A. D. Wheatley, Aged Citizen, Passes Away

Resident of Coleman County
For Quarter Century
Dies Tuesday

Another of the tried and true passed to his reward here Tuesday morning, when A. D. Wheatley, 76, passed away.

The following data was read at the funeral Wednesday afternoon, at the Methodist church:

Allen D. Wheatley was born September 16, 1855, in Boonville, Prentice county, Mississippi. He was married December 24, 1876, to Henrietta Hawkins. Came to Texas in 1893 and settled in Bell county. In 1906, he and his family moved to Coleman county. 12 children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Wheatley, 6 of whom, together with the companion survive. Tom Wheatley, Santa Anna, Mrs. John Dillingham, Shield; Mrs. R. E. Wheeler, Fort Worth; Dan Wheatley, Santa Anna; Kahler Wheatley, Brownwood; and Miss Minnie Wheatley, Shield. There are also 18 grand-children and 2 great grand-children.

He was a good and worthwhile citizen, loved and respected by all. A good neighbor. A Christian gentleman of exemplary life. An honored husband and a kind and loving father.

Rev. Sam G. Thompson, pastor of the Methodist Church at Coleman, preached the funeral. Rev. Thompson was Presiding Elder of this charge sixteen years ago, and remembered the deceased for many of his virtues and good qualities. Rev. Thompson quoted the following poem as a tribute to Mr. Wheatley. The poem was a tribute to the late W. T. Ringling by an old-time friend.

"Goodbye, old friend, the day is done.

A boatman signals from the pier,

Take passage as the shadows fall,

Set sail and have no fear.

The world is better that you lived,

Go now and have no sorrow,

Assured that those who loved you here

Will meet you there tomorrow".

Mr. Wheatley was an active member of a Methodist Church for 52 years, and a steward for 45 years.

The writer has known Mr. Wheatley for about ten years, during which we learned to appreciate him dearly. If all men were of such character as Mr. Wheatley, the world would be a much better place in which to live.

The remains were buried in the Santa Anna cemetery, Wednesday, in the presence of a host of sorrowing relatives and friends.

The active pall-bearers were Lee Mobley, Lee Boardman, W. H. Thate, Hubert Murrell, Chester McDonald and George Stewardson.

The Mead Undertaking Company, in the person of O. P. Petty, was in charge.

W. H. Gardner Hurt When Car Wrecked

W. H. Gardner is staying in this week, recuperating from an accident Wednesday morning. He had been to town in his car, and as he was turning in at his home in the south part of town another car struck the Gardner car, almost demolishing it, and knocking Mr. Gardner out in the ditch. He was brought to the clinic where first aid was given him. Upon examination, it was found that he had one fractured rib, and several bruises but his condition is not considered serious.

Santa Anna Gas Co. Files Suit

The Santa Anna Gas company filed an injunction suit in Judge J. E. Miller's District Court last Monday against the Coleman Gas & Oil company to prevent them from selling gas to domestic users at a lower rate than the rate authorized by the City Commission of Santa Anna, having authority under the law to set such rates.

The case will probably be set for hearing soon, instead of waiting for the regular term of court. The outcome will be looked forward to with much interest.

Student Nurse Of Santa Anna Dies Monday

Miss Marie Barker Is Buried
Here After Her Death
In San Antonio

The remains of Miss Marie Barker was brought here Tuesday from San Antonio, where she died Monday, for burial.

Miss Barker has been in training as a student nurse at the Sealy Hospital for almost three years, and recently went to San Antonio for a few weeks special training in connection with her work, and while there, contracted typhoid fever, which soon called her from the walks of life.

Miss Barker was a splendid little woman, and was preparing herself to go out in to the world and do a service to mankind. Laboring, diligently and at times under handicaps, she strived to accomplish her goal and ambition. She was due to graduate this year, and was looking forward to the time when she could offer self as a prepared product to aid and assist suffering humanity.

Miss Barker was a daughter of Mrs. Mollie Barker, now making her home in Dallas, but for years lived in Coleman County. She is also survived by a brother, Paul Barker of Laredo, Texas, and a younger brother and sister, Nixon and Ruby Lee Barker living with their parents in Dallas.

The funeral was held at the Presbyterian Church Tuesday afternoon, conducted by the pastor Rev. M. L. Womack. All the nurses took part in the arrangements. Interment was made in the Santa Anna Cemetery. The Mother, Brothers and Sisters were all present for the funeral.

IN MEMORIAM

And her name was Marie, for she wrote it with her own hands, and before my eyes. This young lady's body rests in our local cemetery, beneath wreaths of radiant and fragrant flowers, moistened with the dew drops of love. She was my day nurse in the Sealy Hospital. She ministered to me when I was sick. She opened my door with smiles when I was lone-spirited. She reciteth this friendship to the angels in Heaven—even to one who has gone before. Thank God for the privilege of meeting some of His saints face to face in this world of fleeting things! To taste of the joys of friendship and love that bind us. To be all the more glorious in that world to come.

Santa Anna Fire Dep't Observes Annual Frolic

Members and Guests Relish
Barbecue and Eats
Monday Night

The Santa Anna Volunteer Fire Department observed its annual entertainment feature Monday night with a spread of barbecued goat meat with seventeen out of the twenty members being present.

Members of the City Commission attended as invited guests and the affair was pronounced a huge success by all who attended.

The Barbecue was put on at practically no expense to the Fire Department as all the eats were furnished by the following business men; W. H. Thate, W. F. Barnes, R. L. Hunter, Kenneth Harlow, J. L. Boggus & Co., B. T. Vinson and W. H. Ragsdale. Fire members of the Company and Chief W. I. Mitchell served as toastmaster and a number of interesting talks were made by the City Commission.

Secretary Garrett called attention to the fact that the past ten years Santa Anna has enjoyed a good fire record credit during nine of the ten years and has had the maximum of fifteen per cent over a period of eight of those ten years. Credit for this condition may be given largely to the efficiency of the Volunteer Fire Company. The following have been elected to serve as officers in the Company for the New Year: Chief, W. I. Mitchell; First Assistant, George Johnson; Second Assistant, Elgene Hensley; Secretary-Treasurer, J. T. Garrett; Foreman, W. C. Ford. W. DuBois is the retiring chief having served in that capacity for the past three years.

Todd Dairy Found Tubercular Free

W. R. Sanderson, Veterinarian of the State Department, was here this week and tested the dairy herd at Todd's Dairy, and found the entire 43 head free from tuberculosis or any other contagious disease.

Mr. Todd has applied for a tattoo transfer, and is pleased over the fact that his entire herd of milk cows meet all requirements of the law as being healthful and giving wholesome milk. Mr. Todd has also placed an order for registered and tested male to come from the Shelton Dairy from near Brownwood, to be placed in his herd.

Fire Destroys Servant House

Saturday morning about ten o'clock the Santa Anna Fire Department was called to the residence of Mrs. J. R. Gibson, where her servant house and garage were damaged by fire, caused by defective wiring. No flowers were in the building, but a great many other floral supplies were damaged beyond use or repair. Practically none of the servant's possessions were ruined or badly damaged.

The Fire Department made quick work of extinguishing the flames.

F. N. May Dies After Lengthy Illness at Home

Former Member of the City
Commission Succumbs
Friday Night

F. N. May, 56, died at his home here Friday night, and was buried in the Santa Anna cemetery Saturday afternoon.

Mr. May was born in Bell County, Texas, December 13, 1874, and moved to Coleman County in 1900. His first nine years was spent on a farm north of town, on the Jim Ned Creek. He moved to Santa Anna in 1909 and spent the remainder of his life here as a realtor, oil promoter, and other such work.

The deceased was an active member of the I.O.O.F. lodge, recorder for the Praetorian order, and was also a member of the Rebekah lodge. He served on the city commission several years ago, in the capacity of street commissioner, and was active during his days in helping to develop Santa Anna's schools and other industrial activities.

Lions Club Has Good Attendance

The regular weekly luncheon of the Lions Club was well attended Tuesday, having a ninety per cent attendance.

Several new members have recently been added to the Club, and optimism is the key-note.

On Tuesday night of next week, the Club will hold an open meeting to the members and their families, honoring the charter members of the Club in honor of Founders Week. All the charter members, including those who are not now active in the Club will be invited to attend and bring their wives. Also the wives of deceased charter members will be invited as honor guests for the occasion.

For the past several years Miss Marie Bewett has been an honorary member of the Club, due to her special music talent, and has furnished the piano music for the Club. Miss Bewett is soon to be transferred to Menard, and the Club will miss her valuable aid. A committee was appointed to express the Club's best wishes to her in the future, and to express our regrets of her being transferred to another town.

Elder Rose to Preach At Church of Christ

According to information furnished by one of the members of the congregation, Elder D. D. Rose, Christian evangelist, will preach at the Santa Anna Church of Christ next Sunday night at 7 o'clock.

Poultry and Egg Show to Be Held January 29 - 30

Second Annual Santa Anna
Poultry Show Bids Fair
To Be Success

The second Annual Santa Anna Poultry and Egg Show will be held January 29th and 30th.

The show will be in the Mrs. Ben Melton building, which is located on Main street between the Queen Theatre and Armory.

Coops, feed and water will be furnished and the entries cared for during the show.

Ribbons for first, second and third places will be given but no premiums will be offered. This is necessary because the sponsors are not able to offer premiums without charging higher entry fee and applying other regulations.

Entry fees are as follows: Singles, 15c; Pens and trios, 25c; and Eggs, 10c.

All varieties and ages of chickens and turkeys will be accepted and may be entered as Singles, Pens or Trios. White or brown eggs may be entered, and one dozen will constitute an entry.

Definitions follow:

Cock—A male bird more than 12 months old.

Hen—A female bird more than 12 months old.

Cockerel—A male bird less than 12 months old.

Pullet—A female bird less than 12 months old.

Single—A single specimen—whether cock, hen, cockerel, pullet or turkey.

Old Pen—One cock and four hens of the same variety.

Young Pen—One cockerel and four pullets of the same variety.

Young Tom—A turkey male less than 12 months old.

Old Tom—A turkey male more than 12 months old.

Old Trio—One tom and two hens more than 12 months old.

Young Trio—One tom and two hens less than 12 months old.

Entries will not be accepted after 2 p.m. January 29th, and will not be allowed to leave the show before 5 p.m. January 30th, according to announcement of the sponsors of the show.

A competent judge will judge the show.

This show is being put on for the benefit of poultry breeders and raisers of Coleman county, and especially for those in the Santa Anna trade territory. The 1931 show was a great success, and the 1932 show bids fair to be a much better one due to a better date and increased interest in good poultry.

The show is sponsored by the Future Farmers of America Chapter of Santa Anna High School, under the direction of J. M. Binion, Teacher of Vocational Agriculture.

Assembly of God Revival to Begin

An old time Revival to begin Friday Night January 15th at Assembly of God Church Elder E. L. Newby of Fort Worth, will do the preaching.

The services will begin at 7 P. M. each evening and will continue ten days. Don't fail to hear this Evangelist. You are welcome.

E. R. Winter, Pastor.

B. A. Munger Suffers Mental Disorder

Sympathy from friends go out this week to the family of B. A. Munger, who became mentally unbalanced last week. He was given a hearing in the County Court Monday and carried to Wichita Falls for treatment. We hope he soon recovers and is restored to his family.

LIFE

Life is a complicated problem to many, but Mr. Lock, the principal of Santa Anna High school seems to have solved the problem, for on his desk is placed the following solution:

MY PHILOSOPHY OF LIFE
 Ask the God of all creation to show you the task that He wants you to do.
 A task that is worth doing is worth doing well.
 Do well the tasks at hand and soon bigger and better tasks will offer themselves.
 Trust in the Lord and do good and thy days shall be long and full of happiness.

EASY VICTORY IS CERTAIN

Mattie Ella Estes has entered the essay contest with Irene Rountree. Both of these girls have won in Interscholastic contests, and we feel that the friendly competition between these two good sports will serve to strengthen and doubly assure our victory at the County Meet.

BASKETBALL

Santa Anna will play two conference games this week. One will be with Live Oak and the other with Whon. The second team will play Liberty.

The basketball boys have already won their first conference game, 29-11, against the Rockwood squad.

SCRIBBLERS TUESDAY MORNING

Scribblers Tuesday morning at 10:10 were really funny-looking and acting creatures. If you had been an outsider, I am sure you would have thought S.A.H.S. in a truly sad state of affairs. This outsider would have made a call for the ambulance.

These queer creatures were running all over the building, up and down the corridor with a pencil behind each ear and a notebook in one hand. (You see, the other hand was busy pulling their hair, which was in their faces). They were saying to everyone they met, "Do you know anything? Do you know any real news?" They acted as if they were perfect "nuts", but, you see, they were only "cub" reporters looking for some real news to write in the limited time of fifteen minutes.

LOST: A JUNIOR

Juniors of S.A.H.S. are regretting the loss of another member of their class. Mary Neill Priest, who joined their class only this year, has withdrawn. Mary Neill was a peppy, loyal junior, and the class regretted very much to lose her. The juniors wish her much success in the school that she enters.

EXAMS

Students of Santa Anna High School are studying this week as they have never studied before, for they realize that mid-term exams are just around the corner. Exams will begin next week, which will close the first semester of school. Next week will be "history" for every student in school. For those students who have always done their best, exams are not to be feared, but for those students who always put off learning until another day, they are to be dreaded and feared.

It would be wise for every student to use as his motto for the next semester: "Never put off until tomorrow things that can be learned today."

CHORAL CLUB

The Girls Choral Club is planning to sing at the play Friday night given by the Grammar School P.T.A. They have learned some very pretty songs this year and will learn more during the remaining part of the year. The Boys Choral Club will sing at P.T.A. Tuesday afternoon.

HOME ECONOMICS II. CLASS VISITS HOSPITAL

Members of the Home Economics II. Class and their teacher, Miss Hays, went to the hospital last Thursday, January 7, to learn how to make a hospital bed and care for a patient in the home. Mrs. Vowell, one of the nurses, was very kind and helpful in explaining many important matters to us. After our visit to the hospital, we feel that we are more capable of caring for a patient in our home.

CHARACTER TRAINING

The course in Character Training is proving mutually helpful. Last week we discussed "Personal Habits" in a frank way. Such subjects as personal hygiene, clean thoughts and speech proved interesting. The teachers are certainly doing their best to inculcate right ideas. Children are urged to watch their associates, for it is too true that we are judged by our friends and chums.

A SENIOR'S ADVICE TO UNDERCLASSMEN

Dear little children who are starting on the long and tedious journey through high school.

For your own good, please take advice from one who has almost completed the long and crooked way. Juniors, if you do not listen and heed this piece of advice, you will soon find yourself in bad condition and then it will be too late to profit by the mistakes of the ones who have gone before. You are about to enter upon the serious business of being a senior, and if you are not warned by one who knows you are likely to take the wrong step. The usual time for taking this fatal step in the dark is on the day of enrollment. Freshmen and Sophomores your case is not so critical now, but you also must watch your step and remember this until you reach the golden gate, in the form of a cap gown and diploma.

First of all, beware of physics for it will lead you into temptation of copying someone's work book. Next, do not take bookkeeping unless you have a personal friend who is an honor student. The question of English Literature is yet to be solved. In it you have the opportunity of solving a question that your predecessor could not and, so doing, build a reputation for yourself. You could also warn the present Sophomore Class. Some English IV students have tried the process of copying, but how, oh how are they ever to recite in class and take the memory test that seem to pour in from every direction, without having their record ruined with zeros? History has the same dark question hanging over it.

Now, dear underclassmen, when you are poring over some lesson, remember you have the best wishes of the class of '32, and also remember you were warned before.

Yours sincerely,
 A "Dumb" Senior

BOYS GLEE CLUB

Freshman and Sophomore Boys Glee Club has had a call to display its talent Tuesday afternoon at the P.T.A. program. The boys intend to sing two songs.

YES or NO

Do you know:
 That perpetual motion of the tongue will develop a gossip.
 That the Ward P.T.A. will stage a play Friday night in the High School Auditorium?
 That next week ends the first semester?
 That the Freshmen must have eighteen on honor roll?
 That teachers urge parents to cooperate with them by getting their children to study?
 That familiarity breeds contempt?
 That the annual epidemic of memory books has started?
 That a friend is one who knows you and likes you still.

BASKETBALL RECORD

Friday night week, the Mountaineer Cagers will enter an invitation tournament held by Daniel Baker College in Brownwood.

The tournament will start Friday 23rd and last through Saturday night, January 24th. Eighty schools have been invited so that means some scrapping if you want to win Mountaineers! Show as much F-I-G-H-T as you did during football season and there's no doubt who will be the champs.

DEBATES

Time for the Interscholastic League meeting is drawing near. The students that are entering debating have received their bulletins and pamphlets and have started to work on them. They haven't given any debates but will start sometime soon.

GO TO SUNDAY SCHOOL AND CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY

The sign "Go to Sunday School and Church Next Sunday" has attracted almost every student since Monday. It was posted above the Trophy case directly in front of the door where every one who entered would be sure to see it and by seeing it so many times every student and teacher will be sure to remember to go to Sunday School and Church Sunday.

WHAT A SCRIBBLER SAW IN AGRICULTURE ROOM

Mr. Binions gloves were lying on his desk with some magazines about how to raise poultry, and cattle, also books on how to feed cattle.

The Bulletin Board was covered with certificates and rewards of honor that Mr. Binion had received.

As the scribbler walked out she saw on the file case Mr. Binion's hat lying beside a duster, and one wouldn't think by just looking around that the duster was used very much!

DON'TS FOR THE UNDERCLASSMEN

- (By a "used to be" Senior)
- Don't fail fail to say "Sir" or "Mam" to a Senior.
- Don't fail to obey a Senior.
- Don't talk back to a Senior.
- Don't laugh at a Senior's mistakes.
- Don't criticize a Senior.
- Don't fail to enjoy a Seniors program, whether liked or not.
- Don't fail to ask the Seniors to your parties.
- Don't ever fall in love with a Senior.
- Don't fail to consider it an honor to be in the company of a Senior.
- Don't fail to stand when a Senior enters the room.
- Don't fail to consider the Seniors the best class in school.

JOKES

"Ah, my dear," said Beth's homely relative, "you will find that Time is a great helper."
 "True, auntie," Beth replied, "but he's certainly a mighty poor beauty doctor."

Clifford: "I've half a mind to get married."
 Mildred Boardman: "Watch out! Santa Anna's full of people who used only half of their minds in getting married."

Mr. Lock: Your father says that he is in close touch with the heads of many organizations.
 Thomas: Yes, he's a barber.

"Lois Crump," said his busy mother, "can you change a dollar for me?"
 "Almost," replied Lois quickly "I can change 65 cents for it."

Mr. Binion: "Darling, in the moonlight your teeth are like pearls."
 Miss Hays, "Oh, indeed! And when were you in the moonlight with Pearl?"

Miss Land: "Scientists say that mosquitoes weep. Is that true?"
 Mary Alice: "It's possible. Have you seen a moth ball?"

Mr. Lock: "Just think! While I was out with some fellows the other night, a burgular broke into my house."
 Mr. Scarborough: "Did they get anything?"
 Mr. Lock: "I'll say he did my wife thought it was me coming home."

Baylor College Rally Planned for Jan. 19

According to announcement made by Rev. H. C. Wingo, pastor of the Santa Anna Baptist Church, a District Rally for the Baylor College Campaign will be held next Tuesday, January 19, at the First Baptist Church in San Angelo.

This all-day meeting is one of many being held throughout the state at strategic points for the purpose of enlisting the Baptists of Texas in raising a fund of $750,000 for Baylor College at Belton. According to leaders in the move, the plan is to secure $150,000 of this set goal during the present year.

The San Angelo meeting is sponsored by District No. 16, which is composed of the following Baptist Associations:

Brady, Brown County, Coleman County, Comanche County, Concho Valley, Hamilton County, Runnels, San Saba and Mills County.

The following program has been arranged for the day:
 10:00 a.m.—Song and Praise by Joe Trussell of Brownwood.

10:15 a.m.—"Why We Are Here" by J. H. McClain of Ballinger.
 10:30 a.m.—"Organization and Plans for Baylor College Campaign" by Dr. C. V. Edwards of Belton.

11:00 a.m.—"Reselling Our Baptist Schools to Our Constituency" by Dr. R. C. Campbell of Lubbock.

12:00—Adjourn for Lunch.
 1:15 p.m.—Devotional by W. R. Hornburg of Brownwood.

1:45 p.m.—Conference and Round Table Discussion led by P. F. Squires of Coleman.

2:00 p.m.—Address by Dr. R. L. Powell of San Angelo.

Associational B.T.S. Met With Coleman Church Past Sunday

The Coleman County Associational Baptist Training Service met last Sunday in the North Baptist Church of Coleman. Members of the B.T.S. from the First, South and North Baptist Churches of Coleman, Rockwood, Whon, Talpa, Santa Anna and Coleman Junction Baptist Churches were present.

One of the most interesting programs in several months was presented by the B.T.S. from the First Church of Coleman. Some of the most helpful numbers were: "What 1932 Has in Store for the B.T.S.," by Mr. Coleman Davis, little Miss Sarah Ann Strickland and a boy whose name the reporter failed to get; "Our New Standard of Excellence," Mr. Coleman Davis; and "Some Ways in Which the B.T.S. May Aid in Financing the Church," by Miss Winn. Miss Grace Odom played a beautiful piano solo and the B.T.S. put new meaning into the song, "Loyalty to Christ".

Following the program, the president, Mr. Gill, took charge of the business session.

The banner was awarded to the Santa Anna adults who had an average for the month of 83 per cent.

The next meeting will be held at the Coleman Junction Baptist Church on February 14th, with the Rockwood B.T.S. in charge of the program.

Leon Ward: "Traveled all over the world, eh? Went up the Rhine, I suppose?"
 Clovis: "Climbed it to the top."
 Leon: "Saw the Lion of St. Mark?"
 Clovis: "Fed it."
 Leon: "And visited the Black Sea?"
 Clovis: "Filled my fountain pen there."

"It is very hard to drive a bargain," said Scott who had bought an old flivver for $10.00

Coleman Junction News

Brother Saunders preached Sunday morning for us but did not preach Sunday night. His sermon was enjoyed by a large crowd.

The County B.Y.P.U. (B.T.S.) met Sunday afternoon at its regular meeting hour at the Coleman North Baptist Church. The banner was awarded to the Santa Anna Adults. There was an interesting program presented.

Misses Vada and Nadvne Horner were guests of Misses Cleo and Velma Dunn Saturday night and Sunday.

Hr. and Mrs. M. A. Ward and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Sewell.

Miss Ima Griffith was a guest of Miss Mildred Hatcher Friday night.

Guests of Miss Lena Moore Saturday, night were Miss Cleo More and Opal Odom.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Dunn spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Dunn of the Longview community.

Miss Vada Horner is spending this week with Miss Aloma Hatcher.

We were sorry to hear about the death of Mrs. Bird, who is the mother of S. T. Bird of this community. She was a resident of this community for many years until a few years ago she moved to Lubbock and was there at the time of her death. They have the sincere sympathy of their many friends.

A 4-H Club, for the girls and boys of this community was organized last week. There will be a meeting every Friday morning at the school house. We are anxious to have all of the young folks, who have interest in club work, join this club.

Willis Moore and Hubert Smith spent Sunday with Raymond Dunn.

There was a business meeting of all the B.Y.P.U. officers and members of the committees on Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. M. A. Ward. B.Y.P.U. work was discussed and programs arranged for the remaining part of this month and next month.

B.Y.P.U. attendance is increasing. There was a very interesting program presented Sunday night on "Preachers of Social Righteousness—The Prophets". The subject for next Sunday night is "The Problem of Jesus". Everyone is invited to attend.

NOTICE

We will gin and grind corn Saturday, January 16th. This will be our last day to gin this season.

We thank each of you who have made it possible for us to serve you during the season, and promise the same courteous treatment and good service will be given you throughout the coming year.

We appreciate your business, and give all new customers a standing invitation to visit our gin plant any time.

Wishing each of you a prosperous year.
 Yours very truly,

Tax Assessors to Take First Farm Census in Texas

Farmers Urged to Cooperate With Census Gatherers Who Are Not Paid

Tax assessors began work last week on the compilation of Texas' first farm census, which is to be gathered annually and used for the benefit of farmers. The census was authorized by House Bill 539, enacted at the regular session of the Forty-second Legislature. Its prime purpose is for the gathering and disseminating of facts regarding the operation of farms in Texas so that farmers may be aided in production and marketing of crops.

The farm census is independent on the two questions being asked by the tax assessors relative to the number of acres in cultivation and in cotton in 1930 and 1931 for the administration of Texas' cotton acreage reduction law, restricting the 1932 cotton acreage to thirty per cent of the cultivated land, J. E. McDonald, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, pointed out recently. The farm census will include a survey of all farm products.

Through the joint arrangement of the United States Department of Agriculture and the Texas Department of Agriculture the statistical information obtained by the census will be compiled by and used in the periodical crop reports of the Federal-State Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, under direction of Carl H. Robinson, senior agricultural statistician. The law authorizing the survey included a provision permitting the Texas Commissioner of Agriculture to co-operate with the federal department in this work.

Accurate collection of the information will depend upon the various county tax assessors, who are not being paid for the work, and upon the farmers in co-operating with the assessors.

For the reason that the assessors are not being compensated for their work, farmers are urged to co-operate with them fully, to give the desired information without reluctance, in order that the census may show a complete picture of the Texas agricultural conditions.

"This information is confidential and positively not for taxation or inspection, and not for private usage" is the notation on each page of the census blanks. Twenty-eight questions are to be answered for the census, including the number of tenant families on the farm, the acres in cultivation in 1931, the acreage and harvest of corn, wheat, oats, grain sorghums, cane and sweet sorghums, cotton and vegetables, the number of trees of bearing age, cows, chickens, turkeys, animals slaughtered and the number of steam pressure canners.

Farmers will be directly aided by the census for it will be a guide to them in changing acreage in particular crops to prevent overproduction and a guide to them in marketing, enabling them to have an accurate indication of the future prices of a crop through the number of acres planted, Commissioner McDonald pointed out. Indirectly it will aid them, he further explained, in preventing the ill effects of misleading crop reports based on erroneous estimates of acreages, by reducing speculation in farm products by giving farmers dependable information on the supply, thus reducing the speculation margin that is necessary when an uncertainty of supply exists.

Statistician Robinson declared that the census will be of great value to him in compiling Texas crop reports and estimates, for it will serve to correct any errors.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all those who assisted us during the illness, death and burial of our father, F. N. May. May God bless you all and we hope that in some way we will be able to show you our appreciation. Especially do we wish to thank the doctors for their untiring efforts.

Lost 20 Lbs. Of Fat In Just 4 Weeks

Mrs. Mac West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 years old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment." Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—it's the SAFE, harmless way to reduce as tens of thousands of men and women know. For your health's sake ask for and get Kruschen—at all drug stores—the cost for a bottle that lasts 4 weeks is but a trifle and if after the first bottle you are not joyfully satisfied with results—money back.

WE MUST FACE CONDITIONS LIKE MEN

(Ben F. Greer, Wichita County farmer, published in the Farm & Ranch)

If this tide of depression only affected our own nation it might not be so bad and we would likely recover much sooner and perhaps would not have to worry so long. To my way of thinking there is little to be done that will be of much help in the way of farm relief by legislation by either Congress or our State Legislatures. For, not only is agriculture affected, but every line of business, and we farmers can help our own cause very materially if we would only use our heads a little more and not depend so much on Congress or the State Legislative bodies.

Many years ago our National Government learned that the logical way to teach the farmer was by way of demonstrations but instead of trying to use the things our National Government has provided for our enlightenment, we go blindly depending on someone else to help us on to the road to prosperity. For years the cotton farmer has been advised to curtail his cotton plantings, and only a few months ago Mr. Leege, then head of the Farm Board, advised the grain farmers that there was a surplus of wheat and that they must reduce acreage or the price would fall below cost of production. The folks who are in touch with world conditions were advising us wisely but we blindly shut our eyes and refused to hear or heed, so now we have our own State Legislature enacting laws compelling us to reduce cotton acreage, and if it works the grain farmers will next be asking them to pass such a law for the wheat grower.

We could have reduced our acreage in both cotton and in wheat just as easily and far more cheaply, for we will find that it will cost money to enforce such laws, and the money will have to come from taxation and already taxes are too high. In the first place, a successful agriculture must be based on a long time program; it can never be built on a guess and by-gosh program. A successful agriculture means a looking into the distance, as agricultural life is a continuous process of change. We must become home builders and not continue as mere soil miners. Too many of us farmers are today looking from behind depleted cotton and grain fields where we have for years been growing grain and cotton to sell to buy all the other things needful for the farm and the home. All the time taking away the fertility of the soils and putting nothing back.

We have treated grass as one of our worst enemies, many of us fighting it all winter. We will have to change our ways, and we realize right here that all appeals for a change of program must be made to the intelligence and ability and will of the farmer. His will to change will have to be influenced by practical demonstrations of facts. Of course that means a long slow process, and if we hope for a rapid change back to prosperity backed by better prices, I fail to see what we can base that hope on. The brightest lining to this dark cloud, as I see it, is in the tens of thousands of bright farm boys and girls throughout our great country who are getting inspiration and education for organized effort in better methods of farming and home making. We older folks know that there is much truth in the old adage "That it is hard to teach an old dog new tricks." But we can and will learn from the practical things our boys and girls are doing. That is, we will if we are not too wise and too narrow-minded to accept the truth even from our children.

It is going to take an organized intelligent effort of all the folks who are vitally interested in agriculture to make the grade. The farmer, both the home owner and the tenant farmer, the landlord, the merchant and the banker, all working together to one common end to make our agriculture what it ought to be. If the farmer is in a position to use tractors to an economical advantage let him do so; if the mule or the horse fit into his picture best, use them. But the first thing is to get back to fundamentals and grow all the food and feed needed for our stock and family on our own farms! Then as supplementals for cash use the other crops and livestock best adapted to our environments and pocketbook. The dairy cow and the hen for years have been a safe bet for the farmer, and intelligently used they will keep the average farmer out of debt. But here in the South in their ardent desire to help us, chambers of commerce, bankers and business men have urged us to milk cows and keep hens, and as a result of their efforts they have gone out and brought in cows and induced men to go into the dairy and poultry game without regard to necessary caution for success along those lines. As a result we have too many cows; I mean just cows; or we have too many hens that are just hens. Too many farmers have gone from a one-crop cotton or grain farming system to a one-crop dairy or poultry system; in other words, they are milking cows and depending on the cows to buy all the feed they use and all of the other things needful for the farm and home, or they have gone chicken-wild and devote all their energies to poultry production the money needful to buy their feed and the other things the family must have. And in getting into the dairy game in many cases, they bought cows with very little thought of profitable production. The same way with poultry. There is a minimum production under which there is no profit to the farmer.

I believe that every farmer who likes cows and whose environments permit, ought to have a few "good" cows—cows that will produce about 300 pounds of butter fat per year. I think that every farmer who can care for them properly ought to have a well-bred flock of hens; I would say a flock that will average not less than 175 eggs per hen per year. Good cows and hens are not all that is needful; they must be properly cared for, properly fed and housed if they are to produce profitably. We will admit that sometimes one may be able to show a profit from scrub cows and scrub hens, but usually this is the exception rather than the rule. Today many of our farmers are milking cows they are eating the profit their better cows are making, and many are keeping hens that eat all the profit the good ones produce. And even with good cows and hens, there will come times when the prices we receive for their products will be so low that we cannot produce profitably and depend buying their feed so let's grow their feed at least most of it.

Some farmers and some landlords will hold a dime so close to their eye that they can't see a dollar ten feet away. No one ever starved a dime out of a cow or a hen. Some folks don't like to milk cows; to that class I would say, keep a few good beef type cows and grow a few good calves to sell each year; a few good sheep will fit into almost any type of farming, and will save many hours of labor keeping the fields and pasture clear of noxious weeds. A good sow or two is always a good asset to most any farm, providing the meat and lard needful for the home use and a few shoats or fat hogs to sell for a cash crop. Turkeys for the farmer so situated that he can grow them profitably are another splendid asset. There are so many different combinations that one can use to help out the farm income. But, after all, we must study and try to keep up-to-date in our farm practices; we can't farm like dad did and get by—times have changed. I am sixty four years old, raised five boys and two girls, all living today except one daughter, all none of them however live on the farm. I guess I might be able to take seven youngsters and do that today but I would not like to try it. I try to keep up with the times, try to be open minded, but I am still, I guess an old fogey, for don't seem like I could stand for mine to do some of the things I see some of the youngsters doing today. But if I had them I would do my dead level best to make a good job of it and try to help them grow in to good citizens.

Tuesday afternoon, between Santa Anna and the E. J. Crowder home in the Buffalo community, lady's purse containing $12.70 in cash, wrist watch, foot-feed and shuttle for a sewing machine, and several valuable papers bearing the name of Mrs. M. F. Crowder. Finder will be liberally rewarded if returned to the owner or to the Santa Anna News.

We note this week that our old friend, J. J. Gregg, former editor of this newspaper, has again taken over the reins of the Santa Anna News after labeling his "Back to the Soil" experiment a flop. After trying his hand at running his own farm for 16 months, during which time he had the News leased out, Gregg admits that farming is not so hot and that he is glad to be back on the old grind. Well, here's congratulations, Gregg. Never knew a man to get well after being in the newspaper game as long as you have.—(Rising Star Record)

Collins Announces For Re-election to Office Tax Assessor

We have been authorized this week to announce the candidacy of L. E. Collins for re-election to the office of Tax Assessor of Coleman county. We can think of no better mention of Mr. Collins than was given him in the Democrat-Voice at Coleman, which made the following comments:

No man in Coleman county is more widely known or better liked than L. E. Collins, Coleman county tax assessor, who this week announced his candidacy for re-election. His popularity has been attested to by votes gathered from the four corners of the county in previous campaigns.

But Mr. Collins is not only well known and well liked. He is highly efficient. His experience as a banker has served him well in his position. A traveling salesman, who has had the privilege of calling upon Mr. Collins, is authority for the statement that Coleman county assessor books and records are as well kept as any in the state of Texas.

Like other candidates, Mr. Collins will neglect few, if any, opportunities to get all the meals that will be available at picnics and barbecues and will answer present every time he is called upon at public gatherings to make announcements.

In the present campaign he will appreciate your influence and vote and in return has assured us that the same efficient service will be rendered in the future as he has given the county in the past.

The twenty-third Psalm.

Psalm 19, quoting verses 1-9:
The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament showeth His handiwork. Day unto day uttereth speech, and night unto night showeth knowledge. There is no speech nor language, where their voice is not heard. Their line is gone out through all the earth, and their words to the end of the world.

In them hath he set a tabernacle for the sun, which is as a bridegroom coming out of his chamber, and rejoiceth as a strong man to run a race. His going forth is from the end of the heaven, and his circuit unto the ends of it; and there is nothing hid from the heat thereof.

The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul: the testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple. The statutes of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart: the commandment of the Lord is pure, enlightening the eyes. The fear of the Lord is clean, enduring forever; the judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether.

In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God. All things were made by Him; and without Him was not any thing made that was made. In Him was life; and the life was the light of men. And the light shineth in darkness; and the darkness comprehended it not.—John 1:1-5.

Youth Favors Disarmament

Poll Reveals Large Per Cent Oppose Compulsory Training

(Hamilton Herald-Recorder)

Since youth is always called upon to do the fighting, it is interesting to inquire how youth feels about war and the preparedness for war. Such an inquiry has been made by the Intercollegiate Disarmament Council of New York. A straw vote in 70 colleges throughout the United States, among students of both sexes, reveals that—out of 24,345 students voting, 92 per cent favored reducing armaments, and 63 per cent favored the United States setting the example by beginning to disarm without waiting for action of other nations. One third favored 100 per cent cuts in armaments, provided all nations agree to the same ration, while one in seven advocated a 100 per cent cut for the United States regardless of action of other nations. Out of 19,750 students voting on the question of military training in colleges, 81 per cent opposed compulsory training. On the other hand only 38 per cent favored abolishing all military training. Out of 17,396 students voting on the World Court, 74 per cent urged adherence by the United States upon the basis of the Root protocols. These tests are highly significant. The students voting were small children during the great war and have no shocking memories of that horror to guide their sentiments. In spite of persistent propaganda by the patrioteers and jingoes they are choosing the way of peace. The Herald-Recorder believes the youngsters are right and we are back of them to the end.

Progressive Texans Board Indorses Centennial Plan

Unanimous endorsement of the movement to celebrate the Texas Centennial in 1936 was given by a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Progressive Texan's Inc., held in Fort Worth, and the aid of the Progressive Texans, Inc., promised to make the celebration worthy of the History of the Lone Star State.

Gratitude

A memorial to departed parents and dedicated to the remaining members of the family.
—Mrs. Charles Oakes

I walked one morn at rosy dawn
In a garden of rare design;
A feast was spread before my thirsty soul,
All joys thereof were mine.
God's foot preceded mine and lingered still
Upon the dewy grass and rose-crowned hill

His wondrous hand had painted the petals of each rose,
His fragrant breath had filled each floral cup;
In bursting bud and leafy leaf lay the glory of His art.
In sincere adoration my soul was lifted up.
His voice was in each bird song, on the wing,
Or whence the feathered songster chose to sing.

The day was mine! The radiant dawn,
The magic morn, the golden afternoon;
The rapture of that summer day
Had set my soul atone.
Silver sails on seas of gray
Now bore my sun-lit hours away.

E'en the night held wondrous beauty;
A stillness enraptured too:
The diamond-studded dome above
Replaced the one of blue.
Each hour increased with rapture and delight,
Amid the silver silences of the night.

Midnight and storm! A sky o'er cast;
Hushed now the feathered songsters that cheered with song the morn.
Bent low the snow-white lilies
With a weight from the pressing storm;
The soul-thrilled rapture of that day,
An angry storm swept not away.

Along life's path the Master's hand
Has touched with tender care,
The dawn, the morn, the afternoon,
And still it lingers there
To bless the evening and the night,
And o'er life's path-way send the light.

Should ill fortune frown upon the soul's abode,
And it become the prison house of pain,
May lips suppress all sighs—
All fears dispel
Tho' radiant health should not be known again;
Let no tears fall, no anxious doubts arise;
There shall be given courage,
Wherein sweet comfort lies.

Tho' ears be dull to all the wondrous sounds
That thrilled the soul of youth;
They seek in vain to grasp all precious words
Of wisdom, love, and truth;
Tho' bound in flesh, the heart may still rejoice;
God still doth speak; I can hear his loving voice.

Tho' eyes again should ne'er behold
Those whom life holds most dear,
Their forms and faces, charms and graces,
In distant lands or near;
For me there hangs on memory's wall,
Heart-treasured portraits of them all.

I count these still as rarest treasure—
Friendships of the yester years;
Silent stretches lie between the last glad meet,
And none may now step in to mingle joy and tears,
The love and council of each faithful friend
Remains to bless unto the journey's end.

Should there be left for me no place called home,
No sheltered spot of joyous peace and rest;
Should Fate in bold decree, withhold from me
What through the years has kept and blessed—
Tear from life's book that sacred page;
Time robs me not of that blest heritage.

Texas Industrial Activities

Five hundred and twenty-eight thousand Texans are supported directly by petroleum in its production, manufacturing and distribution and many thousands more indirectly dependent upon the oil industry for their livelihood.

Tiring of waiting for outside capital to come along and establish a creamery, Mexia citizens have decided to furnish the capital necessary and establish one of their own. Mexia citizens are maintaining a milk route to serve the Borden part of Waco and thirty-nine patrons shipped nearly 60,000 pounds of milk in November, which would furnish a nucleus of the needed supply for the proposed plant.

More than eighty per cent of the Texas total manufactured values comes from twenty-one counties, but there are eighty-five other Texas counties in which manufactured values exceed $1,000,000. Six counties have annual manufactured production in excess of $50,000,000.

Texas has almost one-fifth of all the carbonated beverage bottling plants in the 16 Southern States. In 1930 they produced approximately one-seventh of the total Southern production of 4,335,000 half-pint bottles the Texas (figures 610,000,000) showing an increase of 60,000,000 over those of 1928.

Texas leads the United States in the production of at least seventeen different commodities—cotton, wool, mohair, natural gas, petroleum, sulphur, beef cattle, mutton sheep, goats, turkeys, helium gas, carbon black, artificial ice, pecans, grain sorghums, cotton oil products and cotton gin manufactures.

Experience of a small community near Schulenburg demonstrates the benefits of proximity to a milk plant. The small group in the community is and has been all this year receiving $1,000 cash a month from its milk sales and the members have found individually that they are receiving more income from their cows than from their cotton.

Machinery is being installed at Soda Lake, near Monahans, Ward County, for a sodium sulphate plant. A Tulsa, Oklahoma, chemical company leased part of the lake bed after making test borings.

The oil industry, responsible for more than 40 per cent of the total manufacturing output of Texas, directly supports 528,000 Texas citizens. Oil contributes more largely to the State's gross income than any other one commodity, excepting cotton alone.

Additional development of another raw material of which Texas has a huge store is seen in the announcement that Arkansas men have secured a mountain of limestone near Big Spring and will establish a lime-making plant that will give employment to 150 men.

HISTORY'S MYSTERIES

Unsolved Riddles That Set Puzzle Authorities Here and Abroad

The Fate of "Fighting Mac"

THE son of a Scotch laborer, Hector MacDonald commenced his eventful life in the most prosaic of manners—first as a bare-foot plowboy and then as a clerk in a country store. As far back as he could remember, however, he had wanted to be a soldier and, as soon as he was old enough, he enlisted as a private in the Gordon Highlanders, carrying the musket of a private soldier. Then, during the Afghan campaign in 1879, came the opportunity which was to mean so much to him.

In company with a small body of men, MacDonald found himself surrounded by some two thousand or more natives, bent upon the total destruction of the British soldiers. The officers having been shot, MacDonald took command of the detachment and led them in a dashing bayonet charge which ripped the ranks of the enemy wide open and cut a lane through which the British marched to safety. As a reward for his exceptional bravery, Lord Roberts offered MacDonald his choice of the Victoria Cross or an officer's commission and, without a moment's hesitation the Scotchman chose the latter, despite the prejudice existing against the exceptional officer who had battled his way up from the ranks.

During the years that followed, MacDonald's career was one of almost continual success. During the Sudan campaign he was raised to the rank of colonel in appreciation of his defeat of a Dervish attack upon the British flank and, during the Boer war, his accomplishments were so marked that he was knighted and made a brigadier general.

During the intervening years, however, he had been constantly waging another war—one against the prejudices and enmity of certain officers of the army who were jealous of the former private's advancement and who, in consequence, tried to do everything in their power to belittle and humiliate him. The honors which General MacDonald received at the hands of the queen wiped out some of these scores, but only intensified others and, after his appointment to the command of the military post at Ceylon, certain grave charges were preferred against him which were undoubtedly without the slightest foundation.

His nerves frayed by the constant strain under which he had labored, and feeling he had been abandoned by the friends he had made, Sir Hector applied for leave of absence in order to return to London, where he had a personal interview with Lord Roberts, who is reported to have advised him to return to Ceylon and fight the accusations to the limit. Other officials of the war office were outspoken in their demands for an instant court-martial, but whether this radical step was taken has never been made public.

"Fighting Mac," as he was affectionately known to the rank and file of the British army, accordingly left London supposedly for the Orient, but only proceeded as far as Paris, where he registered at a rather secluded hotel and kept strictly to himself. Not long afterward all England was amazed by the news of the suicide of the general, who was reported to have sent a bullet through his head after reading an account of the charges against him.

But his reported death by no means ended the strange sequence of events connected with his career. Although the Scotch soldier was supposed to be a bachelor, his family was informed that the widow had taken the body back to Scotland and that the interment had taken place quietly with no military honors whatever. Little by little a rumor gained credence to the effect that "Fighting Mac" was not dead, but that he had returned to the Orient under an assumed name and had offered his services to the Mikado—one story stating that the famous General Kuroki, who attained such prominence during the Russo-Japanese war, was none other than the Scotch general. But the British war office took no cognizance of these reports and adhered to its original statement about General MacDonald's death in Paris.

Incidentally the commission of inquiry into the charges against him in Ceylon returned a report completely absolving him from all blame—but no inquiry, official or otherwise, has ever swept away the veil of mystery which surrounds the fate of one of the most gallant officers who ever fought under the British flag.

Baptist Church

We enjoyed a good day at the Baptist Church last Sunday, all departments of the Church showing an increased interest. Our Adult Union won the Efficiency Banner at the County meeting at Coleman Sunday afternoon. This is a Banner awarded each month to the Union in the county being the most efficient for the month passed. It is used as an incentive to doing better work in the local unions each Sunday. We urge all our young people to give themselves now to the Lord's service, and thereby deepen their own spiritual lives. Our Sunday School was able to make application for A-1

Standard Banner first of the year. Three year in succession we have done this, and it speaks well for our Superintendent, Brother J. R. Lock. The pastor will resume his discussion of "What Baptist Believe" next Sunday, using for the morning subject: "Repentance and Faith." This will be the eighth in the series, and without some unseen hindrance making it necessary for another interruption they will be finished in order. If you are a Baptist, can you tell why you are a Baptist? If you are interested in what Baptist as a denomination believe, come and hear these discussions. We invite all the heart hungry to worship with us. Hal C. Wingo, Pastor.

SENATE OK'S PLAN TO GIVE NEEDY WHEAT

Forty Million Bushels Would Be Distributed by Relief Agencies

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4, (A.P.) The Senate voted today to take 40,000,000 bushels of wheat from the farm boards bulging bins and distribute them to the needy.

Its actions climaxed a day in which criticism of the administration's relief policies resounded through the Senate Chamber and committee rooms. In one of the latter, Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania, whose name is linked with speculation on republican presidential possibilities denounced the Hoover program as "vicious."

The Senate acted, without a roll call vote, after a vigorous debate. Democrat leaders asserted the appropriation of wheat was the equivalent of a dole firmly opposed by President Hoover. The vehicle of action was a resolution by Senators Capper, republican, Kansas and Wheeler, democrat, Montana. It had the approval of the farm board which nevertheless contends it should be compensated for the wheat. Testifying before a senate manufactures sub-committee in hearings on proposals for unemployment relief by direct federal appropriation's Pinchot launched upon a caustic criticism of the administrators program of relief through local charitable contributions.

"It takes money from the little fellow," he said. "It doesn't take it from the big fellow. It is an attempt to get by without increasing taxes which would force the big fellows to come in and share the load."

The bill which now goes to the house, would turn the wheat over to the American Red Cross or other charitable organization designated by the president for distribution. Cost of the wheat would be charged against the revolving fund of the farm board.

The discussion of the dole brought a declaration by Senator Wheeler that "I am against a dole but the dole is credited with saving England from a revolution and if the conditions and affairs continue in this country it will be necessary for the United States to appropriate money out of the treasury to save America from a revolution."

W. E. Gideon Is Candidate For District Clerk

W. E. Gideon, who has served Coleman county in the official capacity of District Clerk for several years, authorizes the News to place his name in its announcement for re-election to succeed himself.

W. E. Gideon has served well those who have had business with the District Clerk's office, his courteous and accommodating to all, and points back to his past record in office with a degree of pride. He offers the same courteous service in the future as he has given in the past and very kindly solicits your vote in the primaries next summer.

The Democrat-Voice, in commenting on Mr. Gideon's announcement last week, had the following to say, which, we say, is well said:

He has served well, is always accommodating, is thoroughly efficient and can shake as many hands and kiss as many babies as any candidate that will be in the running this year.

Mr. Gideon is a fixture at the court house and in campaigns of the past has always received a flattering vote. He has appreciated the support given him in the past and hopes that his service has been such that he will merit your votes in the campaign this year.

He has waited on the two district courts in a satisfactory manner and is always at his office to render any service that may be required of him by attorneys and citizens. He will make all the public gatherings when the campaign gets warm and try to tell you in person just how much he has appreciated your loyalty to him in the past and promise to serve again with the same zeal that has made him an outstanding public official in the past.

Water Works School To Convene

L. A. Grimes, president of the Texas Water Works Association, announces that the fourteenth annual Water Works School will be held in Mineral Wells, Jan. 19th-21st. This is a combined operators, water superintendents and city officials of Texas towns to acquaint them with the solution of problems of operation and management of sewer plants.

Among the outstanding papers scheduled for the Mineral Wells meeting are such items as: a demonstration of centrifugal pump efficiencies, factors effecting corrosion of service mains, ammonia chlorine treatment of water, evaluation and water rates, use of activated carbon for water purification, and taste and odor control in public water supplies. Papers on well pollution, water sanitation, satisfactory water for ice making, boiler feed and water softening, as well as discussions on the common practices in making service installation and meter corrections, installation of water mains and pipe jointing compounds are features of the program. The recent work of the United States Geological survey in Texas will be discussed under the title of "Cooperative Federal and State Investigations of the Underground Water of Texas." Also problems of mineral water production and handling of bottled waters. Reports on recent developments in sewage disposal, sewage sludge digestion and installation of sewer pipes are part of the papers scheduled for the sewer plant operators session. Among the prominent speakers at the meeting are Dr. J. C. Anderson, State health officer, E. L. Filby of Kansas City, Mo., O. A. De Celle of Chicago, W. J. Orchard of New Jersey and Walter M. White of Washington. Many prominent water and sewer plant authorities from Texas also are scheduled to take part in the meeting and in the presenting of papers.

Bank Officers Are Re-elected

All officers of the First National Bank were re-elected for another year at the annual meeting of the stock-holders Tuesday.

Following are the officers: B. Weaver, president; O. L. Cheaney, cashier; H. A. Turner and D. L. Pieratt, assistant cashiers. The board of directors is composed of V. L. Grady, J. L. Stewardson, S. D. Harper, W. R. Kelley, R. L. Hunter, R. C. Gay and Burgess Weaver.

THE MODERN WAY

To end happily or not to end happily, that is the question, or we had better say, it used to be a question. It has been so universally demonstrated that audiences respond so much better to a picture that ends happily than they do to one which ends tragically, that this problem may be said to be no longer a question.

Anyway the problem came up open at Queen Theatre on Sunday. When Mrs. Shelley wrote the story of Frankenstein and his monster, the whole kick in it lay that a man had created a creature which he could not control. Eventually, the creature killed Frankenstein. For a 100 years the word "Frankenstein" has been associated with any undertaking which comes so unmanageable as to destroy its author.

Of course, the first preview audiences that saw Frankenstein were entirely satisfied to see the monster killed, but Frankenstein, ah, that was different. Colin Clive was such a splendid actor. He had so much to live for. Why did they want to kill him. So what did Universal do? Ah, you'll have to go and see the picture to find that out.
