Nor did Max despise his wealth, ever desert his belief that the world must move forward to more liberal things. He always believed in the creed he expressed in a letter he wrote Franklin Roosevelt when FDR was governor of New York and Max was governor of North Carolina.

"The American people are on the move," Max wrote. "If I were you I would become more liberal, because I tell you the masses are marching and if we are to save this nation, it has got to be saved by the liberal interpretations of the sentiments now ruling in the hearts of men."

"I am satisfied we are in the day of a new deal and that many of our preconceived ideas and formulas are going to be thrown into the discard. We are more than blind if we think the American people can be hitched to the status quo. The camp fires of the past are now abandoned and the frontiers of thinking have extended beyond the limit heretofore held sacred by the conservative minds of this country."

"Max believed that creed not only in 1932 when he wrote to Franklin Roosevelt, but to the very end.

"So, having sold his mill and deposited the money in the bank, Max decided he could devote the next years of his life to doing on a broader scale what he had been doing on an individual scale—bettering relations between people. He accepted the president's offer to become ambassador to Great Britain.

"Just a few hours before he died, Max phoned me from New York to say good-bye. He was in excellent spirits and full of enthusiasm for his big new job. "Only a few people outside the family knew that Max for many years had nursed a heart condition. That was why he did not run for the Senate in 1944. # The World Reaps The Whirlwind

Great Britain is in the throes of a crisis at home as well as abroad. Those adamantly opposed to the leftist trends of government as well as Angliophiles may delight in the miseries of the moment. Most people, however, will be more sympathetic, realizing that tribulation and suffering in any quarter of the world is of concern to every member of the human family.

The sad plight may be attributed in part to domestic difficulties, yet in a larger measure it is the result of years of destruction, disruption and depletion. Here is a fresh illustration of the fact that the war is not over for England—and indeed that it is not over for any of us. The world is reaping the whirlwind, and the harvest is bitter.

Fire Under Portal Case Not Out

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A judge has thrown out the case which set the match under all the portal to portal pay suits but—

The fire isn't out yet, by a long sight. Five years ago the CIO union workers in a pottery company at Mt. Clemens, Mich., went into federal court and sued for overtime.

They sued in federal court because the federal wage-hour law says workers must get paid overtime for all time worked over a certain number of hours a week.

They said the company had told them on the side to get to work ahead of the regular starting time. So they said they had overtime coming.

Judge Frank A. Picard figured the men had overtime due because, he decided, they actually had started production ahead of the regular time.

The company appealed to the US Circuit Court of Appeals which decided Picard was wrong and that the men had no overtime coming.

Then the union appealed to the highest court, the US Supreme Court, which did this: Like the Court of Appeals, it said Picard was wrong. That the men had not actually started production ahead of time. But—

It said the men should get some overtime for time spent in walking into the plant to their benches, getting ready for work and so on.

(This was where the portal to portal angle came in with a bang).

Then the Supreme Court further told Picard to figure out exactly how much portal to portal pay the Mount Clemens workers should get.

But—there was one very important point in what the Supreme Court told Picard about figuring portal to portal back overtime.

It told him not to consider any overtime that was "trifling." Then the government, through the Justice Department, stepped in.

The Justice Department attorneys asked Picard to consider as "trifling" the whole suit of the Mt. Clemens workers and to throw it all out.

That's what Picard did Saturday. He said the whole claim was "trifling" and therefore the workers had no back overtime pay coming.

What happens now? Mt. Clemens workers' attorneys seem sure to appeal Picard's decision eventually back to the Supreme Court.

That will take time. So nothing will be finally decided about portal to portal pay suits until the Supreme Court says its final say.

Affairs Of The World—DeWitt MacKenzie

Congress By Television Proposed

By J. M. ROBERTS, Jr. AP Foreign Affairs Analyst Substituting For DeWitt MacKenzie

Senator Wiley of Wisconsin, painting a terrifying picture of what could happen if an A-bomb wiped out the Washington government, wants to establish a stand-by system for the preservation of Democracy by means of a "television" Congress.

He wants the states connected by a network which could substitute for the physical assembly of the nation's leaders, pointing out that meetings would be too dangerous even if they were not actually killed at the outset. He also thinks all states should adopt the interim appointive system under which governors could fill vacancies immediately if the leaders were killed, so Congress would always exist to check "any would-be-dictator-minded executive."

Wiley, chairman of the Senate Judiciary committee, thinks his plan is needed to supplement President Truman's own ideas on the presidential succession.

Since a desire to peer into the future is one of man's most persistent emotions, it's always interesting to follow the leads which such ideas suggest.

First, what is the relative likelihood of such a war? Although it is considered impolite these days to express doubt that the United Nations will work some realists admit that either Communism will prove a false lure, the left will move far enough to the left politically to eliminate the sharpest differences between Communism and western economic practices, or there will be war, sometime.

If war does come, will it be sufficiently soon so that present plans for its conduct will not become obsolete? If present world unrest results should produce a war its conduct, at least for the first years will follow established practice. If war develops after the nations have spent 10, 15, or 20 years healing the wounds of the last one and developing new weapons, it would almost amount to a new experience.

About the only thing of which we can be sure is that the best plans will hardly be sufficient to preserve even a semblance of Democratic procedure in any future war. (This is not to suggest that the attempt should not be made. The stronger the fight for Democracy before and during a war, the greater the possibility of a return to it afterward.)

That any future war, whether atomic or not, will produce insufferable conditions, that only a nation led by madmen could start it, and that, therefore, the world can no longer sit idly by while such men get control anywhere.

That if safety on that score is not achieved, the United States will need a national defense system so perfectly organized, its members so well trained, that every man can step immediately into the job of the man above him without any break in the overall rhythm.

Jack Benny will embark on a vaudeville tour this summer, I wish he would take the time to make a movie. It's reported that Danny Kay has money in a cafe now being completed in the valley. But authorities refused a request by Bob Hope to build a golf driving range across the street.

Bob Hope is going all-out to publicize "My Favorite Brunette," which was made with his own dough. He is having Dotty Lamour go to the New York premiere at Easter time. He's also planning a nationwide contest and the prize may be a one-night stand as sinner at the Crosby house. Clark Gable is coughing his way through "The Hucksters." Can't shake his cold. . . . Jane Russell may have a steady job as vocalist on the Kay Kyser show. Her pipes are okay, too. . . . Paramount wants to lend Lamour to Hunt Stromberg for the baseball opus, "The Sun Field," but she is suspending judgment until the script gets a rewrite. . . . I found John Hodiak, Sans Mustache, roaming around Eagle-Lion studios, but he claimed it was merely a social call. It's no secret that he would like a strong picture.

It's a four-day frolic in the Mexican manner. The palm-fringed Valley deliberately goes nuts for four days.

All the men wear beards. They're cultivating them now. They also wear Charro costumes, suits of dark-hued and tight-fitting trousers and jackets embroidered with bright braid; galaxy decorated shirts; huge sombreros; silver spurs.

Martin Rallies To Clip Burns In AC Thriller

All house records were broken at the Big Spring Athletic club last night, the patrons checking in from the forks of the creek to see Wayne Martin and Bobby Burns collide in Promoter Pat O'Dowdy's top wrestling event.

Few of the customers were disappointed. They watched Burns, breathing fire and venom, take his lumps and his licking. And, for the second time in a week, they saw blood flow freely. This time it was Burns who sprang a leak and drenched his ill-tempered adversary on the forehead and broke it on the nose. Martin had to spring to win. The Butte bad-man had him groggy in the first heat and poured him onto the canvas with a simple body pin to win in 14 1-2 minutes.

The Tulsa evened matters within a minute's time and that by all but decapitating the Montanan. Somehow, Burns got his occipital lobe wedged in between the two top ropes and couldn't free himself. Martin didn't help matters, going to the opposite side of the ring where he drew tight the hemp. Referee Olin Boynton finally prevailed upon the Sooner to take recess in the center of the ring and freed Burns but Bobby by that time felt as if he had made a dry run on the gallows.

Wayne terminated the show some six minutes later when he senced Robin about the ring and bowed his shoulder to the mat, but not before Burns had heaved a chair in his direction and had threatened to chew one of the ring posts in two. Jack Pappenheim met another toughie, the veteran Ely Shorman of Salt Lake City, in the opening match and subdued him with a flying tackle after winning the second fall with a series of drop kicks. He had to start from outside the ring to finish it up since Shorman made him walk the plank and wasn't going to let him return.

Record Salaries Can Easily Ruin Baseball, Says Oakers' Pennock

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11. (AP)—Current high baseball salaries, particularly fabulous sums being paid to Bobby Feller, Hal Newhouse, and Ted Williams, will "ruin" the game, says General Manager Herb Pennock of the Philadelphia Phillies. It can't last—the way players are digging into clubowners' billfolds, Herb commented, adding gloomily that the Phils might go bankrupt in a year or two—if game attendance falls and player pay checks fall to deflate.

Pennock, who observed his 53rd birthday yesterday, was speaking of salaries generally but he said he had in mind particularly the $80,000 which he thought the Cleveland Indians were paying Feller, and the $85,000 and $60,000 which he figured Newhouse and Williams would get from Detroit and Boston. "Do you realize what such salaries will do to baseball?" asked Herb, who has a few holdout worries of his own—such as Ron Northey, Schoolboy Rowe, Emil Verban, and Tommy Hughes. "They will ruin it." He had this explanation: "Under the new baseball rules passed last August when the players were making their bid for recognition, a major league club cannot reduce salaries more than 25 per cent in one year. "For example if Feller—for or that matter if any other player in the majors has a bad season, the most that player can be cut is 25 per cent. Suppose, for example, Williams drops to 300 in batting—or Feller wins only 10 games—something that can happen if Bob's arm goes bad or Ted is stopped by the 'Dyer shift'—the most that either can be cut is 25 per cent. "And suppose that attendance drops 50 per cent which it easily can, an owner can't cut salaries 50 per cent. He is left holding the bag. "Our club, for instance, in order to keep out of the red must draw between 800,000 and 900,000. Last season we drew over a million and made $125,000. If we are unlucky this year we might draw only 600,000.

Legion To Play Stanton Again

Pete Farquhar's American Legion cagers swing back into action Wednesday night in Stanton, meeting a strong independent team of that community. Game time is 8 o'clock. The Legionnaires already hold one victory over the Stanton quintet and will be slightly favored to turn the trick, if Farquhar has all his troops available for play. All players who intend making the trip have been urged by the coach to assemble in front of the Settles hotel by 6:45 p.m. Wednesday, if they desire transportation to and from the game.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

IF members of the Big Spring high school basketball team can get over the prevailing conviction that anything which smacks of Abilene constitutes a jinx and, if they can master the art of making their free shots count, they can write their own ticket in 3AA league play. The War Birds, apparently on their game, hit town Friday night for a joust with the Longhorns. A couple of weeks ago, Jake Bentley's gang ran roughshod over the Bovines, 51-26, only to have the game removed from the records because the Flock had used an ineligible man. A victory this time out would mean a lot to Jake Bentley's invaders, not because of the effect it would have in regular circuit play but rather due to the fact that would prove a mental handicap for the tournament play to follow.

Persons who looked on as the Longhorns took their lumps in the last adventure say the youngsters obviously were awed by the very presence of the Abilene team, that there was something lacking in the mental approach of the Big Springers. It obviously does not show up in any of the resident quint's other games. The Steers can take Odessa into camp and never look back. They invaded San Angelo and made off with a victory. They can make Lamesa look bad, to say the least. But, against Abilene, they oftentimes play as if hypnotized, whether it is football, basketball or One Old Cat.

Lamesa's Tornados knocked over the Eagles and made them look bad, only to come along and lose a one-sided decision to the Steers. San Angelo invaded the Eagle court and escaped with a two-point decision, then returned home and dropped a game to Johnny Malaise's gang. Steers can't accomplish the trick, and that by dumping the 'jinx' attitude for once and for all, remembering everything Coach Malaise tells them and playing four quarters of basketball. Texas university's mile-a-minute Longhorns prove that a good little team can hurdle a good big team and make them look sick in the bargain. The Austin quintet is short on height but long on talent and court savvy. Our Town's youngsters resembles the Texas gang a lot. The sagacious Malaise took a bunch of ordinary boys and hewed a cage machine that stresses speed, fast break and dizzy passing. The attack is built around no one party. Instead, Malaise has taught all his youngsters to take their shots when they are proffered.

John hardly knows what to do about the failure of his boys to bag the gratis pitches. In practice, the Annie Oakley is astonishingly simple to collect but, in actual play, it's another matter. The five starters have accounted for 82 points in tosses from the foul line to date. On the other hand, they've missed 102 opportunities to add to their point total with free throws. And that, despite the fact that Malaise drills his boys every day on such pitches. The village's fans will find out for once and for all Friday night whether the Bovines can stand prosperity. If they can lick their so-called jinx, there isn't any telling what they can do later on in the interscholastic league race. Midland's entry in the Longhorn baseball league has been nicknamed "The Indians" apropos in that the club has been working with two clubs of higher classification similarly identified — Oklahoma City and Cleveland.

Herd Owns One Win In Series

One of the biggest crowds of the basketball season is expected to gather at the high school fieldhouse this evening to see if the resident Steers can clinch first place honors in District 3AA standings. Guests of the evening will be Johnny Klick's San Angelo Bobcats, who were riding all alone atop the heap until the Longhorns beat them to the wire by a single point in Angelo Jan. 28. That outing was too close for comfort for all hands concerned. Now, the invaders are roosting in third place in the standings and need a win to assure them of a place in the district playoff, which comes two weekends hence. Obviously, the Cats have the guns to knock any one over, when they're so amind. They chewed the Abilene Eagles into little bits in Abilene some time ago, thereby taking the heat off the Steers, who were rendezvousing around the top spot at that time. Klick has a potent first string but the talent trails off, after that. Perhaps the regulars can do it. In their opening game of the campaign, the Felines nudged the Longhorns by two points. The Bovines have finished on the long end of the count in two outings since then, however. The local mentor, John Malaise, will start the same reliable quintet that has been unbeatable in district play to date. That would be Capt. Horace Rankin, Eddie Houser, Delmar Turner, Ike Robb and Bobo Hardy. Harold Berry stands ready to spell Harry. Angelo's starters will probably be Modgling, Jett, Templeton, Thomas and Webb. Reserve squads of the two schools will open the program around 7 o'clock and the feature goes on immediately thereafter.

Communism Not For China, Says Dr. Ray Six

ABILENE, Feb. 11. (AP)—Communism won't work in China because it is contrary to tradition and loyalty of the Chinese." Dr. Ray L. Six today told Hardin-Simmons University students.

"It cannot succeed in China. It was tried centuries ago and failed and it will do the same today," the former professor at the University at Nanking and missionary to China declared.

The philosophy and action of the Chinese Communists generate a natural hatred of themselves among other citizens of the nation, but they are independent of Moscow and not supported by Russia, he said.

In discussing Russia, Dr. Six declared that America has not been given a complete picture of the Orient. He said there was greater freedom of religion there than was generally believed.

Encouraging signs for China are the development of hydro-electric power and leaders such as Chiang Kai Shek, Six pointed out. Dr. Six is now professor of geology at Oklahoma A&M college.

Rain Dampens Coastal Texas

The fringe of Texas touching the Gulf of Mexico was damp with showers today, but elsewhere there were clearing skies and warmer weather.

Downcast Brownsville, gaily bedecked and ready to launch its big Charro Days Fiesta Thursday, received the state's heaviest rain — .55 inches. However, Brownsville was also the state's warmest spot with a minimum of 51 degrees, and hopes to have clear skies for its fur-day celebration.

Cloudy weather and drizzles were reported all the way up the gulf coast, at Galveston, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Port Arthur. The dampness extended inland to Austin and San Antonio. A thunderstorm was reported at Junction.

Other parts of Texas were chilly but clear. Amarillo was the coldest with a low of 21 degrees. Pampa had 23, Lubbock 25, San Angelo 30 and Texarkana 32. There were few below-freezing temperatures early today. It was 45 in El Paso, 42 at Laredo and Galveston, 36 at Dallas.

City Commission Will Meet Today

The city commission will hold its regular meeting at 4:30 p.m. today in the commission rooms at the city hall with a 50-block paving program uppermost on the docket.

It is anticipated that the commission will take action looking toward adoption of proper ordinances which will clear the way for acceptance of bids for paving.

Under a schedule which commission members have under advisement, action on the project may be had before the end of the month.

Blankenship Back From Fort Worth

W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, and Bill French, member of the firm of Puckett & French, have returned from Fort Worth where they conferred with Federal Works Agency representatives concerning FWA participation in expense for developing potential building plans for the local system. According to Blankenship, FWA indicated great latitude in breaking the plan into units if desired. Full details will be presented to the board at its next meeting.

Scout Committee Holds Meeting

Plans for operation and filing of reports and other matters concerning the local organization were discussed at a meeting of the Big Spring district Boy Scout committee Monday at the Settles hotel.

Attending the session were Champ Rainwater, committee chairman, Elra Phillips, Nat Shick, Charlie Watson, Stanley Peurifoy, Dr. W. B. Hardy, D. M. McKinney, Charles Romine, George Melear, H. D. Norris, C. S. Bloomshield and S. M. Smith.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barconate (formerly called Barcol Concentrate). Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two table-spoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Second Strawn Pay Producer Looming

A second producer from the Strawn pay opened in December by Sun Oil Company in northwestern Coke county loomed Tuesday when Sun No. 1 Fred Jameson, quarter to a mile south of the discovery test, Sun No. 1 Allen Jameson.

The second test flowed high gravity oil on a drillstem test from 6,160-90 feet. Coring continued and it may be that the test will be carried to the Ellenburger. No. 1 Fred Jameson entered the crinoidal section of the Strawn in the Pennsylvania series at 6,136 feet, 49 feet higher than in the No. 1 Allen Jameson. It showed gas at 6,141-70 feet and three feet of lime showing oil.

Test was made through a quarter-inch opening at top and bottom and lasted 51 minutes. Gas and oil flowed in 47 minutes, came to surface in six minutes and it took the remaining four minutes the tool was open. No estimates were made on gas or oil recovered.

Breakdown showed 1,440 feet of pipeline oil. Pressure at surface was 150 pounds during the last four minutes and bottomhole pressure was 930 pounds, and after a 15-minute shut-in was 2,700 pounds, the same as the discovery well. No. 1 Fred Jameson is in the C. NE NW 315-1A, H&TC, extreme northwest corner of Coke county and near Old Silver.

No. 1 Allen Jameson was finished for a daily rating of 168 barrels of 45.2 gravity oil with gas-oil ratio of 1,884-1 and was through a quarter inch tubing choke from 5,225-45 feet.

County's Cash Balance Drops Off $13,000

Still awaiting the impact of last-minute tax payments, Howard county's cash balance dropped off in January by approximately $13,000.

Of this amount, $6,869 came out of the road bond series of 1945, hence not out of any of the general operational funds.

Thus, expenditures, except for right-of-way, amounted to $17,146 for the month against receipts of $10,918, leaving an excess of expenditures over revenue of little less than $7,000.

The road and bridge fund was on close margin with a balance of $6,852 as compared with disbursements of $7,106 for January. Tax receipts probably will bolster it somewhat this month, but no real relief is in sight before March automobile registrations clear.

General fund receipts totaled $6,914 against expenditures of $8,590, leaving a balance of $18,746. Other fund balances at the end of January were: Jury $2,060, officers salary $5,848, permanent improvement $934, road refunding $5,920, special road bond $2,406, road and bridge special $510, viaduct warrant $700, total $37,866 (plus $118,193 in the 1945 road bond fund).

Eighth Graders Win, 20 To 10

STERLING CITY, Feb. 11.—Big Spring teams won two of three decisions in competition with Sterling athletic contingents here Monday evening.

Anna Smith's eighth grade boys' basketball team trounced Chesney McDonald's youngsters, 20-10, while the invading girls' volleyball teams, coached by Arsh Phillips, split a pair of contests with the Sterling brigades.

The Big Spring A team was nosed out, 32-30, after Miss Phillips' reserves had won, 39-32.

LaVerne and Jo Ann King paced the Sterling regulars to their bounce ball victory while Virginia Costello stood out for Big Spring.

Fern Merworth was the ball of fire in the Big Spring triumph.

The annual club steer and lamb sale will conclude the show Wednesday. The sale will begin at 10 a. m. at the West Texas Livestock Auction company sales barn.

Special Prize Set For Vancill Scott

Farmers, ranchers and businessmen who visited the 10th annual Howard County 4-H Club Livestock Show today were contributing to a special prize to be awarded Vancill Scott, a club member from Big Spring.

The club boy had fed a pen of four lambs, which he planned to enter in the show today. However, the animals were destroyed by a pack of dogs which entered the pen early Sunday morning.

The lad reported at the show, nevertheless, and had the honor of leading the grand champion lamb, entered by Raymond Phillips, into the judging arena.
