

LIONS CLUB ELECT NEW OFFICERS FOR YEAR

First Week In June To Be Cotton Week In South

Market Necessary For Finished Product as Well as Raw Cotton

Wear Cotton Week is the latest "Week" to be added to the calendar. During that time the use of cotton products, of every type will also be stressed. The motive of the "week" is to move the great surplus of cotton now on hand in the warehouses everywhere and open up a market for the fall crop. In this way and not until then can the farmer expect to get anything like a fair price.

To what extent Santa Anna citizens will observe the occasion remains to be seen, but the mayor, in line with the good movement, has made a proclamation and it is hoped that everyone will fall in with the program and wear the light-weight, cooler cotton clothing, not only to observe the week, but to get the habit and aid the South.

IN MEMORIAM Mrs. W. F. Holland

Santa Anna lost an esteemed citizen, when on last Thursday, May 21 at noon, the immortal spirit of Mrs. W. F. Holland was released from its frail "tenement of clay" and took its flight to the eternal realms.

The funeral was held the day following at 2:30 in the Baptist church of which she was a consistent member, her pastor, the Rev. Hal C. Wingo, speaking words of consolation and hope.

Her maiden name was Cora Pauline Parrott, daughter of the Reverend J. C. Parrott of Georgia. Being a daughter of the "manse" or the parsonage, she was trained in the higher principles of life and possessed to a remarkable degree many virtues and christian graces. She was married to Dr. W. F. Holland on December 27, 1900. To this most happy union were born two sons Temple and Duane who survive. Her devoted husband preceded her in death more than four years. The family moved to Santa Anna about 1908, where they made a host of friends.

Mrs. Holland was a very devoted wife and mother and a great lover of home and was active in the work of her church as long as her health permitted. As a friend and neighbor she was most thoughtful and gracious. Those who knew her best loved her most. She was always patient and cheerful during the long years of her suffering, an example worthy our emulation. That she was a lover of the beautiful was evidenced by her well kept place and many lovely flowers, and it was noticeable that as she lay entangled in the alabaster arms of Death, the sweet scent of roses and annuals she had carefully nurtured, was borne in on the breezes to mingle with the fragrance of the many floral offerings of her friends.

In this world of change, our friends and loved ones are rapidly passing "over the River," and we are left behind to long for the touch of a vanished hand and the sound of the voice that is stilled. The knowledge that all is well, "In that land beyond the blue," sustains us in the hour of sorrow.

"They're gathering homeward from every land, One by one, one by one; Their feet are now pressing the shining strand, Yes, one by one,

Their labor stained garments are all laid down, Their brows are adorned with a living crown,

And clothed in white raiment, they rest on the shore, Of the river of life forevermore We are hastening homeward to join the band, One by one, one by one.

Who have entered their rest in the bitter land, Yes, one by one.

With angels we'll sweep thro' the pearly gates,

Of the city where Christ, the forerunner waits, And join with millions around the white throne, In hymning the praise of the Holy One,

Mrs. A. L. Oder

Mayor Baxter Broadcasts Over Radio Station K. F. P. L.

SANTA ANNA THE BEAUTIFUL IS TOPIC OF ADDRESS

Santa Anna was featured on the air Sunday afternoon at station KFPL at Dublin, between 2:30 and 3:30 o'clock. A program of song was furnished by the Lions Club quartette and an address was made by our Mayor, for the benefit of those who missed this treat we are printing Mr. Baxter's talk.

The little city of Santa Anna, composed of about two thousand and inhabitants is situated at the very foot of the beautiful Santa Anna mountains, in the heart of Texas and in one of the richest and best farming and stock raising sections of the state. Its trade territory composed of farms and ranches, covers an area about twenty miles wide and about forty miles long, extending from the Jim Ned creek on the north to the Colorado river on the south.

Ordinarily on normal years there are marketed at Santa Anna about twenty to twenty five thousand bales of cotton which is one half or more of the entire yield of Coleman county. Diversified farming is fast becoming prominent however, and now dairying and poultry raising are being carried on to a considerable extent and these industries are increasing rapidly. We have two large custom hatcheries and they have been running at full capacity during this spring season; this business has steadily increased in recent years until now we ship from Santa Anna each year approximately 330,000 pounds of poultry and 700,000 pounds of turkeys 250,000 dozen eggs, more than 20,000 pounds of butter and 27,000 pounds of hides, which represent a value in money amounting to approximately $250,000.00.

The dairy industry has increased until now there is shipped away from Santa Anna 75 to 100 cans of cream per week. It is our understanding that this section around Dublin from which I am speaking, took up dairying and diversified farming some years ago, and we acknowledge with thanks, our appreciation for your pioneering in this industry for this section of Texas. We have in our city, a modern up-to-date cold storage plant which has a capacity for handling 40,000 pounds, or two cars of poultry per day. Coleman county has a network of improved roads covering almost the entire county, with five of them leading into Santa Anna, making it possible for every farmer to get his produce to market under any sort of weather conditions. Santa Anna is at the junction of State Highway No. 7 and No. 107 and is on Federal Highway No. 67 running from Dallas to Presidio and which will eventually be built into Mexico City Via of Chihuahua.

In order to take care of all this cotton which I told you about a few moments ago, we have four big cotton gins, which when running at full capacity will gin more than 300 bales per day, and are equipped with all the modern machinery necessary for handling cotton under all conditions. The business streets of Santa Anna are paved with six inch re-enforced concrete which insures a life-time pavement with a minimum cost of maintenance. We have a municipally owned water system which is worth approximately $200,000.00 with a natural water pressure from the reservoir situated on the Santa Anna mountain, of 95 pounds to the square inch, which eliminates the necessity of purchasing expensive pumps for fighting fires; a modern filtration and purification plant which insures clear sparkling pure water at all times and a bountiful supply of water furnished from an artificial sewerage system and disposal.

Seniors Hold Last Class Meeting

Last Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock, the Class of 1931 held its last official meeting in home room 203. William Earl presided and presented several bills which were promptly paid. It was unanimously decided to have a farewell picnic, Wednesday, May 27.

Future plans were discussed to this extent. Each September during the first or second weeks, the class will hold a re-union picnic. The same faithful class officers were held over for supervision and arrangement of details.

Bequeathed Liberty

Memorial day is well observed with reminders that this country was born in war, reached the maturity of its power in a civil war, and has maintained its ideals, prosperity and territorial integrity in war. The liberty every citizen enjoys was paid for by soldiers and sailors who preferred death to life in any but a free country. It was they who bought the country and its institutions. They left it to be enjoyed by posterity, and the measure of posterity's gratitude is its reverence for the memory of its victorious forebears.

A Proclamation

Whereas the first week in June will be celebrated throughout the nation as National Cotton Week according to plans formulated at a conference between Hon. Robert P. Lamont, Secretary of Commerce, Hon. Arthur M. Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture, and others, and knowing the South's prosperity depends upon the consumption of its main crop, Cotton and whereas unless there is something done to encourage the use of it, the entire South will become bankrupt, I, therefore, as Mayor of the City of Santa Anna, proclaim June 1st to 8th as Cotton Week and ask all citizens to wear only cotton clothes during this period to show their loyalty to the South.—W. E. Baxter, Mayor

Singing at Liberty School House

There will be singing at the Liberty School house, Sunday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. All singers are urged to come and take part.

Notice to Parents

Children under 12 years of age are not allowed on the golf course, except under your immediate care. It is very dangerous for children to roam unattended on the course.—Committee.

W. C. T. U. Meeting Postponed

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. has been postponed from next Wed. until Thursday June 9th, when a very special program will be given. This will be a flower Mission meeting honoring the birthday of Jennie Cassiday. You will learn more about it next week.

Save Flower Seed

The City Federation asks that you save your poppy seed, larkspur and other seed. These will be scattered on the mountain-side, vacant lots etc for Santa Anna beautification.

CARD OF THANKS

We sincerely thank each one who helped to lighten the suffering of our loved one in her last days. The floral offering, words of comfort and deeds of kindness are a wonderful solace in our sorrow.

Temple Holland and Wife, Duane, Miss Nora Parrott, Mrs. R. E. Thompson, C. A. Parrott.

Enjoy a good picture Wednesday and Thursday evenings and help the Band Boys.

Public School Faculty Completed

The Board of Education announces a complete faculty for the ensuing year. As usual there are few changes in the personal and a good omen for a successful year. A continuous faculty, if it be a good one, means progress and success. It has been said by many that a good index of a town's harmony and ideals in the turn-over of its school faculty. The following comprise the faculty: J. C. Scarborough, Supt.; J. R. Lock, High School Principal; D. D. Byrne, Ward Principal; J. M. Binion, Mrs. Ed Bartlett, Mrs. D. L. Pieratt, Mrs. J. C. Scarborough, Miss Agnes Hays, Miss Olivia Land, Mrs. Maud Evans, Miss Dora Kirkpatrick, Miss Lillian Durham, Miss Matie Ella McCreary, Mrs. D. D. Byrne, Miss Ruby Volentine, Miss Allie Pearce, Miss Murphy and Mrs. J. L. Harris.

Miss Eunice Wheeler, who has served the school faithfully and well for several years was re-elected but declined acceptance in order to return to Simmons University next year to secure her bachelor's degree. As a means of preventing a reduction in salaries it was decided to dispense with one teacher, and Miss Hardy who taught half time in Ward school and half time in the high school will not return for next year. The best wishes of our school and town go with Miss Hardy and it is hoped that she secures a position that she merits.

Desiring to keep professionally alive, several of the faculty will spend the summer in school. Mr. and Mrs. Scarborough will be in the U. of Colorado. Mr. and Mrs. Byrne will be in U. of Colorado, where Mr. Byrne expects to take his Master's degree at the close of the summer session; Miss Pearce will attend Howard Payne College where she will take her Bachelor's degree at close of session. Miss Wheeler will attend San Marcus Teachers College. Miss Durham will be in the John Tarleton College. Mr. Binion expects to spend a term in A. & M. of Colorado. There may be others who decide later to be away.

NOTICE TO MY CUSTOMERS

I have rebuilt my Blacksmith Shop and secured the help of a first class workman who can render good shop work on short notice. A line of plows, sweeps and disk blades will be kept on hand which I can save you money on. Have been on this spot since 1912. The old Marshall & Jones Shop. Every deal and job must satisfy. Make yourself at home around this shop.—J. S. Jones, Owner.

Mrs. Ruth Chambers was in Brownwood on business, Wednesday.

Record Crowd Attend Commencement

The final program for the class of 1931 was truly an inspiration proving that: "A thing of beauty is a joy forever."

As the melody of "Rendezvous" was played by Miss Lula Harvey the processional began, led by William Earl Ragsdale and A. G. Weaver, the president and vice-president of the class for the past two years. After Rev. Gray had given the invocation, William Earl gave the salutatory address, using the subject: "The Challenge of the Impossible." His suggestions for attempting the hard things in life proved that endurance conquers all obstacles.

Mary Harriett Simpson sang "Somewhere a Voice is Calling" in her own sweet way.

A. G. Weaver and Fred Faulkner shared the valedictory honors and each used a theme in keeping with scientific progress.

Dr. E. B. Surface of Abilene was introduced by our class president in his most capable way, who said that the eminent speaker had already endeared himself to this community on a previous occasion and was simply coming back home.

Dr. Surface spoke clearly on the subject "What is Truth." His mastery of thought and sincerity of purpose lifted us into realms of joyful meditation.

Mr. W. DuBois, Sr. president of the school board, presented forty four diplomas to the class. May we say that we are forty-five strong, but one of our faithful members, Alton Blevins, received an appointment to Chanute Flying Field, in Rantoul, Ill. some weeks before school was out, and left for that place. He will receive his diploma duly signed as soon as he finishes his assignments based upon the state requirements.

During the presentation of diplomas, the "melody in F" was played softly.

The class song "At Parting" was the last signal of farewell, after which the group cheerfully took the oath of allegiance given by Supt. Scarborough, thus assuring this community sincere support along all worth while enterprises.

Rev. W. L. Womack, pronounced the benediction and as the recessional began, there were glad and sad hearts in the class, as well as the audience. Glad of the accomplishments, but sad to leave friends.

When Wm. Earl and A. G. concluded the recessional the last of public school chapter of the class of 1931 was ended, and the group passed into life's school as one of the most progressive that S. A. H. S. has ever had. They have more than lived up to the motto "Dependability and Service."

Dr. Lovelady Chosen New President

ATTEND MEETING AT COLEMAN WEDNESDAY

This has been a very busy week for the Lions. At the luncheon, Tuesday the annual election of officers took up the business hour. Those who will have the responsibility of the organization during the next year are: Dr. R. R. Lovelady, president; Fred Turner, 1st Vice-president; Cecil Walker, 2nd Vice-president; Jess Garrett, Secretary-treasurer; Frank Cron, Tail Twister; Odgen Brown, Lion Tamer; Sam Collier, director.

Several cars carrying Santa Anna lions were in Coleman on Wednesday, where the local Lions were entertained at luncheon. The Coleman club has elected R. R. Browning as president; D. P. Rockmaker, 1st Vice-president; Sam G. Thompson, 2nd Vice-president; B. B. Nunnley, Secretary-treasurer; John L. Beard, Lion Tamer; R. D. Boyers, Tail Twister; L. Ennet Walker and W. N. McCulloch, directors, for the year. Both clubs are expecting the coming twelve months to be the most active in their history. The present economic conditions present problems that can only be solved by concerted action. Santa Anna is looking to the Lions Club for leadership in all civic matters.

TRICKHAM H. D. CLUB

The Trickham H. D. Club met with Mrs. Joe Kingston Thursday, May the 3. Miss Brent was with us. She talked on Diets and gave us several recipes. There were twenty one present and we planned to have our club picnic in June. We will meet with Mrs. H. A. McSmith May 22nd and quilt. We have been having some good meetings would be glad for others to come meet with us Reporter.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to each and every one that has contributed useful gifts to us on account of our recent fire, which destroyed our household contents.

We are very grateful to the Fire Boys for the splendid effort that they made in trying to extinguish the fire.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hardy and children.

Mrs. Maud Thompson of Post, Texas, Miss Nora Parrott of Ft. Worth, Temple Holland and wife of Ft. Benning, Ga., Gus Parrott and wife and son of Cleburne, Texas were all here during the illness and death of Mrs. W. F. Holland. Duane returned with Temple and wife to Ga.

These people have the sympathy of the entire community.

TIGER EYE

by D. M. Power

TENTH INSTALLMENT

Bob Reeves, the Kid was nicknamed Tiger Eye by his friends down in the Brazos country because his "gun-eye" was yellow. When his father "Killer Reeves" died the Kid left Texas to avoid continuing his father's feuds. Reaching Montana he is forced to draw on Nate Wheeler, an irate nester. In the exchange of shots Wheeler drops dead, the Kid later learning that Bob Garner who had also shot at the same time, really killed Wheeler. Garner gets the Kid to join the Poole outfit as a rim rider. The Kid succors Wheeler's widow and is interrupted by Pete Gorham and some other nesters. He shoots Gorham through both ears for coupling his name with Wheeler's widow. Later he rescues a girl, Nellie, and her dad from Gorham, wounding Pete again. The girl, in spite of her belief the Kid is an imported Texas killer, warns him the nesters will kill him. The Kid then warns Garner the nesters are planning an attack on the Poole outfit. He meets Jess Markel, a Texan who is boss of the Poole wagon crew and shoots him thru both hands. Nellie's dad is shot from ambush and suspects Babe against his wish. The latter thinks another nester killed the old man. Babe is wounded by hidden enemies, who also shoot at Tiger Eye but miss. The Kid pulls Babe back into the cabin and wounds one of the attackers. Nellie comes to the cabin secretly to aid the Kid and the latter crawls through the roof and makes plans to escape with the wounded Babe at night. He and Nellie wait for darkness outside of the cabin.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Babe's woke up." The kid lowered the mouth organ from his lips, heaving a big sigh as he wiped it on his sleeve and slid it into his pocket. He sighed again as he rose, hitched up his gun belt and looked gravely down at her. "We all could get outa heah easy if it was just us two. But I kaint leave Babe. He's been pow'ful good to me, Babe has—" "Of course, we can't leave him. They'd kill him sure, and there's been too much killing already. We'll make it somehow. I—you can just do anything, Tiger Eye!" "Shoah feel like I could, from now awn," said the kid, looking at her with shy meaning, and started to climb. "We'll make it," he called softly down to her. "We've plumb got to make it!" They did make it. Down the gully, with Babe tied on his horse, insensible to pain or motion. Fifty yards, a hundred, with the rifles on the ridge barking foolishly at the empty cabin. The sun went down behind the rim, the daylight was merging into dusk when the Kid forced the horses up the steep bank. "Say, where do you think you are goin', Tiger Eye?" Babe roused suddenly to consciousness and speech when they stopped beside Nellie's horse, circling the rock anxiously in the starlight. "Reckon we'll go awn to the Poole Babe." "What you goin' to the Poole all of a sudden for?" Babe's voice sharpened. "Think you'll beat me to the bounty? You've got another think comin', Kid. I'll do the collectin' on this one." "Don't know what yo'all talking about, Babe." The Kid glanced uneasily toward Nellie. "I'm totin' yo'all ovah to the Poole, account of that bullet hole in yoh side." "You're a damned liar!" Babe's voice was abnormally loud and distinct. Nellie mounting her horse, reined close to listen. "You're goin' to try and gyp me outa my money for old Murry. You can have the pay for gettin' Ed Murry, if you want to be on the grab, but I'll be damned if you're going to collect for the old man!" "Oh, you—you fiend!" Nellie forced the words out through her clinched teeth. "Paid! Killers, both of you." "Ain't paid yet, but I'm sure as hell goin' to be. Damn right!" The feeble strength that had upheld Babe for minute began to ebb. He swayed in the saddle. "Dirty work—and it's money talks, in this neck uh the woods. Damn right I'll be paid! Tiger Eye ain't goin' to get the best—the best of me—he can't—" His head lolled on his chest then, as his body sagged against the ropes that held him in the saddle. "You killer!" Nellie jumped her horse toward the Kid. She had pulled her quirt from the saddle horn, and she struck him across the face; swift, slashing blows which the Kid never felt at all, save in the heart of him. He just stood there in the starlight and held the frightened horse quiet, while the quirt he had given her left its mark on neck and shoulder and cheek. "And I trusted you like a fool—and thought you were good!" With one final blow her arm fell to her side as if in despair at ever wreaking vengeance upon him. "Shoot me now, why don't you? I'll turn my back!" "Yo'all's crazy as Babe," The soft drawl of his voice had a chill. "Yoh brothah was shot befo' I evah came into the country. I nevah did kill a man in my life—but I'm plumb tempted to right now, lessen he's daid a ready." "Why? Because he gave you away?" Her voice shook with stubborn rage. "Yo'all knows bettah than that Miss Murray. Yo'all knows in yoh own mind I nevah hahmed a livin' soul." He leaned forward staring up into her face with a cold intensity that thrilled her with something like fear. "But that ain't sayin' what I will do f'om now awn." "Bob! If you didn't—if I knew—" "Evenin', Ma'am. You all knows the way home." He loosed the bridle and struck her horse on the rump with the flat of his hand and watched her go, and the thud of hoofbeats on the prairies fell like blows upon his heart. When no sound came back to him, the kid mounted Pecos, took Babe's bridle

BOWELS need watching

Let Dr. Caldwell help whenever your child is feverish or upset; or has caught cold. His simple prescription will make that bilious, headachy, cross boy or girl comfortable, happy, well in just a few hours. It soon restores the bowels to healthy regularity. It helps "break-up" a cold by keeping the bowels free from all that sickening mucus waste. You have a famous doctor's word for this laxative. Dr. Caldwell's record of having attended over 3500 births without loss of one mother or baby is believed unique in American medical history. Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your drugstore and have it ready. Then you won't have to worry when any member of your family is headachy, bilious, gassy or constipated. Syrup Pepsin is good for all ages. It sweetens the bowels; increases appetite—makes digestion more complete.

reins in his hand and rode away into the night. The Kid was pulling out, but he was taking his time about it and he was not leaving anything he owned behind him. With his gray hat set low over the utter misery in his eyes, he stood in the middle of the cabin at Cold Spring and his lowering glance moved slowly around the room, just to make sure that he had not missed any of his possessions. It was not a cheerful looking place. The glass from the one window lay in splintered fragments on the oil-cloth table cover, and a few early flies buzzed in and out thru the shattered panes, where rifle bullets buzzed in yesterday. The log walls were scarred with the thin leaden hail that had beaten intermittently against the cabin. The Kid swung toward the bunk and looked at the pillow still pestered to the shape of look in the Kid's eyes just then. Crazy as he had been from fever Babe would have sensed the deadly quality in the Kid's arrested glance, the tiger eye round and staring.

He got his own pillow and tucked it savagely under his arm. The nights when he had laid his head down beside Babe's in contented comradeship fairly slapped him in the face now with a bitter contempt for his blind faith.

And when he talks like you're the one that did the killing—when he talks like that right before Nellie, and makes her crazy mad she starts in quivering you over the head and calling you a killer, just because she's only a girl and can't shoot you down like a dog, it's something worse than hate you feel toward him. Babe had brains sharper than any old he-wolf, but his brains sure weren't working last night, when he made that talk up there on the bench.

Most men would have shot Babe right then and there. They wouldn't have cared a damn about his being drilled through the middle and plumb out of his head. But even with the welts of Nellie Murray's quirt on his cheek and the lash of her contempt searing his heart, the Kid couldn't pull his gun and send a bullet into Babe Garner, wounded and sagging against the rope that held him tied on his horse. That would be putting himself down on a level with Babe, killing a man that hasn't any chance to shoot back. Had to go on and take Babe to the Poole ranch same as if he were a friend.

The Kid rolled himself a cigarette, lighted it with a match held steady in his fingers, picked up his rifle where it stood leaning against the cabin beside the door, slid it into the scabbard on his saddle and mounted. Where he was going he did not know or care.

His hand went up suddenly to a livid welt across his cheek. He hadn't earned that cut of Nellie's quirt. His quirt, if you came right down to it. Braided in pride and high hopes down on the Brazos last winter, before Pap and Ben were shot. Never did think that quirt he had braided would be laid across his own cheek with all the strength there was in a girl's arm. Another half inch and it would have lost him that yellow tiger eye of his—and that, too, would have been something he hadn't earned.

"She nevah will call me a paid killah no moah," he told himself savagely. "She'll heah things about Tiger Eye Reeves that will shoah prove I'm death on killahs. Poole or nestah, it's all the same to me from now awn. She'll know—and she'll know why!"

She'd shiver too. He'd have her eating crow before the summer was over. She'd be ready to go down on her knees to him. He'll show her he wasn't called Tiger Eye for nothing. He'd shoah make that name mean something more than just the color of his eye. They'd remember that old Killer Reeves down on the Brazos was his pap, and they would say the father wasn't a patch to the son. Yes, sir, they all better hunt their holes now, Poole killers and nesters! They'd pushed him too far. A shoah-enough tiger was loose on the range, and every man was his meat!

He pulled his hat down over his eyebrows and reined away from the valley rim. To the north there rose a huddle of timbered buttes with deepset canyons between. Ten miles, no more, from the valley; twelve or fifteen from the headquarters ranch of the Poole. There should be some sequestered little nook in there where he could make his lair.

The Kid's fingers lifted again to that welt slanting down across his cheek. One glimpse he had of the low ridge and the line of cottonwoods down there in the valley, and then the rain blotted the place from his sight.

Before dark he camped in a thick grove of young spruces that grew beside a natural meadow. He slept his quirt-scarred cheek cuddled in the crook of his arm—and dreamed of making love to Nellie Murray. Dreamed that she was going to marry him, and they planned the home stead they would take in Wolfe Buttes somewhere, and how they would build themselves a ranch with honeysuckle vines all over the cabin.

It was morning and it was raining with a cold, steady drip on the spruce boughs that sheltered him like a thatched roof.

Another day of hunting a den for the tiger that would be a scourge to all killers. The Kid fished blindly under the blanket for his hat, found it and put it on as he sat up.

He crawled out of his blankets buckling his gun belt around him with vicious tugs of the strap.

He stood up tall and full of pride in the man who wouldn't kill because he didn't want to kill. Didn't have to kill to make men afraid of him. They'd look over their shoulder when they spoke his name, and when any one mentioned the Brazos they would look at each other, thinking that was where Tiger Eye came from.

All that day it rained in windy gusts, with periods of quiet drizzle between.

That afternoon he came upon the place he was hoping to find. A rock cabin built of fragments of the cliff it hugged close. Half the roof had fallen in. It was the upended ridgepole with a corner of the roof attached and showing above the bushes that had caught the Kid's attention when he looked that way. Except for that telltale fragment, the cabin was absolutely hidden in the thicket. When he looked beyond he saw where there had been a corral and a stable, all built of rock cunningly piled for strength and concealment. There had to be a spring too, of course. He found it, ice cold and crystal clear, in a niche of the cliff that was part of the back wall of the cabin.

He also saw a rock-walled meadow swelling out like a great fat jug below its narrow neck of a pass not wide enough to let a hayrack through without scraping the wall on either side. The Kid climbed upon a bowlder and for five minutes he gazed out over this lost paradise. Lost from the world, to be found by him when he needed it most.

It took the Kid nearly a week to make the place habitable, though he worked furiously from sunrise until it was too dark to see what he was doing. It took him two days to find his way out of intricate network of canyons to the openrange beyond. The Kid drilled himself and

ANY BABY

WE can never be sure just what makes an infant restless, but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation, and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as Baby has a fretful spell, is feverish, or cries, and can't sleep, let Castoria soothe and quiet him. Sometimes it's a touch of colic. Sometimes constipation. Or diarrhea—a condition that should always be checked without delay. Just keep Castoria handy, and give it promptly. Relief will follow very promptly; if it doesn't, you should call a physician.

Unknown Dead on Muster Rolls of Our Past Conflicts

Mixed emotions, as women weep audibly and men kneel in solemn reverence and holy prayer, while we pay tribute to our common "buddy" before the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington.

Amid chapels of laurel and flowers the American flag serves as sentinel over his sarcophagus. The burial of the lone World War Veteran, November 11, 1922, out of respect to our unknown soldiers, is recalled.

An army bugler sounding "Taps" was the only one of us he could hear. Yet a whole nation, in thought, if not in actual presence stood with bowed heads and honored the memory of the "unknown" men who have died that the Republic might live.

It is Memorial day, a time of solemn requiem for the dead, particularly the nation's war dead.

Again our "buddy" will hear the familiar sound of the bugle. Let it be understood, he is our composite "buddy," for in reality he was only one of the American soldiers killed "over there" whose names and personal histories were unknown.

He is our national hero, Lee Poe Hart writes, in the Washington Star. He is especially the hero and son of each mother and father of all the gallant warriors who still remain unidentified. To each of these proud patriotic though grief-stricken parents, he is "known." Every one of us "knows" our buddy, too.

Not Many "Unknown." At the time he was given a soldier's last rites about 4,000 were numbered among the World War unknown dead. The War Department today reports only 1,662 remain unidentified.

In choosing the body that should represent this national hero, utmost care was taken to pick out that of a buddy who could not by any possibility be identified. Thus the one who lies in the sepulcher of the Unknown Soldier could never have been recognized.

Figures at the War department show 36,931 Americans were killed in battle during the World war. With only 1,662 of that number now remaining unidentified, the proportion of "unknown" dead is remarkably small.

Had it not been for the system instituted by the War department for the purpose of identifying men killed in battle, the World war unknown would have mounted to untold thousands. There was no such system adopted during the Spanish-American war. Only within recent years have civilized nations established an efficient method of identifying their dead. The War department regulations required every soldier and officer of the American Expeditionary forces to wear about his neck two identification tags of aluminum, stamped, in the case of an officer, with his name, rank and regiment, corps or department. On the tag of every enlisted man was inscribed his name and serial number.

Disposition of Tags Each tag was the size of a silver half dollar. The regulation stipulated that one tag be suspended from the neck, and the other, a duplicate, be attached to the neck by a short string or tape. In case the wearer was killed, one tag was buried with him, and the other was usually attached to the cross which marked his grave.

A cemetery was established near every battlefield, when practicable. A temporary head-board giving the name and rank of the interred, with the organization to which he belonged, marked every grave. Further precaution taken by the War department was to make the company officer responsible for the burial of his men. It was his duty to show the exact location of each grave with a sketch map.

In the days of the interminable strife between the North and South, the unknown killed made up a large proportion of the total number who lost their lives in battle. An official list of the graves in a few of the national cemeteries where Union soldiers who fell in the Civil war are buried shows a striking contrast to the modern system.

In Southern Cemeteries At the Fredericksburg (Va) cemetery, 12,738 graves are marked "unknown," the known dead amounting to 2,465. An even greater proportion of unidentified graves is the appalling story of the cemetery at Salisbury, N. C., where the unknown are 12,168; known, 133. The graveyard at Florence, S. C., has 2,302 unknown against only 214 identified burials.

plant. Considerable oil fields (some ten or twelve in number) have been developed in this vicinity and natural gas abounds in abundance for all purposes and is transported from the local fields thru pipe lines to many sections of the country. Santa Anna is served with this gas by one of the best distribution systems in the state and since its installation, we have never known what scarcity of fuel is like. Our city is also served with electric current from high lines which come into town from three directions carrying sufficient voltage for any purposes whether domestic or industrial and commercial which insures un-interrupted service at all times for twenty four hours in the day.

The water we have is as pure and sparkling as the dew and no trace of contamination is ever found after the water has been put through the filtering plant and no typhoid or anything of that kind has ever been traced to the condition of the water, in fact only two or three cases of typhoid has developed in our city within the past twenty years and the origin of these cases could not be traced to the water condition. We believe that, in order to be the kind of citizens we expect to be, in order to be successful in our undertakings and in order to serve God and our fellowman as He would have us do, it is important that we do all in our power to have clean strong, healthy bodies. And, while the climate about us is very healthful, and our citizens in the most part are strong and healthy, we are continuously on the lookout for improvements that have as their purpose the protection of the public health. With this purpose in view, and knowing that sickness and distress will come in ways that many times can not be prevented and with a vision of service which has for its purpose to alleviate the suffering of humanity so far as is humanly possible and to nurse them back to health and happiness, a number of forward looking, public spirited citizens, led by Dr. T. Richard Sealy caught a vision of this greater service and banding themselves together, sacrificed some of their means and a part of their time, and builded a three story brick hospital which has thirty-five beds and is equipped with every modern convenience which could be hoped for in an institution of its kind, for the comfort and scientific treatment of its patients. This represents an outlay of $75,000.00 in money and stands as fitting monument to those who had to do with its erection. More than one thousand people each year are receiving treatment in this institution, many of them going back to their vocations much better able to assume and fulfill the duties of life. This hospital is situated on the side of the west Santa Anna Mountain at an elevation of about 2000 feet above sea level, where the breezes are cool pure refreshing and invigorating and is an institution of which we are proud. Just to the east of it is a beautiful home erected at a cost of ten thousand dollars which accomodates twenty nurses who are working in the hospital and studying in the fully recognized school of nursing which is conducted in connection with the institution. Permit me to say right here, my radio friends, wherever you may be, that this institution has never yet turned its back on human beings suffering from diseases because they had no money. Let us remember that we live in deeds, not years; in thoughts not breath; in acts and feelings, not in figures on a dial. Let us count the hours by heart-throbs. And, Oh! the wealth of memories of those who feel with us and think with us the things that are best.

It seems to me the Great Creator, in arranging these two beautiful mountains towering in majestic splendor just to the north of our little city overlooking the surrounding plateau for miles, upon miles had in mind a means of protection to the stalwart men and the brave women who came here years ago and pioneered the way toward its habitation by civilized people and the development of its natural resources, which could be used as a lock-out post from which bands of marauding Indians could be detected long before they could reach the settlements.

These mountains are literally crammed with pure white glass sand which assays 99 & 53/100 per cent pure silica which is the purest to be found in the world, and are capped with the finest of limestone which we are hoping some day to have utilized in the manufacture of lime.

Many of the early settlers and pioneer citizens of Santa Anna dreamed of some day seeing a glass factory built in Santa Anna, that would turn the sand into beautiful glassware, and it was not until this year that this dream became a reality. The latest achievement of the progressive citizenship of our city was the completion of a glass factory which is now manufacturing vinegar bottles, beverage bottles, fruit jars and milk bottles and which has a capacity of 43000 bottles per day, the sand being taken from the mountain within a quarter mile of the factory. The plant when in full operation, employs 75 men and women with a payroll of $12,000. per month. You would probably be interested to some extent to learn something of what it takes to manufacture this glass. The tank must be heated to 2500 to 2900 degrees F. in order to melt the mixture which is composed of soda ash, lime, arsenic, cobalt feldspar and sand and cullet. (Cullet is broken glass). Thirty-five per cent of the mixture is the cullet and the remaining 65 per cent is made of the other ingredients.

The selenium and cobalt are used as a decolorizer in order to make clear, flint bottles. Fifteen tons of sand is required each day for making this amount of bottles. Texas uses more than six hundred cars of milk and vinegar bottles annually and there is only one other plant in the state that is making them, so you can get some idea as to the possibilities of the glass business in Texas alone.

The city governing body has not overlooked its responsibility to the citizenship in providing a place where its affairs can be handled in a satisfactory way, and in 1927 a beautiful two story brick building was erected at a cost of $20,000.00 and furnished with modern new fixtures, there by giving the town a City Hall and the volunteer fire company a beautiful home and a place in which to store their fire fighting equipment. And my radio listeners, those who have built our city did not overlook the fact that in order to have just the kind of a community that we should have, we must ever and always recognize the all Wise God; from whom all blessings come, and so we have eight churches, seven of them protestant and one catholic. We fully realize that next to the churches of a community comes the public schools in the training of our youth for citizenship. The people of our community have invested close to $200,000.00 in the boys and girls and young men and women of the community by building a ward school and in 1926 a high school that cost $125,000.00 to be used in the greatest of all undertakings that of character building. Our high school is fully affiliated with the state department of education and our faculty is made up of 20 christian men and women who are spending their lives in molding the characters and shaping the lives of these young people and preparing them to take their places as the citizens of tomorrow.

The poet has expressed the thought in the following words: "An old man going a lone highway Came at the evening cold and gray To a chasm deep and vast and wide; The old man crossed in the twilight dim, The sullen stream had no fear for him; But he turned when safe on the other side, And built a bridge to span the

HOW ONE WOMAN Lost 47 lbs. In 3 Months and Feels Years Younger

Mrs. S. A. Solomon of New Bern, N. C. lost 47 lbs. in three months with Kruschen Salts. She reduced from 217 to 170 lbs. She feels much stronger, years younger and pains in sides, back and abdomen that bothered her for years are all gone. She says she not only feels better but looks better as all her friends tell her.

"I shall never be without Kruschen Salts, will never cease taking my daily dose and more than glad to highly recommend it for the great good that is in it."

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at Turner's Drug Store and druggists the world over. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

Attention to diet will help—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the Kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat. Thy one bottle and if not joyfully satisfied—money back.

Communities are made of folks This is a world of possibilities. But no man is greater than he permits himself to be.

We live in a land of the greatest possibilities and opportunities. West Texas with its great pastures and roving herds of cattle and sheep, its broad acres of fertile lands stretching far to the west, its admirable climate which permits the growing of almost every product necessary for our sustenance, its rich and seemingly inexhaustible deposits of all kinds of minerals and its progressive and energetic citizens of the broad-visioned type make it truly an empire within itself. The beautiful flowers that cover the prairies of this great empire and wait their sweet perfumes on the dewy breeze, are beautiful because they have appropriated unto themselves the beautiful colors about them. I am proud to have my town numbered among those of West Texas.

Men look to the east for the dawning of things, But they look to the West, the crimson west, For the things that are done, are done.

The eastward sun is a new-made hope, From the dark of the night distilled, But the westward sun is a sunset-sun, Is the sun of a hope fulfilled.

So out of the East they have always come, The cradle that saw the birth, Of all of the heart-warm hopes of man,

And all of the hopes of earth, For out of the east arose a Christ, And out of the East has gleamed, The dearest dream and the clearest dream, That ever a prophet dreamed. And into the waiting west they go, With the dream-child of the East, And find the hopes that they hoped of old, A hundred-fold increased.

QUEEN THEATRE

There will be a show on every night this coming week at the Queen. For the Friday and Saturday night attraction this week the western, Desert Vengeance, with Buck Jones and Barbara Bedford promises to be interesting. A new serial is starting Friday evening that is supposed to be one of the strangest thrillers ever produced. It was filmed by the American Geographical Society in the wilds of Africa and is said to be different from the usual run of serials.

Mother's Cry will be the feature film during the first three days of next week. Again an unusual picture. One that deals with every human emotion. The story presents a new angle to the oldest, strongest and strangest love in the world, Mother Love.

This picture comes highly recommended by the Parent-Teacher organizations, the clubs, and lodges as a first class entertainment. Mr. Dodgin brings it here as a special attraction for Memorial Day.

On Wednesday and Thursday nights there will be a benefit picture for the Band Boys. Large crowds have been enjoying the concerts on Friday and Monday evening and Mr. Dodgin has secured a picture that will appeal to every one, a newly released comedy drama with plenty of action and fun. Loretta Young and Grant Withers are the leading players and both are always good.

Mayo and Longview Home Demonstration Club

The club will meet with Mrs. Dave Banks the next regular meeting which will be Tuesday afternoon, June 2, 1931. Every one is urged to come.

History of the Class of 1931

The ship laden with the class of 1931 was first launched on September 3, 1927. Our first rank was that of freshmen. Our first harbor of safety was the old red building, at the time of our launching there were forty-seven in our class. After we were duly initiated and almost amputated we started out with a clear sea. It was during our first lap of our journey that we sailed from one harbor to another, that of our beautiful new high school.

It is fitting to say here that we were the first freshmen class to enter the new building. Besides that we are the first class to have spent our entire high school career in the new building.

When first entering the new building a large celebration took place. It was during that celebration that A. G. Weaver, president of the freshmen class said "only fools names appear in public places and that he would assure us that there were none in the freshmen class. Not only was this said during our freshman class but throughout our high school career.

It was during our freshman year that we began our life of unselfishness and co-operation. In order to beautify our building bust statues were given of Julius Caesar and Robert Burns. Also thirty volumes of Julius Caesar were reverently dedicated to the library. (much to the sorrow of the lower classmen.)

We will admit that the so-called greenness of the Freshmen was not altogether lost upon us. Nevertheless, our Sophomore year saw us wise in the way of scholars. By this time we had become a notable part of our beloved institution and staunch friends of the new system. The captain of our second lap was John Franklin Turner. Through his stickability and the cooperation of the class the good work of our Freshman year was continued. Through the untiring efforts of Mrs. Scarborough we had finally learned that dictionary was dictionary, not dic-shun-nary. In order to continue our learning five dictionaries were given with our best wishes. We had also realized the harm of pocket knives, so we invested in several pencil sharpeners.

When we began the third lap of our journey, as Juniors there were more wise heads and more thoughtful minds. With William Earl Ragsdale as president, our Junior year prospects were good.

Even in September we were looking forward to the Junior-Senior banquet and baccalaureate sermon. Still following our motto, "Dependability and Service," both enterprises went over in high style.

Tennis seems to be the fad of the day, so a tennis club was organized and two courts were constructed, furnished and financed by the class of 1931. History has shown that this was not a bad investment as Santa Anna represented in the class of 1931 by James Gipson, Wilburn DuBois, Max DuBois and Nyla Slaughter has won seven tennis cups.

Not only has the class of 1931 well represented in tennis, but in the other extra-curricular activities. In the class we have the majority of the football boys with Charles Turner, a notable senior, as captain. Then in spelling, no better spellers can be found than William Earl Ragsdale and Fred Faulkner. When it comes to debating the class of 1931 is represented by Wilburn DuBois, John Franklin Turner and Irene McCreary.

Last but not least is the notable record of our track boys. Wilburn DuBois lately known as the fastest runner in the district, having smashed the record set by Coleman's fastest, Gober, by several seconds, is a member of the Class of 1931. When he started running, he thought of the fast progress of his class and ran to keep up with it. In this way he broke the tape until he came to State, where he won fifth. Audas Smith and Milton Howard are also good track men. The absence of these men will be felt in the next years team. To show their cooperation and interest in track the class of 1931 helped finance the recent expedition to Austin. It is a saying, "If you want anything call on the Class of 1931."

Then we had approached the last lap of our journey. We then began to see everything in a far different light than heretofore. The teachers who before had seemed to throw labor upon our shoulders now stood in a different light and we saw them as comrades and sympathizers. We began to realize that school was something more than a place of drudgery. Wisdom was there for the one who made a little effort to acquire it. We began to see each day leave, with a little sorrow, deep down within us, that we could not explain. We looked forward to graduation with a feeling of dread with our hope.

But our senior year was not one of backwardness. We continued our good work of giving. Recently an order has been sent and plans made for the erection of a steel flag pole and the purchasing of "Old Glory". We the class of 1931 can think of no other gift so needed and appropriate as a flag pole and flag. Also money has been set aside and arrangements made for the erection and furnishings of another tennis court. Too, a rug has been donated to complete the furnishing of the teachers' rest room.

To prove the measure of a life is its service here is some information that was submitted last week the number of Seniors receiving honors were 23, Juniors 12, Sophmores 14, and Freshmen 14. The honors going to each class were, Seniors 34, Juniors 15, Sophmores 19, and Freshmen 15.

Now the last lap of our journey is drawing near. The harbor is in sight and the crew is standing on deck, waiting to enter the harbor of graduation. Then the class of 1931 will be no more to you except in memory. But after that night class of 1931 now and forever.

SENIOR MAKES GOOD

Alton Blevins, a member of the Class of 1931, and son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Blevins, is making good in the mechanic department of Chanute Field, Rantoul, Ill.

His loyalty to his class is shown in the way he has kept up with all his assignments and he will complete all of his work in a few more weeks. At the same time he is making good grades in his scheduled work there.

His appointment to Chanute Field came a few weeks before school was out and of course he had to accept then, or wait indefinitely. We are proud of him and we are glad to number him among our many faithful workers of the Class of 1931.

WINS MANY HONORS

Irene Rountree, Freshman, who has won the Ward essay in Interscholastic League for two years, has continued to add laurels to her crown. Early in this school year she won a prize of one dollar given by the current Events for the best written article in International contest. During commencement she was awarded the Current Events medal for having made the best grade in Santa Anna High school in this subject. The medal is awarded annually by Current Events. She was also awarded a beautiful sweater with letter and quill, symbol of Scribblers, by Miss Land, Sponsor of the Scribblers' Club. Miss Land makes this award to the most outstanding member of the club each year. Aline Harper having won it last year.

INSIST on the INSIDE FACTS

For Your Protection Make These Comparisons Before You Buy Your Tires

UNDERNEATH the surface is where you get the cold truth about tire values. It's the inside of the tire—the method of construction and the quality and quantity of materials—that determines its Stamina, Performance, Safety, VALUE. You can no more tell the quality of a tire by its outside appearance than you can tell the character of a man by the kind of clothes he wears.

own comparisons, uninfluenced by any sales propaganda. We urge you to thoroughly check every vital point—rubber volume, weight, width, thickness, and plies under the tread. Then buy accordingly—ON FACTS AND FACTS ALONE. Against the various claims presented about different tires, isn't this the most logical suggestion ever made to you? Could there be any more positive way to definitely determine which tires offer you the most for your money? There can be no question or controversy when you get the FIRESTONE yourself.

We have arranged to show you cross sections of Firestone and special brand mail order tires. You can come here and make your

SENIORS' HONOR SPONSOR

After the commencement exercises last Friday night, forty-four boys and girls swarmed into the Scarborough home, presumably to have a party, but as the last of the crowd came, a beautiful chair was brought in and our sponsor was invited to sit down and take her much needed rest.

After the presentation speech, Mrs. Scarborough responded by sincerely thanking each one for the unity and cooperation shown in every worth while endeavor, and for the grand surprise.

She urged us to stay and have a party, but we told her we'd come again real soon, for we know we'll always find a welcome.

REV. CLAY P. MORGAN NOW LIVING IN PALO ALTA CALIFORNIA

Rev. Clay P. Morgan, a former Santa Anna citizen, now living in Palo Alta, California recently sent greetings to his mother and Father in verse, thinking that his friends will enjoy reading them we are publishing the verses.

Mr. Morgan was in the stationary and post card business here in the year 1907 and in behalf of the Commercial Club published a most interesting book, titled Santa Anna Beautiful, giving a description of the town, the climate, agricultural advantages, natural resources, legends and views of the mountain homes, streets and public buildings. It contains a list of the business concerns, names of the old settlers, whose names are so familiar. The First National Bank at that time was only six months old, and was one of the three banking institutions serving the community.

Dearest Mother:

As it approaches another "Mother's Day,"
I send these simple lines to say I love you in the same old way
As when about your feet I used to play,
And when tired and sleepy at the close of day,
I knelt beside your knees and learned to pray.

Across the miles and over the years
I can still see your smiles and tears,
Can still hear you sing the dear old hymn,
As you listened patiently to our childish whims;
Can still feel your hand upon my head,
As you kissed me goodnight and tucked me in bed.

Since then the years have come and gone;
Oh, how swiftly they have flown!
How many joys and sorrows they have brought,
How many changes they have wrought!
But thru them all you've been faithful and true,
The dearest mother a man ever knew.

A few more years and your race will be run,
Your labors will be ended, your tasks done,
Then you shall lay your burdens down
And go Home to receive your crown.
T'will be lonesome without you here,
But we'll soon join you, Mother dear,
In that land of endless day,
Where God shall wipe all tears away.

God be with you till we meet again,
Your Loving Son,
Clay.

Dear Dad:
I am thinking tonight of the days gone by,
Of the experiences of other years, when you and I
Were much more together than now. You were my hero then,
And I thought you the finest and bravest of men.

You played with me in those days of old,
And taught me that truth is more precious than gold.
You taught me that honor is more desirable than fame,
And that nothing is to be chosen before a good name.

Sometimes I thought you harsh, for then I didn't understand
That it takes a lot of discipline to make a true man;
But as I grew older I soon learned to know
It was because you loved me that you treated me so.
You were never demonstrative, men seldom are,
But I knew you cared and that you'd go right far
To help me out of trouble and to save from pain;
Altho you never said so, but you proved it again and again.

As the years came and went we drifted apart,
In the flesh, tho not in the spirit and heart
Sometimes now I feel your presence near, can almost touch your hand,
And tho you do not answer when I speak, I know you hear and understand.

The years have been many since I saw you last;
But I am hoping that before another has passed,
I shall see your face again, and clasp your hand,

And we shall talk together as man to man.

But if anything happens that I don't get to come,
And you should finish your work and go on home,
Just remember this, Dad, I love you as of yore,
And expect to greet you again on the heavenly shore.
Your Loving son,
Clay

MRS. THOMASON HONORED

The Methodist Missionary Society entertained with a party, honoring the 90th birthday of Mrs. J. O. (Dad) Thomason, on Saturday afternoon in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Don Ewing. Mrs. Thomason is well known having been a resident of Santa Anna for 29 years and has many friends as was evidenced by the large number attending.

Mrs. Ford Barnes read an original poem entitled, "A Scroll From a Woman's Soul." Billie Ruth Moore of Coleman, great grand daughter of the honoree gave several humorous readings. The refreshment plates contained Angel and Devil Food Cake and fruit punch with caranations as favors. Mrs. Thomason has made her home with Mrs. Ewing for 10 or 12 years and has been quite helpless most of the time and has been confined to her bed for many months. Many upon this occasion brought flowers and her room was a bower of blossoms. Her life has probably been considerably lengthened by the kind loving care of her daughter and other members of the family. Besides the lovely flowers, Mrs. Thomason received a number of gifts and remembrances to add to the days of happiness.

Those attending this event were: Miss Blanche Boyd, Mrs.

Paul Van Dolson, Mrs. W. A. McKean, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Jones, Mary Tom Jones, Pauline Vestal, M. C. Chevrolet Plant
Employs on Full
Time Working Basis

Detroit, Michigan 5, 23, 1931
All plants of the Chevrolet Motor Company are now operating now on an average of five and one-half days a week, with workers back on a full-time basis, W. S. Knudson, president and general manager, announced on Saturday.

The total company payroll is now in excess of 36,000 employees and some plants are on a heavier productive basis than at any time since the fall of 1929, Mr. Knudson said.

Production operations are divided into car assembly and parts manufacturing activities. The manufacturing group, comprising eleven plants, are now operating an average of six days and five nights a week, while the assembly plants, of which there are nine strung across the country, are now on a five and one-half day week basis. This is normal for both groups. As an unemployment aid, the company's policy last winter was to increase the number of men employed as soon as those on the payrolls averaged forty hours of work a week. At current high rate of operations, however, the plant workers are now averaging fifty hours a week. New workers have been added to the payrolls for several consecutive weeks, although only previous employees of the company are being hired.

Current operations are generally at a higher rate than at any time since last May, Mr. Knudson said.

C. H. Ford of Goldthwaite is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Chambers and family here, this week.

Neva Rae Chambers is visiting Mrs. Cleo Scott and family in Abilene this week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Blewitt and daughters, Misses Marie and Oletha and Miss Edythe Pittard were visitors at station KPFL in Dublin, Sunday.

Mrs. Coe Cross and Miss Emma Belle Scott of Brownwood visited with Mrs. E. W. Marshall, Wednesday afternoon.
