that the chamber and other organizations sponsor during the year, but at this time of year there are not too many. That is one reason for the demonstration at this time."Watson went on to say that another reason was a desire to create an interest in the history of Coleman County as Ft. Concho and Ft. Griffin have in their areas.

Publicity about the event was delayed due to the fact it was not until last week that they had the "green light" although they started procedures in November.

There will be tee-pees, lean-tos and people in period costume will perform re-enactments of a time period around 1859 to 1865. There will be shooting demonstrations such as loading black powder

Watson spoke of one event that might especially interest women. It is called the "skillet toss". This is where women can throw a skillet at their husband and the one coming closest receives a prize. "There have been some women volunteer for the event, but few men," Watson said. He encourages men to volunteer for the event. So men, if you are interested, let him know.

Watson advises an EMT (Emergency Medical Technician) and a nurse (RN) will be at the site during the demonstrations, as required by law.

When you leave Coleman going west on Highway 153, you will find well marked signs directing you to the site. Also maps and brochures have been placed in windows at some businesses.

Dept. Of Health Issues Rabies Quarantine

The Texas Board of Health has approved emergency rules designating all Texas counties as a quarantine area to prevent the spread of rabies. The quarantine forbids the transport of potentially infected animals within or from the state.

"We must act quickly to contain the threat of rabies-now rampant in South Central Texas. We must do this to minimize the number of animals rabies cases and reduce the threat this deadly disease poses to people," Dr. David Smith, Commissioner of Health, said.

He explained that the board took action following reports of the exportation of coyotes and foxes, including some infected animals, to other states.

"We know that South Texas coyotes have been shipped out-of-state to stock hunting clubs. And we have just learned that two of four control it," Dr. Smith said.

Similar transportation of potentially infected animals exists within 530 cases of rabies were confirmed. Texas, but the extent is unknown. he added.

This situation is similar to the raccoon rabies outbreak in the east-em United States. When it began treatment. In recent years, two in the 1950's, it was considered a local problem. Another outbreak began in the 1970's in Virginia, after infected raccoons were shipped from Florida to hunting clubs there. Now the entire East Coast is battling a raccoon rabies epizootic," Dr. Smith said.

Animals subject to the quarantine are dogs and cats over 3 months old without a current rabies vaccination certificate, hybrid animals--such as domestic dogs--wolf crosses--and wild animals at high risk of rabies-such as skunks, bats, foxes, coyotes and raccoons.

In South Texas, a canine rabies epizootic (an epidemic in animals) began in 1988 in Starr County and rapidly moved northward, now including at least 18 counties. Canine rabies is a strain of rabies virus that has become established in foxes shipped from Texas to coyotes and is readily transmitted Montana have been confirmed with from coyotes to domestic dogs and. rabies. Texans died from canine rabies--a Starr County woman in 1991 and a Hidalgo County boy in November 1994.

The Texas Department of Health (TDH) is planning an air drop of coyote bait containing oral rabies vaccine in hopes of stopping the spread of South Texas epizootic. The air drop follows extensive development of the oral vaccine and delivery system. Set for next month, it is unprecedented in this

In 1994, a fox rabies epizootic in Central Texas resulted in 270 cases of this virus, primarily in foxes. Another 247 cases were reported in 1987 through 1993.

Gray fox rabies is readily transmitted to raccoons and livestock, especially in cows and goats. It may also be transmitted to cats and dogs. More than 300 persons from the gray fox rabies epizootic area received treatment for exposure to this rabies strain in 1994.

TDH will place warning signs about the quarantine in post offices and other high traffic areas throughout the state. Local health officials and animal control officers will also be asked to help enforce the quaran-1,500 people in South Texas were tine. Violation of the quarantine is

Most of you who are western Mike Efird fans are reading the Plainsman Series by Terry C. Johnston, For others, this information might encourage you to start the series. These books are fiction but based on much research. Each book is the story of one of the major battles between white men and Indians. In most cases the author visited the sites of the battle. Several of the paper backs have pictures of people and the land. Only one place the land is privately owned and Johnston was refused permission to visit. The books are Sioux Down. Red Cloud's Revenge. The Stalkers (Beecher Island), Block Sun Summit Springs), Devil's Backbone (Modoc War), Shadow Riders (Southern Plains Uprising) Dying Thunder (Adobe Wells and Palo Duro Canyon), Blood Song (Powder River Sioux War) Reap the Whirlwind (Rosebud) and Trumpet on The Land (aftermath of Custer's Massacre). There are three separate books about Custor and the last battle. Mrs. Johnston lives at Billings, Montana and runs tours each summer to teach the history of the old West. The library only has paper backs so that might limit some reading. Charles Weeth of Abilene has sent another sack of new books. Jim and I picked them up at Mrs. Peggy Edwards place of business, Texas Sun Shield. She grew up at Gouldbusk and comes over sometimes. Her mother-in-law was buried recently and she hasn't been out here. The library owes a debt of gratitude to she and Mr. Weeth for their continued support. If you know them, pass along our thanks, I'll tell you more about the books next week.

Mr. Dodd from Brownwood often has bought books from our sales,

Thoughts From Our Pastors

First Methodist Church

Our heart is enlarged....be ye also enlarged 2 Corinthians 6:11, 36 KJV

To enlarge means "to extend, broaden, elaborate, or magnify." In photographs, an enlargement is a print larger than the negative. Paul wrote of the Corinthians whose faith increased and of the way by which they enlarged his ministry. Samuel Johnson was somewhat cynical when he wrote, "Enlarge my life with multitude of days, "for he went on to say," Life protracted is protracted woe." How we need to be enlarged in our knowledge is in love, hope, faith and generosity! God, who always seeks to enlarge our hearts, disapproves of any contraction in the lives of believers. All of His great and precious promises guarantee enlarged experiences. God would have us open our hearts as wide as possible to receive all He is willing to bestow. Because He waits to gratify enlarged spiritual desires, we should exhibit a constant development in prayer, benevolence, pity and compassion in all our efforts for His glory. We must guard ourselves against narrow views, or efforts, because the heart of God is large: The love of Christ is beyond measure. The gospel commission is wide. The provision of mercy and the mansions of God are expansive. We need to pray for our narrow hearts to expand to contain all that god waits to bestow: "O Lord, broaden my contracted heart, that I may abound in hope, by the promise and aid of the Holy Spirit!"

Last week he bought several and made a contribution to the library. Our thanks and we hope the books are enjoyed.

Cam Slagle continues to help us with card files and labels for books. Mr. Slagle deserves thanks for helping move the boxes. The Library simply could not do without their help. Most of us don't type and Mrs. Williams hasn't been able to use the typewriter since her accident. How grateful we are for these friends!

The Senior English class is beginning to plan their research paper. Several have called or been in the library. It is a pleasure when we, can locate books to help. Sometimes we must order them InterLibrary Loan, but they, too seem happy to help. That's why a library exists.

Mrs. Jewel Hosch was in for the first time in a long while. She has been one of our faithful readers and it was good to see her and to locate some books.

Isn't it time that you come in for book? Some of us think that February and March will bring bad weather. Some even say there will be an April freeze. What do you

May Wallace

May Wallace

John And May Wallace, 1941

Nothing about May Wallace's life has been ordinary, starting with the day she was born here in. Santa Anna during the biggest snowstorm anyone around here can remember. Dr. Jason Tyson didn't want to risk driving so walked to the home to see that she arrived in this world safely.

Her parents were Dr. and Mrs. John Campbell who moved to the Cleveland community of Coleman County in the late 1800's. John Campbell taught school at Cleveland before moving to Santa Anna where he practiced veterinary medicine, first from an office located at. Phillips Drug and later from the wagon yard office where he could be more accessible. The family home was near what we now know as the 5th Street and Ave.

Reared in Santa Anna, May remembers that in the early 20's a; buffalo or bison was stabled for a short time in the wagon yard. Her father took her to see the huge animal. She says, " I am sure I was very wiggly, which probably sed the huffalo to frighten me by lunging against the door of the stall." May graduated Santa Anna High School and attended the Scaly Hospital School of Nursing. Her education was interrupted when she became a patient at Sanitarium near San Angelo. She later graduated Sanatorium School of Nursing.

May met John Wallace, a member of the Army Air Corps, while attending nursing school at Robert B. Green Memorial Hospital in San Antonio. John, a native of Bell County stationed at Brooke Field, was the son of a Methodist minister. The Rev. and Mrs. R. T. Wallace will be remembered by many in this area as having pastored at Rockwood in about 1948-49.

May and John were married at the Methodist parsonage in New Braunfels on April 5, 1941, and transferred shortly afterward to Ellington Field, Houston, John served in training command and was a flight engineer, doing coast guard duty. During the war and 12 years thereafter, May worked as a nurse in hospitals.

The end of World War II found the couple in Albuquerque, N.M. where after leaving the service, John worked as a gunsmith before re-enlisting in what was now the U.S. Air Corps. He asked for assignment to Alaska, a place where he had flown missions to and liked so well that they wanted to live there. After his military service, John and May were both engaged in Federal Service.

May relates that for several years they lived in a log house on the banks of the Chena River near Fairbanks. Moose came around the house to feed on the willows. She recalls walking between moose standing in deep snow on each side of the trail, She quips, "This may not have been advisable, but I did hold my elbows so as not to 'goose the moose.' " They also enjoyed the company of a very friendly lynx that brought her two kittens by. some bears, lemmings and also a

Fishing Lake Ivie

By Durwood Strickland

We have seen good catches of crappie lately in the deep part of the main lake. They are suspended at about 4 - 50 feet some as much as 70 feet.

Bass fishing has been fair to good. Most of the big ones are out along the points in thedeeper water, about 30 - 45 feet. We're using Carolina Rigs...grubs, air flies, white bucktail.

Yellow catfish are moving pretty good. There have been some repots of nice catches. But not too many channel cat.

If the weather doesn't take a real dip and stay extremely cold for a period of time, we'll be catching fish in shallow water pretty soon.

New Changes In Reporting Household Worker Salaries

ea $1

If you hire someone to work in your home, a new law makes it easier for you to pay Social Security taxes on their earnings. You'll report the earnings once a year instead of quarterly and depending on how much you employ outside help, you'll pay less tax. Workers covered by this law include maids, child care providers, gardeners and others who provide household services. Workers under age 18 are exempt unless household employment including babysitting, is their main occupation. Effective with 1994 earnings, no Social Security tax is due unless the earnings are at least $1,000 during the year, you and your employee will receive refunds for the Social Security taxes paid. The employee won't lose his or her Social Security credits. If you have questions about the changes in reporting household employment and paying the Social Security taxes, call the Internal Revenue Service's toll-free number, 1-800-829-1040.

What is A Nurse Practitioner?

The the opening of The Wellness Center last fall people were asking "What is a Nurse Practitioner?". In answer to that question and others you may have, we hope will be answered herein.

A Nurse Practitioner is a registered nurse with advanced education and training. Their goal is to help people of all ages stay as healthy as possible.

The first Nurse Practitioner program began 1965 at the University INBOUND TELEMARKETING REPREof Colorado. It was developed to help improve the access to health care for children. Since then over 40,000 registered nurses have been trained as Nurse Practitioners in more than 100 training programs in bonus, paid monthly, quarterly & yearly, across the United States to help improve the access to health care for people of all ages. They can obtain health histories, perform physical examinations, order and interpret laboratory and diagnostic studies, diagnose health problems, develop a treatment plan, order therapy, make referrals, provide counseling and teaching and prescribed medications.

Reimbursement of Nurse' Practitioner services varies from company to company and state to state. Many private health insurance companies to reimburse for Nürse Practitioner services. As health insurance companies become aware of Nurse Practitioners and their cost benefits, they have added Nurse Practitioner services to the familial relationships including policy coverage. Federal and state, rights, duties, remedies and procegovernments have been very ag., dures; 3. Land and Resource mangressive in reimbursing Nurse cost benefits.

For example:

*All federal employee health insurance policies must pay for Nurse Practitioner services.

*Medicare will pay for Nurse Practitioner services when the service is delivered in a designated rural setting.

*The military's insurance program for retirees and dependents known as CHAMPUS pays for Nurse Practitioner services.

*Medicaid is required to reimburse for Family and Pediatric Nurse Practitioner services--some states grant coverage to all NPs.

A patient may receive the following services from a nurse practi-

While all Nurse Practitioners promote the same health concepts-health promotion and disease prevention-they do offer different types of services based upon their training. Another term that can be used by any type of Nurse Practitioner is Advanced Registered Nurse Practitioner (ARNP).

If you are energetic, positive and love interacting with people of all ages, please call 1-800-473-0696 or Area Coordinator Toby Hall at 713-332-6821 (collect).

During Speaker Texas is good and our revenue is Laney's first term as Speaker of the 73rd Legislature, drastic improvement was made in the opening up the process of the Texas House. I feel that even further improvements will be made this session as we adopt the new house rules this second week of session. Of course the usual amount of speculation is taking place concerning what committees each member will be named to serve on as well as the names of the committee chairman and vice chairmen. In the House of Representatives, the Speaker is not known until after the House members, as a whole elect that member to serve. Thus committees and their chairmen, all of which are named by the Speaker, cannot be named prior to the beginning of the Legislative session and until the selection of the Speaker. In the Senate all of this is handled promptly because the President of the Senate is the Lt. Governor and his election is verified on General Election Day. Five new committees are being created in the House rule making process, and they, and their primary concerns follows: 1. However, we need to note that our population is continually on the increase, also. As our population increases, our school enrollment, our percentage of elderly, our percentage of handicapped, all of these elements that increase expenses to the state, increase proportionally. As you have probably noticed in the media in recent weeks, Texas has now surpassed New York State in population, and is second, just behind the State of California.

I had an opportunity to attend all the festivities of the inauguration of Governor George W. Bush and Lt. Governor Bob Bullock. The crowd was large and enthusiasm seemed great for this historic event. I asked for, and was granted the opportunity to visit, one on one, with Governor Bush for a long period of time, a few days before his inauguration. Our philosophy in government is almost identical and I feel very good about my ability to work with he and his staff. Having known a couple of key members of Governor Bush's staff for quite a while, I feel that I will always have access to him, as I have always had good rapport and access to Lt. Achieve Success With Your Fitness Goals (NAPS)-More than 90 million Americans have made resolutions to improve their health in the. coming year. However, 75 percent give up after just one week.

According to The National Exercise For Life Institute, seeing such a resolution through to success requires planning. Here are a few ideas:

• Time. Plan a convenient exercise method that blends into your lifestyle. Integrate overall movement into your day by walking instead of driving and taking the stairs instead of the elevator. Use equipment that works both Wyoming, and in 1983 received your upper and lower body at the same time for the most efficient exercise.
