

Plans, Purposes and Functions of Federal Farm Board and Cotton Co-operative Associations

THE FEDERAL FARM BOARD
The Federal Farm Board was created by an act of Congress passed in June of 1929.

Its function is to represent the government of the United States in the application of farm aid measures made possible under the Act.

It consists of a body of men, one for each major agricultural commodity, and one representing business in general. The chairman of the board is the Hon. Alexander Legge, of Chicago. Its cotton commodity member is the Hon. Carl Williams, of Oklahoma.

THE AMERICAN COTTON CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION
The American Cotton Co-operative Association is a corporation sponsored by the Federal Farm Board and owned by co-operative marketing organizations.

Its function is to merchandise the cotton of the members of the various cotton co-operative associations which own stock in it, and which are recognized by the Federal Farm Board. It will also be the agency through which the Federal Farm Board will make loans to the various cotton co-operatives for the benefit of their members. Another function of the American Cotton Co-operative Association will be, under certain conditions, to act as a stabilization corporation for the purpose of checking unwarranted declines in the market. Still another function will be the initiation and co-ordination of acreage control measures, pure seed programs, etc.

The operations of the American Cotton Co-operative Association will be carried on by a board of directors under the supervision of the Federal Farm Board, with the advice of any advisory committee created by the Act.

The president of the American Cotton Co-operative Association is Mr. Allen Northington of Montgomery, Ala. The vice-president and secretary is Mr. C. O. Moser of Dallas, Texas. Its vice-president and general manager is Mr. E. F. Creekmore, of Fort Smith, Ark.

THE TEXAS COTTON CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION

The Texas Cotton Co-operative Association is being formed to represent the Texas Cotton farmers as stockholders in the American Cotton Co-operative Association and as the medium through which the nation program will be carried out in this state.

The plans for the Texas Cotton Co-operative Association were drawn by a committee appointed by Governor Dan Moody at the request of the Federal Farm Board. This committee, headed by Dr. T. O. Walton, president of A. & M. College, took as a basis the organization of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association, and, working from it developed a plan of organization designed to set up and to conform to condition peculiar to Texas. Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association members will be asked to affiliate with the Texas Cotton Co-operative Association and sign the liberalized marketing agreement.

The state has been divided into six districts, and each one of these districts will become a separate and independent organization as soon as sufficient cotton is delivered from it to warrant the establishment of a separate set-up. For the coming season all districts will be operated under a statewide set-up.

The functions of the Texas Cotton Co-operative Association (to be assumed by the district associations as they are formed) will be as follows:

(a) To receive, ship and settle for members' cotton under arrangements entered into with the American Cotton Co-operative Association.

(b) To keep the accounts of members.

(c) To make arrangements with the A. C. C. A. for the setting-up and operation of various forms of pools.

(d) To represent its members' interests in the A. C. C. A.

(e) To carry out the policies of the Farm Board as promulgated through the A. C. C. A.

The Texas Cotton Co-operative Association will maintain branch

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR PICNIC

Last Saturday night Rev. and Mrs. M. L. Womack chaperoned the Christian Endeavor and some invited guests on a picnic.

When all arrived several went to the water's edge to watch the moon rise. Others stayed on the spillway and talked. After all had come up from the lake they ate supper, which consisted of sandwiches, potato chips, pickles, fruit and cake. After supper they all went to the pump-house to get water.

Those enjoying the outing were Rev. and Mrs. M. L. Womack, Misses Charlotte Oakes, Catherine and Elizabeth Rollins, Olive and Louise Pace, Nell Bell, Irene McCreary, Christine Marshall, Christine Wilburn of Dallas, and Mary Lela Woodward, Messrs. Ernest Lee Womack, J. T. Oakes, Edwin Rollins, Eugene Watkins, A. G. Weaver and Garrett Slaughter.

Mrs. J. H. Briscoe, Mrs. S. K. Morlock and baby visited friends in Cross Plains and Rising Star Friday.

Mrs. W. R. Baxter of San Saba and Mrs. J. W. Kirkpatrick were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Polk of Abilene.

Henry Turner motored over to Fort Worth Friday and accompanied his mother, Mrs. Fred W. Turner, home Monday. Mrs. Turner was visiting in Fort Worth with her daughter, Mrs. Robert Griffin.

Branch offices will be maintained in the more important cotton centers where the prospective volume of receipts will warrant their establishment.

These offices will be in charge of Federally licensed classifiers. A clerical force will be provided to receive and ship cotton and to make settlements with members. Regular market quotations, together with daily basis sheets and grade and staple differentials, will be received and posted.

Receiving agents will be stationed at points where the volume will not justify a branch office. These agents will receive and ship members' cotton and will post daily market information.

Powell Plays Villainy Role In New Film

BUT SUAVE WILLIAM PROVES HE CAN BE A VERY LOVABLE BAD MAN TYPE

William Powell, whose versatility is admired by millions of enthusiastic talking screen fans all over the world, is coming to the Queen Theatre on next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in another of those splendid characterizations of his.

The picture, an all-dialogue Paramount release, is "Street of Hance," an original story by Oliver H. P. Garrett, former star reporter of the New York World.

It is a picture in which "big-time" professional gambling is held up to the mirror of reality. Powell is the central character, "Natural" Davis, lord of all the gamblers, who nightly gather in green-shaded hotel rooms to stake their fortunes and sometimes their lives on the deal of a poker hand.

Powell is a lovable villain. Immersed as he is in the lawless swirl of poker cards, nevertheless he has a sympathetic spot in his case-hardened heart for Regis Toomey, his young brother. Powell pays thousands for the college education of his brother and thousands more to prevent the lad from following along the treacherous pathway that he himself has followed.

But in spite of Powell's efforts, Toomey gets involved in one of the biggest and most dangerous games on the street of chance. He is playing for high stakes with men who shoot faster than they think.

Powell's valiant effort to save the kid is the grand heroic gesture of the show, and brings a climax alike romantic and dramatic.

Miss Benny Mae Harris of Goldsboro is visiting in the U. S. Brannan home this week.

Clifford Lowe of Lovington, New Mexico, visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Lowe over the week end. Clifford accompanied his mother to Hot Springs, Arkansas, Monday for a visit.

Harris Announces As Candidate for Attorney's Office

TO THE VOTERS OF COLEMAN COUNTY:

I am taking this means of placing my candidacy for the office of County Attorney of Coleman County, before the people of this part of the County.

While I have been in the race for this office for the past three months, I am just now placing my announcement in this paper. I was born and reared in the north part of Coleman County, and my father and mother were pioneer settlers in that part of the county. I have been engaged in the general practice of law, both civil and criminal courts, for the past six years, my legal training was acquired in the Law Department of the University of Texas, and I believe that I am qualified to discharge the duties of this office, but I refer you to any of the attorneys of Coleman and the District Judge of this District, as to my qualification.

I have practiced in the Federal Courts and all of the State Courts of this state, in both civil and criminal matters, and if elected to this office, I will to the best of my ability, enforce the laws coming under my jurisdiction, and will give such matters as you might have coming through the office careful and proper attention.

I solicit the support of all the voters in this County, and refer you to any person who knows me as to my character and fitness for the office.

Yours truly,
J. O. Harris

FAREWELL

The Seniors of 1930 are no more in name but merely in memory. As they receive their diplomas all strings attaching them to Santa Anna High School are broken except the heart strings. Some say they are glad no matter how hard the fight might have been, they will have pleasant memories in days to come. Then Santa Anna high school days will be something sweet which comes only in dreams.

They will be missed by the other students. In the coming school year there will be vacant places which cannot be filled. The good they have done will be thought of then. All quarrels and misunderstandings will be forgotten.

Let us ever strive to keep a close bond of friendship between the departing and ones left behind.

A VISIT TO THE MUSEUM

On Thursday afternoon, May 6th, the Sophomore Class enjoyed an outing and a visit to the Boenicke Museum, about six miles from Trickham.

This museum contains mounted specimens of heads, horns, or bodies of all species of animals common to North America and a few from other continents. There are numerous specimens of deer, deer horns and heads, moose heads, mountain sheep, mountain goats, elk, buffalo, etc. The collection of Indian relics, such as arrows, arrowheads, tomahawks, etc. is interesting and instructive. The collection of arrows have all been arranged on mats, under glass, and in the form of emblems, such as the Lone Star of Texas, the Rainbow, etc. No less interesting were the collection of old coins and paper money. Some of the coins were made 900 years B. C., and one was made in 20 A. D. during the life of Christ.

After spending much time looking over the interesting features of the museum, the class departed for home but stopped at Mukewater at a beautiful spot near Trickham and spread an appetizing supper. When all had feasted to their satisfaction we resumed our journey homeward.

We were well chaperoned by our sponsor and husband and mothers of members of the class. No one could have had a more enjoyable time, even though it did rain on us part of the way.

BACCALAUREATE PROGRAM

Last Sunday evening a beautiful service was held in the auditorium of the Santa Anna High School. The first of a series of three programs was enjoyed by a well filled house.

Rev. Hal C. Wingo gave a wonderful message emphasizing the leadership of Christ in all things and showing us how easy all of us could live together if we chose Christ as a guide.

The auditorium was a thing of beauty. Ferns and art baskets of cut flowers formed a low bowler just back of which fifty Juniors sat and helped render the following program:

Processional.
 Invocation — Rev. J. W. West.
 "Holy, Holy, Holy." — Junior class.
 Solo, "My Task" — Cula West.
 Sermon — Rev. Hal C. Wingo.
 "Now the Day is Over" — Junior class.
 Benediction — Rev. M. L. Womack.
 Recessional.

William Earl Ragsdale, president of the Junior class, presided and introduced the speaker. Aline Harper was the pianist for the evening.

We are proud of our graduating class and wish for them all of life's choicest blessings.
 —The Juniors

"Dear Mrs. Oliver: Please excuse my daughter for being late, as she fell down in the mud. You will greatly oblige her mother by doing the same."

CLASS OF 1931 ELECTS OFFICERS

Last Wednesday morning the Juniors elected class officers for next year. William Earl Ragsdale was re-elected to serve another year. This honor proves that he has performed his duties faithfully and efficiently, and, as a result, the most responsible position in the four years of high school, has been given to him. "The Measure of a Life is its Service." Since William Earl has been thoroughly tested as Junior president, the class is assured of a most successful year under his cheerful leadership as president of the Class of 1931.

A. G. Weaver was again chosen vice-president. A. G. was president of our class when we were Fish and he said then, "There are no fools in the Freshman class." He is a real student and we are proud of his record and believe the class has proved his statement.

"It pays to advertise." That is why Irene McCreary was re-elected as reporter for another year. She has faithfully performed every duty assigned to her and has a real talent for writing. The class decided to have two reporters (since we intend to do things in a big way next year) so June Bond was elected to help inform you about our school and class.

John Franklin Turner was elected secretary for 1931. He was our Sophomore president and we know that he will keep our books well.

Aline Harper will be treasurer for next year.

We are proud of our officers and our class. We know that we are the largest group of Juniors S. A. H. S. has ever had, and we hope many boys and girls will join us next year and help make an enviable record of "Dependability and Service."

POOR FOREIGNER

A Belgian student was relating his attempts to learn to speak the English language. "When I discovered that if I was quick, I was fast, and that if I was tied I was fast; if I spent too freely I was fast, and that not to eat was to fast, I was discouraged. But when I came across the sentence, 'The first one won one one-dollar prize,' I gave up trying to learn English."

A Frenchman said he had a similar experience. He was watching a card game and trying to understand it.

"What's the score?" asked someone.
 "Two to two."
 "We are two to two, too," said a man at the next table.
 "To spik ze English," he exclaimed, "is to blow ze French horn."
 —Fool's Fancy

The Annual Staff for next year has not been organized for several reasons, namely: hard times are facing us squarely; the major part of the work for an annual is done later in the year; and who wants to spoil a perfectly good vacation by Annual worries?

We can and will put out one of the best books this school has ever sponsored, but we must reason about all things and we believe it is best to let next year decide the matter.

We wish to extend our sincerest thanks to Mr. J. J. Gregg for his co-operation in giving us a part of his paper for our school news. Many have expressed themselves favorably concerning our efforts and we hope that we may be able to give you a more coherent section next year.

FRESHMAN PARTY

Last Thursday evening the Freshman classmates began drifting into the Armory Hall at eight o'clock. Our Sponsor, Mrs. D. L. Pieratt, had planned a baby party for us. Each one was supposed to come dressed like a baby and bring a baby picture of himself. When every one arrived, they passed a ball of "blow gum" to each one and gave a prize to the one that blew the first and largest bubble. Programs were passed to each one with a baby picture on the front.

The "Who's Who" contest was next. In turn we passed around and looked at the baby picture and tried to name as many as possible. This prize went to Catherine Rollins.

The fun that came next was judging the costumes. Each went to the center of the room bowed and it was decided on by the number of claps the person received as to the winner. Miss Land and Ernest won these. We had a vocal high jump, to see who could make the highest sound with his voice and then the lowest. Miss Land and Ernest Van Zandt chose sides for this event. The yard measure was next, to see who could draw a line on a black board being nearest to a yard long. Ruby Williams won this prize.

Next we blew and tied paper sacks up and tried to throw them. Truett Werner took the prize at this.

The newspaper game caused a lot of excitement for each one.

Last but not least they succeeded in getting partners and refreshments were brought consisting of ice cream and cake. Each and every one had a splendid time, and we wish to thank our kind sponsor for giving us such a delightful party.

We regret very much to state that the following names were not printed on the Baccalaureate program: Osa Jackson, a Senior; and Geneva Atkinson and Emmett Stiles, Juniors. The following is the complete list of prospective Seniors for next year.

Miss Olivia Land will leave Saturday morning for New York where she will spend the entire summer with her brother, James N. Land. Miss Land is a tireless worker and has organized and sponsored the Scribblers Club: the rules and by-laws she established for the club will make us better girls and, of course, better Scribblers.

We wish for her a very pleasant summer.

Card of Thanks

Since it will be impossible for us to see every one personally we take this means of expressing our gratitude to you, but find words inadequate to express our thanks and appreciation to our many friends who have proved so loyal and sympathetic since our accident. We feel that we have learned the true meaning of the word "friend."

May God bless each and every one of you in our earnest prayer,
 Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Seale.

Teacher Increases Her Earning Power

She Was Earning $720. Now Her Income is Close to $2,500

Mrs. Eva McDonald has been a public school teacher for more than fifteen years. And, with all her years of schooling and experience behind her, one winter found her working under a contract calling for a monthly pay check of $90 for only eight months out of the twelve.

That, if you will remember, was the year in which wages paid common and skilled labor soared to heights never before known. Forced to keep up with high living costs on her meager salary, seeing former students of hers, without experience, earning more than she could command, Mrs. McDonald resolved to find a way to increase her earning power.

She loved teaching work and had no desire to give it up. Commercial teaching offered her a way to remain a teacher and still greatly increase her income. When her school closed that year, she took a Commercial Training Course. It was in March that she received her diploma.

Imagine her surprise when the school employment department asked her, the very day of her graduation, if she would like to work immediately at $120 a month. She accepted the position offered. Because of her ability as a shorthand writer and typist, she earns about $300.00 more each year, doing spare-time "odd jobs" of reporting, letter writing and manuscript work, etc.

What a wonderful dividend her business education has paid her, and what a wonderful dividend it can pay YOU, or any other young man or young woman with a foresight, energy and ambition.

The Tyler Commercial College has many teachers in attendance at their school during each summer. If you are a teacher, or if you intend to take up teaching work, arrange to join them. A few months' training there can make a life time of difference to you.

Clay Products Plant

McAllen is at work to secure a large clay products plant, which would utilize the kaolin deposits on a large tract south of Reynosa. The firm with which negotiations are being made manufactures bath tubs, kitchen sinks, chinaware and pottery. Attorneys are securing options on sites, and it is believed the plant will soon be established.

"Navy Blues" at Queen Next Week

STAR GIVEN OPPORTUNITY FOR DRAMATIC ACTING AS WELL AS CLOWNING

William Haines, as a hard-boiled gob, washing out clothes on the deck of a dreadnaught, making faces behind the backs of "non-coms," or coming out of a free-for-all unscathed, between the legs of bruised and beaten colleagues, will not surprise his admirers who have long been accustomed to seeing him do just that sort of thing.

However, in "Navy Blues," his first all-talking vehicle, which will be shown at the Queen Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, he will probably surprise a good many people, for in this picture he not only gives his usual light-hearted, fun-loving impersonation, in this instance of one of Uncle Sam's sailors, but he also goes "dramatic," something which he wanted to do for some time.

Clarence Brown, creator of Greta Garbo successes, directed "Navy Blues." Prominent in the supporting cast are such capable players as Anita Page, Karl Dane and J. C. Nugent.

THE FUTURE OF THE SMALL TOWN

Preliminary reports of the 1930 census of several small towns in Texas and other states have caused many observers to comment upon the decline of small town population, and some of them are frankly predicting that the small town is doomed and sooner or later will pass out of the picture. The Dallas News, for instance, said the other day that "The village has not had to wait on the census to realize that it is fighting for its existence in a losing battle. The fact has been apparent to it since the motor car became a household adjunct instead of a rich man's luxury." An editorial writer for a newspaper syndicate expresses a similar opinion by saying, "The small town, evidently, is going the way of the one-horse shay. For generations it was perhaps the most purely American thing on the continent. Now it is going. The census of 1930, undoubtedly, will show its decline still further."

If one regards only the census figures of 1900 to 1930, these conclusions seem to be well founded. There has been a tremendous shifting of population from the small towns to the larger cities, and the small town that does not show a decrease in population in this year's census will be the exception rather than the rule. There have been a number of fundamental causes for this, among them being the development of industrial activity in the city, the general use of the automobile, the centralizing of education and science and commerce in the metropolitan areas, and many other factors that have influenced thousands of families to leave the villages and seek homes in the cities.

We do not believe, however, that this trend toward centralized population will continue indefinitely. The next census may show that the population is beginning to become stabilized, and that the small town is coming back into its own. The same reasons that have caused the cities to grow will influence the growth of the smaller towns. The construction of first class roads has facilitated the intercourse between the small town and the city, enabling the people of the former readily to visit and do business in the latter without giving up the comforts and associations of the smaller communities. The development and extension of the utility service to the small towns has added materially to the comfort of living in them. The improvement of school and church facilities has elevated the moral and cultural standards of the small town, and will continue to do so, making it possible for

KNOW TEXAS

In 1929 the State of Texas appropriated $22,730,193 for its public schools—this exclusive of local and district school taxes.

On road building and maintenance and administration of the Highway Department Texas in 1929 spent $34,530,847.

On higher education—university and state-supported colleges—Texas spent in 1929 $9,093,243.

The two largest oil refineries in the world are in Texas—each with daily capacity for handling 125,000 barrels of crude.

Texas is not among the leading states in metal production, but in 1929 its mines produced $28,000 worth of gold, 1,050,000 ounces of silver, 1,000,000 pounds of lead and 400,000 pounds of copper.

There are 254 counties in Texas, ranging in size from 149 square miles (Rockwall) up to 5,935 (Brewster). Georgia, with 160 counties, comes next.

D. P. Dyches of Coleman was a business visitor here Tuesday.

Mrs. Callie Mills, Mrs. Frank Mills and children of Coleman visited in the J. M. Smedley home Wednesday.

The small town citizen to rear and educate his children under favorable conditions. And two other considerations that are of even greater importance than any of these, perhaps, are that in a small town there is a community of interest and a fellowship of association that can never be found in the great city, and that in the small town the cost of living is much less than in the large center of population where taxes, rents and every other item entering into the family budget are greatly increased.

The small town need not pass away, and we believe that it will not. There is no need for any life to be cramped because it must be spent in the village. There is no need for any home to be uncomfortable simply because it is not located in the great center of population. The small town offers many things that can never be found in the city, and the things that are distinctive of life in the small town are distinctively American and fundamentally necessary to the continuance of pure and undefiled Americanism. The census figures point the other way, but we believe the day of the small town's triumph is not far distant.

Texas Ranch Improvements

One of the most noticeable classes of improvements being made in Texas now is in ranch homes. A few years back ranch owners were satisfied with almost any kind of shelters, many of which could hardly be called homes. It is not unusual now to find ranches and farms with homes as good and as well equipped as in the cities. City people in increasing numbers are buying ranches and farms, especially in the hill country of West Texas and building pretentious homes on them. Homes in the suburbs of Texas cities, on extensive acreage, are more extensively built now than those in down-town district. People who can afford it are seeking homes in the quiet of the open spaces rather than in the crowded marts where life is often almost intolerable.

Government Not Greed,
Roads Not Raskob,
Taxes Not Tammany

HOUSTON, May 14. — Texas candidates were urged in a statement issued here today by Lynch Davidson, former lieutenant governor and chairman of the party's harmony organization in 1922, to "throw no bomb which might wreck party authority and make way for Republican victories in the state."

"We are accustomed to laugh at Republican talk of capturing state offices and we can afford to laugh so long as we do not become divided in our state campaigns as we did in the last national campaign," said Mr. Davidson.

"Let us most remember that the Texas Republican patronage system, which has not only ruined the party in state offices but has also ruined the party in our party ranks, has been the result of the division of the party into factions under the name of independent organizations. The G. O. P. has been divided into factions and the party has been ruined. Let us remember that the party is a family and we should not allow it to be divided into factions. Let us remember that the party is a family and we should not allow it to be divided into factions. Let us remember that the party is a family and we should not allow it to be divided into factions."

But this is a matter for the party in its family gathering to attend to. Let no candidate, before the nominations, try to steal the privilege for self-serving political purposes.

"When the time does come, the party as a whole should make its demand as a plank in the state platform. There will be little division. The wets can come into the camp of the dries on this. It will not be difficult to unhorse Raskob. He is so extreme, so politically clumsy, so vulnerable. And, he is very dangerous to the Democratic Party. For he has kindled and rekindled fires that should have smoldered out."

"Mr. Raskob, in fact, is just about the ablest Democratic Chairman the Republicans can have."

"Our high party councils

THE NAMELESS FRIEND

Some people mean well, but never do well.

They are always intending to do something that never gets done.

Instead of taking a just pride in accomplishment, they are continually humiliated by the inadequacy of their excuses.

They do not even drift with the tide of humanity, but are switched into the eddies of life.

For them there is a beginning, and an end, but nothing in between.

They have neither true friends nor bitter enemies, because they do nothing to inspire either friendship or enmity.

They are nameless, because no one is sufficiently interested to name them.

should have no place for fanaticism, wet or dry. We should keep out the Hettins as leaders, as well as throw out the Raskobs. They harm no one except the Party they profess to serve.

"But let the candidates leave these fall cleaning matters to the Party as a whole. Governor Boone of Winters, Miss Anna Boone of Raskob, and Mrs. Ralph Gray of Coleman.

The cost of taking the 1930 census will average about 30 cents for each individual enumerated.

Prospective Brides Honored at Dinner

Mrs. Ray B. Lovelady entertained Saturday evening with a prettily appointed dinner announcing the approaching marriage of Misses Cue and Maurice Hall, to Messrs. Claude Boone and Glover McMillon, respectively, of Coleman.

Each table was decorated with lattices overlaid with tulle, in sweet pea colors. The delicate shades in covers were repeated in two courses. Mints and other touches on the table stressed the same colors.

Each guest plucked a petal from a large pink rose which formed a graceful centerpiece. Attached to the petal was a tally card which bore the names of the engaged couples, and the date, June 3. Brides were played at one table, forty-two being enjoyed at the others.

Later in the evening Mrs. Ralph Gray, accompanied by Mrs. Lovelady at the piano, sang several popular numbers.

The affair was attended only by the bridal party. Those from out of town were Miss Mildred Boone of Winters, Miss Anna Boone of Raskob, and Mrs. Ralph Gray of Coleman.

Mr. Shield Entertains

One of the most attractive parties of the spring was given Wednesday by Mrs. I. O. Shield, who entertained at her home Wednesday with a bridge party. Spring flowers in pastel shades formed a beautiful setting for the occasion. Bridge was played at six tables. Mrs. W. F. Gibson winning high and Mrs. E. B. Purdy second high. Following the bridge games, Miss Lonella Taylor, talented pianist played several selections.

The hostess was assisted in serving by her daughters, Bess Mae and Anelle, and Beth Barnes and Mary Southern Garrett. The refreshments consisted of pineapple ice and angel food cake.

The following guests were present: Mesdames G. W. Faulkner, Leuan Brown, Ford Barnes, Ed Baxter, Comer Blue, Russell Matson, S. W. Childers, Aubrey Childers, W. F. Gibson, Sam Collier, L. O. Garrett, Jodie Matthews, Harve Melton, Sherman Gehrett, I. Williamson, S. S. Nichols, E. R. Purdy, Andrew Geisler, C. A. Walker, W. I. Mitchell, S. H. Myers of Poplar Bluff, Mo.
