Nine Airmen Are Stranded In Greenland

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Dec. 16. (AP) - American air crews, equipped with ski-planes and gliders, will make a perilous attempt today to rescue nine U. S. fliers, huddled on a bleak Greenland snow bank The U. S. Newfoundland Command said rescue equipment was miles from where the nine men are

Two transports towing red-tailed gliders took off last night from Westover Field, Mass, on the first leg of the rescue mission. They were accompanied by Lt. Col. E. Vocational Work Cited By Speaker

A strong vocational department may be one means of helping people who have, for one reason or another, been unable to complete their education. ,

Frank Medley, head of the Howard County Junior College trades and industries school, advanced this belief to the Lions club Wednesday. He said that the problem of American business and industry today was that of trained personnel. He ventured that most would find it more economical to pay a slightly higher rate for beginning employes who were trained in a trade then to a take a raw recruit and spend three to six months in to other courts, including two which Hardin-Simmons has won four, lost two and tied three this campaign, scoring 249 points to 188 for the opposition.

The games it lust were pretty wild affairs, too. Arizona beat the Cowboys 20-14. Texas Tech licked Hardin-Simmons 28-20.

Take those other games: The Cowboys started out rather mildly by scoring only one touchdown as they stalemated with Cincinnati 7-7. Then came Arizona. Next Hardin-Simmons beat New Mexico 28-19 in a glittering "defensive" duel. And Hardin-Simmons and Texas Mines played to a 27-27 tie. Oklahoma City University was outscored 34-21.

Big Spring baseball club of the Longhorn league brings Al Aton in as club president and business man-

Aton, who soldiered here during World War II and decided to settle down in Big Spring, succeeds Les Maulden in that capacity. The change takes place immediately.

Maulden took over the business end of the club last summer when Claud McAden, a partner in the club, moved to San Angelo.

The retiring president said his relations with the club, the local fans and his partner, Pat Stasey, had been most amicable but he had decided to get out of baseball. He is now associated with the T&P and plans to continue living in Big Spring.

Aton married a Big Spring girl the former Kathleen Boatler, and at the present time is employed by the post office. He worked as a ticket-taker for the Broncs last sea-son and decided then he liked the business of baseball.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Dec. 18. (P)— The stock marget was in an indeclaive mood today. Small grains and losses were pretty well divided and many issues stayed at the previous close.

Moderate activity developed, with turnover helped along by several transactions involving 1,000 or more shares.

New West Coast Strike Possible

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 16. 48-The AFL Sailors' Union of the Pacific, demanding wage increases, has raised the possibility of a new West Coast shipping strike if its demands are not met.

The union filed a routine 60-day strike notice with the Labor Department Monday, Harry Lundsberg, SUP executive secretary, said the notice was presented "as a safeguard—just in case we have to take the hard way."

The sailors have asked monthly increases ranging from $20 to $60 to a top rate of $350 for boatswains, and the Pacific American Ship-owners' Assn. has offered $16 to $20. No meetings have been held since Monday, although negotiations are subject to resumption on call of Federal Conciliator Omar

Just as a refresher for all of us, we'd 8ke to highlight the things these amendments provided:

Freedom of religion, speech, press, assembly and to petition government for redress; right of the states to have miitias; freedom from arbitrary quartering of soldiers in homes; freedom from search and seizure without due process

Freedom from incarceration without

We have just passed the anniversary due indictment, from twice being tried for the same offense, from testifying against oneself, from losing life, liberty and property without due process of law, and from public seizure of property without just compensation.

The right to a speedy and public trial by a jury, the right of knowing the nature of charges brought against one, to be confronted by accusing witnesses, the right of having counsel for one's defense.

Freedom from excessive bail, fines and unusual or cruel punishments; the retention of rights by the people; the reservation of rights, not delegated to the federal government, by the states.

Of course these are but high spots. We recommend that you get a copy of the constitution and read it, particularly the first 10 amendments. You'll gain an appreciation for the fact that these are at least a part of what people mean when they speak vaguely of "our way of life."

Delinguent Tax Campaign Can Balance Load, Clear The Rolls

City and Big Spring Independent School their accounts. Only when all possibilities fistrict board members have taken preliminary steps to launch a campaign for collection of delinquent taxes.

If we understand the gentlemen rightly the object is not to penalize anyone anduly, but rather, on the whole, to help the majority of taxpayers. This stems from the fact that failure of part to carry their load means that those who do meet their tax obligations as nearly as possible are oblidged to shoulder the part represented in delinquent accounts.

In previous experience with suits here, the various agencies (which must besome a party to the suit) usually try to work out some arrangement with owners who are desirious of attempting to pay have been exhausted has the resort been to the courts. In other words, the object is not to sue just to be suing.

Beyond stimulating some collections, the sults can accomplish a clarification for the rolls. Oddly enough, as complicated as it is, the tax suit sometimes is the simplest means for clearing titles on some forgotten pieces of property. It frequently is a handy means, too, for putting some bits of property back into circulation.

With delinquent accounts now down to minimum, it will be more convenient to put rolls in sound condition than at some future date when the volume might complicate matters. In this respect, the action already is tardy.

Here's How It Feels To Be Dying With A Bad Heart

WASHINGTON, W-THE HEART IS A time bomb.

You carry it around in your chest. On still nights, in the dark, you can hear it ticking away.

Then one day-if you're one of about 30 per cent of the people-it seems to explode. Maybe there's only a dull pain, or maybe it's a blinding pain, and then death, or long months of lying quietly in bed. Last night the public health service said heart disease is still the No. 1 killer, that 460,000 people died of it last year.

For years, as I've grown older, I've wondered how a man feels who's had a heart attack and recovered.

I've wondered what it did to him and to his thinking about himself.

Then I found a man who had such an attack, a man of 44 who had been extremely active physically, one of my closest

The doctor took a cardiogram, a check on the heart. My friend asked him, deadpan, when it was over:

Senator-elect Karl Mundt of South Dakota has more prestige and common sense than any other member of the House un-American Activities Committee. Unlike some of his colleagues he knows the difference between right and wrong.

Writing to a South Dakota constiment about the knock-down, drag-out tactics of the committee, Mundt frankly admitted:

"I agree with you about the procedural methods of the House Committee on un-American Activities. For your information, Congressman Nixon of California and I have been working for some weeks on a new set of rules to govern the procedure of our committee. Just as soon as Chairman Thomas is back, we expect to have the committee approve these procedures.

"Thomas," continued Mundt, "is a hard fellow to control, as he is a bit of a publicity seeker and is also of a highly impetuous nature.

"While he usually has the facts pretty well in hand before he speaks up in public, still I do not like his method of making a public statement about an individual until he has had the opportunity to be heard before the committee. I feel certain that the abuses of which you rightfully complain are going to be corrected within the next two or three weeks." MUNDT IN GRANDSTAND Not merely three weeks, but nearly 12 months have passed since that letter was written. In the interim, Parnall Thomas has been relegated to the sidelines. and here's what's been happening under the two congressmen-Mundt and Nixon-who did not approve Thomas's "publicity-seeking." It was on Nov. 19 that the Baltimore atterneys for Hiss and Chambers called the Justice Department and revealed that secret State Department documents had turned up in the Hiss-Chambers slander suit. Hard-working Alex Campbell, assistant attorney general, went to Baltimore that same day. It was 21 days later, Dec. 1, that alert Robert Stripling, attorney for the un-American Activities Committee, first heard about the secret papers. He has since admitted that he learned about them through an item by Jerry Klutz in the Washington

Instead of sending the film to the FBI to be developed, the committee was so anxious to keep its pumpkin-discovery out of the Justice Department hands that it sent the film to a friend in the Veterans Administration

There two rolls were exposed to the light and are now worthless. Meanwhile, D. M. Ladd, assistant FBI director, went up to the un-American Activities Committee and asked that the microfilm be turned over to him. Assistant Attorney General Campbell made the same request, so did Attorney General Tom Clark. No result for one whole week. Finally, the nonpublicity-seeking Mundt and Nix-

Sergeant's Invention Aided In Normandy Breakthrough

NEW YORK, M-CURTIS G. CULIN. Jr., made only one invention in his lifebut it helped win the battle of Normandy. It was this unhersided young sergeant who figured out a way for American tanks to crash through the French hedgerows. This led to Gen. Patton's famous dash across France. Recognizing that the "suggestion box" principle pays off on the battlefield as well as on the industrial front, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower pays tribute to "Bud" Culin Karl Mundt Has More Common Sense in his memoirs. I set out to get the sergeant's own story, and found him less impressed with his own invention than was his commanderin-chief. Ex-Sergeant Culin, a slender, blond, mild-looking man of 33, now holds an office post here with Schenley Distillers,

"I commanded a light tank in the 102nd Cavalry Reconnaissance Squadron," he said, "and my invention, if you want to call it that, was something anybody in the front lines would have come up with in a few days. Our squadron just happened to be the first to try it out and develop it."

FOR SIX WEEKS AFTER THE LANDing in Normandy the American Army made advances measure in terms of yards rather than miles. The landscape offered almost as much resistance to progress as did the dug-in enemy.

The chief obstacles were the famous Normandy hedgerows. They were massive banks of dirt, centuries old, and topped by thick growths of shrubbery and small

"And if we tried to climb over them, the under belly of the tank was exposed. The German anti-tank guns then could rip us open like sardine cans. Our own tank guns were pointed at the sky-useless. We couldn't defend ourselves."

The problem was to find a way for the tanks to force a path through the hedgerows, guns firing, instead of clamoring over them. At first combat engineers were sent out on foot to blast holes in the hedgerows. But they were picked off by German infantry.

"O'ne day my commanding officer called meeting of non-coms to get suggestions," said Culin. "I didn't know anything about mechanics or engineering, but I had seen a lot of German iron roadblocks.

"I suggested putting sharpened chunks of iron from these roadblocks on our tanks so we could dig through the hedgerows."

THEY TRIED IT. THEY WELDED four flanges to a crossbar, fixed it to a tank-and the 15-ton vehicle pitch-forked its way right through the nearest hedge-

"Gen. Bradley heard about it and came down to watch a demonstration," said Culin. "He saw it worked, and swore us to secrecy. He then secretly had 600 of our frontline tanks equipped. They were used to spearhead our attack."

The device caught the Germans completely by surprise, and the American Army made a successful breakthrough of the Nazi lines at St. Lo on July 25th, 1944 -the breakthrough that carried to the

Strong Controls And Much Higher Taxes Are In Offing

WASHINGTON. Behind the White House scenes, the President's right and left wing advisers have been locked in another of their languid but embittered struggles. The issue has been the President's policy on economic controls and taxation. And the outcome can apparently be summed up in the six bleak words-strong controls and much higher taxes.

In these palace battles, even the composition of forces is sometimes difficult to discern exactly. But there are signs, nonetheless, that the present struggle has shown an interesting variation from the rrevious pattern.

The leading advocates of boldness have been the White House counsel, Clark Difford, and Dr. Leon Keyserling of the Economic Advisory Council. These two devised the ten-point inflation control program which the President offered to the special session of Congress in November, 1947, against the virtually unanimous advice of his Cabinet. Their position thus remains unchanged, as does Truman's reliance upon them. It is a change, however, that the Cabinet has remained largely aloof, except that Secretary of the Treasury John Snyder has given his customary advice to go slow. And it is also an important change that the chief champions of caution have thir time been Dr. Reyserling's chief, the chairman of the Economic Advisory Counell, Dr. Edwin Nourse, and the Director of the Budget, James Webb. The lineup discloses the existence of two schools of thought about national policy, both beginning with almost the same assumptions, but divided on the crucial points of timing and range of governmental ef-

The great advantage of the "go-fast" faction has been their previous successes, prior to the fall session last year, and the summer special session this year. Perhaps a greater effort might have been made by the "go slow" group on those carlier occasions, if they had regarded the President's messages to the two special sessions as anything more than statements to clear the political record. They were well aware the messages would not be acted upon by Congress then. They are more than a little rueful to discover that these mere scraps of paper of the past have now become a program for positive action, by a President just triumphantly re-elected with a strong sense

The economic controls for which the than about half of this sum.

(Copyright 1948 by N. Y. Herald-Tribune Inc.) President will ask the Eighty-First Congress are in fact the same controls that he fruitlessly proposed to the now fallen. but once so complacent Eightieth Congress. In November, 1947; and again last summer, he pressed a wide ranging and ambitious plan. It included controls of consumer credit and bank credit; regulation of commodity speculation; materials allocation and inventory controls; strengthened rent controls, selective price controls, and standby powers to ration scarce goods.

At the summer special session, the last Congress acted only in a limited way on the recommendations for controls of consumer credit and bank credit. The other recommendations were ostentatiously not considered. But they will be considered this time. The President now speaks with the confidence and authority of his great personal victory on election day. He means to fight for the program which was once laughed off as mere electionyear politicking.

He will fight also for much higher taxes. The Democratic Congressional leaders blanch at the mere thought, but within the Administration the need for higher taxes is unanimously admitted. The question is, not whether taxes must be raised. but how. The Treasury has little liking for excess profits taxes, which inevitably penalize new enterprises with no earlier record of good revenue. But on the issue of the higher corporation taxes favored by the Treasury versus the excess profits taxes favored by the "go fast" faction in the White House, the advocates of the stronger course again have the same advantage. The President recommended an excess profits tax to the special session last summer.

The mere preservation of consistency is not the only argument being used for excess profits taxes, however, Industrial profits have risen from $12.5 billion after taxes in 1948, which was then an all time high, to another all time high of $18.1 billion in 1947, to a third estimated alltime high of $21 billion this year. These huge profits for industry are considered strongly inflationary. They are also an open invitation to labor, to make further inflationary fourth-round wage demands. Tax the profits and halt the inflationary cycle, has become the watchword. The aim is to raise as much as $5 billion of added government revenue by new taxation. The projected excess profits tax is not expected to produce more

NOSE HIGH - Getting the world's largest bomber out of Consolidated Vultee's assembly plant at Fort Worth, is a problem. 'The 230-Foot wingspread won't clear the 200-foot wide door and the 47-foot tail is too high for the door. The solution; turn the B-26 sideways and jack up the nose, which drops the tail. This one has just cleared the doorway. (AP Wirephoto).
