Toast, Anyone?

The Santa Anna Fire Department responded to a call mid-afternoon on Sunday and found this Mrs. Bairds Bread truck engulfed in flames just east of Santa Anna. One report was that it was loaded with bread at the time. The driver, who escaped injury, reported she heard a loud pop just before she noticed the flames coming from under the hood. The fire was quickly doused after arrival of the Santa Anna VFD but the truck was too far gone to save.

Mountaineers Scrimmage At Roby Thursday

The Santa Anna Mountaineers scrimmaged Santo last Friday evening in Mountaineer Stadium.

According to Athletic Director David Robinett, the team looked good overall. There were several errors which they are working to correct but most errors were due to the team being so young.

It appears that with continued practice the Mountaineers will be having a lot of success this year in both a running and passing game.

Everybody played during the scrimmage enabling coaches to do a lot of evaluation and make some decisions regarding plays and positions for upcoming games.

Recognized for outstanding effort this week were Lee Keeney, center; Tim Abernathy, quarterback; and Chris Cheaney, cornerback and wide receiver.

Robinett said, "The boys are working hard and have a good attitude. The support we are receiving from the community is appreciated by the coaches and team."

The Mountaineers will be in Roby at Thursday night at 7:30 p.m. for another scrimmage. The first game will be on Friday night, September 8 in Christoval.

Invasion Of Fall Armyworms May Put Fall Small Grain Planting On Hold

By Marty Gibbs
County Extension Agent

Producers who habitually plant small-grain (wheat, oats, barley) during late August and September for fall grazing are urged to wait until the first killing frost.

"The beet armyworms we've had so much trouble with in cotton this season are being joined by fall armyworms from haygrazer, late-planted sorghum and other crops to make early small grain planting a risky business," said Dr. Tom Fuchs, San Angelo-based State Extension Integrated Pest Management Coordinator. "I'm not telling people when they can or can't plant; I'm just saying if they do plant early the price they'll likely pay will be worm damage. Every field may not be affected but the probability is high."

Fuchs said producers should check any volunteer grain in their area for worm infestation before deciding to plant. Those who are planning to proceed should weigh the benefits of early grazing versus the cost of one or two pesticides applications.

Producers across much of Texas traditionally plant small grain by September 15 to take advantage of fall rains. In the western half of the Concho Valley, fall grazing is usually only cost effective one out of five years due to low rainfall.

The fall armyworm is a familiar pest to small grain operators, though it usually occurs when the weather cools. The worms are in the immature stages of dull-colored,

Man Arrested For Local Assault Admits To Other Cases In Area

A former Eastland County man who has more recently been living in Brownwood is being held in Coleman County Jail on charges of aggravated robbery, and assault with a deadly weapon with bonds for the two charges totaling $120,000. According to Santa Anna Police Chief, Carlos Torres, the 40-year-old man approached a 30-year-old woman with sexual demands at a local laundromat last Thursday afternoon. It is alleged that when she refused his demands and tried to leave, the man grabbed her, bound her wrists together behind her back with rope, and held a knife to her throat. The woman fell and was able to convince her assailant she couldn't get up with her hands tied. The attacker finally cut the rope and fled on foot grabbing her purse as he left.

According to Torres, the victim fled to seek help from her father. Torres said when he responded to a call at about 1:30 p.m. he found the woman in tears with rope still around her wrists. After hearing her story Torres said he immediately radioed for assistance by the city crew to help in the search for the assailant who was apprehended on South Jefferson at about 2:00 p.m.

Torres transported the offender to the county jail where he was first booked on aggravated robbery charges. On Friday an additional charge of assault with a deadly weapon was also filed.

Chief Torres expressed his appreciation for the quick action of the City crew and for the City management which allows him to utilize the crew's assistance. He also had high praise for townspeople who get involved and assist him any way they can.

Other charges were expected to be filed in Brown County late Tuesday or Wednesday as a result of a three-hour interview with the suspect Monday by Det. Robert Mullins with the Criminal Investigation Department of the Brownwood Police Department. According to a published report on Tuesday the suspect confessed to several indecency with a child incidents in the Brownwood area.

SAISD "Acceptable" Rating Misleading

Saying that the recent annual campus ratings given Texas schools by the Texas Education Agency can sometimes be misleading, Santa Anna school counselor Montie Guthrie pointed out that the ratings are based on dropout rates rather than academics.

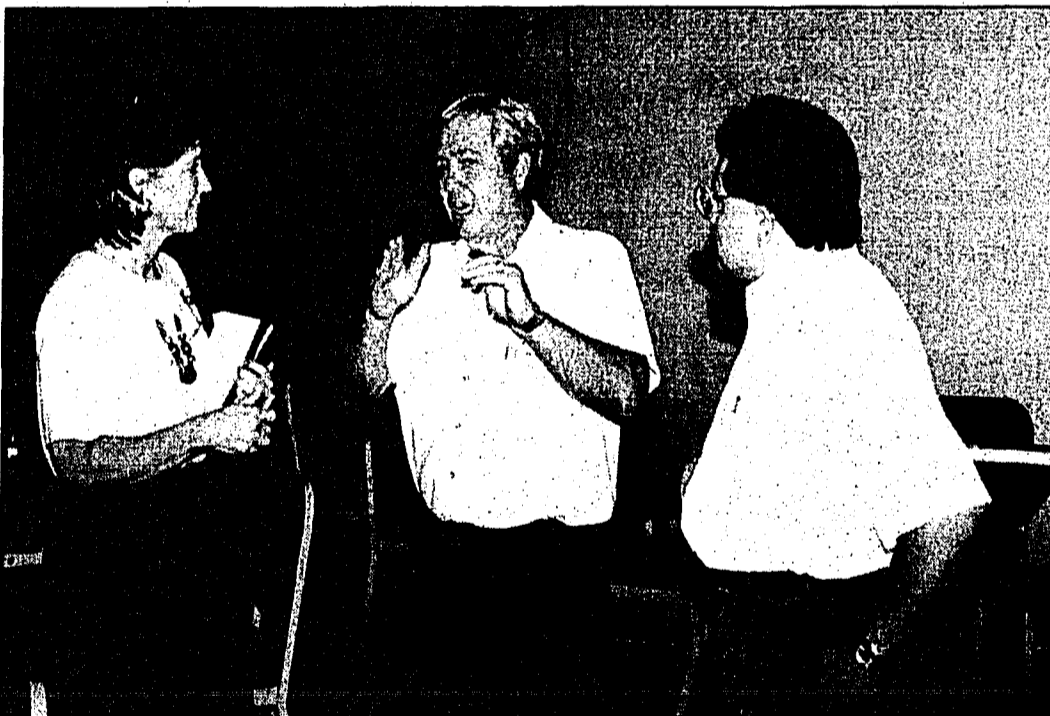

However, since the Santa Anna school had previously decreased its dropout rate to 1% it is clear that would be hard to improve upon and improvement in dropout rate is how they are judged.

Santa Anna ISD earned very good TAAS (Texas Assessment of Academic Skills) scores, ranking well above statewide averages in all three testing areas of reading, math and writing. Reading took a slight dip from last year but was still well above statewide averages.

In Santa Anna grades 3-8 & 10, TAAS scores for reading showed 81.2% of those taking the test passed while state averages are 77.5%. The previous year's local score in reading was 84%.

Math scores for grades 3-8 & 10 showed 87% passing. State averages are 64.7% passing. Math took a big jump from 65% passing the previous year.

Writing scores with testing only in 4th, 8th and 10th grades showed 100% of those taking the test passing. Last year's local score was 92.3. The state average shows 81%.

Two Congressmen Announce Plans To Attend Stenholm FUNDay

STAMFORD—Congressman Charlie Stenholm has announced that two United States Congressman will be visiting the 17th District in early September. Vic Fazio and John Murtha will both attend the upcoming FUNDay, which will be held September 9 at the Ericksdahl picnic grounds near Stamford. Stenholm also announced that State Representative Bob Junell of San Angelo will serve as Master of Ceremonies for the festivities.

Congressman Vic Fazio, who chairs the House Democratic Caucus, represents Northern California's large 3rd Congressional District, which includes the agriculturally rich Sacramento Valley. Fazio was appointed to the Appropriations Committee in 1980 and serves on the Legislative and the Energy and Water Development subcommittees. He also serves as the Ranking Democrat on the House Oversight Committee.

Congressman John Murtha, former Chairman and now ranking

Democrat of the House Appropriations Subcommittee on National Security, represents the 12th Congressional District of Pennsylvania. Murtha has played a key role in rebuilding the nation's armed forces by working to ensure that the men and women in uniform are the world's best trained and best equipped. This has enabled them to have access to weapons that have the technological superiority to multiply the power of U. S. forces.

State Representative Rob Junell, who will serve as Master of Ceremonies for the festivities, serves as the 72nd District, which includes San Angelo. He chairs the House Appropriations Committee and played a pivotal role during the recent session of the Texas Legislature. Calling him "a star in the House," Texas Monthly magazine recently named Junell one of the ten best legislators.

For more information about FUNDay, contact the Stenholm campaign office at 1-800-391-0704.

Whon News

By Mrs. Tom Rutherford

Mr. Floyd Morris drove to DeLeon Sunday afternoon and visited with relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Elwayne Perkins. His son John David Morris has been with his father some this past week and also chatted with myself and my sons one day for a time.

Mrs. Ethel Radle's son Bob Stewart of Arlington visited with her on Wednesday. Her son is very thoughtful of his mother and drives over to see about her and to be with her a while. Thanks Bob for the nice telephone visit you and I had. I have not seen Bob in years and was nice to talk with him over just a little concern he was not sure about. As far as I know we were each right or decided we were. I really appreciated him calling for a chat.

Has been nice having Thomas and Loyd with me again the past week at noon time. The boys were working. One day Thomas' wife Trudi drove over and had lunch with us. Thanks Trudi for the delicious desserts you brought along.

Catherine Wynn of Joshua Texas visited with Mrs. Ethel Radle in Santa Anna Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Douglas Avant of Brady was with his mother Mrs. Pearl Avant in Santa Anna on Tuesday and also took his brother James to see the doctor in Brownwood. James did have a good report and seems to be doing well. Only weakness. Stay right in there James. We are all rooting for you.

My daughter Mrs. Bob (Patsy) Smith of Abilene was with us Saturday and Saturday night returning home Sunday morning. She also stopped by and visited briefly with her brother Mr. and Mrs. Hilary and Belva Rutherford in Coleman enroute home. Patsy and I visited a while late Saturday afternoon with my son and her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd and Linda Rutherford. Patsy had not seen Loyd and Linda's new home since completed. We are all thankful for them. It is a very nice home.

Mr. Leon Carter came by and chatted with me a while Saturday morning.

Should you hear our little community is looking different, that's correct. My son Thomas has purchased the land here. Not a big area but he along with Ricky Abernathy are helping the locks of our little space here. The old house was falling down. The last owners of the house were Earl and Ida Cozart. Most of us who have lived here for years always called it the Tisdell Place. Also the trees in front of my house are coming down. Hopefully will be a lot better looking to everyone who comes our way. It does kind make us feel sad for so many old landmarks to go down. We are proud for the cleanup.

Representative Of Social Security To Be In Coleman Wed., Sept. 6

A representative of the Brownwood Social Security office will be on the second floor of the Coleman courthouse on Wednesday, September 6 beginning at 9 a.m.

The Way We Were

Since last Saturday, August 26, was the 75th anniversary of the Woman's Suffrage act, we decided to look back to see what the Santa Anna News had to say about that historical event in 1920. Strangely enough we were able to find no mention in any edition of the News during July, August or September of 1920.

Since last Saturday, August 16, was the 75th anniversary of the Woman's Suffrage act, we decided to look back to see what the Santa Anna News had to say about that historical event in 1920. Strangely enough we were able to find no mention in any edition of the News during July, August or September of 1920.

Later, while looking for an article from a 1921 edition of the News, we did run across the report of a school bond election which was held June 7, 1921. The bond issue which asked for $80,000 dollars, part of which would be used to build a new high school and the rest for updating existing buildings, was defeated at the polls 126 - 82. It did seem important, however, for the writer of the report to point out that 24 women voted in the election.

They were talking about the need for more school room during late August of 1920. A writer for the News told of attending the high school assembly during the first day of the new school year with 502 pupils in attendance. A number of citizens were on hand to pledge to the pupils that they would be in support of a new school building.

Information has arrived about two contests for boys and girls.

Texas Department of Health and Texas Department of Transportation have a poster contest. This is for kids 10 years and under. The prizes are bicycle helmets. The areas are 1. Bicycle-Bicycle Helmet Safety; 2. Safety Belts-Car Safety; 3. Pedestrian-Walker Safety. Three helmets will be given in each area. Posters are due by September 29, 1995. You may mail your poster or the library can send it. Come to the library for more information or call 1-800-252-8255 (toll free).

Use 8-1/2 x 11 inch paper only.

Think you can write a book? Now is your chance. Raintree-Steck-Vaughn will select The Grand Prize winner who will receive $500 and a publishing contract for the book. There will be winners in grades 2-3 and in grades 4-6. The theme is mysteries. No drawings. Work must be typed and must be postmarked by January 31, 1996. The library has more complete rules or you may call toll free 1-800-531-5015.

Entries in both these contests must be the work of one child and original. Parents or guardians may guide in selecting a topic and will be expected to confirm that the work is the child's work.

Wouldn't it be wonderful to have some winners from Santa Anna?

There have been several well known authors who grew up here. It's time for a new generation to publish.

The Library may not be open on Thursday morning; call before coming in.

Some of the books that come in last week were: Mysteries: Justice Denied R. V. Tanebaum. Charade Sandra Brown. Prime Witness Steve Martini. Snagged Carol Higgins Clark. Adventure: Echoes in the Darkness Joseph Wombough. The Negotiator Frederick Forsyth. Chains of Command Dale Brown; Romance: The Carpenter's Lay L. Delinsky. A Treasure Worth Seeking. Irish Gold Andrew W. Greeley. Fashionably Late Olivia Goldsmith. There were several true crime stories and three Louis L. Amour books and other westerns.

Mary B. Hoffman donated two new hard backs that you have asked about The Rainmaker John Grisham and A Tangled Web Judith Micheal. This is the sequel to Deceptions (we have the paper back). I don't think either of these is even in paper back yet.

Several of you brought in plastic sacks to carry books. Novelle Boylston even had some folded in a kleenex box so that they come out one at a time. There was also a large Tide box fixed like that. How clever you all are. This makes the sacks to neat and compact.

Thank all of you for the great books and gifts. Each week is like Christmas or birthdays. We even seem to be getting our empty spaces filled out...but there's more!!!

News For And About Santa Anna Mountaineers

What's Happening In The Junior High

By Sam Huffman, Principal

The 1995 school year is off to an excellent start at Santa Anna Junior High. There are several changes from last year. The new restrooms are a well-appreciated convenience. The two new coaches, Coach Goodwin and Coach Isenhower are exciting additions to the staff. The Resource room at the junior high is a much needed change (thanks to the school board for giving up the board room). The new schedule, eight periods every day, seems to be working well (if Mr. Huffman ever gets the bell right). And finally, all students have been issued assignment books to help them keep up with their homework assignments. Parents of junior high students may want to check these as a way to monitor their student's assignments. Thanks to Robert Noriega at WTU for these assignment books. They are sponsored by West Texas Utilities.

WTU Presents Assignment Books To SAJH Students

"Help Your 6-Year-Old Succeed In School"

By Carol Katzer
County Extension Agent
Family & Consumer Sciences
"Fears"—all of us, adult and child, have some. In the new school environment a child may be fearful of some part of the new environment. Don't be surprised if SIX refuses to go to school after a week or two. It doesn't necessarily mean she dislikes school. Some experience unpleasant to her, such as being asked to count before the class or to pass out the milk, may be the cause. Send her on to school. Plan a special treat for afterward.

These fears are unexplained and sometimes very complex. Fear of failure and feeling of not measuring up to expectations can also trigger not wanting to go to school or an "I can't attitude." Encouragement to foster positive self-image and a realistic set of performance standards are very helpful for this situation. At this age competition is not encouraged.

Keeping her talking about feelings and activities is important because this is the parents window to what is happening. SIX doesn't talk much about her school experiences at home. If she does, she often tells of "bad" things other children have done or boasts beyond reality of her own accomplishments. The daring classmate who misbehaves most is sure to be reported on in great detail. This "tattling" and enlarging on the truth will stop when SIX is more at home at school. Feeling secure and free to talk is important; and of course nagging and prying add to the desire not to talk.

Two other annoying habits may appear: Morning dawdling and fast and sloppy. SIX usually needs 11 hours of sleep to avoid fatigue and strain. When she wakes, she usually goes to the bathroom and then begins to play. This playing causes problems. SIX must dress, have breakfast and be ready for the bus or carpool if all is to go well. It helps if her clothes are laid out—singly, not touching, so she can see very piece she will use. She will gradually begin to shift her playing habit to a dressing habit and will be able to get herself dressed before breakfast.

SIX may bring home papers she has colored, cut, or pasted that are alarmingly messy. In speedy and joyous abandon, she wants to do everything, and so finishes little SIX is also easily distracted and often shifts her eyes to watch another's activity, while her own hands continue to move.

In all these situations, patience and understanding are the parents best tool to help move on from this stage.

School To Dismiss Early Friday; No School Monday Or Tuesday

Students in the Santa Anna ISD will be dismissed from school at 1 p.m. on Friday, September 1 and will not be returning to school until Wednesday morning, September 6. Friday afternoon and Tuesday the teachers will be attending in-service training.

Parents are also reminded that school pictures will be made on Wednesday, September 6.

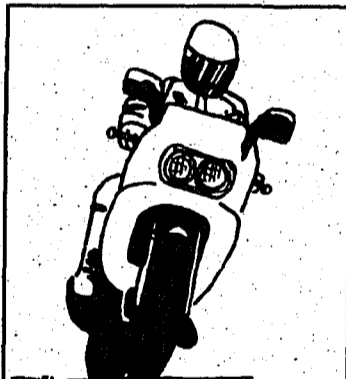

Accelerated Reading Program Receives Grant

No wonder Elementary Librarian Margaret Mobley was all smiles this past week. She learned that the Santa Anna Elementary Accelerated Reading Program of which she oversees with volunteer help received a $496.42 grant from the Community Education Fund of Fort Worth.

The money is to be used to buy books and helps for the accelerated reading program.

The request was made last year by Phyllis Fuller, who at that time was Accelerated Reading Aide. Fuller has been moved this year to the Pre-K where she is employed as an aide.

Anyone wishing to help with the program through volunteer help or donations may contact Mobley at the Elementary School.

When you're on two wheels, think twice about anything that will compromise your abilities.

Fishing Lake Ivie

By Durwood Strickland

Fishing has been a little slow in general, but the lake is beautiful this time of year and any day on it is a good outing.

Bass are biting early in the mornings, but they turn off about 10-10:30. Late evening fishing produces some again.

We are seeing a few schooling bass. Topwater fishing seems to produce some catches. We have had some luck with jerk baits.

I hear reports of good channel catfish being caught at night up the rivers. Trotlining is fair to good using live bait.

Crappie are a little slow, but we're expecting them to liven back up.

nocturnal moths. The fall armyworm is characterized by a prominent, white inverted "Y" on the forehead. The beet armyworm has no "Y".

Insecticide control measures differ for the fall and beet armyworm in small grain. The insecticide methomyl or "Lannate" is recommended for beet armyworm in small grain. Methyl parathion or "Sevin" is effective on fall armyworms.

In both species, early detection is important because small larvae are more easily controlled with insecticides. Control measures are recommended when four or five larvae per square foot are found in combination with seedling stand loss or with foliage loss on older plants.

An average of 940,000 acres of small grain is planted across the 23 counties of District 7 each year. Of this total, 497,000 acres are harvested. The remaining 443,000 acres are either grazed out or abandoned.

Eating Armyworms...Will They Harm Livestock?

Will eating beet or fall armyworms hurt livestock? Dr. Tom Fuchs, San Angelo based State Extension Integrated Pest Management Coordinator, said this odd query has become common since beet armyworms took over Southern Rolling Plains Cotton several weeks ago.

"Beet and fall armyworms have been infesting other crops as well as cotton," said Fuchs. "The hybrid-sudans or 'haygrazer' type forages are a favorite of the fall armyworm. I checked a couple of fields earlier this week and every stalk was infested with fall armyworms."

Fuchs said worried producers have asked if armyworms, either the beet or fall variety, are toxic to cows that ingest them while grazing infested forage.

"I contacted Dr. John Reagor, Veterinary Toxicologist at the Texas A&M Vet. School," said Fuchs. "He said there is no record to his knowledge of armyworms ever harming livestock that ingest them."

Usually fall armyworms are not a problem on haygrazer. They can become serious to small grain, as temperatures cool. By fall most haygrazer is either grazed-out or baled and never sees many fall armyworms. This year has been difficult and growing fall armyworm populations are joining the beet armyworm onslaught.

Assault

Formal charges on those cases were pending Tuesday.

The suspect had been arrested in Brownwood on August 18 on a charge of indecent exposure and was released from Brown County Jail after posting a $5,000 bond. Evidence at that time was not sufficient to charge him in the other cases, Det. Mullin said.

The man had been living in Brownwood for the past four months and had been under investigation for some time. "The suspect fit the description given by the children and some of the adults," Mullin said. He has also been identified as being in the areas at the time of the offenses.
