

Snyder Assures Jury Trials For Tax Disputants

Try To Save Plan To Reorganize BIR From Senate Debate

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder, scrapping to save President Truman's proposed reorganization of the Internal Revenue Bureau from threatened Senate debate, assured senators today it would not wipe out taxpayers' rights to get local jury trials in disputed tax cases.

Snyder gave the assurance in a letter read to the Senate Expenditures Committee by Internal Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap. Dunlap appeared as a witness for the reorganization proposal. The committee is considering whether to recommend that the Senate disapprove it.

Mr. Truman's plan would, among other things, abolish the present 64 offices of collectors of Internal Revenue and replace them with some 25 district offices.

Some senators have suggested this change might mean a citizen could not bring a tax suit in his own federal district court but would have to go to Washington.

Before the committee is a resolution of disapproval sponsored by Sen. George (D-Ga.). It has strong backing.

The committee is to vote tomorrow on the George resolution.

Mr. Truman's plan will become effective Friday of next week unless the Senate adopts the resolution.

Efforts by etc., 2nd graph to 39 tion.

Efforts by the administration and Congress to clean up corruption in government brought these other developments:

1. Administration Cleanup Boss Newbold Morris said he is not a subservient to the Justice Department as some believe. He said indictments on his findings will be handled by specially named lawyers—not the Justice Department—and he will make his reports to President Truman and not to Atty. Gen. McGrath, who appointed him to his job.

2. Rep. Keating (R-NY) said public hearings in a House investigation of the Justice Department probably will start around April 1 with McGrath as the first witness. Keating said the House Judiciary Subcommittee looking into the department—also to be investigated by Morris—will hold other hearings in Boston and Providence, R.I., and possibly in San Francisco, Kansas City, St. Louis and Chicago.

Key point of the Truman plan to reorganize the Revenue Bureau is to put an end to presidential appointment of the 64 collectors and place all bureau officials except the top man under Civil Service.

Many of the present politically-appointed collectors have been under fire in tax scandals which have led to indictment, dismissal or

Bataan Hero Lands Here

General Jonathan M. Wainwright, hero of Bataan and Corregidor, landed here this morning at Big Spring Air Force Base preparatory to opening the 1952 Red Cross drive at a noon luncheon. The general, enroute to the luncheon, was warmly cheered by residents who lined the streets. Pictured above are, left to right, Col. F. W. Brown, aide to the General; A. Swartz, Chamber of Commerce president; Gen. Wainwright, Mayor G. W. Dabney and Col. E. F. Wackwitz, BSAFB commanding officer. The plane, based here, was flown to San Antonio to pick up Gen. Wainwright.

Gen. Wainwright Gets City's Cheers; Opens Red Cross Push

A chilling, dust-laden wind was the only drawback to an otherwise stimulating occasion today, as Big Spring greeted General Jonathan M. Wainwright on his appearance here for the Red Cross campaign.

The tall-weather-beaten hero of Bataan and Corregidor rode through the streets in an open car, acknowledging with a wave of his hand the plaudits of several hundred who gathered to greet him. He wore the resplendent uniform of a four-star general, with the array of medals he has earned through a long career.

Then he went to the Settles Hotel, where a capacity crowd jammed the ballroom to hear him make a brief talk in behalf of the Red Cross.

CONNALLY TALKS OUT

French Are Warned To Increase Taxes

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP)—Sen. Connally (D-Tex) said today "if France does not do her utmost to defend herself, she cannot justify her largely military and economic aid from the U. S."

Connally made the statement to newsmen after Secretary of State Acheson had conferred for nearly two hours at a closed meeting with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Connally is chairman of the group.

Connally said his remarks were directly related to the current Premier Faure's government fall last week when he asked a 15 per cent tax increase for the French share of the defense plans made by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO).

Ferguson, Sen. Hill (D-Ala) and Sen. Young (R-ND) suggested that Congress get a report from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower—preferably in person—before it voted on the foreign aid program.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) said in a separate interview he favors a cut of 1 1/2 billion dollars in the President's proposed budget outlay of 20 1/2 billion for all forms of foreign aid.

Douglas said he favors a seven-billion-dollar slash in the President's total budget, of which 1 1/2 billions would come off domestic items, four billions off military and 1 1/2 billions off foreign aid.

Connally refused to discuss what Acheson told the committee, but Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala) said the cabinet officer is "certain"—he has no misgivings at all—that France will find a way to finance the program.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) said in a separate interview he favors a cut of 1 1/2 billion dollars in the President's proposed budget outlay of 20 1/2 billion for all forms of foreign aid.

Partly as the result of NATO decisions made at Lisbon, former Premier Edgar Faure asked for a 15 per cent increase in taxes and his government fell when Parliament rejected his proposal. Last night Paul Reynaud, wartime Premier of France, gave up his attempt to form a new cabinet, and Rene Pleven, another ex-premier, refused even to try.

This series of events apparently has piled new troubles on Acheson at a time when he and President Truman are asking Congress for an appropriation of $7,900,000,000 in foreign aid.

There have been demands for a cut in foreign aid spending and REGINA, Sask., March 3 (AP)—Canadian mounted slaughtered 164 diseased animals yesterday in the second shooting of the drive to wipe out Canada's first foot-and-mouth disease outbreak.

Enemy Asks For Logical Reasons

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Communist truce negotiators angrily accused the United Nations Command of lying and stalling today. But the Reds acknowledged that the U. N. had a legal right to reject Russia as a neutral inspector of an armistice.

North Korean Col. Chang Chunsan conceded that the U. N. had the right to reject Russia, but insisted that the Allies give logical reasons.

"We had a thoroughly unproductive and most unpleasant session," Rear Adm. R. E. Libby told newsmen after an acrimonious session of the prisoner exchange subcommittee.

At one point North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho became so angry Libby interrupted to ask him to stop screaming.

There was no indication whether the Communists were weakening in their insistence that Russia be named to a neutral supervisory commission or whether they were feeling out the Allied position.

Col. Don Darrow, who heads staff officers discussing truce supervision, and Libby both said they felt the Reds were playing a waiting game, hoping the U.N. will capitulate.

Darrow told Chang nothing Chang could say "would change the fact that the Soviet Union was unacceptable" to the U.N. as a neutral nation to inspect behind the lines during a truce.

Darrow suggested that the U.N. proposal for two neutral nations on each side would solve the problem immediately.

Highly placed Washington sources said there were indications Russia is so determined to serve as a neutral inspector that it may wreck the truce talks.

These sources said the U. S. never would accept the Soviet Union as a neutral, but might go back to the original Allied proposal to supervise a truce by a joint commission of belligerents.

They pointed out that if Russia was willing to acknowledge that it was a belligerent it then could legally help police a truce.

Lee touched off the verbal explosion in the prisoner exchange negotiations with a long tirade in which he accused the U.N. of lying about treatment of prisoners.

He also charged that the U.N. reneged on a promise to hand over information on about 44,000 prisoners the Reds claim are "military personnel of our side."

And he accused the Allies of lying when they said Sunday the Communists had repudiated an agreement to exchange information on all war prisoners and another agreement to nominate neutral inspectors.

The officer notified the committee earlier that he could "debunk" its charges of spendthrift buying by the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Hebert said the military has been trying to confuse the issue by accusing the committee of using improper prices on its exhibits of blankets, tools, and other common-use equipment purchased by all three services.

The committee learned last week that the Munitions Board, charged with the responsibility of overseeing the military's multi-billion-dollar buying program, is seeking more authority so it can do its job better.

Biology instructor at Howard County Junior College, Frazer was wading in a shallow area to collect muscles and minnows. He picked up three muscles and then—

Two Coke bottles unopened and full, a fifth of whiskey—also unopened. Not enough chaser for a fifth, he reasoned and continued probing until he found four more full bottles of Coke.

Next he turned up a flashlight, then a Coleman gasoline lantern, around 200 feet of trolly, a quantity of sinkers, hooks, lines and plugs, and finally a girl's shoe.

When he examined the lantern to see if it would still work (and it will), he found a three-inch catfish in the globe.

Slight Gas Shows In Dawson Wildcat, McDowell To Test

Two drillstem tests in a South-eastern Dawson wildcat produced water and very slight gas shows during the weekend.

Efforts to hydraulize the Mississippi in a Northeastern Borden venture failed and operator was to try again.

Phillips No. 2 McDowell in Northeastern Glasscock prepared to make a pumping test, and Gulf No. 1 Vestal, in Northeastern Dawson, was running tubing preparatory to a test.

Dawson

Spartan Drilling No. 1 E. W. Griston, C NE SW 25-34-50, T&P, eight miles northeast of Sparenberg, was bottomed at 7,000 in sand and shale. It cored from 6,820-70 and recovered 48 feet of sand bleeding water. A drillstem test was taken from 6,871-6,876 with the tool open three hours. Recovery was 108 feet of slightly salt water-cut mud, 350 feet of very slightly gas-cut mud and 2,640 feet of sulphur water. Another drillstem test was taken from 6,877-6,816 with the tool open three hours. Recovery was 180 feet of slightly gas cut mud and 2,340 feet of sulphur water.

Seaboard No. 1 Woodul, C SE SW 34-34-50, T&P, 10 miles southwest of Lamesa, hooked up tank batteries before taking a test. Battered back depth is 6,910 in the West Sprary.

Seaboard No. 1 Weaver, C NE

NE 65-35-50, T&P, drilled to 8,192. It is three miles northwest of Lamesa.

Seaboard No. 1 Dean, C SW SW 25-34-50, T&P, had corrected total depth of 8,425 where it ran Schlumberger surveys and then the 7 1/2-in. casing to 3,423 with 500 sacks. It waited on cement to set.

Gulf No. 1 Reeves, C SW SE 6-1-50, Poltevan, drilled to 10,062 in lime and chert.

Gulf No. 1 Vestal, C NE NW 11-34-70, T&P, bottomed at 10,649 in lime and green chert, perforated the 5 1/2-in. casing from 10,596-606 and is now running tubing.

Glasscock

Gulf No. 2 McDowell, C NE NE 31-4-25, T&P, Northern Glasscock exploration, was preparing to test on pump to plugged back depth of 8,465.

Gulf No. 1 Berry, C NW NW 35-34-25, T&P, 17 miles northwest of Garden City, a failure in the El-Burgener at 11,476, was to plug back for tests up the hole, but the zone was not indicated.

Sinclair No. 1 Clark, C SW SE 41-35-48, T&P, was at 3,242 in anhydrite and lime.

Sinclair No. 1 Long, C SE SE 15-33-48, T&P, five miles southeast of Garden City, was preparing to make a protective squeeze job behind casing after giving up Clear Fork tests from 5,955-5,075.

Borden

Superior No. 6-397 Jones, C SE NW 29-37-97, H&TC, in extreme Northeastern Borden and four miles northwest of Fluvanna, failed in an attempt to hydraulize the Mississippi and will condition hole to try again. Top of the Mississippi is given. Total depth 16,793. Some free oil has been recovered in the zone.

Violent Storm Belts Waco, Central Texas

A violent thunderstorm that swept Central Texas caused an estimated $100,000 damage at Waco early Monday, shattering plate glass windows, toppling outdoor signs, and smashing garages, roofs and small buildings.

No injuries were reported.

Winds that measured up to 45 miles an hour struck around 3 a. m. and damaged downtown Waco and the Bellmead area.

Police Sgt. Oliver Chambers estimated damages at $100,000 after a personal survey of the hardest hit areas.

Hard hail and a deluge of rain that measured from .30 to .53 of an inch in various spots in Waco poured out of the thunderhead.

Large outdoor billboards were toppled and scattered. Plate glass windows in numerous business houses were smashed.

One garage was blown off its foundation and deposited in a neighbor's driveway. Several chicken houses were destroyed.

Mannikins were blown from display windows of several ready-to-wear and department stores and swirled through the street.

The roof of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas roundhouse at Bellmead was blown off and the falling timbers disrupted power and telephone service.

A plate glass window at the First National Bank in the downtown area was shattered and the bank's papers were scattered through the streets.

Southwest Bell Telephone Company estimated 20 to 30 local telephone lines blown down. And power was disrupted to most of Waco from 3 to 4:30 a. m.

A billboard was blown from the side of the Raleigh Hotel and fell on top of a parked car across the street.

A mail box was ripped from its moorings and blown 100 feet down Austin Street.

Plate glass windows were smashed in these business houses: Holt's Sporting Goods, McCrory's Store; Lone Star Gas; Lynn Furniture; Liberty Hat Shop; Pepsi-Cola Bottling Plant, Williams Drug Store, Firestone Store and the National Guard Armory.

A cold front which banged into Texas behind other thunderstorms formed a squall line early Monday morning and lashed North and East Texas with high winds, rain and hail.

Gusty winds from thunderheads were measured at a hurricane force of 80 miles an hour at Fort Worth. Garages were toppled when upended utility poles fell on them. Tree limbs were broken and other damage was reported in the Ridgeless section of Fort Worth.

High winds also whiplashed Dallas, Waco, Tyler and Lufkin. Heavy hail and rains pelted Tyler and Lufkin. Some of the hailstones measured a quarter of an inch thick.

Turbulent winds at Dallas were gauged at 52 miles an hour. At Waco, radio station WACO said lights at the municipal airport were knocked out, trees toppled and a few windows shattered.

The Highway Department said reports of a tornado eight miles southwest of Fort Worth were only based on high winds.

Gusty winds reached 65 miles an hour at Waco and 58 mph at Tyler during thunderstorms.

Behind the front, snow grains began falling at Dalhart, in the upper Panhandle, and freezing drizzle was reported at Amarillo. Low threatening clouds covered the remainder of the Panhandle and Northwest Texas.

Thermometers fell to 21 degrees at Dalhart, while a 24-degree reading was reported at Amarillo, Brownsville, in the south tip of the state, had a 69 and sunny skies.

Temperatures were expected to drop in the northern portion Monday night. Forecasters said it would freeze north of a line from Shreveport, La., to Waco, San Angelo and south of El Paso.

The cold front was expected to punch southward to Corpus Christi and Laredo by 7 a. m. Tuesday.

Precipitation totals for the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a. m. included 2.25 inches at Texarkana; .17 of an inch at Abilene; Amarillo had .06; Austin .37; Dallas .35; El Paso .10; San Antonio .62; Corpus Christi .01; Fort Worth .34; Palestine .83; Galveston .01; San Angelo .10; College Station .31; Alice .02; Palacios .05; Mineral Wells .29; Junction .13; Tyler .66; Dalhart, .06; 1.75 at Bonham, and .62 at Corsicana.

Temperatures Sunday ranged from a mild 82 at Laredo down to 37 at Dalhart.

Students Due To Enter New HS Tuesday

Senior high school pupils move to the new building Tuesday.

Arrangements were complete Monday for the transfer. The scheduled call for gathering in the auditorium at 8:30 a. m. to 9 a. m. when an assembly will be held.

Pupils will learn at that time of their assignment to home rooms. Then they will go to their home rooms where guidance teachers will assign lockers, etc. and attend to other details.

Subsequently, another assembly will be called and guidance teachers will make assignments of seats in the auditorium. When this is done, the remainder of the morning will be divided into three class periods.

Regular schedule will be followed in the afternoon and on Wednesday morning everything is scheduled to move as usual.

Drives had been given a shot coat during the weekend and virtually everything was in readiness to the new plant. Monday morning Roy Worley, principal, took the seniors and Junior classes through on a familiarization tour, and during the afternoon he was to escort the Sophomore class through the building. This preliminary examination was calculated to reduce confusion and a tendency to look around on Tuesday when the transfer is made.

CAN HIT BELOW THE BELT

Radio Free Europe Gives Red Regimes Awful Big Headache

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — One of the Kremlin's biggest headaches throbs daily in this Bavarian city just a jet hop from the Iron Curtain where Radio Free Europe fires a ceaseless barrage of information against what RFE calls "the big lie of communism."

If a speed-up plan in a Communist factory outside Prague fails flat, Radio Free Europe has the report almost immediately and spits the beans during its 18-hour daily broadcasts.

When a Communist party official in Hungary gets the boot, Radio Free Europe finds out and tells, over a 135,000 watt beam that probes the cranial of Soviet satellites.

Radio Free Europe is run by the American-sponsored Crusade for Freedom. It gets its funds from private donations. There are no government strings attached and that's one of its biggest advantages.

"Since we are a private enterprise," said one official, "we can hit below the belt and sometimes we do. It gives us opportunity to throw a verbal punch without wondering about policy. Our only policy is to disclose the lies of communism."

Radio Free Europe employs more than 700 people in a new and compact two-story building here. It keeps 11 studios busy most of the time. Five more studios are under construction to help handle a new series of programs to be beamed to Poland soon.

That's a long way from the beginnings of Radio Free Europe July 4, 1950, when there were 20 employees at work here in a dingy apartment. They converted a kitchen into a master control room and

3,500 Stay Off Jobs As Pacific Bus Strike Hits

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3 (AP)—Full impact of the Pacific Greyhound Bus strike hit commuters today as 3,500 drivers and other employees stayed away from their stations in seven Western states.

The bus line and the striking AFL motor coach employees are deadlocked over the union's demand for a five-day, 40-hour work week. If granted, it would establish a precedent for the nation's interstate transportation industry.

Other union demands include pay hikes of 15 to 20 per cent.

The company offered a blanket 4.6 per cent pay boost and said that was the maximum allowable under Wage Stabilization regulations. It also offered a cost of living clause. It rejected the five-day, 40-hour week, asserting that would cost the company $11,850,000 a year.

The walkout began at 12:01 a. m. Sunday.

Big population centers like the San Francisco Bay-region were particularly hard hit. In this area, which has 14,000 Greyhound commuters, many had to drive to their jobs or arrange rides from towns which had no other public transportation. Many communities had train, trolley or other bus services.

Service in California, Arizona, Western Oregon and parts of Nevada, Utah, New Mexico and Texas came to a complete stop. The system carries an average of 100,000 daily.

Morris Doesn't Think Much Of Two Appointees

NEW YORK, March 3 (AP)—Newbold Morris, President Truman's special envoy to Poland, doesn't think much of two of Mr. Truman's appointees.

The two: William O'Dwyer, former mayor of New York and now ambassador to Mexico, and Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, the President's military aide.

Morris said yesterday on NBC's "Meet the Press" that he wouldn't have either O'Dwyer or Vaughan around if he had his way.

O'Dwyer, who twice defeated Morris for mayor, figured in the Senate crime investigation hearings last year. Vaughan was a key figure in a Senate probe into influence peddling.

Here is how a portion of the questioning went:

Interviewer Lawrence Spivak: "Who has been responsible for keeping O'Dwyer, for example, against whom you ran, against whom corruption of some kind was revealed?"

Morris: "I'm trying to keep myself in an objective state of mind and when you ask me about O'Dwyer, it is like waving a red flag to a bull."

Spivak: "Would you have kept O'Dwyer an ambassador?"

Morris: "He wouldn't have been there."

Spivak: "You wouldn't have appointed him at all?"

Morris: "No."

Spivak: "Who was responsible for appointing him?"

Morris: "Obviously the President appointed him."

The Senate Crime Investigation Committee accused O'Dwyer of contributing to the growth of organized crime in New York City.

O'Dwyer denied the charge, saying that a few minor and isolated incidents had "by inference" been blown into exaggerated proportions and given "outrageous insinuations."

Vaughan's name came up during the "5 per cent" investigation which produced testimony that "influenza peddlers" gave away deep freezes in return for favors.

Morris was asked yesterday if he would have kept Vaughan on as a "presidential aide" in the light of the deep freezes.

Morris: "I don't think I'd have had General Vaughan there to start with."

Local Hospital Is On Approved List By U.S. Surgeons

The 34th annual announcement of hospitals fully or provisionally approved by the American College of Surgeons continues the Malone & Hogan Clinic-Hospital on the list.

The hospital here is on the fully approved list and shows 52 beds and 14 bassinets.

Every year all the hospitals applying for approval are re-examined. The point rating system on which the evaluation is based includes the physical plant, clearly defined organization, proper governing board, administrative personnel, organized medical staff, adequate and efficient personnel, adequate diagnostic and therapeutic facilities, complete medical records, regular group conferences, primary consideration for care of patient.

Last year the nation had 2,901 hospitals fully approved by the ACS, 61 provisionally approved. Among those in this area approved were Kendrick Memorial and St. Ann at Abilene; Lubbock Memorial, St. Mary of Plains and West Texas at Lubbock; Midland Memorial at Midland; Clinic-Hospital, St. John's, Shannon West Texas Memorial in San Angelo; McKnight State Sanatorium at Sanatorium.

Wrestling Cop Has Tough Time With The Lady

SAN ANTONIO, March 3 (AP)—A patriotic citizen called the police dispatcher yesterday when he saw a policeman tussling with someone in a car parked at Elmendorf Lake.

"He's wrestling with someone, and it looks like he needs help," the voice said over the telephone.

The dispatcher sent Sgt. A. H. Bonnet.

The officer was "wrestling" all right, with a woman. And the officer had traces of lipstick on his mouth. He sheepishly told Bonnet it was "just a girl friend."

Decree Sets North Korea Disease Fight

SAN FRANCISCO, March 3 (AP)—The Communist Peiping radio said today Gen. Kim Il Sung, chairman of the military council and premier of North Korea, had issued a decree placing the country in a virtual state of emergency to combat bubonic plague.

The broadcast said the decree ordered a national extraordinary anti-epidemic committee and other government agencies to "mobilize all forces" to wipe out germ-carrying insects.

The Reds persistently accuse the U. S. of causing the plague by dropping germs behind Red lines.

The U. N. Command has denied the charge as simply a "cover-up" for an epidemic of natural causes.

In another Peiping broadcast, Red Propagandist Wilfred Burchett was quoted as saying "4,000 United Nations prisoners of war will have to take their chance with the rest of Korean village dwellers in the horrors of a plague epidemic."

Burchett, correspondent for Paris ce Soir, asserted plague-bearing fleas were dropped near Panmunjon, site of the Korean armistice negotiations.

Delegates Picked For Rainmaking Meeting

GAIL (SC)—At a county-wide meeting of Borden County farmers and ranchers and business people, Oscar Telchik of O'Donnell, and W. T. Wilson Jr., of Luther, were elected delegates to the meeting next week at Lamesa of the West Texas Weather Improvement District, and authorized them to affiliate Borden with that organization which is seeking a precipitation increasing contract with the Water Resources Development Corporation of Denver.

At the meeting here $1,348.95 of this county's quota of $5,000 was subscribed and collected.

Automatic Pilot Set For Use In US Jet Planes

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., March 3 (AP)—The wraps are off a push-button automatic pilot for jet fighter aircraft that the designer says will do "just about everything a human pilot can except actually take the plane off the ground and land it."

The device, called the G-3, was developed by the General Electric Company's aeronautics and ordnance systems division working with the Navy Bureau of Aeronautics.

GE said yesterday the automatic pilot, designed especially for Navy jet interceptors, could be used in combat at supersonic speeds.

The company said the device would take over 80 per cent of the "stick and rudder" work. It provides for maneuvering of a plane by means of push-buttons and a miniature stick operated by fingertip pressure.

The automatic pilot is said to steady the plane and increase its effectiveness as a gun platform.

A safety mechanism prevents the pilot from engaging the push-button device if the plane is not functioning properly.

PEACE PIPE SMOKED OVER A TELEPHONE

COLLEGE STATION, March 3 (AP)—The white man and the Indian sat down together this past week end and smoked the pipe of peace—by long distance telephone.

The Texas Forest Service gave a telephone line back to the Indians. The line in question is on the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation near Livingston. It's about five miles long.

The service built the line almost 20 years ago. Now it's using radio. The Indians get the old telephone line so they will have communication to Livingston.

Martin Meeting Set For Tonight On Rainmaking

A county-wide meeting of Martin Countians to hear an explanation of the theory and practice of artificially increasing precipitation, will be held at the Court-house in Stanton at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

The meeting which seeks to perfect an organization for including Martin County in the 11-county West Texas Weather Improvement District recently organized at Lamesa, will be addressed by Ford Hubbard of Houston, Texas representative of Dr. Irving P. Krick's Water Resources Development Corporation with which the WTWID is seeking to negotiate a contract.

A deep freeze box has been installed in the Martin County Court-house to be used in a demonstration of the effects of silver iodide nuclei on cold air. A similar demonstration has been held here.

Martin County's quota of the $72,000 budget for setting up and operating the district for 12 months has been fixed at $8,000, and Howard's quota for the same purpose was fixed at $8,500.

Another county-wide meeting will be held here at the Municipal Auditorium tomorrow night at 7:30 and one of the Krick representatives will also address this meeting.

Howard Countians who were not able to attend the meeting previously held here are invited to attend the Martin County meeting which will be similar.

Tomorrow night's meeting in Big Spring is being jointly sponsored by the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce and the Howard County Farm Bureau and everybody is urged to attend.

Air Raid Exercise Held By 12 States

NEW YORK (AP)—More than 80,000 civilian volunteers were called into action for the first time without advance warning yesterday in a 12-state air raid exercise staged by the Eastern Air Defense Force.

The volunteers apparently took the surprise drill in stride as they reported to duty stations at observation posts and filter centers, just as they would during an actual enemy air attack.

Put Them In Alpine—Philly's No Good

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—St. Bernard dogs are famous for their rescue work in Alpine snow drifts. But Philadelphia snow drifts are a different matter.

Two of the breed were discovered hungry and exhausted in the midst of a snow storm here on Saturday. Edward Sprague, who found them, called the humane society.

DETERMINED TO GET ROLE

Soviets May Wreck Korea Truce Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia apparently is so determined to gain a role in Korean peace-making that it may wreck the truce talks in the attempt.

Some highly placed officials offered that explanation today for the present deadlock in the armistice talks at Panmunjom. They assume, as Washington has generally assumed from the first, that the Kremlin is masterminding the Communist strategy in Korea.

The Red's insistence that the Soviet Union be included in a proposed commission of "neutral" nations to police the truce is thus regarded here as a move inspired and doggedly persisted in by the Soviet government itself.

State and Defense Department authorities do not believe the North Korean and Chinese Communists want their big friend on the commission merely because it might be a nice gesture.

The first sign of a possible back-down from this position came during today's negotiations. When the Reds were told objections to Russia could not be removed, Chinese Col. Chang Chung-san replied that the Allies had the right to reject any nominee but should give logical reasons.

United States officials said here, as United Nations negotiators have said in Korea, that they will never agree to accept Russia as a "neutral."

What the U. S. would agree to and what may prove to be the way out—if there is one—would be to drop the idea of a neutral commission entirely and go back to the proposition originally suggested by the United Nations' side that the truce be supervised by a joint commission of belligerents.

Russia and the United States would then be represented in equal position, provided Russia was willing to acknowledge a belligerent status.

Moscow's interest in "getting into the act," as diplomats see it, stems from a desire to trade on peace-making credit in Korea. The Russians contend it was a suggestion by them that started the negotiations in the first place seven months ago. Technically that is correct, although other countries including the U. S. had been suggesting negotiations for many weeks before.

Program for the Scouters School, set for Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Howard County Junior College auditorium annex, has been completed.

In addition to actual demonstrations, both will have movies or film strips projected as part of the instruction.

Scoutmasters and other Scout leaders will see a film on basic fundamentals and history of the Boy Scout movement. J. B. Apple will demonstrate an opening and a closing ceremony and the Scoutmaster's Minute. Jimmie Hale is to demonstrate the Green Bar method of patrol operations, and then will outline the "schmorzel" method of code instruction for troops.

In charge of the Cubbers session will be Jake T. Morgan and D. M. McKinney. They will use a film strip to explain the function of the Cub Den program. They also will show Den Mothers some workable things to use in their Den activities.

Man, Age 100, Likes Women Best Of All

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Frank Leibfried, 100 years old Saturday, likes Abraham Lincoln, gardening and television. But best of all he likes women.

"When I reached the age of 100 I promised myself I'd get married again," the widower told four daughters at a family celebration.

"But now I don't know, it's kind of fun playing the field."

Father Returns With Son's Body

M-Sgt. Estle McElvain and his son, Pvt. Elmer C. McElvain returned home to Louisville, Ky., from Korea—the son in a coffin. Young McElvain, 17 years old when he entered the Army in 1950, was killed in action in Korea. His father, also serving in Korea, was flown back to Oakland, Calif., where he met the body to serve as a military escort. After his son's funeral, the sergeant will be returned to duty. 37 Persons Die In Air France Crash

NICE, France, March 3 (AP)—An Air France airliner crashed in an olive grove near this Riviera fun spot today, killing 37 persons, including an American ballet dancer and two French actresses. A woman taken alive from the wreckage was reported in critical condition.

Joan Katzman, 21, who danced under the name of Harriet Toby, was the dead American. She appeared last night at Cannes in the ballet "La Muerte," Spanish for death. Her home was New York City.

Mrs. Margerite Delpy of Paris was taken alive from the wreckage. Nice airport employees said pieces of sea gull's wings and feathers had been found in the air intakes of the plane's engines and this might have caused the crash, only a few minutes after the airliner took off for Paris.

In Paris Air France officials said they could not confirm this. The plane—a French-built Languedoc with 34 passengers and a crew of four plummeted into an olive grove. One woman, an Italian, was pulled out of the wreckage alive but died.

An official casualty list gave no nationalities of the victims. All were listed from French, Italian or British home addresses.

The dead included the wife of the pilot, Theau Farrugia, 29, a veteran of 4,500 hours flying time. The plane smashed into bits.

On taking off, instead of heading out over the Mediterranean—the normal procedure—the plane turned and headed straight for the city of Nice.

It then turned back to the airport, losing altitude, and plunged into an olive grove only a few feet from a group of houses inhabited by 20 families.

All the bodies were badly burned. The two left engines of the plane were reported to have gone dead, leading to the crash.

An unconfirmed report in Paris said the airliner had run into a flight of birds just before the engines cut out.

The plane went down 150 feet from the railway station at the village of St. Augustin, the last train stop before Nice three miles away.

Antoine Pinay Will Seek A New French Cabinet

PARIS, March 3 (AP)—Antoine Pinay, 66, a conservative, said today he would see if he could form a new Cabinet to get France out of its political and financial jam.

Pinay announced his decision after a half-hour's talk with President Vincent Auriol.

Pinay is expected to try and form another middle-of-the-road government similar to that of Edgar Faure, which collapsed Friday. His chances are regarded as highly doubtful. Paul Reynaud, a former Premier, tried it and failed. Former Premier Rene Pleven refused even to try.

Some said Pinay had little interest in forming a Cabinet. Some politicians were looking ahead to a try by ex-Premier Henri Queuille. He would have a better chance of getting Socialist, if not Gaullist, cooperation.

France's financial and ministerial crisis has stalled development of western European defense and may mean that much of the West's defense planning will have to be re-shaped. The middle has even caused some officials to think seriously about dropping the costly anti-Communist fight in Indochina.

The French Socialist party dashed Reynaud's hopes when it refused to join a government with followers of Charles de Gaulle—the French Peoples Rally (RPF). Socialist leaders accused De Gaulle of "anti-Republican tendencies and implied that his followers would enter such a coalition only to seize outright power for themselves."

Reynaud had proposed that leaders of all parties except the Communists join him to map out a common program for salvation of the nation's currency and equilibrium of the country's finances.

Spokesmen for De Gaulle agreed and so did leaders of other parties although some, like the Popular Republicans (MRP), attached conditions which in effect would have excluded the Gaullists from Cabinet posts.

With runaway inflation staring the country in the face, some say must be found for Western defense. There apparently is no dispute about these burdens. Only about how to pay for them.

Snow covered and continued falling lightly in most of the northern part of the nation east of the Rocky Mountains Monday.

It rained in the Middle and South Atlantic states and Ohio Valley. There were thunderstorms in the Gulf States and Oklahoma. Bitter cold continued in the Northern Plains, Northern Rockies and Maine.

John E. Jones assumed his duties today as sports editor of the San Antonio Evening News.

Jones was appointed yesterday to succeed Harry C. Reckner, who resigned recently.

Ex-Con Added To FBI Listing Of Wanted Men

WASHINGTON, March 3 (AP)—An ex-convict described as extremely dangerous and long-sought for the killing of a woman in Michigan was added today to the FBI's list of "10 most wanted men."

He is Leslie A. Beauvolet, 49, native of Canada, and known by the nickname "Frenchy."

Monroe County, Mich., authorities have charged him with murder for the roadside slaying of a woman identified through fingerprints as Rose Trahan, 47, of Danielson, Conn., and Worcester, Mass.

Miss Trahan's body was found in a ditch in London Township, Mich., on Aug. 17, 1949, with her head caved in, apparently by hammer blows. Evidence pointed to Beauvolet as the killer.

The FBI said the Royal Canadian Mounted Police cooperated in the hunt for the former convict, once deported to Canada after a long arrest record in this country.

In 1929, he was given a long prison term for attempted robbery, escaped and was later convicted for assault and robbery at Providence, R. I.

He is of medium build, with dark brown hair and eyes and a deep dimple at the point of his chin.

Taft-Ike Clash Holds Interest In N. H.; Kefauver Is Active

By The Associated Press

An all-star cast of top politicians, including three presidential candidates, today were New Hampshire-bound to the home stretch battle for primary election ballots there.

Sen. Robert A. Taft and Harold E. Stassen, Republican candidates, and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Democratic candidate, headed for some on-the-spot campaigning in the final week before New Hampshire's March 11 primary elections.

Also booked for appearances are cooperation administrator, Sen. S. Saltonstall and Sen. Lodge of Massachusetts and Sen. Carlson of Kansas, Gov. Lodge of Connecticut, and Rep. Herter, (R-Mass.).

The state has never seen so many nationally known figures all at once.

Entered in the primary, first of its kind in the nation, are these men or delegates pledged to them: Taft, Stassen, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, on the GOP ticket; and Kefauver and President Truman on the Democratic slate.

Major interest centered in the Taft-Eisenhower clash. All signs point to a neck-and-neck race.

A note from Gen. MacArthur to a New Hampshire supporter may help swing things toward Taft. An aide to MacArthur confirmed last night that the general wrote: "I suggest you support Taft."

But there is interest, too, in the New Hampshire race between Truman and Kefauver. The Democratic party organization, called into action only last Saturday, opened a vigorous campaign to make Truman look good. A Kefauver victory could hurt him if he decided to run for re-election.

Taft winds up a three-day tour of Wisconsin today with a talk in Burlington. Then he heads for New Hampshire and a three-day campaign. Last night he met and shook hands with 200 factory workers and their wives in Milwaukee.

Stassen, in New York, said on a television program that he is not a "stalking horse" for Eisenhower, and doesn't think the general will return in time to put on a strong campaign.

But he said Taft and Eisenhower might block each other off, in which case he hoped to win the nomination in a GOP convention deadlock.

Kefauver was in Boston yesterday, keeping several speaking dates. He said one of the greatest problems facing the country is the need for a foreign policy that will insure peace. He swings into New Hampshire tomorrow to continue what he described as a "tough uphill fight" in the primary.

Sen. Russell of Georgia, newest of the Democratic candidates, said in a television interview he is in the race to the finish—but again declined to say whether he would lead a third party if Truman is nominated.

Russell, who announced his candidacy last Thursday, immediately attracted pledges of support from most of the Southern Democratic leaders who are against a renomination for Truman.

Democratic Sen. Kerr of Oklahoma, who will be a candidate if Truman does not run, yesterday said he expects "much of the South" to support Russell. But on a radio-TV show he said the Democrats are not going to split just because various groups support different candidates.

A different view was expressed by Sen. Ellender of Louisiana who said in Washington: "There is a definite possibility that the next President will be elected by the House of Representatives."

Under the Constitution, if no candidate for the presidency gets a majority of the 531 electoral college votes, then the election is thrown into the House. Each state has one vote in this case.

Ellender said a contest between Truman and Taft might find neither able to gain the necessary 266 electoral college votes, if a third candidate won most of the southern states. The Louisiana senator said he thinks Russell could carry at least nine southern states and perhaps more.

Archibald S. Alexander, under-secretary of the Army, said yesterday he is seriously thinking of running for the U.S. Senate from New Jersey. He is a Democrat. He has until March 6, filing deadline, to make up his mind.

New Jersey sources said he will run, and probably will submit his resignation this week.

March Is Month With Personality And With Full Quota Of Winds

March is the month the middle of which the soothsayer warned J. Caesar to beware of. It is the month that comes in like a lamb and goes out like a lion, or vice versa. It is the third month of the year and has 31 days, most of them windy. It is named for Mars, the god of war, and we'd trade it off for June or August without the slightest hesitation. Geoffrey Chaucer, the all-time champion had spelled of the English language, was guilty of this couplet: "When that April with his shoures note 'The droghte of Marche hath perced to the rote.' The only words we understand of this are droghte (drouth), April and March, and we don't like the implication of that 'droghte of Marche.' It sounds to us like Chaucer was predicting a dry March and the fact that he wrote it 500 years ago leaves us small comfort. The idea of March was not a day that was unhappy for J. Caesar alone. With a glance at history and a diabolical gleam in their eyes, the income tax people picked March as the lethal deadline. It really served Caesar right, for until the calendar reform bug bit him March had been the first month of the year, but he made it the third. It continued to be the first month of the legal year in much of Europe, and our mother country, England, considered March the first month of its legal year until the middle of the Eighteenth Century. Traditionally, the first three days of March were considered unlucky, and until modern times no farmer could be persuaded to plant anything earlier than March 4. So far as we know, Texas is the only state in the Union that observes a day in March as a holiday. March 2 is to Texas what July 4 is to the rest of the country—the day on which the Declaration of Independence was signed. The U. S. Declaration was signed in Philadelphia, but that of Texas was signed in Washington — Washington-on-the-Brazos, that is.

Rise Of Communist Ballots Is Alert Signal To Pandit Nehru

Results of India's first popular election—strongly favorable to Prime Minister Pandit Nehru—brought that gentleman's mind in a hurry on one particular point: communism. The Communists polled a surprisingly large vote, especially in the southern province, though still only a small minority of the whole. The party was, however, second only to Nehru's own Congress Party, and this fact served to jolt Nehru out of his apathetic, if not friendly, attitude toward communism. It brought home to him the fact that he had a real Communist problem on his hands. Heretofore he had been content with jailing a few of the more loud-mouthed Reds, and letting it go at that. Nehru on several occasions had been the apologist for the Moscow regime. He had argued that China was not really under the thumb of Red China, and taken a sort of protective attitude toward it. Now all that is changed. Nehru is a disillusioned man, if we are to judge by his latest public pronouncement. Now he says the Communist theories of Karl Marx are out of date, and "to talk about him is reactionary." Multiplied millions of others had made that discovery long ago, but it took a lot of Communist votes in India to beat the idea into Nehru's head—that plus the fact that Red China had moved into Tibet, from where it could chuck hand grenades down Nehru's chimney, so to speak. Now he says communism would be "utterly disruptive and injurious" to India. "Communists with all their fire and fury are in their outlook some ways reactionary," says Nehru. He is coming along. Give him a few more months and he will make the discovery that Communists are reactionary in all their ways, not just some. One cannot but wonder whether Nehru's conversion stems from deep conviction, or simply from fear that the Reds might upset his domestic apparatus. He may live to learn that Communists in China, Russia or anywhere else in the world are a constant threat to people who would be free.

Puerto Rico Setting A Pattern With Vote On New Constitution

SAN JUAN. — Today, in Puerto Rico, beginning just before noon, the streets will be quite empty. For, promptly at 1 o'clock, little groups of Puerto Ricans will be locked up, 160 to a schoolhouse or office building, to vote on one of the most important documents in the western hemisphere—the new Puerto Rican constitution. The voters will be locked in the buildings and schoolhouses in order to prevent their repeating at the polls. They sit quietly waiting their turn to vote while a great calm settles down over the island. This calm is so intense that you can almost hear thousands of pencils scratching crosses on thousands of ballots in this American plebiscite on self-determination of peoples. This unique balloting is taking place in the oldest part of America, yet is one of the newest experiments in self-government.

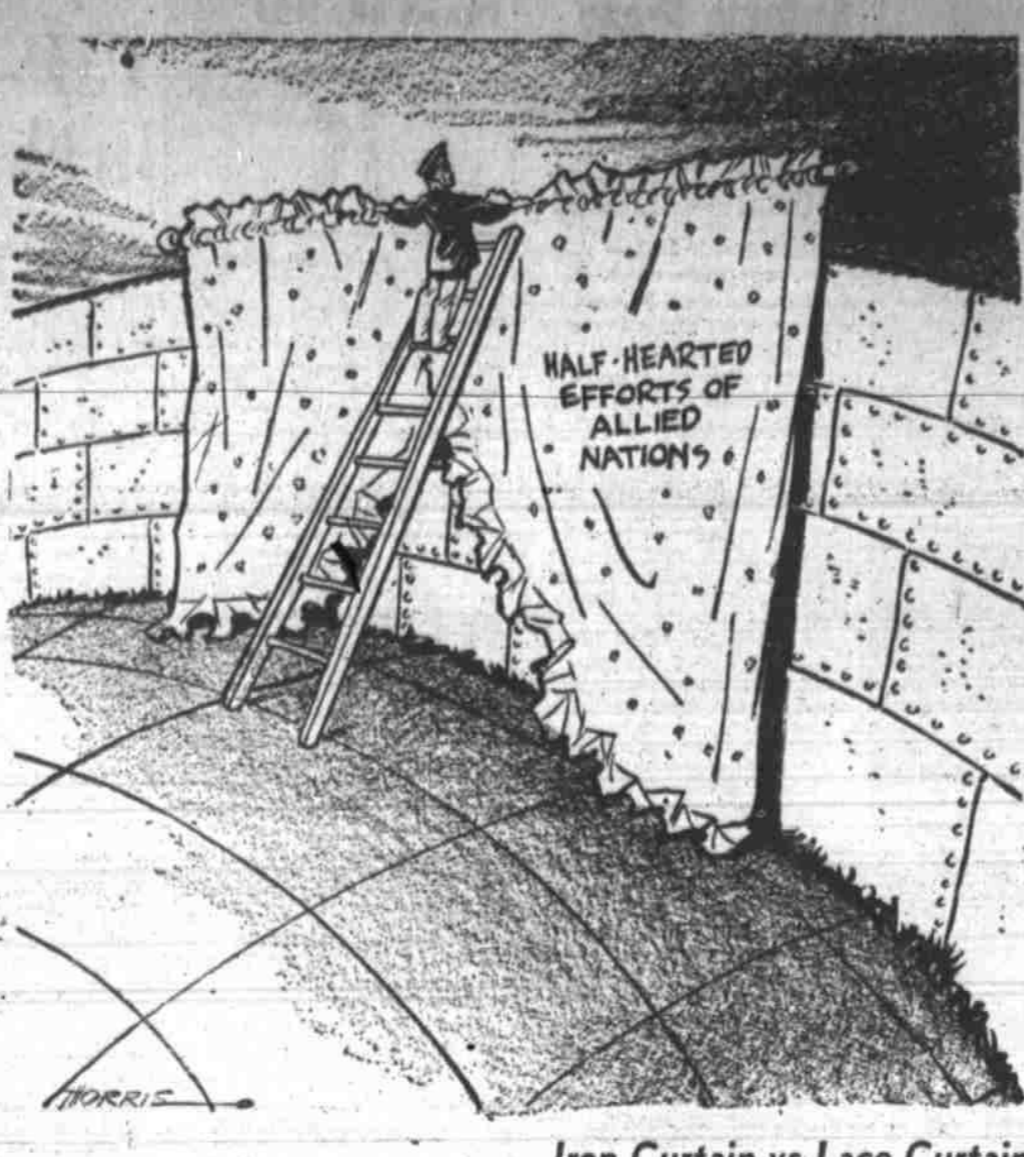

free to govern itself on local problems but subject to the tariffs of the United States and other U.S. laws which Congress specifies should apply to the island. However, Puerto Rico will fix its own taxes, thus preserving the right held dear to our founding fathers of no taxation without representation but it will receive the protection of the American armed forces, which will use Puerto Rico as a base, and in most other respects the island will continue to be a part of the United States. This compromise of a Commonwealth or free associated state was worked out by Democratic Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney of Wyoming, Republican Sen. Guy Cordon of Oregon and other congressmen in cooperation with Puerto Rican leaders for two reasons: 1—Puerto Ricans did not have sufficient wealth to become a state; they could not afford to pay regular taxes as do Hawaii and Alaska. And, 2—the island could not afford to lose the benefit of its economic ties with the United States which would be severed if it obtained complete independence. Thus a course was adopted midway between that of the Philippines which sought and obtained independence and Alaska and Hawaii which seek complete self-determination.

It was just a few miles from here that Christopher Columbus first poked the nose of his Santa Maria into the mysteries of the New World. The turret tower of the Governor's Palace at San Juan from which this new constitution will be administered was built only 40 years after Columbus' arrival here. And, as Columbus pioneered a new world, so Puerto Rico and the United States may be pioneering a new governmental system which may set a pattern for the western hemisphere.

Though continental Americans, engrossed in Korea, domestic corruption, and presidential politics, have paid little attention to the New Look in Puerto Rico, it has aroused great interest in Latin America. For various countries of the Caribbean—Cuba, Panama, Central America, Venezuela—are tied to the United States both by commerce and friendship. These ties are so close that their economy is almost completely dependent upon the U.S. and the U.S., in turn, is dependent upon their raw materials. Therefore if some loose association of commonwealth nations could be worked out for the Caribbean area whereby these nations would retain their independence yet be "free associated states" with the United States, it might have great advantages both for them and for the U.S.

In actual fact the so-called "Damn Yankees of the North" can be proud of what's happening in Puerto Rico. Here is an island which for four long centuries was under the rule of Spain, yet in exactly 50 years it has become vigorous, self-respecting, completely democratic, loyal, and friendly to the U.S.A. In contrast, the mother country, Spain, is still under a dictatorship, has suffered a recent bloody revolution that permits no freedom of the press, freedom of speech or religion. The contrast is interesting in other respects. The dictator of Spain, Francisco Franco, has recently paid a powerful lobby in Washington to push a $100,000,000 outright gift to Spain through Congress. The man who governs Puerto Rico, on the other hand, Luis Munoz Marin, first Puerto Rican governor to be elected by the people, is able to get few gifts from Congress. Yet Governor Munoz Marin, educated at Georgetown University and living much of his life in the U.S., is such a vigorous champion of civil liberties that he even gives the Puerto Rican educational paper-printing contract to the low-bidding San Juan newspaper which is his severest critic.

Some friendly Latin Americans see the day when the Panama Canal could be just as thorny a political problem between the United States and Panama as the Suez is today between Britain and Egypt. But, if an association of free states including Panama was linked with the United States in a league of friendly Pan American nations, this problem would be solved before it ever got started. That is why the Puerto Rican balloting today is being watched throughout the Western Hemisphere. It's also why the balloting may set a new milestone in American relations.

Eisenhower's Political Creed—4

Enlightened Self Interest Sums Up Ike Conception Of US Foreign Policy

By KEVIN McCANN, President, The Defense College. (These articles are based on the book, "The Man From Abino," by Kevin McCann, to be published by Doubleday & Company.) Publicly and privately: General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower has set forward his conception of a foreign policy for the United States. It may be summarized as: enlightened self-interest.

Only a week after he arrived in Paris on his SHAPE assignment a year ago he could no longer resist the urge to sum up his position because of persistent talk that he had moved into the "Administration camp" and that President Truman would suggest him as the Democratic candidate for President in 1952. To a friend in Chicago he wrote in part: "...you are quite well-aware of the extreme degree in which I differ with some of our governmental foreign and domestic policies of the past years..."

"The nation's security problem is not as simple a black-and-white matter as the 'Great Debaters' would like to make it appear. There is only one angle from which to approach any international problem; from that of 'America first'. I realize that argument cannot be presented in terms of slogans and catchwords, but because we have always attempted to classify people into conveniently labelled groups, I want to make clear that I am not one of the 'Internationalists' in the sense that I am willing to trust America's welfare to an international Congress of just any kind. In response to a lifelong associate who had written in November, 1950, the hope that 'you won't be taken into that Atlantic Pact job,' Gen. Eisenhower made it clear that in the absence of an effective United Nations as a vehicle for our foreign policy he was pinning his hopes on the success of NATO. "I rather look upon this effort," he said, "as about the last remaining chance for the survival of Western civilization. Our efforts in the United Nations have been defeated by votes of hostile groups—but in the Atlantic Pact we are not plagued by the hostile groups and are simply trying to work out a way that free countries may band together to protect themselves...I believe, in my present job, I am supporting an effort that will be of unusual significance to the welfare of our people." He had already—in his final report as Army Chief of Staff in 1948—offered this firm statement on the need for aiding Europe: "From the security standpoint...help to other nations must aim always at restoring their ability to support themselves. To make them permanently dependent upon outside help is to weaken and destroy moral fibre, without which sturdy, self-reliant ally is a godsend in any crisis; but a flabby dependent is no help in a fight!"

He wrapped the basis of foreign policy into these four sentences, taken from a message he sent last December to a friend at home: "From my viewpoint, foreign policy is, or should be, based primarily upon one consideration. That consideration is the need for the United States to obtain certain raw materials to sustain its economy, and, when possible, to preserve profitable foreign markets for our surplus. Out of this grows the necessity for making certain that those areas of the world in which essential raw materials are produced are not only accessible to us, but their populations and governments are willing to trade with us on a friendly basis. To my mind, this simple need, with all the short and long-term arrangements necessary to assure its fulfillment, are the things that should concern us in the international field."

Back in November, 1950, in another letter, he dwelt at length on the threat of Communism, "ruthless in purpose and insidious in method." He stated clearly the strategic basis of foreign policy: to prevent the Eurasian land mass from being overrun by Communist-dominated people and industry; otherwise, he said, the Belgian Congo, the Mid-East and the Suez Canal "would be gone." "Where," he asked, "would we get the materials needed for our existence? For making steel, for making atomic bombs?" In the same letter Gen. Eisenhower saw limits in time and geography to the maintenance of American troops abroad in connection with foreign policy. He said this: "We cannot be a modern Rome guarding the far frontiers with our legions if for no other reason than because these are not, politically, our frontiers. What we must do is to assist these people to regain their confidence and get on their own military feet. "The American material effort, I think, could and should be limited as to length of time; I consider it an error to try to predict and fix its limits, as of this moment, in terms of exact degree of effort. While I do not know the length of time that some occupational troops may be in Germany, I would say this: "If in ten years, all American troops stationed in Europe for national defense purposes have not been returned to the United States, then this whole project will have failed."

In the first of the Gabriel Silver lectures at Columbia University two years ago Gen. Eisenhower developed another theme in foreign relations, one which might be described as "live and let live." It came in this passage in his lecture: "There is no need to remake the world outside the Soviet system, in the likeness of the United States or any other country. But I suggest that we recognize that every culture, developed in the world, has been worked out by its possessors to meet the circumstances of their own environment. "Each race and each nation can learn from every other. There is none so close to self-sufficiency that it can do without the help and co-operation of others; none so primitive that it has not amassed a wisdom that can possibly enlighten—even the most advanced."

Each race and each nation can learn from every other. There is none so close to self-sufficiency that it can do without the help and co-operation of others; none so primitive that it has not amassed a wisdom that can possibly enlighten—even the most advanced."

"Naturally the Government was out to get me... instead of paying my taxes to them, I went the money myself...!"

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP. Texans craned their necks, shook their heads and heaved sighs of amazement on this day in 1910 as a strange-looking object soared over their heads. It was the first airplane to fly over the Lone Star domain. Its pilot was Otto Brodie, who thrilled spectators at the Dallas Fair Park by demonstrating that heavier-than-air craft had conquered space. Some two weeks before Brodie's flight, a crowd of 2,500 Houstonians had paid a dollar each to watch a barnstorming French aviator, Louis Paulhan, demonstrate the airplane. Paulhan's exhibition, however, seems to have consisted more of lecturing than of flying. Five years later came the beginning of the aviation industry in Texas as Lester Miller and William Southworth formed a partnership in Dallas and began the manufacture of pusher biplanes. The two partners were pioneers in another field as well, securing a permit to establish air mail connections between Dallas and Fort Worth and other points in 1916. Texans probably saw the first flight of a man-made machine in 1865 when Jacob Brodbeck, a Frederickburg school teacher, soared to the level of tree tops in his home-made creation. However his machine was powered by coiled springs and served no purpose.

Job Competition In Science And Engineering Fields Non-Existent

Want to be sure of a job in the unpredictable future? The government recently published a book it calls "Occupational Outlook Handbook" in which it examines the future of employment and makes recommendations for upcoming generations as to the type of work that will be plentiful. Prepared by the Bureau of Labor Statistics and the Veterans Administration, the volume reveals that America's mobilization efforts have changed the job outlook of nearly every kind of occupation in the country, related to defense or not. It is supported by complete reports on 433 outstanding occupations by which Americans make livings. These analyses are being used by the VA for counseling disabled vets who require vocational training. Job competition is almost a thing of the past in scientific fields and in engineering. Things look especially good in those two fields. For teachers, the future depends upon the kind of teaching. In colleges, new openings are limited mainly to replacements—not to expansion. High school teachers are being drawn into the defense program, the threatened surplus has not come to pass. A decade from now, the book reveals, we'll need all the high school teachers we can get. The shortage of teachers at the grade school level is grave now and will get worse. In the medical and allied fields, the need is pressing and growing. The future looks bad for lawyers. The field is overcrowded, despite the defense program and the involved legislation. The outlook is bright, though, for social workers, librarians, accountants and psychologists. Certain building trades are doing fine, among them plumbing, pipe fitting and construction machine operation. But such trades as stone masonry, cement finishing, plastering and paperhanging could suffer, if home building is retarded. The repairman's future shines brightest. So says the government book. Lots of machines will be built and men are desperately needed to keep them running. The stream-lined handyman—when he specializes in TV, the washing machine or the automobile—will become the indispensable American. Jobs such as insurance salesmen and brokers are and will remain easy to find. Farming will continue to offer excellent opportunities. Thousands are needed yearly to replace the over-age and the physically disabled—the farm accident tolls are high. The handbook—priced at $3—may be obtained from the Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. TOMMY HART.

Editors Roundtable—James Galloway

Most Editors Approve Truman's Request For More Morris Power

Most editors approve President Truman's request of Congress to grant subpoena power to Newbold Morris in his investigation of corruption in government. But a large plurality of editors definitely opposes the President's request of Congress to also give Morris power to grant witnesses immunity from prosecution. A small minority argues that Morris will need such power, and can be safely entrusted with it. A rather large minority of editors questions whether any individual should be given such power, and stands opposed unless Congress can devise safeguards against any possible misuse thereof. NEW BEDFORD (Mass.) STANDARD-TIMES (Ind.): "The power of subpoena is possessed by the courts and by Congress and its committees. Whether it should be given to Mr. Morris is at least a debatable question. The more serious aspect of the President's plan is that it would empower Morris to grant immunity to witnesses who might claim that to answer certain questions would incriminate them... a power not exercised by Congress itself or by its committees. Giving a particular official authority to promise witnesses immunity... is fraught with danger." YOUNGSTOWN (Ohio) VINDICATOR (Ind.-Dem.): "It is true that Congress usually grants subpoena power only to such official bodies as... the various government commissions, not to an individual. But this is a special case which demands special treatment... Immunity would have practical usefulness in Morris's work. A minor figure in a government scandal might be induced to 'sing' about the higher-ups if he could be assured he himself would not suffer. District attorneys frequently make such deals... Yet the American principle contemplates a government of laws, not of men, and Congress may well hesitate to set a precedent." ST. PAUL (Minn.) PIONEER PRESS (Ind.): "Probably no special investigator in history has even been handed an assignment of such vast scope as this one that has been given Morris. The powers requested may be unprecedented but so is the job. The danger that Morris will abuse them is not great. The danger that he may fall because of insufficient power is far greater. Truman is saying in effect that he wants the best house-cleaning job that can be had. If Congress is going to err, it would be better to do so on the side of being helpful than on the contrary." NEW YORK DAILY NEWS (Ind.): "Still trying to convince the public of his sincerity in appointing Morris to investigate Administration scandals, Truman has now, as we see it, overboarded his mark... Obviously power to grant immunity would make it possible for Morris, not an over-zealous person so far as his record shows, to be hornswoggled into permanently preventing prosecution of big rascals the Truman hoolie men and tax defrauders wanted covered up for their own protection, while only a few small fry got hooked. Truman is asking too much power, we think, for Morris or anybody else to be entrusted with." ST. LOUIS (Mo.) POST-DISPATCH (Ind.-Dem.): "Nobody has shown that Morris, a Republican himself and a man of integrity, would misuse the power... Obviously this granting of immunity is not an ideal way to get evidence. But it is a practical way. Prosecutors have used it time and again to get testimony from small fry so major offenders could be sent to jail. And the greater the mystery an investigator faces, the more he may need to use this authority. Morris faces a major mystery... A witness may not talk if he knows he can be prosecuted for what he says. And in the corruption matter, there has been far too little talking so far." CLEVELAND (Ohio) PLAIN DEALER (Ind.-Dem.): "Neither the federal courts nor congressional committees now have the power to grant immunity in such cases, although some state courts have this power... We do not think it would be sound practice for one man to decide... which crooks should be prosecuted and which ones should have immunity... Moreover, with more tax scandals being unfolded, and with the probability that a new administration will be in office next year, it would be foolish for Congress to open the way for a wholesale whitewash."

Uncle Ray's Corner

Climate Is Good In South Africa

Most white persons stay away from Africa's section of the Torrid Zone, because the climate is too hot or too wet for comfort. The southern end of Africa provides a different story. In that region the climate is good and many thousands of white families have gone there to live. The Union of South Africa has an area of almost half a million square miles, and is about the size of France, Spain and Portugal combined. Looking around South Africa, we find that a great deal of the country is made up of high plains. These plains provide pasture land for 40 million sheep and 12 million cattle. In addition there are more than six million goats. Cattle, sheep and goats have been brought in from abroad, but South Africa has a good supply of native wild life. There are several kinds of antelopes, along with apineaters, sardvarks, sardvols, monkeys, baboons, lions, wildcats and other beasts. The aardvark holds first place in an alphabetical list of animals. Its name came from the Dutch language, and means "earth pig." This strange beast digs in the ground, and its food is made up largely of ants.

A close second on the animal list is the aardwolf. This name, also Dutch, means "earth wolf." The aardwolf looks something like a small hyena. It digs in the ground in search of termites, and also attacks and slays lambs and young goats. South African hunters track it down with the help of terriers. Some of the South African beasts I have listed are absent, or rare, in the greater part of the country. Lions, for example, are seldom seen outside the northern part of the Transvaal province. A fierce animal of South Africa is the Cape buffalo. This is a heavy beast with large, strong horns. Sometimes it has a length of eight feet. For TRAVEL section of your scrapbook. Willys Tops In Economy

The Aero Willys automobile, distributed here by the Rowe Motor Company of 1011 Gregg Street, combines interior spaciousness and luxury with economy of operation and superb ease of handling. Built like an airliner, the Aero Willys eliminates needless weight and boasts a structure that is rigid and strong, exceptionally quiet and long lasting.

The steel body and reinforcing steel members of the Aero Willys are welded into one strong, solidly rigid unit. In every way, it is the car of the future.

The Aero Willys is the first car to combine such roominess and comfort for six full-grown people. It gives a quiet, "air-borne" ride and offers easy maneuverability with extreme economy and performance that gives a new thrill to motoring.

The New Willys is powered by one of the world's most efficient engines, the Hurricane '60, a 90-horsepower unit that gives a brilliant, steady performance and up to 35 miles per gallon.

All models of the brilliant new Packard automobiles can also be purchased at the Rowe Motor Company. The 1932 Packard boasts the famed Thunderbolt engine, smoother-than-ever Ultramatic Drive, Esamatic power brake, arm-ribbed body construction, guide-line safety fenders, hidden head sound proofing, horizontal-view visibility and other features exclusive in the Packard line.

Both makes of cars can be seen and tested at the Rowe Motor Company. Business telephone number is 980.

Purest And Best

That's the way Banner likes to describe its milk, for great effort is taken to make it exactly that way. Here bottles of the milk are being delivered to the case after coming through the bottling machine which not only fills the sterilized bottles with pasteurized and balanced cream, content milk and caps it, but installs a sanitary seal over the top of the bottle as well. From the time milk is received until it is delivered to your door or grocer, hands do not touch it.

T. & T. Supplies Varying Need From Hospitals To Welders

In addition to servicing hospitals over this area, on a 24-hour basis, with the gases used in surgery and for other medicinal purposes, the T&T Welding Supply Co., with places of business in Big Spring and Colorado City, is prepared to furnish welders with any conceivable materials, supplies or equipment that may be needed by them for any purpose.

This company is distributor for the time-tested and tried products of Prest-O-Lite and its associated manufacturing companies, constituting what is probably the world's largest organization engaged in the manufacture of these products.

T&T's Big Spring place of business is located at 605 E. 2nd Street, in a recently remodeled building which affords adequate display space for the many items they carry in stock.

Farmers and ranchers, as well as welders, will find very interesting, too, the monthly magazine, Linde Tips, copies of which are usually available if they will call at the T&T. This magazine, published by the Linde Air Products Company, for distribution by its dealers such as T&T, contains many useful hints for making things of metal that will make farm and ranch life far more convenient, comfortable and safer, and usually these articles can be constructed of pieces of metal that might otherwise be junked on the farm or ranch.

At the same time the personnel at either of the T&T stores are always anxious to help any farmer or rancher, as well as any welder or interested person, in solving any unusual problem they have before them. Through their constant touch with persons engaged in all fields of welding, these men have become a sort of clearing house for welding information, and many of the professional welders go to them for suggestions from time to time.

They are distributors for Purox oxy-acetylene welding and cutting equipment, Prest-O-Lite air-acetylene appliances, and carry a complete line of the various pieces and types of this equipment. Salesmen who call on the welders supply houses all over the country say the T&T stores are two of the most complete in the entire Southwest.

They are prepared to furnish welding equipment for a large machine shop or a small shop on the farm, and can offer expert advice on the type of equipment that will be needed for a particular shop purpose.

They have a line of leath clothing used by welders, goggles, gauges, gloves, helmets and such accessories.

Most of the hospitals in the area depend upon T&T to supply them with the surgical and other gases that have been mentioned, and in serving them the T&T maintains a truck on 24-hour duty to make deliveries in emergencies.

The business has been built on service, and by providing its customers with the very best merchandise it has been possible to obtain at the very least expense to the purchasers.

Public Response Is Proof Of Quality

Proof of public response to a new bread with a special nutritional punch is reflected in steadily increasing demands for Mead's Fine Bread in Big Spring and throughout the marketing area of the Big Spring plant.

Since Mead's introduced its Double Heart bread several months ago, people have been expressing their approval through repeat orders and in telling their friends. Nowhere has the reaction been as pronounced as right here within the city area, said Bob Mead, manager.

There's good reason for this, too. Double Heart is more than a catchy slogan and attractive stamp for the wrapper. It is an assurance of extra enrichment that means greater nutrition.

Back of this is a story of more than a decade of planning and search. When the draft for World War II turned up an astounding percentage of men who had to be rejected because their diets, although filling, had left them actually suffering from malnutrition, Mead's determined to try to do something about it.

Not long afterwards, millers mastered the art of returning the heart of the wheat—which is loaded with vitamin D and practically runs the gamut of the vitamin family—Mead's immediately began using only flour with heart of the wheat in it. Later, the federal foods division, reasoning that bread was eaten more universally than any other food, ordered that all commercial bakers had to enrich their bread with vitamin D.

This was only part of the objective of Mead's, however. For number of years contact had been maintained with a Kansas City firm that was engaged in research to capture the heart of milk's vitamin content and thus return this concentrate so that it would represent a hefty fortification of the highly important vitamin B. When this difficult feat was crowned with success, Mead's immediately set up its Double Heart production.

The formula for the famous Mead's Good and Fresh loaf still contains the same high quality ingredients carefully compounded—plus the heart of the wheat and the heart of the milk.

Moreover, in Big Spring it is the only bread that is delivered to the retail outlets fresh twice daily.

Mead's Steps Up Output Of Cakes

Taste-wise Big Springers are beating a steady path to the Mead's Cake Shop these days.

So pronounced has been the popularity of this establishment at Sixth and Main that the management this week is installing substantially larger equipment to expedite the output while maintaining the same high quality.

Within a little more than a year, new techniques have contributed to a doubling of the retail volume of the cake shop.

Several new products have been added, among the latest being a Danish roll. Somewhat akin to the favorite cinnamon roll, this Danish pastry tid-bit represents a half twist on sweet dough mix.

Hawks, Lon Morris Tangle In Waco At 7 P. M. Today

Top Scorer

Leading point-getter of the Garden City High School Girls' Basketball team the past season was Theora Calverley (above); only a sophomore. In 18 games, she scored a total of 272 points for an average of 15 a game.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Prior to last Friday night's basketball game between HCJC and Amarillo JC, Coach Bennie Rutherford of the locals, cognizant of the fact that Bob Patterson of the Badgers had counted an amazing 51 points against Clarendon, confidently remarked:

"He won't score 15 against us." As it was, a 15-point effort by Patterson would have beaten the Big Springers. The Badger red-hot was rationed only five points.

He was shackled by Chuck Warren and Bobby Malnes. Warren limited him to three points. Malnes assumed the task in the last two periods and the only two points Bob counted was a jump shot from out front.

After the Hawks took a 15-point beating at the hands of Amarillo in Amarillo a while back, a lot of the gentry gave up on the locals. They didn't think the Hawks could keep pace with the Badgers on a neutral court.

But they reckoned without Rutherford's amazing confidence in his ability to point out the weaknesses in the armor of the enemy to his boys, and the knack of his charges to absorb what he was trying to teach them.

Last year, in the finals of the Texas Junior College Conference Tournament at Denton, HCJC played one of its least impressive games of the year but managed to win, 53-62, over an aroused Cisco JC quintet.

Earlier, they had beaten Lon Morris by six points to get to the finals.

Tonight, they again meet Lon Morris in the semi-finals of the state meet at Waco. Like HCJC, Lon Morris is fielding a far different team than it did a year ago. Notably among the missing when the Jacksonville club takes the court will be Potots Ramirez, who gave the 1951 Hawks a lot of trouble before his club was subdued by the Hawks.

Coach Rutherford is not only counting on winning the state crown but earning a trip to the National JC Meet at Hutchinson, Kansas, and that by copying first place in the Region Tournament at Amarillo next week.

George Poschner, a triple amputee, has applied for the coaching job at the University of Tampa left vacant by the recent resignation of Frank Sinkwich. He was Franks' teammate at the University of Georgia.

Poschner walks on artificial legs and has a paralyzed arm. The result of wounds suffered in action against the Germans in World War II. Parts of his body were frozen as he lay on the battlefield after he had been felled by machine gun bullets.

NARY, BURKE AND BOLT-TIED FOR LINKS LEAD

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—A half-inch separated Bill Nary from the $10,000 Baton Rouge Open Golf Tournament title yesterday.

A good puff of wind in the right direction and it would have been his.

But a 40-foot putt attempt from a parking lot near the 18th hole clung tenaciously to the lip of the cup and sent the tourney into a three-way tie.

Nary, a 36-year-old Albuquerque, N.M., pro; Jack Burke Jr. of Houston, and Tommy Bolt, who plays out of Durham, N.C., will meet in an 18-hole tie playoff today. Each had 281 for 72 holes.

The handsome, care-free Nary, lost among the pack in early rounds, shot a blazing 6-under-par 68 in yesterday's fourth round to move up from fifth position. Bolt was 1 over par and Burke 1 under. In approaching the 18th, Nary

State Cage Title Is Up For Grabs

The Howard County Junior College Jayhawks are in Waco, awaiting their 7 p.m. challenge by Lon Morris of Jacksonville in the Texas Junior College Conference basketball playoffs.

The two teams have it out in the Baylor University Gymnasium.

The Hawks are the defending champions, having copped the laurel with a narrow squeak over Cisco JC in the finals at Denton last year after disposing of Lon Morris earlier.

Winner of tonight's contest will tangle with the survivor of the Allen Academy-South Texas JC (Houston) game for the crown at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The losers of tonight's imbroglios square off at 7 p.m. Tuesday for third place.

Coach Bennie Rutherford and his Jayhawks left here confident that they could lick any team in the tournament.

The Big Springers showed an ability to come back in winning Western Zone laurels in a playoff at Plainview last week, when they beat Amarillo JC by five points.

An able Howard Jones will enhance HCJC's chances, immeasurably. However, it is doubtful that Howie will see much action in the meet. He missed the Amarillo game because of an arm injury.

Jones was one of the brightest performers in the state tournament last year.

Probable starters for HC tonight are Casey Jones, Bobby Malnes, Harold Rosson, Bobby Williams and Charles Warren. Dick Gilmore and Bill Thompson will probably see action for the locals.

Dozier Claims Bowling Prize

A home-town bowler, E. B. Dozier Jr., won the lion's share of prizes in the ninth annual Cosden Sweepstakes, which drew to a close here Sunday night.

Dozier captured first place in the Sweepstakes proper with a score of 786 and then teamed with Tony Reinhardt of Big Spring to win first in the Ragtime Doubles held in conjunction with the show.

The two had a combined score of 1218.

Dozier won $150 first prize in the Sweepstakes and a big portion of the $425 handed out to the ten top teams in Ragtime Doubles.

Bill Busby of San Angelo finished next to Dozier in the Sweepstakes with a score of 783.

The others followed in this order: E. A. Christenson, Lubbock, 776; Jim Newton, McCamey, 773; Hardy Oakes, Amarillo, 769; Ernie Crites, Midland, 750; Ben Brown, Lubbock, 734; Vic Langley, Amarillo, and Tubby Reed, Lubbock, tied for eighth, 732 each; and T. Brown, San Angelo, 731.

A total of 103 entries registered for the Sweepstakes, which extended over two week ends. Prize money totaled $906.40. Hardy Oakes, who was the leader in the Sweepstakes last week end, teamed with Ed Kirsten of Amarillo to tie for second place in Ragtime Doubles with a score of 1189.

C City Fems Play Sonora In Region

COLORADO CITY, — Colorado City girls, 5AA champs, will meet Sonora in Lubbock in Region II playoffs, Friday night at the Tech Gym. The winner will play Cross Plains Saturday morning.

Good Luck Gesture Pays Off

John O'Brien unconsciously put his thumb and forefinger together in traditional expression of good luck and the gesture paid off as he sank a basket to become nation's first collegiate player to score 1,000 points for Seattle University and defeat Portland Univ. 79-75 in game played in Seattle, Wash. O'Brien scores total of 36 points in game. Portland players are H. M. McGilvrey (25) and Don Mayfield (31). (AP Wirephoto).

IN STATE FINALS

Borger, Dimmitt Top Favorites

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

Associated Press Sports Editor

Borger, Alamo Heights (San Antonio), Bowie, Dimmitt and Laneville were projected as favorites Monday as 24 teams headed for Austin and the Texas Schoolboy Basketball Tournament which will crown five state champions.

Only one 1951 titlist was in the field that will battle Friday and Saturday for state and division crowns.

Bowie, rated by observers as strong enough to compete for any of the championships, will be contending for the Class A pennant. This team was in Class A last year.

The team with the greatest record, however, is Dimmitt, undefeated in 33 games. Dimmitt is a strong choice for the Class A championship.

Borger takes a fine 27-1 record to the state tournament in Class AAAA. The Bulldogs lost their one test inside the district. Included in their recent record is a 59-36 defeat of Poly (Fort Worth), one of the teams that will be playing in the Class AAAA tournament. Poly has a 26-4 record. Others in Class AAAA are Waco (24-6) and Sam Houston (Houston) (23-5).

Borger, paced by Mack Carter who has lopped in about 500 points, had little trouble moving back into the state tournament. Poly eliminated Sunset of Dallas, a team that had won 28 straight before clashing with the Parrots. Waco, headed by Fred Gottlieb, who has lopped in over 500 points, beat Austin two out of three to gain the state tournament. Sam Houston took two out of three from Port Arthur.

In Class AAA, Brownwood, Gladewater, Galena Park and Alamo Heights gained the big tournament. Alamo Heights, with a 33-3 record, is a mild choice to win the title.

Bowie has a 25-2 record this season—the best in Class AA. Levelland (30-4), Madisonville (28-5) and French (Beaumont) (23-4) are the other three in this division. Head man of the Bowie attack is Temple Tucker, 6-foot-8. Bowie beat Van, 63-49, in winning the regional title. Van took down Gladewater of Class AAA, 50-30, during the season.

Dimmitt's opposition in the state tournament will be Plano, Lovelady and Sweeney.

In Class B, Laneville rates the favorite's nod mostly because it licked Cayuga, the 1951 state champion, by a whopping 76-56. Laneville, starting C. L. Nix, 6-foot-4 hotshot who scored 116 points in the four games of the regional tournament, could run into plenty of trouble from Samnorwood, which boasts a 34-1 record for the season. Then there's Hawley with 37-3.

Here is the set-up for the state tournament.

Class AAAA—Borger, Poly (Fort Worth), Waco, Sam Houston (Houston).

Class AAA—Brownwood, Gladewater, Galena Park, Alamo Heights (San Antonio).

Class AA—Levelland, Bowie, Madisonville, French (Beaumont).

Class A—Dimmitt, Plano, Lovelady, Sweeney.

Class B—Samnorwood, Hawley, Slidell, Laneville, Big Sandy, Hempstead, Woodshoro, Balmorhea.

After Classes AAAA and AAA have decided their champions, the two winners meet for a division crown. It will be the same for Class AA and A. Class B determines a state champion only.

DIAMOND NOTES

Stasey Seeking Spring Contest With Service 9

Efforts are being made by Manager Pat Stasey to book the Brooke Medical Center team for a spring exhibition in Big Spring.

The Medics, boasting a number of ex-major league baseball players on their roster, are slated to play in both San Angelo and Lamesa.

The Comets, as they are known, were named the top service club in the nation last year. Among their players are Bob Turley, most valuable player in the Texas League last year; Glenn Mickens, formerly with Fort Worth; Jim Upchurch, ex-San Antonio Mission; Jules Hudson, property of the Boston Red Sox; Ken Staples, Fort Worth; Owen Friend, who performed for the St. Louis Browns; Fran Haus, of the Houston Buffs; Russ Mays, ex-Roswell infielder; Gene Hixson, who performed for Ballinger at one time and who is now in the Washington chain; Bob Halkard, from the Coastal Plain League; Dick Kokes, another ex-Bronx; Roco Ippolito, leading home run hitter in the Texas League in 1950; and others.

Among other teams, the Comets will play the Chicago Cubs, St. Louis Browns and several Southwest conference teams this spring.

There still has been little interest generated in the 'bat boy' contest being staged by the local ball club.

To be eligible, a lad must be between the ages of 12 and 15 years. He must submit an essay of no more than 250 words on Lou Gehrig, either to the club office in the Elmo Wason Building or the Sports Desk of the Daily Herald.

If he wins, he gets in to all games free of charge. He gets first call on discarded bats and balls. He gets a uniform furnished by the club. And he will get to make several road trips with the team after school is out.

Deadline for entry is March 15.

Two full brother horses, Eaton-town and Repeater, won races the same day recently at Hialeah race track. Their parents were Eaton and Come Again.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Who's going to replace Joe DiMaggio in center field for the New York Yankees?

Things could change drastically between now and the opening of the season, but Manager Casey Stengel said today Jackie Jensen currently has the inside track on the job.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates opened official spring training today with three players unsigned.

They are Pitchers Murry Dickson, 20-game winner last year, and Jim Walsh, and home-run slugger Ralph Kiner.

General Manager Branch Rickey branded both hurlers holdouts. He has given Kiner permission to discuss his contract with the club's president after reporting.

Spivey Involved In Cage Fixes, Board Implies

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Hopes of big Bill Spivey to be reinstated as a University of Kentucky basketball player were dashed last night when the Athletic Board of the university banned him permanently from its eligibility list.

With Spivey's hopes went those of the Wildcat cage team that the seven-foot Georgian, an all-American center, would be able to play in the National Collegiate Athletic Association Tournament.

The Athletic Board said, in the course of a lengthy statement: "We feel compelled to say that it is our unanimous opinion, at this time, that Spivey was implicated in a conspiracy to fix Kentucky basketball games during the 1950-51 season."

The board said there was evidence to indicate this occurred during the Sugar Bowl Tournament at New Orleans in December, 1950.

Spivey has denied repeatedly that he was guilty of any wrongdoing.

He was present at the board session but unavailable for comment afterwards.

The board's statement revealed for the first time that Spivey's "voluntary" withdrawal from Kentucky's eligibility list in December followed action by the board suspending him. Last night's statement said Spivey was allowed to announce his withdrawal to save him embarrassment.

The lanky basketball star returned last week from New York, where he went before the grand jury for questioning on basketball fixes.

The Athletic Board, commenting on Spivey's insistence upon his innocence, said Dean of Students A. D. Kirwan, who went to New York with Spivey, was given access to the private minutes of the grand jury and the record of the New York district attorney's office.

From Kirwan's report, the statement said, "it is the unanimous opinion of this board that there is very substantial evidence tending to show that William Spivey was involved in a conspiracy to fix the Sugar Bowl Basketball Tournament in December, 1950."

"Spivey's stout denial of this brings this evidence in issue. The board would have preferred to reserve judgment on this issue until it can properly be evaluated in the courts. But the basketball season is running out and Spivey is insisting that we make a decision now. Certainly his name is not clear and his suspension would have to continue for this season, if for no other."

Dean Kirwan said he could not say at this time whether Spivey would be allowed to stay in school.

FORSAN PLAYS LEGION

Y City Loop Lead At Stake Tonight

American Legion, a perennial contender, and the Forsan Oilers tangle in the HCJC Gymnasium tonight with the championship of the YMCA City Basketball League at stake.

Legion will carry an 8-1 won-lost record into play. Only defeat the Legionnaires suffered was at the hands of T & P early in the season.

Forsan has played one less game, and suffered but one reversal. Knott's Bullies, a leader most of the way, trounced the Oilers.

Knott still has an outside chance at the top spot. If Forsan defeats Legion and then should get beat by Humble Oil Wednesday night, a three-way tie would result.

Legion, which won the Knott Tournament only last week end, is favored to cop tonight's tussle, however. And Forsan will rule against Humble.

Tonight's other game, down for 8 p.m., pits Gulf Research against Dibrell's.

On Wednesday night, Arkery squares away with Dibrell's. Forsan opposes Humble Oil and Garden City has it out with Dibrell's in that order.

Dibrell's is playing a double bill that night because it is playing 'catch-up' with the schedule.

Brannon Seeking Practice Games For Champion Frogs

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

Associated Press Sports Editor

Anybody like to take on the champ of the Southwest Conference basketball just for the practice?

Coach Byron (Buster) Brannon of the high-riding Texas Christian Hooped Frogs is seeking some games to keep in tune for the National Collegiate Athletic Association regional tournament at Kansas City, March 21-22.

The Christians wound up the regular season last week by licking Arkansas, 68-56, and Southern Methodist, 64-60, and it gave them a record of 21-3—the best a Frog team ever attained. In conference play, TCU won eleven and lost one.

Texas finished second with 24 and a season mark of 16-8. The Longhorns dropped their last game, falling to Arkansas, 45-44.

Southern Methodist, Texas A&M and Baylor tied for third and Rice and Arkansas tied for last place.

Baylor whipped Southern Methodist, 62-45, to knock the Methodists out of undisputed third place. Texas A&M downed Rice, 56-54, to push the Owls into a tie with Arkansas for the cellar.

George McLeod, Texas Christian's center, led the conference in scoring with 419 points in season play and 213 in conference action. Second in season counting was Walt Davis of A&M with 363 and Davis also was runner-up in conference scoring with 186.

McLeod was the all-conference center, Davis and Ralph Johnson of Baylor were picked as the forwards and Jim Dowles of Texas and Johnny Ethridge of Texas Christian as the guards.

Closing games were all close. Tyson Lewis flipped a 55-foot field goal as the last buzzer sounded to give Arkansas its halfbreath win over Texas. Don Binford flipped in a field goal with five minutes to go and the Texas Aggies put on a classic stall to edge Rice. TCU led SMU by only a point at the half and by two points at the end of the third period. SMU took a brief lead midway of the final period, but TCU pulled away in the last five minutes.

Steerette Go Is Cancelled

Victorious in 45 straight games, the Big Spring High School Girls' Volley Ball team will rest until the local tournament this weekend.

The Steerettes were booked to play Odessa Tuesday but that game has been cancelled.

The game will be the last one for Arak Phillips' team before the Big Spring Tournament, which gets underway Thursday and continues through Saturday night.

Revolving Chair Works Well In Cancer Cases

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Reporter
CINCINNATI (AP) — An X-ray merry-go-round has knocked out cancers in dozens of apparently hopeless cancer patients, the second National Cancer Conference was told today.

Some have no signs of cancer two years later. But it's too soon to call any of them cured. The merry-go-round is a revolving chair. The patient sits in it while a powerful two-million-volt X-ray beam is aimed at his hidden cancer. As the patient spins slowly, the beam concentrates on the cancer. The spinning means less damaging X-rays on his skin and healthy tissues, and thus a bigger dose hitting the cancer.

The merry-go-round method was developed by Dr. John G. Trump and associates of Massachusetts Institute of Technology in research supported by the American Cancer Society. Patients are chosen by Hugh F. Hare, radiologist of the Lahey Clinic in Boston.

Details of results in the first 27 months with the merry-go-round beam were disclosed at the opening of the National Cancer Conference, bringing together more than 1,000 U. S. and foreign scientists and physicians to report latest advances in the campaign against cancer.

So far, 28 patients have been treated. The great majority had advanced cancer that couldn't be cut out or treated with usual X-ray methods.

Today, 157 have no signs of cancer, and some have been clear for one to two years. But cancer isn't considered cured until at least five years have passed with no recurrence.

Forty-seven have died, some of other diseases; 19 have cancers that spread, 13 have persistent cancers and in five the cancers returned. Another 46 are under treatment still or finished it too recently to be called free of the disease.

The French report turning back Vietminh blow

SAIGON, Indochina (AP) — The French Army said last night it had turned back a two-pronged Communist drive against French delta positions in North Indochina, killing 1,000 Vietminh rebels and wounding 30 miles southeast of Hanoi. The French high command said the Vietminh drove with 10,000 troops from the Northern mountains and with 4,000 from the South, attempting to join, establish a foothold on the delta rice lands and then split French communications.

The rebels strongly resisted French counterattacks but finally collapsed yesterday, a French spokesman said. They withdrew under fire of artillery, tanks and planes dropping napalm bombs.

The French spokesman said it was "impossible" for the Vietminh to resume a large-scale attack in the delta. The French now have the initiative and intend to exploit it, he said.

A cleanup sweep — "Operation Leap Year" — already is under way, the French announced. This allowed a mass French retreat from Hoa Binh, highway center southwest of Hanoi, and a shortening of the delta defense perimeter around Hanoi.

Opera Stars To Wed

NEW YORK (AP) — Young Metropolitan Opera stars Robert Merrill and Roberta Peters plan to be married this summer, with the date depending on their opera and concert schedules.

Compound 62 Site Of Red-Led Riots

By WILLIAM JORDEN

KOJE ISLAND, Korea (AP) — Compound 62, a barbed wire enclosure housing some 5,000 Communist-led troublemakers, is a festering sore in the huge United Nations prisoner of war camp on this South Korean island.

More violence has erupted in 62 than in virtually all the other 29 compounds for Korean civilian prisoners.

Two weeks ago, the Red-led inmates of 62 attacked American soldiers who had been sent in to prevent trouble while prisoners were interviewed. Wielding clubs, tent poles, home-made blackjacks and barbed-wire whips, the occupants of 62 rushed the Americans.

The riot was quelled by rifle fire. Fifty-five Korean prisoners were killed and 159 were wounded. Twenty-three of the wounded have died since. One American soldier was killed and 39 were wounded.

Antagonism was apparent in 62 as long ago as last June. Information specialists and teachers said the prisoners often were deliberately rude, scornful and insulting. The education program had to be abandoned entirely in that compound in December.

Enmity was not confined to the authorities. Anti-Communist inmates were scorned, tried in mock courts and beaten. Several months ago about 600 inmates were moved out of 62 at their own request.

Camp officials said that three months ago an effort was made to interview the prisoners in 62. It was abandoned quickly in the face of what one senior officer called "violent hostility."

Camp officials have been unable or unwilling to explain how the Communist element in Compound 62 has been able so successfully to take over control of the inmates. Some observers suggest that by accident of design prisoners with violent Communist affections have been concentrated in 62. Officials deny any such plan.

Other observers expressed amazement at the virtual lack of inspection inside the compound in recent months.

When the inmates attacked American troops Feb. 18, they obviously were well prepared. Minutes after the soldiers entered the compound, they were showered with a rock barrage. Shortly thereafter, prisoners poured from their buildings and tents armed almost to a man with crude but effective weapons.

Camp officials admitted the compound had not been searched for weapons since December.

Authorities imply such action was neglected to avoid further trouble. The compound spokesman had warned the U.N. camp authorities he "could not guarantee the safety" of any unwanted persons who entered the compound.

Officials tacitly admit the inmates of Camp 62 virtually are running their own show.

The interviewing was resumed this week only after the men of 62 had proposed it and after their condition that a minimum of armed guards be used was accepted by camp officials.

The general policy of lenience adopted by the United Nations in its handling of prisoners is perhaps the best explanation of Compound 62.

Georgia's Sen. Richard Russell

latest entry in the 1952 Presidential Sweepstakes, has stirred the political winds in the South. His announcement to run was received favorably by many Dixie politicians, including Texas Gov. Allan Shivers. (AP Wirephoto).

MOTHERS UP IN ARMS

Mayor In Trouble With The In-Laws

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Mayor Jack Stroud has mother-in-law trouble these days because he doesn't think Americans make good husbands—and says so.

He's at loggerheads with about 50 mothers-in-law whose daughters married American servicemen. Here's how it happened:

Not so long ago four American helicopter crewmen on a carrier off Korea asked the mayor for a few good Wimbledon addresses, but found him a chilly cupid.

The mayor's answering letter to the G.I.'s told them flatly: "One hears so much of the unhappy people of G.I. brides that I may not meet with much success in my efforts to assist you."

He puffed a bit, though, and passed the plea on to a Wimbledon youth group. Letters flooded in on the Americans. Everybody seemed happy up to that point.

But later in a public address Mayor Stroud fired a shot heard all over this ancient tennis capital. He declared:

"We are not that fond of American soldiers as husbands. There are plenty of good men in England who want wives."

Then the mothers-in-law came in to action.

Mrs. Mary Galt, who is 57 and heads the local branch of the Transatlantic Brides Parents Association, demanded that the mayor attend sessions of the organization and hear what wonderful husbands Americans can be.

Her daughter Mary Isabelle has been married for six years to an American ex-sergeant, Jack Earle Campen of Newcastle, Del.

Mayor Stroud says he won't come to the meetings because his mayor job keeps him too busy. But he hasn't changed his views. He told a newsmen in an interview:

"I have no vendetta against the American Tommy. I was a major in World War I and met and liked many of them. But this isn't the sort of basis on which to start any marriage."

Meanwhile, the four helicopter men keep their pens busy. They are Leo Paolo, 23; Roy Baker, 25; Edward Williams, 17; and Ted J. Lye, 21. They've been getting letters from women in Wimbledon and many other cities. The mayor is adamant in his opinions and he's getting more so. Many women have been writing to him asking to be put in touch with the literary quartet.

Said the mayor: "Some of these women sent photographs of themselves in the most abbreviated bathing costumes."

ARDENT WOOLING

Candidates Swarm Into N. H. Finale

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — New Hampshire's 89,000 Republican voters seem likely to become the most ardently wooed citizens of the nation before this week's political courtship ends there.

Headed by two active candidates for the GOP presidential nomination, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, political speakers will swarm all over the state before the March 11 primary.

Backers of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's bid for the nomination will send in Sen. Lodge and Sen. Carlson of Kansas, Rep. Herter of Massachusetts and Cotton of New Hampshire and Paul G. Hoffman, former economic cooperation administrator.

On the Democratic side, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee will take his bid for his party's nomination on a marathon jaunt around the state.

Supporters of President Truman will counter with home and imported talent.

Involved in the outcome are only 14 Republican and eight Democratic presidential nominating delegates. But the prestige of being a winner in the attendant "popularity contest" might pay off heavily elsewhere.

Truman hasn't said whether he will be a candidate and Sen. Hoyer of North Carolina told a reporter he hopes the President will decide against it.

He said he thinks that, even though a two-term amendment to the Constitution doesn't apply to Truman, "I hope it will persuade him not to run for nomination."

"I believe the burdens and responsibilities of the presidency are so great it is better to have the fresh viewpoint of some man who has not been subjected to these great and trying tests during two prior terms of office," he said.

Truman will have served only a few months short of eight years when his present term ends.

He said he is supporting Sen. Russell of Georgia, who became a candidate for the Democratic nomination last week.

WHEN WE SAY
We Have A Nice Selection Of Local One Owner Cars
'51 BUICK Tudor sedan. Two-tone blue-grey paint, radio and heater. An excellent auto and can be bought several hundred dollars cheaper than a new one.
'51 PLYMOUTH Cranbrook 4-door sedan. Blue, radio and heater too. Looks and runs like new. Plenty nice for me or you and very little change in the '52's.
'49 BUICK Roadmaster Sedanette. Anyone would be proud of this one. Runs like a top and has power to spare. Radio, heater and Dynaflow.
'48 CHEVROLET 2-door sedan. Two-tone green and brown. Nearly new motor. Radio and heater. We think this one will please anyone, and the price will shock you, too.
'47 FORD Club Coupe. Don't have to be crazy to sell cars, but it sure helps. It runs—cheap price.
'46 BUICK Super Sedanette. There's not a better 46 model car in West Texas. We've done all of the servicing on this car and we know it like a book. Try it. You'll buy it.

NOTES ON A TOUR

Swift Currents At Entrances To The Mediterranean Sea

By HOUSTON HARTE SS INDEPENDENCE in the MEDITERRANEAN.—The Mediterranean is a considerable body of water in its own right. It is 2,230 miles from Gibraltar to the Bosphorus. The Mediterranean is tideless, which facilitates shipping schedules in and out of its many ports and contributes to the cheapness of this ancient means of transportation in this chargeless area. The Mediterranean has but three large rivers, the Rhone, the Po, and the Nile, which empty into it. They do not carry enough water to replace that lost by evaporation. This lowers the water level in the sea and if it were not for the constant inflow at Gibraltar and at the Bosphorus the Mediterranean might be little more than a chain of salt lakes. Through the 11 to 16-mile Strait of Gibraltar a large amount of Atlantic water empties into the Mediterranean. In the old days before Robert Fulton, as many as 3,000 sailing ships were held up for days at a time at Tangier and "behind the Rock," when the winds blew consistently from the Atlantic or there were long periods of calm. The current is rapid and the undertow on both sides of the straits is such that there are only limited areas where swimming is safe. At the Bosphorus the drop from the Black Sea to the Mediterranean is 87 feet. Here the current is about 11 miles an hour. Many have read about Byron swimming Hellespont, the narrow strip of water between Europe and Asia Minor, below the Sea of Marmara, but few realized it was the fast current of the rush of water down into the lower Mediterranean which made this feat noteworthy. The Mediterranean water is more salty than the Atlantic. Ancient salt farms cover wide areas of lowlands in Spain where the water from this sea can be thrown into long shallow canals and allowed to evaporate, thereby leaving a residue of salt which is scraped out, washed and stored in long piles like wheat at Haverford or Tuba when the elevators are full and the boxcars scarce. Those who think nothing can happen to our country should come to the Mediterranean. A score of empires have ruled this sea which was then the known world one nation after another conquered, went soft, tried to buy security, but were overrun by others who went through the same cycle. Thirty years after Pericles and the Golden Age Athens had fallen. Carthage lost the Third Punic War by overstretching herself. At Cadiz you see the harbor where the Spanish Armada, the mightiest fleet the world had ever seen, sailed out into a storm to meet the Earl of Essex, an admiral who knew how to take advantage of the breaks which fate bequeathed him. In a single sea battle he made it possible for Britanna to "Rule the Waves" for hundreds of years. Spain and Portugal were the world's great powers in the 14th and 15th centuries. Today only a few nations rank below them in anything besides a historic past. What will our fate be 400 years from now? The economic values of the Christian religion are on display everywhere in these Moslem lands. For instance: the high walls about the homes here are not for looks, neither are they because of architectural tradition. The wall is for protection. In North Africa—the snatch thief is at his best. Nothing is safe from the lighted cigarette in your hand to the bilfold in your pocket. There was a time in Texas when the home that possessed a dog got a reduction in its rate on insurance. The mere presence of a dog or its bark had a certain monetary value in protecting your property. Somehow this gesture to the dog has been dropped, but how much more would your insurance rate be increased if it were not for the intangible influence of Christian Churches?

BLIND YOUTH THINKS SELF 'FORTUNATE'

WOODWARD, Okla., March 3.—Vernie Smith, Woodward's blind 3-year-old, put a glow in the hearts of two ministers yesterday. The ministers called at Vernie's home to pray for his uncle, Harvey Arnbricht, who has been bedfast for two years. As the ministers left, one put his arm around the slight boy and said: "Goodbye, Vernie, we're praying for you, too." Vernie seemed puzzled. "Why me?" he asked, "can walk!"

Defense To Start Its Case In Trial On Grain Shortage

AMARILLO, March 3 (U)—Defense testimony is expected to begin today in the grain shortage trial of Herman Dawson, indicted on 24 counts of converting government grain to his own use. Dawson is president of the Plains Grain and Storage Company. The government charges his firm was short about $400,000 worth of grain when it was called for last November. A written statement made by Dawson to a special investigator of the Agriculture Department was introduced as evidence last week by the prosecution. In the statement, Dawson said he knew there was a shortage in his warehouses but had no idea it was so large.

Williams Tragedy Named Best Film

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD, March 3 (AP)—"A Streetcar Named Desire" and three of its players are winners in an Associated Press nationwide poll of movie critics.

Reviewers on member newspapers and radio stations picked the Tennessee Williams tragedy as the best film of 1951.

They voted its stars, Marlon Brando and Vivien Leigh, top honors among starring actors and actresses.

Karl Malden, who played Miss Leigh's suitor in the powerful drama, won among supporting actors. Lee Grant, the scared shoplifter hauled into a New York police station in "Detective Story," was first in the supporting-actress field.

"Streetcar" collected 69 votes, followed by "A Place in the Sun," 61, and "Detective Story," 21½. A few reviewers divided their preferences between two pictures. "An American in Paris" had 17, "Quo Vadis" 9.

"Detective Story," oddly enough found more favor among critics than it did among members of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. It was not nominated for an Oscar.

Brando's winning total was 67½ votes. Next came Arthur Kennedy

("Bright Victory") 38; Kirk Douglas ("Detective Story") 26½; Fredric March ("Death of a Salesman") 22; Montgomery Clift ("A Place in the Sun") 20.

Miss Leigh, with 99½ votes, had the biggest total in any category. Following were Jane Wyman ("The Blue Veil") 47; Shelley Winters ("A Place in the Sun") 46; Judy Holiday ("Born Yesterday") 10½, and Eleanor Parker ("Detective Story") 9.

Miss Winters picked up another 42 votes in the supporting-actress field for her same role in "Sun." Miss Grant's winning tally was 48. Kim Hunter ("Streetcar") had 43; Thelma Ritter ("The Mating Season") 27; Mildred Dunnock ("Death of a Salesman") 19.

Sixty-four performances were mentioned among supporting actors, more than in any other contest. Malden's winning 23½ votes were followed by Peter Ustinov ("Quo Vadis") 23½; Leo Genn ("Quo Vadis") 18; Kevin McCarthy ("Death of a Salesman") 13, and Oskar Werner ("Decision Before Dawn") 11.

The poll representing a cross-section of critical opinion, brought ballots from 241 reviewers on AP member newspapers and radio stations in 44 states and Alaska.

DESIGNING WOMAN

Double Duty Furniture Is Aid In Entertaining

By ELIZABETH HILLIER

"I live in a one-room -ette apartment," writes Miss V. G., "but I'd like to entertain as if I had a six-room house. For some time now I've accepted dinner invitations from my married friends which I can return with no more than a buffet supper, or what the husbands slightly call a lap lunch. I'm a good enough cook so I'd like to show off now and then with a real old-fashioned set-down dinner for six or eight. You often tell about new ways to make small space behave like big space. Have you a problem looking idea for me? Since you looked at the sketch first, Miss G., you know the answer. This new piece of furniture when closed wouldn't crowd the smallest room and it not only looks like a desk, but has desk pigeon holes and a stationery drawer behind the tambour at one side. But above it is a silver compartment and on the other side are folded leaves, called fillers, four of them to stretch out table length for six or eight. This is the most compact small piece of double duty furniture yet. If this keeps up, some designer will figure out a way to open out your one-room apartment into a six-room house. (Designed by Herbert Ten Have and introduced at the recent Grand Rapids previews.)

P-TA Radio Program Set Wednesday

The P-TA City Council will sponsor a 15-minute radio program over Station KSTP at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday in observance of Texas Public School Week.

The program will be in the nature of a panel discussion on parent-teacher work. Mrs. W. N. Norred, Council president, will be in charge, assisted by the following unit presidents: Mrs. E. G. Fausel, High School; Mrs. Bill Seals, College Heights; Mrs. R. H. Wardell, South Ward; Mrs. W. L. Vaughn, Airport; Mrs. Johnnie Burns, West Ward; Mrs. Elvis McCrary, Central Ward; Mrs. Noble Kennemur, North Ward; Mrs. C. D. Herring, Jr., East Ward; Mrs. Ted Groehl, Park Hill; and Mrs. A. C. LaCroix, Washington Place.

World Prayer Day Programs Net Funds For Mission Work

Approximately 75 adults and 65 children attended the World Day of Prayer programs held Friday and Saturday. It was reported today.

The offerings, which will go to home and foreign missions, amounted to $61.11. Of that amount the children gave $11.11. Mrs. H. H. Stephens was general chairman of the programs, and Mrs. Nera Stinson was in charge of the children's program. Prayers at the adult service were given by the Rev. Albie Carleton, Mrs. W. A. Laswell, Mrs. W. D. Lovelace, Mrs. J. D. Jenkins, Mrs. Charlotte Sullivan, Mrs. Bernard Lamun, Mrs. Royce Satterwhite and Lloyd Thompson, First Christian Church minister. Musical selections were given by Elizabeth Cope, soloist, and the Howard County Junior College choir. Dell McComb directed a skit given by the high school speech class.

Mrs. J. M. Morgan Feted On 80th Birthday Sunday

Mrs. J. M. Morgan celebrated her 80th birthday Sunday with a family dinner and open house during the afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. D. Jenkins.

The honoree wore a purple orchid, the gift of her daughter, Mrs. Kathleen Williams, of Wichita, Kan., and her son, James Morgan, with whom she lives.

The table was covered with a cloth of Irish lace over blue linen and centered with an arrangement of pink snapdragons and yellow daffodils. The crystal punch bowl was flanked by white tapers in crystal holders.

Mrs. Frank Morgan served the punch and Jann Gregg the cake, and Marybeth Jenkins presided at the guest register.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Harry Scott and Mrs. Sims, Odessa; Mrs. Nell Morgan, a sister-in-law, of San Angelo; Wiley Johnson, Brownfield; Mrs. Williams, Wichita, Kan.; a granddaughter, Mrs. C. W. Alcherson Jr., Junction, Kan., and her son, James Morgan, with whom she lives.

Another son of Mrs. Morgan who joined the celebration was Frank Morgan of Big Spring. In addition, approximately 50 friends called during the afternoon.

Mrs. E. G. Fausel, president, has announced that there will be no meeting of the High School P-TA this month because of the move into the new building. The meeting had been originally scheduled for Tuesday.

Drapery Tip

If your window is very high and you want to make it appear lower, the draperies back a little below the wash line to help break a too-long look. You can buy ready-made tie-backs or make them yourself.

Want a new dessert? Use ground peppermint stick candy to sweeten cup custards, then serve with a thin chocolate sauce.
