Have You Thanked A School Board Member Lately?

School board members exemplify local citizen control and decision making in education. They volunteer hundreds of hours and an immeasurable amount of energy to assure that our schools are providing the best education possible for the children of the community. Here are some reasons we are taking this opportunity to show them our appreciation during School Board Recognition Month in January

School board members are citizens whose decisions affect our children-what they learn, who will teach them, and what kinds of facilities house their classrooms.

These are men and women elected to establish the policies that provide the framework for public schools. They represent you, and they take this responsibility seriously by attending lengthy meetings; at conferences and institutes

The Rev. and Mrs. Kermit Sorrells and Derriel Warnock attended an open house dedication at Aldersgate Enrichment Center near Early on Saturday.

The dedication marked the occupation of the Loyd-Hamrick Group home, the first of several that are to be built. Officials said the home, which already has two occupants opens a new era for the center which is designed to provide jobs and independence for mentally challenged individuals. The facility which employs about 40 associates at this time, is a project of the United Methodist Men of the Central Texas Conference of the United Methodist Church. Warnock serves on the board of directors of Aldersgate and chaired the building committee for the first group home.

Aldersgate Enrichment Center is open to all who need its particular services, regardless of religious affiliation. It is located between Early and Zephyr in Brown County.

Chamber Announces New Directors, Plans For The Future

The Santa Anna Chamber of Commerce met on January 5 and began with the introduction of new board members Craig Adams, Kathy Holt and Patti Musick. Also on the board are Liz Morris, Rita Harris and Celeste Simmons.

Members unanimously voted Morris as president; and Adams as vice president.

Following a discussion it was agreed that the position of secretarytreasurer would be separated and Simmons will serve as secretary and Harris as treasurer.

The Christmas parade sponsored by the Chamber was discussed with changes to be made next year in traffic control being planned.

Morris suggested that the Chamber work on ideas to promote commerce in Santa Anna and how to make the Chamber a more productive organization. Ideas included have someone at the office during business hours; find a way to plan activities with interfering with plans by the city and school and visa versa; sending to the newspaper a report of each meeting; quarterly evening meetings with a hamber and volunspeaker; the teers cleaning up Veteran's Park; and a hunter's appreciation dinner.

The next meeting of the Chamber will be Tuesday, January 26 at 7 p.m. This meeting will be for the purpose of discussing plans for this year's Funtier Days. Ideas are needed and everyone is urged to come and bring any idea you might have to help the Chamber have a successful event this year. Elementary School Plans Valentine Fest. Other Contests

Santa Anna Elementary School will be hosting a Valentine Fest on the school auditorium.

Two boys and two girls will be nominated from each grade K-8 and one from 9-12. Each class will vote on their representative.

Each couple nominated with have Bradley collection jars with their pictures on them. Each couple will be responsible for collecting money for their jars. Jars will be out at break time and monitored by school staff. Each penny donated will count as a vote.

Adults will pay $1.00 each to attend the event with admission bieng paid into the jar of their choice.

Entertaiment will be provided by the Santa Anna High School Jazz Band and the elementary students.

Also planned is a photogenic. contest for ages 0-18 which will be Salazar divided into age division and a. senior citizens division for 55 and older. There will also be a pet division. A fee of $5.00 will be charged for each picture entered. Trophies will be awarded to winners 'Julie Garza in each division. Participants are limited to Santa Anna residents.

The Valentine Fest will be replacing the Great American fund raiser the elementary school has been having each year. According to school officials, $1,000 is needed to replace the funds lost from the Great American fund raiser.

Money raised will be used for field trips, six week awards, conduct lunches, banners, nameplates or whatever is needed in the elementary building, semester awards, year end prizes and award trips, and coke/ice cream parties.

No, Dennis Rodman hasn't shaved the number on the back of his head yet, but basketball players Grant Hill, Scottie Pippen and Patrick Ewing sport number 33. So does David Wells of the New York Yankees, who hurled a perfect game last season. Sports Hallof-Famers Larry Bird and Tony Dorsett also wore number 33.

Helpful Tips From Santa Anna Elementary

Working With Your School

Q. Both my husband and I love to read. Our fifth grader doesn't share that love. It's not that he can't . . . but he won't. Now he says he's having trouble reading the material for his classes. How can we help him become a better reader?

A. Your son is certainly not alone. As almost any teacher can tell you, the biggest reading problem we face is not that our kids are illiterate, but that they're aliterate. Given a choice, they'll do anything to avoid reading. And since reading is a skill that needs to be practiced regularly (just like playing the piano or shooting a free throw), kids who don't read soon find they can't keep up with the reading that's required in school.

"... the biggest reading problem we face is not that our kids are illiterate, but that they're aliterate."

What you need to do is launch a campaign to get your son to read as much as possible. The more he reads, the easier it'll get.

So make sure your house is filled with things your son enjoys reading. If it's Batman comic books, then have a zillion of them around. What you want is to let him have the experience of reading something and feeling, "Hey, this is easy-and it's fun." That's an attitude that will make him want to read more. Look for other high-interest things to leave around the house. If your son is a sports nut, get a sports magazine. If he loves computers, look for a computer magazine. The key is to get him reading.

Schools, Parents Must Work Ouestions & Answers To Prevent School Violence

Recent tragedies have made schools aware of the need to pay special attention to school safety. But the best school safety efforts involve parents and schools working together. Here are some things you can do to help prevent school violence:

Stop thinking that "It can't happen here." School violence may happen in the smallest town.

Get the facts. According to the Centers for Disease Control, kids face less than one chance in a million of being killed at school. According to the National School Safety Center, twice as many people were killed by lightning in 1997 as were killed at school: In fact, there were 27 percent fewer killings in the 1997-98 school year than there were just five years ago.

If your child talks about a school bully, pay attention. The "typical" school violence problem is more likely to involve a bully than a gun. If you suspect your child is the bully, talk to the teacher to see what you can do to correct your child's behavior. Supervise your children.

Know where they are and what they're doing. If you have guns in your home, lock them up. Keep ammunition in a separate place. locked with a separate key. · Talk with your children about their fears and worries, as well as their hopes and dreams. Get involved. If your child reports trouble in the lunchroom, organize a group of parents who will take turns supervising. Get a group of parents to watch kids. If many children in your community walk to school, see if you can work with the police department to create "Safe Homes"—places where kids can go if they feel their safety is threatened.

Reinforcing Learning

Playing 'Firsts & Lasts' Helps Reinforce Phonics, Spelling

Here's a great way to help your child with phonics and spelling ... while having some fun. It's also a great game for those times when you're stuck waiting in the grocery store, at the bank or in the doctor's office without a book to read.

Choose a category—say, Animals. One person names an animal-for example, "Toad." The next person has to think of an animal that starts with the last letter of that word. So the next player might say "Dog." The next player could respond with "Goat," and so

Other categories might include geography, foods or plants. As your child gets older, make the categories more difficult-instead of geography, choose state names, country names, rivers, sports stars, popular singers, explorers, or inventors for example.

preached at church. His wife was with him and our attendance was better which was nice. If you don't have a church home, come meet with us, you are invited.

Ray and Barbara Dockery of Paint Rock were overnight guests of John and Earlene Dockery Saturday night and joining them for the day Sunday were Lynn and Jason Dillard and two children of Stephenville and Wesley and Candi Dockery.

Bettie Martin visited in Brownwood Tuesday with her mother Mrs. Mary Crawford.

Natalie McIver celebrated a birthday Thursday by having lunch at the country club in Brownwood with her sister Jane Young and daughter Darla Gibson.

Billy Don and Carol Haynes of Hermleigh visited with his mother Ilene Haynes in Santa Anna Saturday afternoon and the three of them ate supper with Reba and Elvis Cozart. Sunday their daugh-

We enjoyed the sermon of Kermit ter and her husband Linda and Sorrells Sunday morning when he Preston Gray of Georgetown visited a while and had lunch.

Sherman Stearns of McGregor spent Friday night with his mother Novella Stearns.

Mary Lou Jones attended a program put on by the Joy Group of the First Baptist Church of Santa Anna Thursday and was about the history of the town and was told by Billie Guthrie, which she said was very interesting.

Janice Snow and son Taylor of near Brownwood were Saturday visitors with her grandmother Mrs. Gertrude Martin.

Helen McIver visited Saturday with Annie Lou Vaughn and Sunday Barbara Dockery of Paint Rock and Lynn Dillard and children Jaylon and Jatson visited. Earlene Dockery was in and out several times during the week.

The eighty-four club met Thursday night with fourteen pre-

There will be a Band Booster meeting today, Thursday, January 14 at 7 p.m. at the First Baptist Church CLC.

Some of topics to be discussed are incentives to band members competing in solo and ensemble contest and when band members can receive letter jackets. A fund raiser will also be discussed.

If you haven't joined the "Band Wagon" by becoming a band booster member, you may still join. Cost is $5.00 per family. You will receive a membership card and a treble clef pin to be worn proudly at all band functions.

For more information contact Peggy Hensley, Gay Martin or Mary Pritchard.
