WASHINGTON BY PAUL MALLON

Program—

Mr. Roosevelt has his mind fixed on the next three steps. You will probably see the work out in the following order:

1—Dilky of currency stabilization, tariff reform and other international panaceas.

2—Concentration on a two-point test program at home, the two points being the Industrial Control Act and the Farm Control Bill.

3—Withholding such inflationary moves as dollar revaluation for at least two months to see how the No. 2 step works out.

4—This is the definite program now being passed around the inner circle. It is meeting with acclaim.

The boys at the top privately believe there is a very good chance that the Industrial Control plan will work out better. They are doubtful about the Farm program. They will not say so publicly because they do not want to embarrass the setup but that is their firm private conviction.

They see the Industrial regime redistributing the national income. That sounds like something Huey Long advocates, but it is not. It means only that the short hour day and work week will limit profits and trade agreements will prevent the purchasing power to larger numbers.

Some of Mr. Roosevelt's trusted economists privately believe we may pull out without using the present program to its fullest. But they are not sure. They are being uphill as well as it did going down. Every man going back to work helps put five other men to work when he spends his new salary.

That is probably an optimistic view. The general inner assumption is that something like revaluation of the dollar will be needed later. You will know in about two months.

There is no guarantee against Mr. Roosevelt changing his mind. He does it frequently. He will do it again if he gets commodity prices falling off.

You can follow the inner barometer of this administration by watching the commodity markets. The stock market is not of prime importance. The foodstuffs, textile and raw material markets are. Everything will sail smoothly along existing lines as long as those markets are in good shape.

You will see things starting to happen when they fall off.

Debts—

Our officials still comment off the record about what a cheap trick it was for England to take advantage of the silver loophole in her partial debt payment.

They expected something like that from some other nations, but not from England.

It saved her around two million dollars but it cost her more than that in prestige with those who count in the administration.

You will never know what pressure France exerted in Europe to make other nations default on their war debts.

She did not try to influence Great Britain or Italy but she bore down hard on the inside with the smaller countries. Her game obviously was to get as many in the defaulting heat with her as she could. One of those which felt such pressure was Finland. She paid no attention to it.

Our officials have heard confidentially about the matter. It has not diminished their ill-feeling against France.

Represents of thirteen counties in this section of West Texas, in a meeting at Lamesa Tuesday afternoon, studied terms of the government's cotton acreage retirement contract and decided to send a delegation of three to Washington to seek to have farmers in the drought stricken counties given permission to lease part of their cotton acreage to the government, although their cotton may not be above ground at this time. The counties represented normally yield 500,000 bales of cotton annually.

The meeting was called at the instance of C. T. Watson, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Watson, with State Senator A. P. Dugan and A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Board of City Development, were designated as representatives to the Secretary of Agriculture in Washington.

Prepares Brief

The conference also asked Mr. Watson to prepare a brief in support of the counties' plea. The brief will contain data on average yield, frost dates and unusual rainfall during the months of June, July and August.

The delegation will seek to show that if sufficient rain falls within the next three or four weeks cotton might be produced if the area should be favored with late frost.

Congressman Marvin Jones, chairman of the house agriculture committee, has been asked to arrange a date for the delegation to meet Secretary of Agriculture Wallace in Washington.

While a great portion of farmers of Howard county have not planted cotton or else have no cotton at all ground, scores crowded the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce offices here Tuesday and Wednesday to file their applications to lease part of their acreage to the government.

Complex

The problem is very complex for Howard and neighboring counties to the west and north. Some farmers have no cotton planted, others have part of it planted but none up, others have part planted, part not planted and part of the planted portion not up.

The contract which must be signed includes the following paragraph: "I have now planted to cotton on the above mentioned farm— acres. This cotton is up to a good, fair, poor stand."

It is this provision that has delayed completion of applications through acreage reduction contracts in this section of the state.

Hayden Griffith Makes Two On No. 8 Hole Of Links Here

Hayden Griffith astonished himself as well as fellow players Tuesday when he shot No. 8 hole at the Country Club in two strokes.

No. 8 is 468 yards with par five. Griffith shot 225 yards out of the rough to hole out. He was playing with his wife. Several other players witnessed the feat.

Baby Show And Contest Featuring Saturday Morning Carnival Program To Be Held On Settles Mezzanine

Heads Rotarians

Plans for the Baby Show to be held Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in the mezzanine floor of the Settles Hotel have been completed and everything is now in readiness for the contest.

Doctors M. H. Bennett, H. L. Wood, and P. W. Malone will be judge each with a trained nurse assisting him. They will judge three groups, those babies under six months, those six months and under twelve months, and those 12 months and under 24 months.

Attractive prizes will be given the winners of first and second places in each group; third place winners will receive honorable mention. Souvenirs will be given to all babies by the chamber of commerce.

Ten babies were added to the list Tuesday and Wednesday morning. They are: Edward Margan Hartman, Raymond Donald, Wendell Bettes, Iva Jean West, Marie Jean Bell, Naomi Geraldine Campbell, Peggy Joyce Mann, C. B. Haines, Robbie Jean Hankins and William Charles Bray.

Babies already in the contest are: Joyce Fay Diltz, James Kenneth Lowry, Harry Lawrence Foster, Jr., William Clayton Blankenship, Jr., Charles Terry, Timmy Timmons, Barbara Jane Petty, Gary Lee Balack, Robert Ford Pierce, Lawrence Wilson, Mildred Lucile Sipes, Melvin Royce Dyers, Joyce Nephew, Cecil A. Long, and La Rue Tucker.

Babies can still be registered at the chamber of commerce or by calling Mrs. W. D. McDonald, Mrs. Louis Paine, Mrs. C. D. Baxley, or Mrs. G. A. Woodward.

Hunt Renewed For Men Who Escaped Jail

Hi-Jacking Appears To Be Work Of Pair Who Staged One Here

Officers of Howard and a number of other West Texas counties were engaged Wednesday in a new search for four desperadoes who recently escaped jail at Tahoka.

The search was intensified following a hi-jacking and automobile theft near Abilene and an exchange of shots early Wednesday at Ahilene.

R. Marchbanks Victim; Heavy Rain Received

Doctor Carried Across Swollen Branch To Suffering Man

Swooping out of the southwest, twisting winds Tuesday night demolished the barn of Rance Marchbanks near Vincent, battered his home beyond repair, tumbled machinery and barns and broke his right leg above the knee.

The Terrell Shaffer place, scarcely 500 yards away and in direct path of the twister, was unscathed.

Marchbanks was resting easily Wednesday afternoon at the Bivings and Barcus hospital preparatory to having his leg set. He sustained a compound fracture.

Three other persons on the Marchbanks premises had entered a dugout and were unharmed.

Force of the wind ripped four-inch mesquite limbs loose, drove

SMALL SHOWER HERE

The shower which fell late Tuesday afternoon covered only a small area and amounted to .16 inch of precipitation at the government experiment farm south of town. Not a drop fell at the weather bureau at the airport and no rain fell further along the south highway than the Lincoln Tank company plant.

A beam through the house top, overturned a harvester, tractor, windmill and tipped the house and a barn off their foundations.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Wallace and Mrs. Marchbanks had sought safety in the dugout when the kitchen stove collapsed, spreading coals over the floor. Marchbanks turned back to rake up the fire when the barn top crashed down on the house.

Branch Swollen

A bed was fashioned outside and Marchbanks lay there most of the night. The doctor had to be carried across a branch that had been swollen to width of thirty yards by hard rains.

Three and a half miles southwest of the farm, a barn owned by Mr. J. M. Whitaker's place was demolished by the same wind. However, outhouses on the Lloyd Brannon place, four miles directly west of the Marchbanks farm, were destroyed.

No other damage was reported.

All tanks in the vicinity visited by the high wind were filled to capacity. Furrows had water standing in them Wednesday morning.

Automobiles bogged down going to the Marchbanks farm, which is located five miles northwest of Vincent.

Yet Vincent had scarcely a good sprinkle. Five miles west water ran over a six foot highway grade. Much hail accompanied the rain and wind.

Powerful Wind

Power of the wind rammed a two by four beam through the roof, yet there were no other shingles missing from the house.

The wind crushed a huge harvester, overturned a heavy tractor, crushed a chicken enclosure, but left a hen house unharmed.

A light weight piece of timber evidently was hurled with such force against a two inch mesquite that the tree was rent in twain.

The house had been lifted ten feet off its foundations and turned sideways. The front porch was wrecked, floors jostled up and the kitchen was a heap of debris. Sides of the house bowed like a ship.

A windmill tower was not materially harmed but a two inch pipe and solid three quarter inch metal sucker rod were bent. If it been beaten into the ground.

The barn was leveled and a feed stack was torn asunder. A binder, near twisted heaps of machinery, was not moved.

Several chickens and a dog were killed.

A blood soaked quilt and pillow draped over a broken mesquite in the Marchbanks back yard told of wild night.

A strong northeast wind suddenly whipped around just before the place was struck.

Vincent natives were told of how they could plainly hear ominous roarings in the direction of the scene.

Several years ago a twister bounced down on Vincent and wrecked the post office and a school house.

Mrs. Alice Lee of Dallas is visiting with her son, Harry Lee.

Mrs. Willie M. Pottor of Santa Rita, New Mexico is visiting with relatives here.

One-Third Of State Now On Repeal Roll

W. Virginia, Dry 20 Years, Has 80,000 Majority Against Prohibition

(By Associated Press)

One third of the forty eight states have voted to strike the eighteenth amendment from the constitution.

West Virginia and California made score 16 to 0 in favor of repeal when voters returned majorities Tuesday for the twenty-first amendment, which aims to delete the eighteenth.

In West Virginia, border state which has been dry twenty years, 1990 of 2,338 precincts gave a majority of 80,148 for repeal.

Carnival Of Values Calls Attention Of West Texas To Growing Facilities For Filling Of Merchandising Needs

Substantial Big Spring has been built on a local five fold foundation of agriculture, oil, railroads, tourists and cattle.

Greater Big Spring must rise from more than local foundations—it will be dependent—a well developed territory.

Prosperity's last fling combined with a healthy boom to produce phenomenal growth for this city. With departure of both, visions of a greater city were forgotten in the struggle against economic existence.

Now, save for dusty drought, there is little to obstruct visions for an enlarged trade territory which would have this city for its center.

Not since the depression set in have business men of this city looked so favorably upon plans for expanding the area which Big Spring can best serve.

Big Spring has ample railway facilities, thanks to a modern, complete division shop and yard maintained here by the Texas & Pacific railway company.

Roads Needed

The time has now come that Big Spring must depend also upon new roadways as trade arteries. Certainly this municipality stands in a position to have ultra-modern state and national highways installed here in the near future. As great a tonic as this may prove, it will not be enough.

Eventually there will have to be a short, direct, well kept route to Gail, Snyder, Vincent on the north, and Andrews and Hobbs, N. M. on the north and east.

Even greater potentialities lie to the south and west. This makes a good road to Garden City, Stiles, Big Lake, Crane and Rankin an imperative need if Big Spring is to receive maximum trade nourishment.

People of any of the points mentioned will come to this city to

Many Forms Of Pleasure Are Offered

Varied Program Combines Entertainment, Public Discussions

Big Spring's second annual Carnival of Values, bringing astonishing bargains and a bountiful program of entertainments, will open a two day schedule here Friday morning.

It is the second annual carnival to be staged. Merchants of Big Spring are sponsoring the affair.

Special values in all lines of merchandise will be offered people who do their shopping here Friday and Saturday.

1ST AD—MANY FORMS

The carnival has been widely advertised by the press and by two Good Will trips that covered areas within a 150 mile radius of this city.

Biggest features of the program will be an address Friday 3 p. m. by J. E. McDonald, state secretary of agriculture, who will head a conference on cotton acreage reduction.

More than 1000 farmers attended a similar meeting here Monday morning.

Joseph W. Bailey, Jr., will make an onslaught against prohibition laws as he assumes the repeal side in a hotly debated 6 p. m. session.

His opponent, resignation of the eighteenth amendment, has not yet been designated by state dry forces.

Attention will be focused on horse races run on the W. H. Cole track near the Cole-Strayhorn addition. Several first-footed stunts will be entered in the carnival sweepstakes.

Westerners may well look around a rodeo to be staged on the Cole track. Denver Dunn, former deputy sheriff and well known cowboy, will supervise this division of the program.

Babies up to two years of age will be grouped into three class competition as a part of the better baby show, an annual feature of the carnival.

A women's golf tournament has been arranged for Friday 3 p. m. The contest will be held between Third and Fourth streets on Main with an imported orchestra playing.

All entertainments are free. Cash prizes are offered in all contests.

Arrangements have been in charge of steering committee headed by D. W. Weber and Roscoe King and composed of Max Jones, Tom Ashley, David Morlan, Harold Homan, C. W. Cunningham and D. L. Tobolsky.

Those firms are participating in the affair:

Petroleum Club Plays At Home Of Mrs. Hardy

Mrs. W. B. Hardy was hostess to the members of the Petroleum Bridge Club Tuesday morning. The guests assembled at 10 o'clock for morning bridge played in rooms decorated with flowers.

At noon they were served luncheon cafeteria style. Mrs. Hilo Hatch, sister of the hostess, aided with the serving.

High score for club members was won by Mrs. Liberty. The prize was a pair of hose. Mrs. Boykin went high and Miss Reggio was guest high; both were favored with face handkerchiefs.

Guests of the club were: Miss Lucille Reggio, Mrs. G. H. Woods, Mrs. R. W. Henry. Members were: Mrs. P. H. Liberty, Calvin Boykin, Noel T. Lawson, H. B. Hurley, H. S. Paw, Monroe Johnson, B. L. Le Fever, L. A. Talley and W. D. McDonald.

Mrs. Le Fever will be the next hostess.

Mrs. Kuykendall Has Party For Members Of The Cactus Club

Mrs. L. R. Kuykendall had a green and yellow party for the members of the Cactus Bridge Club Tuesday afternoon, cut flowers in shades of yellow were decorative notes for the rooms.

At the refreshment hour the tables were spread with yellow luncheon cloths and a green ice course was served.

Mrs. A. E. Underwood was the only guest and was presented with a recipe file. Mrs. Parks, highest club scorer, was given a spinning wheel lamp.

Members attending were: Mrs. Harold Parks, H. C. Porter, C. L. Browning, Homer Wright, Lester Short, R. E. Lee and Morris Burns. Mrs. Lee will be the next hostess.

Miss Alice Leeper Hostess To OCD's

Miss Alice Leeper was hostess Tuesday evening for the O. C. D. Bridge Club with a delightfully informal party at her home.

During the play Miss Knaus won club high score and was presented with a bracelet. Miss Prudens made guest high and received two handkerchiefs.

Cantaloupe ala mode and iced tea were served to the two guests, Mrs. Horace Reagan and Miss Mintz Lois Prudens, of Fort Worth, and the following members: Misses Nell Davis, Irene Knaus, Helen Hayden, Fern Wells, Mabel Robinson and Marie Fabian.

Miss Hayden will entertain the club next.

Bicycle Picnic Is Being Planned By Sorority Chapter

The Delta Chapter of the Kappa Gamma Sorority met on the mezzanine floor of the Settles Hotel Tuesday evening for a brief business session. The meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Jeanette Pickle.

Mrs. Harvey Shackelford was elected reporter for the chapter. The members voted to hold two business meetings a month and two social meetings, alternating them. On Friday afternoon at 5:30 they will meet at the home of Miss Pickle for a bicycle picnic. Members are told to bring their bicycles and picnic lunches. They will ride to the park on their bicycles.

Those answering to roll call were: Misses Jeanette Pickle, Lucile Rix, Lillian Shick, Jeanette Barnett, Jessie Morgan; Mrs. Wendell Bedichek, W. A. Prescott and Harvey Shackelford.

Trinity Evenson Ceremony Solemnized June 10 At St. Mary's Episcopal Church Here With Rev. Martin Officiating

Miss Theresa Brooks, popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Brooks of Big Spring, became the bride of Jack Hodges, Jr., in a ceremony solemnized at St. Mary's Episcopal church here Saturday evening, June 10, at 8 o'clock. It was announced Wednesday.

The ceremony, held on Trinity Evenson, was performed by Rev. W. H. Martin, vicar of St. Mary's, who used the Trinity service of the Protestant Episcopal church followed by solemnization of matrimony and celebration of Holy Communion according to the Episcopal Prayer Book.

Mrs. Hodges was graduated from Big Spring high school last June. She came here two years ago with her parents from Pampa. Her husband and grace quickly won her a host of friends.

Mr. Hodges, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hodges of Big Spring, was reared here. He attended Big Spring high school and following graduation there was a student in Southern Methodist university, where he was a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity. Only attendants at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Turner Wynn. Mr. Wynn is a fraternity brother of Mr. Hodges.

The couple are making their home here. Mr. Hodges has been connected with Texas Electric Service company for several years.

Tuesday Luncheon Members Play At Mrs. M. K. House's

Mrs. M. K. House entertained the members of the Tuesday Luncheon club this week, surprising them with a delightful luncheon at her home, instead of meeting at the hotel as their custom is.

Visitors were Mrs. George Garrett, Mrs. Fred Keating and Mrs. Pat Murphy of El Paso.

High score was won by Mrs. Bennett.

Members present were Mrs. M. H. Bennett, C. S. Blomshield, R. V. Middleton, Harry Hurt, W. W. Inkman.

Mrs. Hurt will be the next hostess.

Miss John Anna Terry Celebrates Birthday

Golden Jubilee At Del Rio Planned On Elaborate Scale

DEL RIO—Primed with a program that offers the widest variety of entertainment ever prepared for visitors to this section, Del Rio has set an elaborate stage for introduction of its Golden Jubilee to hundreds of people from many towns in a radius of 300 miles.

Every day of the six-day Jubilee—July 1 to 6, inclusive—is packed with events. An extra lure is the fact that the international bridge over the Rio Grande between Del Rio and Villa Acuna will be open for 24 hour service on three days of the fiesta—July 2, 3 and 4.

Here are the program highlights: July 1—Old Timer reunion. July 2—Bullfight in Villa Acuna and the Gala Night in Old Mexico. July 3—Baseball, Del Rio vs. Eagle Pass. July 4—Boat races at Lake Walk on Devil's river. Baseball, July 5—Bathing beauty revue at the new municipal plunge. Baseball, July 6—Baseball.

Main street will be roped off for use as the midway for J. Geo. Loos carnival attractions. Dancing every evening in a Main street building. Golf tournament at San Felipe Country Club.

First Class In Parliamentary Law Is Held At Crawford Hotel

A great deal of interest was displayed beforehand but comparatively few organization heads mustered up sufficient courage, or interest, to attend the first meeting of the class in parliamentary law sponsored by the Woman's Auxiliary of the local American Legion Tuesday evening.

Two P. T. A. presidents, one Sunday School class president, and the president of the museum association were the only organization heads who, in addition to the members of the auxiliary.

The auxiliary decided that there must be a few other club women in town who could use the knowledge they would gain in this class and for that reason announce that those who care to take part, see Mrs. Anderson, president of the auxiliary, at the Anderson Music Co., this week; obtain textbooks and lesson assignments from her; and be on hand for the second meeting of the class.

Those who attended Tuesday night reported a very enjoyable session. The meeting was conducted along strict parliamentary lines. Mrs. W. J. McAdams was elected temporary head and Mrs. J. T. Brooks, secretary pro tem. Miss M. C. Stulting, R. F. Bluhm, and Fontaine Hair were named on a committee to see about drafting a constitution, in order to show the class how this was done.

The class next week will be postponed until Thursday evening, on account of the Fourth. It will be held in the ballroom of the Crawford and will last for only one hour.

Others present in addition to names given above were: Misses C. Carter, B. W. Welch, George W. Davis, E. F. Wills, Jobb Tucker, Sidney Woods and Roy Pearce.

Health City To Rise Above Flanders' Fields

PARIS (UP)—The most superlative edifices ever designed for curing human ailments will tower over Flanders' fields.

Ground has been purchased for Lille's Health City, which will surpass both in architectural presence and in utilitarian value anything of its kind yet built.

Like the dream of a city of the future, the mammoth medical center will consist of a group of buildings linked by underground passages and culminated by two 25-story skyscrapers.

Paul Nelson, Chicago architect, who has divided his time between the United States and France since the war, during which he flew a bomber for the A. E. F. has just completed the plans.

The cost will be around four hundred million francs. Ninety-four acres on the outskirts of the city will be covered by the center.

Medically, the center will epitomize the advances of science since

Applications For Postmastership At Coahoma Called For

Receipt of applications to fill a contemplated vacancy in the position of postmaster at Coahoma, a fourth class office, will be ended July 14, according to a bulletin issued by the United States Civil Service Commission.

The commission will hold an examination of all applicants in Big Spring.

Compensation of the postmaster at Coahoma was $11000 for the last fiscal year.

Applicants must have reached their twenty-first birthday but not the advent of Pasteur. Every known system of sanctioned therapy will be available. The University of Lille, dating from the 13th Century, and of which the immortal Pasteur and, later, Calmette, were directors, will be housed in the main building and it is expected the center will draw experts from every advanced country.

The Health City will be erected and operated by the Hospital de Lille, an organization coeval with the Medical College; the City of Lille, and the Nord Department.

TALKING ABOUT the reputation of a cigarette—that's something new. I know about reputation of people... reputation of some other things... and, come to think about it, I should say that CHESTERFIELD has an A-1 reputation. You know, it seems to have real merit. To me, for a cigarette 'To Satisfy,' it certainly has to be made right; and then it has to taste right. I just don't like them strong... they just have to be mild. Ferguson and Norris Debate Prohibition As Prelude For State Convention Of Tuesday

Former Governor Says Prohibition Damn Tens Of Thousands Of Boys And Girls, Increases Tax Load

USTIN—James E. Ferguson, former governor and husband of incumbent, Monday night met Rev. J. Frank Norris, Fort Worth minister, in a joint debate whether national prohibition should be repealed and the sale of liquor legalized in Texas.

Ferguson, colorful campaigner of political controversies, and Norris, himself, a fiery critic in public line and active in the people in many issues, in Woodridge Park, site of a "Texas" most important thing.

The debate was preliminary to a convention Tuesday, when prohibitionists and anti-prohibitionists pick tickets of rival candidates delegates to a state convention will say if Texas votes "wet" or "dry" delegates will be elected in a first election on August 26, when a modification of the state constitution to permit sale of 2.3 percent beer also will be submitted to the state's official repeal vote in a convention set November 24. Delegates chosen to August 26 election will decide whether Texas shall join the national prohibition or register its sentiment against repeal.

Thousands in Park
Thousands of persons gathered in the natural amphitheatre with the speaker's stand in the center.

Happy Hornby of Uvalde, newspaperman who first sponsored John H. Brownlee, now vice-president, for president, was at the press table.

Rev. Norris and Ferguson came together. There was but a ripple of applause as they approached the speaker's stand.

Sheriff Lee Allen of Travis county accompanied the debaters. Houghton Brownlee, presiding, said the question was: "Resolved, that prohibition of all kinds should be repealed both in the United States and Texas."

Norris was the first speaker. Brownlee said he would be allowed an hour.

Norris complimented Ferguson as a man of genuine courage. He referred to the Ferguson clemency policy and said he wanted to lay a wreath of honor on the brow of that Christian woman, referring to Governor Miriam A. Ferguson.

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson was not on the speaker's stand. Norris removed his coat early and went into his discourse.

He said he was not "here from anyone's headquarters or headquarters."

"I am here under the auspices of my wife just like Governor Ferguson is here under orders of his wife," he said.

Norris said prohibition had decreased unemployment. European countries, without prohibition, have more unemployment than this country, he said.

He said the theory that "the more we drink the less taxes we will pay is an absurdity."

Norris said there became of age each year in the United States two millions boys and girls who never had seen a saloon and now are susceptible to the influence of "propaganda" of the anti-prohibitionists.

He said whenever anyone wanted to enforce prohibition, "by the grace they would do it."

Norris said "they had put it out" that it would be disloyalty to President Roosevelt and Vice-President John N. Garner to oppose repeal.

"I agree with President Roosevelt in many things but I do want him to know this is the United States of America and not Soviet Russia," he said.

"I do not think it is right to spend millions of dollars to pick up a bunch of hoboes to set out a bunch of sapling."

Norris said war is inevitable and that if we are to meet the "oncoming hordes" we must be a sober nation.

He reviewed the prosecution by the state of certain breweries during pre-prohibition days in Texas for their political activities. He told how they had been fined and their charters forfeited.

He said the same breweries now were attempting to "come back" and renew "their hold on Texas politics."

Someone sent up a question to ask if Norris had not bolted the democratic ticket in 1928 and voted for Hoover.

"Yes, I bolted the ticket," he answered. "I made 119 speeches to keep a wet Roman Catholic out of the White House."

"Hurrah for Al Smith," someone shouted. There were hisses to this.

"Call for Al Smith all you want to but you'll never see him in the White House," Norris said. "I sent Frank Roosevelt a message of congratulations the day he kicked Al Smith's pants and told Tammany hall where to get off."

When Norris closed he asked that a collection be taken up.

"All you drys put in one dollar and all you wets two dollars," he said.

Ferguson got a mild demonstration when he went to the amplifier. He recalled that Texas went dry in 1918 by less than 5,000 votes "when more than 250,000 boys were fighting overseas."

"Those boys fought for democracy and got prohibition in return," he said.

He called Norris the "outstanding leader of prohibition," in Texas.

"I like it that after due consideration the prohibitionists decided Norris as their representative should extend for them this challenge to debate the prohibition issue with me," Ferguson said.

He said "ten thousand bootleggers" are "raring at the bit" to help fight the campaign.

"The same old talk, the same old argument, they started with in Texas thirty years ago," was Ferguson's description of Norris' arguments.

He said the United States government had spent fifty million dollars since 1929, 20,000 acres. And demand is exceeding the supply, according to market officials.

The crop has provided temporary employment for thousands of pickers. Almost everything the pickers make is profit, for they hand together in camps and live like gypsies.

The newly created demand for beer keys and barrel staves is helping, too. Hundreds of woodchoppers and mill operators have been put to work.

The keg industry is centered about Clarksville, Ark.

lars since prohibition was 'switched on us as a war measure and no one will say it is a success.'

"The question is bootleggers or no bootleggers," Ferguson said.

"Pour it on," someone yelled.

Ferguson said for every saloon in pre-prohibition days there now are fifty bootleggers.

Ferguson said prohibition was one of the greatest fallacies ever foisted on this country.

Ferguson said that now it was not a matter of saving the boys, "but of saving our girls too."

"Amen, amen," a voice from the crowd said.

Evil for Young People
Ferguson said prohibition was driving more boys and girls to "damnation" than "all the works of satan."

He asked those who ever saw a girl drink in a public place before prohibition to hold up their hands.

"Out of ten thousand persons not a hand," answered Ferguson.

"Go to the hotels or a public place and you will see more girls drink in one evening than your granddaddies saw in a life time," he continued.

"Stay with the truth, governor," a heckler interrupted.

"I do not want the saloon any more than you do, but a man who will sell your 12-year old daughter a bottle of whisky is a greater enemy than a whole pack of saboteurs," Ferguson said.

Since prohibition the cost of government has increased, he said.

"A prohibition electorate foisted upon us the most expensive government per capita since prohibition," he said.

"People only go to church now as a matter of form. Boys get drunk, girls get drunk and there is thunder to pay all around."

Strawberries And New Beer Bringing Money To Ozarks

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (UP)—A strange combination of products, fresh strawberries and new beer, is providing prosperity for the folks down in the Ozark Mountains of Missouri and Arkansas.

The berry season with prices on the upgrade, is in full swing. The lumber industry, dormant these several years, is gaining new impetus through the demand for beer barrels.

Berry patches, dotted in fertile valleys, are filled with pickers. Sawmills, located beside mountain streams, are buzzing.

Missouri has about 16,000 acres of strawberries this year. Arkansas farmers planted the largest crop since 1929, 20,000 acres. And demand is exceeding the supply, according to market officials.

The crop has provided temporary employment for thousands of pickers. Almost everything the pickers make is profit, for they hand together in camps and live like gypsies.

The newly created demand for beer keys and barrel staves is helping, too. Hundreds of woodchoppers and mill operators have been put to work.

Farm And Industrial Recovery Administrators Join To Protect Consumer From Exorbitant Prices

By H. G. THOMPSON, United Press Staff Correspondent. WASHINGTON (UP)—Farm and industrial recovery administrators joined to protect the consumer against exorbitant rises in retail prices as the massive federal machinery for recovery functioned at top speed.

Farm Relief Co-administrator Charles J. Brand threatened at a milk industry hearing that if recalcitrant minorities fail to accept regulatory codes the stringent "licensing" provision of the relief act would be employed to prevent unfair price increases.

A similar warning came from Gen. Hugh Johnson, head of the N. I. A. in a national address last night. "This is no time to get rich quick," he said.

A plea for American business to forget selfish aims and decide upon a unified course out of the depression was made by Secretary of Commerce Roger at the first meeting of the advisory and long range council which is helping in the recovery program.

Forty nine business and industrial leaders attended the meeting. Gerard Roper was elected chairman as an executive committee was selected.

Roper outlined his suggestions for the committee's consideration as follows:

1. Devise controls of business which would avoid violent periodic oscillations in employment and income.

2. Possible decentralization of industries with smaller plants widely distributed.
3. Study of consumer's demand in order to make possible a progressively improved standard of living.
4. Investigation to determine whether there is a proper relation between the growth of debt structure and the increase in national income.
5. Maintenance of a balance between the growth of production equipment and the growth and distribution of purchaser's income.

Revolutionary by creed, evolutionary by deed, the British Fascists foreswear the use of force unless a Communist uprising abroad makes force imperative. Their aim is to profit by the natural course of disintegration and then to set up a Corporate State on the established Fascist principles.

To those Britishers, to whom this program might sound nebulous and idealistic, the Fascists direct a more practical campaign which is 50 per cent invective and 50 per cent "enlightenment." In contrast to the Hitlerite platform, there would be no discrimination against the Jews.

If political events in Europe move toward an Italian-German British setup, observers feel that it will give tremendous impetus to Mosley's aims.

There are already clear signs of sympathy between Mosley's organization and the Italian Fascist and the German Nazis.

Mosley's movement, however, is

Merchants have demonstrated they can give merchandise and service equal that of any of the places in the vicinity. There is marked increase in all, and more besides, of the counties. Unreached To the north and east lie unreached agricultural sections. To the south and west are cattle, wool and all. With a weather eye on possibilities of the section south and west, two dozen Good Will envoys journeyed on a 300-mile jaunt Tuesday. Wednesday a similar caravan was to go north and east with the purpose of advertising the Carnival of Values. Carnival of Values is a means to the end of developing new trade. Each year the latter part of June and the first of July, merchants of this city offer unlimited values to customers. As an added drawing card there is provided a varied program of entertainment, offered without cost to visitors and citizens. Among events are political speaking, street dances, terrapin, gerbils, baseball, races, rubeon, baby shows, bathing beauty revues, addresses, baseball and tennis. The Carnival, as such, was held for the first time in 1922, succeeding a Booster Day program. It was greeted with singular success and all but four of more than eighty merchants voted to continue it as an annual function. When trade territory is enlarged around this city, Big Spring will be able to care for any increase in volume without necessitating rebuilding to any great extent. There are dormant industries here awaiting new patronage. Others will be opened when a market unfolds. Wide-awake merchants and citizens hold the key to development once the depression unmistakably begins to melt.

WHIRLIGIG (CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) Miller wired his Washington men to hit hard the story about Haruch being inserted in Moley's shoes. The Washington boys took the order literally. They hit Haruch with everything but the lamp post. They deplored, denounced and decried his appointment. The publisher nearly collapsed when he read the story in his own newspapers. It appears that his "hit hard" meant that he wanted to give Haruch a big hand. His long distance telephone bill ran almost to the thousands. Apologies were offered Haruch. More explicit orders will be issued hereafter. Wheat—The colored gentleman in the world wheat bin is name. Our officials can see that smiling face behind the objections the Danubian nations are making to the 15 per cent wheat reduction. Maritime controls policy to a certain extent in these small nations. The expert here have little hope that an effective agreement can be reached. At least special European marketing privileges must be given to the objectors. Front—There was nothing sudden about State Secretary Hull deciding to return to Washington. Or at least Prof. Moley going abroad. That switch had been planned for weeks on the inside, as forecast in this column. When it came the rumors naturally started that Hull was to retire. There will be nothing to them until Hull has decided he is fed up. The situation has not changed except that the public knows more about it. Hull continues to be the international front man; Moley the nationalist backdoor. Notes—J. P. Morgan's personal hero is Lindbergh. He has been taking credit of Lindbergh's personal affairs since the day the aviator landed in Paris. That may be one reason why Lindbergh is financially able to donate his home as a child welfare center. Woodin's friends are denying the rumors that he will retire, because he has leased a home here. That is an old stunt. The last time it was worked was when Mr. Hoover's secretary George Akerson stopped rumors about his retirement with a lease on a home here. The trick is nearly all leases in Washington carry what is known as the Army Navy clause. It authorizes cancellation if the business of the lessee takes him out of town. NEW YORK By JAMES McMULLIN Republicans—The Republicans took the first step on their comeback campaign last week. An important meeting of leaders in New York. The old guard was in the saddle. Such grizzled political veterans as Hilles of New York and Roraback of Connecticut were more than among those present. The meeting decided that industrial control was the most likely Democratic Achilles' heel. Every move will be watched for signs of cracks in the armor. The plan is to rally conservatives to the old battle-cry that the government is interfering with private initiative. The boys are too wise to start anything yet. But they will be busy from now on gathering ammunition to shoot in next year's Congressional campaign. They rate these tactics the best hope of Hing from the school. Sprague—Prof. O. H. W. Sprague comes mighty close to being a dictator of national policy on credit and currency matters. New York understands that he has been given extraordinary authority over Treasury and Federal Reserve decisions. Federal Reserve—There is another reason for the recall of Governor Harrison of the New York Federal Reserve Bank beyond the report that he exceeded his instructions at London. The Glass Bill—which was signed while he was over there—provides that a Federal Reserve officer must submit a detailed written report to the Reserve Board of any negotiations he carries on with foreign banks. This part of the measure was a slap at the New York Bank—which has been accustomed to gain its sweat way in dealing with London and Paris. But the point in the present case is that a written report on confidential negotiations—placed where some obstreperous Senator might demand a look at it—would not be a good thing to have lying around. Strategy—Our London strategy continues to make those who thought we were suckers for European wiles look silly. The statement of the U. S. delegation against temporary stabilization was designed to leave our hands free and at the same time put the back to the French for blocking the Conference. It worked. The talk you hear that we would be willing to stabilize at $4.40 to the pound is pure eye-wash. There isn't a chance in a million that the British would agree to any such figure and nobody knows it any better than the people who started the report. Hall—Informed New Yorkers sympathizing with Cordell Hull for having been given the work in so smooth a way. Those who are aware of the administration's program cannot see any other solution than his eventual resignation as Secretary of State. No one will ask him to resign, but he has been deftly surrounded in a manner which impairs his usefulness. His low tariff policies don't jibe with the needs of domestic inflation. Mitchell—The acquittal of Charles E. Mitchell knocks the props from under the government's campaign against income tax evasion and lifts a ton of brick from the necks of some fifty Wall Streeters. No matter what is said for the record there will be no more income tax prosecutions along those lines. Max Steuer is given credit for two astute moves. One was the selection of a jury of solid citizens who probably don't like the income tax. The other was the straining the trial along for weeks until the original resentment against Mitchell wore off. People close to Steuer say he believes the verdict two weeks earlier would have been certain conviction. The decision may have far-reaching effects. It was the first definite defeat the government has sustained in the courts. This has had a marked effect on certain Wall Streeters who have watched their steps pretty carefully up to now. It has hurt the government's prestige among its detractors and you can expect to see them take more chances. Rails—The railroads are jubilant at the extension of the 10 per cent wage cut. It was a bigger victory than they had dared to hope for. It gives them nine months' break on present costs while the rest of industry is raising wages. They will not call figure how it happened. The advance dope was all the other way. The answer is that the government didn't want the recovery program marred by prolonged bickering. The roads would have fought any action to compel them to restore wages now. The roads were privately told they could have the old wages back when the grace period expired. That kept them quiet. Railroad earnings for May, June and July are likely to show some startling advances in net operating income. Most of the large roads will cover interest charges by a good margin. If the carloadings on present costs will be back to the 1931 level by September. HUNT RENEWED—(Continued From Page 1) lens between an officer and two men and a woman he attempted to question. The hi-jacking was conducted almost exactly like that of Harry W. Maston in Big Spring the night of July 18. After having been held up, driven in his car across town and left tied to a tree Maston identified photographs of S. O. Vowell and S. D. Dick, two of the Tahoka escapees as his abductors. The men who held up C. W. Dunn, Abilene veterinarian, and a young woman companion four miles south of Abilene on the Buffalo Bay road Tuesday evening posed as Texas rangers as did Maston's captors. They forced them to drive at the point of a gun for a mile. They then set them free, whereas Maston was left tied to a tree. Two nights after the pair had left here in Maston's large coupe it was found in Barstow, where another car had been stolen a few hours before, and where several burglaries were committed the same night. Early Wednesday officers here were informed that an Abilene officer had emptied his pistol in an exchange of fire with two men and a woman in an old Ford coach. At least one of the occupants of the car opened fire when the officer approached. The trio escaped and it was not believed anyone was Mary Becomes President Of Service Club Rotarians Honor Retiring President, Dr. M. H. Bennett E. J. Mary was installed as president of the Big Spring Rotary club at its luncheon Tuesday at the Settles hotel. Dr. M. H. Bennett, retiring president, presented the gavel to Mr. Mary, who pleaded for the advice and help of all members. He announced no new committees would be named until after the district assembly. "We certainly do not want to change the work program of the club," said Mr. Mary. "Attendance needs to be stressed. A few members can keep the club record down," he continued. Mr. Mary urged more work among boys by the club. "The program of Rotary coincides with the New Deal for industrial recovery," said E. E. Kelley in a brief address. "Some people see no good in anybody or anything. There is a responsibility resting upon the business men of Big Spring like the responsibilities placed on the nobility of old. Dependability of the business men is of vital importance. Ninety days from now we are going to see things happen that we have never dreamed of and Rotary will have to help the pessimistic man keep his chin up. Retiring President, Dr. Bennett, was presented with the past president's pin by Grover Cunningham. Mr. Cunningham said "This is not a duty, but a pleasure. There are a number of good Rotarians in the club but none better than retiring president Bennett." Dr. Bennett expressed his appreciation for the pin and the cooperation of the club during his term of office.

Musicians To Play Concert Here For Band Open House To Be Held Thursday In City Laboratory Members of the Parent-Teacher Council and city officials are very anxious that every one who can attend the open house to be held in the city laboratory Thursday beginning at 2:30 p. m. for the purpose of acquainting the public with the work done there. The Parent-Teacher association, Mrs. Albert M. Fisher announced, will play hostess at a reception, and Mrs. Horace Reagan, city chemist, and H. W. Leeper, city inspector, will explain the tests given milk, butter and other food offered for sale in the city. Specimens of milk of various grades will be shown under microscopes for information of the visitors. Dairy men and their wives and all those who handle milk and butter especially are invited. Members of the Kiwanis club and their ladies met on the lawn of the First Methodist parsonage Monday evening and observed annual International All-Kiwanis night. The program was featured by reading of the address of International President Endicott Johnson as delivered at that time in Los Angeles at the Kiwanis International convention, where Secretary Merle J. Stewart was representing the local club. The address was read by President Carl S. Blomfield. Songs were sung by a quartette including Jack Ellis, D. W. Webber, Gordon Graham and Loy Acuff, and a number of club songs by the entire assembly with Mrs. C. Usery leading and Miss Roberts Gay at the piano. Ice cream and cantaloupe were served following the program. Chiropractor Opens Offices At Hotel Dr. Mayo Oberlander, a well known Chiropractor, has moved to Big Spring from Midland and she will continue her practice at the Crawford Hotel. Dr. Oberlander came here well recommended, having practiced Chiropractic for the past fourteen years. The past six years have been spent in Midland. Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bolinger have returned from a three-weeks trip to California.

Expected Break In Wheat Materializes CHICAGO, (AP)—The expected break in grain values materialized Wednesday. Wheat went off as much as seven cents at the opening, closing near day's bottom. KANSAS CITY (AP)—Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, expressed the opinion the "speculators have gone wild" in discussing recent skyrocketing of wheat prices. He offered no opinion as to whether a deliberate attempt had been made to force up the price of wheat in an effort to defeat the processing tax. Commission Holds Regular Meeting The Board of City Commissioners voted an ordinance in Senate Bill No. 262, passed by the regular session of the 43rd legislature applying and controlling collection of taxes due the city. The commission authorized the city manager to notify T. S. Currier if he did not feel justified in paying for the portion of the Settles Heights 6-inch water line located between Preadio street and the west boundary line of the city limits on Fifth street, and that it therefore could not allow his claim. A petition, addressed to the commission and signed by 17 persons protesting against the budget proposed by the city manager and requesting reduction of expenditures by reducing salaries and wages of officials and employes was received and filed for future consideration. A resolution from the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, signed by A. J. Cain, vice president, and J. L. Milner, secretary-treasurer, addressed to the city commission expressing approval of the entire recommended budget and requesting that salaries of city officials and employes be not reduced was received and filed for future consideration. A petition addressed to H. R. Debenport, county judge, and the county commissioners and to Mayor Pickle and the city commissioners, dated June 15, 1933, signed by L. L. Gage and others, requesting opening of East and West ends of Fourth street was received and filed until such time as the city's finances will justify the expenditure for the project, according to minutes of the court. Mrs. A. W. Lees, of Fort Worth, is in town visiting friends and relatives.

CARNIVAL OF VALUES The Carnival of Values is a means to the end of developing new trade. Each year the latter part of June and the first of July, merchants of this city offer unlimited values to customers. As an added drawing card there is provided a varied program of entertainment, offered without cost to visitors and citizens. Among events are political speaking, street dances, terrapin, gerbils, baseball, races, rubeon, baby shows, bathing beauty revues, addresses, baseball and tennis. The Carnival, as such, was held for the first time in 1922, succeeding a Booster Day program. It was greeted with singular success and all but four of more than eighty merchants voted to continue it as an annual function. When trade territory is enlarged around this city, Big Spring will be able to care for any increase in volume without necessitating rebuilding to any great extent. There are dormant industries here awaiting new patronage. Others will be opened when a market unfolds. Wide-awake merchants and citizens hold the key to development once the depression unmistakably begins to melt.

Journal Of Steel Industry Urges Better Wages Before Higher Prices

CLEVELAND — The magazine Steel said Sunday that "predominant conservative opinion among iron and steel executives appears to be rallying to the position of the industrial recovery administration that price advances be deferred until after wages have been raised."

"This week, when executives meet in New York," the magazine's review went on, "to consider the iron and steel industry's trade practice code, a determination of prices is expected."

"In the meantime, the intrinsic strength of the markets, regardless of any artificial support, is manifest in isolated advances such as 50 to 75 cents a ton on coke, $5 a ton on rivets and short range selling on practically all products."

"This underlying firmness, little due to anticipation of higher prices, is reflected in a rise of 2 points in the steel works operating rate last week to 51 per cent and a certainty that a further gain will be recorded this week. Pig iron corroborates this gain in steel production with resumption of four more blast furnaces."

"Last week 5 point advances were made in the steel works rate at Chicago, to 50 per cent; at Pitt-burgh to 41 per cent; and in eastern Pennsylvania to 33 1-2 per cent. In the Buffalo district the rate increased 11 points to 48 per cent, and in New England 10 1-2 points to 31 1-2 per cent. The Wheeling district remained at 84 per cent, Cleveland at 79, Youngstown 52, Birmingham 50 and Detroit 38. Tin plate mills average 95 to 100 per cent.

"Pig iron stocks at both merchant and steel works furnaces have been so far reduced that several more stacks will be lighted before the close of June. A strong demand for basic iron has developed in the East, one consumer purchasing 9,000 tons. Wage and price advances in coke have led to heavier shipments."

"This country again increased its favorable trade balance in iron and steel in May when exports rose 23 per cent to 123,069 gross tons, largest since October, 1930. Imports dropped 6 per cent to 28,295 tons."

"Steel's iron and steel price composite is up 8 cents this week to $28.83, on stronger plate prices; the finished steel composite has advanced 20 cents to $45.50 and the scrap figure is up 4 cents to $9.70."

AUSTIN, (UP)—Capitol circles take with a grain of salt the reports that Senator Archer Parr, Benavides, is to retire politically.

That may be his intention now, it is admitted, but it is predicted when he hears the sound of battle in the 1934 campaign, he will prick up his ears like an old warhorse and be in the fray.

By the time the recent session of the legislature ended, Senator Parr had apparently recovered entirely from the illness that led to reports he would retire.

His retirement would mean the political passing of a man who for more than a quarter of a century has held a tenth of the entire state in almost feudal control.

He approached more nearly to the "jefe politico" of Mexico than any other person in the state's political history with the possible exception of the late Bryan Callaghan. Callaghan for years ruled San Antonio and Bexar county with iron hand.

Only twice in his long senatorial service has Parr's rule been seriously threatened. In 1919, W. D. Glasscock ran against Parr. The race was so close that there was a contest. Parr was declared winner.

In the last election Jim Neel, a six foot inch lawyer-ranchman from Webb county, made the campaign against Parr.

Development of the country from its early ranching days has gradually weakened the hold of the old leaders like Jim Wells, Parr, and the late A. Y. Baker. A good government league carried Hidalgo county in 1932.

Parr is not only the dean of the Texas senate in point of age and in point of length of service, but he is more than twice as old as several of the senators.

A recognized power in politics in Southwest Texas for more than 30 years and political boss of a large part of the border country for a quarter of a century, he has held two political offices himself. His first office was county commissioner. The rest of his office holding has been in the Texas senate of which he became a member in 1915. Parr then was 54 years old, the legislative manual of that time shows.

The short, round, jolly-faced, farmer-stockman, is generally known as "Archie". The correct name is Archer.

When he was born on Christmas day of 1861 at Indianola he was named for the Colonel of the Mexican War regiment in which his father, George E. Parr of Virginia, had served. George Parr became so struck with the Texas country while serving in the regiment that after the war he returned to the state and settled.

As Archer grew up the family moved to Rockport. He attended school there and taught there. He next became a cowboy in employ of the Coleman-Pullen Pastures company, drove herd from southwest Texas to Kansas and later became a foreman of the Sweden ranch in Duval county. Later he purchased this ranch which is his home.

His 27th senatorial district is an empire in itself. It covers 14,519,000 acres, includes the largest ranch in the United States, two of the large Mexican border cities, one of the large Texas gulf ports, the state's citrus and winter garden district, one of its large sulphur deposits and one of its oil fields. It comprises 18 counties.

A visitor to the Texas senate might not pick out Parr for its oldest member nor would he think the smiling senator in the back row is one who ruled with iron hand. He seldom speaks and pay little attention to parliamentary squabbles unless they endanger a bill he favors.

In the heyday of his reign many political antics now taboo, were not only permitted but were general. When tales are told of political tricks he put over, Parr enjoys the laughter.

He even stretches a semi-gird for effect.

Several sessions ago a semi-gird iron dinner was given at Austin by the newspaper correspondents and members of the legislature who have been newspaper men. When Parr arrived as special guest he found seated right across the table from him, his own replica.

The replica was Silliman Evans, now fourth assistant postmaster-general, with a pillow stuffed under his coat. Throughout the dinner Silliman, ate, raised his cup and gesticulated in unison with the Duval senator. Parr enjoyed the parody and joined in the laugh when the "Duke of Duval" gave examples of how he ruled his domain.

If Mayor Paul Wakefield, former secretary to Governor Ross S. Sterling, can induce apple trees to flourish in Austin, he will have a perfect setting for the Normandy cottage that he has had built on the bluff overlooking the Colorado river at Austin.

From the chimney with its wheel top and stork's nest to its quaint beamed interior the cottage is patterned on those of the Normandy countryside.

The interior is furnished largely with memorabilia gathered by Major Wakefield during his service abroad as a military man and as United Press correspondent.

Many of the metal war souvenirs have been imbedded in the concrete in the rock wall that surrounds the cottage.

Bradford Kopes, whose "42nd Street" made a huge success as a movie, has written a much better book about the stage in "Stage Mother" (King). It is about Kitty Lorraine and her daughter, Shirley, and the story starts at a period when Shirley is a baby. The husband and father is killed, and life for Kitty and Shirley becomes very unsatisfactory. In many respects, Shirley, however, ultimately triumphs on Broadway, and marries successfully.

The story itself is nothing great, but the author's knowledge of stage life is apparent on every page. His book makes entertaining reading and, no doubt, will soon be on view at your neighborhood movie house.

Last week we mentioned some of the books being published on the subject of inflation. The best yet, however, for the man who can't quite get the thing straightened out, is "Inflation" by Donald B. Woodward and Marc A. Rose (McGraw-Hill). They are the authors of "A Primer of Money," and they possess the ability to translate intricate financial matters into everyday language.

New 'Trader Horn' Presented In Book Recently Published

BY H. ALLEN SMITH
United Press Book Editor

A new "Trader Horn" comes into our midst in the person of "Congo Jake" Colodon, a British adventure novel in his 70's. The life he tells about has been so exciting that his book, "Congo Jake" (Claude Kendall), doesn't even cover half the ground. He leaves us in the last chapter, in South America, with himself a mere strip-ling of 40.

Since this life story does not complete his life story, you may be sure that before long there will be a second volume. For the time being, however, we will be satisfied with the amount of blood that is spilled in this one.

Colodon was a barge boy in Britain when his father sold him for a sovereign to a ferocious-looking, but kind hearted, sea captain. Then the adventures began. He escapes death at the hands of lions, rats, crocodiles, cannibals, and any number of other such impolite creatures. He finds romance. He leaves Africa and visits New York. He is put in jail. He goes to Buenos Aires and finds more excitement. Then a great tragedy comes into his life, and he quits his book, quite suddenly. We are given to understand that Congo Jake goes back to the African wilds to forget things, but that must wait for the second volume.

Norman Douglas produced one of the most satisfying novels ever written in "South Wind". It has been a classic for years and it will remain one. Douglas now takes an autobiographical excursion in "Looking Back" (Harcourt Brace).

He employs a peculiar method, but it is one which must have amused him greatly. For years he has kept a Japanese box into which he places calling cards presented by persons who have come to see him, or with whom he has exchanged cards.

Now he takes these cards from the box and goes over them. Each name either conjures up a memory, or brings a blank. Few of them are people we know about, but most of them are intensely interesting under Douglas' pen. Among those you will encounter, however, are Dr. Axel Munthe, Muriel Draper, D. H. Lawrence, Rupert Brooke, W. M. Hudson, Joseph Conrad, Frank Harris, and even Harry Leon Wilson.

As an autobiographical work, we found it comparatively dull, because Norman Douglas surely could have produced a better book of this sort. But as it stands, it

Bill Murray Gives State Legislature Lecture On Morals

BY DAN ROGERS
United Press Staff Correspondent
OKLAHOMA CITY (UP)—The 14th Oklahoma legislature got a lecture on morals, entitled, "The Trinity of Evils," from Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray for passing a bill to legalize horse-racing and pari-mutuel betting.

The bill reached final passage during the last five days of the session. It made the chief executive's signature necessary to render it effective. This he refused, although he had agreed to ignore the bill and allow it to become a law without signing it, had it reached his desk in time.

Three Distinct Evils
"There is in American life three distinct evils, which I am pleased to term the 'Trinity of Evils,'" Murray said. "They are kindred spirits, each leading to the other: intemperance, gambling and sexual excesses."

"True enough, we cannot prevent wholly any of these evils, but we can at least break up the 'shops' of these evils, and refrain from giving them legal sanctity."

Governor Murray said he had been asked if he would oppose a law for gambling on horse racing.

Opposed To Gambling
"It seems that the best way to promote the breeding of horses of speed is to promote gambling, but I am so constitutionally opposed to gambling by reason of the evils flowing therefrom, I would not sign any bill legalizing gambling in any form," the governor said.

"But if you pass the bill and put it on my desk, I will ignore it for five days and let it become a law."

The bill reached his desk the day before adjournment.

Home Demonstration Club News

Message From Mrs. Tate, Chairman Of Council, To All Club Members Of County

Mrs. Frank C. Tate, of the Overton Home Demonstration Club, and chairman of the Howard County Council, asks home demonstration clubs throughout the county to elect delegates to the A. & M. Short Course to be held at College Station July 24-28.

Mrs. Tate and Mrs. Charlie Williamson have been elected by the Overton Club. Mrs. W. Irving has been elected by the Foran Club. There are seven clubs in the county eligible to elect and send one delegate. These names, says Mrs. Tate, must be sent to Mrs. Maggie W. Barry, College Station, Texas, as soon as possible.

Mrs. Tate has the following to say about the Short Course:

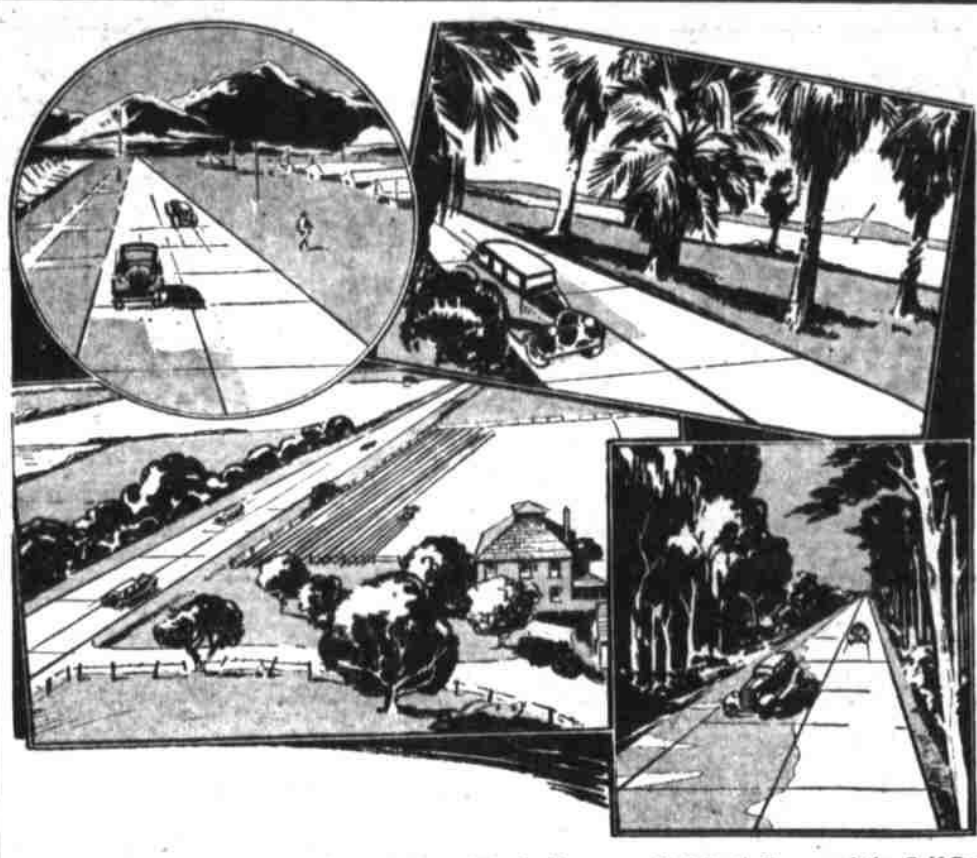

A. & M. is planning more practical active demonstrations than any previous short course in the history of the college. It will be a short course for farm and ranch folks to learn the tricks of many rural trades, by actually doing, in-line, or by actually doing, in-line. Each afternoon will be devoted to such things as butchering and cutting of meats, tanning hides, cotton grading course, syrup making, making grape juice, brooding chickens, new silo construction, controlling pests of both insect and animals, making rugs, dyeing lambkins, making various kinds of cheese, Bulgarian buttermilk and ice cream.

A special course will be given to all interested in bees. Demonstrations in home making such as: home sanitation and health, clothing work, dairying manufacture, and other methods and ways of making things that can be sold to realize a cash income.

Expenses Kept Low

Meals for the five days will be $3.75 and the room rent for the five days will be $1.25 for the week, making a total of $5.00. Cheap rates will be granted on all railroad fares, but there will possibly be cars which will make transportation cheaper.

TEXAS SCENIC BEAUTIES SKETCHED ON TRAVELAX ROUTE

Take the word of a widely known Texas artist, Guy F. Cahoon, the highways of the Lone Star State afford a variety of scenic beauties not excelled by any other section of these United States. Mr. Cahoon has made travel sketches illustrating many parts of the world, but finds sufficient subjects at home to make him especially enthusiastic regarding the natural beauties of his own state.

"In Western Texas the motoring vacationist and his family can revel in the inspiring grandeur of rugged mountains," says Mr. Cahoon. "In Northern Texas they find long stretches of straight, smooth highway to intrigue them onward, mile after mile, over level, picturesque plains. In East Texas the traveler thrills to the peace and beauty of the wooded country as he motors through stately pines. To the south he enjoys a wealth of luxuriant, sub-tropical plant life as he travels through the palm-bordered roads of South Texas and the Gulf Coast country. Truly, a variety of scenery as wide as the range of sports and interests to which they lead."

The above illustrations were sketched by Mr. Cahoon for the Portland Cement Association and show typical scenes along the Travelax Route. Maps showing concrete highways in Texas (The Travelax Route) are now being distributed by the Association and may be obtained by writing their offices at Dallas.

Features Of Program Told Are Reviewed

More Than 300 Miles Covered Monday By Motor Delegation

Through a land blessed with oil wells, tank farms and refineries, two dozen Big Spring Good Will ambassadors trekked Tuesday advertising the Carnival of Values to be held here Friday and Saturday.

Led by Calvin Boykin, Crawford hotel manager, the abbreviated motorcade covered one of the largest areas ever to be traversed by any similar caravan from this city within the space of a single day.

More than 300 miles were traveled by the Big Spring party.

Leaving here at 8 a. m., half an hour behind schedule, the motorcade made its first stop in Stanton where the carnival was publicized with circulars. Slim O'Neal spoke briefly, inviting Stanton folks to participate.

At Midland a large supply of literature was distributed and more brief addresses made. The party was greeted by Paul Vickers, Midland Chamber of Commerce manager.

In Odessa Grady Bell, chamber manager, out ballyhooed Slim O'Neal in urging Odessa and Ector county people to take advantage of the carnival.

Crane was recipient of shower of circulars and lively publicity talk by J. V. Whaley who was cheered when he referred to recent champion at the carnival, Joseph W. Bailey, Jr.

Still behind time, the motorcade paused at McCombs for luncheon after having covered the city with literature and deluged the citizenry with speeches.

It fell the lot of Whaley to publicize the event in Rankin, the car carrying the supply of circulars having been separated from the motorcade.

The routine was the same in Beat, Texon, Big Lake and Siles, but circulars arrived in time to be used at Garden City where the motorcade made its last stop. Because the caravan was running behind time, Sterling City was not visited as planned.

Boykin led the party through a varied section of country. Calhoun land of Martin and Midland faded into sand dunes in Ector. Around Crane was a land of yucca and rock. There was scarcely any vegetation about McCombs or Big Lake, yet inhabitants told members of the caravan of good clippings of wool and a profitable trade in cattle. Oil, however, makes the territory good trade area.

Competition To Be Strong In Net Meet

Quite a number of well known tennis players are expected here Friday and Saturday to enliven competition in the West Texas Tennis tournament.

Curtis Trawick, an Abilene luminaire, and co-holder of this year's Lone Star Conference doubles championship has written his intentions of entering the classic. A number of other wily Abilene netters are expected for the occasion.

North Texas State Teacher's College at Denton will be well represented. Weldon Blankenship, co-holder of the Lone Star Conference Doubles championship in 1932, will make his debut, as well as Elliott Smith, captain of the college team. Fred Barnes, a reliable young netter who deals plenty of competition before making his exit, will make the trip from Denton for the meet. Fred is well known, having competed here in 1931.

City Bishop, a member of the University of Texas Tennis Club, has intimated he will make his appearance to brighten the occasion and enliven the competition. Alex Pope of Dallas, who holds a raft of Junior titles and would have been on the regular University squad if he had chosen to compete, will also arrive. T. J. Childow, No. 7 on the freshman team, and a promising player, will be in the Austin delegation.

A number of Pecos Valley champions will compete as will San Angelo, Midland and other netters, all well known in West Texas tennis circles.

Postal's Far-Flung Facilities Put Into Play By Italian Fleet Of 64 Planes Flying To America

The flight of the twenty four Italian seaplanes under command of General Italo Balbo, air minister, with General Aldo Pellegrino as chief of staff, from Italy to a Century of Progress at Chicago and return, not only will be the greatest expedition of the kind ever made, but also will be served by the most complete and extensive organization ever put together for communicating with airplanes in flight and for collecting and reporting to them the weather data upon which the success of any flight depends.

The squadron is ready to take off from Rome, awaiting favorable weather conditions. The squadron of twenty-four planes will be in constant two-way communication with one or the other of the flights to communication headquarters, one at the air ministry in Rome and the other in the International Telephone and Telegraph building in New York, where Colonel Mario Infante, in charge of the American end of the flight, has taken offices with his staff working in collaboration with Ellery W. Stone, president of the Postal Telegraph and International System. The Italian government appointed the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation, whose facilities include the powerful Atlantic coastal station of Mackay Radio, the undersea commercial cables and the land lines of the Postal Telegraph company, to handle communications with the air squadron from this side of the Atlantic. In addition, Postal Telegraph will have the cooperation of the Canadian Pacific Railway, whose telegraph lines connect with the Postal Telegraph system. Each of the seaplanes is equipped with radio sending and receiving apparatus and more than thirty radio stations in Italy, Germany, England, Greenland, Labrador, Canada, and the United States, and on twelve Italian vessels spaced along the sea route, are cooperating to keep them informed of weather conditions and other necessary information.

What is believed to be the most comprehensive weather report service ever attempted to an air squadron in flight has been established. Hundreds of reports from the Canadian and United States weather bureaus from ships at sea from points along the coast from airports along the country and from other sources will be radioed, cabled and telegraphed into the operating rooms in New York where Colonel Infante will be stationed during the entire flight, these reports will be analyzed by Dr. James H. Kimball of the United States weather bureau, who has figured prominently in the supplying of weather data for virtually all of the trans-atlantic flights and Professor D. Montanari, weather expert of the Italian air ministry, who has been stationed in Dr. Kimball's office in the Whitehall Building at 17 Battery Place. The reports will be flashed to the Armada from the powerful Mackay radio station at Sayville, Long Island. A similar organization has been set up for the European stage of the flight and the weather information will be radioed to the seaplanes from the Italian government's station near Rome which also will communicate with New York through Sayville station and by the Commercial Cable company with the officials on this side of the Atlantic.

Tennis Awards Are Displayed

Handsome Awards Being Shown At Crescent Drug Store

Medals for the West Texas Tournament which is to be held during the Carnival of Values are here, and may be seen on display at the Crescent Drug Store. Contrary to usual procedure both members of the winning doubles team will receive gold medal awards instead of a loving cup. Runners-up will have their efforts rewarded with sterling silver medals. Winner of the singles title will receive the best trophy of all, a silver loving cup, while a silver medallion will be awarded the runner-up.

The entry of several local racquet wielders combined with the out of town entries promises a fast field of competitors. Among the local tennis luminaries will be: Harold Harvey, Weldon Blankenship, Harry Jordan, Joe Davis, John Stripling, Tommy Hutto and George Dabney.

Davis is rated as a pre-tournament threat since he is holder of the West Texas singles title and co-holder with H. B. Dunagan of the doubles trophy. Dunagan will not be a participant in this year's tourney, so Davis' best bet is Harry Jordan, his high school team mate.

State's Schedule Of Salaries In Rural Aid Schools Provide Cuts

Schedule of salaries for state rural aid schools shows reductions in per month salaries ranging from $25 to $5.

The schedule has been received here by the county superintendent's office and posted for inspection by trustees.

Although the schedules are not compulsory, very few Howard county school districts pay teachers more than is called for in the schedule.

All salaries above $100 for the school year of 1932-33 are cut twenty-five dollars. Smallest cut is for one teacher schools, a reduction of only $5.

No salaries for the approaching school year are listed below $75. City schools post salaries of a $60 minimum.

A comparative schedule chart follows:

Teachers	Position	1932-33	1933-34

Contributions By Texans Help Pay Off Democrats' Deficit

AUSTIN—Contributions to the deficit continue to pour into state democratic headquarters in Austin, despite the absence, in Washington, of the second largest amount of any state to the democratic national campaign fund.

Miller and Scofield are in Washington, where they are presenting to the administration the claims of Texas democrats for federal appointments. Texas is beginning to receive the reward for party service of the first rank earned in last fall's campaign, when Texas wrote up the largest majority and contributed the second largest amount of any state to the democratic national campaign fund.

R. W. Morrison of San Antonio was selected as one of the six members of the American Delegation to the economic convention at London. Morrison is recognized as one of the ablest business statesmen in America. Though a resident of Texas, his interests are wide and he has had important commercial dealings in nearly every important country in the world. Other Texas recently honored by the administration is Colonel Alvin M. Owsley, who has been named minister to Roumania, a highly important diplomatic post in the historic Balkan region that have incubated so many wars.

The selection of Robert G. Caldwell of Rice Institute at Houston as minister to Portugal, was also very pleasing to the Texas democratic organization. A number of other Texans are under consideration for important posts under the administration and they are being supported by Miller and Scofield.

Texas has assumed a $75,000 quota for the democratic national committee. This is ten per cent of the total deficit, which is believed to be a fair proportion for a state that will be so generously recognized by the administration in the distinction of party honors.

Wiley Post Expects Robot Plane And Army-Developed Radio To Cut 3 Days From Round-World Time

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. —Wiley Post believes a robot pilot and an army-developed radio device will enable him to cut more than three days from the record round-the-world flying time in a flight he plans to start from New York about July 1.

The taciturn 33-year-old Oklahoma City flier and H. Harold Gatty, Los Angeles, set the present globe-girdling record of eight days, 15 hours and 51 minutes in 1931, flying a 16,000-mile course around the northern hemisphere.

The Alaskan refueling will be done at Fairbanks instead of at Nome, as in 1931. He plans to stop again at Edmonton, Alberta, as before, but hopes to go non-stop from that point direct to Moscow and not more than two in all Russia.

The longest hop will be from New York to Berlin—3,900 miles. Other distances between the scheduled stops are: from Berlin across Russia (one refueling stop planned at place to be decided) 4,200 miles; Irkutak to Fairbanks, 2,200 miles; Fairbanks to Edmonton, 1,450 miles and Edmonton to New York, 2,100 miles.

The Winnie Mae's interior has been rebuilt in aircraft shops in Oklahoma City to give the plane a gasoline capacity of 658 gallons, 120 more than on the previous flight. Oil capacity has been increased to 28 gallons and additional oil will be carried in small cans.

36 Hours of Flying

With this supply, Post will, he believes, be over a route almost identical with that he and Gatty fol-

Midland Captures Sand Belt, Loses Kat Klaw Match

MIDLAND—Sand Belt players of Midland took a golf match from Lamesa here on Sunday afternoon 22 to 18, although additional holes had to be played, in one instance through the twenty-first.

Midland won low ball in the first and third flights while Lamesa was winner in the second and fourth.

In the first flight C. L. Jackson, lost to Rose of Lamesa one up on 19 holes and Gentry Kidd won on his Lamesa opponent 2 to 7. Midland won low ball.

In the second, Frank Day lost to White of Lamesa and Henry Shaw to East of Lamesa players shooting a 73 and 74 respectively and winning low ball.

In the third E. M. Miller won from Vaughn of Lamesa one up on 19 holes. De Lo Douglas won from Norman 4 to 3. Midland winning low ball on the nineteenth hole.

In the fourth flight, Don Svalby won from Bernard of Lamesa one up on 21 holes and Joe Chambers won from Vaughn two up. Lamesa winning low ball.

Gentry Kidd shot a 71, Jackson 73, Miller 79 and Douglas 78.

The Hobbs, N. M., golfers had little difficulty in defeating Midland Sunday in their Kat Klaw match at Hobbs, downing the crippled locals 28 to 12.

Knight and Nicholson met tough competition in Neal and Kimbrough, the latter pair taking all for Hobbs. Neal was shooting under par almost all the way.

Bailey and Stonebocker kept Midland from being blanked. They won low ball against Moore and Crawford and Bailey won his individual match.

Michael and Carnahan took Hogan and Harrison down to add all the points to Hobbs' total.

Collier and Hanks lost the Midland against Stodghill and Hines.

American Airways Set New Record With June Traffic

A new all-time record for passengers carried in a 15-day period was established by American Airways during the first 15 days of June. L. B. Manning, chairman of the board of the company, announced today.

In the two week period ending June 15, he said, American Airways carried 7,191 revenue passengers, an increase of 8.11 per cent over the 3,989 carried in the first fifteen days of May, and 56.22 per cent above the comparable period a year ago.

$150,000,000 Bonus Offers For Reduction Of Wheat Acreage

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (U.P.)—Payment of a bonus approximately $150,000,000 to the wheat farmers of the nation for reducing acreage during the coming season was announced by Prof. M. L. Wilson, wheat administrator.

Wilson explained the bonus would be paid from returns over processing tax on wheat and estimated farmers in the local territory would receive more than $50,000,000.

Under present plans, Wilson said, the tax will be applied July 8 and will amount to approximately 30 cents a bushel.

Opening a meeting here with representatives of farmers and merchants from the wheat belt, Wilson said:

"Stated simply, the wheat adjustment program asks farmers to reduce their planted acreage in 1934 and 1935 by no more than 20 per cent of their previous three year average."

"In return the farmers are to receive a compensation adjustment benefit for the years 1933, 1934 and 1935."

Wilson said the adjustment payments on this season's crop would be paid in two parts, two-thirds this fall and a third next spring after the contract of the farmer to reduce acreage by an amount not to exceed 20 per cent of his past three-year average is fulfilled.

Unemployed Men Rebuild Brewery

FORT WORTH (U.P.)—Fifty men, recruited from the ranks of the unemployed, have started remodeling the old brewery of the Texas Brewing company in anticipation of legalized beer.

Brewery and bottling equipment costing $50,000 has been purchased at Milwaukee and will arrive here in July for installation, which will take about two months. The plant is to be ready for operation within a few days, at least after the election on August 26, if beer is legalized.

The plant will have an initial daily capacity of 2,400 cases. How many men will be needed to operate the brewery could not be forecast by potential Brew Master Oscar Lamens, who learned his art in Flanders, Belgium.

A large increase over the present force now employed in the plant—manufacturing bakers' malt—is expected, Lamens said.

"Bakers' malt, bah! Such a pastime. I have worked in bakers' malt factories since 1912," snorted Lamens.

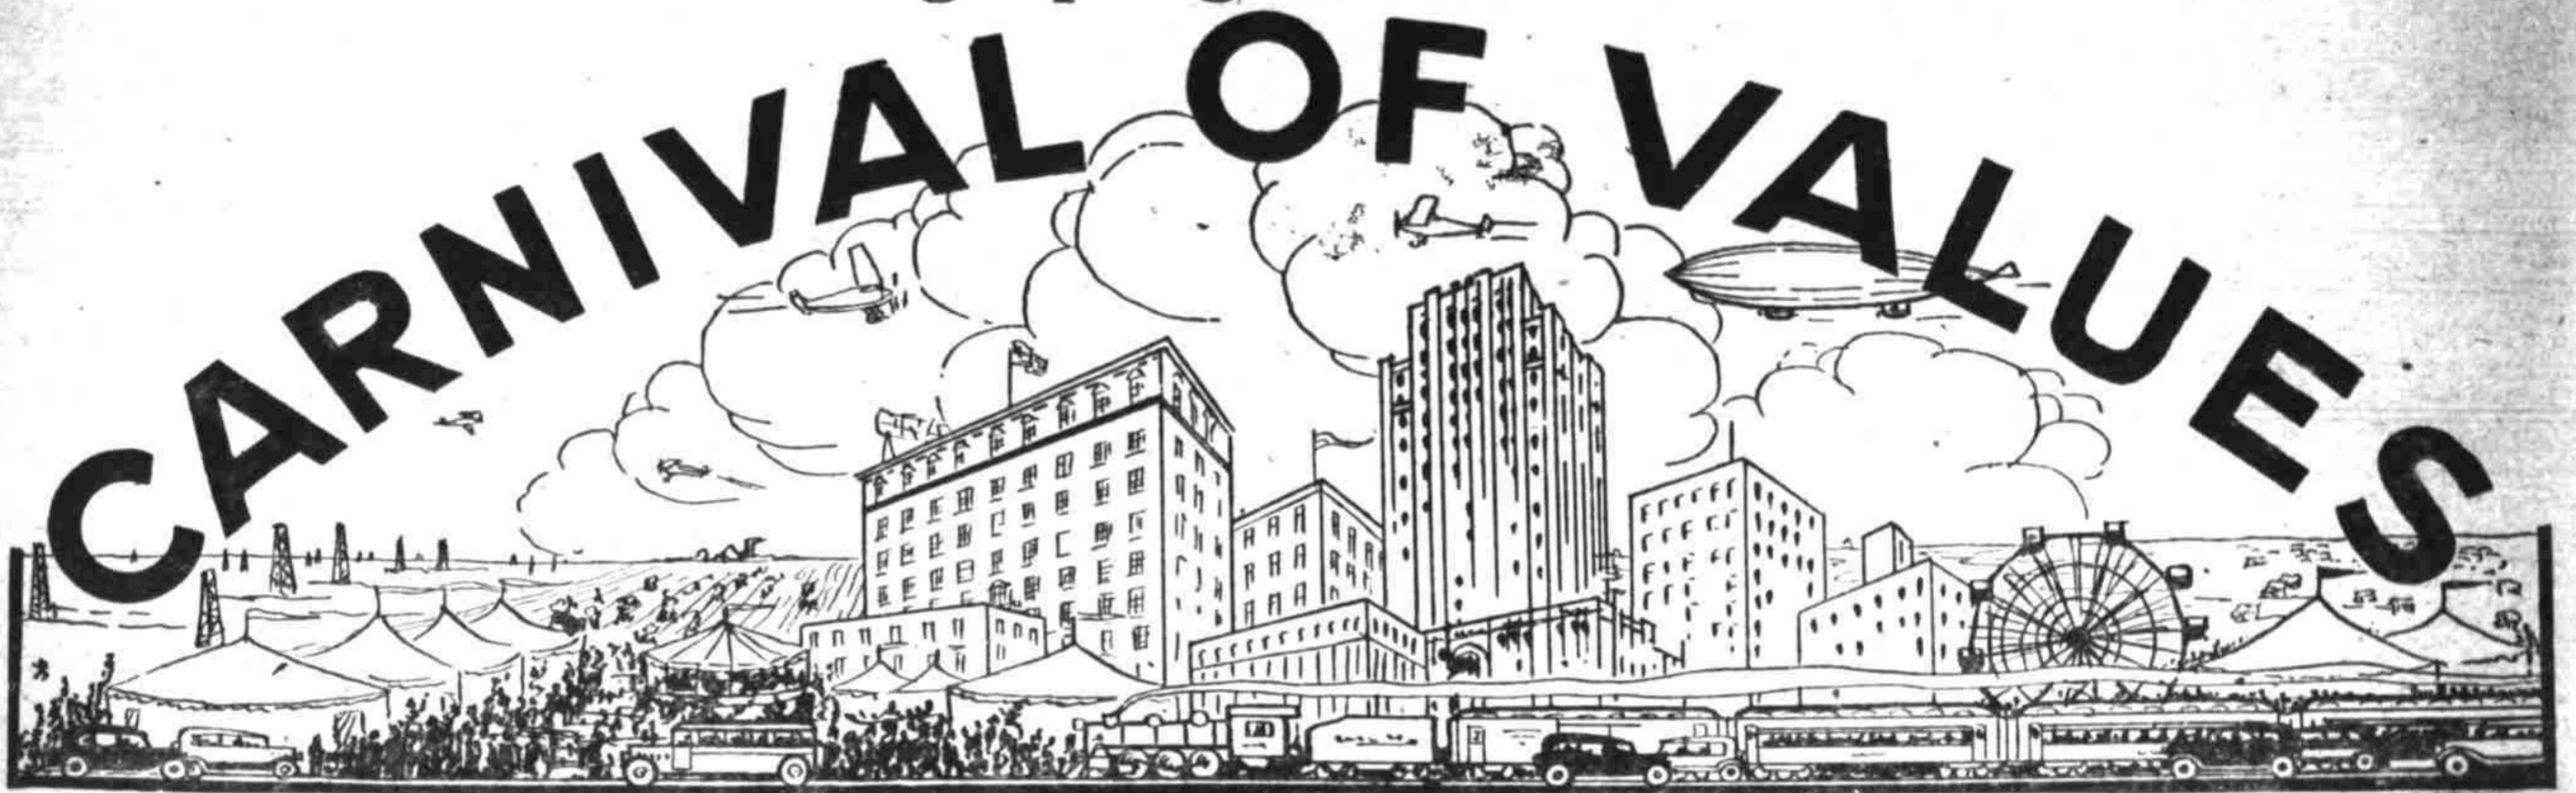

Lamens once was brew master for one of Belgium's largest breweries and his fingers are itching to get back to his old trade. Before 1918 Lamens was brew master for a large concern in Detroit, and at present is part owner of a large brewery founded by his father at Brussels, Belgium.

A new charter for the company will be obtained after the beer election, if favorable, Lamens said. A two-year lease has been taken on the buildings which were once owned by Anheuser-Busch.

DETROIT—Total sales of new passenger cars in May were estimated by E. J. Foltz & Co. today at $25,000,000, against $15,000,000 in April and $31,500,000 in May, 1932.

Golf Tournament To Be Staged On Lubbock Links

LUBBOCK—Four days of play over the course claimed by Walter Hagen as the best sand green course in Western Texas, will feature the Annual Invitation Golf Tournament of the Lubbock Country Club to which all amateur golfers in West Texas and New Mexico are invited. L. Wesley Reed, president of the club, has announced. The tournament will last through July 1, 2, 3 and 4. An interesting list of prizes have been announced for medalist, championship, winners of the various flights and runners up. A low entrance fee of $2.00 has been arranged which provides admission to all events. The program also calls for 18 holes of qualifying play either June 30 or July 1 with entries as late as 2:00 p. m. on July 1, followed at night with a Calcutta Banquet. First and second rounds will be played July 2, quarter finals July 3 and finals on Tuesday, July 4. The finals in the championship flight will be a tour of 36 holes. A barbecue and rodeo with swimming events has been scheduled for the second day and dances and tennis matches are being featured. Coming at a week end and holiday period a large number of golfers are expected and according to the tournament committee, of which John Edmiston is general chairman, a large number of invitations have been accepted by well known players.

TODAY and TOMORROW

By WALTER LIPPMANN The Administration and the Veterans

The last vote taken in the Senate was on the Administration compromise dealing with the veterans' allowances. This compromise, while it liberalized the payments, maintained intact the principles of the reform which was instituted in March. It confines payments to those veterans of the World War whose injuries or illnesses arise from their military service; it strikes from the rolls those whose disabilities have no connection with the war; it provides for a review of those cases where the connection between war service and the disability is not clear. This does not mean that the first rulings of the Administration are now final. They can be revised. They undoubtedly will be revised. My own belief, for example, is that payments to men actually disabled in battle, to men suffering from diseases directly arising from the war, and to the widows and orphans of men who died in the service, should be restored to their original amounts. The only justification for reducing these allowances in March was that all wages and salaries had to be reduced, that the cost of living had fallen since these allowances were first established, and that a moderate reduction in dollars represented no real loss of income. Since that are expected to increase further this week, it was reported today by the trade publication "Steel."

to the veterans whose claims upon the government are indisputable.

The Senate vote indicates that in upholding these principles no reliance can be put upon the Republican party. In the Senate the Republicans were unanimous in wishing to break down the pension reform. For once the two wings of the Republican party found something to agree upon, and the reform would have been seriously undermined but for the fact that fifty out of fifty-eight Democrats (counting pairs) finally voted to uphold it.

This action of the Republicans has been thoroughly denounced by leading Republican newspapers. It is well to ask ourselves why on this issue the alignment in the Senate was almost exactly on party lines. It is that the Democratic Senators are individually more public-spirited and courageous than the Republicans? There is no reason to think they are. What, then, is the probable explanation? It must be, I should suppose, that the Democrats are bound together by the national program of the Administration and have staked their personal fortunes on its success. The Republicans, on the other hand, have no program, nor even a negative program of opposition, and therefore for them it is a case of each man for himself. The Democrats know that they will be re-elected if the Administration is generally successful. The Republicans have to scabble around for odds and ends of votes wherever they can find them. Were the positions reversed, it is more than likely that the votes would have been reversed.

'Scrip' Issued By American Airways

Enabling further reductions in the cost of air transportation, American Airways today began issuance of scrip books redeemable for transportation on all divisions of the company's nation wide system, L. D. Seymour, president, announced.

The books, issued in denominations of $200 to sell for $212.50 represent an actual saving of 15 per cent in costs of transportation, excess baggage, excess valuation, and ground transportation in all cities where American Airways operates its own limousine service, M. Seymour said. Because the scrip is particularly desirable for use by business firms, arrangements can be made to have the books transferable between employees of the purchasing company, he said. The scrip books also may be made transferable between members of a family. Coupons from scrip books are accepted in exactly the same manner as cash, Mr. Seymour pointed out. The coupons equaling the one way fare between points for transportation requested are lifted by the ticket agent, and tickets are issued in exchange. Scrip and cash may be accepted in combination.

History And Present Status Of Municipal Golf Course Reviewed

The following statement has been submitted to The Herald by members of the Advisory Committee of the Municipal Golf Course, with request that it be published:

Big Spring, Texas, June 23, 1933.

Hon. Mayor and City Commissioners.

City of Big Spring, Big Spring, Texas.

Gentlemen:

From the recent discussion of the golf course before the city budget hearing, it is very evident that there are a considerable number of our people who do not know the complete set up of the Park Golf Course. Details of its formation were published in the newspaper from time to time, but with the idea of reviewing the situation from the beginning to the present time, we are writing this letter.

In the summer of 1931, the Junior Chamber of Commerce was formed here in Big Spring, composed of the younger men of the city. Some time after the formation of this chamber, Mr. R. H. Jones, representing a group of railroad men, appeared before our organization with a petition to construct a golf course in the City Park property. Mr. Jones very quickly interested the membership in the feasibility and practicability of building this course.

In a very short time we received an earnest request from Mr. Axtell, and a number of his associates at the Magnolia Camp at Westbrook, in addition to numerous local citizens, to build this course. We also received considerable requests from the oil people at Fortman to do so. It was very evident to these groups of individuals as well as to a number of our own citizens that there was ample room in the city for two golf courses, and it was certainly a most excellent opening in this part of West Texas for a grass greens course.

A committee was appointed by the president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and after considerable study they reported back to the main body that they thought it highly practical that we take up this work. The membership voted to attempt it as one of our projects, and we put into the golf course $69.59 in cash and materials, such as pipe, etc., together with a lot of work on the part of our committee and individuals.

At this time, we began to sell memberships, some for three months, some six, one year and two years. From this advanced sale of membership we realized some $500. A course was laid out in the fall of 1931, and play was started some time in June of the following year. The progress that we made during the first year of the course was slow, due to the planting of the wrong kind of grass, which made it necessary for us to replant all greens in the spring of this year.

As an answer to the accusation of one of the citizens who appeared before the budget hearing and who stated that only eighty people played last year, we wish to say that this is emphatically wrong. There was a total of forty-two people who played last summer without paying any green fee at the time, because they had already paid in advance. As explained in a previous paragraph, the $69.59 that was taken in, in no way reflects that eighty people played, because the green fee was only 25c and considerable more than eighty people contributed to the $69.59 income.

The status of the course at the present time is this: The course is well laid out and most excellently trapped. The tee boxes are now ready for play. The greens have a good growth of young Bermuda grass and are ready to be top dressed in the next few days. Even though we have had a very dry spring, we feel that our course has made remarkable progress and even without rain it should be open for play sometime in August.

We might have said in preceding paragraphs that while we were discussing the possibility of putting in a golf course, we wrote letters to all surrounding towns concerning the status of their municipal golf courses. They all reported a profit above all expenditures and maintenance cost every year, and the United States Golf Association reported that not in the history of its organization had they known a municipal golf course that was in any payable condition to fail, or to fail to more than break even.

It is remarkable that the course has been built with so little cost to the city, this being primarily due to the fact that the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the advance sale of green fees provided the necessary capital on which to install the course. This $69.59 was expended for labor and grubbing out the fairways, at a time when there was no R.F.C. labor, and relief was badly needed. We might further add that the golf course is a part of the park and that it adds to the beauty of the park, and to the usefulness of a park that is built by the people and for the use of the people.

We feel that this move is backed by far more tax payers than are opposed to it, and we feel that it is an asset to the city, and will, in the course of time, largely carry the burden of the up-keep of the other part of the park. It unquestionably will bring into town players who will spend their money here with us and the reason we feel that this is true is because Mr. Axtell, Supt. of Magnolia Oil Company at Westbrook, says that all of his employees there are anxiously awaiting the completion of the course, and further, hardly a week passes but what we have some inquiry from the surrounding towns concerning the progress of our grass greens course.

A copy of this letter is being furnished the Big Spring Herald, and the Big Spring Weekly News with the request that it be published in hopes that the public will be

Chicago Trip Attracts Baseball Fans, School Teachers Early In July

ABILENE—West Texas baseball fans and school teachers have special inducements to attend the World's Fair, Chicago, during the week beginning Sunday, July 2. These are in addition to the extremely low holiday fares available on the G.B. Sanderfer train scheduled to leave next Sunday morning for four days an dnights in Chicago.

The special attraction to baseball fans is the all-star baseball game between American and National League teams, headlined by such heavy-hitting stars as Babe Ruth and Al Simmons and booked for Chicago Thursday, July 6. The West Texans will not begin their return trip home until the following day and will have ample opportunity to take in this special attraction.

The National Education Association, with thousands of teachers and internationally known educators in attendance, will be in annual convention in Chicago during the week. The Sanderfer train sections makes it possible for teachers to attend any part of these sessions during the four days there, in addition to visiting the Century of Progress.

Unusually low rates, with Pullman berth to and from Chicago and the four nights there, have been offered for Independence Day week. A low fare, with upper berth double, of $27.78 from Abilene is offered for lower berth single. Proportionately low rates are available from all points along the T&P but reservations must be made through G. B. Sanderfer at Abilene. The railway tickets are good for ten days.

The section leaving next Sunday is the second from West Texas which Sanderfer has sponsored. The first, with 117 persons aboard, returned June 17 from four days at the exposition. The second section was arranged in response to numerous requests from baseball fans and teachers especially interested in the special attractions available to them during the coming week.

Building Of General Motors Attracts Many Fair Visitors

CHICAGO—"The General Motors Building rears its bulk aloft, a giant shaft of gold," says one writer describing the magnificent panorama of the Century of Progress exposition by night. With the fair but a few days old, the General Motors building is recognized as one of the most thrilling spectacles at night.

Three hundred and fifty flood and projector lamps bathe the orange, yellow, red, silver and blue building. The orange-gold tower is the focal point of attention, rearing its 177 foot height conspicuously in to the many-hued heaven created by the genius of Joseph Urban, supervisor of color and lighting for the Century of Progress.

Exterior lighting of the General Motors building alone consumes enough electricity per night to pump water for a city of 25,000 inhabitants, or to provide home and street lighting for a city of 7,500 inhabitants. An average of two million, three hundred thousand watts of electricity a day is used. Monthly consumption amounts to sixty-nine million watts. This is equal to 82,000 horsepower a month.

Approximately three times this amount of current is consumed in the interior of the giant structure for power in the Chevrolet-Fisher body assembly plant and other action exhibits and to light the seven main rooms.

And Nothing Can Be Done About It

DO YOU REMEMBER BACK IN THE DAYS OF BLERIOT WHEN FRANCE OFFERED A HUGE PRIZE TO THE FIRST MAN TO FLY ACROSS THE ENGLISH CHANNEL?

OH, YES

THEN ENGLAND ANNOUNCED 5,000 POUNDS TO THE FIRST MAN TO SWIM THE CHANNEL.

AMERICA CAME TO THE FORE WITH A 50,000 DOLLAR OFFER TO THE FIRST WOMAN TO NEGOTIATE THE STRIP OF WATER.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OF GLASGOW MET TO CONSIDER THE SITUATION. AFTER MUCH DEBATE AN OFFER WAS SET FORTH WHICH PUT THE EFFORTS OF RIVAL NATIONS TO SHAME.

NO LESS THAN 1,000,000 POUNDS WAS TO BE AWARDED TO THE FIRST HARDY ATHLETE, MAN OR WOMAN, WHO SWAM THE ENGLISH CHANNEL UNDER WATER.

WHY, THAT'S PERFECTLY RIDICULOUS! NO ONE COULD HOLD HIS BREATH LONG ENOUGH TO SWIM THAT DISTANCE!

100 TREES PLANTED ESTACADO, Texas (UP)—More than 100 trees were planted here this spring in a tree planting campaign. The school campus received 63 of the plantings and the majority of the remainder were around the teachers and at the Methodist and Baptist churches.

Spaniard Held For Planting Bomb In Roman Cathedral

VATICAN CITY, (UP)—Bomb which exploded Sunday in the portico of St. Peter's Cathedral was manufactured in Spain and brought here by Demitrio Soliman, who carried a Spanish passport, police declared Monday after arresting Soliman and charging him with planting explosive. The bomb caused a panic in a crowd of pilgrims. Four persons were injured but there was little property damage.

Galveston Man Wins Congressional Race

GALVESTON, (UP)—Clark W. Thompson, of Galveston, won easily in Saturday's election to choose a successor to Clay Stone Briggs, congressman from seventh district. Latest figures gave Thompson 3,893 to 2,434 for James D. Pickett of Palestine, the nearest contestant.

LOVE, PREFERRED

THE ROMANCE OF A BUSINESS GIRL

By EDNA ROBB WEBSTER Author of "Dad's Girl", "Joretta", Etc.

CHAPTER I
Mary swung around from her typewriter and reached for the telephone. "Miss Vaughn speaking," she announced, briskly. Then, after a moment, "Oh, hello—Dick," with a little breathless gasp, while her heart accelerated its speed from a normal seventy-two to something over one hundred.

"At the University club" she repeated in an incredulous tone, and her face brightened perceptibly. "Why, of course. Thanks a lot, Dick. Yes, eight o'clock, then." She replaced the instrument slowly, groupingly. It was so unbelievably true. Dick Baldwin, the debonair young wholesale man for another firm "in the street" and a former football star at Princeton, whom she had known less than a month and who had taken her out just twice, had asked her to a dance at the University club! She had dreamed of invitations like that, from men like Dick, but this was real. She held her head in her two hands, childishly, as if to steady it. That was the way Dick Baldwin, or even his voice, affected Mary. Demure, poised, industrious, practical Mary—who had been forced by circumstances to wrestle with the many realities of life.

She had learned that tomorrow not only didn't provide for itself but that the tomorrows of some four others looked to her for provisions, as well. In the past five years she hadn't found much time even to day-dream about University club dances, or any other pleasures. For that matter, she hadn't seen a man until a month ago whose society she preferred to a courtship, quiet evening at home after the difficult days at the office.

Wasn't she glad, now, that she hadn't spent much of her time on the callow youths who had persistently sought her out, Miss Eddie Graham in Patterson who always acted when he saw her, like she now felt about Dick, Howard Davis in the other office where she had worked first, and others? Wasn't she even more glad that she had anticipated and prepared for just such an occasion as this? After that second evening with Dick, when he had given every indication that he would be wanting to see her much more, she had decided that at all costs she must have some new evening clothes. Nothing too expensive, either. She had selected, after hours of careful shopping and deliberation, a wine-red chiffon that swept the floor in diaphanous folds, with a cowl collar draped from a sharp V-shaped decolletage and a narrow beaded yoke. She told herself repeatedly that she couldn't afford the dress and that she might never need it. But just in case he should ask her for a real date, she had to be prepared. Now it had happened!

And all so unexpectedly. A month ago, Mary hadn't known a man with whom an evening would be more important to her than working at the office. Then, vivacious, industrious Dick Baldwin, the new wholesale man for the house of Jameson-Hair, had called at the office to offer Foster a participation in a syndicate loan for the United Metal Co. that would place 100,000 shares on the market. Dick had made an instant impression on Foster, who said so to Mary; but so had Mary impressed Dick, as he practically told her so when he asked her to dinner with him the third time he talked with her.

Mary turned back to her machine with new vigor, as if she had taken a stimulant. Five minutes before, her back had been aching so it felt like hot irons were scorching her flesh, and the attack of letters had seemed to grow instead of diminishing, as she struggled on in an attempt to get them all out before five o'clock.

Her nimble fingers flashed over the keys. The bell buzzed. Oh, bother! What could the boss want now? She opened the big walnut-paneled door that gave access to her employer's private office from her own. Almost a year ago, when she had come here as private secretary to Ronald K. Foster, of Foster & Co., Investment Brokers, another of Mary Vaughn's dreams had been realized. The thrill of it had subsided some time ago, for she had learned that human nature catalogued Ronald K. Foster in the job much the same as that in the John Brown files, and that being a big broker's secretary was just as prosaic, exacting, routine and exasperating as the work of a common "stenog" in any line.

But the spacious walnut-paneled room with its hand-made furniture, silk-damask window hangings, Georgian mantel and Sarouk rug, with the buzzing, clicking translux dominating it all—had not lost its fascination for her. This was the atmosphere in which she belonged—not in the six-room duplex in Paterson, with the nondescript furniture and Wilton velvet rugs. Perhaps, if she were patient, she might have a home like this—or at least a one-room apartment just as she wanted it—some day.

Mary hoped with all her heart, as she put down the telephone, that he meant those last words, that he would call her again soon. But she feared that he wouldn't.

The hours dragged on interminably after Mary had returned from a hasty lunch at 5:30. Foster dictated for an hour and then left her to clear up the wreckage. The gigantic pyramid of offices was almost silent and the slightest sounds echoed eerily.

The tumult of thudding and tapping feet, the click and clang of doors and desk drawers; the gasping of elevators stopping and starting with a low rumbling of gliding doors, like great dragons breathing and grumbling and swallowing people by the mouthful; only to spew them out again for more; the shouts and laughter of repairmen and farewell—all of that magic, fatiguing, exhilarating hour of 5 p. m.—had left a vast silence in its wake in that towering world of spaces.

Outside the window, bold, curious searchlights on other towering pyramids of stone were flitting with their neighbors; careening, embracing each other's gleaming shoulders like a throng of pleasuring people. Electric signs of brilliant hues blinked and faded like precious jewels on their breasts and were reflected in the deep black waters of the river as in a mirrored wall.

Fascinating, always intriguing, this turbulent city of complex life. Mary loved it as she loved life—all the world. She liked to be in the thick of the struggle. Even if it were stifling and exhausting and heart-breaking at times, she loved it. But she was a woman. She wanted her own fireside, her own man, her own children—some day.

At last the work was finished. Foster had known it would be before she left, and that every detail would be complete, as per orders. Mary was no longer conscious of the ache between her shoulders; it was so intense by this time that she felt numb with it. Her eyes burned and the muscles in her arms were strained so with holding them at right angles that it hurt to straighten them out.

She rode down in an empty elevator and said a cheery goodnight to the night operator. The outer revolving doors seemed to catch a ton. The rush of cold, foggy air welcomed her into the weird solitude of deserted Wall Street, at night.

And then she saw Dick—waiting across the street in his coupe. (To Be Continued)

Words To Decorate Library Ceiling
AUSTIN (UP)—Words, not just paint and varnish, will decorate the long ceiling beams of the east reading room of the University of Texas' new library building. The building committee's proposal is adopted.

Texas Industries Move Toward Complying With Recovery Act

DALLAS (UP)—A majority of the industries of Texas are moving toward complying with the National Industrial Recovery Act which bears the trademarks of the Roosevelt "new deal" administration.

At a great mass meeting here today Texas industrial council was formed. Upwards of 1,200 persons from all parts of the state met in serious discussion of Texas recovery program. The meeting was called by the Dallas chamber of commerce.

The all-important issue of the meeting—whether firms or individuals acting in compliance with the Roosevelt plan but in disregard of the strict anti-trust laws of Texas would be prosecuted—was brought up but no official action was adopted about it.

Arthur L. Kramer, past president of the Dallas chamber of commerce, publicly urged that Attorney General James V. Alford be asked to state that he will in effect ignore anti-trust laws in order that the recovery act will not be impeded. The committee that recommended formation of the Texas industrial council, however, did not include this recommendation in its report.

The matter was passed when T. E. Jackson, also a past president of the Dallas chamber, announced a special committee of the industrial council would meet in Dallas within a few days to consider the anti-trust law situation. Jackson presided after R. L. Thornton, chamber president, was called from the meeting.

The feeling that an immediate session of the state legislature was necessary to amend or alter anti-trust laws in order that industry may comply with the Roosevelt plan was pronounced when the meeting opened. Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson, and Attorney General Alford had been invited to attend the one-day mass meeting, and it was anticipated a statement by either or both would be forthcoming. The former, however, declined to attend or make announcement about calling a special session of the legislature to consider the discrepancies between state and national laws. Her wife to Kramer explaining her absence said she wished to make no statement about the situation until her representative who went to Washington to consider the matter had reported to her.

Few women were in attendance, but the big auditorium of the Baker Hotel was packed when Chairman Thornton rapped for order. He explained the purposes of the meeting then introduced in order Congressman Halton W. Summers, Dallas, Kramer and C. J. Crampton, Dallas.

Congressman Summers said the fact that 1,200 men and women would attend a meeting on business matters indicated the change in the attitude of the people towards cooperation among trades and industries.

"Making effective this recovery act is going to depend on the people," he said. "These things are fraught with great danger and demand sensible thinking and demand that we keep both feet on the ground."

The Dallas congressman was asked what intrusion the state anti-trust laws would make in the recovery program.

He said he did not see how Texas could obtain full benefit of the recovery act unless it ignored or suspended the anti-trust acts, provided the Texas laws were similar to the national.

The recovery act "will tend tremendously toward price fixing," he said.

"We must get away from the little two-bit idea of everybody breaking into the government treasury and getting his share."

At the conclusion of Summers' speech Thornton left the hall, called home by sickness of a member of his family.

Kramer recently returned from Washington, explained more fully points of the recovery act which he said was more concerned with employment and labor than anything else.

He brought cheers from the audience when he forecast victory for the wets at the Aug. 26 election, and that Texas would be one of the first states to begin operations under the national recovery act.

The committee of ten which advised formation of the industrial council included William Murray, Wichita Falls; R. D. Egan, Houston; Stanton Brown, Waco; John Gore, Beaumont; C. A. Pickett, Houston; Pat Ethridge, Dallas; E. L. Stock, Austin; W. C. McMath, El Paso; C. A. Paxton, Fort Worth, and Kramer, chairman.

PORT ARANSAS (UP)—A "deep-sea rodeo" will be held here July 6, 7 and 8.

Hundreds of fishermen from all over the southwest are expected to compete for prizes offered by the Port Aransas Light Tackle club for all kinds of fish, including tarpon, jack fish, mackerel, kingfish and even sharks.

Last October the Light Tackle club sponsored a "tarpon rodeo" which attracted scores of entrants and resulted in one of the greatest tarpon catches ever reported in southern waters. In three days nearly 200 of the fighting fish were brought to gaff.

Fishermen's desire to angle for other deep-sea fish as well as tarpon led the club to announce the "free-for-all" rodeo for next July.

Interruption Of Forward Move In Business Would Bring About Further Use Of Inflation Power

By RICHARD L. GRIDLEY, United Press Financial Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The administration will make further use of its inflation powers if more than a temporary interruption occurs in business' current forward movement, the United Press learned in official quarters.

The mere possibility of currency or credit inflation together with abandonment of the gold standard, has helped bolster prices and promote more normal buying. The administration is reluctant to make any actual extensive inflationary move as long as business carries along without the "shot in the arm."

A high governmental official, however, said "we'll trot out the Thomas amendment if business goes into a slump."

The Thomas inflation amendment to the farm act gave President Roosevelt authority to reduce the gold content of the dollar by as much as 50 per cent; authority to issue $3,000,000,000 (B) in United States notes to buy governmental securities; permission to accept up to $200,000,000 in silver in payment of war debts, and authorized the Federal Reserve Bank to purchase up to $3,000,000,000 (B) in governmental securities to ease credit.

Among mild inflationary steps already taken are abandonment of the gold standard, issuance of $141,000,000 in government bond-backed Federal Reserve Bank notes to replace a like amount of gold-backed money; the $3,800,000,000 (B) public works program; purchase of approximately $100,000,000 in governmental securities by the Federal Reserve Bank; and the pending coinage of $11,000,000 in new silver money on the proceeds of metal received in payment of the June 15 war debts.

Maytag Sales Show Growth

Five Car Loads Of Washers Shipped In Single Day By Firm

DALLAS—Unprecedented increases in Maytag Washer sales volume has caused Maytag Southwestern Company, distributors of Maytag Washers in Texas and Southern Louisiana, to ship in a single day one of the largest orders for washing machines in the Southwest—five car-loads.

The Maytag Company at Newton, Iowa, shipped today 432 Maytag units to Dallas, Houston, Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Lubbock, Abilene, and other distributing points. The five carloads shipped in a single day is preceded by four previous carloads within the past four weeks. Nearly 1,000 Maytag Washers have been shipped into Texas in the past four weeks.

"Retail sales in the Southwest have increased 79.9% in May 1933 over May 1932 and from sales reports in to date, June 1933 will exceed June 1932 by over 100% increase," Walter Riggers, President of Maytag Southwestern Company said.

The Maytag Southwestern Company is joining in a sales campaign to honor the founder and chief of the Maytag Company—Mr. F. L. Maytag, who will be 76 years old on July 14th. The campaign commemorates the founding of the Maytag Company by Mr. F. L. Maytag 40 years ago in 1893. Newton, Iowa, the home of Mr. Maytag and the Maytag factory, is declaring a holiday and the governor of the state and United States Senators are joining with the Newton citizenry in honoring this noted manufacturer.

Forty Per Cent Of Cavern Visitors Hail From Texas

CARLSBAD, N. M. (UP)—More than 40 per cent of the 5,445 visitors to Carlsbad Caverns here in May were Texans, Colonel Thomas Bales, superintendent, said in reporting visitors from 47 states, two territories and 11 foreign nations. There were 2,314 Texans; 1140 from New Mexico; 785 from California; 301 from Oklahoma; 126 from Colorado and 107 from Arizona.

The total was 120 less than in May last year and the smallest month's visitations since May, 1929.

Rice Institute Grid Star Flunks Out

HOUSTON (UP)—Jack Frye, Rice Institute's major football hope, was one of three members of the Owl varsity who failed to pass final examinations and will be ineligible for athletics. However, the trio may re-enter the school, they have indicated.

Frye, former all-state backfield star from Jeff Davis high school, Houston, also is said to be considering entering a college in another conference, possibly the University of California.

Municipal Swimming Pool Receipts Grow

FORT WORTH (UP)—The depression is gone—directors of Fort Worth's Municipal swimming pools are whistling as a check shows attendance this year is about 15 per cent, ahead of that last year. When people spend more freely for amusements, they believe, it's a sign their worries are fading.

Portias Multiply In San Antonio Bay

SAN ANTONIO (UP)—San Antonio's modern Portias are showing Bexar county jurists that women can practice successfully before the bar even during times of economic depression. Many women appear frequently to plead case in the county.

First of her sex here to conduct a murder case was Mrs. Eunice Whitaker. She and her husband formed the defense counsel for Joe DeMack charged with the slaying of a deputy sheriff.

Mrs. Winnie Hardy has three sons but spends much time in a law office with her husband. She, like most of the women barristers here, divides her time between her home and her profession.

Linnest K. O'd Farmer WINDFALL, Ind. (UP)—John Fennell, farmer near here, was unconscious for several hours after he took a large dose of horse liniment he had mistaken for a spring tonic.

rick has nothing on Mrs. J. W. McAnulty when it comes to chasing snakes. When the woman emptied her washtub of its hot suds on the side of the wash shed, 22 snakes, by actual count, wriggled with alacrity from under the floor. A stick wielded by Mrs. McAnulty speared them on their way.
