SERVANT PROBLEM

HAVE YOU ever considered that the average wife of today gets along better with one servant than the average woman of the '90's could manage to do with several?

You may jokingly say, "She has to." But the real reason is, she can.

The real answer is the electric refrigerator, the modern stove, the washing and ironing machine, the vacuum cleaner, the countless labor-saving devices that actually replace servant power.

It is the many improved staples, the convenient packaged goods, the glassed and canned foods, the prepared foods that save so much time and labor.

It is the many improved styles, the convenient stores with a wide variety of merchandise, including fresh, healthful foods, in season and out.

It is modern advertising—crammed with usable news for the woman in the home—that makes it easier for women to keep the home! Advertising makes possible rapid progress by developing new markets for goods, and new goods for markets. Advertising, that tells you what to buy, and where to buy it.

Some of his appointments have been purely political and with little other justification. On the whole, however, Washington believes he has exercised a moderating influence in holding political demands in check.

Becond, the emergency threw such a great responsibility upon Mr. Roosevelt and his key men that they could not afford to take chances. Politics had to take second place to efficiency.
