

Leaders Seek Break On Money Deadlock

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—Congressional leaders, switching their plans, strove behind the scenes today to break a deadlock over two money bills and adjourn the 82nd Congress today.

With only a few members on hand, the House and Senate met at 11 a. m. and recessed shortly afterward to permit backstage maneuvers.

Some Democratic leaders were doing business with Republicans by telephone calls to Chicago, where the GOP national convention was opening.

If House and Senate conference committee members can agree on the money bills, both houses will be convened later today to try for final passage of the stumbling block legislation.

But adjournment prospects were precarious—neither House had a quorum of members present and a single objection could forestall any final action.

Earlier, congressional leaders had said they probably would only mark time this week and try to adjourn next week.

The two bills were: a 10 billion dollar omnibus appropriation measure for atomic energy expansion, foreign aid and military construction; and a 584 million dollar appropriation for rivers and harbors and flood control projects.

The dash toward a planned final adjournment stalled to a stop as the sun peeked over the horizon yesterday morning. All except two appropriation bills had been passed but on these the Senate and House deadlocked.

Most of the Republican members have now left for the party's national convention in Chicago and many Democrats have gone home.

Adjournment itself was off at least until next week, the week between the party conventions. Until then, nothing of importance will be transacted, House Democrats and Republicans agreed on this in the small hours Sunday morning.

Administration plans to bring Congress to a close Saturday night collapsed chiefly because the House had written into a 10-billion-dollar supplemental appropriation bill a curb on the use of funds for an expansion of the atomic weapons program.

The measure carries two billion dollars for the atomic program, $6,031,947,750 for foreign military and economic aid, and $2,140,000,000 for military bases and other projects around the world.

In a last-ditch appeal against the House rider, President Truman wrote Vice President Barkley and House Speaker Rayburn that it would cripple atomic production and imperil national security.

The Senate refused to accept the rider, weary members standing firm into the early Sunday morning hours. The House finally agreed to modify it somewhat but balked at throwing it overboard.

The other dispute that upset adjournment plans flared over a compromise $584,061,000 bill to finance rivers and harbors and flood control projects.

Dropped out of the measure was four million dollars for the Hartwell Dam in South Carolina and Georgia. Sen. Maybank (D-SC) roared that the bill was not going to pass without this item in it, and indicated he might launch a filibuster. Sen. Olin Johnson (D-SC) said he too was ready to talk all day Sunday.

The upshot was that the Senate sent the bill back to conference again in hopes of working out a settlement.

With this and the atomic spending controversy in his hands, Democratic Leader McFarland of Arizona despaired at last and moved the Senate recess until today. It quit at 4:10 a. m. and the House shortly followed suit.

Giant strides toward adjournment, including the passage of a $46,600,000,000 defense appropriation bill, had been taken in the session that began at noon Saturday before the legislators bogged down in controversy.

This measure—the largest of all the appropriation bills for the 1953 fiscal year—carried the full amount asked by President Truman to expand the Air Force to 143 wings by mid-1955.

Other bills passed and sent to the White House Saturday included:

1. A $1,015,000,000 measure to fix

RISK AID CUT-OFF

Danes Reject U. S. Protest On Tanker

COPENHAGEN, July 7 (AP)—Denmark today rejected an American protest against the proposed delivery of a Danish-built tanker to the Soviet Union. The move risked cessation of all U. S. economic and military aid to Denmark.

Foreign Minister Ole Bjorn Kraft had forecast the rejection in a statement last night saying there appeared to be no legal basis for halting delivery of the 13,000-ton tanker.

Kraft announced the decision to reject the U. S. protest after an hour-long meeting between cabinet ministers and party leaders.

He said the tanker, the Apheron, was free to leave for a Soviet port whenever the Russians want to pull anchor. The tanker is standing by with a Soviet crew already aboard. It may sail today.

Kraft said the leaders of the non-Communist political parties had given unanimous backing to the government's stand. He stressed that careful consideration had been given to the U. S. note.

Kraft said the tanker was being delivered under a three-year-old contract which it was impossible to scrap.

Another tanker of the same tonnage as the Apheron is being built here for the Soviet Union. Kraft said last night that work on it will continue since it is not due for delivery until September, 1953. By that time, he added, the Korean war may be over and a general relaxation of tension may occur.

Look For Tip On Steel Move

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The nation looked to CIO United Steelworkers President Philip Murray today for some tipoff on the union's next move in the economy-shattering steel strike now going into its sixth week.

The silvery-haired labor leader invades the territory of his most bitter opponent in the steel dispute to address a huge rally of steelworkers at nearby Duquesne.

Most of the 5,000 steelworker residents of that small milltown are employed by U. S. Steel Corp., biggest producer in the country and traditional pace-setter for the industry.

The rally is the first in the Pittsburgh area—steel center of the world—since Murray called out 650,000 union members in the basic steel industry June 2.

Steelworkers look for their leader to explain at length the union's charges that the six largest steel producers have refused to bargain in good faith.

The charge is seen as an attempt to bring about resumption of bargaining, which collapsed June 9. It probably will take about a week for the National Labor Relations Board to investigate the union's complaint. No negotiations are in sight.

Cruix of the drawn-out controversy is the USWA's demand for a union shop, which requires membership in the union as a condition of employment.

QUADS BORN TO MAINE COUPLE

PORTLAND, Me., July 7 (AP)—Quadruplets were born today to the 35-year-old wife of a carpenter—and her first concern was where to put the three girls and a boy in their tiny Standish home.

Dr. Duncan Morse said condition of the mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Pinkham was "excellent" and the quads were "very good."

The babies named Rebecca, Melissa, Jane and William, were described by Morse as "big—even big size for twins."

Mrs. Pinkham and her 45-year-old husband, Elias, had two names ready—expecting twins—but quickly produced two other names.

The couple has one other child, a nine-year-old daughter.

Entire Family Is Hit By Polio

An entire family was under treatment today for polio.

Ale and Mrs. Arvill L. Miller and their 16-month old son, Arvill Miller Jr. were flown Saturday night to Brooke Hospital in San Antonio after their illness had been diagnosed at the Webb Air Force Base hospital as poliomyelitis.

No details were available Monday on condition, although friends said they understood that Miller was seriously ill. His wife, Mrs. Ida M. Miller, was thought perhaps not to be quite so ill.

The Miller's home is in Kansas City, Mo., but in Big Spring they resided at 121 Madison Street.

Convicts Take Two Guards In Prison Riots

Prisoners Again Win Their Demand In Disturbances

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—One convict was shot as some 140 rioting prisoners grabbed two guards as hostages, threatening them with death, and wrecked their cell block at Southern Michigan Prison last night.

It was in this same prison, the world's largest, that a bloody mutiny and riot in April brought death to one convict, wounds to eight others and close to a million dollars worth of damage. The leaders of the new outbreak were among those being disciplined by solitary confinement for their participation in the April rioting.

As in the April rioting, the prisoners won their demands, this time too.

Both hostage guards were freed unharmed, but only after state police troopers withdrew from the cell block. The rioters had shouted they'd throw the guards from a fifth story cell block balcony to a concrete floor if the troopers didn't leave.

In their first advance into the cell block of shouting, cursing, knife and club-wielding convicts, the troopers fired an estimated five to 10 shotgun blasts.

Convict Carl Bradford, 24, a Detroit Negro, was wounded in the heel and buttocks.

The rioting stemmed from inmate complaints that prisoners were held on two lower floors of Cell Block 9 since April 21, without dining room, yard exercising or visitor privileges.

Deputy Seymour Gilman promised the group that its members would have all three privileges restored immediately, but that they would eat and exercise in small groups at first.

The rioting, which lasted two hours and 35 minutes, climaxed disturbances throughout Cell Block 9 during the day. Some convicts on the first two floors beat their bars loose at the bottom and pried them back with chairs or other furniture to make openings.

They grabbed Guard Sgt. Burt Myron, 37, and Guard William Blair, 34. They rushed them up four flights and held them there until Myron was sent down to convey the prisoners' demands to Gilman.

The rioting broke out as other tenants of Cell Block 9 were returning from yard exercise at 7:45 p. m. Some of the returning prisoners pushed Guard James Vacek, 26, into a cell to keep him from being captured by the toughs flooding up from the first and second floors. They hid Vacek's cap and dressed him in prisoners' garb. He finally escaped.

Taft, Ike Both Renew Pledges For A Battle

Pennsylvania Group Favors Rules Change

General Promises To Hard At Democrats' Errors

CHICAGO, July 7 (AP)—Pennsylvania's crucial delegation, in the first direct test of sentiment, voted today to cast 57 votes in support of the Eisenhower-backed move to amend the rules of the Republican convention on delegate credentials. Only 11 delegates lined up against the proposal.

The vote of a tense 90-minute caucus was even more one-sided than had been predicted by Gov. John S. Fine who personally led the fight to get the delegation on record on what he called a highly important moral issue.

Two other members of the 70-vote delegation announced they were passing, for the present, the opportunity to express their views.

CHICAGO, July 7 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said today he would hit hard at Democratic "errors" if he is the Republican presidential nominee, but would "scrape up dirt" just for the sake of doing it.

Eisenhower made the statement to the Florida delegation to the Republican National Convention as he launched an all-or-nothing offensive to win top place on the GOP ticket.

By night fall, he may have a pretty good idea whether he is going to be the nominee or just a retired general.

Eisenhower had an early breakfast with the 18-man Florida delegation, which is largely in the column of his chief rival for the nomination, Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Eisenhower went from the Florida breakfast to a conference at his headquarters with Gov. Earl Warren of California. That session with the Californian, also a candidate for the nomination, was regarded as significant.

Warren told newsmen afterward that he and Eisenhower were in agreement that the convention rules should be changed to prevent contested delegations from voting on the seating of delegates in any state where there is a contest.

Warren called the meeting mainly a social visit but added there was a general discussion of politics.

In reply to a question, however, Warren said there was no discussion of their respective chances to win the nomination.

The general was asked by one of the Florida delegates whether, as the nominee, he would "expose what the Democratic party stands for."

Eisenhower replied: "I wouldn't hesitate to bring out everything that has been in error." Then he added that "just to scrape up the

Ohioan Laying New Claim To Front Position

Fight Is Planned On Any Switch In Rules For Seating

CHICAGO, July 7 (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft told a news conference today he will fight a proposed rule change sought by Eisenhower forces in the Republican National Convention. He said he wouldn't try to defer the issue.

Taft laid new claim to front runner position in his race with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the presidential nomination, contending he has "six hundred and seven, eight or nine" pledged votes—more than enough for nomination.

"I think it (his position) is even firmer than it was," he declared, grinning broadly. He added "we'll see what comes up" before deciding whether to push for a first ballot victory.

But on the proposed rule change—which seeks to bar major state contested delegations from voting on the seating of other disputed delegations—Taft said the situation "is hopelessly complicated" and he declined to predict the outcome.

Taft told the reporters he understood that Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, Eisenhower's campaign manager, has suggested a variety of compromise plans, and that he does not agree with any of them.

"Does that mean you are going to fight them?" a reporter asked.

"That's right," Taft answered.

In a news conference yesterday, Taft displayed telegrams he said came from 510 delegates who have promised to vote for him. He said he knew of 27 other delegates whose telegrams promising similar support were on the way.

In addition, he said, about 100 other delegates are inclined to vote for him.

"Nobody ever went into a convention before with support such as this," Taft said.

He kept nearly two dozen appointments yesterday. In one speech he concentrated his fire on the Democrats. In another, he said all questions of fraud in the Texas delegate dispute was erased by his compromise offer to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, his chief rival for the GOP nomination.

In a brief speech to the National Federation of Young Republican Clubs last night, Taft said:

"A whole generation has grown up under New Deal and Fair Deal administrations. . . . They have come to accept, as a normal part of American government, war and alarms of war."

Taft proposed a five-point program including reduction of government expense, reduction of government power, elimination of "New Deal-Fair Deal" philosophy, maintenance of a foreign policy "based primarily on the maintenance of the liberty of the American people" and a promise that the Republican party never will be guided by any desire to use war as a policy weapon.

Taft begins the first day of the convention with a chat with delegates from Montana, followed by talks with delegations from Rhode Island, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

Compromise Hopes Collapsing Rapidly

By JACK BELL

CONVENTION HALL, CHICAGO, July 7 (AP)—Republicans whooped in this big arena to open their presidential nominating convention today with Taft and Eisenhower forces drawing lines for a bitter floor battle over voting by contested delegates.

All compromise efforts were fast collapsing.

So it appeared there might be a quick show of strength which could tip off whether Sen. Robert A. Taft or Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will in the end win the party's presidential nomination.

Party harmonizers—disturbed over possible effects of this angry dispute on GOP election chances—strove desperately through the night for a compromise. But they couldn't come up with anything that everyone would accept.

Taft told a news conference he was ready to fight and wouldn't try to put off the decision. Some of Taft's backers had figured the chances would be better if the issue could be delayed until after Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who is friendly to Taft, had delivered the keynote speech tonight.

The scrap is over this: Eisenhower backers want to put in a rule restricting voting by contested delegates on the seating of other delegates.

Eisenhower supporters call it the "fair play" rule. Taft backers hoot at that.

In the present situation, the practical effect would be whether disputed Taft delegates from Georgia, for instance, would be allowed to vote on the question of seating rival Taft and Eisenhower delegations from Texas.

Eisenhower's supporters—and some delegates who have not openly taken any position on the rival presidential candidates—contended that if the rule was put over it would cut the nomination when the convention gets to that stage, probably Thursday or Friday.

But Taft told reporters "I don't regard it as of vital importance on the final outcome."

Taft said again, as he has for days, that he has the delegates to win the nomination.

He said he has "six hundred and seven, eight or nine" pledged delegates but that he would "see what happens" before deciding whether to drive for the first ballot nomination. It takes 604 votes to win it.

Most of the delegates came to this bunting-decked hall from caucuses of state delegations where they had warm discussions of the rules question.

The "Ike" crowd was backed in their position by a majority from some of the key states.

Pennsylvania voted today to cast 57 votes in support of the proposed rule. Only 11 delegates lined up against the change. Two members of the 70-vote delegation announced they were passing, for the present, the opportunity to express their views.

In other maneuvering, Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland took on an assignment of putting Eisenhower's name in nomination.

McKeldin had been flirting with the Eisenhower forces for some time but up until this announcement had made no definite commitment.

The Taft camp had rather expected that the Maryland governor would finally plop to Eisenhower.

How many of Maryland's 24-vote delegation might follow him is a question but McKeldin told reporters he thought a majority would.

One of the questions the strategists on each side were weighing was what influence would be exerted on uncommitted delegates if the Eisenhower-men win the rules scrap.

There was general belief that the outcome would have considerable effect on Eisenhower's hand would be strengthened if the rule went through.

Ike Forces Beat Foes To Punch

CONVENTION HALL, CHICAGO, July 7 (AP)—Eisenhower forces seemingly beat the Taft opposition to the punch today by drafting a new compromise on the hot rules change dispute.

They got together behind a proposal that would provide for the seating of state delegations in alphabetical order and allow those seated to vote on later contests.

Just before the vote came from the forces of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Lloyd Taft, son of Sen. Robert A. Taft, said his father's forces were considering a substitute along that precise line.

Lusty Cool Front Moves Through Texas Panhandle

By The Associated Press

A lusty cool front barreled into the Texas Panhandle early Monday, promising to relieve the heat wave in much of the state.

Behind the front refreshing cool air that flowed down off the Canadian Rockies rushed on its south-eastward trip toward Texas.

At mid-morning the front had raced as far as Dalhart. The temperature there was a bracing 62 degrees and light rain fell.

The Weather Bureau cautioned Texans about too much optimism. It predicted sizzling warm air ahead of the front might slow down the front's journey across the state.

The Weather Bureau predicted the front would slow down later Monday in the Panhandle but pick up speed again during the night. By Tuesday morning it should be well into North Central Texas, the bureau said.

The front held out hopes for farmers and ranchers, plagued by hot, dry winds that burn crops and rangeland. The mass of hot air covering the state will furnish plenty of turbulence to create scattered thundershowers when the cool front shoves through.

Dalhart's 62 degrees was the coolest in Texas. It compared with temperatures of 75 and 86, respectively, at Amarillo and Childress ahead of the front at midmorning.

Elsewhere in the state it remained hot and skies were clear to partly cloudy.

Scattered showers that fell Sunday and early Monday brought Houston 2 inches of rain. Beaumont 1.9, Galveston .72, Victoria .07, Dalhart .45, and Palacios .23.

CONSERVE WATER

Withdrawals during 24-hour period ending at 8 a. m. Monday: 2,321,000 gallons; during 24-hour period ending at 8 a. m. Sunday: 2,393,000 gallons.

Maximum safe withdrawal rate under existing conditions: 2,000,000 gallons per day.

Watering To Go As Usual

The usual schedule for watering shrubbery will prevail this week, City Manager H. W. Whitney announced Monday.

Three sections of the city will irrigate plants on separate days. Residents east of Settles may water from 7 to 7 p. m. Tuesday, those between Settles and Rannels Wednesday, and the remainder of the city will be permitted to irrigate shrubbery Friday during the same hours.

Reserves were all at capacity Monday for the week's watering. Consumption Saturday and Sunday amounted to less than 2.5 million gallons, allowing production facilities and wells a brief respite from heavy pumping necessitated on irrigation days.

Platform Drafters Near End Of A Long Struggle

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

CHICAGO (AP)—Republican platform builders neared the end of a long struggle today to complete a campaign structure mostly of triangular planks.

One side bid for voter support in the November general election. On its face was each major issue—foreign policy, labor, civil rights, corruption, farm supports and other key questions.

The other two sides generally appeared shaped and polished to mirror the views of either Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower or Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

They are the top contenders in the bitter battle for the Republican presidential nomination. The battle quickens today with the opening of the GOP convention.

Sen. Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado, Platform Committee chairman, continued to push a special drafting staff day and night behind closed doors and amid closely guarded secrecy. He was no premature leaker. Nevertheless, other members of the committee disclosed that only a civil rights plank needed to be hammered into position.

A subcommittee led by Mrs. Mildred Younger, attractive youthful delegate from California, split 4 to 3 upon what Republicans should propose.

All six opposed a compulsory federal program or commission to halt racial and minority discriminations.

But Mrs. Younger and three members suggested a voluntary federal commission with power to investigate state and local conditions in this field and make recommendations. This was expected to appeal to Negroes and other minority groups.

Two committeemen insisted the federal government should leave such matters to state and local action.

Evidence of this came yesterday as Millikin emerged from a private conference with Eisenhower during which foreign policy plank proposals undoubtedly were discussed.

Beaming broadly, Millikin, who openly backed Taft in party primaries, told newsmen he is confident all GOP presidential aspirants will favor the committee's proposals.

The senator refused to pass out copies of the proposed foreign policy plank to committeemen. It was learned, however, that either Taft or Eisenhower, who have collided publicly upon international and defense issues, could stand on the platform.

References to "tragic mistakes" and a "China-last" policy by the Truman administration should please the Taft camp.

Pledges of continued foreign aid in the global effort for mutual security against Communist aggression should keep Eisenhower forces happy.

Similar treatment was reported by subgroups on the touchy questions of government farm price programs and labor-management relations.

Initial reports from the farm plank group indicated movement away from rigid government price supports and strong federal controls.

Then Congress put its approval on a firm level of relatively high farm price props. The GOP plank was shaped to back "reasonable" supports.

The labor plank now urges a union management conference after the November elections. That is an invitation to both business and union leaders to elect Republicans and then present their demands.

Barkley Going After Top Spot

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—Vice President Barkley said last night he intends to fight for the Democratic presidential nomination instead of waiting for it to be offered.

His entry into the race gives the party an even half dozen active candidates.

The 74-year-old vice president, who has said he would accept the prize but would not seek it, said he reversed his decision because so many friends throughout the country urged him to become an active candidate.

He said he plans to attend the Democratic National Convention opening in Chicago July 21, and will confer with delegates there.

Barkley said he had been unable to enter any of the state presidential primaries, or contact delegates, because of his duties as presiding officer of the Senate.

There was no immediate indication that President Truman had advance knowledge of Barkley's latest move, or whether the President had given him any encouragement.

Mexico Votes Without Any Shots Fired

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ
MEXICO CITY, July 7 (AP)—A firm friend of the United States seemed to have a commanding lead today in Mexico's biggest and most peaceful presidential elections.

The apparent victory of Adolfo Ruiz Cortines, candidate of the official party, was not unexpected. But few observers thought so many voters—more than 70 per cent of those registered—would turn out. Jubilant newspapers pinned their headlines to the theme "not a single shot was fired in Mexico" during the balloting.

First reports last night gave Ruiz Cortines better than a four-to-one lead over the combined opposition. An independent opposition candidate, Gen. Miguel Henriquez Guzman, was a poor second. In third place, on the basis of the scattered and unofficial returns available last night, was the rightist Efraim Gonzalez Luna. All three of these are considered friendly to the U. S.

In last place in these figures was Vicente Lombardo Toledano, candidate of the Popular and Communist Parties and a constant critic of the U. S. He had only 2.5 per cent of the vote in the early returns.

Jose Ortiz Tirado, under-secretary of the interior, estimated that more than 3,500,000 of the 4,923,796 voters registered had cast their ballots. But many precincts were still voting at midnight, five hours after the legal closing time. The law provides that anybody in line at closing time must be allowed to vote and five-hour waits were common.

One government official said the total might be as high as 4,500,000—a record 91 per cent of those registered. The vote was almost certain to be 60 per cent higher than the 2,229,000 who voted in 1946, only 80 per cent of the registration that year.

All parties, including the official one, made hundreds of complaints of violation of the election laws. Such complaints are usual in Mexico.

The Conservative National Action Party, for instance, accused various parties and election officials of peeking at the secret ballots, stealing ballot boxes, barring party watchers from the polls, and permitting non-registered persons to vote.

The big turn-out of voters—any male over 18—and the registration lists established by the new election law accounted for much of the delay in voting. Election lists for precincts with several thousand voters were not in alphabetical order, making the search for the voters' name a long one.

Delays in making public the figures permitted the parties to continue to claim victory. At midnight all of them except the Conservatives were still claiming their candidate had won.

At midnight, also, there were still no reports of deaths or injuries due to the elections anywhere in the country. In Mexico City some 150 men were treated for sunstroke suffered while waiting in line to vote. One waiting voter was struck by a bottle hurled by a vagrant drunk, but it had no political significance.

Two of the opposition candidates indicated they would contest the election in one form or another. Henriquez Guzman said "there is talk of the victory of a certain candidate—we will see what the people have to say about that." His forces called a "victory meeting" in the Alameda Park tomorrow night. Lombardo commented that "we will not allow the will of the people to be defied."

Despite these remarks, the final meeting of the National Electoral Commission, including party representatives, was cordial. All representatives praised the general manner of voting and said they were proud of the record of no violence. The courts reported that not a single complaint had been made to them during the day.

U. N. Raiders Beaten Back By Chinese Reds

By JIM BECKER
SEOUL, Korea (AP)—A large Allied raiding party, supported by tanks and flame throwers, was beaten back early today by Chinese entrenched in log pillboxes two miles east of the Panmunjom truce talks site.

Associated Press correspondent Sam Summerlin at the Western Front reported the U. N. infantrymen jumped off against three Red outposts at 10 p. m. under a brilliant moonlit sky.

Summerlin said the raiders were pinned down by Communist mortar shells and grenades at the first outpost. Two squads clawed to the top of the Chinese hill outpost but their flamethrowers and rockets failed to dislodge the Reds.

On the flanks of the attack, flame-throwing tanks and infantry hit Red positions to prevent Communist reinforcements from moving up.

A few hours after midnight, Allied reinforcements rushed in and helped the embattled doughboys withdraw.

At dawn Allied warplanes pounded the Red outposts while the three infantrymen and tankers fell back.

Two other large U. N. raiding parties tangled with Communist defenders in the East-Central and Central sectors in bright moonlight. One battle lasted four hours.

New Sub Will Boost Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top Defense Department official says America's "one significant advantage" over Russia—sea-borne air power—will be strengthened even further with development of a submarine for launching atomic guided missiles.

John J. Floberg, assistant secretary of the Navy for air, said in an American Legion recorded broadcast yesterday that the Navy is converting two cruisers to guided missile ships, and added:

"There's some appreciation, I think, of the submarine as a guided missile ship in the plans that the Navy is making."

Roswell Gilpatrick, undersecretary of air, said on the same program that guided missiles "in a period of years" will replace pilot aircraft.

Gilpatrick said the day-of-complete replacement of aircraft by guided missiles will dawn gradually—"more or less a process similar to that of the replacement by jet engines of the conventional piston-type engines."

BOTH STILL ANGRY Nothing Settled Yet As Texas Groups Enter Battle On Floor

By DAVE CHEAVENS and MARTHA COLE
CHICAGO, July 7 (AP)—Two angry uncompromising factions from Texas faced each other in the glare of the national political spotlight as the Republican convention opened today.

Nothing was settled as Texas' 38 contested votes still bulked large in the close, bitter fight between Sen. Robert A. Taft and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Presidential nomination.

Says Congress Breaking Faith

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman accused Congress of breaking faith with federal employees by changing the rules on their vacations.

"I hope the Congress will soon take corrective action to strike this unwise and unjust provision from the law," he said in announcing yesterday that he had "reluctantly" signed the $5,272,836,303 independent offices bill.

The measure carries funds for the Veterans Administration, Atomic Energy Commission and a score of smaller agencies.

A rider to the bill forbids federal employees to accumulate their annual leave, and forces them to use up their annual vacation within six months after the end of a calendar year or forfeit it.

In the past, leave time could be accumulated and taken in cash or as paid vacation time.

Truman said that when Congress in 1951 approved a new leave act drastically reducing the amounts of time granted, "the understanding was clear that in return . . . the then-existing prohibition on accumulation of leave would be eliminated. This was done."

"But now Congress by again prohibiting a reasonable accumulation of annual leave . . . has broken faith with a large body of federal employees."

Prices May Climb To All-Time Peak

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prices may climb to an all-time peak during the next six to 12 months. At the same time, however, incomes, production and employment may rise moderately.

These were the highlights of a staff report yesterday to the Senate-House Economic Committee whose job is to keep an eye on economic trends for Congress.

The report said the price increase may be from 1 to 3 per cent, due to an expected climb in rents and services, a recovery in clothing prices, and a slight upturn in consumer durable goods.

Food prices are expected to remain about the same unless there is a substantial change in present crop prospects.

Red Peace Council Winds Up Session

BERLIN (AP)—The Communists wound up a week-long session of their World Peace Council in East Berlin with new demands last night that the Western Allies sit down with Russia to write a German peace treaty.

Echoing recent Soviet pronouncements on unification of the occupied country, the resolution said a U. S.-British-French-Russian conference on Germany should be called and should be based on the Potsdam agreement of 1945.

Under that agreement, each occupying power in Germany was supreme in its own zone. This seemed to indicate the Russians would continue to oppose Western demands for outside supervision of future German elections.

Anniversary Of 'Incident' Quiet

TOKYO (AP)—Today is the 15th anniversary of the North China incident which touched off Japan's campaign in China. The anniversary passed almost unnoticed here.

No major newspaper mentioned it. On July 7, 1937, Japanese and Chinese troops clashed near the Marco Polo Bridge outside Peiping in the first battle of the Sino-Japanese War.

Building Returned To Japanese Today

Canoeing Couple Draws Red Fire

BERLIN (AP)—A West Berlin couple canoeing on Havel Lake accidentally crossed the Russian zone border yesterday and drew the gunfire of Eastern Communist police.

Progressives End Convention Mossadegh Swept Back In Office

CHICAGO (AP)—The Progressive party yesterday—its national convention wound up—and aimed to get on the November ballot in at least three-fourths of the states.

Vincent Halloran, 56, San Francisco lawyer now serving a contempt of court jail term, is the presidential candidate of the party that ran Henry A. Wallace for the office in 1948.

His running mate for the vice presidency is Mrs. Charlotte Bass, 62, New York Negro and former publisher of the California Eagle, Negro newspaper.

Wallace, who dropped out of the party after the start of the Korean War, polled 1,156,103 popular votes in 1948.

The left wing party is already on the ballot in New York, California, Montana, Connecticut, Missouri, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Michigan. Party officials say efforts are being made to meet signature requirements in other states.

The party's platform adopted Saturday calls for peace, a cease-fire in Korea, co-operation with Russia, disarmament and civil rights.

Measure Is Asked To Halt Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Benion (D-Conn) urged the Democrats today to write into their party platform a plank calling for the Senate to change its rules so civil rights—or any other—bills could not be talked to death by filibusters.

Good Neighbor Probe Is Asked

SAN ANTONIO, July 7 (AP)—The American G-I Forum ended its convention here yesterday with a demand that the State Legislature investigate the Texas Good Neighbor Commission.

The commission was called a "political sounding board."

The chairman of the commission, Neville Penrose of Fort Worth, "if these gentlemen (of the um word) that he agreed the commission should be abolished if an investigation finds it is serving no good purpose."

"And before the legislature meets," Penrose said in Fort Worth, "if these gentlemen (of the G-I Forum) know of anything wrong or any grievances of the commission's work, I'd like to have them."

"I might add that the commission has never received a complaint from these gentlemen," Penrose said.

Ed Idar of Austin was re-elected state chairman of the Forum. Mrs. Richard Pena of San Antonio was named vice president and Richard Castilas, secretary.

McGranery Plans New FBI Agency

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. McGranery said today he is considering the creation of a new Justice Department agency to help the FBI fight subversive activities.

McGranery said the new agency would make an intensive and continuing study of subversive activities and new methods of operation.

He said this is especially necessary now that the Communist party is attempting to function underground.

The attorney general emphasized the new division would not supercede or duplicate the FBI's efforts in seeking out subversives, but would rather supplement that work.

All beef cattle breeders, of all breeds will be interested in the two-day herdsman's short course which will precede the second annual West Texas Aberdeen-Angus Association's field day at Texas Tech, Lubbock, Friday.

Ray Mowery, head of Tech's Animal Husbandry Department, says the short course for all beef cattle herdsmen is being held primarily at the request of the Angus Association. Registration for it will start at 9 a. m. Wednesday in the Beef Cattle Pavilion on Tech's campus.

The program will begin with a talk on Angus by Tommy Brook of Camp San Saba. Most of the morning session will be devoted to other phases of Angus breeding. The first day's program will be concluded with a demonstration of clipping, foot trimming, washing and grooming practices by George C. Keith, Tech beef cattle herdsman. This demonstration will start at 1:15 p. m. Wednesday.

"Irrigated pastures for the herd" will be the opening subject of the Thursday program. Dr. F. G. Harbaugh, Tech veterinarian, will then talk on "The breeding herd from the veterinarian's standpoint" at 9:30 a. m., while "Making livestock entries for the State Fair of Texas" will be discussed by Dean W. L. Stangel of Tech's Agriculture Division and general livestock superintendent of the State Fair.

Dean Stangel's talk is scheduled for 10:30 a. m. He will also discuss the subject of setting up show exhibits.

At noon on Friday the field day activities will be interrupted for a barbecue.

The 225 Santa Gertrudis heifers and 25 bulls of the King Ranch, imprisoned for more than a month aboard their freight cars at San Pedro, California, are doing fine, according to word from Jim McBride, ranch foreman in charge of the shipment.

The cattle, consigned to the newly-acquired King Ranch property in Australia, and accompanied by three students from Texas A&M College, Kingsville, have been tied up by a West Coast seamen's strike.

McBride says the agricultural students are feeding and watering them regularly, and that in spite of some stories to the contrary the cattle are doing all right. The 13-car train is cleaned out every other day to meet sanitary specifications.

Brother Is Killed

As Soldier Waits

WESTERN FRONT, Korea (U.S. Cpl. Duane Gross, veteran U. S. 3rd Division infantryman, finished his tour of hazardous front line duty and prepared to go home.

He got permission to visit his brother Kenny, with the 45th Division.

They talked late of their home in Woodland, Pa. Suddenly came word to attack a jagged Chinese hill position.

"Let me go with you," said Duane, a veteran of such operations.

"Now," said Kenny. "Get some sleep. I'll be back in the morning."

A tremendous Red barrage pinned down Kenny's outfit.

Duane worried. He'd never seen such heavy Red artillery fire.

All night and into the morning medics brought back dead and wounded.

Duane watched and waited . . . and prayed with Chaplain Frank Pagnani, New York.

Finally, "Is that him?" asked a medic. "He was so mangled we couldn't identify him for sure."

"Yes," said Duane, and he walked quietly away.

She Says Ike Fashionably

CHICAGO (U)—There is no doubt about it, Francesa Lodge, wife of Gov. John Davis Lodge of Connecticut, wants "Eisenhower for President."

At the Republican National Convention she is a walking fashion plate in behalf of her favorite—from an "Ike" button trimming her pill-box style hat to her stockings embroidered in black at the ankle with the phrase "I like Ike."

Her costume is the popular peasant-style off-the-shoulder blouse and full circular skirt.

The blouse is white with the slogan "I like Ike" in large decorative blue letters. The skirt is blue and trimmed with the slogan in white.

DESIGNING WOMAN

Summer Plastic Drapes Come In Abstract Designs

By ELIZABETH HILLIER

Now's a fine time to find out how you'd like living with modern abstract design, now that winter draperies have been stored away.

Take the plunge inexpensively with summer plastic draperies — many patterns now are by ranking designers. Some of the most colorful and eye-catching, including the pattern sketched, are by Angelo Testa, whose name is particularly well known in the modern fabric design field. Use the plastic lavishly. A single narrow pair looks skimpy, but double widths, or a pair of ready-mades at each side of the window, have style. Here the Venetian blind, begins a handsome window design. It is installed on the outside of the window frame and hangs to the floor to make the window look wider and longer than it is. Draperies, capped by a cornice, hang on the wall — not over the window — so the blind can do its efficient best at admitting cool breezes while deflecting bright rays of the summer sun.

McKeldin Asked To Put Up Ike's Name

CHICAGO, July 7 (U)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland said today he had been asked to place Gen. Eisenhower's name in nomination for President at the Republican National Convention and "I'm going to."

McKeldin told reporters the invitation had been extended in a brief telephone call with the general.

Eisenhower's headquarters had put in a call for the Maryland governor as he was presiding over his own state delegation's first caucus. McKeldin called back as soon as the meeting ended.

GOPs Setting Dizzy Pace At Convention

By RELMAN MORIN CHICAGO (AP)—Torn with emotion, more than 12,000 Republicans thronged into Convention Hall today to begin the tortuous process of nominating a candidate for President.

But there is another side. And not even the professional politicians can see this side, nor gauge it with any accuracy, nor control it beyond a certain point. And it has them worried.

Call it crowd psychology. Before the Republicans begin voting on a candidate, they probably will be called on to vote on the rules of the convention, a resolution, an amendment, and possibly more than one.

A Bible Thought For Today—

No nation can be strong that is morally corrupt, dishonest, selfish, for even the economic strength rests on honesty, unselfishness, self sacrifice. "For the weapons of our warfare are not of the flesh, but mighty before God to the casting down of strongholds." — I Cor. 10:4.

Times Have Changed, And There Won't Be Front Porch Campaigns

Regardless of who is nominated by the respective major parties this year, neither nominee is apt to conduct a "front-porch" campaign. It will be a knockdown, drag-out affair from start to finish with no holds barred.

The "front-porch" campaign was invented by Mark A. Hanna, the guiding genius behind the McKinley campaign in 1896 and 1900. It was he who "levied" on big firms for contributions, and billed McKinley as the "advance agent of prosperity."

Hanna decreed that McKinley should stay at home in Canton, Ohio, to receive carefully selected delegations and address them in "front-porch" speeches. But these "informal" talks were not hit-or-miss; each had been carefully prepared to fit the occasion.

In 1896, while this system was working for McKinley, Wm. J. Bryan, the "Boy Orator of the Platte," was making the "walking ring" in all parts of the country. In 1900 McKinley stayed on his porch, but his running mate was the dynamic Theodore Roosevelt, who made 673 ripost-ing speeches in 24 states.

Harding in 1920 made a "front-porch" campaign modeled on the McKinley technique. His principal theme: "Stabilize America first, prosper America first, think of America first, exalt America first."

The Eisenhower started out to make a "front-porch" pre-convention campaign this year, but it didn't pan out. As the drive progressed, the general was pulled off his porch and into the thick of the fight. Both he and Taft have used the McKinley system of meeting with delegations, but usually they went to the delegation without waiting for the delegation to come to them.

Times have changed since McKinley and Harding, and no major-party candidate today could hope to get by with such an Ivory Tower approach to the voters. Communication is all but instantaneous, and issues have multiplied as the sands of the sea, and the voter is as skeptical as all git-out. Any candidate who pulls punches or sulks behind a screen of standoffishness would find himself out in the cold on election day.

Orations Can Stampede Balloting But Backstage Management Helps

Will General MacArthur talk himself into nomination as the Republican Party's presidential candidate at Chicago this week?

If so, it won't be the first time a man literally talked himself into the nomination of one of the biggest political upsets of all time.

William Jennings Bryan did it at the Democratic convention in Chicago in 1896. Bryan had told his wife before leaving Nebraska that he was going to win the nomination, but he was not even considered a real contender by anybody else.

He was not the convention keynoter, as General MacArthur will be. He made his oratorical ten-minute speech during debate on the platform. The convention was controlled by free-silver men who were as adamant as the Taftites have proved at the GOP convention this year, not disposed to give anybody a break.

Years later Bryan wrote: "I had spoken enough to know that, comparing myself to myself, I was more effective in my brief speech in conclusion than a longer speech that simply laid down propositions for another to answer."

The heart of his speech was: "You shall not press down upon the brow of labor this crown of thorns, you shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold." He later recorded the speech on wax, and it became a popular number on that new-fangled gadget, the phonograph.

On the first ballot Bryan trailed "Silver Dick" Bland by 116 votes. He gained the lead on the fourth ballot and was nominated on the fifth. The balloting did not take place on the day of the speech; if it had, many observers said Bryan would have won on the first ballot. Wrote William Allen White, who had attended the convention: "If the election had been held that July day, Bryan would have been President."

Orations have stampeded conventions before, and an oration may stampede both conventions this year. But usually it is skillful backstage management that decides the nominee.

Mac Gets Big Chance Tonight For Revenge On Ike And Harry

CHICAGO.—Today marks a vivid contrast between the Republican convention of 1948 and the Republican convention of 1952, as far as Gen. Douglas MacArthur is concerned.

At Philadelphia in 1948, MacArthur's headquarters were forlorn and deserted. Piles of literature lay on tables hopelessly, waiting for readers. No one came in to read. An occasional newsman wandered in to see how the Draft-Mac campaign was progressing, but that was about all.

In Tokyo, MacArthur had told Gen. Robert Eichelberger, his deputy, that he expected to be drafted by the Republicans, might need to make a sudden flight to Philadelphia, would need Eichelberger to stand by, ready to take over the job of supreme commander.

Roy Howard, Colonel McCormick, various newspaper bigwigs had visited Tokyo, told the General he was the indispensable man, the man to lead the nation. And the General believed.

But no draft developed, and a disappointed MacArthur, discovering that to be a political hero you have to be fired by a president, tonight will stage his comeback.

In a sense, also, it will be his revenge. That revenge will be aimed not so much at the Republicans who spurned him at Philadelphia four years ago, but at the man who once trained under him and has now eclipsed him politically, perhaps militarily.

deed if this generation was forced to look to the rigidity of military dominance and discipline to redeem it from the tragic failure of a civilian administration."

MacArthur has also phoned Governor Fife of Pennsylvania, one holder of the key to victory, urging him to throw Pennsylvania's delegates against Eisenhower.

So either MacArthur has forgotten the days of 1948 when another military man, himself, waited to be drafted, or else he figures that a military man might be all right for president if he were the "right type" of military man.

Americans have wondered why this bitter enmity between two of our top Army leaders. The answer is not difficult. It goes back to the rise of a young man who once took orders from an older man, but emerged as the most important commander of the war.

After the war, when Eisenhower was receiving a hero's welcome in New York, I first told the story of how MacArthur had fired Lt. Col. Dwight Eisenhower from the Philippines about a year before Pearl Harbor.

The story brought an official denial from Tokyo, but it was true. The reasons why MacArthur shipped Eisenhower home I do not know. Military friends say Ike had become popular with the Filipinos, was crowding Mac for the limelight.

But I do know that for many years prior to that the two men were reasonably close. Eisenhower occupied a desk in the outer office of the general staff when MacArthur was Chief of Staff and wrote Mac's famous farewell message to the Army, one of the most appealing documents ever issued by a Chief of Staff.

So when Eisenhower pulled the wise crack, "I studied dramatics under Mac for nine years," many military friends say that, from the point of view of time and affinity, he was telling the truth.

Unquestionably, Eisenhower's exit from the Philippines was the best break he ever got. Had he remained with MacArthur he would have been captured at Bataan, been just another military prisoner. But, returning home, he was immediately sent to the Louisiana maneuvers where Gen. Walter Krueger spotted him as one of the coming young officers of the Army, and where Gen. George Marshall started promoting him up the ladder in the fastest time a lieutenant colonel ever graduated to the rank of four-star general.

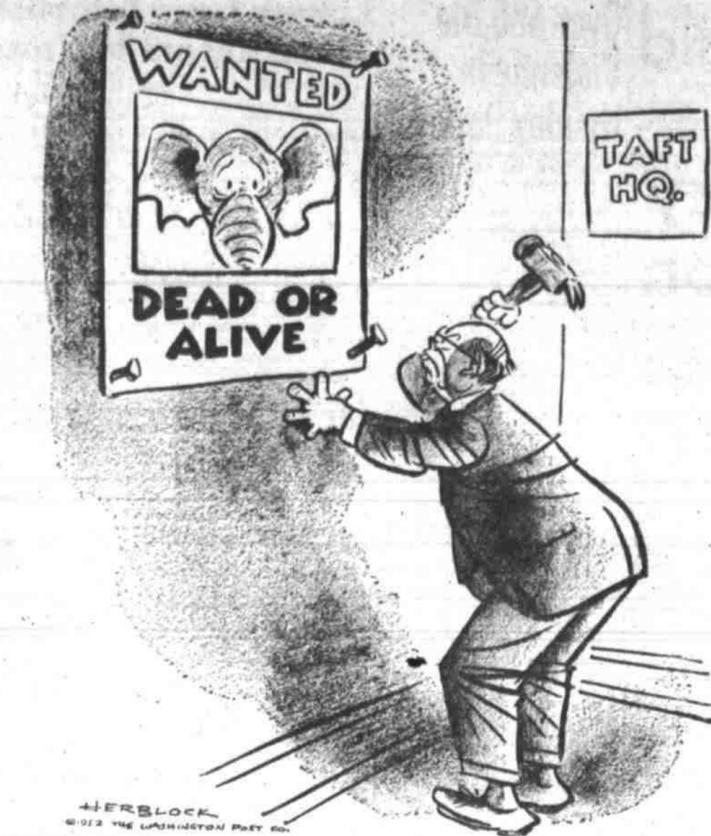

And while MacArthur was suffering defeat at Manila and battling on Iloilo, Eisenhower scored the victorious landing of North Africa. And while MacArthur fought laboriously up the Pacific, his former protégé was pushing brilliantly across to Sicily. Italy, then across the English channel in the greatest invasion of recent history.

Taft And Ike Both Wear Big Smiles, But Their Aides Are Not So Confident

WASHINGTON (AP)—Stripped of the noise, the Republican convention is cold politics. While Sen. Taft and Gen. Eisenhower have a stake in the outcome, so do a lot of the delegates.

Both sides have been making broad claims. At the convention's opening there was no wide feeling here that either man had the nomination in the bag, although insiders might know better.

Taft and Eisenhower both maintained broad smiles in public. But their aides, encountered in the hotel where both men have headquarters were not pictures of gaiety.

So far Taft, or Taft's supporters, have dominated the convention machinery through the national committee, where the Taft forces are in a majority. They were able to set up the opening details to suit themselves.

But dominating the national committee and the early convention process doesn't mean control over the final selection of the party candidate. Only the 1,206 delegates can do that. To win, a candidate needs 604 of them.

As day dawned on the convention opening, the Associated Press tabulation credited Taft with 534 of the necessary 604 delegates and Eisenhower with 425. Other candidates had 131. There were 116 uncommitted.

There have been no smoke-filled rooms where a little group of politicians sat around and picked the party candidate, as they did in 1920 when they chose Warren Harding to be the Republican candidate.

It may come to that, of course. If Eisenhower and Taft knock each other out by deadlocking the convention, but at least the Taft people are using the passing hours to try to win in a hurry. Some of his top aides were still meeting after 2 a. m. today.

Three months ago there was very little talk, if any, that the Republicans might lose the November election to the Democrats, whose administration has been riddled by scandals.

But in that time the Republicans, who have been out of power 20 years, have split among themselves with such bitterness that now they use the word corruption against one another.

The result is the sudden emergence of wide questioning whether, after what has already happened, they will ever be able to close their ranks and work together for a November victory.

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

Issued on this day in 1824 was the first deed to land in Stephen F. Austin's Texas colony.

Sylvanus Castleman received grant No. 1 from Commissioner Baron Felice de Bastrop for two sitios within Wharton County, one-half sitio in Fayette County and two labors in Austin County. On the same day John Andrews, James B. Bailey, James Cummings, Thomas Earle, Freeman George, Samuel Kennedy, Abner Kuykendall and Frederick H. Rankin received land titles.

The first deed for Texas land to a private citizen had been issued to a San Antonian in 1876 for property lying along the present Soledad Street. Nor was Castleman the first American to own land under Spanish and Mexican tenure; numerous land owners had preceded him by adopting Mexican citizenship and by serving in the Mexican revolutionary army.

Notable among the latter was Peter Ellis Bean, who came to Texas in 1801 with Philip Nolan's expedition. One of the nine survivors of the battle with Spanish troops in which Nolan lost his life, Bean was imprisoned in Mexico for a time. He was the only one of Nolan's followers known to have regained his liberty. He later built a home in Nacogdoches.

One of these early recipients of a land grant in the Austin colony, James Cummings, became the father of the first child of American parentage born in the colony, which psychiatrists think arises from childhood insecurity.

"The Indians make the world's best parents," one man said. "They neither pamper nor punish their children. They let them learn for themselves, and as a result an Indian boy is self-reliant at the age of 10."

If a child must be punished, he isn't whipped. One of his parents simply throws water on him—a great disgrace.

The Navajos are among the cleanest of primitive peoples and love to take sweat baths followed by a plunge into cold water. If water is scarce, they roll naked in snow or dry sand. Long before the virtues of chlorophyll were extolled over radio and television, these Indians had a way of removing body odors. They simply rubbed themselves under the arms with hot porous rocks provided by nature's free drugstore.

Although they are Spartan beyond belief, they are more doctored than the hypochondriacal matrons who dwell on Park Avenue in New York.

Some authorities estimate that about one out of every ten Navajo men is either a medicine man or studying to be one. One reason is that medicine men get high fees and their fees are always paid. The other reason is that Navajos, while fearless of death, are greatly afraid of illness. They are also afraid of dead people, and will abandon their home if a member of the family dies in it.

Another Cure For The Country: Development Of Better Poetry

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note.

A poet who describes great poetry as that which "moves the reader inwardly and affects him physically" says the level of culture is lower than ever before today.

He is Selden Rodman, a man Eastern critics say has "unquestioned integrity" but with whom "disagreement can be frequent."

"The whole trend of civilization," says Rodman, "is in the direction of bad taste and the mechanization of values. While more people numerically are reading poetry, actually only the intellectual elite are keeping poetry alive."

Rodman pointed out that a best-selling book of poetry published recently did not contain the work of a single popular favorite.

"Lots of people have been riding on their reputations in poetry too long," says he.

Of great poetry, Rodman went on to say: "There's a quality of verbal magic which you recognize instantly just the same as you recognize it in a great painting or sculpture." He declared such work had nothing to do with the time or the era in which it was created.

Rodman expressed the opinion that Walt Whitman was the greatest of American poets, with Ralph Waldo Emerson, Robert Frost, Emily Dickinson and T. S. Eliot as close runners-up.

The English, as I understand it, have even less respect for American literature and American poetry than does Rodman. I've known Englishmen who stoutly insist the works of "all people in the Colonies save Edgar Allen Poe is rubbish."

The last time I heard, very few poets were eating, that is, unless they were writing limelight or radio singing commercials on the side.

Rodman sees a hopeful side, however. "It's high time," says he, "that the old guard recognize the time is coming when an artist can make a living while he lives."

Gallup Poll

GOP Must Accept Some Of Demo Policies To Achieve Victory

PRINCETON, N. J. —Few subjects have been so fiercely debated in Republican circles as "me-too-ism."

Even within the ranks of the Republican party, only one person in four (27 per cent) thinks the Roosevelt-Truman policies were almost all bad.

Six out of ten find at least some good along with the bad.

This evidence is based on careful questioning of a cross-section of voters from Maine to California in which each person was asked to choose one of three alternatives, as follows:

"Which type of presidential candidate would you favor?"

"One who claims that some of the Roosevelt New Deal and Truman Fair Deal policies have been GOOD for the country and some have been BAD."

"One who claims that almost all of the Roosevelt New Deal and Truman Fair Deal policies have been GOOD for the country?"

"One who claims that almost all of the Roosevelt New Deal and Truman Fair Deal policies have been BAD for the country?"

Here is the national vote:

Some good, some bad	62%
Almost all good	20
Almost all bad	13
No opinion	5
	100%

What makes this survey particularly significant in the light of the 1952 campaign is the analysis of the vote by Republicans,

Crowded Rooms Seem Nonsense, With Plenty Of Room Outdoors

CHICAGO.—Most of the buildings in this town are tremendous. Some taller than trees and almost everyone at least two stories tall. In the lobby of one of the biggest, a towering three story structure of red brick, with a grocery store and billiard parlor on the ground floor, there is a mouse who works days as an assistant to the House Detective. He has been in this convention city for a good many years and knows every trap in town. His name is Hugo. He won't tell his last name, says it only makes people laugh, and we can't have any of that during these conventions which, as everybody knows, are very serious.

Hugo has nice quarters in a linen closet and it was there that he told about the conventions. He says the conventions have been going on for some time, since 1812 in one case and since 1832 in others. It's his opinion that these things are contagious. One only leads to another he claims and they are absolutely incurable. Human types will probably be afflicted with them for generations.

It is really pitiful, says Hugo, to see how these two-legged critters suffer in these periods. They carry it brave, though, he points out, even if they do use a lot of pain-

Walking Contests In Olympics

Some persons have declared that walking is on the way to becoming "a lost art." They explain that modern humans are falling into the custom of riding everywhere. Some of them get into automobiles when they carry out errands to points only a few hundred yards distant!

It is quite true that the average person of today does less walking than in past times, but I believe that people will be able to walk a thousand years from today, also a million years in the future.

Certain persons have trained themselves to walk as rapidly as possible. They even take part in walking races.

Experts in this field have developed the "heel-and-toe method." This is described as "a long stride, landing on the heel, swinging forward, to put the weight quickly on the toe, which acts as the takeoff spot for the next strike."

Most of us can walk a mile in from 12 to 15 minutes. An expert can cover that distance in seven minutes or less. Twenty years ago Michael Pecora walked a mile on an indoor track in six minutes, 25 and one fifth seconds.

A California man, A. L. Monteverde, ranks among the great walkers of the present century. At the age of 60 he walked from New York City to San Francisco in 78 days, 10 hours and 10 minutes. The distance covered was 3,415 miles, which means that he averaged about 43 miles a day.

Walking contests have been among the features of the Olympic games for 46 years. British walkers have done the best work, but Ugo Frigerio of Italy was first on three occasions.

A 10-mile walk was won by G. E. Larner of Great Britain, with a time just under one hour and 16 minutes. Another british walker—H. Whitlock—covered 50,000 meters (about 31 miles) in four and a half hours. Whitlock walked at the rate of just about seven miles an hour, which was excellent for such a distance.

G. H. Goulding, representing Canada, covered 10,000 meters (A little more than six miles) in 46 minutes, 28 and two fifths seconds. That was done at the Olympic contests 40 years ago.

Facilities For Storage Easily Arranged Here

Anything from blankets to sweaters can be stored easily—and cheaply, too—for the summer by Gregg Street Cleaners, 1700 Gregg Street. The establishment is in the midst of a remodeling and enlarging program which better equips them to care for your woolen and winter clothing.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rutherford, owners, added a new room to their establishment and converted it into a storage room. The Gregg Street Cleaners now is fully equipped to store anything except furs.

All articles are cleaned before being stored and each customer's articles are placed in bags—either plastic or O-Cedar mothproof bags.

Plastic bags are held in three sizes to fit the customers' needs. Blankets, quilts and bedspreads are among the many items stored.

Additional racks can be added to the room, which will be completely air conditioned, with little trouble to handle a greater amount of garments.

All garment-cleaning solutions used during the summer contain Fumol—a mothproofing agent guaranteed to last 90 days. All garments are put through the solution, whether they are to be stored or not.

Thus, your garments are doubly guarded by storing at Gregg Street Cleaners.

The Cleaners also gives after-the-storage service. Garments to be called for after storage will be carefully inspected, aired and readied for the customers in two days.

Then, the cloths will be delivered to you as another service of Gregg Street Cleaners.

Garden Atmosphere

Acquiring your blossoms from Estah's Florist is just like picking them out of your garden. At the 1701 Scurry shop, you will find that special atmosphere that makes your flower gifts peculiarly personalized.

Harley-Davidson 'K' Is Completely New

Something new in motorcycleing is being experienced by owners of the new Harley-Davidson Model "K", now available at the Thixton Motorcycle Service, 908 W. 3rd Street.

Said new "from tire-top to tail light," the K-Models incorporate a number of features not found on earlier motorcycle models. For instance, it has a new "swing arm" rear suspension, hydraulically controlled, with coil springs and automotive-type shock absorbers. The machine boasts a foot shift and hand clutch, which manufacturer says makes for easier, smoother gear changes. Another new feature is the one-piece engine and four-speed transmission.

The Model K engine has the same 45-cubic inch displacement that made its predecessor, the Harley-Davidson "45", so popular with motorcycleists. New design of the entire motorcycle is said to assure better handling and smoother riding.

The new model is but one of the Harley-Davidson motorcycles on display and available at the Thixton showrooms.

Especially recommended for the young rider is the "125" model, a well-balanced lightweight motorcycle which combines safety with economical operation. Big wheels of the 125 make it exceptionally easy to handle and contribute to the over-all "balance" of the bike, Thixton says.

The light machine has the famous Harley-Davidson "Tele-Glide" front fork which eliminates bumps from roads, a three-speed transmission, and positive-action two-wheel brakes.

Also available at Thixton's is the famous Whizzer motorbike as well as larger 1-D models. Complete motorcycle and bicycle service, riding accessories, and lawn mower repair service is offered.

The loans, which may be secured for as long as 36 months, may be had for complete new plumbing installations or for remodeling existing kitchen and bathroom water and sewer systems. In some instances, no down payments are required.

Service More Than Word For Harland

Because of the water shortage, Grady Harland, owner and operator of the Magnolia Service station at 109 Lamesa Highway, cannot give the complete automotive service he'd like to give.

The car washing equipment is there and will be returned to use, however, when the water shortage ends.

Meanwhile, Harland and his employees keep the station open from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily to offer the best in grease jobs, oil-changing and other types of service that have long made it one of the most popular types of businesses in the area.

Harland announced Saturday, too, that he had on hand a limited supply of white sidewall tires and would sell them on a first-come, first-serve basis.

The tires, of course, are a part of the Mobil-tires carried by the concern and are handled, along with other automobile accessories, including batteries, tubes, etc.

Each tire sold by the Harland station bears with it the famous guarantee, backed by the manufacturers themselves.

Motorists experiencing car trouble anywhere within the area have but to call the Harland telephone number, 9787, for immediate service. Personnel is equipped to change tires or bring fuel to any spot.

Costa's 12th Inning Homer Gives Broncs 4-3 Victory

Baez Achieves Ninth Verdict

Bert Baez and Al Costa teamed up to supply the Big Spring Broncs with a dramatic 4-3 12th inning triumph over the Sweetwater Braves here Sunday afternoon.

Baez notched his ninth win of the season as he went all the way on the slab for the Steeds. The two teams might have been playing yet, however, had not Costa letted a pitch over the left field wall with one out in the third extra round.

It was Costa's second four-matter of the season and it couldn't have come at a more opportune time, since the locals had blown numberless scoring opportunities in the earlier rounds.

Baez gave up but five blows, walked four and struck out as many.

He pitched hitless ball until the sixth. The visitors gauged up on him for their three runs in the seventh, getting the tallies with the aid of two base hits, a sacrifice, a walk and a long fly.

The Sweetwater surge tied the count after the Broncs had counted once in the third on two misplays and twice in the fourth with three base blows and an Annie Oakley. Al Valdes and Buddy Grimes drove in the fourth inning tallies.

Joe Martinez, making his first mound start for Sweetwater, shut the door in the face of the Steeds after that, however, although he was in hot water almost every time the Cayuses came to bat.

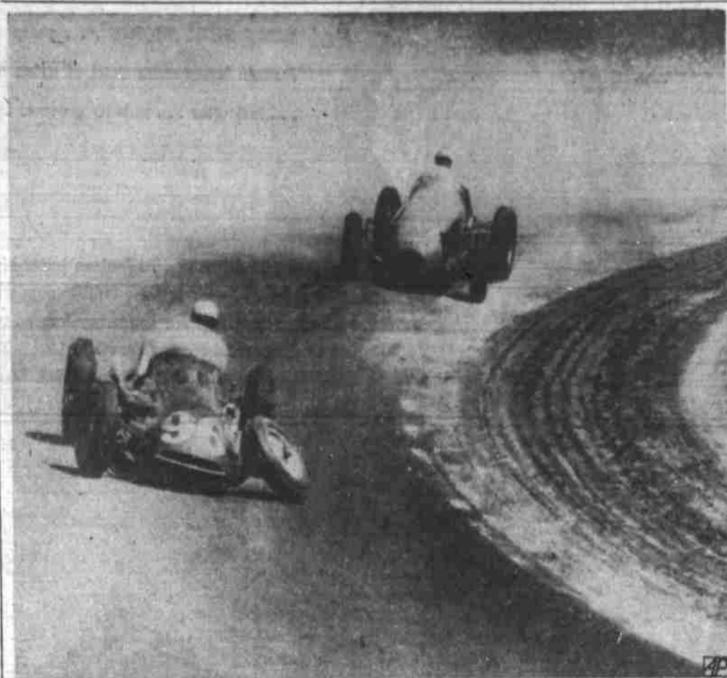

In the eighth, the Broncs loaded the sacks with only one out but Martinez forced Buddy Grimes to hit into a double play, starting the double killing himself.

The resident aggregation loaded the cushions again in the ninth but Costa was nipped in a bold try at stealing home.

DIAMOND DUST—Each team wound up playing two pitchers in the outfield. The victory was the second in a row for Big Spring over Sweetwater and was the Broncs' seventh in ten starts against the Braves. It served to slice Odessa's league lead to three games, since the Oilers did not play.

For the figure filberts, it was Big Spring's 48th win in six seasons of Longhorn League play.

Bert Baez himself was the headliner of the game, with three singles in five trips. A sparse crowd was on hand. Apparently, the fans stayed away in droves because of the heat.

Bill Veeck Campaigning For Bonus Rule Return

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Baseball's controversial bonus system was being batted around by major league moguls today while rival all-star managers checked their hospital lists before announcing lineups for tomorrow's dream game at Shibe Park.

Bill Veeck, live-wire owner of the rejuvenated St. Louis Browns, led a faction seeking to restore the bonus rule, which he claims will help the "weaker" clubs in both leagues.

Veeck's group, probably including the Philadelphia Athletics, Washington Senators, Pittsburgh Pirates and Cincinnati Reds, would reinstate the rule providing that any player signing a bonus contract for more than $50,000 can be optioned for one year only and then must either be recalled by the parent club or made subject for waivers.

When the National and American League executives gather in joint session at their annual mid-summer meeting today, Veeck is expected to request investigation of bonus game as a whole. Veeck claims the wide-open bonus business is making the richer clubs richer and killing off opportunity for the so-called poorer clubs to bid for young talent.

While club owners wrestled with their business problems, Casey Stengel, manager of the American League All-Stars, sought to unknut a few of his own. The junior circuit had been counting on its pitching ace to tie the big bats of the favored National Leaguers in tomorrow's 19th annual all-star game. But unless there are last minute recoveries, it looks like Stengel will have to go without little Bobby Shantz of the Philadelphia Athletics and Allie Reynolds of his own Yankees.

Shantz had to leave the mound at the start of the fifth inning of yesterday's first game with the Ranks because of a muscular pain in his chest. It is not known whether the 14-game winner will be available for action tomorrow.

As for Reynolds, he has a badly sprained wrist. Stengel also will be without George Kell, star third baseman, and probably Dom DiMaggio, brilliant outfielder, both of the Boston Red Sox. Kell is nursing a groin injury and DiMaggio a leg injury.

Here's how Casey has filled in:

1. Named Gil McDougald of the Yankees to sub for Kell.
2. Indicated he'll replace DiMaggio with Mickey Mantle of the Yankees if the Boston ace can't play.
3. Named Jim Turner of the Yankees as batting practice pitcher to replace Ted Lyons of Detroit.

Leo Durocher, manager of the 7 to 5 favored National Leaguers, also was forced to make a switch. Elwin (Preacher) Roe of the Brooklyn Dodgers asked to be excused to visit his seriously ill father in Arkansas. Durocher acquiesced and immediately named Jim Hearn of his own Giants to replace Roe.

It was anybody's guess on who the starting pitchers would be. Early guesses were Bob Lemon Cleveland Indians' star right hander, for the American League, and Curt Simmons (7-2), young fireballing southpaw of the Philadelphia Phillies, for the Nationals.

United States Swim Team To Fare Well In Olympics

By MURRAY ROSE
NEW YORK (AP)—"The best squad we ever had and we'll do better than all right. We won't make any sweep of all events like we did four years ago but I won't concede a single event to anyone."

That's the way 67-year-old Matt Mann, coach of the U. S. men's Olympic swimming team sized up Uncle Sam's prospects for the swimming and diving part of the Helsinki games.

Mann believes we can take both the three-meter springboard and 10-meter platform dives, the 100-meter freestyle, the 100-meter backstroke and the 800-meter relay. He feels we have a strong chance in the 400 and 1500-meter freestyle races against the powerful Japanese and Australian threat, and a fighting chance in the 200-meter breaststroke.

"Remember we won everything in London in '48 when the Japanese and Germans weren't competing," he said. "In addition we'll have terrific opposition in the freestyle races from John Marshall of Australia and in the breaststroke from John Davies of Australia."

Mann knows plenty about both, especially about Davies. He coached the youngster at Michigan, Marshall, as you know, swam for Yale when he broke records practically every time he dipped into a pool.

But the white-haired veteran of nearly 50 years of coaching was even happy about the showing of the team in the three-day tryouts at Flushing Meadows which decided the makeup of the 25-man U. S. squad. He was particularly jubilant over the sparkling performance

Squad Of Olympic Athletes To Get Big Sendoff Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The United States Olympic team—some 340 athletes—begins its trek to Helsinki today.

The first group, comprising mostly officials along with the soccer and basketball teams, leaves by plane at 3 p. m. for the big games, scheduled to run from July 19 to Aug. 4.

Two more plane loads, including the top track squad that's expected to clean up in Europe, is scheduled to leave tonight, while another group will leave Wednesday and a third batch Thursday.

The water polo and swimming teams, the last selected—on the swimming tryouts ended only yesterday—will be the last to go.

The perennial problem of money apparently has been solved to the satisfaction of all concerned and there is no chance of any of the athletes being left behind or any teams being trimmed because of financial difficulties.

Actually the $85,000 required is not in the bank yet. There's about $700,000 in the coffers, but some of the guarantees from the Olympic tryouts in California and the swimming trials in New York have not been received.

The entire squad will be given a typical New York sendoff today with a ticker-tape parade up lower Broadway and a City Hall reception.

Coahoma Plays Sun Oil Nine

COAHOMA—The Coahoma Bulldogs, who are setting the pace in Colorado City Jaycee Softball League standings, play two games this week.

The Bulldogs took the field against Sun Oil tonight and Lorraine on Thursday.

Despite a hsa suffered at the hands of Col-Tex Saturday night, the Bulldogs still pace the league with a mark of 15 wins and 3 losses. Col-Tex has now won 13 and lost 4.

First half play ends Thursday night, with Shaughnessy playoffs due to begin next Monday. Two finalists in the playoffs tangle in a five-game series beginning July 21.

Eagles Retain 4-Game Edge; Nudge Tribe

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Staff Writer

Good pitching, of which the Texas League has plenty, is essential in winning ball games. But there never will be anything quite so effective and of less effort than the home run.

Sunday night was a good example. Three of five games were decided by the simple process of propelling the horseshoe over the fence. Four-ply smashes figured strongly in another one.

Leading Dallas had to use the circuit clout to maintain its four-game margin. Joe Macko, the gifted Eagle first baseman, cleared the palings in the seventh inning with three mates on base and Dallas beat Oklahoma City, 8-5.

It gave Dave Hoskins his 13th pitching victory. The Indians pounded Dave for 14 hits and heroic measures were necessary to pull that one out for him.

Second-place Beaumont edged Shreveport, 7-6, as Jim Greenglass went wild with the mace, driving in four runs with a homer, triple and single. Joe Koppe had two homers for Shreveport to keep the Sports in the ball game down to the last inning when Ford Garrison singled in the winning tally.

Home runs were the difference in each game as Fort Worth and Tulsa split a double-header. Fort Worth won the opener, 4-3, with Wayne Belardi's circuler with two on providing the winning margin. Tulsa won the nightcap, 4-2, on Earl York's two-run homer in the third.

The only game in which homers failed to figure was San Antonio's 4-1 victory over hapless Houston. It pushed San Antonio into the first division—in a tie with Shreveport for fourth place. It was Houston's 14th loss in 15 games. Bud Black held the Buifs to five hits while the Missions were clotting 10.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

The financial plight of the Vernon baseball club isn't improved by the fact that the Dusters are having to pay two managers, Pat McLaughlin and Chet Fowler.

The can was tied to Fgwiler recently but his contract called for a full season's pay. The Duster officials made an offer to Fowler to pull out but Chet knew how the small type in his contract read and stood his ground.

The Dusters opened the season with slightly more than $15,000 in the kitty but have been losing money steadily.

The biggest umpire in the business, Bill Chapman of the Big State League staff, had to quit the job on doctor's orders and is now working for A. C. Gonzales as business manager of the Decatur, Ill. club. Chapman weighs over 400 pounds and was quite a gate attraction.

OLDSTERS DO WELL IN NATIONAL PASTIME

Baseball is supposed to be a young man's game but the oldsters do quite well at it.

They say Satchel Paige will never see 45 again and Connie Marrero of Washington is supposed to be older than Satch.

And Earl Caldwell, who is the Gulf Coast League's top hurler, is as old as the hills.

The Longhorn League has its greybeards, too. Juan Guerrero, who toils on the mound for Odessa, is no spring chicken.

SHANTZ IS AILING

All-Star Hurlers Have Rough Time

By RALPH RODEN
AP Sports Writer

It looks like the pitchers are in for a tough time in the major leagues' 19th all-star game at Philadelphia tomorrow.

Five of the 12 pitchers on the dream squads saw action yesterday in the final tuneup for the mid-summer classic and all were beaten.

The sluggers, on the other hand, came through with flying colors.

The American League suffered the biggest blow when Bobby Shantz, the scale model left-hander of the Philadelphia Athletics, was forced to wear a muscle pain across his chest in the first game of a doubleheader against the pace-setting New York Yankees.

Shantz, the major top winner with 14, was counted on to start against the National but it appears now that Cleveland's Bob Lemon may draw the assignment.

Bengals Halve Double Bill With Lamesa

LAMESA—The Big Spring Tigers split a twin bill with the Lamesa Blue Sox, coming back to win the afterpieces, 13-3, after the home club had copped the opener, 3-1.

Bob Van Kirk limited the Sox to a single hit in the opening 9 but two errors betrayed him in the seventh frame.

The Big Springers collected three hits, two of them by Howard Jones, who played third base. Jones scored the lone Big Spring run in the second inning in that one.

The Tigers got only seven hits in the nightcap but broke the barrier with a six-run first round and continued to pile up the runs.

Jimmy Smith started on the mound for Big Spring while Jones came on in relief in the seventh.

lineup changes in the second game sent Sanchez to center. Jazo behind the plate and Smith to the mound.

First game:
BIG SPRING 610 000 0-1-3
LAMESA 000 021 0-3-4
Van Kirk and Hooper; Nicho and Panfilo.

Second game:
BIG SPRING 601 2200-13-7

Local Golfers Win But Lose In Test

Big Spring's golfers blasted Sweetwater 34 1/2-19 1/2 in matches here Sunday in a Triangle League match but lost because of attendance points.

Sweetwater received 36 points for attendance and therefore won the match by a 55 1/2-34 1/2.

Next match for the local linksmen will be against Snyder at Snyder August 17.

Miller's HIGH LIFE

The storied third-base St. Louis Cardinals ran their winning streak to nine games by sweeping a pair of games from Pittsburgh, 6-5 and 6-4, and the fourth-place Chicago Cubs took two from Cincinnati, 5-1 and 2-0.

Satchel Paige, expected to work in relief against the Nationals if the situation arises, was the loser in Detroit. The Tigers hopped on the St. Louis star for four runs in the seventh inning to give Hal Newhouser his third victory. Jerry Priddy doubled home two runs but he suffered a broken right leg sliding home with the fourth and will be lost for the rest of the season. The triumph was the second straight for Detroit since Fred Hutchinson was named manager Saturday, replacing Red Rolfe.

The Dodgers blasted Warren Spahn, one of the National's six pitchers, for five runs in four innings. Gil Hodges, the National's all-star first baseman, sewed up Brooklyn's 13th victory over Boston with a three-run homer in the eighth.

DESPITE REPUBLICAN SNARL

-State Candidates Still Plug Away For Voters' Attention

By The Associated Press
 Snarling, angry Republicans engaged in bitter family row—held the attention of Texas voters Sunday. But candidates for state offices plugged right along in their races for votes.
 The GOP snarl, of course, was mostly in Chicago, but every word was heard in Texas as the hotly split Texas segment of the party continued its bitter fight over the state's 38 convention votes.
 Nothing was decided finally. The outcome hinged on the Credentials Committee to which supporters of General Eisenhower said they would appeal.

 Some observer in Texas said the GOP at Chicago "was busily engaged in electing another Democratic President."
 But Allan Shivers, Lindley Beckworth, Price Daniel, Ralph Yarborough and dozens of other Texas politicians had another election to occupy their minds at present.
 They looked to the first Texas Democratic Primary, July 26.
 And if there was any slow-down in the Texas vote quest, nobody could tell it when Senate Candidates Daniel and Beckworth hit town. Or when E. H. Napier or Yarborough or Shivers started talking.

Shivers, with an 18-city tour that would take him across Texas in the next few days, was one of the state's busiest men. Yarborough, his opponent for re-election to the governorship, plugged away with charges that corruption in Austin was as great as in Washington. He called for a change from what he called "playboy" governorship. Daniel and his hard-working opponent, Beckworth, were running a race apparently bent on seeing who could shake the most hands. The attorney general was due to wind up the day at Lubbock's South Plains Rally after visits to Plainview, Tulla and Canyon earlier Monday.

Beckworth scheduled speeches in 16 towns of East Texas Monday—many in the territory where might be expected to poll his best vote. Beginning at 7:30 Monday morning, he was to visit Pittsburg, Gilmer, Longview, Kilgore, Henderson, Overton, Arp, Troup, Tyler, Mineola, Grand Saline, Canton, Willis Point, Terrell, Furney and Mesquite.
 Shivers' eleventh-hour campaign swing through Texas was to take him to Texarkana, Tyler, Paris, Temple, Waco, Hillsboro, Mexia, Lubbock, Brownfield, Amarillo, San Angelo, Odessa, Midland and San Antonio within the next few days.

 Meanwhile, not all the Republican noise was in Chicago. Some remained in Texas just to keep things popping, it seemed.
 Officials of the Young Republicans of Texas reportedly gave their stamp of approval to the GOP National Committee's awarding 22 Texas votes to Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) and 16 to General Eisenhower.

There were reports Sunday night that the Young GOP officials sent telegrams to GOP bigwigs in Chicago, including the senator. L. of the Texas Young GOP, released news of the telegram of approval Crosson Tyler, first vice-chairman Sunday night.
 But Nueces County Young Republicans quickly said they were not approving the telegram, the action it approved, or Senator Taft. W. Reinhart Miller, Nueces Young GOP president, said "we're all behind Eisenhower." And he said the announcement of Young Republicans favoring Taft was "faked."

In Houston, millionaire Hugh Roy Cullen announced he was for General Eisenhower for the GOP Presidential nomination. Said the wealthy oilman:
 "A year ago I wrote a joint letter to Sen. Taft, Gen. MacArthur and Gen. Eisenhower, all my friends. I said I was going to support the one who showed the most strength as a candidate for President before the Republican National Convention."
 "I am now ready to state my choice. Gen. MacArthur eliminated himself by declaring he was not a candidate and by actively supporting Sen. Taft."
 "Sen. Taft's failure to condemn the robbery of delegate votes by his henchmen in Texas and other Southern States, and his attitude of aiding and abetting this rawest political deal I have ever witnessed, convinced me that he is not the right kind of man to be the President of our country."

Cullen, who has given away millions and who has donated generously to previous Republican campaigns, was a staunch supporter of Jack Porter, when the Eisenhower leader was a candidate for U. S. Senator.
 He said the Republicans must get the votes of a "few million Democrats" in order to win the Presidential election.
 "Gen. Eisenhower can get these votes," Cullen said. "Taft cannot get them."

Son Of Governor May Have Polio
 CHICAGO (U)—New Jersey Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll's son Peter, 14, was rushed to a hospital last night and his parents fear he may have polio.
 The Driscoll family came to Chicago for the Republican National Convention after visiting Houston, where the annual Governors Conference was held. Polio has reached the epidemic stage in Texas.
 The governor dropped all convention business and joined his wife in a watch over their son.

General Promoted
 TOKYO (U)—Otto P. Weyland, commander of the Far East Air Forces, officially became a full general today when Gen. Mark W. Clark pinned his own four stars on Weyland's collar.

Candidates' Wives Working Hard, Too

By RUTH COWAN
 CHICAGO (U)—Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Mrs. Robert A. Taft are working harder than they ever have in their lives in the bitter battle between their husbands for the Republican presidential nomination.
 Each is going through the ordeal of greeting thousands and thousands of delegates, alternates and well-wishers — and hoping that by a handclasp, a smile, a word, she is winning supporters from the opponent's camp.
 And to Mrs. Taft it is indeed an ordeal, for she suffered a paralytic stroke two years ago.
 In years past she campaigned from the speaker's platform for her husband in two of his three successful races for the Senate and in two of his unsuccessful bids for the Republican Presidential nomination.
 Now she has to campaign from a wheel chair.
 But fortunately her right hand—her hand-shaking hand — is unaffected and her large brown eyes have their old-time sparkle.
 "Martha Taft is a woman of great courage," commented Rep. Frances Bolton of Ohio as she watched Mrs. Taft receive long lines of guests at a big reception last night. Her husband stood beside her.
 "She was determined to come to the convention — determined to come to the reception," said Mrs. Darrah Wunder of Cincinnati, longtime friend of the Tafts and now Mrs. Taft's constant companion.
 And for that reception, her first participation in this campaign, Mrs. Taft, woman-like, wanted a new dress — something gay.
 Mrs. Wunder went shopping before they left Washington and found a flame-colored chiffon for her, a shade especially becoming to a brunette.
 At another hotel a few blocks away, Mrs. Eisenhower, also beside her husband, went through a mammoth-handshaking event.
 Mamie Eisenhower enjoyed it — even though her right hand got a bit red and she confessed laughingly that her feet got tired.
 She had the fun of hearing a song written especially for her by Jimmy Dodd of Los Angeles and entitled "Mamie." It was sung for the glee club from Purdue University in Lafayette, Ind.
 Then someone gave Gen. Eisenhower a copy and urged him to sing too. He put on his glasses and, turning toward his wife, sang with the glee club and spectators: "Mamie, what a wonderful name is Mamie."
 "In her heart burns a flame for the man that she loves, and her family, too."

Rhee Signs Bill Calling Election

PUSAN, Korea (U)—South Korean President Syngman Rhee today signed a bill calling for popular election of this country's President.
 The compromise measure was approved last week during a presidential crackdown on the National Assembly. It also provides for a two-house Legislature which will have power to throw out the Cabinet.
 Rhee said the election would be as "soon as possible." Rhee has said he did not wish to run but his re-election was considered a foregone conclusion since he is the only public figure known to many of this country's millions.
 The President and new upper house members will be elected in the new election. The regular assemblymen have about two years remaining of their terms. Formerly the Assembly elected the President.

Crowns Go Back On Public Display

NEW YORK (U)—Two gem-encrusted crowns stolen from a Brooklyn Roman Catholic shrine last May and mysteriously mailed back eight days later are on display again under special safeguards.
 The crowns, worth an estimated $100,000, were restored yesterday to their proper place in the Regina Pacis Votive Shrine of St. Rosalia Church.
 Mgr. Angelo R. Claff said new protection measures include shatterproof glass, an improved burglar alarm and a night watchman.
