

BALLOTING CLOSE ON FIRST CALL

County Voters Name Nominees Tomorrow

Howard County voters, several thousand strong, will go to the polls Saturday to name Democratic nominees from constable to U. S. senator.

Polls open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

Several boxes will be voting in new locations — No. 2 at the Washington Place School, No. 3 at the Main Street Fire Station, No. 4 at the City Hall Fire Station.

Voters should go to the box shown on their poll tax receipt or exemption certificate.

They also should mark ballots by placing an "X" in the square beside the name of the candidate for whom they wish to vote. This is the first time that Texans have been able to vote "for" someone. The "scratching" method is permissible, but election officials pointed out that it is vastly slower to count.

Another ballot innovation, too, is that candidates for county commissioner will appear on ballots only in the boxes in their precinct.

Voters in boxes No. 1, No. 12, No. 13 and No. 15 will vote only for county commissioner of precinct No. 1.

Voters in boxes No. 2, No. 9 and No. 10 will vote only for county commissioner of precinct No. 2. Voters in boxes No. 3 and No. 8 will vote only for county commissioner of precinct No. 3.

Voters in boxes No. 4, No. 5, No. 6, No. 7, No. 11, No. 14 will vote only for county commissioner of precinct No. 4.

But voting for justice of peace and constable is not simplified in printing of the ballot.

All the Big Spring boxes—No. 1, No. 2, No. 3, No. 4, No. 5—are in justice precinct No. 1. Voters in them will be privileged to vote for justice of peace for both place No. 1 and in place No. 2, and for constable.

Voters in boxes No. 6, No. 7 and No. 8 will vote for justice of peace and constable in justice precinct No. 2.

Voters in box No. 10 will vote in justice precinct No. 3. Voters in boxes No. 11, No. 12, No. 13, No. 6 and No. 15 will vote for justice of peace and constable in justice precinct No. 4.

As to the mechanics of voting, the voter will pick up his own ballot after he or she has shown a poll tax receipt or exemption certificate and had it stamped as being voted. The ballot will be marked perforable with an "X" in the squares. The little perforated rectangle in the upper right hand corner will be torn out, signed on the back side. The ballot will be deposited in a ballot box and the little stub in a stub box.

Early voting will be a tremendous help in keeping up with the counting. This enables counters to be counting all day instead of marking time early in the morning and then being swamped on the close-out.

Saturday Is E-Day Throughout Texas

By The Associated Press

Saturday is E-Day in Texas. Election Day in Texas. . . the Democratic Primary for state, county and precinct offices, target date of hundreds of speeches and scores of candidates.

It's also the day for Democratic and Republican precinct conventions.

Candidates for state office Friday put on their last burst of oratory and energy in an effort to win the vote most of them have been seeking since early in the year.

Election eve dawned with promises from the Weather Bureau of hot, dry weather. That possibly could mean a record turnout.

There were these other developments:

1. The chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee flew back to Texas from Chicago to urge followers of Gov. Allan Shivers to attend Saturday's precinct conventions.

2. Three of the Shivers' delegates left the convention at Chicago early and were in Houston. One was E. E. Townes who refused to sign a "watered-down" loyalty pledge at the convention. The others were Palmer Bradley and Ralph B. Lee.

3. Mrs. Allie Mae Currie, Dallas Eisenhower Republican, asked "dissatisfied Democrats and independent voters" to join Republicans in the GOP precinct conventions.

4. Liberty, hometown of Price Daniel, Senate aspirant, planned its biggest political rally Friday night, with Daniel scheduled to make the principal speech over a state-wide radio network at 8:30 p.m.

5. Daniel's busiest opponent, Lindsey Beckworth, scheduled appearances Friday in 26 South and East Texas towns and cities. His program for the day started at 8 a.m. and was to run far into the night.

6. Gov. Shivers defended his Chicago stand and Candidate-for-Governor Ralph Yarborough blasted at it with heated oratory.

Yarborough accused Shivers of a "complete, crawling turnabout."

"In an attempt to keep his seat at Chicago, the governor says just anything that he thinks sounds good at the moment," the candidate said at Floresville.

Shivers answered that the pledge agreed upon by the Texas delegation requires only that party officials in Texas make sure the nominee of the national convention is on the state's ballot.

Judge E. E. Townes, earlier reported in favor of a third party movement, Thursday night said he was not advocating such a course.

"We're not figuring on a third party. . . we tried that in 1948," Townes said, and continued: "The Democratic Party is ours. We've already got it. . . The thing to do is to work in the precinct conventions and restore the Democratic party to the Democrats."

The earlier afternoon statement attributed to Townes' had suggested that a movement for a third party candidate would benefit Republicans by 50 per cent.

Lee made it plain he did not "walk out" of the convention at Chicago. He said he had to come back early because of business matters. He declined to comment on the third party statement first attributed to Townes. Palmer Bradley, a States Right leader, had no reported comment.

Chairman Wheat, in an Austin press conference, explained the Shivers stand at the National Democratic Convention. "Even though we've won this loyalty fight all the way through," he said, "it's going to come up again in the September state convention. That's why the precinct conventions are important."

"It's important to see that people take part who believe there's room in the Democratic Party for all Democrats. . . I don't want to read anybody out of the party, and I don't want anybody to read me out of it."

Wheat, like Shivers, said the loyalty pledge finally adopted by the national convention requires only that party officials make sure the party nominee gets on the state ballot. He said the pledge does not require party officials to support the nominee.

Wheat said Shivers should get credit not only for leading the fight against Maverick and Texas Loyals Democrats, "but against the whole North and East."

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wisc) was reported "in good condition" today following a major operation performed yesterday. The operation was performed to mend a rupture of muscles separating the chest and abdominal cavities.

Production Of Steel Is Due By Next Week

Workers Expected To Ratify Strike Settlement Pact

By ROWLAND EVANS JR. WASHINGTON (AP)—The longest, costliest steel strike in American history in effect is over. Production is expected to resume next week.

The striking CIO Steelworkers Union was considered virtually certain today to ratify a strike-ending agreement reached at the White House after President Truman personally demanded—and got—a settlement.

It was not a clear-cut victory for anyone concerned—the union, industry, or the government. There was give and take on all sides.

The end of the crippling, 53-day strike was announced late yesterday by the President himself, with CIO President Philip Murray and U.S. Steel Chairman Benjamin Fairless "have reached agreement on important basic issues" after day-long conferences, and predicted a "speedy resumption of steel production."

He said Murray would meet today with his 175-man Wage-Policy Committee to obtain ratification of the agreement.

Fairless, it was reliably learned, plans to make a personal appearance before this committee in a dramatic move aimed at wiping out any bitterness. The union invited him to make a short talk to the group after a closed session during which actual ratification of the agreement was scheduled.

At best it will be four or five days before any substantial production of steel is reached. It takes that long to heat up the banked blast furnaces which stand—by workers have kept alive ever since the strike started July 2.

The new steel which comes out of some 380 struck plants will sell for at least $5.20 a ton more than before the strike started.

A few minutes after Truman's dramatic announcement the government approved a price increase of that amount for raw, or

Kroll OK Goes To Stevenson

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—Jack Kroll, CIO Political Action director, today asked all CIO member-delegates at the Democratic Convention to vote for Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois.

Kroll said in a statement through a press aide saying that he wanted all CIO members who are convention delegates to vote for Stevenson as the presidential nominee "as soon as they can fulfill their commitments."

By this he said he meant they should vote for Stevenson on the first ballot, or on the soonest subsequent ballot possible.

The CIO had been between three candidates, Stevenson, Sen. Kefauver and Averell Harriman.

Kroll had announced against Vice President Barkley and was credited by the "veep" with being a party to causing his withdrawal earlier this week as a candidate. However, Barkley's name has been put before the convention anyway.

Union political strategists, including the AFL as well as CIO, had been divided as among Stevenson, Harriman and Kefauver. They have been frankly opposed to Sen. Robert Kerr and Richard Russell.

Bids Are Opened On Webb Projects

Bids were opened on one project for Webb Air Force Base Thursday at the U. S. Engineer's office, in Fort Worth and were due on another one this afternoon.

Swain Construction Company, Lubbock, was apparent low bidder on construction of a guardhouse at the installation. Its offer was for $46,036. Engineer estimates had been for $41,413. One of the bids received amounted to $71,190.

Bids were to be opened at the Fort Worth District office, said Col. H. R. Hallock, on the construction of a commissary subsistence warehouse at Webb Air Force Base.

ESTES KEFAUVER Leads On First Roll Call

DEADLOCK HOLDS

Blackout Lifted From Truce Talks

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

MUSAN, Korea (AP)—The three-week news blackout was lifted today, showing the deadlock over prisoner exchange—final issue blocking a truce—still unbroken.

Despite a United Nations offer to return an additional 13,000 captives to the Communists, 18 off-the-record meetings since July 4 proved "completely fruitless," said Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr.

"We are no nearer a solution of the problem today than we were on July 4," the chief Allied delegate said, but added:

"As long as we continue negotiations there is always hope, when the enemy proposed this morning that we go back into open sessions, I agreed heartily."

Starting tomorrow proceedings will be made public daily as formerly. Tomorrow's session is set for 11 a.m. (9 p.m., Friday, EST).

The U. N. Command said it refused to back down on its decision not to return forcibly any prisoners to the Communists. Only 83,000 of 173,000 Allied-held POWs want to be repatriated, Harrison said. This is an increase of 3,000 over the figure submitted to the Reds earlier, before screening of POWs was completed.

The Allies said the Communists insisted on the return of 116,000 prisoners. These include 20,000 Chinese captives of whom only 5,400 will return voluntarily.

North Korea Gen. Nam Il, the senior Red negotiator, conceded the prisoner exchange issue had become not a matter of principle, but of "bits and numbers." He urged the U. N. to present a figure "approaching reality." But the Allies said Nam never reconciled his statements and proposals with the Allied report that almost three-fourths of the Chinese in Allied prisoner camps would resist repatriation.

The Communist general on July 6 submitted a vague proposal largely repeating an earlier Red suggestion—that all foreign prisoners, Chinese and United Nations, be exchanged and that Koreans be disposed of in accordance with where they formerly lived.

Harrison offered to allow the Communists to check the Allied screening figures, but Nam flatly refused even to recognize the screening.

The Communists today proposed a meeting of staff officers to discuss "details" of the wording of an armistice agreement.

"We are going to consider the matter," Harrison said. All matters in agreement have been drafted, but approval of the wording has been held up for solution of the prisoner issue.

Noted Criminal Is Caught In Florida

WASHINGTON, July 25 (AP)—George Arthur Heroux, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted criminals, was captured today near Miami, Fla., FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover reported.

Heroux, 22, a native of Baltimore, was sought for two big bank robberies in Missouri and Kansas. Hoover said the youth was apprehended this morning by the El Portal police department.

Three Suspects Caught In Chase

WACO, July 25 (AP)—Police and sheriff's deputies captured three of four bandit suspects today after a dramatic chase punctuated by gunfire.

A civilian and two enlisted men from Fort Hood were taken in a field. A fourth man escaped. Officers believed the capture may clear up a series of robberies.

Mineral Wells Plant Wiped Out In Fire

MINERAL WELLS, July 25 (AP)—A raging early morning fire wiped out the Smith Steel Casting Co. Plant near here today.

Damage was estimated at $100,000. The factory was a subsidiary of a Marshall, Tex., company operated by three Smith brothers—William, Gerald and Robert. William Smith made the damage estimate.

Kefauver, Russell, Stevenson Battling

(From Press Dispatches)

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago — A hard-fought, neck-and-neck race developed today on the first roll call of the Democratic National Convention.

Estes Kefauver led on the first call, but then a switch in balloting was started by several states.

Kefauver was followed closely by Adlai Stevenson, and Richard Russell was right behind Stevenson.

Connecticut was the first state to switch, giving its votes to Stevenson.

Final totals on first roll call: Kefauver, 340; Stevenson, 273; Russell, 268; Harriman, 123 1/2; Kerr, 65; Barkley, 48 1/2; Others, 111; Not Voting 1.

The outcome remained very much at question. Just as the first roll call was finished, it was announced that President Truman had arrived in Chicago. Whether his appearance—since he had instructed his own vote for Stevenson—would make any changes in voting, remained to be determined.

The Michigan delegation announced that it, too, wanted to change its vote.

An uproar swept the floor, however, and the new vote was not immediately announced.

Then Michigan said that it was shifting its 40 votes from favorite G. Mennen Williams to Sen. Estes Kefauver but a poll of the delegation was demanded, but the request was ruled too late.

That made the Kefauver total 340 1/2.

Kansas then announced that it was switching its 16 votes to Stevenson.

Russell's lieutenants had set a 285 vote goal on the first ballot. They conceded privately that the Georgian can't go much beyond that—615 1/2 votes are needed for the nomination—unless there are unexpected developments.

There was considerable belief in the Russell camp that the Georgia senator might try to throw his strength to Vice President Alben W. Barkley if Russell became convinced he couldn't win.

Barkley, a surprise entry after an earlier withdrawal, might develop into Stevenson's chief rival in that case.

Nevertheless, the Stevenson bandwagon was rolling along swiftly. And Sen. Francis Myers of Pennsylvania, Stevenson's floor manager, told a reporter: "We'll make it on the second or third ballot."

Just before Chairman Sam Rayburn banged his gavel to open this climactic session of the party's 31st convention, the CIO grabbed for the tailboard of the wagon.

In a statement, Jack Kroll, CIO Political Action director, asked all CIO member delegates to vote for Stevenson "as soon as they can fulfill their commitments"—that is after they had first honored any promises to give one round of vote to others.

Kroll's move may have been designed as a bid to put a man friendly toward the CIO's views on the ticket as Stevenson's running mate.

It was a blow, in any event, to Estes Kefauver and Averell Harriman, bidding for the top place.

Whipped in a terrific last night's early today battle over seating Southern rebels against a loyalty pledge, they had hoped for a shift of sentiment in the hours between the early morning adjournment and today's assembly for the pay-off session.

They believed they had perhaps slowed a Stevenson steam-roller by delaying tactics which stalled off a presidential ballot last night although leaders kept the convention in session until 2 a.m.

The Stevenson forces maneuvered to seat the Virginia, Louisiana and South Carolina delegates, despite their refusal to take a loyalty pledge, pointed toward a Southerner as the No. 2 man on the ticket—if Stevenson wins.

But those Northern elements which fly the "liberal" banner indicated they would scrap to get one of their men accepted.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, Minnesota, who has been working with the Kefauver-Harriman combine on test issues, told reporters he personally wouldn't mind seeing Stevenson the party nominee "as long as there's another liberal on the ticket."

"I've been pleading with the Harriman, Kefauver and liberal Stevenson people to get together," Humphrey said.

At a pre-session caucus of the California delegation, John Anson Ford, national committeeman, told the delegates to stand firm for Kefauver. He said there was a "ruthless" coalition out to put Stevenson over.

The Illinois governor's legions were rolling swiftly forward, spurred on by two skirmish victories last night and early today over the combined forces of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and W. Averell Harriman of New York.

The Stevenson men were credited with bringing back into the convention fold both-threatening delegations from Virginia, South Carolina and Louisiana.

They won a clear cut, though narrow-margin victory in keeping the delegates at work in a 14-hour session but they had to surrender finally and allow adjournment in the early morning hours because of what had all of the early earmarks of a filibuster by the Kefauver-Harriman coalition.

Working together in what they have styled a "liberal" combine which has attracted supporters of some other candidates, Kefauver and Harriman took a 615 to 539 licking in efforts to prevent the 28th Virginia delegation from balloting on presidential and vice presidential nominees.

It was the first time such a coalition has been defeated on an important roll call in a Democratic convention since the early days of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Conventions In Precincts Set

Precinct conventions, setting in motion the forces which ultimately will control Texas party operations for the next two years, come up at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Participants cannot take part in activities of both parties. For instance they cannot vote in the Democratic Primary and attend the Republican Precinct Convention.

With two exceptions, all Democratic Precinct Conventions will be at the polling places. The exceptions are Box No. 3, which meets in Park Hill School, and Box No. 4, which will be in the county judge's office. No. 1, which votes in the courthouse, has its convention in the grand jury room.

The Democratic Precinct Line Up is therefore as follows: No. 1, vote in district courtroom, convention grand jury room; No. 2 vote and convention at Washington Place School; No. 3, vote Main Street Fire Station, convention Park Hill School; No. 4, vote City Hall Fire Station, convention county judge's office; No. 5, vote and convention West Ward School. All rural boxes vote and convention in regular places.

Precinct Conventions for Republicans are as follows: No. 1 at 208 NW 2nd; No. 2, Couden office; No. 3 at 553 Hillside Drive; No. 4 at 1512 Tucson; No. 7 at Roger Miller residence on route No. 1; No. 8 at 709 W. 17th; No. 9 at Albert Wirth home in Coahoma; No. 10 at G. L. Monroey home in Forsan.

Democrats Beginning To Act Like Democrats Again

By ED CREAUGH
CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (AP)—Well, the country is back to normal. The Democrats are acting like Democrats again. They fought and they raged. They got confused, noisy, sentimental and, finally, dog-tired in that marathon session which ground on into the wee hours of this morning.

Red Cross Feeling Pinch Of Inflation

Organizations as well as individuals have to watch their bank accounts now that the cost of living has advanced—and the Red Cross is no exception.

Red Cross, in addition to teaching first aid, swimming, lifesaving and nurses courses, and many other duties, loans money to service men in emergency circumstances. And the amount of the loans have advanced along with the jump in prices.

In comparison with prices 10 years ago, loans have increased greatly.

One of the causes for emergency loans (sometimes they turn out to be grants) is sickness that necessitates hospitalization. Hospital rooms, generally speaking are around $9 per day; 10 years ago the rate was $5 and $6. Delivery room rates have doubled in the last decade from $10 to $20 per day. Nursery charges are up the same percentage, from $1 up to $2. Many loans are made for rent payments. The average rent bill per month in 1942 was from $35 to $50. The same rent bills now are from $60 to $90.

Individual meals have advanced from about 35 cents and 50 cents to a minimum of 65 cents.

Telegram rates on party lines are up approximately 15 per cent from the war year of 1942.

Another item is groceries that the Red Cross makes loans for. Since 1942 the average loan for groceries has advanced from approximately $15 to $22.50 per month.

Even transportation rates have gone up. The rates per mile are 2.5 cents as compared with 2 cents charge in 1942. The 3 cent increase looks small but when multiplied by the distance to California or Alabama or New York, the increase is considerable.

Ministers Fail To Agree On Funds For Experiments

By JOSEPH DYNAN

PARIS (AP)—The six Schuman Plan foreign ministers today put Western Europe's steel-coal pool into motion but failed to agree on a capital for their unprecedented experiment in economic unity.

Sitting almost continuously from 9 a.m. yesterday to 5 a.m. today, the ministers agreed that some of the six-nation economic union's institutions will start operations Aug. 10 in temporary quarters in Luxembourg, the capital of the Grand Duchy.

The joint assembly, or legislative branch, will begin work a month later, Sept. 10, at Strasbourg, France, in the chambers of the Council of Europe's Consultative Assembly.

In their hours of sometimes bitter wrangling, the ministers temporarily shelved French and Italian proposals to "Europeanize" the Saar Valley as a permanent home for the plan and use Strasbourg as a provisional capital until the Saar could be internationalized.

This was put aside after France and Germany agreed to direct talks on the Saar's status, long an issue between the two neighbors.

The six ministers agreed on persons to fill the high authority, executive arm of the plan, and the court to settle disputes, but withheld official announcements for the time being. Some acceptances still are being awaited.

Execution Stayed By Supreme Court

AUSTIN, July 25 (AP)—The scheduled execution of Darius Golemon for murder in the 1948 slaying of a sailor's wife has been stayed by the U. S. Supreme Court. Pardon Board Chairman Lyle C. Harris said today.

The stay halts execution pending a study of the case by the court, now in recess until October.

The execution had previously been set for shortly after midnight.

Golemon was sentenced in the slaying of Cloyce Eloise Twitchell whose body was found October 4, 1948, in the "Big Thicket," a heavily wooded area near Beaumont. Trial court testimony indicated the slaying occurred after she had given a ride to two men on a trip from Beaumont to Colmesneil.

Guard Unit Will Police Grounds

Police work at Big Spring's 19th annual rodeo will be handled by local National Guardsmen.

Members of the Big Spring field artillery battery will also direct automobile parking and assist with other chores. It will be the third year that Guardsmen have cooperated with rodeo officials in staging the show and cowboy reunion.

The rodeo will be held Aug. 6-9 in the big concrete stadium in west Big Spring. Guard headquarters now is located in the Howard County Fair Association buildings on the rodeo grounds.

Napier Plugs For T-H Law's Repeal

GREENVILLE, July 25 (AP)—E. W. Napier, candidate for the U. S. Senate in tomorrow's Democratic primary, called today for "outright repeal" of the Taft-Hartley Labor Law.

He also declared, "I am completely in accord with the administration's farm program, but there have been many abuses that must be corrected if the plan survives."

The stand taken by the Wichita Falls lawyer and stockman on the Taft-Hartley Law and the administration farm program is opposite to that of the majority of leading Southern Democrats.

Napier, in an address prepared for delivery here this morning, said:

"It is now apparent that the Taft-Hartley Law has failed to improve the relations between employer and employee. The law is unfair and unworkable and I would work for its outright repeal."

Stocks Still A Good Hedge For Inflation

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—The buying power of the dollar is at a new low. The cost of living is at a new high.

And some folk suggest that this should shed a new light on many of the facts of life—even including the price of shares on the stock market.

To look at the painful facts first: the government's consumer price index in June pushed above the previous peak reached last January.

Based on this index, the buying power of the dollar has slipped to around 53 cents—that is, the dollar will buy only a little more than half as much in goods and services as it would in the 1935-39 period.

In these terms its buying power has been below 60 cents ever since the post-war inflation got rolling.

Now to take a cost-of-living look at the stock market:

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks is at its highest point in 22 years—expressed in conventional dollars.

But translate stock prices over the years into cost-of-living dollars—that is, value them in terms of what a dollar would buy at the time—and the AP stock average now would be below the 1946 bull market peak and also the 1937 bull market peak.

In other words, inflation—whether you look at it as the high cost of living or as the shrinking of the buying power of the dollar—is still around. If not so urgent as it was. And brokers consider stocks are still a good hedge against it.

Oklahoma Seeks Second Choice When Kerr Fades

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—Oklahoma's Democratic Convention delegation warily eyed possible second choices in the presidential battle royal today as the time for balloting arrived.

Gov. Johnston Murray told a reporter there was much potential strength among the Sooners for the old Democratic Party wheelhorse—Vice President Alben Barkley. He reiterated that he personally favored Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia, the candidate of the South.

However, the Oklahomans were pledged to vote for their favorite son, Sen. Robert S. Kerr, as long as he had a chance. This pledge seemed certain to be honored at least on the first ballot.

After that, the delegation was expected to caucus and decide what to do.

Kerr was steadfastly remaining in the race. Reports circulated last night that he might throw his votes to Barkley as a part of a drive to stop Gov. Adlai Stevenson. But the senator's managers said this was just idle talk.

Carl V. Rice of Kansas, Kerr's floor manager, told a reporter after the 14-hour nominating session ended early today that "things are not shaping up so bad for the senator."

"I think this thing is going to be deadlocked tight as a drum," he declared.

The hope of the Kerr backers all along has been that none of the front runners could muster the votes to win. They figure that, in such an event, the tall Oklahoman might well be the compromise candidate to which the convention would turn.

MARKETS

WALL STREET
NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—Prices were mixed today in the stock market as the backwash of trading following settlement of the steel strike.

An initial buying rush bolstered by overnight orders piled out and was replaced by profit taking that cut back many of the small gains built up at the opening.

Steeles themselves at the start were heavily traded in large blocks at generally higher prices but within the first hour steels had settled down to a pattern of unchanged to lower prices.

Lack Of Opposition Can Be Proper When Record Of Service Is Sound

Good, clean competition frequently is healthy for the body politic but it is not always necessary.

And when it doesn't materialize in some positions which appear to be filled by especially capable gentlemen, it is gratifying that the unilateral choice left to the voter is one that he probably would make anyhow.

Cases in point are found in a few districts.

One is for representative of the 19th Texas Congressional District, a post held by George H. Mahon since the district was carved out following the 1930 decennial census. Mr. Mahon, whose quietness amounts almost to shyness, has fulfilled the prophecy of former Vice President John Garner that he would be one of the outstanding congressmen. His responsibilities are great as key man on the military appropriations subcommittee and as one of the ranking members of the appropriations committee.

Then there is Clyde Grissom, who is asking to be returned to the Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland, and well he should for he has had a distinguished service. Harley Sadler, asking promotion to the state Senate from the House of Representatives, is deserving of the honor he will attain without opposition. Sadler is a level-headed, square-shooting West Texan who makes a sound and balanced public servant.

We could not forget our own fellow citizen, Obie Bristow, who is the lone man on the ticket for state representative. This can be an almost thankless job, certainly a sacrificial one. We are fortunate, therefore, to have a man of Mr. Bristow's calibre make himself available to the district.

There is one other candidate whom we would like to mention, who although not unopposed, is almost so. He is Ben Ramsey, the lieutenant governor. Mr. Ramsey recently toured this area although it was not really necessary for him to bring his campaign to the high plains. His record of friendship to West Texas has been consistent, and this area, of course, will show reciprocity.

Democratic Party Can Rate Alben Barkley As One Of Its Big Heroes

Whatever highlights the Democratic National Convention may engender, none can surpass the appearance of Alben Barkley before it for sheer drama and spontaneity of affection.

Mr. Barkley, dealt with crudely by a few "self-anointed labor leaders" who lacked proper respect for an age they said was too great, hid his wounds and spared himself of rancor.

He came before the convention not as an embittered candidate or a cry-baby politician but as a man with his head high and his spirit undaunted.

One could not help but think back to four years ago when this gallant character, who had taken his stripes as Senate majority leader at times when it meant great sacrifice and wounds to his pride, resurrected the Democratic convention from slow death. As keynote, he waded in with so great a vigor and enthusiasm that he literally transformed the convention. From that moment on, despite its acrimony and intrigue, it became a fighting body that followed a fighting candidate to one of the biggest election upsets in U.S. history.

In what may well have been the climax to his career, Alben Barkley again rose to the heights and once more rallied his party around him Wednesday night at Chicago. Whatever measure of success the Democrats have in November may be attributed in no small measure to this noble, fighting spirit.

Barkley And Harriman Handed Cruellest Blows At Convention

CHICAGO. — Politics can be a cruel business. The cruellest blows dealt in the current race for the Democratic presidential nomination were to Vice President Alben Barkley and Averell Harriman. Undoubtedly, they were not meant to be cruel, for in Barkley's case they came from those who love him most—his wife, Leslie Biffle, and the President. However, it will probably embitter him for the remainder of his life.

The stage was set for Barkley to enter the presidential race on July 5, the last day Congress was supposed to meet, at a luncheon given by Senate Secretary Biffle, the Veep's close personal and political friend. Since Congress was supposed to close that day, President Truman returned to his old stamping ground, attended the luncheon, had a couple of bourbons and was pulled to one side for a conference with Biffle.

Biffle is the man who put Barkley across as Vice President at the Philadelphia convention in 1948; also the man, who, posing as a chicken salesman, toured the country taking political soundings that summer and predicted Truman could win. He has long wanted the Veep to become President; likewise the new Mrs. Barkley.

So, at this luncheon, Biffle urged Truman to switch his support from Harriman, then his No. 1 choice, to the much-loved, elderly Veep.

Truman agreed.

The very next day Barkley, buoyed up by hope and spurred on by his wife, made a formal announcement that he would actively push his campaign. That was why, on arriving in Chicago, he walked from the railroad station to the hotel. That was also why the party bosses passed out word that it's "Barkley the White House wants."

However, the days when the President can hand down orders on his successor and get them obeyed are past. When George Harrison, head of the AFL railroad clerks, heard this from Bill Boyle, former chairman of the Democratic National Committee, he phoned the White House, insisted on talking to the President direct, and the following conversation took place:

"Mr. President, Bill Boyle tells me you have selected Barkley."

"That's right," replied the President.

"Well, that puts me on an awfully long limb because I have been pushing Harriman as you indicated 10 days ago," responded Harrison.

"Well, stay out on the limb for a little while longer," was Truman's cryptic reply.

Whether the President meant by this that he was merely using Barkley as a stalking horse to stop Kefauver is not known. However, the much-loved and now embittered Veep will never recover from that political blow.

The blow at Averell Harriman was not quite so brutal, chiefly because he is a younger man.

What happened was that Paul Fitzpatrick, top Democratic leader of New York, wanted a "holding candidate"—a man who could hold New York's big block of delegates together thus permitting Fitzpatrick to trade at the convention and throw the New York delegates at the right time.

First Fitzpatrick approached New York's Ben, Herbert, Lehman, Lehman, past 76, ridiculed the idea. He said he had no chance to become President and didn't want the New York delegates pledged to him.

Next Fitzpatrick went to Harriman, urged him to run for President. Harriman took him seriously, jumped in with all his energy, plus considerable money, and proceeded to put on a bang-up campaign. In fact, he put on such a good campaign that even his best friends were surprised.

Fitzpatrick has stuck with him, but doesn't look happy about it. He wears a little Harriman button, sits back, goes through the motions of steering the Harriman campaign, but there is no passion in his drive, no optimism in his voice. He is merely paying lip service to a commitment he made.

For novice Harriman, however, this has been an experience. He has found himself able to make better speeches than the old-timers, he has snapped out of his habitual shyness, and he will be a politician to be reckoned with in future administrations.

Sad sights at the Democratic convention include: Former White House General Counsel Clark Clifford, now playing would-be kingmaker for Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma. Clifford, whose law practice benefited considerably from his White House contacts, now realizes he has pulled a bull, can't get off the hook. Three other former White House advisers are also riding the losers' train. They are gracious Grace Tully, former secretary to Franklin D. Roosevelt and FBI's two top ghost writers, Judge Sam Rosenman and Robert E. Sherwood. The trio worked hard in Averell Harriman's corner.

The Roosevelt family is well represented at the convention. In addition to Mrs. Roosevelt, there is Franklin Jr., who spearheaded the Harriman forces, while Jimmy Roosevelt, head of the brush for Kefauver, Mrs. Roosevelt's private favorite is Governor Stevenson, with whom she served at the United Nations. However, the former first lady, an invited speaker at the convention, carefully avoided showing any partisanship. Two of her sons, Elliott and John, are backing General Eisenhower. Secretary of Interior Chapman, only cabinet member present with a direct phone to the White House, had to lace Democratic Chairman Frank McKinney down for using Chapman's name as part of the Barkley boom. Chapman couldn't deny it publicly, but sent his aides scurrying through the lobbies to squelch the rumor.

CIO and AFL leaders present at the Democratic Convention decided to bypass Presidential Secretary Matt Connelly in getting word to Truman when they found that Connelly was pigeonholing their views. They will talk through Presidential Counsel Charles Murphy, whom they consider less biased and more "accurate."

Reds Sell Used Cars

MOSCOW. — The Soviet government has decided to participate in the used-car market for private car owners.

Moscow newspapers have announced that a special "commission store" for used automobiles has been opened here. The "commission store" is a retail outlet to which a person can go who has something to sell. An official appraiser puts a price on the item. The seller accepts the appraisal, he is given a receipt for the goods. When the sale is made the seller receives his price plus a small percentage deducted by the commission store.

Demos Nervous As Cat In Dog Pound As Time For Balloting Approaches

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Trellis Mae Peeble, America's most average wife, finds that every Democrat is a king-maker in the following letter to her husband giving an inside view of the donkey serenade.)

CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—Dear Darling Wilbur, Well, honey, the Democratic Convention right now is like a barber-shop quartet where everybody wants to sing tenor.

This is the showdown day to pick the presidential nominee and there are still more candidates than there are delegates. If the convention charged each one a nominating fee, it could wipe out the national debt.

The candidates are so nervous they are trading each other up as well as delegates. But the one they are most angry at is Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Illinois sphinx who won't say yes and can't say no.

Adamant Adlai still seems to add up as the popular favorite, but a lot of Democrats are getting annoyed at his cynicism.

With balloting time so near, everybody is as nervous as a cat in a dog pound. The donkey men are all ears, listening to the rumors. . . rumors. . . that fly around like sparrows in a popcorn storm.

Here are just a few, Wilbur, to show you how silly rumors can be:

1.—"Taft has sent some of his best organizers here to work for Dick Russell."

2.—"Eisenhower sent some of his best organizers here to disrupt the Harriman campaign."

3.—"A Kefauver supporter collapsed under the strain, sat down in a chair, and began to stum his stomach—under the delusion he was a banjo."

Broadway—Mark Barron

'Morality Play' Due For A Revival This Season

NEW YORK.—Maxwell Anderson, the eminent playwright, once vowed during a rare venture into essay penning, that whether they know it or not, the man and woman who perform on the nation's stages are the high priests of a religious cult.

The moral atmosphere of a play must be healthy, Anderson explained in part, and "an audience will not endure the triumph of evil on the stage."

This brings us to consideration of the announcement that next season Broadway's fabulous commercial theater will be invaded on behalf of the American Heart Association with a revival of "Everyman" which was old when Shakespeare was a lad. It sent us chattering to the record books for more information.

"Everyman" is classified as a "morality" and that was a form of medieval drama of high ethical approach in which abstract virtues were frequently personified. No one is quite sure today who authored "Everyman." The scholars say the text originated in the 15th century. It is the only "morality" still in the active repertoire and is generally conceded the finest example of the form both for its poetic and dramatic qualities.

Abounding in phrases such as "Lo, fair words maketh fools feign" and "That money maketh all right that is wrong," the play tells the fortunes of a man who has been warned by Death to make good his accounts before being summoned before the all-high Jehovah. He finds Fellowship, Kin, Beauty, Knowledge, Wealth and even Five Senses will not go with him on the journey to Judgment. Only Good Deeds remain and "Thus endeth this Moral Play of Everyman."

Since the turn of the century it has been seen in these parts on four occasions, the last time in 1927 when Max Reinhardt's repertory company performed the German language version. Each year, and this season is no exception, this "Jedermann" is presented before the cathedral as part of the Salzburg Festival.

The sponsors of the 1952 production are Herbert V. Gellendren, William Miles and Carmen Mathews. Miss Mathews is to play the leading role and Miles will direct. Donald Oenslager is to do the settings and Norman Lloyd has been assigned to creating a score of instrumental and choral music.

From all the eminent talent involved, the winter season is due to have a highly interesting change of pace.

Moose May Bolt Party, Join Up With Buffalo

(Copyright 1952 by Walt Kelly)

CHICAGO. — In a sensational development today, it was ascertained that Chicago is not the only town to harbor conventions. A Billy Goat who smuggled himself into the Convention Hall in a cattle car claims that Philadelphia is as conventional a city as he has ever seen.

But a stranger, a delegate from the State of Maine, whom we bumped into in a shower bath where he has been living, claims that New York also has conventions.

The Stranger, a moose, said that the proof of this was the fact that here he was right in that very town of New York attending the Convention of the B.P.O.E. despite the heat and the rain.

It was pointed out to the moose that this was Chicago and, whereas it certainly was warm, it was not raining at the moment. As we turned off the shower for the moose, he said he had been waiting for three days for the management to fix the roof which he figured had been leaking at a pretty steady clip. He was a sort of soggy moose as he climbed out of the tub.

He was rather discouraged to learn that he was not attending the Elks Convention and said that he would resign probably and join the Loyal Order of Buffalo. The worst thing he claimed was that he had been sending wet post-cards back to the homefolks telling them what things were like in New York. He consoled himself by remembering that it COULD have been raining in New York and went off looking for a job that he said had not been filled since 1912, the position of a party symbol. Before he left he played a solo on one of his horns: "As Maine Goes, Gooes the Nation."

Around The Rim—The Herald Staff

People Don't Value Their Vote As They Did In The Earlier Days

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note.

Politics, like sports events, often give people the urge to turn forecasters, and probably the forecaster of forecasters around here is none other than Lee Porter, the Clerk of Howard County.

His favorite prediction usually involves the total number of ballots for Howard County, and his record for accuracy is nothing to be sneezed at—that is, except for one or two isolated instances.

However, to reap his full measure of satisfaction from such forecasts, Porter must have competition. Several people around Big Spring make a practice of "guessing against Porter" on the number of votes likely to be cast. On some previous occasions we have been among the several, and perhaps our puny record in times past has prompted the County Clerk to ask us to compete with him again.

This we shall do herewith by forecasting that Howard County will poll 7,181 votes in the Democratic Primary on Saturday. So far, Porter has declined to make public his estimate, but he probably can be coaxed into doing so if you happen to drop by his office in the Courthouse and insist on a figure.

Our estimate would give Howard County a new record at the polls, but it would still be a rather sorry response considering the number of people who may vote by simply appearing at the proper polling place tomorrow.

Well over 11,000 Howard County people are qualified to cast ballots. We predict that only 7,181 will take advantage of the opportunity because we don't believe people are as interested in voting as they used to be.

We recall a primary over a score of years ago when our small rural precinct had a potential of less than 250 votes. No less than 199 of them went to the polls. That's about 80 per cent.

If Howard County could match that percentage-wise, nearly 9,000 people would swamp the 15 polling places tomorrow. WACIL MCNAIR

Today And Tomorrow—Walter Lippman

Parties' Approach To Sectional Issue Makes It Less Important

While both conventions have begun with a fight involving southern delegations, there is this important difference between them. In the Republican convention there were two and only two factions—pro-Taft and pro-Eisenhower. One had to win. The other had to lose. The stakes were the control of the party during the campaign and in the next administration.

In the Democratic convention, on the other hand, there is besides the two fighting factions—each sectional—a preponderant majority which, unless something unpredictable happens, can nominate Stevenson and lead both factions. For this reason, once Gov. Stevenson had made his address to the convention, the sectional fight no longer looked, in fact no longer was, serious and important.

By Monday evening it was pretty plain, I thought, that no great public principle touching the relations of the races or the Constitution was genuinely at stake as between the southerners and the northerners. The argument had become a dispute between the politicians of two minority factions, neither of which had a good prospect of capturing the control of the national party. Both sets of politicians had been playing local politics and both were bent on looking and on sounding much more uncompromising than in fact they are.

How far this had gone can be seen by examining the so-called Humphrey-Ives bill (S. 3268) "To Prohibit Discrimination in Employment Because of Race, Color, Religion, National Origin, or Ancestry." This bill was reported favorable less than three weeks ago. It comes from a committee of which Sen. Humphrey of Minnesota, the leader of the civil rights movement in the 1948 convention, is the chairman. The bill has the support of Democrats such as Lehman, of Illinois, and Douglas, of Illinois, and of Republicans such as Ives of New York, Smith of New Jersey and Wayne Morse of Oregon. The only senator on the committee who did not concur were Lester Hill of Alabama and Taft and Nixon.

The significant fact about the bill is the way it treats to one serious question in the whole field of civil rights which is now at issue between the southerners and the northerners. That is the question of the enforcement of the principle of non-discrimination in employment. All the other old, hard-fought controversies about the poll tax and about lynching have virtually disappeared. The modern south is abolishing the poll tax and it is effectively suppressing the horror of lynching. The modern south, moreover, has come to accept the principle of a Federal interest, of Federal advice and Federal mediation, even in matters of employment. The only sticking point is whether the Federal government is to intervene in the southern states to compel compliance with judgements about discrimination in employment.

The Humphrey-Ives bill provides for the principle of Federal compulsion. But it does so with such deference to local power and such respect for local sentiment that—barring a fanatic or a demagogue in the White House, or a Ku Klux Klan uprising in some locality—the procedure under this bill would in fact be one of conciliation, of negotiation and education. The bill, as I read it, is an invitation to the modern south to accept the principle of the law and then to take charge of its administration. There is nothing here of real substance, and nothing genuine in principle, which divides irreconcilably the north and the south. As between Eisenhower and Stevenson, it will be difficult to trump up much of an issue here.

This fight, therefore, is artificial. It is a convention maneuver and not a public event. The real question of whether, when, and how a law like the Humphrey-Ives bill can be enacted will continue to depend, as it always has, as under our system of government it always must, not on a mere majority but on a majority which has the concurrence of the big minorities—in this case of the southern states.

When will this time come? There are now only nine states of the union which have compulsory non-discrimination employment laws. Until there are at least 30 states with such laws, Federal compulsion cannot be pushed very far.

That is why it would be absurd for the Democrats to treat the issue too tragically. The great majority of them know that with Gov. Stevenson it is not in fact an issue that the Democrats can fight much about. Nor is it an issue about which Eisenhower and Stevenson could fight very fiercely.

Greenland Eskimos Paddle Boats

A white man spent a winter in Greenland and made a note in his diary on Dec. 21st. Here, in shortened form, is what he wrote:

"This is the winter solstice. We have not seen the sun for 50 days. The constant darkness takes away a person's energy. The mind becomes lazy. Each day I visit the Petersen family and play with the dogs—anything to keep from growing too lazy."

It is hard to see how anyone can speak of a day without the sun in the sky. This is done because a 24-hour period is called a full day. Actually the Greenlanders have one long night—lasting about three months. Then they have daylight and darkness for a similar period before they start enjoying three months of steady sunshine.

In parts of the Arctic, the long period of daylight brings about fast growth of food plants. In Greenland, the natives rarely raise vegetables. They depend on meat for the greater part of their food.

The Eskimos of Greenland go out to sea in slender boats called kayaks. These boats are paddled and are used for fishing, also for hunting seals.

Some homes of these Eskimos are made of wood. Other natives have huts with walls of stone and sod.

While he is two or three miles out at sea, a man in a kayak may have trouble in spying his own home. For this reason several progressive natives have painted large figures on the roofs of their dwellings. This helps them to know the point to which they should paddle when they want to return to shore.

Most Greenland Eskimos have adopted the Lutheran faith. They call themselves Christians even though they have kept some of their old ideas.

It is common for these people to have a strong belief in magic. They use charms when they want success in hunting, or when they are in fear of being harmed.

Villages are located here and there along the coast. These seldom have the services of a white doctor, but once or twice a year such a doctor does come. The natives stand in line to be treated for illness or injury.</

French Force Pushes Back Commie Drive

By ROBERT F. TUCKMAN
SEUL, Korea (AP)—French infantrymen today hurled back a 500-man Chinese Communist drive on T-Bone Hill in a bloody opening to the 26th month of the Korean War. French defenders of the Western Front hill inflicted heavy losses during two hours of pre-dawn hand-to-hand combat.

Three Red companies advanced at 2 a.m. against the hill west of Chorwon, an old Iron Triangle anchor city. Artillery bursts punctuated hand-to-hand fighting as the 500 Communists got caught in crossfire of French positions at the bottom end of T-Bone.

A frontline Allied officer estimated 56 Chinese were killed and 150 wounded. The cut-up Red forces withdrew at 4 a.m. The French battalion is attached to the U. S. Second Infantry Division, which has fought the Chinese since July 17 for possession of near-by Old Baldy Hill.

Earlier today the U. S. Eighth Army permitted identification of the Second Division as the unit assigned to hold the series of hills overlooking the main battlefield. The U. S. 45th Division last month wrested the heights from the Communists in some of the heaviest fighting of the war this year. The Chinese regained the crest of Old Baldy Tuesday.

Overcast skies reduced Allied air activity to fighter-bomber strikes on the front this morning. Ground action Thursday was light, except that Communist artillery and mortar shelling totaled 4,193 rounds, almost double that of the previous day.

Slayer Of 23 Dies On Gallows

MONTREAL, Canada (AP)—A crippled Quebec watchmaker, convicted of fashioning the time-bomb which brought death to 23 airliner passengers and crew in September 1949, died early today on the gallows in Montreal's Bordeaux jail. Generaux Ruest, 54, helpless from the waist down but described as a "wizard with his hands," went to his death for "deliberately helping" jeweler J. Albert Quay murder the latter's 28-year-old wife by means of the explosion in flight. Ruest was carried to the scaffold in a wheelchair.

Three New York executives of the Kennecott Copper Corp. also were killed in the crash of the blasted plane. Quay was hanged Jan. 2, 1951, for master-minding the bombing plot. He concocted the scheme for love of a young waitress and to collect $10,000 insurance on his wife's life. Ruest admitted making the bomb but claimed he thought it was for clearing stumps on Quay's farm.

Baptists Planning Churches In West

DALLAS, July 25 (AP)—An extra million dollars for Baptist churches' establishment in eight western states is being talked. Texas Baptist leaders yesterday discussed plans to raise the money, a part of the $2,500,000 loan fund they promised for the work last week. Three Westerners outlined the needs of Baptist groups in Arizona, Colorado, California, Wyoming, Montana, Oregon, Washington and Nevada.

Ousted Art Department Head Released From Jail

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (AP)—Dr. Luella R. Mundel, who was ousted as head of Fairmont State College's Art Department and lost a $100,000 slander suit growing out of it, has been released from jail where she had been held in assault and larceny warrants. She was placed in the custody of a sister yesterday. The warrants naming the 38-year-old diminutive blonde divorcee were issued for Mrs. Eric Barnitz. Her petition contended Dr. Mundel was mentally ill and should be taken into custody. Mrs. Barnitz said Dr. Mundel attacked her with a letter opener last Monday, bruising her and causing a small cut. The assault warrant was dismissed, and the Marion County Mental Hygiene Commission released Dr. Mundel in the custody of Mrs. S. A. Steensen of Iowa.

Workmen Are Burned

PORT ARTHUR, July 25 (AP)—Three workmen were burned, two seriously, by an explosion and fire yesterday at the Texas Company refinery here. The seriously injured were H. M. McDonald, 58, and Curtis C. Stout, 26. Officials said the quickly extinguished fire did little damage.

Mrs. Steensen, who said she found her sister "perfectly all right," said the two would leave for an undisclosed spot in Iowa. Dr. Mundel's friends have said the art teacher has been emotionally upset since she lost her slander suit last week against Mrs. Theima B. Loudin, vice-president of the State Board of Education.

Dr. Mundel accused Mrs. Loudin of slanderous statements which, she contended, influenced the state board not to rehire her. The past presidents will be honored at the annual All-Star football game here during the annual coaching clinic of the association, Aug. 4-8.

Ex-THSC Prexies To Be Honored

FORT WORTH, July 25 (AP)—Past presidents of the Texas High School Coaches Association—19 of them—will be presented with life memberships in the association. Those to be honored include former Texas Coach Blair Cherry, former Tulane Coach Henry Frnka, former Texas A&M Coach Harry Stittler, Eck Curtis of Texas University, Joe Coleman of New Mexico A&M, Rusty Russell of SMU and Ted Jefferies of Stephen F. Austin College.

PAPER BURNS

TV Viewers See Unscheduled Drama

CHICAGO (AP)—Thousands of television viewers saw an unscheduled bit of drama at the Democratic National Convention early today when a burning newspaper threatened to set off a stampeding panic. Assistant Fire Commissioner Anthony J. Mullaney expressed the opinion the blaze may have been set deliberately to force a recess in the marathon session.

Three men, including Amos Heacock, president of Air Transport Associates, Inc., of Seattle, were burned slightly while putting out the fire. With TV cameras aimed at the scene, Peter J. Claherty of Boston, an assistant sergeant at arms, grabbed a microphone from Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina and cried out: "Don't get panicky. It's only a newspaper. It will be put out in a minute."

He kept repeating this until the blaze was extinguished. Mullaney said 15 more firemen that smoking would be banned at today's session, said he became alarmed around 6 o'clock last night at the volume of litter—torn paper used as confetti in demonstrations —on the floor and appealed to Sergeant at Arms Darrell Sinclair for an early adjournment. Sinclair replied that the session probably would end in about an hour, but it continued until nearly 2 a.m. (EST).

Mullaney said 15 more firemen were assigned to the hall for today's session, making a total of 85. Heacock suffered minor burns on the left hand and wrist. Two ushers also were slightly burned and treated at a first aid station.

State Sen. J. B. Morrison of Georgetown, S.C., was in the row just in front of where the fire started. He threw his coat on the blaze, calling to others to do likewise. Morrison's coat was burned in several spots. In just a few more seconds, he said, the fire would have been completely out of hand.

High Praise Comes During Nominations

CHICAGO (AP)—Here are some of the words with which 11 names were placed in nomination before the Democratic convention:

Richard Russell (by Sen. Walter George of Georgia)—"The ablest candidate in the race... a man physically qualified, mentally qualified, and emotionally qualified for the presidency."

Estes Kefauver (by Gov. Gordon Browning of Tennessee)—"Certainly possessed of a mandate from the American people to be the Democratic nominee for President."

Oscar Ewing (by Mayor Erastus Corning of Albany, N.Y.)—"If I were limited to one word in describing my candidate, that word would be loyalty—loyalty to the people... our country... our way of life."

Adlai Stevenson (by Gov. Elbert N. Carvel of Delaware and Gov. Henry F. Schrieker of Indiana)—"It is one of the great privileges of my life to again wear Stevenson colors" (Carvel); "His own humility, dignity, sanity and capacity for confident leadership have... excited the imagination, caught the fancy and fired the hopes of the American people" (Schrieker).

Alben W. Barkley (by Sen. Thomas Hennings of Missouri)—"He has become the symbol of our crusade as Democrats—a symbol of the achievements of the Democratic party."

Ike Listens To Proceedings At Demo Sesions

DENVER (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, listened over the radio last night to the tumultuous proceedings at the Democratic National Convention.

He tuned in the marathon Chicago session on a set at his vacation cabin in the Colorado Rockies, about 70 miles west of Denver. It was the first time the radio had been turned on for the convention, aides to the general said.

James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, talked to the general by telephone from Denver long before the convention recessed early today until 11 a.m. EST. Hagerty told newsmen at Eisenhower headquarters here that the general had listened to the proceedings "for a while."

Hagerty also announced that in no event would Eisenhower have any comment on selection of a Democratic presidential candidate until the convention also has named a vice-presidential nominee.

Eisenhower was scheduled to confer today with his executive assistant, Arthur H. Vandenberg Jr., who arrived in Denver yesterday after a series of New York meetings dealing with organization of the forthcoming campaign.

Boy Stowaway Is Sent Back Home

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Freckle-faced Dickie Love, at 8 a veteran stowaway, was sent back home in Southern California.

He tried to make the trip by train. Conductors twice put him off less than five miles from his home in nearby Redwood City.

Then he decided to go by plane. For 25 cents he bought an insurance policy from a slot machine handed the stub to a ticket agent and boarded a Los Angeles-bound Pacific Southwest Airlines plane.

Stewardess Carol Torgerson, counting noses about 100 miles south of San Francisco, found one crew-cut passenger too many.

Dickie reached Los Angeles—but was sent back home yesterday. "Four years ago he tried to stow away on a ship in New Orleans," his mother sighed.

Two More Die From Injuries In Mishap

PLAINVIEW, July 25 (AP)—Despite a dramatic attempt by airmen at Reese Air Force Base to save their lives, two more victims of a head-on auto collision are dead.

Mrs. Ruby K. Neal, 45, Portland, Tex., and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Calvin B. Neal of Corpus Christi became the third and fourth fatalities of the collision yesterday.

William B. Neal, 53, died Tuesday, and an infant daughter of Mrs. Calvin Neal died shortly after the accident. Calvin Neal was still in a critical condition.

The accident occurred when the Neal car and another carrying Reese AFB servicemen collided. Yesterday, 20 Reese airmen were flown to Plainview to donate blood to the victims.

Riding THE GRUB LINE With Franklin Reynolds

The officers and directors of the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion, with a Beutler Brothers Rodeo scheduled here August 5-7-8 at 8 o'clock each evening, are whipping the final plans into shape.

Officers of the Reunion are Tom J. Good, president; Charlie Creighton, vice president; Marion Edwards, vice president and Bob Middleton, secretary-treasurer.

In addition to these other directors are Toots Mansfield, Harry Lee, and E. T. O'Daniel.

There probably isn't another rodeo anywhere in the world under the management of men who know as much about rodeos as this group.

The cutting horses judges will be Sonny Edwards and C. B. (Dud) Arnett and this is going to be one of the most exciting events at each of the performances. They have also contracted for some of the best specialty acts they have been able to find.

This promises to be the biggest show of its kind ever presented here.

B. W. Allred, four-state regional range conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service, was quite complimentary to ranchers in this area for their good range management practices during his two-day stay Tuesday and Wednesday.

Allred says he has never seen a drought completely kill out the native perennial grasses but that a drought and overgrazing will certainly do it. E. J. Hughes, assistant state conservationist, and 15 specialists met Allred here for a field trip Wednesday. He stopped the cars at a pasture that, from the highway, appeared to be perfectly bare. An inspection of the field under Allred's direction revealed an average of seven young Buffalo grass plants to the square foot.

Allred pointed out that all these little plants are very weak but said that if they are left alone and not grazed, and if they receive a little moisture, they will make a rapid and pleasing recovery. This conservationist told Area Conservationist W. S. Goodlett of Big Spring and the others that a grass loss from drought should never be

Hot, Dry Weather Is Due Saturday For Election Day

Hot, dry weather for Election Day was the outlook in Texas as the campaigns for state and county closed Friday.

The forecasts called for clear to partly cloudy skies with little change in temperatures. That meant hot weather similar to Thursday's when Fort Worth and Wichita Falls recorded the highest thermometer readings of the day with identical 100s.

It also probably meant a record turnout at the polls where dry weather traditionally brings in more voters. There was a time when elections were almost "no decision" affairs on rainy days.

But that was before Texas had paved highways and hundreds of miles of farm-to-market roads. That was when a couple of laxy mules might have to pull a whole family through the blackland mud around Hillsboro so the man of the family could exercise his franchise.

There remained the possibility of scattered showers over the region west of the Pecos River Friday, but no heavy precipitation was forecast.

Other high Thursday temperatures—as the long Texas drought got off to a new start—included: Mineral Wells 102, Cotulla and Dallas 101, Presidio and Junction 100, Abilene and Waco 99, Austin and Big Spring 97, Houston and San Antonio 95, Amarillo and El Paso 94, Brownsville 92, Beaumont 93 and Galveston 90. Even Marfa, with the lowest maximum of the day, sweated with a hot 86 degrees.

Elect W. D. BERRY As Your Next County Democratic Chairman

Mr. Berry is a life-long Democrat. He has served on State and National Democratic committees, has served Howard County as a delegate to State and National conventions. He is a man who believes in the Jeffersonian principles of the Democratic party, a man who has fought for those principles. Mr. Berry in the May precinct convention presented a resolution asking that the voting boxes be removed from the county courthouse so that the people could vote under less crowded conditions. His resolution was instrumental in the voting boxes being removed to their present places. Your vote for W. D. Berry for County Democratic Chairman is your assurance that your party's affairs will be in good hands.

Texans Claim Part In South's Victory

By MARTHA COLE
CHICAGO, July 25 (AP)—Texans claimed part in the victory of the South at the Democratic Convention today.
"You tell 'em this is one Democratic convention where the South won," said State Sen. Otis Lock of Lufkin.
"Feel wonderful," said Wallace Stufflebeme of Itasca, still enthusiastically waving a Lone Star flag although it was 1 a.m. (CST) and Texas was just leaving the convention hall.
Wallace Savage of Dallas gave a long "pheeewwwwww."
"Texas' neighbors of the South—Virginia, South Carolina and Louisiana—got to keep their seats in the convention."
The Texas delegation had fought for that. Gov. Allan Shivers had done some fast-stepping floor work. Virginians said they could see its results.
"From our position on the floor, we saw the very effective work he did with other delegations in our behalf," William M. Tuck, former governor of Virginia and chairman of the state's Central Democratic

Committee, told reporters. "We want to express our thanks."
Texans had signed the loyalty assurance to see that the Democratic nominees get on state ballots. Their neighbors had balked.
Earlier in the week some of the Texas delegates had questioned whether they would be betraying their friends who helped them get seated if they didn't stick with them in the balk.
One of their reasons for staying in the convention was that they had 52 votes that would count a lot on the Southerners' side.
Those 52 votes went to Virginia, South Carolina and Louisiana every time a vote was taken.
Those 52 votes also were promised to be a favorite son of the South — Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia. The Texans voted in caucus yesterday to cast them on the first ballot to Russell as the presidential nominee.
If and when Russell is out of the race, they aren't saying officially what they will do. Gov. Shivers said he believed the majority of the Texans would go for a combination of Russell with Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, with either man at the top of the ticket.

Swine Embargo Goes On Today

FORT WORTH, July 25 (AP)—New regulations levying a virtual embargo against shipment of swine from 14 states into Texas go into effect today.
The regulations set up conditions for shipment of swine from all states.
Duval Davidson, director of the Livestock Sanitary Commission of Texas, blamed prevalence of vesicular exanthema, an infectious disease in the 14 states for the harsh regulations.
Permits must be obtained from the commission before shipments can be made from any of the 14 states or from any central stock yard in the country.
Permits probably will not be granted shippers in the infected states, Davidson said, naming them as:

Alabama, Arizona, California, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington and Wyoming.
Davidson said the ban would not place too heavy a curtailment on swine shipments into Texas because much of the state's business is with Southern states not infected with the disease.

Sharpshooter Sets A Record By Using Decoy

WITH U. S. FIRST MARINE DIVISION, Korea (AP) — A sharpshooting sergeant using a fellow marine as a decoy claims a perfect but highly unofficial record—nine Chinese snipers killed with nine bullets.
But the company commander put a stop to the bizarre tactics.
The Marines today released the story:
Sgt. John E. Boltnot of Chicago, a medal-winning marksman, and Pfc. Henry A. Friday of Nekeosa, Wis., were stationed on an outpost far forward of the Marine division's main line of defense.
They devised this deadly game: Friday, acting as a decoy, would expose himself until a Chinese sniper opened fire. Boltnot, armed with a rifle mounted with a sniper-scope, would fire just once and exclaim "scratch one" enemy.
Boltnot said "the whole idea started one day when Friday made the mistake of standing up in the trench. A sniper fired at him and I fired back. I killed him."
Friday volunteered for decoy duty. In two days they set a "remarkable if highly unofficial record" of nine Chinese snipers slain with nine bullets. The men said they checked their kills with a powerful telescope.
Boltnot, whose wife lives at Comfort, N. C., is a Marine Corps distinguished rifleman. The release said he won a silver medal in Marine Corps matches in 1949, a bronze medal in southeastern matches in 1950 and placed second in the Wirgman Trophy match in 1948 at Quantico, Va.

Committee, told reporters. "We want to express our thanks."

Puerto Rico Assumes New Role As A Commonwealth

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Puerto Rico joyfully assumed her new role as a self-governing "free commonwealth" associated with the United States today — exactly 54 years after American troops landed on the Caribbean island during the Spanish-American War.
Flags of the new commonwealth were to flutter out over all the island's public buildings at noon today, signaling the adoption of the new constitution under which the 2 1/2 million Puerto Ricans will administer their own affairs.
Gov. Luis Munoz Marin, who has been active in pushing the new constitution since he became Puerto Rico's first elected governor in 1948, was to hoist the island's red, white and blue banner over the capitol building here. Parades and celebrations were planned in all the island's towns and cities.
July 25 long has been a local holiday commemorating the 1898 landing of the Americans who wrested the island from Spain's 400-year rule. From now on the legal holiday will be known as Constitution Day.

The new constitution — the latest advance in the U. S. step-by-step program of greater self-rule for the 100-mile-long island — was accepted in a referendum of the people, approved by the American Congress and signed by President Truman.
It leaves the way open for Puerto Rico to become a state in the American union later if its people desire.

Let's Send A Working Man To Work For Texas and America . . .

Lindley Beckworth's father was working on halves when Lindley Beckworth was born. From the very start of his life Lindley Beckworth has known how to work and he has continued it in this campaign. Fourteen years in Congress give Beckworth the experience needed to serve Texas in the U. S. Senate with statesman-like representation from the first day of the term. In Congress, Beckworth has voted consistently to keep America strong and for all measures to bring lasting peace. Beckworth voted to restore Texas' tidelands (some people fighting Beckworth have attempted to mislead the public on this) but he takes no personal credit on that score . . . all Texans in Congress voted likewise. The tidelands issue is not a one-man battle, because all Texans are interested in it.

County's Mass Chest X-Ray Survey Set To Begin Aug. 19

Howard County's anti-tuberculosis chest x-ray survey this year will be conducted Aug. 19 through 26.

Announcement of dates for the annual survey were announced Thursday by Charles H. Hoover, field representative for the State Health Department which furnishes equipment and x-ray technicians for the work.

Seven full days of operation are scheduled for Howard County this year, more than twice the time allotted the county in 1951. No quota has been set, but the sponsoring organization, Howard County Tuberculosis Association, expects several thousand persons to report for the free chest examinations.

Last year, when the survey lasted but three days, 3,467 Howard County residents were x-rayed.

Preliminary plans for the chest survey were mapped at a meeting with Hoover Thursday. Co-Chair-

William Marshall Appeals His Case

LONDON (U.S.) — William M. Marshall, 24-year-old British Foreign Office radio operator convicted of slipping state secrets to Russia, today appealed his five-year prison sentence.

Marshall was caught in a park on June 13 with Pavel Kuznetsov second secretary in the Soviet Embassy here. The Britisher admitted meeting the Russian numerous times before and had a secret document in his pocket when picked up.

Kuznetsov, protected from prosecution by diplomatic immunity, left the country at the British government's request.

Marshall at his trial admitted a liking for the Communist way of life but protested his innocence of the spy charges.

Little Merchant Demands Delivery

MARIANNA, Fla. (U.S.) — Delivering his newspapers yesterday, 13-year-old Wayne Gainer ran up against an Air Force blockade around the residential area where a B-47 crashed Tuesday.

Maj. Gen. Frank Armstrong, commanding officer of the Sixth Air Division, who was nearby, explained to the newspaper carrier that no one could get into the area.

This paper has to be delivered, Wayne insisted. And if he couldn't go into the area the general would have to deliver it.

Gen. Armstrong delegated Maj. Ted Silver to deliver the paper to the "third house on the left" as the carrier boy directed.

Joseph O. Rhome, Rancher, Is Dead

FORT WORTH, July 25 (U.S.) — Joseph Otto Rhome, 78, who had ranching interests in four Texas counties, died at his home here yesterday, after a heart attack.

The veteran cattleman was widely known as a Hereford breeder, and did his ranching in Bosque, Wise, Erath and Tarrant counties.

He was the son of the late Byron Crandall Rhome, for whom the town of Rhome was named.

Rape Trial Is Set For Palestine Negro

PALESTINE, July 25 (U.S.) — The rape trial of Jimmy Richardson, 30, Negro yardman, has been set for Aug. 4 by District Judge Melvin Johnston.

men Oscar Glickman and Vic Alexander called another session for next Tuesday when detailed plans will be formulated to encourage widespread participation in the program.

A thorough canvass of the city and county, telephone reminders and other publicity methods will be used to impress the public with the importance of the survey. The tuberculosis association hopes to bring Howard County participation up to the state average this year.

Previous surveys have resulted in 18 or 19 per cent of the eligible population taking the surveys, while the state average is between 35 and 40 per cent, Hoover said.

Results of the chest examination programs here in the past three years also were announced by the State Health Department official.

In 1949, 3,298 persons reported for the chest examinations. Sixty cases of tuberculosis were discovered and 13 other chest defects were found through the x-rays. The 1950 survey resulted in x-ray of 3,155 chests, with 46 cases of tuberculosis discovered and 17 other chest faults were found.

In 1951, when 3,467 persons took the x-rays, 60 tuberculosis infections and 15 other chest deficiencies were found.

Hoover stressed the importance of the survey in locating unsuspected cases of tuberculosis and other chest pathologies. Cases discovered in their early stages usually can be cured through prompt treatment, he said.

The health department representative emphasized that the "free" nature of the service doesn't place it in the realm of charity. It is a tax-supported operation, already paid for by residents of the county, he said.

No undressing or other inconvenience is necessitated and the x-ray requires only a few seconds. Results are confidential and reported only to the individuals taking the x-rays.

The health department's chest x-ray program will be held at the invitation of the Six-County Medical Society, of which local physicians are members, said Hoover.

The x-ray equipment will be set up in the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit, 200 E. 2nd Street, and will be operated from 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. Aug. 19-26. All persons 15 years of age or older will be asked to participate.

Mrs. G. G. Sawtelle, vice president of the Howard County Tuberculosis Association, presided at the Thursday meeting in the absence of Dr. J. M. Woodfall, president. Present for the discussions were Mrs. Beattie Lankford, Mrs. Georgia M. Leach, W. C. Blankenship, Mrs. J. F. Hernandez, Mrs. Paul Aleman, Rogers Brown, Oliver Reed, Lige Fox, Wayne Allison, Mrs. Hayes Stripling, Mrs. Clemmie Johnson, Mrs. Rosa Lee Stewart, Simon Natividad, William R. Daves, Loyd Wooten, Mrs. Robert L. Anderson, Zollie M. Rawlins, Mrs. Sawtelle, Glickman and Alexander.

Prisoners Are Out Unwillingly

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (U.S.) — South Africa's police have found a new weapon to fight the campaign by non-Europeans to crowd the union's jails in defiance of Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan's white supremacy laws. The police are turning out the prisoners against their will.

The police move is the government's answer to protest demonstrations by the African and Indian National Congresses here. Congress leaders had asked their colored members to defy South Africa's race laws in great numbers, thus filling the nation's jails to overflowing.

But now money found on the demonstrators is being seized by the police and used to pay fines, even though the prisoners protest that they want to stay in jail as a matter of principle. With the fines paid, the protesters are forced to freedom.

To meet the police tactic, an African leader said "in the future we'll see that volunteers come with empty pockets to the jails."

Military Religious Attendance Gains

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. (U.S.) — Army Secretary Frank Pace Jr. says military attendance at religious services now is greater than at any time in U. S. peacetime history.

Pace, speaking last night at the 21st annual convention of the Military Chaplains Association, added: "I have the honest feeling that the young men and women who are in the Army today recognize the importance of the spiritual in their operations."

Gavin Can Start Acting His Normal Self Again

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

CHICAGO (U.S.) — The ball is over today for the Democratic National Convention's political Cinderella. He can take off his mask and be just plain Thomas J. Gavin, councilman of Kansas City, Mo.

For almost a week he has been acting as two other people.

When it came time for Missouri to ballot, he cast one-half vote for Delegate Harry S. Truman of Independence, Mo., President of the United States.

His VIP-type badge hung heavily on his chubby chest. It was engraved, "Dean G. Acheson, secretary of state." That was so he could walk with ease about the jam-packed Convention Hall.

Neither the real Truman nor the real Acheson was at the convention. They were in Washington.

Thus, alternate delegate Gavin—wearing the official colors of the one and the open-sesame badge of the other—floated on a cloud of glory for four days.

His biggest moment came yesterday. He ended a long guessing game, heightened since the convention opened Monday: For whom would President Truman vote in the selection of the party's 1952 presidential nominee today?

At a Missouri caucus Gavin gave the answer. But not right away. He stalled, talking about other things, when the delegation was polled. Then he announced: "I intend to cast Mr. Truman's vote for the governor of Illinois, Mr. Stevenson."

It was, he said, "the President's choice."

At the convention today he gets a chance to carry out his intentions. He—or rather, President Truman—can vote for Adlai E. Stevenson, the draftee who never did say no.

WHAT IT TAKES

A man who had been in Congress for 30 years is quoted as saying that it took "six minimum requirements to get elected to public office . . .

- "The friendliness of a child;
- "The perseverance of a bill collector;
- "The docility of a lap dog;
- "The patience of a dear wife;
- "The curiosity of a cat; and
- "The amiability of an idiot."

I don't know whether I have all these requirements, but I sure would like to have your vote Saturday. I can make you a good Justice of the Peace.

THE CHILD, SAMUEL, WAS DEDICATED TO JEHOVAH

Scripture—1 Samuel 1:1-1:16.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
OUR LESSON today begins with what our newspapers would call a "human interest" story—the grief of a married woman who was childless.
A man named Elkanah had married two women. His first wife was Hannah, the one to whom God had given no children. The second was Peninnah, who had borne several.
Peninnah taunted Hannah with her childless state, and Hannah was most unhappy. However, Hannah was the one whom Elkanah loved, and he asked her if it was not enough that she had him.
Every year Elkanah went to Shiloh, where the Ark of the Lord was kept, to offer sacrifice and to worship. Hannah went with him and kneeling in the temple she prayed fervently to Jehovah, asking that He would bless her with a child, and promising that if He did she would dedicate him to God's service.
Hannah prayed silently, only her lips moving, and Eli, the chief priest, seeing her, thought she of meat were offered on the altar they had their servants snatch the choice pieces for their own table, not even allowing the fat to be burned on the altar, which was the appointed way of consecrating the whole sacrifice.

They also took the part that the one who brought the sacrifice could lawfully claim as his. They were also guilty of worse sins. How could the people worship devoutly in a temple where such practices existed, where the priests, whose lives were dedicated to the service of God, were immoral? They were servants not of Jehovah but of the evil one.
Eli knew of his sons' practices but he had not the moral courage to dismiss them from their office.
In contrast to these evil priests, was little Samuel. He "was the doorkeeper of God's house in Shiloh. He ran messages for Eli. He opened the doors of the tabernacle in the morning, and he shut them at night. Samuel lighted the seven-branched candlestick at sunset and he put it out at sunmust be drunk, and he reproved her. She explained that she was praying, and then he gave her his blessing, and said, "Go in peace and the God of Israel grant thee thy petition that thou has asked of Him."

Hannah went home much comforted, and in time she had a son and called him Samuel, saying, "Because I have asked him of the Lord."
Hannah did not forget her promise to the Lord, and when the child was weaned, probably when he was about three years old, she took him to Eli with sacrificial meat, flour and wine, saying, "Oh, my Lord, I am the woman that stood by thee here, praying unto the Lord."
"For this child I prayed; and the Lord hath given me my petition which I asked of Him; therefore also I have lent him to the Lord; as long as he liveth he shall be lent to the Lord."
Then Hannah sang a beautiful song of praise to Jehovah for her blessing, a song that reminds us of the Magnificat of Mary, mother of Jesus. Little did she think what a great blessing she was bestowing upon her people who were so oppressed by first one enemy and then another.
Jehovah made Samuel a leader who was to establish the kingdom by choosing kings to rule over them and make them a great nation. Hannah, by the way, had other children, so her great sacrifice did not deprive her of the joy of having children in her home.
Now Eli had two sons, who were priests in the temple, but they were corrupt men. They were greedy, and when sacrifices rise, and did everything his quick little hands and quick little feet could do to keep the house of God in order and beauty, serving the Lord." So wrote the Rev. Alexander Whyte, Scottish divine.

Once every year his mother visited him, bringing with her a little coat she had made for him.
One night, when Samuel was sleeping, he heard his name called, and he ran at once to Eli to see what he wanted. Eli said he did not call. Twice more the voice called Samuel, and each time he thought it was Eli calling. The third time Eli said it was God's voice, and told him to say, "Speak, for Thy servant heareth."
The fourth time he heard the voice Samuel answered as Eli had told him, and then he was told that because of the unrepented sins of his sons, Eli and the two priests would perish.
Next morning Eli begged most earnestly that Samuel tell him what Jehovah had said to him in the night. Samuel must have been very reluctant to do so, but at Eli's command he told him everything.
Eli was old and nearly blind, and he felt the justness of God's condemnation, so he said, "It is the Lord, let Him do what seemeth Him good."
"And Samuel grew and the Lord was with him, and let none of his words fall to the ground." He was "in favor also with men."
"And all Israel from Dan (in the north) even to Beersheba (in the south), knew that Samuel was established to be a prophet of the Lord."

EVERYONE WELCOME

Wake 'em up, GABRIEL!

There isn't much music coming out of that horn. But one thing's certain: this little fellow is making plenty of noise. If it happens to be Sunday morning, when the family sleeps late, this sturdy musician isn't going to receive much praise. His lungs are strong, though, and he's going to sit there and toot that trumpet until Mom or Dad takes it away from him. All of his playmates are at Sunday School, so you really can't blame him for trying to while away the idle hours. Unfortunately, his parents haven't got the Church-going habit, so this boy will probably grow up like them and sleep away the hours in which he could be getting spiritual nourishment. You've got the right idea, Gabriel. Wake them up to their responsibility!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Factory Workers Sandwich Prayer Periods Into Regular Working Hours

By ADELAIDE KERR
NEW YORK, July 25 (AP)—It's noon at a Texas oil refinery. The sharp blast of the 12 o'clock whistle halts all work and several hundred workmen seize their lunch pails and run—for prayers.

They are among increasing thousands of Americans who are wedged into a period of Bible study and prayer into a short lunch hour or are getting early to work in order to get it.

It's a growing practice in factories, foundries and oil refineries, in business, newspaper and advertising offices in numerous Southern states, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Indiana, and elsewhere across the country.

In some places the services are held daily; in others they are weekly or monthly. Some are very short, other fairly long. In one respect they show how Bible teaching and precepts can help solve the problems of daily life. Sometimes the service closes with a discussion of office problems and a prayer for guidance in their solution.

Look into the Sinclair Oil refinery at Houston as the whistle sounds the half-hour lunch period. Workmen in overalls are streaming from all parts of the plant their helmets gleaming in the sun. Some troop into an old pump house, repaired and refurbished by management now known as Chapel 1. Others fill the benches in a refurbished storage room—Chapel 2. Sandwiches come out of the lunch pails and the men begin to munch and listen.

Harry Sampson, a plant inspector who also is a preacher, steps up to the lectern. First comes a Bible reading, then a short sermon. The service closes with a brief prayer. Then a welder-his goggles hanging around his neck, leads a closing hymn with a ringing voice—and the men file out to their jobs.

Various people and causes sparked the workday prayer meetings in various parts of the country.

The Sinclair services grew out of the day that one of the workmen discovered Harry Sampson was a minister and asked him to explain some Bible passages that had puzzled him. The two men met in an office to talk at the lunch hour. The janitor overheard them and asked if he could come. News of the Bible discussion spread. Before long the office was so crowded that more space had to be found.

Another minister—worker, assistant electrical foreman D. G. Harding, helped inspire the services now held daily in the maintenance shop at Shell Oil refinery, Houston. At the John Mitchell Jr. Company of Dallas, manufacturers of cotton gin equipment, the employees' regular devotional service grew out of management's offer of jobs to theological students to enable them to learn industry's problems first hand.

Prayer services conducted several times a month in 10 New Jersey plants are the outgrowth of work started by Anthony Monteiro, now pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in Newark, while he was working his way to the ministry as a foundry worker.

The Norm Advertising Agency, New York City, the Dallas (Tex.) Morning News and the magazine Guideposts, New York City and Pawling, N.Y., start every working day with an early morning service.

The group agreed to pay the Federation dues through the Forum rather than individually.

Letters of resignation from Mrs. Leslie Colwell, who has moved to Austin, and Mrs. R. H. Wardell, who will move to Roswell, N.M., were read and accepted.

Members of the entertainment committee were also named. They are Mrs. Sam Goldman and Mrs. Rufus Tuckness.

Members voted to have only one business meeting a month, on the fourth Tuesday, and a bingo party will immediately follow each session.

BRIDAL PICTURES DEADLINE FRIDAY

Planning an August or September wedding? Then you will want to know how to facilitate publication of the news of this important event.

Brides-to-be should request a wedding information blank at The Herald. Bridal pictures should be arranged in advance with your photographer, but in no case will a picture or story be printed later than seven days after the date of the wedding. Unscheduled pictures seldom can be printed.

Because of the volume of weddings requested for Sunday publication, all wedding accounts and pictures for Sunday's paper must be in the office not later than noon Friday.

Use Big, Broad Pan For Making Jellies

Be sure to use a really big, broad pan so that the jam or jelly can bubble violently without boiling over, and excess water can evaporate quickly.

Stir constantly with a long-handled wooden spoon to avoid burns from spattering syrup.

Our fine service is impartially provided to all without preference or prejudice.

DESIGNING WOMAN

Cut-Out Openness Is New In Furniture Designing

By ELIZABETH HILLIER
When you look at furniture this fall, you'll look right through it. Upholstered furniture, tables and cabinets are easy to see through. Cut-out openness is a fresh new characteristic of their design.

See-through features aren't there simply to make the furniture look different from last year's. There's a real reason for it that will make a difference in the look of homes. The openness makes the furniture look lighter, and thus furniture of this type goes far in creating an open and airy effect for a room.

Sofas and love seats lose pounds of bulk when their backs are cut out just above the seat. Nothing is lost in comfort, nor in good looks.

Sketched is a handsome sofa in foam rubber designed by Samuel Kurinsky which has not only a cut-out back, but arms that are cut out in an unusual way. Cut-out arms are not new for chairs, but they are a rarer than ever for sofas.

One chair's arms are a slender continuation of both its back and front legs, and from these wood parts the seat and back of the chair seem to float. This chair, sketched, is by David J. Abraham.

The base of a coffee table can look lightweight and open even though its top is large and heavy, which Harold M. Schwartz proves with the coffee table shown. Its top is marble, but its slender legs and stretchers give it a weightless look.

The use of woven cane makes it possible to see through some chairs, headboards and cabinets. Cushioning is used only for the seat of the chair at lower left by Herbert Ten Have, and the back, because of the cane, can be seen through as well as the arms.

Open shelves now are often open on both sides, as is the superstructure atop the cabinet sketched, and the cabinet itself shows definite see-through space between its central mass and its legs. The cabinet, designed by Ray Sabota, opens on both sides and is especially useful as a room divider. The open bookcase can come down from its lofty perch to the floor, to take on casters and become a serving cart.

East Seeks First Victory In All-Star Game Tonight

Seven Cayuses To See Action

The Big Spring Braves take a respite from league war tonight for the Longhorn League All-Star Game in San Angelo but for seven of the provincials it will be just another working night.

That many Braves have been named to appear in the 1952 version of the spangled event, which has been all-West to date. Of the six games played, the West—composed of players from Midland, Odessa, Roswell and Artesia—has prevailed every time.

Of the nine East players who take the field, three and possibly four will wear local flannels. That would be Pat Stacey, right fielder; Al Costa, shortstop; and Witty Quintana, third sacker.

Chances are that one of the three Big Spring hurlers named to the classic—Gu Guerra, Bert Baez, or Aramis Arenchilla—will be the pitching rubber at the start.

Then Rick Gonzales of the Braves, who is being carried as the spare infielder, will get into the engagement somewhere along the line.

Other East starters will be Tony Traspuesto, Sweetwater, catcher; Warren Siler, Sweetwater, first base; Johnny Baseman, Charley Tuttle, Sweetwater, left field; and Charley Buck, Sweetwater, center field.

Joe Neidson, Vernon, will divide time behind the plate with Traspuesto while Jesus Sosa, Vernon, and Cotton Russell, San Angelo, have qualified as the other hurlers for the East.

Masterminding the East will be Mark Christman, San Angelo, a major leaguer for seven years back in the '40's.

His counterpart for the West will be Zeke Bonura, one-time slugger for the Chicago White Sox, Washington Senators and New York Giants.

Bonura can call upon a heavy hitting lineup. He'll have the league's top producer in home runs, Joe Bauman, at first base; Charley Weber of Odessa at second; Stubby Greer, Roswell, shortstop; Paul Halter, Artesia, third; Rudy Briner, Artesia, catching; Leo Eastham, Odessa; Roman Loyko, Odessa; and Pat O'Keefe, Midland, outfielders.

Zeke can call upon the likes of such flingers as Evelio Ortega, Odessa; Keith Nicolis and Eddie Jacome, Midland; Mike Rodriguez, Artesia; and Andy Alonso, Roswell, to do his pitching for him.

Only rookie named to the squads was Gonzales, the brilliant Big Spring first sacker.

For Stacey, it will be his sixth appearance in the game. The engagement by the way, is being dedicated to him.

Notable among those who failed to rate places on either squad this year are Pepper Martin, Odessa manager; Al Monchak, who fills a similar role for Roswell; Al Richardson, Vernon; Les Palmer, Roswell; Glenn Burns, San Angelo; Bobby West, Roswell; and Bill Cearley, recently released by Roswell.

Arbiters In All-Star Go

Two of the umpires who will work tonight's Longhorn League All-Star game in San Angelo are pictured above. They are Orville Eckstina (left) and Bill Valentine. Eight men-in-blue will be present.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Rick Gonzales, the Big Spring first sacker, can lay claim to one distinction.

He's the only left-handed fielding utility infielder ever chosen to play in the Longhorn League All-Star game.

A third baseman, shortstop or second baseman usually are picked to fill that post but Gonzales will have to divide time with Warren Siler of Sweetwater at first base in tonight's game at San Angelo.

Frank Calo, Roswell's new catcher, was a free agent at the time he joined the Rockets. He had been playing semi-pro ball down Victoria way. He was with Clovis in 1949 and again in 1950, then spent last year with Pampa.

A MENTAL LAPSE TURNED TO DOE'S ADVANTAGE

Huck Doe, a native Big Springer (who, incidentally, uses his given name, Bob, in baseball), figured in an unusual double play in a Mississippi-Ohio Valley League not long ago.

Doe catches for Mattson, which was meeting Decatur that night. With the sacks jammed, Orlando Moreno (who played third here in 1947) hit a ball to Joe Schuler, the pitcher, and Schuler flipped the ball to Doe for the force-out.

Huck thought that made the third out and rolled the ball back to the mound. Rocky Carlini, who recently left Sweetwater to join Decatur, had pulled up on third on the play and broke for the plate when he saw Doe pitch the ball back. That was a fatal mistake, though, because Schuler grabbed the ball, fired it to Huck and Doe made the tag on Carlini for the final out.

A story out of St. Louis says that Bill Vecek is counting heavily upon Dick Kokos to pull the Browns out of their doldrums next season. That's the same Kokos who appeared here with the Brooke Medical Center team last spring. Kokos didn't look like a big leaguer against Big Spring pitching, appeared to be taking too big a cut at the ball.

Pie Traylor, one of the all-time infield greats in the National League, has been quoted as saying he thinks Roy McMillan of Cincinnati is the National League's best shortstop.

McMillan, of course, got his start at Ballinger at the time that club was in the Longhorn League.

The Big Seven Conference probably supplied more athletes for the US Olympics team this year than any other collegiate group.

That, of course, includes wrestlers and basketball players, as well as track and field men.

DEL TURNER TO PLAY AGAINST BAYLOR

Big Spring's Delmer Turner, who'll go back to Lamar Tech to play football and basketball in September, will get to perform against such cage clubs as Baylor, Trinity, St. Edwards and three Louisiana schools next season.

The Cardinals won only six of 23 games last season but Coach Jack Martin is expecting a better team this year.

Roswell Plays BS Saturday

Big Spring plays host to Roswell in the first of a two-game series here Saturday night. Game time is 8:30 p.m.

Hostilities throughout the league stop tonight for that love feast called the All-Star Game, which takes in San Angelo.

The Steeds will be here for six games. After Roswell moves on following a Sunday afternoon show, the Sweetwater Braves set up shop for a couple of contests, the first of which is down for Monday.

After Sweetwater departs, the locals play host to Artesia as the league race wars into August.

Clear Reguera probably will go against Roswell Saturday night.

Morris Takes Braves' Post

SWEETWATER—Johnny Morris, 27-year-old infielder, has succeeded Alex Carrasquel as manager of the Sweetwater Braves of the Longhorn League.

Carrasquel will join Paris of the Big State League to lend a hand to the sagging Paris mound staff.

Morris has been in professional baseball since 1941. He played second base for the Port Arthur club of the Gulf Coast League last year.

A native of New York City, Morris began his career in the Brooklyn chain. He broke in with Olan of the Pony League. He has also performed for Gadsden, Ala., Lincoln, Neb., in the Western League, and Poughkeepsie, N. Y., in the Colonial League.

Bob Mathias Trails Jersey Schoolboy In Decathlon

HELSINKI, Finland, July 24 (AP)—America's two-platoon basketball squad opened its defense of the title the United States has always won since the sport was added to the Olympic program, by whipping Hungary 66 to 48 with an unimpressive performance today.

Bob Mathias, defending champ in the decathlon, who set a new world record for the 10 events in winning the American tryouts, scored 1,725 points in the first two events.

That left Mathias, at that stage, 10 points behind Milton Campbell, the Plainfield, N. J. schoolboy, but the handsome Tulsa, Calif., athlete held the favorite's role.

Campbell scored 1,028 points in the 100-meter dash, in which he turned in the fastest time, 19.7 seconds. He added 707 more in the broad jump with a leap of 22 feet 1.35 inches.

Mathias ran the 100 in 10.9 for 946 points and broad jumped 22 feet 10.80 inches to score 779 more. This left him well behind the pace he set in the tryouts, where he rolled up the record total of 5,825 points. At the same stage in the trials, Mathias had 1,821 points.

Carlos Vera of Chile held third place with 1,644 points.

Basketball Coach Warren Womble characterized his team as "awfully rusty" in its first appearance, but big Clyde Lovellette, who was held to nine points, called it "lousy."

Argentina's speedy team looked very good in the opening game as it whipped The Philippines, 85 to 59.

The United States advanced to the second round in the fencing team competition, winning eight bouts in the first round and edging out Russia, 29-31 on hits, in the next round.

Russia also qualified for the next round.

The water polo competition also began with Egypt, Hungary, Germany and Yugoslavia scoring easy victories in early matches.

The main events in track and field were scheduled to resume this afternoon and there was every indication that the record-breaking pace of the first five days would be continued. In 20 events so far, 18 world or Olympic records have been broken or equaled.

Marks already have been lowered in two events that are not yet complete. Eight men shattered the 3,000-meter steeplechase record in Wednesday's heats. And the mark probably will tumble even lower in today's final when FBI man Horace Ashenfelter of New York clashes with Vladimir Kazantsev, Russian ace.

Another Russian, Bruno Jack, bettered the 10,000-meter walk mark in the heat yesterday.

All the other track and field finals yesterday also ended in records.

Gold Sox Win Over Oilers

The Gold Sox walloped the Oilers 18-10, here in Little League play Thursday evening, handing the pace-setters their second defeat in second half play.

Wayne Fields blasted a home run with two on in the first inning to get the Sox off on the right foot.

Fields pitched all the way for the winners, setting the Oilers down with seven hits.

CHAMP PLAYS ILLINI

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 25 (AP)—Defending champion Bob Goldwater of Phoenix, Ariz., goes against John Morrellin of Elgin, Ill., today in the quarter finals of the 32nd Broadmoor Invitational Golf Tourney.

Baez Loses 6th As Big Spring Yields, 8-7

SWEETWATER—Big Spring dropped an 8-7 decision to Sweetwater here Thursday night but still gained ground in the Longhorn League race.

The first-place Odessa Oilers lost two games to Vernon, snatched the Steeds to move within five games of the top spot.

The lead changed hands five times in the see-saw battle after the Braves had scored three unearned runs in the first inning. Warren Siler, who batted in four of the Sweetwater runs, drove in Luis Suarez with a single for the winning tally in the ninth.

Two errors and a triple by Juan Visteur gave the Braves a 3-0 lead in the first inning. Sweetwater moved ahead 4-3 in the fourth on a walk by Charley Buck, singles by Charley Tuttle and Siler, a double by Tony Traspuesto, and Kenny Hughes' two-run single.

The Braves made it 5-4 in the fifth on two singles, a wild pitch and Bert Baez' two-run single.

The Braves went ahead 8-3 in the bottom of the fifth on a two-run triple by Siler.

Big Spring regained the lead in the eighth, 7-6, on a single by Ose Alvarez, a walk, and a double by Witty Quintana. Manager Morris led off Sweetwater's ninth with a pinch-hit single and was forced at second by Ernest Cortez. Suarez drew a walk and Buck notched a lead-hop double to score pinch-runner Marcelino Solis with the tying run. After Tuttle was given an intentional pass, Siler singled down the left field line for the winning counter.

It was Bert Baez' sixth defeat against ten wins. Gil Grajeda, who relieved Rolando Rodriguez in the eighth, received credit for his 7th victory.

Tragic Polio Situation Near Epidemic Stage

By The Associated Press
Texas' tragic polio situation, at or near epidemic stage in some large population centers, continued to expand Friday.

Hundreds of thousands of dollars were poured into the fight against the crippling and deadly disease. March of Dimes money brought into the campaign in Texas exceeded $635,000, an official of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis reported.

And the representative, S. C. Wilson, said 53 Texas County chapters had exhausted polio funds and received cash advances from the organization's natural epidemic aid fund.

Efforts to co-ordinate the fight against the disease continued in Austin Friday at a meeting of Texas foundation representatives.

Ira Earl Owens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar B. Owens of Sulphur Springs and one of eight new cases in Dallas, died in Parkland Hospital. Six of the new cases in Dallas were from Dallas County and brought the area's total to 177 for the year.

The disease hit the family of Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Harthe of Houston for the second time within a week. Two daughters were reported as polio victims Thursday after a third daughter was stricken Monday. All the children are under three years old.

The Harthe children were among five new Houston cases Thursday. Fourteen other cases, listed as "possible polio," awaited diagnosis in Houston where the polio count for the year has swelled to 270 cases and eight deaths.

Sherman, one of the hardest hit smaller cities, reported its 19th case of the year Thursday.

Polio cut short the vacations in Minnesota of Bonnie M. Barstow, 3, and Sandra Barstow, 15 months. The daughters of Sgt. and Mrs. C. C. Barstow, they became Brooke Army Medical Center's 62nd and 63rd cases of the year.

The death of Joe Walker Kyle, 18, of Wharton County was reported Thursday by Houston medical authorities. The youth died Wednesday at Houston's Jefferson Davis Hospital, a victim of polio.

As the disease killed and crippled, it seemed a Wednesday estimate of 3,000 polio cases in Texas in 1952—made by State Health Officer George W. Cox—was not overly pessimistic.

Top polio year in Texas, so far, has been 1950 when 2,778 cases were reported.

Crime Group Head Says All Binion Evidence Not Used

FORT WORTH, July 25 (AP)—The president of the Dallas Crime Commission had an angry answer today after charging "strong evidence" concerning Nevada gambler Benny Binion's policy racket was not used in preparation of a tax evasion case against Binion.

U. S. District Atty. Frank Potter said, "every piece of evidence in the possession of the government concerning Binion's tax affairs was presented to the grand jury."

The Dallas Crime Commission leader, Alphonso Ragland, revealed that he had complained to Atty. Gen. McGranery concerning the tax case against Binion.

Labeling the Ragland charge "irresponsible and untrue," Potter said: "Since Ragland was not present during the presentation to the grand jury of evidence in the Binion case he obviously could know nothing about it."

But Potter said he was "not completely satisfied that Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wade had turned over to federal authorities all the evidence he had on Binion."

In the letter to McGranery, Ragland said, in part, "Binion has been notoriously successful in avoiding justice. I am sure you realize his income tax indictment is based on the year 1949, although for some reason the very strong evidence in the possession of (Dallas) Dist. Atty. Henry Wade regarding the year 1948 has not been utilized."

Ragland said he wrote the letter Tuesday, the same day McGranery directed Potter to transfer the Binion case from Nevada to Dallas. A letter from Wade had called the attorney general's attention to the arrangement permitting Binion to plead no contest in Nevada.

Wade, who has tried unsuccessfully twice to have Binion extradited to Texas to face policy racket charges, can have him arrested when he is brought to Texas to face the tax evasion charges.

Meanwhile, Potter repeated that he favors assigning of a special prosecutor to the Binion trial as well as to the tax evasion trial of Harry Urban Sr., Binion's one-time partner.

Both are scheduled for trial in Federal District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson's court in Dallas, Sept. 15.

New Winter Hats Are Cut Low In Back

By NADEANE WALKER
PARIS (AP)—French fashion's new winter hats look as if they've been designed for the lady who's decided to de-poodle her hair. Just the thing to cover the straggling ends while a short haircut is growing in again.

The Paris designers are turning out new hats that drape or ripple low behind. "Batbacks," they call them.

As to materials, next to the perennial black velvet the No. 1 favorites are furry or satiny felts, in a new color range of soft, luscious fruit, vegetable and metal tints.

Marie-Christine, in her opening, followed the trend toward soft, unlined hats that can be crushed like a handkerchief with no ill effects.

There's an exotic Oriental influence creeping in, too. Svend, the young Danish designer, last night showed three basic types—cloche, turban and fez.

Many of his cloches sported long, thin sword feathers, jutting out behind to poke the unwary in the eye. Some followed the low-behind line. Others went into deep side-wise dives. Devil red, which looks just as it sounds, is the new Svend trademark color.

The Danish lad perched a pom-pom bigger than the hat on one chapeau. Another dangled diamond icicles. With a third comes a gold rosebud, opening out at the touch of a finger to a full-blown flower with diamond pollen.

Simone Cango showed Oriental velvet turbans rich with embroidery. Other models were trimmed with downy ostrich feathers.

Crime Group Head Says All Binion Evidence Not Used

FORT WORTH, July 25 (AP)—The president of the Dallas Crime Commission had an angry answer today after charging "strong evidence" concerning Nevada gambler Benny Binion's policy racket was not used in preparation of a tax evasion case against Binion.

U. S. District Atty. Frank Potter said, "every piece of evidence in the possession of the government concerning Binion's tax affairs was presented to the grand jury."

The Dallas Crime Commission leader, Alphonso Ragland, revealed that he had complained to Atty. Gen. McGranery concerning the tax case against Binion.

Labeling the Ragland charge "irresponsible and untrue," Potter said: "Since Ragland was not present during the presentation to the grand jury of evidence in the Binion case he obviously could know nothing about it."

But Potter said he was "not completely satisfied that Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wade had turned over to federal authorities all the evidence he had on Binion."

In the letter to McGranery, Ragland said, in part, "Binion has been notoriously successful in avoiding justice. I am sure you realize his income tax indictment is based on the year 1949, although for some reason the very strong evidence in the possession of (Dallas) Dist. Atty. Henry Wade regarding the year 1948 has not been utilized."

Ragland said he wrote the letter Tuesday, the same day McGranery directed Potter to transfer the Binion case from Nevada to Dallas. A letter from Wade had called the attorney general's attention to the arrangement permitting Binion to plead no contest in Nevada.

Wade, who has tried unsuccessfully twice to have Binion extradited to Texas to face policy racket charges, can have him arrested when he is brought to Texas to face the tax evasion charges.

Meanwhile, Potter repeated that he favors assigning of a special prosecutor to the Binion trial as well as to the tax evasion trial of Harry Urban Sr., Binion's one-time partner.

Both are scheduled for trial in Federal District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson's court in Dallas, Sept. 15.
