Youth Is A Victim Of Knife Slaying

Juan Olague, 14, member of a pioneer Big Spring Latin-American family, was the victim of a knife slaying in a bedroom of his parents' home at about 8:30 p. m. Saturday night.

Police Chief Pete Green said that a 23-year-old Negro who was arrested immediately after police were called to the scene was being held in city jail on suspicion of murder.

Parents of the victim are Mr. and Mrs. Margarito Olague. They told officers that the victim was lying in bed reading comic magazines when his assailant entered the bedroom and made the attack.

The Olague family's home is located in the 300 block of North Aylford street. The father has been employed at the T&P shops for several years.

Police said the youth was stabbed in the back 11 times. Officers still were seeking a motive for the incident late Saturday night.

Green said the Negro was arrested as he came from inside the Olague residence through a window after police had flashed a light on the house. Capt. L. P. Trammel, Officers Kirby and Green, who were patrolling in the area had previously been advised by a passerby that strange noises were heard in the Olague house. The officers went to the house at once, and Green said he flashed a light on the house and Trammel and Kirby took the Negro into custody as he attempted to exit through the window.

Green said a large knife, which apparently had been fashioned from the bayonet of a military rifle, was being retained at police headquarters. The knife was taken from the Negro when he was arrested, the police chief said.

Market Has Worst Week In Long Time

Drop Biggest Since Big Nazi Army Campaign

NEW YORK, Nov. 6. (AP)—The stock market today finished its most disastrous week in more than eight years.

Not since the German army overran the lowlands have stock prices taken such a pounding.

A slight rally today, and another more substantial one on Thursday, did little to wipe out the effects of the disappointment caused by the spectacular Democratic victory.

Wall Street had looked forward with confidence to seeing Gov. Dewey installed in the White House, stock prices had advanced consistently most of October and financial observers termed the trend a pre-election market.

The impact of the shock was first felt on the day following the election. The general price level plunged to its sharpest break in two years.

Selling was so heavy that trading in some key stocks had to be temporarily suspended by the exchange until enough buyers could be found at what was considered a fair price. Turnover on that day crossed the 3 billion-share mark. The market value of all stocks dropped by about $3 billion.

On Thursday the market tried a comeback and turned in a fairly good score for the day, but at the closing bid prices were sinking.

Selling pressure was resumed Friday with savage intensity. Near midday investors and speculators unloaded their holdings with breath-taking speed.

On Saturday buying interest perked up a bit at the start and leading issues got ahead by as much as a point or more. Demand didn't amount to much, though, and the day's best gains were lowered by the close.

Prices, on the average, broke to the lowest level since April, as measured by the Associated Press composite of 60 stocks.

Individual issues were hammered down $1 to more than $10 a share.

The market value of all stocks on the exchange declined by about $4 1/2 billion.

In four days of business more than 8 million shares of stock changed hands in the exchange.

Little investors from all parts of the country sold out their 3 or 5 or 10 shares, some for no better reason than that they had heard a Democratic administration would be bad for business.

Solons Back Aid, Labor Law Repeal

B-29 BURNS AFTER CRASH—Only two men of a crew of ten were injured when this army B-29 from Castle Field, Calif., made a crash landing just northeast of Colorado Springs, Colo., and then burst into flames. The plane was en route to Smoky Field at Salina, Kans. The landing was made on a prairie and the pilot managed to keep the craft upright as it cut a 300-yard swath through the brush. (AP Wirephoto).

Sentiment Against Control Of Prices

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Strong backing for the Marshall Plan, high support prices for farm products, and repeal of the Taft-Hartley law are indicated in an Associated Press survey of members of the new Congress.

But sentiment runs against giving the President standby price control and rationing powers.

Almost half the men and women who will make up the 81st Congress expressed their views on major questions.

Answers to all or some of the questions were given by 27 senators and 285 representatives who will serve in the new Congress. Not all of them would allow their names to be used, and many were undecided on some of the questions. Others qualified their answers.

Many said they reserve the right to change their opinions if developments between now and the time for actually voting indicate the need for a change.

The answers came from all over the country and reflected a cross-section of congressional thinking as of today on all four questions.

Boiled down, here are the results:

1. Do you favor farm support at present levels? 135 Democrats and 53 Republicans said they do, several of them advocating even higher supports than the present 90 per cent of parity. Six Democrats and 10 Republicans said they are opposed to price supports on basic farm commodities. 17 Democrats and 27 Republicans were undecided, although some of them said they favor letting support prices drop to 60 per cent of parity after 1949 as provided in an act passed by the 80th Congress.
2. Do you favor giving the President power to fix price controls and allocations? 93 Democrats and 4 Republicans said they do. 27 Democrats and 78 Republicans said they do not. 37 Democrats and 14 Republicans weren't willing to comment.
3. Do you favor repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law? 94 Democrats and 8 Republicans said they do. 22 Democrats and 53 Republicans do not. 37 Democrats and 33 Republicans advocated revision of the law but not outright repeal.
4. Do you favor continued foreign aid through ECA and direct aid to Greece and Turkey? 150 Democrats and 69 Republicans said they do. 2 Democrats, 5 Republicans and 1 American-Laborite said they do not. 18 Democrats and 14 Republicans gave no opinion.

FORECAST U. S. Shifting On Palestine May Now End

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Administration officials today forecast an end to White House-State Department rowing over Palestine policy—now that the election is over.

As a result they expect from here on a steadier course for American relations with the new Jewish state of Israel and with Arab lands—both in and out of the United Nations.

But even as the President put his own post election house in order, evidence appears that there may be more trouble ahead with the British on Holy Land issues. Britain, with vital Near East interests and with little or no internal Jewish political force, has always pursued a more pro-Arab line than the United States, particularly the White House, has been willing to follow.

Also, it seems that the apparent return of White House-State Department co-operation in this field of foreign policy—the only one that was very much involved in the presidential campaign—has not come soon enough to forestall much hard feeling between White House officials and Undersecretary of State Robert Lovett.

Some of the President's advisers have indicated that when Lovett submits his resignation along with all other top administration officials, Mr. Truman will make no effort to persuade him to remain in office.

Howard's '48 Harvest Hits Its Full Swing

Area Ginnings Are Nearing 10,000 Bales

The 1948 harvest for Howard county was getting in full stride at the end of the week.

Cotton ginnings were pointing for the 10,000-bale mark and upwards of 1,250 tons of milo had come to market.

While farmers crossed their fingers against an early frost, prospects were that it was not more than a week or 10 days away. The average date is Nov. 30 and last week brought a threat of a freeze.

At midweek ginnings totaled just under 9,000 bales and with clear, cool weather, the tempo was due to pick up. By some estimates, there are still 6,000 to 7,000 bales open in the fields and begging to be pulled. The labor demand dropped off with only about 1,000 orders for pickers being listed, but the need for help was just as urgent.

Grain dealers here estimated that around 25 cars of grain had come to market so far. Until now, most of it has been of exceptionally good quality, but during the past week many anxious farmers were cutting a little green for fear a freeze would cause stalks to lay down. Moisture content began rising on many receipts and one load packed a moisture factor of 17.21.

The government will permit grain with moisture up to 15 to go into the loan but beyond that the grain must be hurried to other points for immediate use or for drying.

Storage here is ample for whatever portion farmers might want to put under the loan. Some estimates peg the potential to market this season at 5,000 tons.

Chest Drive Ready For Its Clean-Up

With the goal only $7,000 away and easily within reach, the clean-up phase of the Community Chest heading the final push will be led by K. H. McGibbon, vice-chairman. Olvey Sheppard will be office manager, aided by Lee Milling.

Reviewing progress in little more than two weeks of solicitation, R. L. Tollett, president of the Chest board and general chairman, said that the total Friday evening stood at $29,600.48 paid and pledged. Of this amount $27,058.68 was banked and $2,541.80 in outstanding pledges.

There were some other subscriptions which had not been received, although enroute, which likely will put the total right at the $30,000 mark.

Tollett presented an analysis of the contributions to date. These came from approximately 900 individuals and ranged from 25 cents to better than $2,500 for the largest gift. Although the participation was better than the first part of the drive than it was for all the campaign last year, board officials expressed concern over the failure of many concerns to recognize that the Chest embraces support of the Boy Scout, Girl Scout, YMCA and Salvation Army.

The record of several businesses having given token contributions of $5 or similar figures indicated to the board that these donors possibly did not understand that they were being asked to give for several agencies instead of just one.

There are still scores and scores of prospects who have not been contacted, said Tollett. There are several fields which have not been worked completely. The tourist court and hotel class is so incomplete that only $28 has shown so far from that source, and only $200 from the service stations. Task of the clean up committee will be to make sure that all of these have been contacted, together with prospects which so far have been overlooked.

Mr. Cowper, McGibbon, Sheppard and Milling were due to check over the records during the weekend and to confer with Dan Eddy, who has been office manager for the effort. Dr. Cowper indicated that he would call a clean-up kick-off party early this week to get the final phase of the Chest campaign underway. He expressed confidence that the goal could and would be reached quickly.

Plan Shaped For Abolishing Of Poll Tax

AUSTIN, Nov. 6. (AP)—A special election would give Texas voters power to keep or abolish the poll tax voting requirement if legislation planned by Sen. Rogers Kelley of Edinburg gets the next Legislature's approval.

Sen. Kelley said today that he has sent copies of the resolution he proposes to introduce on the first day of the next session to all members of the Legislature and State Democratic Executive Committee.

"It does not call for the abolishment of the poll tax and the revenues which are now derived, a major portion of which goes to the state school fund," the senator said in a prepared statement.

"There are four provisions in the state constitution relating to poll tax payments. The only one affected is that it will give the voters of Texas the privilege of deciding whether they want to retain or abolish the poll tax prerequisite for voting."

Kelley said 34 states still have a poll tax, but in only seven is the poll tax a requisite for voting.

TEXARKANA MASS SLAYER? 'Phantom' Suicide Leaves Law Silent

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Nov. 6. (AP)—Authorities maintained official silence today in their investigation of the suicide of a University of Arkansas freshman who left a note implicating himself in Texarkana's "phantom" killings two years ago.

Arkansas and Texas officers were to check the fingerprints of the student, H. B. (Doodie) Tension, 18, Texarkana, Ark., with prints they had that might have been left by the mysterious slayer.

In addition, they faced the task of trying to trace Tension's movements since early in 1946, when the "phantom" shot and killed five persons and wounded another within a 6-week period.

Police here took fingerprints of Tension before Coroner Edmond Watson released the body to the family. It was sent to Texarkana and private funeral services were arranged for 4 p. m. (CST) today at the home of his mother, Mrs. Jimmie Tension.

Coroner Watson said Tension swallowed poison in his room yesterday and left a number of notes and messages. One of them, taken from a strongbox in the youth's room, "confessed" slaying two high school students and attempting to kill the farmer's wife.

These three deaths and two others had been attributed to the "phantom" who kept the Texarkana community in a state of "nerves" for weeks.

The note gave no motive for the slayings.

In Texarkana, the brothers of Tension, J. B. Tension, Jr., and Craig Tension, both of Memphis, Tenn., described their brother's "confession" as "fantastic." They expressed belief it all developed from "reading too many comic magazines," but added they were ready to co-operate fully with authorities in getting the matter solved.

J. B. Tension, Jr., told newsmen his brother was unfamiliar with firearms and Craig Tension said his dead brother couldn't drive a car until he taught him in Parsons, Kan., last year.

Woman Is Killed In Hunting Mishap Near Van Horn

VAN HORN, Nov. 6. (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Spicer, 34, of Waco was wounded fatally today when a rifle fired accidentally while she was on a deer hunt near Van Horn.

Sheriff Orvel Capehart said he was told the rifle discharged as Mrs. Spicer picked it up to carry it to an automobile.

Mrs. Spicer and her husband, Harry L. Spicer, Waco architectural engineer, had been staying on the J. H. Blair Ranch, 10 miles northwest of Van Horn.

The sheriff said the hunting party had shot a deer and had packed it, preparing to leave the spot. Mrs. Spicer died in a doctor's office in Van Horn shortly after she was brought here. There is no hospital here.

Justice of the Peace Jim Fleming returned an inquest verdict of accidental death. Mrs. Spicer's body was at the courthouse here tonight.

Truman Lead Is Two Million

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Late returns show President Truman with more votes than his other three major opponents combined in Tuesday's presidential election.

Tonight, on the basis of returns from 130,774 voting places out of a total of 135,855, this was the standing:

|          |            |
|----------|------------|
| Truman   | 23,687,727 |
| Dewey    | 21,542,591 |
| Thurmond | 1,005,945  |
| Wallace  | 1,116,579  |

The Dewey-Thurmond-Wallace vote adds up to 23,664,905, which is 2,822 less than Mr. Truman's alone.

This was the first time that the Thurmond States-Rights vote passed the 1 million mark.

The mounting returns pointed to the second largest total vote in history. With 5,081 precincts still missing, the total was 49,815,512 in the Roosevelt-Willkie race of 1940.

Water Rights Study Will Top WTCC Meeting

Discussions of West Texas water rights and project reports will highlight the annual meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce directors in Abilene on Monday.

The session will begin at 10 a. m. at the WTCC headquarters building.

Judge C. E. Coombes, Stamford, former WTCC president, who is legal counsel for the organization in a fight to perpetuate prior rights of municipalities for water appropriations, will lead the discussion on water rights.

Paul Carrington, Dallas, vice-president of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, will speak to the WTCC directors on revision of the state constitution at a noon luncheon, while Sterling Williams, state representative from Snyder, will discuss the proposed Williams-Holt bill as a feature of the afternoon program. The Williams-Holt bill, which has been a WTCC project for 20 years, is designed to assist local governments in setting up machinery for levy of the 30-cent ad valorem tax for farm-to-market roads and flood control within their counties.

The 1948 meeting will be a project of discussions instead of the old-type referendum session, said General Manager D. A. Bandeen. The WTCC organization is making reports on activities already in progress and which "must be continued for the good of all West Texas," he asserted.

Both WTCC directors from Big Spring, H. G. Hayward and Bob Whipkey, plan to attend the session.

Big Spring -Week-

Joe Pickle

Considering what happened at the polls Tuesday, some of the highly regarded firms and teams of the nation needn't feel alone following Saturday upsets. The only difference between political and grid experts is that the grid experts are used to being refuted. Dr. George Gallup leads the list of pollsters in resembling a modern Diogenes, only at last reports he was still looking for that "trend." Such is life.

The Community Chest is being reshuffled for a clean-up campaign. Only $7,000 is lacking for the goal. Compared with last year, the Chest is much further along and should quickly attain its objective—if individuals and firms missed that far give and give enough. An analysis of the contributors list so far gives a sense of pride in many donors—pure disappointment—in several others. Somehow some people can't understand that it's difficult to run six agencies on contributions they normally give to one.

A couple of hit-and-run cases were reported last week, fortunately neither of them serious. This is bad business at best, and drivers ought to be reminded that the offense under the new traffic code is viewed as being especially serious regardless of whether any injury results. If you have a fender bumping, be smart. Stop! Then make a report of the incident.

C. E. McDaniel, first frost prophet of repute, hit it on the head again Saturday. He had a picked that date and Saturday

COULD BE BRIDE IN JUNE ANYTIME

NORTH LAS VEGAS, Nev., Nov. 6. (AP)—Want to be a June bride, even in October?

The town council has a proposal, before it to change the name of the city—which adds Las Vegas on the north—on June. Its sponsors think it would capture more wedding trade.

SAYS WEST KNOWS Vishinsky Claims Greeks Plan Poison Gas Attacks

PARIS, Nov. 6. (AP)—Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky charged today that Greece, with the knowledge of the United States and Britain, is preparing to hurl poison gas at Greek guerrillas.

This was part of a general blast at the United States in which the Soviet deputy foreign minister charged the Truman administration is building a network of military bases directed against the Soviet Union and other countries. He did not amplify or support with evidence his charge concerning poison gas.

Vishinsky and another Slav delegate, Dr. Julius Katz-Suchy, also delivered bitter personal attacks

Mexico Is Happy Over Truman Win

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 6. (AP)—Mexico continued to rejoice today over the election of President Truman as observers predicted the United States stock market slump would not harm this country.

Some believe the skidding of U.S. stocks may result in lower prices for machinery, wheat, eggs and lard which Mexico must import in large quantities.

With the Democratic administration even stronger now, Mexico also will press efforts to get needed loans for internal improvements from such semi-official organizations as the export-import bank.

Forrestal Hints He Will Resign Cabinet Position

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Defense Secretary James Forrestal's own words today indicated he may leave the cabinet.

Forrestal, who has been in government service for eight years and who has headed the defense establishment since September, 1947 was asked by photographers at the White House to pose with Navy Secretary John L. Sullivan. A photographer, referring to the new term for the Truman administration, said "we are starting another four years."

"But not for me," Forrestal interjected, laughing.

Reporters at the Pentagon, who sought a further explanation of the comment, were told by one of Mr. Forrestal's aides that he meant:

"He did not intend to remain in government service for another four years. There was no other inference to be drawn from his remark."

New High Recorded In Polls Turnout

DALAS, Nov. 6. (AP)—Final tabulation of the Texas Election Bureau on Tuesday's general election, issued today, showed 1,155,311 Texans voted, with approximately 40,000 votes uncounted.

awards pushed the total to $798,015,941.

Residential construction in October hit its 1948 peak, leading all other classifications with $54,030,712. Awards covered 6,228 one-family units. Several large residential developments at Houston were credited with boosting the total.

Non-residential construction was also reported at a new high, $38,897,574. Most of it was for business buildings.

Engineering awards at $14,105,628 was the only classification that failed at record breaking.

The publication noted that the October awards were made up principally of small jobs, with only two jobs costing more than a million dollars each.

Texas Has Biggest Construction Month

AUSTIN, Nov. 6. (AP)—October was the biggest construction month in Texas history.

That was the report today of the Texas Contractor, trade publication.

The month's contract awards were tallied at $197,033,214, the highest monthly figure the publication said is has recorded in more than 20 years of statistic gathering.

"Several times in the past the month awards have run 75 to 90 million dollars, but never as much as 100 million," the publication said editorially.

The accumulative total for 10 months of 1948 climbed to $779,077,367, pointing to prospects of a near billion-dollar construction year for Texas, November's first week.

LADY LUCK LOOKS THE OTHER WAY

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 6. (AP)—Lady Luck was looking the other way when Herman Walker, who wears an artificial right leg, was struck by a truck yesterday. Doctors in general hospital found the 46-year-old Indianapolis man had suffered a broken leg—his good left one.

Northwest Scurry Discovery Is Bottomed At 6,287 Feet

Standard Oil Company of Texas No. 1 Jessie Brown, Northwest Scurry County discovery for flowing production from the Canyon line of the Pennsylvanian, was bottomed at 6,287 feet, in lime, and was taking a drillstem test. This development, located nine miles northwest of Snyder, and 1,880 feet from north and 1,890 feet from west lines of section 440, block 97, H&TC survey, had flowed oil from the section at 6,261-72 feet for an estimated 60 barrels per hour on a recent drillstem test. The current investigation is to check the zone from 6,272 feet to 6,287 feet. That zone yielded a 12 foot core with some porosity and some oil signs.

Venturing below the proven pay in the Vesimoor field of North-Central Howard County, Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware was continuing toward the Ellenburger with its No. 2 Tora Campbell, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 29, block 32, T-3-S TP survey. It was below 9,734 feet, drilling for and chert after recovering drilled cones. The Ellenburger is expected slightly below 10,000 feet. Some shows of oil and gas were encountered in the Pennsylvanian, regular pay for the field, when penetrated.

The drillette is a quarter mile east from Seaboard's No. 1 Campbell, producer from the Pennsylvanian. Seaboard No. 2 W. C. Campbell, scheduled 8,000-foot Pennsylvanian test in the Vesimoor field, was making hole under 8,550 feet in lime. Location is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 29, block 32, T-3-N, TP survey.

It is scheduled to dig to around 8,000 feet to try to find and test the Ellenburger. Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 2 Lee, Southeast Dawson County deep wildcat, 15 miles southeast of Lamesa, and 440 feet from north and east lines of section 47, block 34, TP survey, T-3-N, had reached 10,605 feet in dry lime and chert, and was making more hole. It has not reported having logged any signs of possible production in any section it has penetrated up to now. Tide Water Associated Oil Company No. 1 Turner, Northwest Dawson County wildcat took a three hour and 35 minute drillstem test in the San Andres-Permian at 4,871-4,949 feet. Recovery was 135 feet of slightly oil and gas cut drilling mud, and 120 feet of sulphur water. The project is to drill ahead. It may come back a little later and try to develop commercial production from the section above the water. It is one and one-half miles northwest of the Welch field, and 660 feet from north and east lines of the south half of section 2, block C-39, psi survey.

WEST TEXAS OIL

Permian Prospector Slated In Andrews

By James C. Watson
 MIDLAND, Tex., Nov. 6.—J. C. Barnes, of Midland, is to start operations at once on a lower Permian prospector in Central-West Andrews County, about three miles south of the Fullerton field, and 13 miles west of the town of Andrews. It will be Barnes No. 1 Mungger. The drillette is 660 feet from east and south lines of the north-west quarter of section 21, block A-47, psi survey. Rotary tools will be used. The project is near a small pumping producer developed several months ago from the lower Permian by Placid Oil Company. That well makes considerable water along with its oil. Stanolind Oil & Gas Company No. 1-A Nix, also in the region adjacent to the Barnes exploration had some good shows of oil from the lower Permian, but those indications were drowned by water, and that venture was plugged and abandoned. A drillstem test in the top of the Ellenburger was in progress at Richardson & Bass No. 1 Neal, Northeast Upton County wildcat. Bottomed at 12,481 feet, the venture was taking the examination at the time this report was prepared, and no data on the results of the test were available. Circulation was lost at 12,470 feet.

shortly after entering the deep strata, indicating a soft formation around that depth. Top of the Ellenburger was picked on 12,461 feet. Location is about seven miles northwest of the Benadict field, and 660 feet from north and 1,890 feet from east lines of section 9, block Y, GC&SF survey. After developing signs of oil and gas on a drillstem test, revealing the possibility of a new discovery from the Devonian in North Upton County, Magnolia Petroleum Company was making more hole at its No. 1-A TXL, 660 feet from north and west lines of section 39, block Y, TCRR survey. The test, open four hours at 11,744-765 feet, recovered free gas and some distillate and gas cut mud. The wildcat is now drilling ahead below 11,798 feet in Devonian lime and chert. The drillette is approximately 30 miles south of the city of Midland. An extension to the West Parker field of Central Andrews County seems apparent by Humble Oil & Refining Company as it attempts to develop a commercial oil well from its No. 22 Parker. After a 3,000-gallon acid treatment at 8,245-8,350 feet, the project was swabbed three hours. It then kicked off and flowed to pits for an hour. The flow was turned to tanks and was gauged for 163 barrels of fluid, cut 30 per cent basic sediment and water, in 15 hours. Extended testing produced 205.92 barrels of fluid—eight per cent basic sediment and water—in 23 1/4 hours of flowing. The last output has a breakdown average of around 190 barrels of oil per day. The flow was reaching the surfaces by heads. Testing was continuing. This development, bottomed on 8,357 feet in Devonian lime and chert, is located 660 feet from south and 1,990 feet from east lines of section 2, block A-54, psi survey.

Winter Cover Crops Must Receive Moisture Shortly For Good Growth

Winter cover crops in this area must receive new moisture shortly if they are to make desired growth, according to E. J. Hughes, conservationist with the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation district.

Present indications are that cover crops will be needed increasingly during the coming winter season, and early fall moisture has been sufficient only to sprout the seeds and start them on their primary growth, Hughes said. High winds during recent weeks already have emphasized the need for cover crops this season, Hughes declared.

Absence of September rains, which normally appear here, has left the soil vulnerable to excessive wind erosion and virtually stymied the cover crop erosion preventive as well, the conservationist explained.

Hughes is inclined to view this season as a concrete example of the necessity for all farmers in this area to conserve moisture on a year-round basis. Practices, some experimental and others fully proven, are revealing more profitable methods constantly, he advised.

One concern is feed crop that is comparatively new to this area. Commonly called 60-day milo, it is regarded as a major factor in a desirable two-year plan that involves winter cover crops, cotton, and general soil building and moisture conservation.

This is the recommended schedule: The land involved is planted to a cover crop in the fall. The cover crop benefits the soil and provides grazing as well if developed.

ment is sufficient. The cover crop remains in the field until July, when it is replaced with the 60-day milo. Exact time of planting the milo can vary over a period of at least a month, depending upon moisture conditions. Some planted this year during the last week of July made good yields.

When the 60-day milo is harvested, stubble is left in the field, and the ground is chiseled. The stubble helps to hold any type of moisture. After it has remained on the field through the winter, the land is in excellent condition for cotton.

Shamrock Has Plenty Of Crow For Pollsters

SHAMROCK, Nov. 6. (AP)—If the Washington Post wants to go ahead with plans for a crowd dinner for erring election pollsters and political "experts" Shamrock will be happy to provide the crowd.

The Post offered to give a crowd dinner for the pollsters and experts who picked Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to win the presidency. The newspaper invited President Truman to eat turkey as guest of honor.

W. A. Simms, president of the Shamrock Junior Chamber of Commerce, yesterday wired the Post's managing editor that "we will be able and happy to furnish you, FOB Shamrock, any number (up to 10,000) crows you might need for banquet, if all eligible forecasters accept your invitation."

"The demand for crow meat should be great, but we are confident of being able to fill order without difficulty."

He said the crows would be supplied from the Jaycees' annual Crow Rodeo Nov. 20 and 21. Captive crows are tagged with numbers and turned loose. Merchants pay hunters who bring in the numbers.

WEEK'S BUSINESS

City Building Figures Make New Advances

City building figures made new advances during the past week on the strength of a few new residential projects and heavy requirements for permits authorizing repair work. Twenty-six permits were issued for estimated construction costs totaling $27,715, which matched the weekly average for the year, excepting the Veterans hospital project. The 1948 total stood at $8,793,490 at the end of the week.

Real estate transactions dwindled around general election time, based on warranty deeds filed at the county clerk's office. Only three instruments had been recorded by the end of the week. They listed transactions involving $7,510, which left the year's total at $1,947,924.

New motor vehicle deliveries in Big Spring continued at about the usual rate. The county tax assessor-collector's office issued licenses for 17 new passenger cars and for two new trucks during the week.

The CHIROPRACTOR and You

This is One Of A Series Of Articles Published In The Public Interest To Explain And Illustrate The Practice Of Chiropractic.

WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC? The gastric condition cleared up. Chiropractor teaches that the brain and nervous system are the root of health. From the brain, nerve energy is distributed through the nervous system to control all parts of the body. When this nerve energy is shut off even slightly between brain and body (by bone displacement in the spine), one or more body functions are interfered with and ill health results. By X-ray analysis and spinal adjustment the chiropractor is able to restore nerve interference and restore normalcy to the affected part. No drugs. No surgery. Nature is the healer.

CASE HISTORY No. 34. This patient had suffered almost continually since 1918 with stomach pains and gas, and had turned from one method to another seeking relief, without results. Eventually the condition became so chronic that he was at times, unable to sleep or eat. On the recommendation of a friend a Chiropractor was consulted. X-ray analysis revealed displacement of a segment of the spine which had shut off nerve supply to the digestive organs. A series of adjustments restored the bone to normal position and within a short time the CASE HISTORY No. 125. A victim of asthma for ten years. Many remedies had been tried without results. An operation on the sinus was undertaken to try to correct the condition, but she still suffered. After some time friends suggested Chiropractic. Analysis indicated displacement of an upper vertebra. Adjustments to correct the displacement were successful and improvement was immediate. The patient now enjoys excellent health and there has been no recurrence of the asthmatic condition.

CASE HISTORY No. 88. A typical case of Sciatica. Patient unable to move without suffering great pain. Condition gradually became worse until finally Chiropractic aid was sought. Within one week following adjustment of the spine, he could move around quite freely and in less than two weeks the patient was able to resume an active life.

SPECIAL ELECTION CALLED FOR DECEMBER 3

Colorado City Will Vote On Proposed Council-Manager Form Of Government

COLORADO CITY, Nov. 4.—Voters of Colorado City will decide in a special election called for December 3 whether or not this town will adopt a new form of city government. Offered for approval or rejection of qualified voters is the proposed new charter drawn up by the charter commission authorized in December 1947 to draft a city charter. The city government has been operated, since its incorporation as a town, under the general laws of Texas governing municipalities, and without formal charter.

Eidon Mifson served as chairman of the charter commission, J. W. Randle as vice-chairman, Lewis B. Elliott, as secretary. Other members were Sam L. Majors, Jr., Joe H. Smoot, William Landau, J. S. Craddock, Jr., L. C. Scarborough, Joe Moser, W. F. Hague, Charles L. Root, George O. Witten, W. C. Hooks, Dr. William S. Rhode, and Joe Earnest.

The fifteen men worked for a ten months period studying, analyzing, drafting, and finally completing the new proposed charter. The product of their work has now been printed and mailed to all Colorado City qualified voters, for study and consideration before special election time. The final draft covers four pages of newspaper, and the document covers every phase of civic government in detail.

When voters go to the polls to decide whether or not to adopt that proposed council-manager form of government, they will also be determining upon a number of salient points. For one thing, they will be electing, that day, two new city councilmen. Article two of the proposed charter increases the number of councilmen from five to seven.

Thursday, Nov. 4, was the deadline for filing intention to stand for those two new posts. In event the charter is adopted, the deadline found only two names eligible for the official ballot.

The two who filed for the two new places are Dr. William S. Rhode, practicing physician, and Claude Hooks, farm operator. Present councilmen are J. C. Pritchett, Henry Bilberry, and N. M. Caddell.

To the enlarged council, as set forth in article three, will go the responsibility of selecting and hiring a city manager "solely upon the basis of his executive and administrative qualifications" who will then be "the chief executive officer and head of the administrative branch of the city government." That manager shall be "responsible to the council for proper administration of all affairs."

Under the new charter the mayor is designated as presiding officer and "shall be recognized as head of city government for all ceremonial purposes and by the governor of the state for purposes of military law, but shall have no regular administrative duties." Newby Pratt, young Colorado City-an who is a former coach and high school principal here, was elected mayor in a special election, recently.

Administrative departments of the city, as created by the charter, include Finance, Police, Fire, Law, Public Works, Health, Recreation, and Water. In all those departments the city manager will appoint, with approval of the council, heads, with the exception of Law. The council itself will appoint the city attorney.

Police chief, fire chief, water superintendent, and all other department heads, are, under the proposed changed form of government, to be appointed or dismissed by the city manager. The council will designate a city clerk, and a recorder to serve a term of two years. The recorder will be judge of the corporation court.

TEXAS POLL

Half Voters See Fraud In Election

By JOE BELDEN
Director, The Texas Poll
AUSTIN, Nov. 6.—Now that the Democrats have won control of the U. S. Senate, Coke Stevenson's fight to keep Lyndon Johnson from being seated as junior senator from Texas will probably collapse.

The Senate's acceptance of Johnson as a member would confirm his victory in the general election over the Stevenson-backed Republican candidate, Jack Porter. At the same time, it would sweep aside Stevenson's charges that Johnson took the Democratic nomination from him as a result of stuffed ballot boxes.

Stevenson and Porter tried to persuade the voters that Johnson gained his 87-vote majority in the August primary as a result of fraud. They predicted that he would not be seated even if he won the general election. They believed, apparently, that a Republican-controlled Senate would not accept him as a member.

Johnson countered with charges of his own. He asserted Stevenson received many votes to which he was not entitled. He contended that an honest count of all legally-cast ballots would show him the winner of the August primary by more than 87 votes.

What has been the reaction of the voters of Texas?

Nearly half of the voters believe there was some corruption in the vote counting.

To help restore public faith in the election machinery, Gov. Beaudou Jester already has promised that he will ask the legislature to set up adequate means of detecting and preventing fraud in the future.

A statewide survey conducted by The Texas Poll just prior to the general election showed that more voters were inclined to believe Stevenson's charges than Johnson's counter-charges. But not enough were convinced to jeopardize Johnson's election.

This question was put to a cross section of eligible voters:

"Do you think anyone cheated in counting the votes for Stevenson or Johnson in the August Democratic primary?"

|            |     |
|------------|-----|
| Yes        | 44% |
| No         | 22% |
| Don't Know | 29% |
| 100%       |     |

Voters who answered "yes" were then asked: "Which side do you suspect benefitted from the cheating?"

|                       |     |
|-----------------------|-----|
| Johnson's side only   | 11% |
| Stevenson's side only | 2%  |
| Both sides            | 18% |
| Not sure              | 15% |
| 44%                   |     |

Analysis of the results shows that more voters who said they believed Johnson alone benefitted from the alleged fraud had voted for Stevenson in the August primary. About the same proportion of Johnson and Stevenson supporters were ready to admit they suspected both sides benefitted.

GEORGE PLANS TO STUDY NOW

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 6. (AP)—Twelve-year-old George Latimer is back home in Pittsburgh ready to do something about improving his school grades.

He's the youngster who announced his run-away from home plans by phonograph record and proceeded to take a trip through Ohio, New York and Virginia.

His mother, Mrs. Pauline Latimer said last night that she didn't punish George when he returned home.

"He came home with such a grin on his face that I didn't have the heart," said Mrs. Latimer.

George lit out after coming home with a report card full of D's and E's.

Incidentally the 588 he took with him on his little escapade was well spent too.

He brought home gift—a camera for his sister, a toy gun for his baby brother and three plaid shirts for himself.

Reserve Officers Promised Quicker Action By Army

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—Army reserve officers who want active duty may get quicker action on their applications now.

The Army announced today requests should be sent to the adjutant general at Washington instead of to local reserve instructors. This, said the Army, will short-cut the usual channels.

Under the new procedure, applicants should hear within a matter of days whether they will be recalled to active duty. Orders should be on their way within a week after notification telegram has been dispatched.

Truman Carries Oklahoma Vote

The official returns from 3,701 precincts gave a total vote of 721,589.

Truman received 452,782, Dewey 268,817.

Sen.-Elect Robert S. Kerr's final margin over Rep. Ross Risley, his defeated Republican opponent, was 174,377.

The senatorial vote was Kerr 441,684, Risley 285,189.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (AP)—Some familiar names and faces will be missing in the Senate and House.

New members include a considerable number of new deals and others generally classified as "liberals" in politics.

Among these is Robert S. Kerr, former Oklahoma governor, named to the Senate. He keynoted the 1944 Democratic convention. Others are Senators-Elect Paul Douglas, Illinois, and Hubert H. Humphrey, Minnesota, both Democrats.

Just how much influence they, and others of like opinion, can exert in support of Truman administration measures, remains to be seen. A number of both Democrats and Republicans who were re-elected will oppose Mr. Truman's plans for New Deal legislation.

But the roll call will see missing a number of men who had risen to the top in power and influence, mostly on the Republican side.

Those missing from Republican ranks include:

Rep. Harold Knutson of Minnesota, tax-cutting chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee; his fellow Minnesotan, Sen. Joseph H. Ball; Sen. C. Wayland Brooks of Illinois; Sen. Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia; Sen. C. Douglas Buck of Delaware; Henry C. Dworshak of Idaho; George A. Wilson of Iowa; John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky; E. V. Robertson of Wyoming.

Revercomb was champion of the displaced persons bill which President Truman said was "anti-Catholic and anti-Jewish."

In the House well-known names wiped from the list were all Republicans except Rep. Leo Isaacson of the American Labor Party who had the backing of the Henry Wallace Progressive Party in New York.

They included John McDowell of Pennsylvania, member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities; Walter C. Ploeser of Missouri, chairman of the House Small Business Committee, and Forest A. Harness of Indiana, chairman of a Special House Committee investigating the Federal Communications Commission.

The New Congress will include: Lyndon Johnson of Texas, moving from the House to the Senate. Described by his friends as "a Sam Rayburn type of Democrat," Rayburn, as House speaker, helped push through many of President Roosevelt's proposals.

Clinton Anderson, who served under Mr. Truman as secretary of agriculture, and is ranked as a new dealer. He was named senator from New Mexico.

Estes Kefauver, (D-Tenn), who moved to the Senate from the House, where his record was classified as liberal. Mrs. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine), who also moved from the House to the Senate. She has not always followed the Republican line.

Matthew M. Neely (D-WVa), old time new dealer, named to the Senate.

Also, Guy M. Gillette, Iowa Democrat, who fought President Roosevelt's supreme court reorganization plan, and once was on a tentative New Deal purge list.

The economic leanings of the other new senators will be shown in more detail as their service continues. They are J. Allen Freese, Delaware Democrat; Bert H. Miller, Idaho Democrat; Andrew F. Schoepel, Kansas Republican; Virgil Chapman, Kentucky Democrat; Russel Long, Louisiana Democrat in for a short term; Robert C. Hendrickson, New Jersey Republican; J. Melville Broughton, North Carolina Democrat; and Lester C. Hunt, Wyoming Democrat.

Sen-Elect Karl Mundt (R-SD) was co-author, in the House, of the Mundt-Nixon bill designed to curb Communism. He also was a backer of foreign aid proposals.

A former New Deal senator, Hugh Mitchell of Washington State, was elected to House this time.

Several Democrats who lost out in 1946 when the Republicans came to power, are back this time and are expected to pursue further their new deal type of philosophy.

These include Reps. Biemiller (D-Wis), Rabaut (D-Mich), O'Brien (D-Mich), Woodhouse (D-Conn), Delaney (D-NY), Secret (D-Ohio), Young (D-Ohio), Barrett (D-Pa), Carnahan (D-Mo), Green (D-Pa) and Bailey (D-WVa).

Rep. Wickersham (D-Okla) can bring some personal experiences to bear on housing legislation. He has been in the real estate business here the last two years.

There will be many first-termers in the new Congress, and their records are not generally known yet.

Vet Ranchers Give Tips On Their Trade

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Want to be a successful rancher? Here are tips from three old-timers at the game—a Texan, a New Mexican and a Scotsman who insist there "is precious little difference" between a Texan and a Scotsman.

George W. Evans, president of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association, is a firm believer in large ranches for which his state is noted.

His four pointers are:

1. Have a large ranch of about 50 sections, so that some portions will receive rainfall even during dry years.

2. Keep the herd "liquid" so that livestock may be sold at anytime.

3. Operate the ranch economically. When prices are high pay debts, make improvements, build up the calf crop, replace heifers and don't overstock.

4. Keep breeding herds intact. "The good years will take care of themselves," he said. "It's the bad years we must guard against."

John P. Lee, 73-year-old rancher from Tankersley in Tom Green county, thinks ranching is a good business for Texas youths.

"The livestock industry offers a wonderful opportunity for the boys of Texas," Lee said. "It looks like Texas must feed not only a lot of our own people, but also help feed the whole world."

Lee, who recalls shipping steers to Chicago in 1889 for $8.26 a head, said it is comparatively easy to stay in the livestock business under present record high prices.

But he doesn't think this will last. "Things have got to level off," he said. "Everything has been too high."

The advice from Scotland comes from James Wright, director of the Matador Land & Cattle Company, Ltd., a Scottish corporation that owns almost a million acres of ranchlands in eight West Texas counties.

The 65-year-old Scotsman spends three months out of every year in Texas, and feels right at home as indicated by this observation: "Texans are just as close with their money, despite all those vaudeville jokes. Both Scotchman and Texans are fast thinkers and slow talkers."

"Our policy on meat production is to sell as many cattle as we can when the price is too high," Wright said in explaining his company's policy. "When the wholesale market is too weak, we hold back all the cattle we can so as to help the small rancher."

He mentioned that Matador now has its V-shaped brand on 50,000 head of cattle, grazing on about 1,800,000 acres of owned and leased land. The calf crops run to about 16,000 annually. About this number is sold each year.

"We've sent more than a million cattle to market since a bunch of Dumdee merchants bought the Texas land in 1887," Wright said.

Released By County On a $1000 Bond

Eliseo Padillo, charged with assault and attempted murder in connection with an attack on Earlender Valdras, has been released from custody of the county on $1,000 bond.

Mary Richardson, a Negro, was arrested Thursday, accused of concealing stolen property. She allegedly accepted the clothes of one C. L. Rodgers, from another man and hid them.

Confined To Jail On Hot Check Charge

Frank Goodrich and Doyle E. Williams were confined to the county jail Friday morning on charges of passing hot checks.

The two were picked up by Midland officers earlier in the week and turned over to members of the sheriff's office. Goodrich is in similar trouble in Midland, a local authority stated.

Four Teams Seen In 'Y' Basketball

Four teams were indicated—two of them for certain—at an organizational meeting of a basketball league Thursday evening.

Lee Milling, executive secretary of the YMCA, said that three teams more are needed to round out the schedule. The American Legion and Grapette were listed as sure entries and representatives from two of the probables were on hand.

An entry fee of $15 will be required and this will not be refundable in event of withdrawal. Tentative plans for the league specified hiring competent officials and a regular schedule to start Dec. 6 at the Howard County Junior College gym.

Practice will begin Monday at the HCJC gym and teams wishing to book practice time are requested to contact the YMCA. Those interested in entering teams should let Milling know as soon as possible.

Next meeting has been set for Nov. 24, when final regulations and a schedule will be adopted.

More Frequent Fire Drills Seen

More frequent fire drills are in store for Big Spring schools, W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, told the school board Thursday evening.

While regular rehearsals have been held, plans are to increase their frequency, he said. Drills will be worked out in cooperation with Fire Chief H. V. Crocker.

The move is a part of school's safety program. Board members heard reports Thursday of corrected gas leaks (under pressures 54 times normal), or new panic lock bars for the high school exits, or vent installations over hot water heaters, of construction changes to eliminate hazards.

Take Time To Have A Look At Your School System This Week.

Today marks the beginning of American Education Week, another abstraction to those who do not avail themselves of the opportunity for personal participation.

One avenue for personalizing the week is through visitation. Every patron is urged to look in during the next five days (or any time for that matter) to see how the schools actually function in the classrooms. The high school is having a special evening of visitation when parents will go through their children's schedules. In the elementary levels, patrons are being invited to call at different times during the week to watch and hear regular class sessions.

Nobody will learn a lot in one day, but it may be possible to absorb a little spirit of the thing. It may be possible to stir an interest which will thirst for further inquiry during the year.

General theme of the week is timely enough—"Strengthening the Foundations of Freedom." The extension of this by days, develops these topics: Learning to live together; improving the educational program; securing qualified teachers; providing adequate finance; safeguarding our America; promoting health and safety; and developing worthy family life. All of these, of course, fit into the general pattern of bulwarking the basis of freedom.

Pretty quotations, pointed statistics, ponderous problems could all be recited ad infinitum, but in the main they wouldn't mean much to the average person. But the school which is charged with part of the training of his or her children should mean a lot. That is the reason we hope that every parent will take special pains to see what's going on this week.

How's Truman Going To Do All Things He's Promised?

WASHINGTON, (AP)—EVEN WHILE THE country's still in a fever over President Truman's election, a cold little question creeps up and says:

"How's he going to do all the things he promised?"

For example: Repealing the Taft-Hartley labor law and getting his civil rights program for southern Negroes through Congress.

You can look for most of the 22 southern senators to work together to block the civil rights program.

They could slaughter it in a number of ways. The most obvious one: To talk it to death with a filibuster.

In 1947 a number of Democrats joined with the Republicans to pass the Taft-Hartley act.

The Republicans were in control then. The Democrats will run Congress the next two years.

When Mr. Roosevelt stepped into the great depression in 1933, he had no detailed plan for getting the country off the rocks.

He played by ear, improvising as he went along. He could afford to. The public debt was very small then. It's gigantic now.

In 1933 the public debt was only about $19,500,000,000. By the time Mr. Roosevelt was elected to a third term in 1940 the debt had been increased to around $42 billion. It seemed like an enormous debt then.

(The Roosevelt government had piled up the debt by borrowing to give jobs on WPA to jobless men, to make heavier payments to World War I veterans, loans to industry and farmers, and so on.)

But by the time Mr. Truman inherited the presidency from Mr. Roosevelt in 1945 the public debt had leaped to around $260 billion, because of the cost of World War II.

A few billions of that have been paid off since 1945. But this year the Republican Congress cut taxes. And now the government again is taking in just a little less in taxes than it is putting out for expenses.

The government's expenses are running around $42 billion a year—which was the size of the public debt in 1940—for things like these:

Running the government, paying off on some of the debt, paying veterans of World War I and II, helping Europe and building up the armed forces.

But more money may have to be spent the armed forces next year or the years ahead.

If that happens, the government probably will run deeper into the red.

That would mean increasing the public debt once more by borrowing money—unless taxes were increased.

And if that happens how can Mr. Truman put over new programs that cost money?

Trying to figure that out will be one of the ways Mr. Truman earns his salary the next four years.

BUT THERE STILL ARE ENOUGH OF the act's supporters in both parties to vote down any attempt to repeal it.

Some of them, of course, might change their minds now and vote for repeal. Getting them to do it is up to Mr. Truman. In the end he may have to accept a compromise to repeal only those parts of the act which labor hates worst. He owes labor a debt for the support it gave him in the election.

He has promised other things, too, including government help to education and a public housing program. Those things cost money.

And that brings up a very important point, since this is the first time Mr. Truman has been elected President. (He inherited the presidency in 1945 when Franklin D. Roosevelt died.)

That point is: There is a difference between Mr. Truman starting out on his first term now and Mr. Roosevelt starting out on his first term in 1933.

MR. TRUMAN STARTS WITH A DETAILED program of what he thinks needs doing. Everyone knows it. The people elected him on it.

Dewey Stirs His Followers With Speech After Defeat

NEW YORK (AP)—POST-ELECTION NOTES:

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey probably stirred the emotions of his followers more deeply in defeat than he ever had in victory.

He took one of the most crushing upsets in American political history with real sportsmanship.

In his post-election press conference—a 13-minute farewell to his national political aspirations—he gave no excuses for his defeat. And he indulged in no self-pity.

He wore the air of a champion who had given the best of what he had to give—and he didn't blame anybody.

MANY STAUNCH FRIENDS OF DEWEY find it hard to believe he will carry out the desire he expressed privately on several occasions during the campaign—never to run for public office again if he were defeated.

He is only 45 and few men his age have ever had such meteoric political careers. His present term as governor lasts through 1950.

Although he is the only unsuccessful candidate ever renominated by the Republican party, there is plenty of precedent if he should change his mind and toss his hat in the ring a third time.

Norman Thomas has tried six times for the Socialists. Henry Clay was a presidential aspirant in almost every campaign between 1824 and 1848 and died unreconciled to failure at 76. William Jennings Bryan was the Democratic standard bearer three times—and was willing to take the draft again any time.

Perhaps it was their example that led Dewey to conclude two strikes were enough.

THERE WERE A NUMBER OF REVEALING members of his staff at the conference, and Dewey, a man who rarely demonstrates personal emotion, brought tears to their eyes as he thanked the efforts made in his behalf.

He showed that he does have in some measure a gift of leadership that some observers have doubted—the ability to inspire affection as well as loyalty. Many will long remember what he said of his wife, who remained by his side all night as for a second time in four years his dream of being President ebbed.

"She has been through this before," he said. "We have won and lost at various times—and all in good fun."

Pushes Seed Project

ATHENS (AP)—Exactly $850,000 will be spent to encourage seed production in Greece the coming year. The Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA) and Greek government have agreed to continue the seed production program started by the American Mission for aid to Greece last winter.

American experts say Greece has the climate and soil to produce high quality disease-free seed. It is anticipated the program will reduce seed importations.

Salvage Hitler's Steel

BERLIN (AP)—The Russians, who have already removed the marble from Hitler's ruined Reich chancellery, are now taking its steel ceiling struts.

The pink marble from chancellery walls and granite from its foundations went into construction of huge Red Army war memorials. The steel is to be used in construction of a theater at Karlshorst, headquarters of the Soviet military administration.

Bird's Eye-View Given Of Some Of New Men Chosen For Senate

WASHINGTON — Here is a bird's eye-view of some of the new men chosen for the Senate this week in one of the most historic elections in recent years.

Kerr of Oklahoma — The voters have swapped one old man for another with Ex-Governor Bob Kerr, Democrat, a wealthy oil man, succeeding multi-millionaire Republican Ed Moore in the Senate.

However, except for the fact that they are both oil men, the two are miles apart. Scrooge-like 77-year-old Ed Moore was a Senate spokesman for the big corporations, and made no secret of it. If a liberal idea ever entered his head it died from solitary confinement.

But Kerr was born in a log cabin near Ada, Okla., and has never lost the common touch, despite his considerable wealth. And he has an infallible method of keeping his down-to-earth bearings.

"Whenever I am tempted to think like a rich man," says Kerr, "I remember the time I worked in a cement mill for 15 cents an hour."

When FDR was asked who should keynote the 1944 Democratic convention, when he was nominated for a fourth term, he replied, "I don't care, as long as it's Bob Kerr."

When Europe was clamoring for aid in the fall of 1947, Kerr didn't wait for Washington to act, but helped organize his own wheat relief committee. Kerr has broad-gauged views on protecting the future economy of the United States, and once warned President Truman that America may not be able to feed itself much less others, 20 years from now unless we embark on a more extensive flood-control program to stop the costly erosion.

Kerr fought in the first world war as an artillery lieutenant, is a church-going family man, the father of four children. He doesn't drink, smoke, or chew, and his one chief vice is eating pears, which he consumes by the peck.

Humphrey of Minnesota — Hubert Humphrey, who toppled Joe Ball in the Minnesota senatorial race, is a proverbial giant killer. Less than four years ago, Humphrey literally wore his voice out at the 1944 Democratic convention in Chicago screaming for Henry Wallace. In fact, Humphrey was such a rabid Wallace man that he refused to vote for Truman after Truman won and the convention chairman moved to make the nominations unanimous.

Few who watched the Democratic convention closely will ever forget the sight of Humphrey and Barney Allen, a Red River valley farmer, their clothes half torn off their backs and their voices gone, racing through the Chicago stadium carrying an American flag and a Wallace banner, begging and pleading with the delegates to support their man.

But that was four years ago. One year later, Humphrey, wrapping up practical politics with a clever doorbell-ringing campaign managed to become mayor of Minneapolis.

The trigger-tongued Humphrey will bring to the Senate a clarion voice for civil rights and social reforms. As mayor of Minneapolis, one of his first acts was to set up a council on human relations. He founded it on dreams, but made it work. Again at the Philadelphia convention, it was Humphrey who split the Democratic party wide open by demanding a strong civil rights platform. In retaliation, the Dixiecrats poured money into the Republican campaign in Minnesota and even sent ex-Gov. Sam Jones of Louisiana up to help re-elect Sen. Joe Ball.

Built on springs, Humphrey won't hold still long in the Senate. He has the breathless perksonality of a youth on a roller-coaster. Jet-propelled ideas shoot through his head and take off on the bustle tongue in politics. He has the vocal endurance of a phonograph, can blow up an oratorical windstorm at the drop of a gavel. But he is a man of action as well as words.

A professor-politician, Humphrey taught his classes at MacAlester College to take an active part in politics; then he, himself, went out to practice what he preached. He brought a truce between labor and management brought quarreling Sister Kenny and the national foundation for infantile paralysis together to fight the crippling polio epidemic which struck Minneapolis.

His ambition in the Senate will be a position on the education and Labor Committee.

Neely of West Virginia — Friends of Matt Neely boast that he has run for more offices and been elected more times than any man in West Virginia politics. He began as a 245-month schoolteacher, resigned to try his luck at politics, served five terms in the house of representatives, three times as U. S. senator, once as governor of West Virginia, and once as mayor of his home town Fairmont. This marks the fourth time West Virginia voters have chosen him for the Senate.

Matthew Mansfield Neely is best known as a crusader for an air-tight federal mine inspection law to prevent tragic mine accidents. Too many of them have occurred under sliphod and frequently graft-ridden state mine inspection. Neely grew up in a mining community and accompanied his father, a country doctor, on many emergency calls to mine pits where death had struck.

Hollywood — Bob Thomas

Gillette of Iowa — White haired, never-gay-die Guy Gillette is remembered for his battle to expedite the synthetic rubber program which Jesse Jones let lag so disastrously during the war and for the Roosevelt purge. Now 69 years old, Gillette was a buck sergeant in the Spanish-American war and an infantry captain in World War I. He has been a battler from the time he first set foot in Washington in 1932 as a rookie congressman. He battled against food profiteers, for soil conservation, for reclamation, and for rural electrification. His most publicized battles was the 1938 primary contest with Otha Wearin, selected by the White House in the most unsuccessful purge attempt.

In Washington, Gillette is also remembered for having taken over the newspaper route of his young son who was ill, and for the Sunday nights during the war when the Senator and Mrs. Gillette washed dishes at the stage door canteen.

However, the news story that caused the greatest confusion in the Gillette family was the time Guy was chosen by a magazine as the Senate's best-dressed man a few hours after his charming wife Rose had lectured him at breakfast about his shabby attire and demanded that he buy a new suit.

Mustache On Upswing With American Male

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The mustache may have been defeated as the polls, but Hollywood expert says it's on the upswing with the U. S. male.

"Mustaches are definitely gaining in popularity," reports Universal-International Makeup Chief Buddy Westmore. But he warns that not all men should wear them.

"The trouble with men is that they try to copy someone else's mustache when they don't have the right physique or face for it," said brushless Buddy.

And don't get the idea a mustache will make you look more virile. "Hair hasn't got a thing to do with virility," he explained.

Before you start adding any upper-lip fungus, you'd better study Westmore's 6 rules for mustaches:

1. Short men should avoid them or they'll look shorter.
2. Square-jawed men shouldn't wear short, thin ones.
3. Long, narrow-faced men shouldn't grow 'em wide or let 'em droop. "Drooping creates an illusion of unhappiness."
4. A wide mustache for the round-faced.
5. Men with long upper lips should wear them.
6. Blonde men should avoid them unless they have heavy beards. "Or they can darken their light mustaches with the wife's eyebrow pencil.

Wherein Mr. Truman Is Given Congratulations, And Advice

Hon. Harry S. Truman, White House, Washington, D.C.

Dear Harry:

Every other person in these United States who can hit a typewriter key is going to have something to say about last week's coup, so you shouldn't mind a few more words about it.

To begin with, let me say that you sure pulled a slick one, Harry. I must admit that I was one of those who thought you were just shouting down a rain-barrel, but your stunt sort of reminds me of when Lee O'Daniel first appeared on the Texas scene several years ago. There were some other candidates getting all the attention, while Lee was beating the bushes, taking up a collection with his little barrels, and extracting the ballots right out of apron and overall pockets.

For it must be acknowledged, Harry, that it was the good old rank-and-file that turned the trick for you. Honestly, not many people have regarded you as any superman in the presidential chair, but they are bound to have liked you, and the way you bucked down to keep your job.

People like efficiency, all right, or always say they do. And it looked like that fellow Tom had efficiency with a capital E. But Tom just couldn't draw that spark, Harry, that makes people want to give him a vote, and you did. Anyway, you have every right to be proud.

Be proud, Harry, but don't let this November, 1948, deal go to your head.

Don't be misled into believing that, since a lot of your "idiot" friends in the 80th congress won't be back up there any more, you have been given a full ticket to run everything just the way you want to run it. It won't work, Harry, and if you try it, you'll get a kick in the pants from the very people who patted you on the back last week.

You haven't done so hot, you know, with your appointments, and if you let that "Missouri gang" keep on growing up there, you're going to be sorry. They'll sneak out with something while you're not looking.

They say you may make some changes in the cabinet, which probably won't hurt. But if you do, you may not be big enough to forget that Pendergast "victor-and-spoils" stuff, and find some really big men, regardless of what kind of label they happen to be wearing? For example, if George Marshall does take to his easy chair, what's the matter with this guy Dulles in your State Department? You would have to look through the Democratic party from A to Izzard before you could find anybody with anything approaching his qualifications.

It's just a thought, but you can afford to be big, Harry, since you can have pretty much your own way for the next couple of years. The thing for you to do now is really be big. An awful lot of people are going to be disappointed if you're not.

Sincerely yours,
BOB WHIPKEY

Writer Returns To Vermont To Recall Childhood Days

DID YOU EVER HAVE AN OVERPOWERING urge to return to the scenes of your childhood after long years of absence?

Well, I did, and that's what I was doing when I played hookey from this column the last fortnight of October. I went back to my native Vermont to try to renew acquaintances which had been largely severed for a generation—a daring adventure and one I approached with a mixture of eagerness and of fear that I should fall in my quest.

And just what, you ask, has this to do with the "foreign affairs" which I am supposed to analyze? Well, that's a fair question, and I plead guilty to straying a bit. However, the dictionary says "foreign" means, among other things, "irrelevant," and so I venture to go ahead with my story. And if you will come along, I suspect we may find a moral which will justify the aberration.

It looked as though God had been painting a variegated picture and had dropped his palette upside-down.

THAT WAS AN AUSPICIOUS WELCOME, and it was followed by a warmth of greeting throughout my tour of the state. We haven't space to go into all my reunions, but among them was one with Charles E. Crane, the Green Mountain philosopher who daily broadcasts his news and views to Vermonters. Then there was Fred Peters, who abandoned newspaper work to grow apples on South Hero Island in Champlain—with vast success. I was privileged to be a guest in the homes of both these old friends and their charming wives.

Well, as I renewed acquaintances with Vermont and the people I was struck by the discovery that while she had kept step with progress, she hadn't changed greatly physically or in her attitude towards life during the past generation. She is the same kindly, upright (though never austere) personality who ever since colonial days has contributed greatly to the welfare of our country and helped build it to the paramount position it now holds in world affairs.

I'M NOT QUITE SURE WHAT IMPULSED me to make this trip, but I felt that I had to get back to the old days among the mountains and lakes where my dad was a Methodist clergyman in various parishes. I have the uncomfortable feeling that my missus called the turn when she remarked:

"Mack, this is a sign we are getting on in years. When folks acquire gray hairs they begin to think about their youth."

Well—maybe. Anyway, the upshot of it all was that I finally piled into my car and wandered off on my own, since my lady was otherwise engaged.

Thus it was that finally I crossed Lake Champlain on the ferry from the New York side, and arrived in northern Vermont amidst a burst of Indian Summer which surely had been prepared for the prodigal.

A glorious blaze of color filled the countryside—an amazing medley of gold and

BUT TO GET BACK TO OUR MUTATIONS, I decided that the proper place for a fellow to start his reenactment of boyhood days was at his birthplace, and so in due course I arrived in the sweet village of West Burke, among the hills of northern Vermont. I didn't know anyone there, but the little church to which my father had been attached still plays its part in the life of the community, as it has for scores of years. And you don't need to know people to encounter friendliness in Vermont—or in any other state of our grand Union, as my experience has shown me. (To be continued Monday)

Drama Critics Definitely Do Not Compare Play Notes

NEW YORK (AP)—In my guise of drama critic, the one question which is constantly—annually, monthly and weekly—asked of me is: Do the drama critics get together and compare opinions before they write their reviews?

Drama reviewers consider this an insult and an opening night sidewalk idiosyncy, but I've finally decided it's a matter the lay public must be a bit puzzled about, so here's the story:

No, the critics do NOT get together and talk it over. Yes, the critics do get together on other matters, but the topics saunter the play in hand as if it were a plague. Even when the play is somewhat of a plague, the lads don't get into any serious discussion of same. They respect each other's opinion and wait to see what each writes in his own particular newspaper, news service or magazine.

The topics mullied over in these intermission klatches are as varied and no more or less inspired than any gab going on in the parlor of any fairly intelligent family. Naturally, things of a theatrical nub get more attention than, say, gardening or the roast beef of last evening.

Most of my compatriots refuse to discuss the play at hand under any circumstances. Ward Morehouse of the New York Sun has a stock answer for any person—friend or not—who asks what he thinks of a play during its premiere. Even if Ward thinks the play is the year's best, he considers the question presumptuous. He always growls: "I think it's terrible," and walks away.

George Jean Nathan is the champion walker-outer of all the first nighters. He says he usually can tell after one act whether the opus of the evening is any theatrical shakes. Wolcott Gibbs of the New Yorker is the runner-up in this department.

As a whole, the critics are about the best mannered folks at any first night.

Generally, the critics do not wear dinner jackets on opening nights, the general feeling being that it is work and not a fancy relaxation. Their wives occasionally get out formal duds for the splasher premieres, such as big musicals, but even in such cases they wear their hair nearly flat. Some of the other gals come to first nights with their hair piled high as one of Carmen Miranda's baskets of bananas. Sitting behind them is like sitting behind a pole.

Plans Radio Board

SYDNEY (AP)—The Australian Government plans to set up a board of three to control broadcasting. Announcing the proposal in Parliament, Prime Minister Joseph B. Chifley said there was no suggestion of socializing the air. At present broadcasting comes under the control of the Post Office.

Good Town To Be From

CLATWORTHY, England (AP)—This village of 120 residents hasn't a single telephone. If fire breaks out or a doctor is needed, a bicyclist takes the message to a neighboring town.

The village also lacks electricity, bus service and a postoffice.

Sun Co. Opens Its Third Field In Coke County

By John B. Brewer
SAN ANGELO, Nov. 6.—Sun Oil Co. opened its third field in Coke county this week as a second oil producing area from the Canyon lime of the Pennsylvanian.
Sun, No. 1 P. W. Millican and others in Coke county flowed naturally 80 barrels of 40.8 gravity, pipeline oil in 19 1/2 hours. The gage was through a quarter-inch choke and a slotted 5/8-inch liner set from 5,948-5,970 feet, one foot off bottom in Strawn lime. Acidizing is expected.
The well is in the C NE NE 20-2-H&TC, seven miles south of Sun's Jameson (Strawn) field and 12 miles west of Robert Lee, on a block of 8 1/4 sections.
Shell No. 1 Hawkins near the center of the south line of Gaines county recovered oil on two more drillstem tests in the Devonian, its second pay. A test from 10,328-378 feet yielded 147 barrels of 33 gravity oil and one from 10,378-428 feet 210 barrels of oil. The proposed Ellenburger wildcat in August recovered 7,000 feet of oil in one hour from 7,103-7,240 feet in the Clear Fork. Saturday it mixed mud to regain circulation at 10,531 feet.
Location is in the C SE NE 8-A23-pal, 2 1/4 miles southwest of the Robertson (Clear Fork) field and 12 miles northeast of the nearest Devonian production, in the Fullerton multiple-pay field in northwestern Andrews county.
Placid No. 1 L. T. Clark & Son, northwestern Tom Green county wildcat six miles west of Water Valley, bailed 30 barrels of 32 gravity oil in 18 hours from the San Andres through casing perforations at 1,035-45 feet and prepared to pump.
No. 1 Clark failed in the Ellenburger in drilling to 7,838 feet and plugged back. It is in the C SE SE HE&WT survey 2, near small, short-lived shallow pumpers drilled several years ago by J. P. Williams of San Angelo.
More salt water was encountered in the Ellenburger by Seaboard and others No. 1 E. M. Hinson, north central Terry county wildcat, from 11,640-890 feet. It drilled ahead and may continue to granite. Small discovery Cisco production from 9,400-55 feet was indicated in mid-summer. No. 1 Hinson is in the C NW NW 91-AX-EL&RR.
Magnolia spotted No. 1 H. G. Moore, scheduled 8,000-foot wildcat in Scurry county, C SW SW 207-97-H&TC, 3 1/4 miles northeast of Sun No. 1 Schattell, Canyon lime discovery. Robt. W. McKlasick of Abilene prepared to start No. 1 W. R. Ashmore, slated 4,000-foot, cable tool wildcat in the shallow Sharon Ridge field in Scurry, 330 feet out of the northeast corner of the Ashmore lease in section 120-97-H&TC.
American Republics No. 1 Koonsman, northeastern Scurry wildcat in section 240-2-H&TC, was abandoned at 7,574 feet after encountering sulphur water in the Ellenburger, entered at 7,410 feet, 5,238 feet below sea level.
Rotary was being rigged up for E. E. (Ed) Reigle and Louis Mabree of Midland No. 1 Ina Mae Farley, proposed 5,000-foot wildcat in northwestern Dawson county, C SW SW 12-M-EL&RR, two miles south of the Welch (San Andres) pool.
Sun and Seaboard No. 1 Mamie Hancy, west central Nolan county wildcat, C SW NE 32-X-T&P, recovered 6,000 feet of sulphur water on a one-hour drillstem test from 7,302-7,402 feet in the Ellenburger. Its abandonment was expected. The Ellenburger was topped at 7,285 feet, 4,745 feet below sea level.

WINGS OVER BIG SPRING

Carnival Animals To Spend Winter In Airport Building

You can't blame the transient flier who spewed his coffee at the Airport Cafe Saturday morning.
He and three companions had put in at the port for breakfast, reminiscing over a rather gay evening Friday. As the visitor lifted his coffee to his lips, a chimpanzee, garbed in colorful dress, came peddling up on a tricycle.
He needn't have been so perturbed, however, for it was the real thing. The chimp was from the T. J. Tidwell show, which is storing its equipment in one of the city's airport buildings this winter. Had he looked a little further, he might have seen Queenie, the elephant, stomping around, croaking hay into her mouth.
Ben Funk, who last week purchased a Cessna 170 for rentals, much as automobile rental services work, is instituting a new service at the Munny airport. He will offer Sunday night hops over the city. Funk, aviation enthusiasts remember, is the veteran pilot for Shell Pipe Line Corp. and who has flown more miles than any man in these parts.
American Airlines reports considerable interest in its first of the week cut-rate fares for family groups, although it has produced more business at other points than here. Under the plan one full fare admits the remainder of the family for half fare on the first of the week. Many families have found it a big help to the travel budget as well as a time saver.
J. D. Church, CAA district airport engineer, has flown to Ontario, Calif. in his Cessna 120 to visit with relatives.

J. J. Jackson, CAA district representative flew to Monahans Sunday for the opening of that city's new, modern airport.
That was the occasion for the B-36 flight out this way last Sunday. Several thousand people watched the giant as it circled over the city, and 400 to 500 cars hurried to the airport when the huge craft swooped low—possibly only 100 feet high—over the Munny port. But it went right on to Monahans. Had it carried the four wheel landing gear, it could have set down, but the load would have been too much for the two wheel arrangement. The runways here, said port officials, would have been long enough to have accommodated the plane.
General Jonathan Wainwright, the hero of Corregidor, and Col. O. I. Holman will be through here Sunday morning aboard Continental Air Lines, enroute to El Paso. They are due to return, enroute to San Antonio, Monday evening.
CAL is planning to begin test runs on Conval planes within the next month. Eventually these faster, larger and more modern transports will replace most Douglas equipment. American had a test flight through here in the spring and is gradually adding these ships to its lines.

morning there was light frost in low areas. It won't go in the weather bureau records as a killing frost since the temperature must reach 32 degrees for that, but the bureau acknowledged the light frost.
This is American Education week and school officials are anxious for you to visit the schools. Most of us haven't darkened the doorway of a classroom since teachers breathed a sigh of relief when we left for good. Might be a rather interesting experience to see what goes on now.
Our short harvest is coming along fairly rapidly now. Cotton and cottonseed, in the value of a million and a half dollars, has come to the market thus far, and grain movement is beginning to pick up sharply. The shipments are being pegged in some quarters at 100 cars of grain for the season. There may be a lot more stay at home under the loan program.

Joint Meeting Of Laymen Is Set Tuesday

Laymen from the various churches of Big Spring and Howard county will gather for their second joint meeting of the year Tuesday at 7 p. m. in the First Baptist church.
The first such event, held at the First Methodist church in the summer, attracted upwards of 200 men from several churches in the city. This time men from the city churches are being urged to participate in the joint fellowship.
Speaker for the evening will be Troy Dale, Lamesa, minister of education in the First Baptist church of that city. Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the host church will be the master of ceremonies, and music will be under the direction of the Rev. Aislie Carleton, pastor of the First Methodist church.
General arrangements are in charge of Merrill Creighton, president of the First Baptist Brotherhood, and he urged that all ticket sales be reported Monday noon. Most of the host Brotherhood will be engaged in preparing and serving the food since the meeting is an all-men's affair. Tickets ($1) are on sale at most of the churches in Big Spring, but anyone not contacted may obtain tickets by seeing Creighton or Gibby Morehead.

Attend Lions Club Zone Conference

Schley Riley, Gilbert Gibbs, Dan Conley and Gage Lloyd, accompanied by James L. Daugherty of Midland, attended the Lion's Zone meeting in Hermleigh Thursday evening.
Riley is district governor and was principal speaker at the session, which boasted representatives from all seven of the Lion's clubs in the district with exception of Colorado City. Daugherty is assistant governor.

City Meet Set

Big Spring city commissioners are scheduled to meet for their first regular session of November on Tuesday afternoon at the city hall. The agenda will probably be composed of routine business matters. City Manager H. W. Whitney said.

Excavation Is Made For Fire Station

Excavation is being made at 18th and Main streets for foundation of the new fire department sub-station, and work on the structure is expected to begin moving at a steady clip next week, city officials reported Saturday.
A sub-contract for plumbing work has been awarded by the general contractor to Tucker and Son Plumbing Co. of Big Spring, and that firm plans to begin "roughing in" plumbing facilities within the next few days.
General contractor is Baker Willis, Midland, who was awarded the job at a bid opening on Oct. 12. The successful bid was $27,482.73.
Mrs. R. W. Thompson and daughter of San Francisco, Calif., are visiting Jewell Tippie. The former Jo Murphy, who was employed by the local Western Union office, worked with Miss Tippie at one time.

Chuck Ortmann Hurls Michigan To 35-0 Win

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 6 (AP)—Michigan's prize sophomore, tall Chuck Ortmann, passed and ran the Wolverines to their 21st straight football triumph today, an easy 35-0 win over undermanned Navy, which now has lost 12 games in a row.

Ortmann, all-round Milwaukee product who stepped into the shoes of the graduated All-American Bob Chappuis, staged one of his finest performances before the third straight sellout throng of 85,328 fans in Michigan Stadium. He connected on one 48-yard touchdown pass to Michigan's brilliant end Dick Rifenburg, plunged across for another Wolverine score and stood out as the best running back on the field.

Navy, blanked for the first time in seven games this year, couldn't mobilize anything in the way of a sustained attack. The Middies made only eight first downs for Michigan's 22 and never penetrated any deeper than the Michigan 38-yard line.

Michigan, using a total of 48 players, scored in every period after parading 47 yards for a touchdown the first time the Wolverines got the ball.

Ortmann smashed over for that one and Fullback Tom Peterson sliced 10 yards off tackle for a second period score, capping a 78-yard parade. Michigan scored twice in the third, on a one-yard buck by Halfback Walt Tenings and on an 18-yard pass from former Navy back Bob Van Summer to Rifenburg, who caught the ball in the end zone, stepped out of bounds and fumbled. But officials ruled he had possession of the ball before he crossed the sideline.

Rifenburg then caught Ortmann's arching 48-yard pitch early in the fourth period for his seventh touchdown in seven games.

Harry Alis, Michigan's steady place-kicker, converted all five extra points to run his season record to 22 conversions in 25 attempts.

Tarheels Tied By Tribe, 7-7

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Nov. 6 (AP)—William and Mary's one team played mighty North Carolina's offensive and defensive combinations to a standstill to spoil the Tar Heels' perfect record with a 7-7 tie today.

While a near-capacity crowd of 43,000 sat silent in amazement, the Indians from Virginia grabbed the lead with a second-quarter touchdown, then fought grimly on defense to hold off North Carolina's superior strength and gain a tie.

Charley (Choo Choo) Justice, North Carolina's ground-gaining ace, did a better-than-fair job of upholding his reputation as a ball carrier but his passes were ineffective.

Offensively, William and Mary never showed anything except a flash now and then by Jack Gould and Tommy Korczowski. The Virginians made only one first down, that on a penalty, and gained a net 41 yards by rushing and passing. North Carolina gained 184 yards on the ground and 83 on passes.

Buffaloes Rip Thru Grandfalls

GRANDFALLS, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Buffaloes overpowered the Grandfalls Cowboys, 56-26, in a six-man football exhibition that was all offense here Friday night.

The victory was the Bison's eighth of the season as against no losses. Grandfalls carried an unsullied record into the contest. The Bison's scoring rush enabled them to maintain their 55-point-a-game average. They have now scored a total of 441 points in their eight starts, compared to 85 for the opposition.

In running roughshod over the Waddies, the Howard county set scored more points against the home club than seven previous opponents had been able to register altogether.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 6 (AP)—A spectacular 69-yard touchdown run by Jim Howe with 36 seconds to play enabled Kentucky to tie Villanova, 13-13, before 22,000 fans on Stoll Field here today. Bobby Brooks added the all-important extra point when the clock had stopped eight seconds of playing time remaining.

Texas Stages Rally To Nudge Baylor

Campbell Shows Class In Engineering Drive For Fourth Quarter Touchdown

WACO, Nov. 6 (AP)—The Texas Longhorns hit the come-back trail today, coming from behind to nudge Baylor 13 to 10 in a wild, hard-fought football game before 20,000 at Municipal Stadium.

In the final analysis, it was Texas Quarterback Paul Campbell's improved passing arm that turned the trick for the Longhorns after it looked as if the Bears had the game in the bag.

Both teams jittery in the first half, muffed several scoring opportunities and Texas fumbles and penalties almost cost the Longhorns the ball game.

Baylor drew blood first in the second period with a touchdown and point after touchdown. Then the Bruits added three more points with a field goal in the third quarter.

Shortly thereafter, Texas came back with a 70-yard pay-off drive for a touchdown, and Campbell's pass to End George McCall in the fourth nailed it down for Texas. The Bears who have staved off last-minute defeat in several hair-raising games this season, just couldn't do it again today. McCall's touchdown came with a little more than three minutes left in the ball game.

A fumble by Texas' Ray Borne-man set up Baylor's first touchdown. He dropped the ball on a pitch-out behind the line from Campbell, and Don Mouser pounced on the ball on the Texas five. Several Baylor defenders had hit Borne-man hard. Jerry Mangum found a big hole and ran over for the score. Henry Dickerson's place-kick for the extra point was high but good. Another Texas fumble bound. Tom Landry raced to the Baylor 37. Campbell passed to Clay on the Baylor 23, Landry drove for six yards and then came Campbell's payoff pass to McCall. Baylor's Burk, with time running out, made good on two passes that put the ball in midfield, but Pyle's interception of another try on the 49 in effect ended the ball game.

Angelo Felines Trim Longhorns

Roland Scores Both Tallies

The Big Spring high school football Steers dropped a 13-0 decision—honorably, mind you—to the San Angelo Bobcats before a disappointing turnout here Friday night. The loss left the Longhorns winless—and scoreless—in District 3AA play.

It was simply that Red Ramsey's Felines had too much for the home-lings. The Stocktons played inspired football, and lost to a better ball club, though a break or two most certainly would have had them breathing on the necks of the opposition.

Angelo played a rough, bruising type of football, perhaps too rough. The eagle-eyed officials stepped off 78 yards in penalties against the Purple and Orange. Three other Cat touchdowns were nullified by infractions.

Clifford Roland scored both of the guests' tallies, the first of which culminated a 36-yard drive in Round Two. Roland went over from the one on a straight power play for that one.

That was all the Concho City troops got in the first half. Jo Val Ehlen having failed to kick goal. In the third, however, Angelo linemen, led by Ray Morris, seeped through to block Ariens Davis' punt out around the 25 and wound up in possession of that one, Morris being the boy who wrapped his frame around the pig pelt. From that point, Roland went over on the second try. Ehlen made good on his try for point and it was 13-0.

The visitors were back knocking down the gates within a few moments. Denny Southworth got in the way of a pass by Jimmy Jennings and loped 40 yards across the double stripes but his efforts went for nil when Angelo defenders were accused of holding a potential receiver.

Big Spring took advantage of the break by driving all the way to Angelo's nine-yard stripe just as the third period ended but Angelo held and gained the ball. Pat Hall immediately broke loose on a try at the line and raced 91 yards to the promised land but the head linemen detected some one holding on the play and the Cats were penalized all the way back to their one.

Undaunted, the Angelons moved out of the hole on straight line bucks. Ehlen had to kick, however, his boot going to midfield.

Big Spring appeared to be on the move again, Culin Grigby eventually taking a pass all the way down to the enemy 29 and Davis picking up an added eight or a saunter around end but a holding penalty set the Steers back on their heels and they never recovered.

The Cats went right to work following an interception that found them in command on their own 44. With Roland and Bill Gilley in the driver's seat, the guests moved to the 21 from which point Hall broke into the clear on a flanker but an off-side penalty crossed out the score and the Cats never got that close again.

The Steers actually had the edge in statistics, having made fair use of their air arm while their guests stuck exclusively to a ground offensive.

Davis was far and away the best back on the field and a constant threat on his jaunts into the line. The center of the Big Spring line looked better than it has in previous games, little Kimbel Guthrie showing to particular advantage.

Some of the authority went out of the Steer forward wall when big Don Williams was hurt in the second quarter and didn't return to play.

Score by quarters:
San Angelo . . . . . 0 6 7 0—13
Big Spring . . . . . 0 0 0 0—0

Starting lineups:
SAN ANGELO—Stewart and Morris, ends; Behrend and McKnight, guards; Hartman, center; Trice, Southworth, Hall and Gilley, backs.

BIG SPRING—Grigby and Armstrong, ends; Williams and Artens, tackles; Boadle and Cunningham, guards; Guthrie, center; Jennings, Washburn, Davis and Carter, backs.

Local Poloists Are Defeated

EL PASO, Nov. 6—The Big Spring polo team took an 18-3 lacing at the hands of the Marie team from Mexico City in the opening round of the Fort Bliss Centennial tournament here Friday.

The Mexicans started the game five points behind because of a handicap imposed by the officials.

EL PASO, Nov. 6 (AP)—Lamesa made a successful opening bid in the Fort Bliss Centennial Polo tournament here today, riding to a 6-4 victory over Abilene in the low-goal bracket.

The Lamesas staged a father and son act as Gus White, Jr., and his father scored two goals each for Lamesa.

 MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 6 (AP)—Minnesota overwhelmed Purdue, 34 to 7, in the last home game of the Gopher football campaign today. Purdue counted its touchdowns

Battling Farmers Outgain SMU But Lose

Doak Walker Is Difference

DALLAS, Nov. 6 (AP)—Southern Methodist edged downtrodden Texas A&M 20-14 today by the grace of the football gods and Doak Walker.

The fighting Aggies, playing their best game of the season and outpacing the celebrated Methodist aerial circus, had a crowd of 53,000 roaring as they held SMU on the defensive most of the final period and continually knocked at touchdown door.

It was All-American Walker who saved the day for a Methodist team that was favored by four touchdowns over an Aggie outfit that had lost ten straight games.

With the score tied in the third period, Walker personally conducted the Mustangs 95 flashing yards to the score that won the game. First he ran the kick-off back 58 yards to the Aggie 37, he then passed to Zohn Milam for eight and when nobody else could move through the line banged guard for a first down. He pitched to Dick McKissack for six and to Raleigh Blakely for a first down on the Aggie 12. Then he used the same tactics he's employed to win other games for SMU—he faked a pass as he ran to the right, then sped around the left end to a touchdown.

The victory kept Southern Methodist unbeaten in the Southwest which the winner will become host team in the Cotton Bowl, where today's game was played.

Walker accounted for all the Southern Methodist points. He passed to McKissack for the first touchdown, set up when SMU recovered an Aggie fumble on the A&M 27; he scored the second on a 40-yard burst through the line, and he not only got the final counter but saved an Aggie touchdown in the last minutes with a great piece of pass defense behind the Methodist goal line. Walker also kicked two points after touchdown.

The Aggies rolled up 16 first downs to 11 for Southern Methodist but the Mustangs made more yardage on the ground—148 to 89. The Aggies bested SMU in the air 238 yards to 130.

Southern Methodist got 14 points before the Aggies began to move. Buryl Baty, a bullet-armed quarterback, started clicking with his passes. Most of them being gathered in by End Charley Wright, who during the game caught throws for a total of 100 yards.

The first Aggie counter came after Baty intercepted a Gil Johnson pass and ran the ball back to the Southern Methodist 45. Baty passed to Bob Goodé on the SMU seven and then over the goal line to Andy Hillhouse for the score. Herb Turley converted.

The count was 14-7 then and the Aggies, scenting their first victory since early November of 1947, scored again the second time they got the ball. First they drove to the Methodist 30 before losing the pigskin and the next time went 65 yards for the tying touchdown. A 51-yard pass from Baty to Wright ate up most of the distance.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

The two head coaches of the football teams in action here Friday night, Herschel (Mule) Stockton of the Big Spring Steers and Herschel (Red) Ramsey of San Angelo, played professional football together with the Philadelphia Eagles back in the middle '30's. . . Mule was a guard, Red an end. . . Stock averaged 57 minutes a game the year he played, went back the next fall only to suffer a knee injury and retire from play. . . The Eagle coach at that time was Bert Bell, now president of the National Professional Football league. . . One reason for the drop in Tulsa's football fortunes this fall is the de-emphasis of the game there and one reason for the de-emphasis is that the Hurricanes found it exceptionally hard to book games. . . Bobby Porter, a grinder on the local reserve squad, the Shorthorns, is missing something life four of his front teeth. . . He lost them while riding a bull in a local rodeo a few months ago. . . 'Tis said Frank Kimbrough, the former HSU and Baylor coach, has his share of critics at West Texas State this year. . . Johnny Fuglar, who played a tackle position in Professor Adair's game of 75-pounders at Steer stadium Thursday, is a brother to Pete Fulgair, a former Longhorn regular. . . And they say he's a comer. . . Bob Kuykendall, a very promising B string end here, has three seasons of eligibility remaining.

Grigger Asks More Fan Support

Charles Marchbanks, who plays football on the Big Spring high school B string, takes the fans here to task for their apathy toward the Steers. Writes he:

"Some people are talking about the Steers, just now, for losing so many games, such bad playing and how the team will lose the remainder of its games this season."

"At our first home game, the stands were about two-thirds full. When Odessa came here, they filled the East stands and a portion of the West stands. They made their reservations well in advance of the game and you probably noticed there wasn't an empty seat, that is, if you were there."

"After the Brownfield game, which we won by more than one touchdown, the fans said, 'Luck was with the Steers that trip.' Even if Brownfield had made another touchdown and converted the extra point, we still would have won."

"At the Austin game here last Friday night, there should have been a fair sized crowd, even a large crowd, because of our victory at Brownfield. Too, Roswell had just beaten Austin. How many turned out? There were less than 1,000 present. When the Steers went out on the field and saw the crowd, they were downhearted. After winning their last game, they thought they were entitled to better backing. Without even average support, what would you expect of them?"

"To cite an example, the Coahoma team gets more support than we do."

"We have the best coaches in this district and excellent players, but what about the supporters? Odessa—and even Coahoma and Stanton, support their teams—win, lose or draw. Coahoma has lost two straight games. Do you think there will not be a crowd there when they play their next game?"

"We had won two and lost three, hoping to make it three and three against Austin. I wonder if the light bill was paid for by the reserve seat sale that night?"

"Support is what we need, and not only by the student body of BHS. We have a population of about 23,000. Don't you think at least 3,000 could be at our games, instead of reading the papers or trying to 'stop the music' on the radio?"

Fausett Buys Into Sox Club

Pat Stasey, the local baseball chieftain, is keeping busy these days as a weigher at the Big Spring Compress. . . We haven't asked him whether he cottons to the trade. . . Buck Fausett, the one-time Hollywood third sacker who skippered the Amarillo Gold Sox to the WT-NM pennant last summer, has acquired part of the stock in the Gold Sox, in fact, 48 per cent of it. . . Bob Seeds will continue as the organization's president.

Buck has hung up his spikes, they say. . . South Texans are hoping that Class B baseball league will eventually be organized with Austin, Waco, Port Arthur, Galveston, Temple, Corpus Christi, Corsicana and either Laredo or Brownsville as members. . . Austin and Waco are now members of the Big State circuit and Temple may shortly be. . . Credit Doc Horton, the Corpus Christi sports scribe, with the most astute remark of them all. . . Piped Doc: "In the case of baseball, Class D is NOT better than no baseball at all". . . Ask any major league owner what he thinks of D ball. . . The most aggressive game is usually played there. . . An El Paso man, W. T. Tulley, has purchased the Clovis (WT-NM league) club. . . The team, of course, will remain in Clovis.

Sul Ross Wins League Crown

ALAMOSA, Colo., Nov. 6 (AP)—The unbeaten, untied Sul Ross Lobos won the New Mexico College conference championship today by handing the Adams State Indians their first loss 34-24.

The Indians scored first and held a halftime lead of 12-7. Then Quarterback Mike Stimack was taken out with broken ribs, the Indians faltered briefly and recovered only to find the Lobos from Alpine, Tex., had run the score to 34-12. Adams State rallied but couldn't overcome the lead in the closing minutes.

Hosses All But Clinch Title

It's all Odessa in District 3AA football again this fall.

The Bronchos from Ector county clinched their fourth consecutive conference title, for all intents and purposes, last Friday night by drubbing Sweetwater 28-12. The Mustangs twice held the lead but could not maintain it.

Previously, the Hosses had trampled on Abilene and San Angelo, other title threats. Now only Lamesa and Midland stand in the way of another title for Odessa and Joe Coleman's forces should take the Tornados and the Bulldogs without a great deal of trouble.

Abilene and San Angelo chalked up other 3AA wins Friday, defeating Lamesa and Big Spring, respectively.

The Eagles ran over Lamesa, 25-0, while Angelo had more trouble than was expected with Big Spring, but came out on top, 13-0. Three other Angelo touchdowns were called back due to penalties.

Midland's Bulldogs, the league's other team, was idle.

Odessa plays Lamesa at Odessa in a day game Friday, then takes on Midland in Midland Nov. 25.

In another game Friday, Big Spring invades Midland for an evening game. The other teams in the loop will take the weekend off.

Wildcats Lose

WATER VALLEY, Nov. 5—St. Joseph's Academy of Abilene turned back Elton Mathis' Water Valley Wildcats, 44-0, in a six-man football exhibition here Friday. The loss was the Cats' fifth of the season as against five wins.

Forsan Casaba Team To Play

The Forsan Buffaloes, girls' basketball troupe, will go to Byers this weekend to participate in their first tournament.

The cagers are not accounted among the favorites, but they hope to gain experience against some of the better teams in the state. They will be accompanied by Glenn Whittemburg, coach, and Argh Phillips, Big Spring PE instructor. Plans are to leave Friday and return Sunday.

Among those on the squad are Bobby Miller, Pat Lindsey, Wanda Creelman, Marie Petty, Dorothy Long, Johnita Griffith, Peggy Painter, Donna Ramsey, Billy Gandy, Betty Robertson, Veth-Shaffer, Sara Chancellor, Norma Daves.

A pass from Gerald Rogers to Darrell Crass, which covered 25 yards, tied it up for the Ackerly sextet in the third. Ackerly was on Flower Grove's 20-yard stripe shortly before the game ended but could go no further.

Rogers, Crass and Cates Zant were standouts for Ackerly while Everett and Don Butler starred for Flower Grove.

Charles Everett scored on a 16-yard run for Flower Grove in the second quarter after the Eagles had driven to the foe's one-yard line in the first round only to lose possession.

A game off Union's pace and eliminated Ackerly from title consideration. Union and Flower Grove tangle next Friday at Flower Grove for the championship.

Among those on the squad are Bobby Miller, Pat Lindsey, Wanda Creelman, Marie Petty, Dorothy Long, Johnita Griffith, Peggy Painter, Donna Ramsey, Billy Gandy, Betty Robertson, Veth-Shaffer, Sara Chancellor, Norma Daves.

Pictures of the Southern Methodist-Texas university football game, won by SMU, 21-6, will be shown at the Ritz theater today only, it has been announced.

The action shows most of the scoring plays.

Oklahoma Sooners Rout Missouri Tigers, 41-7

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 6 (AP)—Slippery Jack Mitchell and a brutal Oklahoma line powered the Sooners to a 41-7 victory over a bewildered Missouri football team before a record breaking homecoming crowd estimated at 38,500 here today.

Showing their sharpest attack of the season before the largest gathering ever assembled for a football game in Oklahoma, the Sooners turned the game into a rout by scoring four touchdowns in eleven minutes and ten seconds of the third quarter.

The victory was Oklahoma's third in the Big Seven Conference against no defeats, and their sixth successive triumph of the campaign. It made the Oklahomans a prized pick for a bowl engagement.

It was a great battle for two full quarters as Missouri opened the scoring with Dick Brazzell smacking over from the one-foot line midway of the opening period. Bob Dawson kicked the point.

Oklahoma evened the game in the first four minutes of the second quarter on George (Junior) Thomas' four-yard slice through tackle and a perfect placement by Les Ming.

Then came the third quarter and a touchdown parade that went like this:

Mike Ginniquy, Missouri safety, fumbled Darrell Royal's punt. End Bobby Goad recovered on the Tigers' thirty-four yard line. Mitchell spun through tackle and chased 34 yards for the touchdown. He traveled untouched.

Bob Robinson's punt was blocked by Tackle Homer Paine on the Missouri sixteen. Junior Thomas climaxed the shot drive from the two yard line.

Mitchell gathered in Robinson's punt on the Oklahoma 26 yard line, faked to Darrell Royal on a crisscross and hugged the east side line seventy-four yards to score.

Sophomore fullback Leon Heath ended the third quarter, four-touchdown slaughter with a sweep of four yards around end.

Completely outclassed in the line, Missouri was through for the day, but Oklahoma had one more touchdown coming. Heath, playing with the third and fourth stringers, got it on a twenty-six yard dash early in the fourth quarter.

DORY FUNK ... Seeks Clincher

Getz and Funk Tangle Again Monday Night

Having been put to rout by an enraged Dory Funk in last week's matches, ponderous Al Getz tries to redeem himself in the eyes of the fans in a re-match with the Hoosier hot-shot at Pat O'Dowdy's Apple club Monday night.

Getz didn't lose last week's test but he was trying to elude the Mid-Westerner somewhere between the ring and the south door when Referee Billy McEuin elected to call a halt. Both men had been outside the arena too long, McEuin ruled, in disqualifying the whole kit and keboodle.

Up until that time, each man had won a fall. This time, they'll go at 90 minutes or less, depending on who can get as many as two falls.

Getz, though villainous, has a very commendable reputation here. He rarely loses. When he does make up his mind to wrestle, there are few who can stick with him.

The 8:15 o'clock preliminary finds Rod Fenton of Montreal, Canada, meeting Dick Trout of San Diego, Calif., in a match with a one hour time limit.

Reserves Clip Lamesa, 13-12

The Big Spring high school football reserves chalked up their second victory of the season by nudging Lamesa's B string, 13-12, here Saturday night.

The visitors scored within the first 30 seconds of play but the Shortorns fought right back to even the count, tallying when Carol Cannon took a pass on a hideout play from Bob Cobb and went 40 yards to pay dirt.

Big Spring scored again shortly before the first quarter ended when Billy Tubbs went over from the three. A pass from Cobb to Cannon set up the TD. A plunge gave the Shortorns the vital point.

Porkers Score Initial TD

LITTLE ROCK, Nov. 6 (AP)—A Rice Institute football team which had been disappointing, played its best game of the season to upset the favored Arkansas Razorbacks, 25-6 here today.

The Owls loosed a bevy of hard-running backs and a well-balanced T-offensive to turn an early deficit into a rout in the Southwest Conference clash before 34,700.

John Kelly, Sonny Wyatt, Bobby Lantrip and Huey Kenney ploughed through gaping holes opened by Rice's terrific front line from the Edwin Dickson, Bruce Lindsey and Wendell Shive and Bobby Cathey scored for the Bulldogs, Dickson taking an aerial heave from Lindsey on his way to pay dirt, Cathey made 12 points.

The home club betrayed impressive ground power, scoring most of its touchdowns on end runs.

S. B. Box banged over for Tuscola's initial six pointer in the initial period and Bill White added the point on a plunge. D. Redell added the second TD for the visitors in the third.

Coahoms led at half time, 20-6. The Bulldogs now hold victories over Stanton, Wiley, Clyde, Lorraine and Tuscola. They've lost to Roby, Iraan and Hermlingh. In the eight games, they've scored 123 points, four less than the opposition.

Coach Ed Robertson's crew plays Bronte in their next game here Friday night. The East Howard county eleven closes out with Robert Lee here Nov. 13.

Waddies Ride Central, 14-0

Led by a hard-running Frank Long, West Ward's Cowboys, punched out a 14-0 victory over Central Ward in a football game unreeled at Steer stadium Friday afternoon.

The Waddies collected their first touchdown in the initial quarter when Long lugged the pighide across. Frank again went over in the third.

Central Ward moved as far as West Ward's ten yard stripe late in the game but was stopped there.

Sam Hall looked to advantage for Central, especially when he was on the receiving end of passes, while Billie Martin stood out as a back for the losers.

Kelly Lawrence is serving as coach of the Cowboys while D. R. Gartman is acting that capacity for Central.

Penn State Upsets Quakers, 13-0, To Boost Chances For Bowl Game

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6 (AP)—State's great defense, led by Paul Kelly and Wally Triplett, and threatened only once to score on the wings of its passing attack in the third period. At the end of the fratricidal struggle, there was a small doubt in the minds of the banked thousands in Franklin Field that the better team had won.

Rogel, the offensive star of the game, whirled off his left tackle, found a clear opening through the Penn secondary and whizzed 44 yards for the first score in the second quarter, capping a State drive which ate up a total of 88 yards in eight plays. The raw power of State's running attack from the single wing featured the

HSU Staves Off Rally To Win

ABILENE, Nov. 6 (AP)—Hardin-Simmons university staved off a second-half rally by the Oklahoma City University Chiefs to take a 34-21 victory here today.

Dazzling runs of 62 and 88 yards by George Raines in the third quarter brought the Chiefs almost within distance of an early Cowboy lead.

Raines 63 yard romp accounted for one touchdown and his 88-yard jaunt set up another. Frank Bruno tallied from the six-yard line after this long run.

John Ford completed 18 of 25 attempted passes for Hardin-Simmons, accounting for 272 yards and two touchdowns. J. W. Steadman and Bob McChesney were on the receiving end of scoring tosses.

that drive, the Razorback dandy unraveled runs of 26, 18 and 10 yards. Jim Reichert's try from placement failed. The Porkers muffed two other opportunities.

From their own 30, after the kickoff, the Owls went all the way to tie the score. Three passes from Vernon Glass — for 34 yards — were a big factor. Lantrip drove over from the two. Froggie Williams missed the try for point.

Minutes later, Rice broke the tie after Center Joe Watson recovered an Arkansas fumble on the Razorback 15. Lantrip shot through from eight yards out. Again, the try for point failed.

Rice stormed 60 yards for its third touchdown, starting the march in the third period and completing it in the fourth. Then Chunky Wyatt tallied from the five. Williams booted the extra point. Arkansas unleashed one more offensive that was broken up when Scott fumbled on Rice's 16. From that point, the Owls paraded to another score, with Kelly counting on a ten-yard smash. Kenney's drop kick was wide.

Kelly led the ground-gainers with 95 yards net on 12 carries. Scott netted 92 on 16 tries for Arkansas.

Alaska Calls Turn In 1948 Election

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6. (AP)—For more than two weeks before Tuesday's stunning election upset, the handwriting was right there on the wall for all to see.

It was Alaska's Democratic vote in the territorial election of Oct. 12. Although the territories do not vote for President, Alaska for the past 22 years always has called the turn by choosing a delegate to Congress from the party that has gone on to win the presidency.

This year was no exception, and the far-north voters refused to put in a Republican replacement for Democrat E. L. Bartlett, the delegate coming back for a third term.

In the actual election only two of the weather-vane states survived Tuesday's Truman tempest with perfect records of backing the presidential winner.

They were Arizona and New Mexico, which haven't missed since joining the union in 1912, when they went for Woodrow Wilson. They did it again four years later, then switched to the Republican column the next three elections. In the last five elections, the baby states have been in the Democratic camp.

Three other ballot barometers—Idaho, West Virginia and Missouri—came up with accurate forecasts to maintain their high ratings. The potato state hasn't been wrong since it missed out with William Jennings Bryan in 1900. Missouri, likewise, has swung with victory parade 4 years, starting with Teddy Roosevelt in 1904.

West Virginia has supported only two losers in the last 15 presidential elections, losing with Cleveland in 1888 and splitting its electoral vote 7 to 1 for Hughes in 1916.

Two tip-off states fell from the winning ranks in the Democratic deluge. Maryland marked off its fourth miss since 1888 by falling into the Dewey camp. Its other wrong turns were to Bryan in 1908, Parker in 1904 and Cleveland in 1888.

New York's swing to the GOP candidate was the first time it had pointed the wrong direction since the 1916 election, when it backed Hughes.

As for Maine and its once-famed record of pointing to the national victor with its September state election—it maintained a 20-year record by giving its fifth straight misdirection.

Royall Takes Crack At 'South Movement'

GREENSBORO, N. C., Nov. 6. (AP)—Army Secretary Royall said Friday "any southern movement based on prejudice or injustice will not very long succeed."

Such a movement, he said, "can only work a disservice to our southland and to our entire nation."

Royall did not explain what movement he referred to, in the address he prepared for delivery at the Agricultural and Technical College of North Carolina—a Negro school.

But he called attention to a speech he made at Roanoke, Va., a few days before the election. In it he mentioned the danger that "splinter parties" might help drive the nation toward Communism, then added: "And the Democrats—perhaps unwittingly—are contributing to this danger."

Commenting that "your entire institution is an evidence of the fairness accorded by North Carolina to the Negro race for decades," the secretary himself a North Carolinian, struck out at those "who urge courses that seem to us totally impractical." He said: "I know, and you know, that extremists in distant states often make our task more difficult. They impede the very cause which they assume to protect."

"But even to these extremists we must give their dues. No great problem was ever solved without some protagonists who were far out in front of reality and practicality. Often these missionaries are necessary to awake us out of our lethargy and indifference."

Women's Gym Class Formed At 'Y' Meet

Organization of a young business women's gym and volleyball class was accomplished at a meeting in the YMCA Thursday evening.

First session is to be held Monday at 8:30 p. m. at the YMCA, and any young women interested in mild exercise and friendly games of volleyball is invited to participate.

For the time being the sessions will be held in the Y headquarters, said Lee Milling, YMCA executive secretary. The workouts will last for approximately an hour and a half. Several young women attended the meeting Thursday, called in response to a demand for such a group.

There is a similar session for men, which meets on Wednesday evenings at the high school gym. Milling said that enough men for another volleyball team is needed so that some league play could be organized. Currently there are enough for three teams. Any man interested in this mild exercise is invited to participate. Only requirement is that those who take part must wear gym shoes.

Pioneer To Fly Over Chisholm Trail This Time

DELTA, Colo., Nov. 6. (AP)—Starr Nelson, who at 81 believes he is the oldest flier in the country, will fly over the old Chisholm cattle trail country that he once rode on a cowpony.

This will be on Nov. 17 when he leads a group of Colorado Flying Farmers over the route of the trail, famed in oldtime cowboy songs.

Flying farmers from Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas will join the Coloradans.

Nelson, who will be 82 on Nov. 23, said he rode on a cattle drive in 1884, starting near Gainesville, Tex.

"We went north to Fort Reno, Okla., the only civilization of any kind in the area at that time," he said.

"We continued north until we reached the Cimarron River and followed its south bank in a north-westerly direction until we got almost due south of Dodge City, Kan. Then we crossed the river and went north into Dodge City where the cattle were shipped by train to market."

"Some trouble was caused by Indians, and Kansas farmers were opposed, also, since the large number of Texas cattle flooded the market and forced down prices."

Art Group Slated As YMCA Project

Ever wish you could draw or paint? Most every one has at some time or another, and now the YMCA is to sponsor an art class for all ages to permit people to give expression to that urge.

Marion Martin, secretary for the firm of Thomas & Thomas, has volunteered her services, said Lee Milling, executive secretary of the YMCA.

First meeting of all persons interested in instruction and appreciation has been set for 8 p. m. Nov. 16, and Milling emphasized that there is no age limit, one way or the other.

Miss Martin is a graduate of Henderson State College and of the University of Arkansas, where she was an art major. The class is simply to offer a means of expression to those who otherwise might not heed that urge to sketch or paint. Only expense probably would be in whatever materials were required for the work.

Gene Stratton Porter Film Coming To Texan Under P.-T.A. Sponsorship

A two-day showing of a film from a Gene Stratton Porter story, "Michael O'Halloran," is scheduled for this week, under auspices of the High School Parent-Teacher association.

The picture will be at the Texan theater, especially opened for the occasion, and will run on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 11-12, with continuous showings from 1 to 11:30 p. m.

Proceeds from the picture will go to the P-TA unit's fund for financing a public address system at the high school gym. "Michael O'Halloran" is reviewed as a simple, moving story that will interest all ages. Allene Roberts portrays the crippled girl whose young friend, Tommy Cook, intervenes when an accident to her widowed and alcoholic mother (Isabel Jewell) makes the child's placement in an institution imminent. He installs her in the room of his newsboy friend (Scotty Beckett), where she acts as housekeeper, the two eventually developing romantic interest, until gossip makes trouble.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Job's Life Is A Story Of Suffering, Triumph

Scripture—The Book of Job.

Many, many intensely dramatic stories are related in our Bible. They include tales of individuals—from Adam to Peter, Paul and other New Testament personalities—and stirring tales are also narrated of the Hebrew people, their tragedies, wanderings, sufferings, sins and triumphs.

Sometimes it seems that the history of the Jewish people, who have thought themselves the chosen people of God, have been so filled with tragedy and horror that there is no end to it. However, they, too, like Job, hero of today's Bible story have remained true to Jehovah, and to their faith in ultimate salvation.

The book of Job begins thus: "There was a man in the land of Uz, whose name was Job; and that man was perfect and upright, and one that feared God."

We are told that Job was a great and wealthy man. He had many possessions—sheep, camels, oxen, and "a very great household." He also had 10 fine children—seven sons and three daughters.

Job feared Jehovah, sacrificed often to Him, even for his children, whom, he feared, might be negligent in this rite. Job also was honest in business dealings, and generous to the poor and needy.

Now there came a day when the sons of God (His messengers or angels) presented themselves to the Lord, and Satan also came, because he too was an angel, although a fallen one.

The Lord said to Satan, "Whence comest thou?" And the Prince of Darkness replied, "From going to and fro in the earth, and from walking up and down in it." His answer shows the restlessness of an evil being.

The Lord asked Satan if he had considered His man Job, who was perfect and upright, "one that feared God and turned away from evil?" Satan suggested that Job might not prove so perfect if he was made to suffer without apparent cause. The Lord gave Satan permission to try Job by taking away his property, leaving him nothing; even depriving him of his children.

Satan took the challenge, and so it came about that all of Job's possessions were destroyed, his children were killed while they were feasting together when the house collapsed, and nothing was left him.

When messengers brought these dreadful tidings to Job, he fell with his face to the ground, saying, "Naked came I out of my mother's womb, and naked shall return thither; the Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away; blessed be the name of the Lord."

Job had passed the first test and remained faithful, but more was to come. Satan said to the Lord, "Skin for skin, yes, all that a man hath he will give for life. But put forth thine hand now, and touch his bone and his flesh, and he will curse Thee to Thy face."

The Lord answered, "Behold, he is in thine hand, but save his life." So Job was afflicted with boils and suffered grievously, and his wife advised him to "Curse God and die," but Job rebuked her.

Three friends of Job's came and argued with him, saying that he must have sinned and these afflictions were his punishment, but Job would not agree. He was still faithful to Jehovah and would not accuse Him of injustice, although in his agony, he complained bitterly and wished he had died in childhood.

At the last Jehovah appeared to him in a whirl wind, asking who was complaining of his sufferings, demanding to know "Where wast thou when I laid the foundations of the world?" and reciting the wonders thereof which He had created, until Job was humbled, realizing how puny were his miseries compared with the marvels of the universe.

If there is time in the space allotted for the teaching of this lesson, part of the Lord's words to Job should be read. They are among the most beautiful in the whole Bible.

"Cast abroad the rage of thy wrath; and behold every one that is proud and abase him," the Lord told Job.

"Then will I also confess unto thee that thine own right hand can save thee." After this the Lord praised Job for his constancy under torture, and thereafter He restored to him his riches, and ten more children were born to Job, three daughters and seven sons, as before.

MEMORY VERSE
"Consider the wondrous works of God."—Job 37:14.

COLORADO CITY, Nov. 6—Another Mitchell county 4-H girl, Joan Barber, has won an all-expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Congress to be held in Chicago, Nov. 28. Joan is the second girl from this county to win one of the coveted trips and Mitchell county is the only county in Texas with two girl prize-winners, according to Mrs. Mary R. Drummond, home demonstration agent here. Jolene Campbell will go to Chicago, with all expenses paid by a national pattern company, because she won first place in the dress revue at the State Fair.

Joan, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Barber of Westbrook, will go with all expenses paid by the Santa Fe railroad, because of her "outstanding general accomplishments in 4-H work." She was chosen, as one of eight 4-H'ers so honored, by Extension Service judges at College Station.

Fifteen years old, she is a junior student in Westbrook high school. She has lived most of her life on a farm south of Westbrook, and has been a 4-H member for the past five years. She has completed outstanding demonstrations in clothing, preparation of food, gardening, canning, and the feeding of beef cattle.

One interesting feature concerning her club work is the fact that she said for all her clothing material, all her bedroom improvement features, and that she bought herself a piano with money she made as profit from her cattle. She has her own herd and keeps careful record of expenditure and profit.

Garson And Pidgeon Are Cast Together Again In Ritz Film

Greer Garson shows herself to be a good comedienne in "Julia Misbehaves" which comes to the Ritz today. Walter Pidgeon, her partner in many earlier hits is co-starred.

Based upon the widely-read novel, "The Nutmeg Tree," by Margery Sharp, this saga of a lusty London showgirl who captivates every man's heart except her husband's, gives Miss Garson a laugh role as the fun-loving Julia Packett, down to her last penny ticket but too proud to accept help from Bill, the husband from whom she is separated, or Susan, the daughter she has not seen in fourteen years.

It is an invitation to Susan's wedding which brings the recalcitrant Julia back into the fold of the stuffy county family from which she had been banished, and she gives them plenty of cause to regret this mistaken gesture. First of all, she becomes involved with a boisterous troupe of acrobats (wait until you hear Miss Garson sing a music hall ditty while hanging from a trapeze!), then she swindles an over-ambitious friend of the family in a mirthful gambling casino episode.

next she persuades Susan to cancel her marriage plans to a dull fiance and to elope instead with the man of her heart—and, finally, she tops it all by winning back husband Bill through an hilarious series of adventures involving a picnicking bear, a storm-isolated cabin, and a dunking in the frigid waters of a lake!

The teaming of Miss Garson and Pidgeon, always an adroit one, is happier than ever in their present roles and they make the most of every comedy situation. Peter Lawford paints an engaging picture of the impetuous young artist who steals Susan from under her very suitor's nose, with Susan enacted by the attractive Elizabeth Taylor, and Cesar Romero contributes a felicitous performance as the head of the acrobatic troupe who is never happier than when showing off his formidable biceps. Other laugh-makers include the veteran Mary Boland as the tipsy "Ma Ghenocto," Nigel Bruce as the self-styled ladies' man who is duped by Julia at the gambling casino, Lucile Watson as the over-bearing dowager who tries in vain to put Julia in her place, and Reginald Owen as the pawnbroker who isn't surprised at anything Julia does—even to her act of forstalling her creditors by barricading herself in a bubble bath!

Middleweight Champ's Story Is At Terrace

Enterprise studios scores with a new film, "Body and Soul," which will be shown at the Terrace beginning today. Co-starring in the feature are John Garfield and Lilli Palmer.

The story of a middleweight champion emmeshed in the labyrinth of sporting manipulations, alternately succumbing to the economic temptations involved and then resisting them at great personal risk, is a dramatic delineation of the stress today's high-pressure life puts upon the ideals we all have and the compromises we must all make in order to survive satisfactorily.

John Garfield, as the pugilist, presents a realistic performance which further entrenches him in his position as one of the country's fine actors. And as the two women in his life, charming Lilli Palmer, England's latest welcome gift to Hollywood, and a newcomer, Hazel Brooks, portray the influences for good and evil which women can yield.

Anne Revere, who won acclaim and an "Oscar" for her enactment of the mother in "National Velvet," challenges that earlier performance as Garfield's mother and a host of recruits from the stage and radio bring skillful characterizations to their parts as members of the boxing profession.

Joseph Pevney, Art Smith, Canada Lee and William Conrad earn applause for making of supporting roles integral parts of the film. But the picture has more merit than its dramatic entertainment value. Today, with activities in the sports field leading into prominence of a not always noteworthy sort, "Body and Soul" offers a timely reassurance that a sportsman's basic sincerity can overcome the occasional quirks that creep into the field.

Director Robert Rossen has created a film in which drama is built skillfully and absorbingly to a climax. Especially in the direction of Miss Brooks in her first acting role, has he won laurels by launching a young lady whose future on the screen is assured.

"Body and Soul," the fourth film Enterprise has made, sets a high standard for the infant company.

Poodle Subject Of Damage Suit
REDWOOD CITY, Calif., Nov. 6. (AP)—Sophie, a French poodle, is a distraught mother after nine years of happy, trusting spinsterhood, complains her owner in a $1,800 suit filed here.

The damages were demanded of Dr. P. H. Hand, Millbrae pet shop proprietor, by Miss Doris Bothwell, San Francisco textile designer.

She said that while Sophie was in Dr. Hand's care, he failed to stop the advances of a black cocker spaniel. The suit alleged Sophie's whelping of nine pups impaired her show dog value by $500 and took 40 hours of Miss Bothwell's $25-an-hour designing time for puppy sitting.

Dr. Hand replied Sophie was neurotic and having puppies did her good.

Display Of Huge South Pacific Rats Scheduled

If you are a veteran of the South Pacific and have trouble convincing people about the size of overgrown rats you encountered, you can prove your claim this week.

Two specimens of the South Pacific jungle will be on display Tuesday and Wednesday, November 9 and 10 next to the Tasty Bar on third street across from the Lyric.

They're more than three feet long (the man says) and have teeth about an inch and a quarter long.

They'll be exhibited by Billy Barlow, of St. Peter, Minn., himself a veteran of the South Pacific. He picked up five specimens while he was in the Caroline Islands and brought them home.

They were all males. Immigration authorities refused to admit several female specimens he had to guard against colonization of the undesirable rodents in this country.

Three of the rats have since died because of the climate here is unsuitable. The largest of the survivors weighs about 14 pounds.

The rats will be in a strong steel cage. They eat continuously during the lecture period.

There will be no admission charge. The exhibit is supported by donations.

Oh yes, the rats are named—appropriately—Tojo and Hirohito.

HIGHLIGHTS ON KBST

Jo Stafford Starts New Show Thursday

The week brings a new program to KBST listeners, with the inauguration, on Thursday, Nov. 11, at 7:30 p. m., of the "Jo Stafford Show." Star, of course, will be the popular star of the air lanes and the records, vocalist Jo Stafford.

Her musical accompaniment will be provided by Paul Weston and his orchestra. Famous show world personalities will be present each week as guest artists. The Jo Stafford show will be heard over ABC-KBST each Thursday from 7:30 to 7:55 p. m. and will be followed by a short news commentary by George Hicks.

PAT O'BRIEN STARS
Pat O'Brien and Joseph Calleia will be starred in Martin Flavin's absorbing drama of prison life, "Criminal Code," when it is presented by The Theatre Guild on the Air tonight at 8:30 over the American Broadcasting company and KBST.

In "Criminal Code," playwright Flavin took a look at an entirely accidental murder and around it fashioned a play that was voted one of the 10 best of the 1929-30 New York theatrical season. Along with his story, he was concerned with the more serious aspects of imprisonment, particularly as they applied to a boy with a respectable background.

GREAT-EST STORY
Terror-stricken and unarmed, a man confronts his would-be assassin in an absorbing Greatest Story Ever Told dramatization of "The Pursued" this afternoon at 5:30 over ABC and KBST.

The fast-moving story takes place in a remote village in Galilee—far off the great caravan routes of 2,000 years ago, and buried midway between the Great Sea and the Sea of Galilee—seemingly a perfect seclusion for someone trying to hide. But Silas "The Pursued," could escape neither his conscience nor his tormenter, a man he had betrayed in his youth. The drama is based on Luke 12:4, 5 and 6:36, 37.

"COUNTERSPY"
Lending its support to the views of the National Education Association, the ABC network's David Harding, Counterspy program has invited Willard Givens, executive secretary of NEA to appear on this afternoon's broadcast to outline the immediate needs of public school programs throughout the nation.
