Santa Anna Given Beauty Hints by W.T.C.C. Forester

R. C. Morrison, Employed by West Texas C. of C., Speaks Here

R. C. Morrison, forester of Ft. Worth, lectured to about two hundred and fifty interested people at the Queen Theatre last Thursday night. His appearance here was sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, his subject being landscaping, planting and caring for flowers, shrubs and trees.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is fostering a five-year beautification program, and has secured the services of Mr. Morrison to visit the several towns and cities situated in West Texas, to encourage people to plant trees, flowers and shrubs, and properly landscape their premises.

There is not a town in central West Texas with a prettier background than Santa Anna, and nature has provided well for this particular place and it could be made one of the most attractive places in the West if the citizens would take an interest and do their part.

As a matter of course, it costs something to have beautiful premises, not so much in dollars and cents, but in energy and management. If the hours spent in idleness were partly devoted to beautifying the home grounds and some thought was given to the proper flowers, trees and shrubs for both beauty and profit, there would be much less idle rumor about this that and the other, who don't give a whoop what you say.

We have made several efforts to encourage the people of Santa Anna to clean up and beautify their premises, and it occurred to us we fell short in procuring very much co-operation, and we had thought of giving up the idea, but it not our nature or disposition to give up on a subject that is worthwhile without a more noticeable accomplishment. We had much rather be sitting here writing a nice story about some beauty spot than to be writing such an article as this, and we hope some day we can take a kodak and make the round of the town, take some kodak pictures of several beautiful yards and write some nice stories about them. Who'll second the motion?

Rat Control To Be Discussed By Farmers Tonight

Second Meeting of Farmers To Be Held at the High School Tonight

Rats are one of the most destructive and expensive things that the farmer has to deal with. They eat and destroy thousands of dollars worth of farm property each year. They can be controlled only by very systematic procedure. In fact, in controlling them, man has to match his brain against the highly developed instincts of the rat.

Tonight at 7 o'clock in the agriculture department of the Santa Anna High School—a group of interested farmers will try to find some practical procedure for the control of these pests. According to reports, rats are doing heavy damage to farms in this territory and tonight will be a good time for the affected farmers to get a practical method of control.

The meeting tonight is the second of a series dealing with local farm problems and will begin promptly at 7 o'clock.

Every interested person is invited to attend.

B.T.S. To Meet In Coleman Junction Church Sunday

The Coleman County Association B. T. S. (B.Y.P.U.) will meet next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the Coleman Junction Baptist Church. The Rockwood B. T. S. will have charge of the program.

To be counted, your representation must be there when the count is taken. Be there on time in order to make sure of being counted. Have your reports made out correctly. You should give the number enrolled in each individual training service and the average percent on all the weekly meetings since the last meeting of the Association.

Self Culture Club To Study Origin Of English Bible

The subject for the next meeting of the Self Culture Club will be "How We Got Our Bible".

Questions to be discussed are:

1. "What Do You Consider the Most Important Event in King Alfred's Reign?"
2. "What Was the Effect of Wycliffe's Bible on the English People?"
3. "What Was So Remarkable About Caedmon?"
4. "Name Four Great Movements That Aided in the Study of the English Bible?"
5. "What Translation Was Wycliffe's Bible Based On?"
6. "Why Did the Catholic Church Oppose the Translation of the Bible; and the Laity Reading It?"
7. "Who Was Called the Evangelical Doctor?"

Hatchery Bought By Green & White

J. O. White and P. J. Green have purchased the Robertson hatchery situated in the West part of town, and are now in operation. Mr. White has had four years experience in the hatchery business in Brownwood and Mr. Green is a fancier of good chickens, having been engaged in the poultry business for several years. Their announcement will be found elsewhere in this issue of the News.

PAT NEFF IS RIGHT

From a very interesting little book by former Governor Pat M. Neff, entitled "Making Texans", which has just come from the press, and which contains thirty six pithy chapters on a many live subjects, we take the following:

"On nearly everything we eat or wear we pay freight from our fields to the factories, and from the factories back to our homes. Why not turn this raw material into the finished products within our own borders? Our people have lost all their wisdom if they continue the indifferent policy of permitting this stream of gold to flow out of Texas, to enrich the people other States and Nations. Let us build our factories by the side of our fields. We have the fuel, the climate, and the labor conducive to successful manufacturing. We have the market at our door for all our productions."

Right! And yet it is not possible to evidence that a great many of our people are far from having the will to such progress? Really have it, we mean. For example: We have built our oil refineries by the side of our oil fields, and have converted the raw material into dozens of finished products to be shipped to every corner of the earth, after providing for our own needs. But some of our people seem to regard this as inimicable to the public interest instead of otherwise. Can such an attitude be regarded as wise? In any event, it is not calculated to help industrial development.

Frank Lewis Is Candidate For Tax Collector

Former Collector Pro-Tem Is Running for Office Once Held by Father

Frank Lewis, former Coleman county tax collector pro-tem, has announced his candidacy for the office, subject to the action of the July primary.

In offering himself as a candidate, Mr. Lewis makes the following statement:

"In placing myself before the people of Coleman county as a candidate for the office of Tax Collector, I will say that I have lived in Coleman county practically all of my life, having moved with my parents to Talpa when I was about five years of age.

"During the latter part of the year 1928 I served six months as Tax Collector of this county, having been appointed by the Commissioners' Court to fill out the unexpired term of my father, J. C. Lewis.

"I am now serving as Deputy County Clerk and have served in this capacity for almost seven years, but which position I expect to give up on March 10th, and begin making an active campaign for this office.

"I will greatly appreciate your vote, and whatever you might say to your friends in my behalf. I feel that the experience which I have had, as stated above, will enable me to render efficient service if elected.

Respectfully,
FRANK LEWIS"

Santa Anna Men Attend Firemen Meet, Ballinger

Local Volunteer Firemen's Organization Elected To Membership

Mayor W. E. Baxter and wife, Chief W. I. Mitchell, "Boggy" Diserens, Jess Howard and Ben Parker attended the Firemen's Association convention held in Ballinger Tuesday. Mayor Baxter responded to the address of welcome delivered by Mayor W. C. McCarver of Ballinger.

There were 260 members of the association present for the semi-annual convention.

The Ballinger Fire Department won first place among the eight competitors in a racing team event judged by Fire Chief M. T. Daniel of Abilene.

The program for the day was said to be one of much interest to those attending, and the closing number was a banquet given in their honor. The next convention will be held in Junction during the month of August.

The Santa Anna Volunteer Fire company joined the association, and plans to enter the contest at the Junction convention.

R. N. BOUCHILLION DIES SUDDENLY WEDNESDAY

R. N. Bouchillion, farmer, age about 60, died very suddenly Wednesday at noon, at his home on the Uncle Sell Lowe farm, near the Fry oil field.

Mr. Bouchillion had been suffering for some time with heart trouble and recently suffered an attack of the flu but was up and about the place. His death was very unexpected.

Funeral services were conducted at the home Thursday afternoon, and interment was made in the cemetery in Santa Anna.

Data concerning Mr. Bouchillion is not available at this time. He was a native of Falls county, has lived just north of the gap in the Santa Anna Mountains for several years, is survived by a wife and several children and, also, a brother, John Bouchillion, and a sister, Mrs. D. T. Williamson, of Lott, Texas.

Whon Represented By Many At The Short Course

Whon was well represented at the Farmers Short Course in Coleman Monday, with fifty-five school pupils and patrons present. The Junior Glee Club entertained in the course of the program to the delight of the audience and the other Whon representatives.

The Whon P-T.A. furnished ways to take the delegation, and also the basket lunch which was served at the park at the noon hour.

Forty-four pupils, the school trustees, Messrs Oscar Lovelady, Bert Turney and Jim Carter, the school teachers, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Schulze, Miss Rexada Schulze and Mrs. Jimmie Gill and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Tisdale, Miss Lorene Fiveash and Mr. Jimmie Gill composed the Whon representation.

B. A. U. PROGRAM FOR SUNDAY

"The Christian Ideal of Life" will be the theme of the program to be rendered by the Baptist Adult Union at the Baptist Church Sunday evening, February 14th, at 6:00 o'clock.

The complete program is as follows:

1. "The Meaning and Functions of Ideals"—Burrel Seale.
2. "The Money Ideal"—Louis Newman.
3. "The Pleasure Ideal"—Mrs. R. R. Lovelady.
4. "The Success Ideal"—Mrs. Goen.
5. "The Service Ideal"—Mrs. Risinger.

This is a splendid program, and we wish every adult of our church could hear it.

Every one who wishes to become more efficient in Christian service is invited to come at 6:00 o'clock and join our union.

Gib Callaway Is Candidate For District Judge

Former Attorney of the 52nd District Now Candidate For Judgeship

TO THE VOTERS OF THE 35th JUDICIAL DISTRICT:

I am announcing my candidacy for the office of District Judge of the 35th Judicial District, composed of Brown, Coleman and McCulloch Counties, in response to what seems to me to be a general demand over the district.

I think it not inappropriate to state briefly a few facts relating to my personal history. I was born and reared in Comanche county. I received my A. B. degree from the University of Texas in 1906, and my law degree from that institution in 1907. Since that time I have been in the active practice of law in Comanche and surrounding counties. I served the 52nd Judicial District as District Attorney from 1914 to 1918, and gladly refer to my record during that time as an indication of my efficiency as an official.

I regard the office of District Judge, both from the standpoint of the salary it pays and the duties to be performed, as one to which any lawyer may well aspire. I think to properly discharge the duties of the office, one should have a deep and abiding sense of justice and fairness, as well as an accurate and thorough knowledge of the law. An intuitive knowledge of human nature, coupled with ripe experience and executive ability are also qualities or attributes that should go with the office.

I regard the office as one probably touching the general public more closely and more materially than any other office. A considerable per cent of the people in each county are directly affected by the District Court, through their service as grand jurors, petit jurors, witnesses or parties litigant in that court each year. I know that a man of the proper culture can render the people a wonderfully beneficial service in the office of District Judge. Our governments, National, State and Municipal have become a standing disgrace because of their excessive cost. They cost the people a great deal more than they are worth. If it were possible for every office to be filled with the right character of men, this evil could be remedied. I am desirous of contributing in a small way to the alleviation of this condition.

Lions Club Will Base Programs On Famous Men

Saint Valentine To Be Discussed in Meeting on Next Tuesday

The Lions Club, responding to the thoughtfulness of the secretary, Lion J. T. Garrett, has agreed to use a portion of the hour each week for the discussion of historical characters during the next few months.

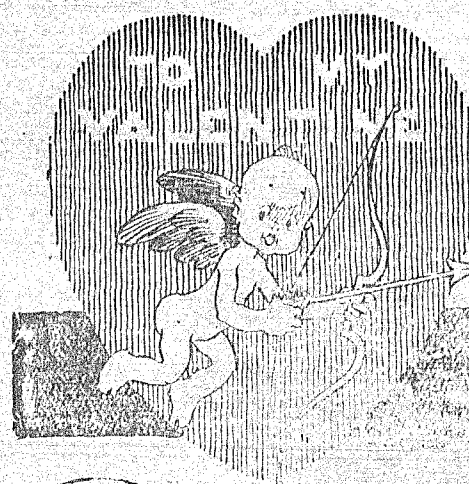

Lion Garrett discussed the early life of Abraham Lincoln this week, and, after hearing his very timely message, it is plain to be seen that life was not all smooth sailing with the rail-splitting president.

Next Tuesday a few moments will be given to the discussion of St. Valentine, which should be very interesting and instructive to most of the Lions.

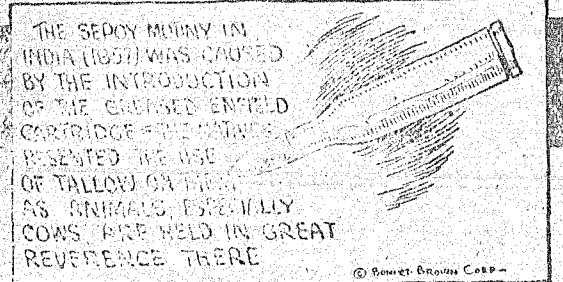

Other subjects and characters to be discussed are George Washington, Texas Independence and others of great interest.

Odd But True

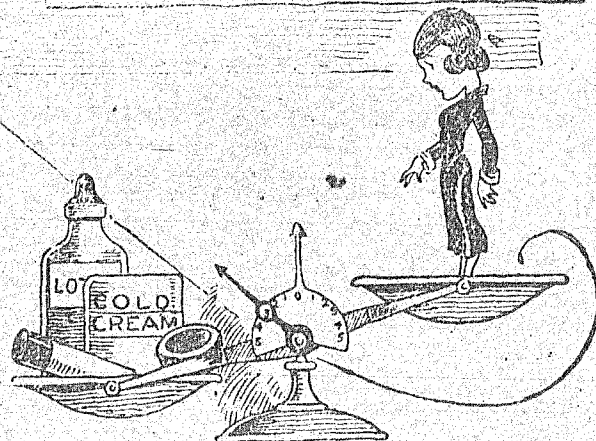

THE CUSTOM OF EXCHANGING VALENTINES IS HANDED DOWN FROM THE ROMAN FESTIVAL OF THE LUPERCALIA. WHEN IT WAS CUSTOMARY FOR MAIDS AND BACHELORS TO DRAW NAMES OF EACH OTHER. THE PERSON WHOSE NAME WAS PICKED WAS THEN TO BE THE "VALENTINE" OR "SWEETIE" OF THE MORE OR LESS LUCKY, INDIVIDUAL FOR THE FOLLOWING YEAR.

THE AVERAGE AMERICAN WOMAN USES THREE TIMES HER WEIGHT IN COSMETICS DURING HER LIFE

THE FINANCIAL GENIUS OF THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR

George Washington would probably rebuke the country if it celebrated the 200th anniversary of his birth without at least some mention of the man who financed the Revolution and upon whom Washington at times, leaned hardest of all. This man was Robert Morris, who was born on January 31, 1734.

At the age of fourteen, we are informed by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, Morris emigrated from Liverpool, his birthplace to join his father who had settled at Oxford, Maryland, where the elder Morris acted as American agent for a large firm of Liverpool tobacco merchants. The father was killed in an accident when young Morris was seventeen, but before the elder's death, Robert had found a job in the counting room of a mercantile house in Philadelphia. There his business ability soon showed itself to such advantage that he became a member of the firm. From then on he steadily added to his fortune until he became one of the richest men of his time in America.

But money was not the sole interest of Morris. He early joined the movement against England, and was among the first to resist the Stamp Act. Also, he was a signer of the first non-importation agreement and later was made warden of the Port of Philadelphia.

When the Revolution opened, Morris was forty-one years old, in the prime of his mental and physical vigor, and he threw himself into every important enterprise except the military. In 1775 and 1776 he was vice-president of the Pennsylvania Committee of Safety. From 1775 to 1778 he was a member of the Continental Congress, only to devote his tireless energies to the Pennsylvania State legislature, of which he was a member.

But his greatest wealth, his outstanding and most gratefully received, public service was his financing of the War of Independence. The embattled States turned to this financial genius to manage their fiscal affairs, but even more they relied on his bursting and open purse for the sinews of war.

General Washington's agonies of mind over the problems of financing his army lasted throughout the Revolutionary War. At best they were always a worry, and at times the worry became acute distress. One of these financial crises came when he found it absolutely imperative to strike for the victory at Trenton, to revive public spirit which then was at a low ebb.

In order to keep his unpaid men with him for the attack, the General was forced to take the extreme risk of promising them a bounty of ten dollars per man. He then addressed to his friend, Robert Morris, a plea for $50,000 with which to make his promise good. The next day he received the money. Morris had stripped himself of his own ready funds and had borrowed the remainder from wealthy Quaker friends in Philadelphia. Receipt of this money in the nick of time furnished one of the occasions when the supposedly frigid Washington was shaken with emotion.

It was of such stuff that the winners of the Revolution were formed, and Robert Morris was among the best of them. Not to think of him in this bicentennial year would be an affront to Washington himself.

When the Federal Government came into being in 1789, Morris most likely could have had the Secretaryship of the Treasury. Instead, he urged the appointment of Alexander Hamilton. Throughout the Revolution, and before, he had served in various key capacities in the Continental Winter grazing has been improved on twenty-four Rusk county farms by the sowing of sweet clover seed obtained from roadsides and vacant lots, and from enterprising 4-H club boys who took steps to supply the demand after learning the value of this legume crop from their club work.

There are now seven 1-variety cotton communities in Bell county, of which four were organized last year by the county agent.

The 105 dairy cows in eight herds, whose owners are members of a testing association in Guadalupe county, averaged 329 pounds of butterfat per cow last year. It cost an average of 12 cents per day to feed each cow, the county agent says.

With the aid of the county key banker and the county agent,

Congress. In 1781 the Congress chose him to be its superintendent of Finance, a post that might be regarded as the precursor of that as Secretary of the Treasury. Robert Morris became one of the first United States Senators from Pennsylvania.

As the country settled down to peace and progress, Morris went in for land speculation, and at one time or another owned wholly, or in part, the entire western half of New York State 2,000,000 acres in Georgia, and nearly 1,000,000 acres in Pennsylvania, Virginia and South Carolina. He helped in the development of the new national capital in the District of Columbia.

But his speculations brought on disaster, and for three years the financial savior of America was confined in a doctor's prison. On his release he was obliged to live on the bounty of his family and his friends, and five years afterward, in 1806, he died, a broken man. He was buried in Christ Church Yard in Philadelphia, without honors, and has never since been accorded the honor due him.

McCulloch county farmers formed a livestock shipping association in 1930 to enable less-than-carlot shippers to get the full benefit of the market. At the end of 1931 a total of 60 cars of livestock had been shipped at an estimated saving of $7600. There are now 150 members.

Washington county 4-H club girls made clothing last year worth $8660.

In improving their living rooms in Tom Green county last year, 75 farm women spent a total of $486, says the home demonstration agent, with the largest amount spent by one woman, $36.

Navarro county dealers report the sale of three-quarters of a million tin cans for home canning last year, and the sale of 190 steam pressure canners and 186 sealers.

Did you say smile? Why we laughed out loud. Last Saturday morning the editor came to town with a four days' growth of beard on his face, tired from the week's duties, and so broke we couldn't buy a postage stamp, and wondered where in the world a few dimes were coming from that we might visit the barber shop, get our face manicured, buy a chili for lunch and have a little pocket change for the other necessities essential to a business? That was not all. Fifty-one years ago last Saturday morning (we imagine it was a cold, frosty February morning) the editor made his advent into the world without his knowledge or consent, and the day has been a very sacred one to us ever since. It looked like it was going to be a sad day, but the silver lining soon appeared and the hovering clouds vanished from before our eyes. That good old scout, J. E. McClure from out south of town called and cheered us up with a little fun and then broke the monotony by presenting us with a dollar bill in payment of his Santa Anna News for another year. He said it had gone two days over time, but he just did not happen to be in town on Thursday, the day it expired.

Shortly following, L. F. Harding, the Gull man, called and wrote us a check for two bucks, and said keep 'er coming. During the day Mrs. Lige Gober called and paid for a 3 months subscription for Miss Ida Gober in the sanatorium at Sanatorium, Texas. Mrs. S. L. Blanton sent us a renewal. W. R. Stuart of Whon called and renewed for himself. Mrs. C. C. Burk sent us a renewal. Mathew Petty called and gave us a renewal. J. Fox Johnson of Rockwood presented us with a bill on his renewal. J. R. Daniel sent us a renewal for himself and son, J. L., at San Francisco, Cal. Mrs. J. F. Simmons remembered us with a renewal, and when we opened our mail we found a check from Prof. J. R. Lock for a two-year renewal, and also, one from Dr. V. A. Kelley of Waco for a two-year renewal.

Now who could keep from laughing out loud? We didn't try. We had the money to pay the expenses for the day and buy some of the necessities of life to carry home to the wife and children. It was a real happy birthday and even though we are now drifting into the afternoon of life, we would welcome another such day real soon.

Added to our announcement column this week will be found the name of Judge Gib Callaway for the office of District Judge, 35th Judicial District. Judge E. J. Miller, of Brownwood, is serving as District Judge at the present, having been elected over Judge J. O. Woodward, of Coleman, in 1928.

The writer has been personally acquainted with Judge Gib Callaway for more than twenty-five years, since he graduated in law in the University of Texas, and has found him to be above the average in cleverness for a strong attorney during these years. His formal announcement appears in another column in this issue of the News, to which we refer you for further information.

A Costly Noise

We are moved to wonder why the eagle should scream. If the eagle screams the lion will roar, the bear will growl, the double eagles quarrel, pandemonium reigns. There may come the quiet that sometimes forecasts a storm, during which the animals are silent. And then a shot bark out at Sarajevo; an humble man, a member of one of the tribes, shoot, a prince fall dead, and the world is bathed in blood; the lilies of France are stained in crimson; poppies bloom in Flanders field a richer red because fed by the blood and the bodies of the youth of the nations whose lives are a sacrifice to the god of war.

Let the eagle scream? Why should the eagle scream? The eagle screamed in '98, pricked and rasped by William Randolph Hearst and others of his kind. The United States declared war because of the outrages committed by the Spaniard in Cuba. But it has long since been revealed that to prevent war Spain was ready to concede every demand we made. But the Hearsts who made the eagle scream the captains of industry, the manufacturers of munitions heeded not the offer of Spain and the eagle screamed and there was war.

And now why not let the eagle scream? The world is in a state of unrest, nerves are taut, life is hard for all, it matters not of what nation they may be—American, English, French, German, Russian, Polish, Japanese or Chinese or South American. World conditions call for wise leadership, for the finest and most unselfish integrity of purpose.

Let the eagle scream? Why should it scream? Why sing a paean of hate, instead of a song of good will and of helpful sympathy? Yes, we have the best country. Does it add to our knowledge of that fact or increase the challenge of our country to the eagle scream it out to the world? Yes, we in this country have the best chance for happiness—for that happiness that comes with peace and prosperity, that brings comfort and education and culture and understanding sympathy for our neighbors, whether they be our neighbors across the street or our neighbors across the water.—(Lexington, Ky. Herald).

Men who have achieved success are sometimes tempted to pass on to their successors their formula. Yet it is significant that out of the consensus of such confessions there can be contrived no sure definition of success nor a certain fashion of reaching it. It is as though some ingredient were denied declaration, for which reason success is no commoner than of yore and no easier of attainment. The essential element which is often overlooked in the analysis of a successful career is the simple one of friendship. Men of destiny rarely rise unaided. Other hands and shoulders have helped their progress, have carried part of their burden and have opened their trail. Great men, indeed, have not only talent and strength to achieve but also the inestimable gift of making and keeping friends whose loyal offices contribute whose loyal offices contribute opportunities and encouragement to the making of a successful man. Friendship can give much and be itself no poorer, while the object of its services turns it to profitable account. All men need it, for no great man walks entirely alone and no little man can spare its kindly aid. When success, great or small, crowns at last our efforts and ambitions, we will do well not to forget how much of other men's labors and love is woven into it.—(Hamilton Herald-Record).

Dear Sir:
Enclosed is a check for $3.00 which I trust will enable me to keep informed on the "doings and goings" about home.

I certainly hope that Coleman county will stage a big "come-back" this year, along with the rest of the country.

Sincerely,
V. A. KELLY

We thank you, doctor, and join many others in wishing that your desire comes true. Coleman county is one of the best counties in central West Texas. She is hard hit, but a great effort is being staged for a come-back.—E.M.O.R.

FLU EPIDEMIC SWEEPS COUNTRY

We believe there are more people confined at home this week, suffering with the flu, than has been at any one time since we cast our lot in Santa Anna. Evidently, more than 50 per cent of the school pupils have been affected by the epidemic. At least, the editor's family has been unusually hit—five out of six school children being kept in at one time. Judging from our exchanges, the epidemic must be pretty general over the country.

Coming Back Strong

The economic depression from which the United States is just emerging is the seventh major attack of "hard times" that this country has been through in less than a hundred years. The people who are scared almost to death for fear that America can not come back are not a bit worse scared than were the same type of timid minded folks in each of the previous panics.

But, as we all know, America came back after every one of them, and came back stronger than ever.

The first great financial crisis was in 1837, when practically every bank in the United States suspended payment, half of the property of the entire nation was sold in bankruptcy proceedings, and there was no work for anybody and nobody had any money. But we came back so strongly that in less than twenty years our national wealth had been multiplied by three.

We came back from the crisis of 1857, went through a terrific and devastating Civil War and again much more than doubled our national wealth in the next sixteen years. Then we had the panic of 1873, and that was followed by another great revival that again doubled our national wealth, until the panic of 1893. We came back from that one richer than before, and we did the same thing after the crises of 1907 and 1920. Everybody knows how rapidly our wealth increased between 1921 and 1929, and how prosperous everybody was in those fat years.

There is only one way to foretell the future, and that is by studying the past. It is as certain as anything can be that we are coming out of the present crisis toward a greater and more widespread prosperity than we have ever known. And if we have any sense we will take far greater precautions against another depression than we did against this one.—(The Heart O' Texas News).

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF

It is a gloomy moment in history. Not for many years—not in the lifetime of most men who read this paper—has there been so much grave and deep apprehension; never has the future seemed so incalculable as at this time. In our own country there is universal commercial prostration and panic, and thousands are turned out against the approaching winter without employment, and without the prospect of it.

In France, the political caldron seethes and bubbles with uncertainty; Russia hangs, as usual, like a cloud, dark and silent upon the horizon of Europe; while all the energies, resources, and influences of the British Empire are sorely tried, and are yet to be tried more sorely, in coping with the vast and deadly Indian insurrection and with its disturbed relations in China.

It is a solemn moment, and no man can feel an indifference (which, happily, no man pretends to feel) in the issue of events.

Of our troubles no man can see the end. They are, fortunately, as yet mainly commercial; and if we are only to lose money, and by painful poverty to be taught wisdom—the wisdom of honor, of faith, of sympathy and of charity—no man need seriously despair. And yet the very haste to be rich, which is the occasion of this widespread calamity, has also tended to destroy the moral forces with which we are to resist and subdue the calamity.

Good friends—let our conduct prove that the call comes to men who have large hearts, however narrowed their homes may be, who has nothing but manhood, strong in its faith in God, to rely upon; and whoever shows himself truly a God-fearing man now, will be as blessed and beloved as a great light in darkness.

Verily, history doth repeat itself!

The above article is not a 1932 analysis of world conditions, as it could well and properly be construed.

The editorial reproduced above was published in Harper's Weekly 75 years ago—October 10, 1857, which was the fourth month of a depression then gripping the commerce of the world. Only a few months later—by March of 1859—economic conditions had returned to normalcy.

The world is anxiously awaiting a complete repetition of history.

Local Newspaper a Necessity

Speaking of local papers in small towns and cities, editor Henry Edwards of the Tyler Journal thus looks at the situation: "A live newspaper seems essential to the welfare of our small towns. Many small towns allow their newspaper to subsist on a branch water diet and then bemoan the absence of a live newspaper. I know of no little town that has achieved much without a newspaper that reflects the hopes, purposes and ambitions of the community."

Every word of which is true as gospel. No small town ever amounts to much without a good local paper, and it is the patriotic duty of every citizen to lend support and encouragement. And the same thing can be said for every town and city, although of course the need for active support is more keenly felt in the smaller places.—(Waco News-Tribune).

IN MEMORY OF RAY GARRETT

Since you left us, Precious One,
The hours loom dark and drear.
The silver of the morning sun
Is blurred with sorrow's tear;
The golden union of our souls
Seems far away and dim,
But in our hearts we seem to hear
The angel's triumphant hymn:
"One more light gone out on earth,

One more star in Heaven,
One more smile is taken away,
One more angel given
Back to God who gave to earth
This shining life of golden worth."

Darling heart, Goodbye! Goodbye
Until we, too, ascend the sky.

When to Be Blind

(By Bruce Barton)

A young mother who is a friend of our family entered her daughter in a girl's school. She said to the head mistress: "Mary is not much of a student. She likes history and does fairly well in French, but in arithmetic I think she is almost a total loss". Amazement appeared on the face of the head-mistress. "Do you mean to tell me," she exclaimed, "that you have brought us a child who has faults! After sitting here for years and listening to mothers whose daughters were paragons of virtue and intelligence, this is indeed a novel experience!"

Most of us are constitutionally unable to see any defect in those we love. It might be better sometimes if we could. Perhaps if we could analyze our children cold-bloodedly we might be able to bolster them with added strength.

On the other hand, what a blessing it is that we do not always see too well.

In cleaning out my desk one day I ran across a photograph of our first baby, taken when he was about six weeks old. I remember how proudly we sent it to all our relatives at Christmas time; how positive we were that there had never been in all history so beautiful a child.

Today the picture gives me a fit. It must be my youngster, for my wife is holding it. But instead of the beautiful cherub I remember, what is she holding? Something that looks exactly like a summer squash.

Without the blessed blindness of women it is difficult to see how any marriage could be a sustained success. We men know each other—that no one of us is very good. Yet our wives have the silly notion that we are great stuff. And by their faith they keep us going.

Centuries ago a city was attacked by the armies of Syria. A prophet lived in that city. A messenger rushed to him in great alarm: "Alas, my master! how shall we do?"

To which the prophet calmly replied:

"Fear not; for they that be with us are more than they that be with them."—And the eyes of the young men were opened, and behold the mountain was full of horses and chariots round about Elisha."

There are forces of goodness in people that are visible only to the eyes of love. There are forces of power that can be estimated only by the eyes of faith.

The important thing is to be intelligently blind to the surface defects, and to be able to see and appreciate the things that can not be seen.

The Newspaper Critic

When you hear a man finding fault with the local newspaper, open it up and ten to one you'll find that he hasn't an advertisement in it; five to one he never gives it a job of printing three to one he does not take the paper; two to one that if he is a subscriber he is a delinquent one; even odds he never does anything to help the publisher to run a good paper; and 40 to one he is the most eager to see the paper when it comes out and borrows it from his neighbors before they get time to read it.

YOUR ELECTRIC RATE IS ALWAYS GOING DOWN

Your electric rate has been going down—never up! Commodity prices go down, then up... and even yet have not reached the level of 1913 prices. On the other hand, the unit cost of electric service has declined steadily, and on the West Texas Utilities Company properties has been LOWERED SIXTY PER CENT during the last nine years, with the average rate to residential service alone showing a REDUCTION OF FIFTY-FOUR PER CENT! Commodity prices must decrease more than sixty per cent even below present low prices—a long, long way to go—before they approach the path blazed by electric rate reductions.

The cost of electric service today is determined more by the customers who use it than by the company which produces it. As more power is used, over more hours of the day, its unit cost becomes less. Thus, the modern rate schedule is designed to share with you immediately the benefit of the economies resulting from a greater use of electricity.

The rate per kilowatt-hour declines as more kilowatt-hours of electricity are used. Additional uses of service reduce the average price per unit, to where now it is possible to cook with it economically. That is, the average customer, using fifty kilowatt-hours per month, now can increase his use of service to THREE TIMES that amount for only 10 cents a day additional cost on his electric service bill—or for the cost of only one medium-priced cigar a day!

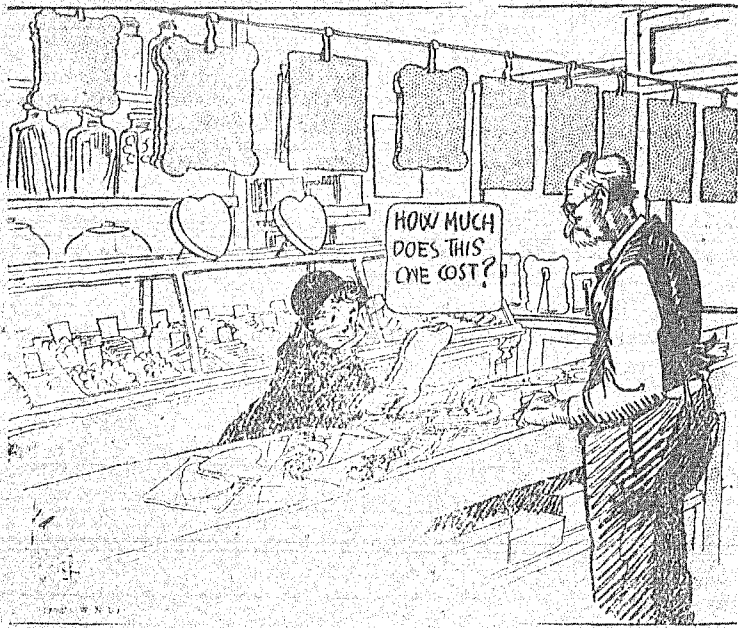

Today's customer in the larger towns, living in the average-sized home and using fifty kilowatt-hours a month, pays a rate of only 7.8 cents per kilowatt-hour. Smaller towns cost more to serve, yet the highest rate for this same amount of service, in any town served by the West Texas Utilities Company, amounts to only 1.3 cents more.

Customers having major appliances (ranges and refrigerators) earn a rate of approximately one-half that amount for all service used in the home—which includes lighting. The average rate for all residential service sold at this time is only 6.3 cents per kilowatt hour, as compared with 13.7 cents in 1922.

Thus, automatically and instantly, electricity becomes cheaper every time you increase its use. Think of the many advantageous services by which you can benefit—without a material increase in your electric bill—through a more active use of your lighting and your appliances, or through the addition of major appliances!

A GOOD CITIZEN

We should go to school for it is the training ground for good citizenship, both in the classroom and on the playground.

We find other rights that must be respected. School education should be the foundation for life's work in the industrial and commercial world, and make it possible for us to get work.

A good citizen wants to do the right thing and be honest. The person must have a good character. Character is not an attribute of man. It is man himself. Self-control must be practiced.

A good citizen should not only be good, but good for something.

He should be unselfish, honest in dealing with all men, fair to his enemies, as well as to his friends, help in charity and in church work.

We are having a weekly program and have a new subject every week.

We have to tell about the lives of honored men and also have to answer the roll call with a current event. On last Friday morning we had Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Norris and Mr. Beard to attend the program.

We started painting and have some pictures about half finished.

We have one hundred and thirty-four library books. Many of them are out. We would be glad if any who have library books would return them.

The men of Liberty community came to the school Monday, the first of February, and grveled around the building, which had stood covered in mud and water all winter.

This is a great improvement for our school yard and we are very thankful for it and grateful to the men who worked so hard to do this. We think we have the best community to take an interest in the school of any place we know and this is a mighty good indication of a high class community when the people are interested in and loyal to the school.

Col. Lindbergh was born in Detroit, Michigan, February 4, 1902. His mother didn't think of him becoming so famous. He went to school and studied hard but when play time came he thought of flying.

When he grew older he went to a flying school and became an air-mail pilot. He flew until he became famous then made a flight to Paris. As he started to land one wheel came off but he, as usual, landed safely. He later was married and now they have a baby boy named Lindy, Jr.

Lindbergh was the first man to fly across the ocean. At 7:30 o'clock, May 20, 1927, Lindbergh, with only a sandwich and coffee to eat, started his flight across the great ocean. When Lindbergh climbed out of his airplane, he said, "My name is Charles A. Lindbergh".

BETTER CLUB MEMBERS

To make our club work more interesting each member of various clubs should be willing to do his part. The following suggestions tend to make club work run more smoothly and get better results.

1. Do not talk or whisper during meetings.
2. Be a good listener.
3. Carry your share of duties.
4. Follow suggestions of the presidents, leaders and sponsors of organizations as far as possible.
5. Abide by decisions made by leaders after sufficient debate and expression from the group.
6. Give your help willingly when requested by the leader.
7. Do not day-dream when attending meetings.
8. If a leader has made out a plan with the group, do not separate into smaller groups and make other plans.
9. Show the same loyalty to newly elected officers of the club as to the old officers.
10. Know the constitution and by-laws of the organization to which you belong and live up to them.
11. Be prompt at your meetings.
12. Pay assessments when they are due.
13. Serve on programs cheerfully.

SPORTS

The Mountaineer basketball team journeyed to Shield Monday afternoon for the finals in this precinct. We were defeated 30 to 13. One odd thing about this game was at the end of the third quarter with the score tied at 12 and 12. During the final quarter Shield scored 18 points while we scored one.

Considering that our squad was reduced by the flu of the past few days, we think we did very well.

Shield will play in the county preliminaries some time in the near future.

GIRLS' CHORAL CLUB

The Monday afternoon Girls Choral Club was asked to go to Coleman Monday night to sing at the Farmer's Short Course held there. Many of the girls were unable to go on account of illness but the few who went did well. They sang two selections: "By the Waters of the Minnetonka" and "Bells of St. Mary's".

Those who went were Louise Zeno, Carmilla Flores, Armenta Ragsdale, Mary Bradford, Rubye Davis, Marion Eeds, Frances Jones, Maurice Kirkpatrick, Aline Harper, Kathryn Rose Pinney, Sylvia Ann Everett and the director, Miss Louise Gray.

HOME ECONOMICS III. GO TO COLEMAN

It was the pleasure of the Home Economics III. class to go to Coleman Thursday to see the special occasion dresses in stock there.

They went to the various stores and saw and discussed the many dresses.

Those who went were: Annie Wilson, Marion Eeds, Lattie Curry, Wilma Davis, Frances Jones, Viola Pritchard, Rubye Davis, Muriel Hefner, Kathryn Rose Pinney, Hettie Fae Todd, and the sponsor, Miss Hays.

CHAPEL PROGRAM POSTPONED

John David Harper, Lois Crump and Robert Hunter were to give their first public debate in preparation for Interscholastic League in chapel last Friday. Because of illness they were unable to give their debates. They will give the program as soon as they have recovered from their illness.

Jesse Lee Sparkman is again working on Interscholastic League debating. With his previous experience as an extemporaneous speaker he should do well as a forensic orator.

Frank Crum left Sunday for Dallas for a few days visit.

SON AND DAUGHTER OF FORMER SUP'T WIN HONORS

B. T. Withers, Jr., and Margaret Withers were among those receiving highest scholastic honors in the San Angelo Senior High School and the Junior High School for the first semester.

B. T., Jr., tied two other students in the Senior High School for first place among those taking four subjects. His average was 96.25 per cent. Margaret tied one other student in the Junior High School for the highest average in the school. The high per cent which she has to her credit is 96.75.

These two splendid students are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Withers, whose present address is San Angelo. Mr. Withers was superintendent of the schools here for several years, leaving this city in 1926, at which time Mr. Scarborough became superintendent.

SOCIAL ATTITUDES

Social attitudes were discussed in character education Monday. Many thoughts were brought out in this discussion, and it caused the students to think more about their own attitude toward different things. Character education is very helpful, and it is hoped that each student will think more about his own character and try to improve it.

HOME ECONOMICS III.

The girls of the Home Economics III. have just completed their course in foods for this year and have begun clothing. The first subject is "Special Occasion Garments". Different kinds of dresses for special occasions have been discussed and the girls have begun sewing on their own dresses. Maybe some day they will make real seamstresses.

LATIN I.

Due to the illness of Mrs. Pieratt, the Latin I. students went into the study hall Tuesday morning to write out the translations from Latin into English.

The translations were mostly about Roman names. "A Roman had at least three names. The gentle name (the nomen) was the most important of the three and came in the middle. The third (the cognomen) marked the family. The first (the praenomen) was the individual name (like our baptismal name). Then a Roman often received also a name for some achievement or characteristic. Thus Publius Cornelius Scipio Africanus was the individual Publius of the Scipio family of the great Cornelius gens, surnamed Africanus for his conquest of Africa.

"The first name was often abbreviated in writing. The most common of these abbreviations were: C. for Caius (Gaius); Cn. for Gnaeus; L. for Lucius; M. for Marcus; P. for Publius; Q. for Quintus; T. for Titus."

The students are hoping Mrs. Pieratt a speedy recovery, and they feel sure that she will be with them again soon to help them with their translations.

SANTA ANNA NIGHT AT SHORT COURSE

Last Monday night Mayor W. E. Baxter was toastmaster for a program rendered by Santa Anna talent at Coleman.

The Stewardson family rendered enjoyable numbers and received great applause.

Augusta Bond and Helen Snook portrayed their skill in "tripping the light fantastic toe". These young ladies are charming and attractive in their presentation.

The Choral Club, directed by Miss Louise Gray, rendered several selections. These were appreciated, and reflected skill on the director, as well as pupils.

Our Lions Club quartet proved its ability to portray feature songs. Harmonious cooperation characterized their rendition.

DID YOU KNOW THAT:

1. The freshman class colors are pink and white?
2. Last Sunday was Charles Dickens' birthday?
3. Enza flew in last week and two-thirds of our students flew out?
4. S.A.H.S. is developing some expert soccer teams?
5. The seniors are going to study the map of London in connection with literary characters?
6. The sophomores had an excellent lesson in English last Friday?
7. All contestants for the Interscholastic League meet are working hard?
8. February 12th is Lincoln's birthday?
9. Reports on outside readings are due today?
10. Charlotte and Zella Ruth have not missed Sunday school in five years, except for sickness?

SHORT, SHORT STORY (Complete on This Page)

In the course of heated races for championships and heart-breaking incidents of basketball, we are likely to forget that the game has its humorous side. We have a story to prove our statement and we simply must not let it off our chest.

It seems that two high school quints were in the midst of a heated battle and the star goal shooter of one side was unable to get started due to the obstinacy of an opponent guard. At every threat, he would tie the ball.

Seeing his publicity float away was far from soothing for Mr. Goal Shooter's temper and finally in a deadlock he gave the ball a desperate jerk from the guard's hands. Luckily the referee had not blown his whistle for the ball whizzed over his head, almost knocked the back board loose from its mooring, and rebounded neatly through the receptacle while Mr. G. S. was spinning on his ear. It was a case of laughing through gritted teeth for him, but unfortunately, the score was not tied and it was not the last two minutes of play. —Simmons Brand

DRAMATIC AND PAGEANT CLUB

In Dramatic and Pageant Club we have two groups, the leaders being Garland Close and Thelma Lowe. We are having plays and the side that gives the best plays will be entertained by the other group. Last club meeting we were entertained by Garland's group with a very interesting play. The characters were: Ernest Van Zandt, Elizabeth Richardson, Ruth Niell, Louise Wilsford, Brownlee Hunter, and Lucille Banks.

WORRIES

Seniors, Juniors and Sophomores worry about this and that but this is the sort of thing that worries the Freshmen:

"Our sun is a million times as big as our earth. There are suns in space a million times as big as ours.

A temperature of 100 degrees Centigrade, the heat at which water boils, would kill us all in a few seconds.

The temperature of the sun, which heats and lights us, is fifty million degrees Centigrade. If the temperature fell below thirty million degrees Centigrade, animal life on this earth would cease.

If the earth fell into the sun, with a thousand other planets as big as our earth, we would simply melt into dust long before we reached the sun's surface, and it wouldn't make any difference at all."

JOKES

Traffic cop: "You'll have to report at the office, madam. You were driving fifty miles an hour in town."

Bess Inez: "But the man we bought the car from said we could go as fast as we wanted to after the first 1,000 miles and the speedometer shows 1,200."

Doctor: "This is a very sad case, very sad, indeed, I regret to tell you that your wife's mind is gone—completely gone."

Mr. Pieratt: "I'm not at all surprised, doctor. She's been giving me a piece of it every day for fifteen years."

"This book of universal knowledge will tell you everything you ought to know," declared the agent at the door.

Mr. Barlett: "Don't need it! My wife tells me all that, and a lot more besides."

Being told to write an essay on the mule, a small boy (Edwin Rollins) turned in to his teacher the following effort:

"The mowl is a hardier bird than the guse or turkie. It has two legs to walk with, two to kick with, and wears its wings on the side of its head. It is stubbornly backward about going forward."

Dexter: "Did you ever attend a school for stuttering?"

Scott: "N-N-no, I j-j-j-just picked it up."

What to Do in 1932

A good bunch of pullets this Fall, with present price of feed, will make you more money than anything you have on the farm today. Don't let the price of eggs now get your goat. Chicks hatched now lay eggs when prices are high.

Records prove poultrymen are making profits. When eggs are cheap the higher producing hen produces eggs cheaper.

We Set Every Monday and Thursday

We lower your cost of hatching by giving you more chicks per hundred eggs. More fryers to sell, more pullets in the laying house this Fall.

Flock average of 200 eggs and better from our customers is sufficient proof our chicks are bred-to-lay.

See Us About Your Poultry Plans for 1932

We will carry a stock of Purina Chick Feeds of all kinds, and will gladly supply your needs at popular prices.

SCHOOL NEWS

Mr. Binlon: "Is your wife economical?"

Mr. Lock: "Sometimes. She had only twenty-six candles on her 40th birthday cake."

Noel: "Papa, the teacher asked us to find some new words that have just come into the English language. Can you tell me some?"

Mr. Campbell: "Go ask your mother, son. She always has the last word."

Lois Crump: "We're getting up a raffle for a poor old man. Won't you buy a ticket?"

Mrs. Scarborough: "Mercy, no! What would I do with him if I won him?"

Miss Land (on first visit to a Western ranch): "For what purpose do you use that coil line on your saddle?"

Cowpuncher: "That line, as you call it, lady, we use to catch horses and cattle."

Miss Land: "Oh, indeed! Now may I ask what do you use for bait?"

Mrs. Pieratt: "But didn't I give you a cake last week?"

Beggar: "Yes, ma'am."

Mrs. P.: "And you are here again?"

Beggar: "Yes, ma'am, your cake was nothing to me. I used to be a sword swallower."

Mr. Haynes: "Young McIver has asked me for your hand and I've consented."

Eugenia: "You dear old dad!"

Mr. Haynes: "So never mind going to the dentist's now to have that tooth pulled. Wait until you are married."

Thomas: "Hooray, the wind has changed!"

Billie Barnes: "What of it?"

Thomas: "Well, ye know the doctor said ye need a change of air."

Billie Barnes: "Well, Louise, how are you?"

Louise Wilsford: "Wonderful, thanks."

Billie: "Well, I'm glad someone thinks so."

Doctor: "There's no need to worry about your wife. You'll have a different woman when she gets back from the hospital."

Mr. Scarborough: "And what if she finds it out?"

Mrs. Scarborough: "Brownlee, do you like Kipling?"

Brownlee: "I don't know, ma'am, how do you like Kipling?"

Jim Bob: "When mother asked me if I had been stealing jam, I said 'yes.'"

J. D.: "Why didn't you deny it?"

Jim Bob: "I didn't have the face to say 'no.'"

Tourist in Coleman: "How is business around here?"

Native: "It's so quiet you can hear the notes at the bank a block away drawing interest."

"Mule in a barnyard, lazy and slick,

Garland with a pin on the end of a stick,

Garland jabbed the mule, the mule gave a lurch—
