Play by Play Report of Last Friday's Game Given

Outweighed ten pounds to the man, Fighting Santa Anna Mountaineers Friday of last week held the Class A Brownwood football team to a 19 to 0 score, the lowest in many years. The game was slowed by the oppressive weather but both clubs exhibited enthusiasm throughout the gridiron combat.

The two high school teams in inaugurating the 1930 season's activities started on punts but Brownwood seemed exceedingly off on passes, they having completed only one in ten attempts. Santa Anna attempted two passes, both incomplete.

The Line-up

Oakes failed to gain and then punted 30 yards to Brownwood's 33 yard line. Whitehead made 13 yards at center then Bookie threw him for a three yard loss. Brownwood punted to Oakes who fumbled, Harrison recovering. Whitehead plunged over for a touchdown on a series of line bucks. C. Thomas kicked for extra point.

Santa Anna received and Voss returned, 13 yards. Santa Anna gained six yards on three plays, then Oakes punted.
Brownwood made a first down in two plays then started on a march which ended only when Harrison made a touchdown on a false.

Myers blocked the kick for extra point.
Gipson received the kick-off and returned 10 yards. Oakes failed to gain as quarter ends with the ball on Santa Anna's 31 yard line.
Second Quarter:
Private made one at center but Brownwood took an offside penalty of five yards. Santa Anna punted 35 yards. Brownwood made two first downs in succession then lost the ball. Time out for Santa Anna.

Oakes punted 35 yards and Lawrence returned twelve. Turner and Myers forced Whitehead out for no gain.
Santa Anna's ball after two incomplete passes and no gain at center by Whitehead. Oakes punted 29 yards. Pass Lawrence to Green, incomplete. Brady Thomas gained sixteen yards then two incomplete passes cost Brownwood five yards.

Coleman County had gained a total of 494 bales of cotton prior to September 1st, according to information received by The News yesterday from the Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C. The report is given out through the Bureau of Census. Total for the state prior to September 1st is 1,119,373 as compared with 1929 production to September 1st this county had gained 1,633, or a total of 1,139 bales more than the pre-September production this year.

According to the government report, other West and Central Texas counties show a decrease as compared with last year. The state's total, however, shows an increase, production in South Texas this season exceeding their previous totals.

Among the counties listed in the report are the following:

County	1929	1930
Brown	737	496
Concho	1,603	679
McCalloch	1,981	1,444
Runtels	2,284	495
San Saba	1,361	659
Tom Green	542	391
Taylor	2,905	331

These figures, showing a decrease in pre-September figures contrast with South Texas counties, whose 1929 production was much lower than 1930. Plains counties because of droughts and unfavorable conditions also show much lower production this season.

Nueces County's pre-September production totaled 112,493 bales as compared with 76,745 last year, the report shows.

Merchants Launch Effective "Drouth Relief" Movement

Trading at Home is Ultra Important This Season

Fall and winter merchandise of a de-lux quality and a new economy in price has arrived at Santa Anna stores, a survey of the business section discloses as do advertisements appearing in this issue of The News.

Stores are well stocked with reasonable merchandise at unprecedented low prices made available by economy purchases from various wholesale concerns.

Due to existing economic and financial conditions throughout the United States, wholesale prices have decreased considerably within recent months. Santa Anna merchants, realizing that prices would witness an inevitable decrease, delayed purchase of merchandise several weeks in order that the citizenship here might take advantage of the new low prices.

Not only is this fact true in the dry goods line, but every store in the city has lowered prices as a sure "drouth relief" movement. In the grocery line, cost has decreased and products are being sold locally at prices much lower than one year ago or even several months ago.

The writer has found business in Santa Anna much improved over conditions in many other adjoining towns of Central and Western Texas and Plains points. Business here, although undoubtedly below par as in every other section of the Lone Star State, and the entire United States, is above the average general over territory covered by Uncle Sam.

However, importance of trading at home has never been more vital to business prosperity than this season. Merchants through out the city are impressing this fact and substantiating the necessity by offering quality merchandise.

Week's Dialogue Attractions Here Have High Rating

"Ladies of Leisure" Opens Sunday Other notes

Dialogue attractions at the Queen Theatre here this weekend and Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of next week feature popular film favorites and the setting of the production is widely diversified, the locale shifting from old California to life in New York cabarets, artists' studios, yachts and boarding house near Broadway.

"Song of the Caballero," starring popular Ken Maynard of the Universal lot is booked for showing here today and Saturday, and beginning at Sunday matinee Columbia's "Ladies of Leisure" will be screened.

Texas is not only the nation's greatest producer of cotton, cattle and numerous other products of the soil, but under Texas skies present day film favorites have grown to manhood and womanhood and won fame in Hollywood. Perhaps someday, we will find space to list the more than fifty leading stars whose home state is Texas. This week readers must be satisfied with our mention of two who are currently featured.

Ken Maynard and his famous leading lady, Doris Hill, who will be seen at the Queen today in "Song of the Caballero" are both Texans. Maynard began his career practicing his famous riding stunts as a boy on a Texas ranch, while Miss Hill received her education at San Antonio before entering vaudeville.

One of the most celebrated casts ever assembled for the making of a motion picture will be seen enacting roles in "Ladies of Leisure." Players include Barbara Stanwick, Lowell Sherman, Ralph Graves, Marie Prevost, Juliette Compton, George Fawcett, Johnnie Walker, Nance O'Neil and Frank Conroy. The picture was adapted from the David Belasco stage play.

Ralph Graves & Barbara Stanwick are perhaps the outstanding

Many and Varied Features Booked for Abilene Fair

More than $10,000 in premiums and purses are being offered in the livestock and agriculture exhibits in the West Texas Fair which is to be held in Abilene from September 29 to October 4 inclusive, according to announcements received yesterday by the News.

These departments promise to be larger and more interesting than ever before. Many entries have already been received in the livestock department from some of the outstanding herds of the Southwest.

In the woman's department every effort is being made to secure attractive exhibits. A specialty is being made of curios and antiques, in addition to the textile and culinary departments. The art displays will contain paintings from the most famous artists of the South.

Among entertainment features will be motorcycle races, the terrapin derby, Ernie Young's gala revue, "Spanish Nights," the Lachman-Carson carnival and numerous other attractions.

Members of the cast, although each member has had a prominent role. Graves who starred in "Flight" is a success not only as an actor but as a director, scenario writer and is at present writing a "best seller."

This week another well known Hollywood star's career came to an end. Milton Sills died Monday when his heart failed while he and his wife, known to the screen as Doris Kenyon, were playing tennis at their suburban home near Los Angeles. Before his screen career, Sills was an instructor of mathematics at Chicago University.

Film patrons of ten years ago will remember their one time favorite star Francis Ford. He, like many others, disappeared from the screen and his name fell into apparent oblivion. Today, however, Francis Ford has managed to find sufficient favor with producers to be permitted to enact minor roles in feature attractions. In "Song of the Caballero" Ford is cast as Don Pedro and he does his part well.

So Ford the actor, like Henry's Model A Lizzie, has his "parts"

HISTORY'S MYSTERIES

Unsolved Riddles That Still Puzzle Authorities Here and Abroad

The Arms of Venus di Milo

THAT the Venus di Milo, undoubtedly the most beautiful statue in the world, once had arms is apparent from the most superficial glance, but in what position they were sculptured and what became of them are mysteries which take their rank among the secrets of the art world.

Some experts, basing their statements upon accurate measurements of the stumps of the missing arms and the manner in which the muscles appear along the back of the statue, claim that the right arm was gracefully posed and attached to the drapery around the waist, while the left arm was raised at the shoulder and bent at the elbow—suppositions which are supported by the meager reports concerning the statue when it was first discovered on the island of Melos in the Mediterranean.

But the first of the mysteries concerning the Venus is connected with the origin of the statue. Who was the sculptor? It is doubtful that this will ever be revealed, while it has evidently been buried for some 2,000 years and it bears traces of the characteristic handwork of any one of several famous Greek sculptors, the identity of the man who made it will remain forever a secret, unless some unsuspected evidence is discovered, throwing light upon this question.

The modern history of the Venus goes back about a century when Yorgos, a peasant living on the island of Melos, was working in a field on the side of a mountain. Boredom was quelling some stone and accidentally came across a species of vault. Excavating farther, he was amazed to discover the figure of a woman, larger than nature and radiant with the beauty of the immortals.

Who had sealed her there? Why, for some twenty centuries, had that marvelous form been a captive of the dark, standing motionless and motionless? Had the statue been stolen, had it been created or had it been left in the earth to save it from the hands of vandals? These questions, like the others which concern the Venus of Melos, must also remain unanswered.

When old Yorgos found the statue—or so the story goes—it was complete and unharmed. What was more, it was made of two superimposed blocks, joined at the waist, while the left arm could be detached from the shoulder to which it was so cunningly fixed by an iron cord.

Shortly after the discovery, however, a French vessel stopped at the island of Melos and a young ensign started on a tour of discovery for something out of the ordinary. He heard of the Venus and at once sought out Yorgos. A bargain was struck and the statue was to pass into the hands of the ensign as soon as he could produce the purchase price agreed upon—a price absurdly small when the real value is considered. The French vessel then sailed for Constantinople, where the French ambassador was informed of the treasure and, in a few days the secretary of the embassy was sent to Melos to complete the transaction.

When he arrived he found that the primates of the island had arranged to present the statue to a certain Greek prince, whom they desired to placate. A French warship had been dispatched to Melos to bring the statue away with it, but, when she anchored in the harbor on May 23, 1820, a Greek ship flying the Turkish flag was already at the dock and a party of Greek and Turkish sailors were preparing to load the statue on the Greek boat. Both French and Turkish sailors were landed and a fight ensued for possession of the treasure, the French being victorious.

When the melee was over and the French vessel sailed for Piraeus, it is said that the Venus bore irreparable wounds. But this is part of the secret which surrounds the statue for, as the story of the affair did not come to light until nearly half a century later, the details could never be substantiated, and there is more than a suspicion that the statue was broken during its trip on the warship, and that the story of the fight was concocted in order to explain the mishap. In fact, the only undisputed points about the famous statue are that it was discovered on the island of Melos and that it now stands, broken but magnificent, in the place of honor in the Louvre at Paris. All the rest is conjecture, rumor and mystery.

The Malady Fascinating
The following letter was recently received by a city health officer from a colored woman who had been attending his clinic:
"Dear Sir: I have been ill, so bad to forfeit two treatments, but now you will excuse me, for my ability to walk was very questionable, seemed as though my knees were captivated with rheumatism, the tension of the cords seemed obstructive. Truly—"

Device Prolongs Tones
The creation is a device to prolong tones on the pianoforte. Its principle is said to be based on catching the normal vibration of the string after the hammer has set it in motion and prolonging the tone electrically while the key is depressed. It is the invention of Simon Cooper, Brooklyn scientist and engineer.

THE BOOSTING COMPLEX

The inferiority complex we hear so much about never was designed to reach the heart of the community boster.

It matters not how humble the citizen, he is eligible to the game of progressive action for the common good.

Nor how simple the procedure, how localized the cause, how little the participation with which he is entrusted, boosting still is its own reward.

The only kind of complex the real boster knows is that of absolute equality with his fellow citizens in seeing that the thing is done and helping to do it.

A man's community is one of the finest clubs on earth; a club where all citizens may become members by virtue of their residence; where the obligations of membership are the tenets of obedience to law; where dues consist of active sharing in the works of advancement; where the ritual is the cheering smile and the warm handclasp of neighbor.

A man's community is a place where he can sing, shout play, work, pray, sympathize, discuss any subject under the sun with a feeling of freedom, engage in any lawful pursuit with knowledge of the blessings of liberty, and worship his own God as his conscience directs.

The finest thing about community boosting is that nobody is required to do it; and it thus becomes nobler and more commendable, springing not from compulsion but from the free exercise of choice.

Honest boosting is a product of the spirit; it comes from within.

The community boosting complex affects all alike, the banker, bootblack, teacher, merchant, homekeeper, student, newsboy, laborer, lawyer, editor, farmer—all can "get in" this wonderful club, this great American institution known as the Community; there is no exclusion unless one excludes one's self.

Community boosting is democracy in action; a lack of it is public dormancy.

To be a full-fledged booster, conduct must be so directed as to merit the confidence and good will of all the rest.

Each citizen can put forth constructive effort accordingly as he is able; and be that much or little, if it is from the heart it sows the seeds of accomplishment which will bring forth good fruit.

Success is making good things happen.

THE FEMININE FORUM

MRS. A. L. ODER, Columnist

Since last week's issue of the paper the writer has made another trip to the country. Most everywhere one sees nice cows in good condition. Have not noticed as many turkeys as usual and I am afraid the sausage crop will be short as I do not see very many hogs. Most farms seem to have a good many chickens. Many farm women tell me they read this column.

Miss Bernice Crossland
It was certainly a worthy act of Miss Bernice Crossland to give the necessary blood for a blood transfusion for Mrs. Jim Stephenson. Only in countries where the gospel of Christ is preached are such things done. Mrs. Stephenson is greatly improved and hopes are held out for her recovery.

Below we have the article about New York by Miss Olivia Land, promised in last week's paper. It is very interesting and gives information about New York City, we have never read elsewhere.

NEW YORK CITY

New York is exceedingly interesting in more than one way. Perhaps a great deal of its compelling interest lies in the fact that many of its features are unusual. For instance, we ordinarily think of a county containing several towns or cities. In the case of New York it is a city containing five counties. These five counties are located on three different islands, namely Manhattan, Long and Staten Islands besides the smaller islands; Bedloe, Governor's and Ellis.

Manhattan, is generally thought of as divided into two main districts; lower Manhattan and upper Manhattan, generally speaking lower Manhattan is the financial district. There in the lower section is Battery Park, and then Broadway begins its winding course through the main part of the city. In fact Broadway continues all of the way to Albany as it was an old trail dating back to the time when the Dutch first settled there. Branching off in an easterly direction from Broadway is the famous Wall Street. Buildings of interest in this section are those of the Stock Exchange, United States Treasury, Bank of J. F. Morgan, Chase National Bank, Guaranty Trust Company, Bank of Manhattan, and the famous Woolworth.

Upper Manhattan, generally speaking is the theatre and shopping district. Most of the well known theatres are grouped around Times Square. The fashionable shops are on Fifth Avenue or in its vicinity. The district lying between the group of tall buildings in upper Manhattan and those of lower Manhattan is one of wholesale manufacturing shops. East of Broadway in this section lies the east side slums and Chinatown where people live as if they were rats.

Long Island has Brooklyn and the famous Coney Island. For the most part it is more densely settled than Staten Island, which is eight miles across the bay from Manhattan. Staten Island is large enough that it has woods and truck farms in the city limits of New York.

A lady on Staten Island shops in Piggly Wiggly, Roulston, a small corner grocery or a convenient delicatessen for her groceries. The remainder of her shopping is usually done on Manhattan. When she goes to "the city" as they term Manhattan, to shop she must take practically the entire day. A bus takes her to the ferry. After a twenty minute ride on the ferry boat across the bay, she has the choice of riding to her destination by taxi street car, bus, elevated train or subway train. The largest department store Macy, on thirty fourth street and Broadway, is conveniently reached by the sixth Avenue elevated train. The John Wanamaker department store has a subway entrance on Broadway. The shopper walks out of the train directly into the basement floor of the store.

Many shoppers seem to have nothing definite in mind which they plan to purchase, but one could not discover the fact from their movements. Everyone walks and talks swiftly. It is stimulating to a native southern person to be in the midst of a people who seem to have an inexhaustible supply of energy.

Mrs. A. Ren Oliver
In the recent departure of Mrs. A. Ben Oliver for Louisville Ky., Santa Anna sustains quite a loss. Her violin solos were a special and appreciated feature of many programs. She is fitted to take her place among the good looking and talented women of the Blue Grass State. After her husband completes his work in the Seminary there they will go as missionaries to Brazil.

The Women of India
The writer always thought the women of India the most down trodden and submissive of any race of women, but now that India is in revolt, thousands of them are assisting the men in cutting down the Toddy Palms

Mrs. Weaver Continues Story of European Tour; Leaves Vienna For Switzerland, Europe's Beautyland

It was night and raining hard when we arrived at Prague, I got off the train and was near the station when I noticed my purse was gone. It contained all the money and the American Express Checks that I possessed. I ran back and climbed on the train the lights were burned out but I felt my way to what I thought was the compartment I had ridden in, I felt around and finally found the purse. Just as the officials turned on the lights to help me.

Prague has a population of 300,000 and is situated on the Elbe river. Our first visit was to the old town hall which has a wonderful old clock in its tower. Every time it strikes, figures of monks appear at the belfry windows and march around. Inside of the building is a very interesting painting showing the trial of John Huss, the great reformer. A statue of him stands in the square where he was burned. The ruins of the old city walls still remain. The old bridge across the river, built by Chas. IV, has a large statue of Christ on the Cross on it. The Christ is of gold and the Jews are required to keep it regilded every year. We also visited the old palace and the old castle which was surrounded by stone walls and had formerly been surrounded by a deep moat. We saw the old twelfth century table on which their republican constitution of 1918 was signed. They seem to be very proud of their republic.

There are many Catholic churches in Prague. The country surrounding it is very broken and mountainous. The raising of grain and stock are the leading industries. Our next stop was at Vienna, where Dr. Held, our conductor, was born. On Sunday morning we went to the Baptist church. Dr. Held, preached in English and a man translated his sermon in German. They sang several songs for us and seemed very glad indeed to have us worship with them.

Sunday afternoon we had a nice boathide up the Danube to Castle Grafenstein. The Danube is a beautiful stream. The next day we took a bus and visited all the important places in the city among which was St. Stephen's cathedral which has lovely windows and alters and contains some wonderful paintings. We spent some time in Schonbrunn palace. The former home of Queen Marie Therese and her sixteen children. The furnishings are wonderful and the grounds are the most beautiful that I saw in Europe. We also visited the rooms occupied by the late Emperor Francis Joseph, which were very plainly furnished. Vienna has furnished the world with several noted musicians including Strauss, Mozart and Schumann-Heink. We from which an intoxicating liquor is made. So instead of having one Carrie Nation as America did they have thousands of them. It is said to the shame of our western civilization that the people of India did not drink intoxicants until we and other nations taught it to them. They took it, like the red man did to the white man's "fire-water" One of the eleven objectives in Ghandi's revolt is national prohibition for India and being backed by the great horde of both men and women success is likely.

A Patriotic Song
This puzzle will put us to think and help us to know our neighbors better. All answers are the surnames of our citizens. Some times the spelling may not be the same.
Question 1. What kind of mattresses should Santa Anna folks buy?
2. What kind of Fountain pens?
3. What kind of grape juice?
4. What kind of plows should our farmers use?
5. What kind of a car should we drive?
6. What kind of shoes should we wear?

The answers to the above questions may be found on the last page.

Mrs. Rose Sterling
Every woman is usually interested in the way prominent women dress. Mrs. Sterling appeared at a recent large convention in very plain attire. She wore a plain print dress, black shoes, black hose and a plain black hat. Her family is one of the three or four wealthiest in Texas. It looks like they will be the next occupants of the Texas gubernatorial mansion, if so, they will likely set the pace for an era of "plain living and high thinking."

attended an opera where Heink made her first appearance.

The socialist are in power and control every thing in Austria, no one is allowed to hold any kind of a public office unless he belongs to this organization.

Horse meat is often served. I think they brought us some one night, but I did not partake of it. It was the coarsest grained meat I had ever seen.

The women are the most useful beasts of burden in all Europe. I saw one hitched to a heavy loaded cart in Vienna while her liege lord walked behind. I saw several in Holland wearing yokes and carrying loads heavy enough for a mule to carry. I saw them in Germany stooped over cutting grain with reap hooks and binding it with their hands. While the rain was pouring down. I have an idea that the women in those countries do not have time to gossip. That reminds me of an instrument of torture that I saw in the Tower. It was a gag. If a man or woman stirred up trouble by tattling or lying this instrument was put in his mouth and strapped to his head secure then he or she was placed in the most public place tied to a post and a placard attached to them stating their offence. I wondered if this punishment should have become obsolete.

Leaving Vienna early in the morning we traveled up the Danube valley, through a very picturesque country on one side was the river on the other, great mountain peaks with the clouds hovering below. In many places there were dense forests of spruce and pine growing. We arrived in Munich, at eight o'clock that night, tired and worn out but were soon sleeping soundly covered with a big feather bed.

Munich is a historic old town founded in the twelfth century by the monks. It is located on the river Isar, which was made famous by the battle of Hohenlinden. There are 80 churches and 73 of them are Catholic. Some are very quaint. There are also many beautiful fountains and picture galleries as well as museums.

Our next stop was at Oberammergau, which is a very odd village at the foot of the Bavarian Alps. We attended the Passion play here which lasts eight hours and is certainly worth seeing. After spending two nights and a day at Oberammergau, we left by bus for Switzerland, traveling all day in the rain. We saw many people driving oxen hitched to wagons. One woman was driving a cow hitched to a cart. We saw a number of vehicles which had tongues but only one horse hitched to it and the horse was always on the left side of the vehicle.

Switzerland is the most beautiful country in Europe and is the oldest republic in the world. Its independence was established in 1251 A. D. Stockraising, manufacturing watches, jewelry and woolen goods and wood carving are its leading industries. It has no common language. German, French and Italian are all spoken. Their president does not receive a salary and is elected to serve one year.

Lucerne situated on lake Lucerne is the prettiest town I have ever seen. The things of interest we saw here were the Catholic cathedral, where we attended church, the noted people are buried near the Cathedral. The old wooden bridge is an oddity. It is across the lake and is covered and contains paintings on its walls of Switzerland's struggles for freedom. The Lion of Lucerne is a huge carving on the side of a mountain. This statue is built as a monument to the Swiss soldiers who died defenders of Louis XVI of France at the Tuilleries. The names of 30 dukes who fell are inscribed on this monument. Glacier Garden is also very interesting. Mt. Pilatus and Mt. Rigi both tower above the city. Most of the time they are snow clad. No picture has ever done lake Lucerne justice. It is beautiful beyond description. We had a boat ride down the lake to Mt. Piz.

On Monday we left Lucerne and traveled through the William Tell country which is very wooded and wild. We saw the William Tell monument and chapel and Lake Zug where Goethe used to live when he wrote his drama "William Tell." We saw Mitter Lake which is very wonderful. We passed thru the town of Fluelen and took the grandest drive which is very thrilling. We continued around the mountains until we reached the Chimalal Pass. We stopped for lunch at the Blue Glacier, which is one of the wonders of the world. After going inside the glacier, we then descended the mountain and saw the Rhone river coming out of the mouth of the glacier. After passing through all kinds of grand scenery studded by beautiful lakes, rivers and waterfalls, we came to the village of Interlocken, which is located at the foot of Jung-Frau. We spent the night at a lovely old hotel and left next morning for Italy, passing through the Simplon tunnel.

Fort Worth's victory over Wichita Falls in the Texas League series Monday was not only a defeat on the part of the latter club but Santa Anna fans as well. Everyone in the city was pulling for the Spudders since their manager, W. Carl Williams is a resident of Santa Anna.

AGRICULTURAL THOUGHTS

When the Coleman County Fair closes on the night of the 11th day of October every citizen of Coleman should be able to say, "I did my part in making the fair what it was." By so saying, you do not mean that you attended the fair with a pocket full of money and spent the larger portion of it while in attendance. You would mean that you at least attended, and by attending you got some new ideas that will help you in whatever fields of work you are engaged upon. Too, you might mean that you did your best to give other people ideas and inspiration that will be of great benefit to them during the next year. If you had exhibited the best you had in agriculture, livestock, poultry, and the other divisions of the fair you could surely feel that you had done your part.

A fair is primarily for the display of products whereby important comparisons and exchanges of ideas might take place and as a result improve the general practice of farming and living. If nothing else attend the fair and get all the information that you can.

NEWSOGRAMS

News story from Washington, D. C., the nation's capital, affirm that as much food as ever is expected to be produced in the country this year despite the drought. Total shipments of the important fruits and vegetables have averaged 20,000 carloads a week, nearly as many as a year ago, and the department of agriculture, releasing new production figures predicted average or larger than average supplies of the chief food crops.

This at least is comforting. However, it is probable that the most of us will remain of the opinion that food is just as hard to get as before or even more so. Uncle Sam's biggest duty during his century and a half of existence has been primarily the job of feeding his mammoth family. Today he must provide food and clothing for 122,000,000. Big job, isn't it?

Speaking of droughts and Uncle Sam's big duty of feeding the American citizenship, we are not in the least pessimistic in saying that it is not likely that the Federal Government will do anything really beneficial in the form of drought relief. They promise loans... yes, but unfortunately there must be security behind every dollar, and still more unfortunate security is something the farmers of the stricken areas do not have.

Local banking institutions will be glad to make loans if they are secured against loss. There is no need of borrowing under such conditions.

But don't wait on Uncle Sam to do that unless you expect to live as long as Methuselah... by that time 1939 years' perhaps you won't need to borrow.

West Texas is certainly being aroused over the dramatic description of this glorious section in newspapers currently used in public schools of the Lone Star State. We're mad about it.

When a text book goes so far as to label the country in which you live "an arid wasteland" it's "mad" once someone was getting mad about it.

Members of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce are to see publishers of the text books for at least a million dollar damage.

And now comes the report that nothing is to be done about the use of the geographies in public schools in spite of the recommended suit and the declaration of the "Scandalously and demagogic and no description of West Texas territory."

Manager Williams of Spudders Returns to Santa Anna

Manager W. Carl Williams of the Wichita Falls baseball club returned to his home here, accompanied by Mrs. Williams, Monday night from Fort Worth. Williams' Spudders lost the Texas League pennant Monday to Fort Worth at the latter city when the deciding game of the league playoff was played.

The clubs were tied following Sunday's game when Wichita Falls won 5 to 4. Henry, Bill and Ben Parker and J. G. Williamson of Santa Anna attended Sunday's game at Panther field, while W. J. Hosh witnessed the championship diamond combat.

The Fort Worth Panthers began preparing to engage the Memphis Cheeks, Southern Association champs, in the Dixie series, annual post-season classis immediately after Texas League pennant was won by them. The first two games of the series were played Wednesday and Thursday of this week at Memphis.

Fort Worth Man Is Granted Gas Franchise Here

J. C. Pundt of Fort Worth has been granted a gas franchise by city commissioners of Santa Anna. It was announced this week that Pundt is local representative and is organizing the city gas utility, including mains and laterals.

Mr. Pundt proposes to furnish gas for both domestic and industrial purposes and the rate as set forth in the franchise is as follows: for domestic purposes, from one to three thousand cubic feet, the price will be 50 cents per thousand feet and for all over three thousand feet the rate will be 40 cents. The industrial rate is lower.

Announcement of the new franchise was made by A. C. McGibbey, oil operator in Coleman and Brown Counties, who stated that Coleman city commissioners also granted a thirty year franchise to Pundt.

Work of laying mains, which is expected to be under way soon is expected to help relieve whatever unemployment may exist at present.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Rev. E. H. Fitzwater, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute, Chicago, Ill.

Lesson for September 21

JONAH: THE NARROW NATION ALIST REBUKED

LESSON TEXT—Jonah 1:1-10; 2:1-11.

GOLDEN TEXT—And Peter opened his mouth, and said, 'Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons, but in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is acceptable to him.'

PRIMARY TOPIC—God's Love for All the World. JUNIOR TOPIC—God's Love for All the World. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What is the Nationalism? YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Nationalism and World Brotherhood.

In teaching this lesson, it will be necessary to sweep into view the entire Book of Jonah.

I. Jonah's Call and Commission (Ch. 1:1, 2).

Jonah, a Jew, was called to go and preach repentance to the Gentile city (Gen. 12:1, 2). The story of Jonah graphically portrays the history of Israel as a nation. God separated Israel to be the channel through which his mercy and salvation are to be carried to all nations. They, like Jonah, have been reluctant to duty. Because of this, God has caused them to be swallowed up by the nations which will one day spit them upon dry ground—Palestine. After severe chastisement, they will discharge their obligation, and the nations through the ministry will repent and turn to God.

II. Jonah's Flight From Duty (Ch. 1:3-7).

He turned his back upon God and attempted to flee from his presence. He did not believe in foreign missions. In the same way Israel has become an apostate people.

III. Jonah's Correction (Jonah 1:8-17).

1. Overtaken by storm (v. 4). Trouble soon came upon the disobedient servant of God. So with the Jews, misfortune after misfortune have overtaken them because they turned from God. They are now being tested about by the surging of the nations.

2. Cast overboard (v. 15).

In their perplexity the sailors cast lots, and the lot fell upon Jonah. According to his direction they cast him overboard. God had prepared a great fish which swallowed him.

3. Jonah's deliverance (Ch. 2).

Jonah in his affliction turned to God and prayed (James 5:13). God miraculously preserved him while in the belly of the fish, and he has miraculously preserved Israel in the heart of the nations. The fish could not digest Jonah, neither can the nations digest Israel. Jonah repented while in the fish. So Israel will repent as they go into the great tribulation. God made the fish to vomit out Jonah. So he will at the proper time cause the nations to cast out Israel.

IV. Jonah's Commission Renewed (Ch. 3).

His experience made him willing to do God's bidding.

1. His field (v. 3).

He was to go to Nineveh, a large city, the people of which were most cruel. Israel's field is the Gentile nations.

2. His message (v. 4).

He was instructed to "preach the preaching" commanded by God. Forty days were given to the people in which to repent. God's supreme desire is that all should repent (II Peter 3:9). This message represents the heart of God in dealing with sinners.

3. Repentance of the Ninevites (vv. 5-8).

(1) They believed God (v. 5). They believed that God was speaking to them through Jonah about their sins, and was announcing impending judgment.

(2) They proclaimed a fast (vv. 5-8). The king and people joined sincerely in this movement. They were called to turn from their sins. They put on sackcloth, the sign of penitence.

(3) They reasoned that God would repent (v. 9). The sending to them of a prophet encouraged them to believe that God would show mercy unto them if they repented.

V. Jonah's Behavior (Jonah 4:1-11).

1. He repines at God's action (vv. 1-3). He now makes known the real reason for his flight from duty. He knew that the gracious God would spare the people who repented. The treatment of the Ninevites at the hand of the Ninevites was such that Jonah did not want God to forgive them. We have here a case of a preacher of repentance mortified when the people repent and are pardoned.

2. God reproves Jonah (vv. 4-11). By means of the gourd God showed him his error. This closing scene affords a striking example of the patience and pity of God in contrast with the hard-heartedness of man.

Are Visiting Here

Miss Mary Lee Hampton, of Quanah is visiting friends here before leaving for Austin to assume duties as a junior student of the University of Texas. Miss Hampton, who is majoring in Journalism at the University, was employed with the Quanah Tribune Chief during the summer months.

AS WE SEE IT

Comment on brief editorial opinions as expressed by newspapers of the state and especially the weekly publications that come to our exchange desk will serve as the subject matter of this column, although of course we reserve the privilege to fill this column with whatever subject matter may present itself.

But before we submit editorial squibs and offer our comment, it might be wise in inaugurating "As We See It" to submit "The Journalist's Creed" as written by Dr. Walter Williams, Dean of the School of Journalism at the University of Missouri, who was recently elevated to the presidency of that leading educational institution.

It follows: I believe in the profession of journalism.

I believe that the public journal is a public trust, that all connected with it are, to the full measure of our responsibility, trustees of the public; that acceptance of lesser service than the public service is betrayal of this trust.

I believe that clear thinking and clear statement, accuracy and fairness, are fundamental to good journalism.

I believe that a journalist should write only what he holds in his heart to be true.

I believe that a suppression of the news, for any consideration other than the welfare of society is indefensible.

I believe that no one should write as a journalist what he would not say as a gentleman—that bribery by one's pocket book is as much to be avoided as bribery, that individual responsibility may not be escaped by pleading another's instructions or another's dividends.

I believe that advertising news, and editorial columns should alike serve the best interests of readers; that a single standard of helpful truth and fairness should prevail for all—that the supreme test for good journalism which succeeds best and best deserves success—fearless and unswerving independence, unmoved by pride of opinion or greed of power—constructive tolerance but never careless, self-entitled, patient always respectful of its readers but always unflinching in its judgment at injustice; is unswayed by the appeal of privilege or the clamor of the mob—seeks to give every man a chance and as far as law and honest regard and recognition of human brotherhood can make it so, an equal chance; is profoundly patriotic while sincerely promoting international good will and co-operating world-comradship; is a journalism of humanity, of life for today's world.

Every profession must have its creed, and a creed that may be summed up briefly in one single word: "Others." When the journalist forgets that, he forgets all. The same is with our profession whatever it may be.

The Pecos Enterprise: "What a clean little city!" Yes Agnes the tourist meant Pecos. Of course, the good lady didn't visit alleys; there are, yet a few just a few, that could be improved, from a sanitary angle.

If a tourist can mean what he is remarking "What a clean little city!" the city spoken of has splendid basis for being boastful. It has reason to voice its advantages, industries, civic development for along with these there is civic pride enough to not neglect its attractiveness and sanitary conditions.

If a city is to sell "itself" to tourists who pass along its way

It must be clean and attractive. But to have an attractive city, the city must first be "sold" to its citizenship.

The "Twenty Years Ago" column in Fort Worth Star-Telegram: Americans are automobile mad! Hundreds of persons have put themselves in positions of bankruptcy during the first six months of 1910 by mortgaging their homes and hypothecating valuable securities to buy automobiles. So read a resolution passed by the Bankers' Association of White Plains, New York at its July, 1910, session.

So Americans were automobile mad twenty years ago... and today. At least it is quite probable that some Bankers' Association will tell you the same story they told the press of July, 1910. Automobiles, however, have revolutionized transportation. They have made it possible to go in one day a distance it took weeks and even months to go before the "horseless carriage" came into being and grew to its present state of perfection.

In 1910 the automobile in its crude state of imperfection was a luxury that only the wealthy could afford. Today it has become a necessity.

Yet some will tell you that the automobile is to blame for many present day conditions. It has taken a portion of the small town's trade to the adjoining cities to the former's detriment. Literally thousands meet death annually in automobile accidents. Many sacrifice health by going hungry to purchase gasoline for the automobile. . . . but is the automobile to blame for such action. . . . there is a driver behind the steering wheel, you know.

The advantages and numerous social benefits in the development of the nation directly attributed to the automobile great offset any negative argument.

For example, the automobile industry furnishes employment for 3,963,459 American souls and an additional 737,000 may be considered employed indirectly by

COMMON SENSE

We profess to be endowed with common sense but make poor use of it in public matters. Gladstone is quoted as saying, "The longer I live the more I am convinced that the so called educated classes are a little more conspicuously ignorant in public affairs than any other." There is ground for applying this in Texas. One of our State Senators is reported as saying that the next Legislature when it meets in January should give its time to passing the appropriations, redistricting the State and then go home. He must know that, that is but a small part of Legislative work. It is easy to pass appropriations. It is quite another matter to find the revenues.

Under the Constitution there are but three possible sources of revenues now used; the ad valorem tax, inheritance tax and occupation taxes. The income tax has not yet been called into use of course there are large revenues secured from fees and service rendered by the state, but these are of little concern to our statesmen, although such fees and servitude charges are a very material part in the cost of living and doing business.

One of the first things the next Legislature will be obliged to do is to find money to make up a deficit in appropriations, already made. I stated in a previous article that the automatic tax board should have increased the levy for the general fund at least 5c. That would have saved the immediate scramble for the industry, such being those rearing and selling gasoline, highway officials, contractors and engineers and the workers producing the raw materials consumed by the automobile industry.

Altogether there are over 4,700,000 who owe their livelihood to the manufacture and use of motor vehicles.

The Bankers Association of '919 never thought of that. Before we condemn a thing, let us first consider its advantages.

funds that must now be secured from some special tax on business, it is a "condition and not a theory" that we are up against.

There is a determined effort on the part of a few political leaders to break down and abandon the ad valorem tax for State purposes and in its stead resort to taxes on business and corporations. They talk of taxing "natural resources" but they don't mean what they say or else are ignorant of what natural resources are.

Natural resources are proper subjects of taxation but natural resources are made of the land on which we live and work, oil in place, sulphur in place, coal, salt, etc., as nature has provided for man. Land in Texas had no value till people moved in and values grew as population increased. Oil in place had no value until people needed oil. The same is true of any natural resource.

Here is a great reservoir of funds for taxation practically untouched. We have at least five billions in land values on which to draw for public purposes. Then there are the royalties and bonuses paid for oil. In this great industry royalties and bonuses only should be called on to contribute.

We invite our sulphur companies for investing millions in our State when as a matter of fact we should look to royalties only. We decry monopoly but ignore the greatest monopoly of our "natural resources" and the only monopoly is by taking of its value for public revenues.

It is here that common sense is needed, but it is hard to forget and hard to learn. We are bound by custom and tradition and are too fearful to accept unanswerable conclusions.

"—And There's Only One Meter for the New Home Comfort Rate"

Another big advantage of the new Home Comfort rate is that you have only one meter in your home. Regardless of the number of electric appliances you operate, there is only one meter to be read—and all electric service is figured on the same basis; that is, the lighting rate has been lowered to where it is now possible to use electric refrigerating service or heating and cooking service through the one meter. This is important from the standpoint of economy, for it means that everything electrical in your home benefits by the low Additional Service rate.

For instance, in the average five room house, in a month ordinary lights and small appliances should utilize most of the service billed on the initial and second rates. Then your meter will record all additional use on the low 4c rate—3c where service is also used for heating or cooking.

There will be no bother of two meter readings or two bills. Everything will be compact, definite and easily understandable.

I'm thinking of new advantages so rapidly that I can hardly wait from week to week for the opportunity of explaining them to you. I'll be with you again next week, and I'm sure I'll have some interesting facts."

Forster, Jameson and Pollard Get Gladys Bell Sand on Kingsberry

Forster, Jameson and Pollard last week hit the Gladys Bell sand at 1361 feet in their well on the Kingsberry Estate, six miles south of Santa Anna. The well is estimated as a 20-30 barrel producer and as they have no pipe line connection at the present time they have put up two 100 barrel tanks for storage.

"PAP" and "MA" ELY MARRIED FOR 70 YEARS VISIT FRIENDS IN CROSS PLAINS THE PAST WK.

Harold Bell Wright once remarked in one of his writings that it takes a lot of love and religion for a couple to marry and live together for fifty years. Should this famed author had been in Cross Plains the past of a couple that will celebrate their seventieth wedding anniversary in October he would no doubt have felt that his words were wisely uttered.

Such is the case of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Ely, who visited here this week. Mr. and Mrs. Ely were bound in marriage nearly seventy years ago and now have 124 grand-children. They lived in Texas when ownership of the vast plains was disputed almost daily by the Indians and the whites. Mr. Ely is an old time Baptist minister and once spread the doctrine into Callahan county having the present site of Stephenville as his headquarters. He was also scout and was often in hand to hand battle with the redmen. Mr. Ely related the fact that the present city of Ranger was named because a company of Texas Rangers once camped there for several months. It was then known as Ranger camp, but later part of the women was dropped.

Mr. and Mrs. Ely visited Mr. and Mrs. Sam Barr while in Cross Plains. At present their home is at 1802 West Coover St. Fort Worth, Texas.—Cross Plains Review.

ANOTHER SIDE OF THE DROUGHT RELIEF

Washington, September—To what extent the Federal government has aided drought relief is a subject of comment by the Baltimore Sun, the Lynchburg News and Richmond Times Dispatch.

Referring to the proposed use of the Red Cross $5,000,000 for relief of farmers in absolute destitution, the Sun says: "The Red Cross is not a part of the national government. Its funds are provided by the people in voluntary contributions. And save, courtesy, the national government has nothing to do with the expenditure of these funds."

Concerning the relief to be given through the federal aid road fund, the Sun declares: "That is not a gift from the national government. It is not even an extra appropriation for roads to be spent in cooperation with the state government."

On the reduction of railroad rates on animal feeds, the Sun comments: "That is not a favor from the President. The railroad will foot the cost."

To all of which the Lynchburg News agrees and adds on its own behalf: "Finally there is the matter of credit to drought stricken farmers. That perhaps the most effective aid that can be given. What the farmers need is to be placed in a position to help themselves. In the end that is going to come down to a matter to a helpful attitude on the part of local bankers."

"Thus it can be seen that behind all the ballyhoo most of the suggestions of how the drought stricken areas can be aided do not involve any real measure of Federal aid. In large part, the suggestion is, that the states which have been hard hit help themselves."

The Richmond Times Dispatch declares that the first constructive suggestion for drought relief advanced by the state relief bodies is the suggestion of former Governor Byrd, Chairman for Virginia, to Secretary Hyde that 25,000,000 bushels of wheat now held by the Federal Farm Board be utilized as feed for live stock at reasonable prices and on liberal terms. Concerning this, the Lynchburg News says: "Not one of the things talked about prior to the drought was

FAYNE'S CELLMATE IN AMARILLO JAIL RELATES STORY OF HIS SUICIDE

Mystery of the explosive blast by which A. D. Payne, Amarillo attorney snuffed out his life in his cell at Amarillo recently were disclosed by his cellmate R. L. Conder, Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Conder, Sr. of Norton. The Runnels County youth was held on a minor charge and told his story to newspapermen only after securing a promise of aid in getting a release. He also asked the reporter to help him in "squaring himself" with his mother in Norton, who, he said did not know her son was in jail. The release was effected by payment of a fine for the minor offense with which Conder was charged.

A small bottle of powder and other contents from a stick of dynamite had been carried by Payne between his legs since the day of his arrest, August 5, on the charge of murdering his wife and maiming his son, A. D., Jr. when their coupe was blown to bits some time before. The bottle with its contents had been prepared by the confessed wife-slayer about two days before his arrest and he had it secreted on his person at the time he was first placed in jail, the Runnels County youth told newspapermen.

The bottle, about three inches long, and but little larger than a lead pencil, had been concealed between his legs by a strip of adhesive tape which held the bottle tight against his body in a manner that escaped the officers of Amarillo, Stinnett and Potter County, despite their close and repeated searches.

A small fuse, similar to that of a fire-cracker, extended from the neck of the bottle. The bottle was corked with putty which held the fuse in place.

The blast was set off by Payne in his cell when he struck the bottle in side his undershirt over his chest and pressed a cigarette stub to the fuse. An instant before he turned over on his bunk pressing the charge between his body and the mattress. Payne's cellmate had withheld the truth, he said, because he hoped to keep it secret until he could incorporate it in a book which he says he hopes to write.

Conder did not learn of Payne's exact method for killing him self until 15 minutes before the charge was set off, although Payne had told him the previous night that he "had everything prepared and could go at any time."

On Friday night at almost midnight, Payne in recounting his plans to Conder removed the bottle from between his legs and showed it to Conder, after exacting his promise that he would not "tell anybody" a word about it until he was gone. Conder's version was corroborated, in the opinion of officers, when tailor J. W. Graves, reported that he found a piece of adhesive tape about six inches long in Payne's cell.

Undertakers reported that a small steel object, the length of a long had been found on Payne's right arm, indicating burns caused by the fuse as it sprayed for an instant.

Conder's statement as given to Mr. Johnson was accepted by Sheriff Bill Thompson as "the only logical and plausible plan whereby Payne could have hidden the deadly charge."

"That shows," said Mr. Thompson, "that he got by all of us, including the police and officers at Stinnett who searched him several times."

Payne told Conder that the bottle was filled with a "special preparation" which he had taken from dynamite, and that he had experimented with it and knew that he had enough to kill himself. "The bottle," said Payne, "is equivalent to about one-third of a stick of dynamite."

The 100th anniversary of the first recorded use of gas for cooking purposes was observed this year. The first cooking was done by means of a lot. The first gas stove was evolved twenty years later but little used until the late 70s following the Centennial Exposition. Fifty per cent of the families of America now depend on gas for cooking.

FREE PUBLICITY IS VIOLATION OF LAW

Washington—The practice of printing publicity matter as read certain advertisers in blackjacking newspaper publishers into printing publicity material as reading material is to be stopped by the postoffice department it was announced Monday.

The department has acted on the complaint of newspaper publishers after holding an investigation into the methods pursued by certain advertisers, who it is alleged, have threatened publishers with the loss of display advertisements if they did not use the publicity matter sent to them as news for editorial matter.

Assistant Postmaster General Tilton said under postal laws newspaper publishers who comply with such requests are conspiring against the government and are liable to $10,000 fine or imprisonment for two years.

The postal laws provide that publicity matter submitted in a publication as straight editorial or reading matter must be plainly marked with the word "Advertisement." Failure to comply

SENTIMENT OR SENSE

Foolish agitators have been busy in many ways sounding warnings to the public of dire disaster unless they trade with certain groups of merchants, or avoid other groups.

Although fairminded people are not greatly concerned with the many and sundry woes of merchants, everyone is interested and entitled to know how any merchant stands with regard to matters which affect the customers' welfare.

The question of "Who owns a store?" or "How is it owned?" can hardly determine whether it is a MERIT store. That is determined, regardless of ownership, by the manner in which it serves its customers and its community.

Merchants who are devoted to the cause of better community service have no time to quarrel with competition. In fact, they welcome it, recognizing in fair and upright competition a spur and incentive to more efficiency, better methods and greater alertness to the interest of customers.

Such men are MERIT Merchants. They do not fight progress.

The merchant who falls short when measured with the yardstick of public service will gradually but surely fade from the picture.

The great buying public will be jury and judge of "Who Are MERIT Merchants?" Their decision will stand.

HISTORY'S MYSTERIES

Unsolved Riddles That Still Puzzle Authorities Here and Abroad

The Fate of "Fighting Mac"

THE son of a Scotch laborer, Hector MacDonald commenced his eventful life in the most prosaic of manners—first as a bare-foot plowboy and then as a clerk in a country store.

In company with a small body of men, MacDonald found himself surrounded by some two thousand or more natives, bent upon the total destruction of the British soldiers.

During the years that followed, MacDonald's career was one of almost continual success. During the Sudan campaign he was raised to the rank of colonel in appreciation of his defeat of a Dervish attack upon the British flank and during the Boer war, his accomplishments were so marked that he was knighted and made a brigadier general.

During the intervening years, however, he had been constantly waging another war—one against the prejudices and enmity of certain officers of the army who were jealous of the former private's advancement and who, in consequence, tried to do everything in their power to belittle and humiliate him.

His nerves frayed by the constant strain under which he had labored, and feeling he had been abandoned by the friends he had made, Sir Hector applied for leave of absence in order to return to London, where he had a personal interview with Lord Roberts, who is reported to have advised him to return to Ceylon and fight the accusations to the limit.

But his reported death by an assassin's hand ended this strange journey of events connected with his career. Although the Scotch soldier was supposed to be a bachelor, his family was informed that the widow had taken the body back to Scotland and that the interment had taken place quietly with no military honors whatever.

Our class intends to do number of things of interest for the school and for ourselves. There will be the Senior play, Senior Day and we will probably have an annual, if so there will be the annual play and other activities in which we will participate.

Incidentally the commission of inquiry into the charges against him in Ceylon returned a report completely absolving him from all blame—but no inquiry, official or otherwise, has ever swept away the veil of mystery which surrounds the fate of one of the most gallant officers who ever fought under the British flag.

Trachoma on Decrease Trachoma is less prevalent among the Indians of Arizona and New Mexico than it has been. A survey made in 1912 was repeated in 1928. In the 11 tribes under observation there was a reduction of about 64 per cent in the incidence of trachoma.

The Mountaineer

The Mountaineer is the Official organ of the Santa Anna High School. News notes of the institution will appear in each issue of The News in this section of the publication.

THE STAFF

Alme Harper and Irene McCreary, two of the most popular Senior girls of the Santa Anna High School were nominated for editor-in-chief of The Mountaineer staff for the ensuing year.

She will be ably assisted by Carl Flores, assistant editor-in-chief; A. G. Weaver, joke editor; John E. Smith, sports editor; June Bond, Senior reporter; Woodrow Neill, Junior reporter; Kathryn Rollins, Sophomore reporter; Thelma Lowe, Freshman reporter.

We are expecting The Mountaineer staff to get out the school notes by themselves, but we want cooperation from the whole student body and teachers! The Staff.

COOPERATION

With the beginning of school we naturally think of the way to make our school the best in the state. There is no better way than cooperation. Cooperation is needed in athletics, school activities, the school paper and in reality everything that is a success.

Some students think the Mountaineer staff should prepare the paper. We will admit that they do a large part of the work but the cooperation of every student is needed. If you know of something that would be of interest to the school, write it or get someone on the staff to write it. The Mountaineer is the representative of the student body, so your help is needed.

Let us strive to make the Mountaineer of 1930-31 the best school paper we have had. Let us strive to ever keep before the public the progress of the school.

THANKS

We wish to take this opportunity of thanking Mr. Gregg and Mr. and Mrs. Callan for offering us space for publication of The Mountaineer.

May they be assured that we will do all in our power to supply news which will be worthy of publication.—The Staff.

CLASSES ORGANIZE

Seniors are proud of their class again this year for the number enrolled, the popularity of the students, the number of football boys who are Seniors, and are very proud of our sponsor, Mrs. Scarborough, who has done so much for the class. Under her leadership we have progressed a great deal since our Freshman year.

We elected the class officers for this year last spring. They are as follows:

President, William Earl Ragsdale, vice president, A. G. Weaver; secretary, John Franklin Turner; treasurer, Alme Harper; reporter, Irene McCreary and June Bond.

Our class intends to do number of things of interest for the school and for ourselves. There will be the Senior play, Senior Day and we will probably have an annual, if so there will be the annual play and other activities in which we will participate.

Come on Seniors and cooperate in order that we will have the best Senior class ever in the history of Santa Anna High school!

The Junior class of 1930-31 held a meeting at their regular home room period Thursday, September 11. Bessie Evans introduced our class officers to the new students of the class as follows:

President, Annie Wilson, vice-president Kathryn Rose Penny; secretary-treasurer, Jessie Lee Sparkman; reporter, Woodrow Neill.

We discussed a few of our past activities of the summer months and also a few plans for the school term.

We have also elected the assistant editor-in-chief for The Mountaineer, who is Carl Flores. Annie Wilson, a junior, has been elected yell leader. We believe and trust in her to do her part.

Our class may not be as large as some. There has been enrolled up to this date 38 members. We are expecting a successful school term.

The Sophomore class has now enrolled 47. There are a number of new pupils whom we are glad to have in our class. They are Nathan Myers, Leon Wilson, Jesse Cain, Glen Corley of Pioneer, Robert Demossy from Junction, who comes highly recommended for scholarship; Melvin McCreary of Plover; John Walker Taylor, Katie Thorp from Cleveland, Jane Whitlock coming back from Waco, Edith Watson of Concho Peak, Emerson Williams of Plainview, Weima Williams of Line. Weima is the daughter of Carl Williams the manager of the Wichita Falls baseball team.

We have a few boys on the football team and would like to have more in our room.

We elected the following class officers this week: President, Clifford Wheeler; vice president, Jane Whitlow; secretary, Helen Turner; reporter, Catherine Rollins; treasurer, Nowin Myers.

We, the Freshman class of Santa Anna High School are glad to get a start in school. We have been classmates for the past four of five years and we are glad to get a start of working together again.

We are very glad to have enrolled four new pupils in our class this year. They are Louis Wilsford of Snyder, Richard White of Temple, Oklahoma, Beatrice Powell of Coleman and Duri Griffith, whom we had with us part of last year from Turner Ranch.

We are all going to try to do our best this year so as to have the honor of being the best Freshman class that has ever entered high school.

We met together Friday morning and elected our class officers. We want to strive to keep to the top with our class. Officers are: President, Richard White; vice-president, Annie Louise Watkins, secretary-treasurer, Louis Wilsford; reporter, Thelma Lowe.

CHAPEL

Chapel was held in the auditorium Friday morning. Due to a new system we now have chapel from 10:00-10:30. As is the custom, apart of the Mountaineer staff was elected. John E. Smith was elected sports editor and A. G. Weaver, joke editor. The Senior are given the right to elect the editor-in-chief and the Juniors the assistant editor-in-chief. Mrs. Locke again challenges the athletes to work for the $500 gold piece and read the rules concerning the wearing of school letters.

WHO WILL BE FOOTBALL SPONSOR?

Tuesday morning the various classes chose their representatives for football sponsor. The Seniors chose Geneva Atkins, a very popular girl and naturally they are expecting to elect her. The Juniors chose Marion Eads. She, too would make a good athletic sponsor. Catherine Rollins will represent the Sophomore class. The Freshmen chose Louise Wilsford to represent them.

As no public donation will be asked this year, all please contribute as much as possible for this money goes to the athletic fund.

PEP RALLY

Students of Santa Anna High School have already caught the school spirit. Thursday night about fifty students gathered at the high school for a pep rally.

With Annie Wilson as pep leader and Mary Simpson as assistant, there are splendid prospects for a good pep squad. A tour of the main part of town was made in order to instill into the citizens of Santa Anna the spirit of cooperation.

About nine o'clock we adjourned all pepped up for the Brownwood game.

SPORTS

Spectators of the Brownwood Santa Anna football game were well entertained. If their interest in the game began to wane there was a very exciting rooster fight to revive them. Then there were two Brownwood young hopefuls who gladdened the hearts of prize fight fans.

The Santa Anna High School heartily thank the kind and efficient support of C. A. Walker and Andrew Schreiber, two of Santa Anna's leading business men. These two supporters called off all business engagements Friday afternoon and carried their cars full of high school students to the game at Brownwood.

Phillips Drug Company has offered a milk shake to every member of the football squad after every game, regardless of the outcome of said game. Now watch the football squad increase. Speaking of the football team Santa Anna has several new men who look as though they may pan out to be the best that ever carried a peeled nose for old S. A. H. S.

The football delegation from Paint Rock High School will be on hand here Friday, September 19, 1930. A. D. to assist Santa Anna exhibit the ancient, manly art of showing and shin-kicking. This will be the first time we have ever played Paint Rock so let's make a god impression by having a bumper crop of supporters... and don't say you will be too busy.

Let's eliminate the unpleasantness of subscribing to the athletic fund by attending the football games which will be played here this season. We guarantee you plenty of excitement at each game.

Friday afternoon quite a few of the pep members were absent from school due to the game with Brownwood.

Annie Wilson and Mary Simpson proved themselves able yell leaders, loud yells were heard from the Santa Anna line. All the girls had the school spirit and rooted for the Mountaineers to the utmost.

Come on girls let's have a large crowd out for the game. Let's show the football boys that we are pulling for them with all our might.

JOKES

Wilburn Dubois II. "Say, didn't you work in a marble quarry?" John F. "Yeah but they fired me."

Wilburn "What for?" John F. "They said I took too much for granite."

The superintendent of our school got out of bed the other night and struck a match to see if his wife had left the light on in the bed room.

Diner "Why does that dog sit and look at me all the time?" Walter "You have the plate he usually eats from, sir."

Mrs. Scarborough "Give a sentence with a direct object." Billy Ford "You are pretty." Mrs. S. "What's the object?" Billy Ford "A good grade."

Mr. Turner "Where have you been, Charles?" Charles "Fishin'."

Mr. Turner "Come into the woodshed and we'll go on a whaling expedition."

Mr. and Mrs. Scarborough were in an auto smash-up. Glass and other encumbrances flew around for awhile and Mr. Scarborough fatally wounded (or so he thought) gasped:

"It's no use, I'm done for." "Heavens," shrieked his wife, "don't end your sentence with a preposition."

THE CHANGING LINE-UP

New alliances are constantly being formed. The two great political parties remain intact as institutions. The necessity for party government is apparent but it is difficult for any political party or organization to keep abreast of the trend of thought of the people that make up its membership.

There are fundamental differences between the Republican and the Democrat parties. The difference is so marked that in each national campaign forces are arrayed against each other in strong argument and political bitterness. No debate is more intense than that which occurs in political campaigns and there is a reason. The necessity for checks and balances in existing functions is greater, perhaps, than the inherent good in the issue discussed by this line of reasoning we would not urge one Republican to become a Democrat nor one Democrat to become

In spite of droughts and unfavorable conditions that cover the entire nation, Santa Anna is destined to witness favorable season through the combined cooperation of the citizenship and business men of this little city.

A special training class on "organization and administration of the Sunday School" will hold its first session for the week Sunday afternoon at three o'clock.

Sermon Subjects:
Sunday morning: "Observing the Sabbath." What does Sunday mean to you? Do you really think it should be a different day to the other days of the week? How would you make it so? Should it be a happy and attractive day as well as a holy and a sacred one? If you care to grow in grace and goodness of heart, and perhaps to receive more light on the Christian observance of the Sabbath, you are invited to join in this service of worship Sunday morning.

Sunday evening: "Obeying Jesus." Is Jesus Christ Lord of your life, or do you claim to be solely in command? What determines the choices you make; your own personal desires, or what you believe to be the Lord's will? James Gibson and Bokie Turner turned in a good game in the line. Neal Oakes called a nice game for Santa Anna and Jack DuBols did exceptionally well at half. The entire team showed unbreakable fight throughout the game.

Baptist Church
The subject for the next Sunday morning will be "Meaning of Church Membership. According to the Bible." This will be a purely Biblical discussion stripped of human interpretation as nearly as possible. Church membership means but little to many nothing to many, but to some it is an exalted privilege with us at this hour.

The night subject will be: "Heaven, a Prepared Place for Prepared People." Such questions as these will be discussed in this sermon: "Will I know my loved ones in heaven? Will we all enjoy it alike? What is the certain route to take to get there? Will this life have any bearing on Heaven? Come and bring your lost friends and we will try to tell you something that will help your poor tired spirit. This will be a special message of comfort for those who have dead loved ones.—Hal C. Wingo, Pastor.

will? Do you honestly try to obey Jesus in all your ways? There will be a special musical number at both the morning and the evening service. Bring your family and your friends to these services Sunday.

Tuesday is Missionary and Pastor day for the Brownwood District; and the members of the Woman's Missionary Society and the pastors of the district will meet in an all day meeting at Central Church Brownwood.
