CANNING POULTRY CULLS

The pantry shelf is a good place to put the loafer hen culled out of the poultry flock this fall provided she is well encased in tin, so home demonstration authorities of Texas A. and M. College Extension Service declare. Years ago it was nearly out of the question for the housewife to can meat but since the invention of the steam pressure canner all has changed. The barn yard sheik and the boarder are now turned to profit by the farms. Those unfamiliar with this means of thousands of Texas the steam pressure canner, however, will find it necessary to learn its operation from a neighbor or home demonstration agent.

"Canning chickens care must be taken that the meat is not over-cooked and that as little liquid as possible is used in order that the delicate poultry flavor may be retained. Older birds may be boned by splitting the flesh down the back and removing it from the skeleton with a sharp knife. A more common method is to steam in pressure cooker for a short time and then pack the meat in tin cans to be sealed and processed.

Younger birds may be fried as usual until thoroughly browned and then packed in cans for sealing and processing. The liver should never be packed with the rest of the chicken because its flavor will penetrate every piece in the can. When carefully packed No. 3 cans will hold a frying sized chicken.

Canned chicken is best served according to these home demonstration authorities, in combination dishes, such as creamed chicken, croquettes, chicken-a-la-king, salads, sandwiches. A circular, C-55, "Home Canning of Meats," including receipts, is available by writing the Extension Service, College Station, Texas.

OFFICERS SEARCH FOR MEN WHO ESCAPED FROM JAIL SUNDAY

Officers at Coleman are searching for D. C. Slater, 40 of Pioneer Eastland county, and T. P. Sumner, 23 of Coleman who sawed their way out of the Coleman county jail early Sunday morning.

Both of the men were being held on theft charges. Sumner was charged with stealing a diamond ring there. Slater was accused with theft of more than $50 there, and with cattle theft in Eastland county.

Sheriff W. R. Hamilton found the cell in which the men were supposed to be confined, empty when he made his tour of inspection Sunday morning. A new rope hanging out of the window on the second floor led officers to believe that the men were assisted in their escape by outside parties.

Even if women do have more sense than men you never see a man with powder on his nose.

MAN THOUGHT

By Richard H. McCarty

Yes, man thought, and he climbed down out of the trees tops and cosy caves became his habit. He thought again and even the cave was stinky and nasty, and so he went out and builded a castle. Then he thought again and he harnessed the power of the ass and the ox, capitalized it and quit walking. The speed of the ox and the ass was too slow, so he thought again and the old iron horse went snorting across the deserts. Still not satisfied, had the speed mania, and the honk of the auto was heard around the world. Still not satisfied, he just kept thinking and the spit spat of the airplane was heard away up there in stellar space, yes, this thought animal conquered the air, conquered the Atlantic Ocean, annihilated space making all the world door neighbors. Yes, he thought, got tired of pilowing with a crooked stick got astride the gang plow, hooked onto a gasoline tractor and plows up the earth between suns. He thought again and strung an electric wire around the world. Thought again, or tired of fooling with electric wire, pitched it into the scrap heap and capitalized the air waves and now he talks across continents and oceans. Thought again, got tired of riding in wooden boats, and in the realm of thought discovered that steel would float, and goodness gracious look at those iron cloud monsters plowing the seven seas of the world. And he just kept on thinking, got tired of carving his thoughts on stone columns, and painting on sign posts with pokeberry juice and so he got busy again in the realm of thought, and the moveable type stood on their feet, and thus he has filled the libraries of the world with mumbled thoughts. Yes, man has thought until he has almost conquered the earth, just what God told him to do when he drove him out of the garden of Eden. And some day he's going to reach up and lasso the stars with a powerful telescope, and he will say hell, folks up there in the sky. Who are you? What kind of folks be you, what is your philosophy of life? What kind of a god do you worship? What is your religion, what kind of government do you have? Democratic or Republican, monarchy or what not? Man Thought. He's a funny animal. Even God does not understand him, relented that he made him, drowned the whole push on account of their sins, save just a small remnant and they got out of the boat and went to doing the same things, committing adultery, fornication, lying and cheating, strife and murder and wars—No body don't know anything about him he is unstable, unsafe, an angel to day and a devil tomorrow—And yet he's the quintessence of all creation, the master animal of all the earth—Just simply because... he thinks

LARGE PER-CENT STUDENT BODY A. & M. CHRISTIAN
College Station, Texas, Oct. 8.—Religious census of the new student body at A. & M. College of Texas shows church affiliation for all but 238 out of a total of more than 2,600 students. A score or more churches are represented, according to the census which was compiled by the college Y. M. C. A., the Methodists leading with 816. Baptists next with 612 and Presbyterians third with 270.

Figures on the religious poll, announced by M. L. Cashion, general secretary of the college Y. M. C. A., are as follows: Methodists 816, Baptist 612, Presbyterians 270, Christian 200, Catholic 151, Jewish 26, Christian Science 19, Congregational 4, Mohammedan 2, Unitarian, Greek Orthodox, Gregorian, Latter-Day Saints and others 15. These with 238 non-members at the time of the poll give a total of 2,621. Since then additional students, not included in the census, have been registered.

ADVERTISING
There are some people who think advertising will perform miracles all of itself. This is an erroneous idea. Advertising of itself will not do so; it is only a vehicle in which to ride to greater sales.

You can compare it to an automobile. An automobile of itself is as dead as a door nail, but fill it with gasoline and lubricating oil, put a driver at the seat and you have a vehicle in which you may travel fast and far. So it is with advertising when harnessed to energetic sales and effort, backed with good merchandise, you have a vehicle which will carry you to commercial heights and place you in the realm of the elect.

Advertising Graft

Petty advertising grafts designed to get the business men's money spring up daily and are operated with apparently a great deal of success in the cities and towns of the land.

Phamplets with magazine name lamed full of advertising and containing little or no constructive material of a kind helpful to the upbuilding of a city are one means of getting the money, while calendars, bulletin boards, programs, score cards, directories which direct no one, come in for their share of the business men's advertising appropriations. The average person, when in need of a little ready cash, seems to think that the proper thing to do is to get out something with an ad on it and raise the money regardless of the fact that his scheme from an advertising standpoint is absolutely valueless. Persons who find business a little dull in their own line immediately launch themselves into the advertising field. Job presses, mimeographs and typewriters are pressed into service in an effort to put across various advertising grafts.

Solicitors appeal to the merchants to patronize these various schemes on the theory that they are cheap, but they are, in reality the most expensive of all advertising. With uncertain circulation and unorganized distribution the various phamplets in which merchants are asked to advertise reach a relatively small portion of the city and county population as compared to the number of subscribers of the newspaper.

The advertising rates in these phamplets in proportion to their circulation, will in every instance be found to be much higher than the rates in a newspaper and yet many merchants patronize them because they can get the same sized ad in a pamphlet for a little less money than they can in a newspaper, disregarding the fact that circulation and quality are the principal factors in determining the value of an advertisement.

Their publishers have little or nothing invested and suffer no loss if publication is suspended. In comparison, consider the newspaper. It goes into thousands of homes every week, not because it is distributed free, but for the simple reason that thousands of people buy it for enlightenment. The newspaper pay thousands of dollars for services, cartoons, news pictures, features and at all times employs a staff of trained people whose life work is to gather news and to put it before the people in the most attractive form.

The newspaper is one of the cities industries and has a large weekly payroll. The newspapers has many thousands of dollars invested in equipment. The newspaper at all times stands as the defender of the city in which it is printed and always boosts the home town and its people.

Mr. Business Man, the newspaper boosts your city, your business and you always. When you are solicited for advertising patronage of the various schemes afoot, find out what you are getting for your money; consider your newspaper and its service to you and your city; the amount its proprietors have invested in it; the money they are expending in making it a credit to your city and its employees who spend their money with you; take everything into consideration and we confidently believe that you'll find newspaper advertising the best and most successful way in the world of putting your message before the people.

The newspaper man does not want your advertising because he is trying to put something over, attempting an experiment of working a graft. He is selling you a commodity on the same basis as you sell your merchandise to him; one hundred cents' worth of advertising for every dollar you spend.

A fine new Methodist church building has recently been completed in Amherst and services held by the pastor, Rev. Claude Ledger. The edifice is modern in every point of construction and gives the Methodist's a place of worship unequalled in the city.

W. T. U. Men Save Drowning Man

H. M. Dudley, manager of the W. T. U. Co. at Baird, Monroe Lane, salesman and J. T. Asbury electrician for the company, saved J. Clark, of Abilene from death by drowning a few weeks ago in a swimming pool near Abilene. Mr. Clark in sliding struck his head on the concrete bottom of the pool. He was brought out of the water apparently lifeless, and people standing around the injured man did not know what to do. Mrs. Dudley who was at the pool ran to Mr. Dudley, Lane and Asbury, who were nearby and told them of the accident. They hastened to the scene and immediately took charge and gave him the prone pressure method of resuscitation, and in a short time he began breathing and when a physician arrived he was in good shape. The gentlemen were very modest about the part they played in saving this man's life as very few here knew of it until a news item was published in the West Texas Utilities News a short time ago.

This is a splendid illustration of the value of knowing how to save a life in a case of this kind. All employees of the West Texas Utilities are trained in the Prone Pressure Method of Resuscitation and know how to meet emergencies and we are sure that Messrs. Dudley, Lane and Asbury feel proud many times over for the time they have put in learning this method of saving life in being able to save this one life.—Baird Star.

HALBERTS IDEA IS PROVEN TRUE AFTER HIS DEATH
COLEMAN, Texas, Oct. 5.—H. A. Halbert, the Luther Burbank of West Texas died without seeing his latest experiment. Several years prior to his death, he expressed the belief to his friends that native Spanish walnut trees could be budded and made to produce a fine English walnut. In some places he budded many trees, but no account of the result was ascertained.

R. S. Johnson, Coleman building contractor, recently displayed a jar of English walnuts grown on a Spanish walnut tree in his back yard. The nuts were larger than imported walnuts but the shell was thicker. The tree was one of the last budded by Halbert and is two years old.

A NEWSY LETTER ADDRESSED TO EDITOR OF MULLIN ENTERPRISE

Clinton, Okla. Sept. 22nd.

R. H. Patterson, Editor Enterprise, Mullin, Texas. Dear Mr. Patterson: Just received your notice of subscription due, enclosed find check for $1.50.

You ask for a communication. I do write occasionally for the Oklahoman, in the contest for short articles. You will find one enclosed that won a prize last week.

I was riding with one of the boys employed at the Coca Cola bottling plant. I asked the boy how old he was and he said he was 22 years old. I asked him if he had but ten years more to live what he would do. He said it would scare him to death if he knew it.

I told him that according to the table of life expectancy he had from 42 to 47 years ahead of him, and according to this same table of expectancy I had only ten years.

I asked this boy if he had any idea of the difference of his viewpoint of life at his age and my viewpoint at my age. His attention was called to the fact that 48 years ago I was his age and saw in comparably the same shades he is now seeing it.

I told him that I traveled the road 48 years ago which he is now traveling, and that I had lived 48 years since that time. I asked him if he had stopped to think that I might have learned something of life during these 48 years that he did not know and would be valuable to him just starting out on his 48 years that is ahead of him.

The boy was impressed for the time being, whether the lesson will be helpful to him will depend upon how long he remembers it.

This nation is moving at a rapid gait and speed. I tell my boy that if he has no confidence in me to go to someone who has lived much longer than he and counsel them and listen to them.

Since the Great World War the government of the nation has been transferred almost completely out of the hands of the older into the hands of the younger generation. Boys, have you stopped to think of the responsibilities you have assumed? I have not lost hope. I am looking to you boys to build the best and greatest civilization this dear old world has ever known. In order to do this you must do some sober thinking. Yours very truly, J. A. CONNER, Clinton, Okla.

There seem to be many more teachers than there are public schools while in business or as commercial teachers there are many more openings than there are young people prepared to fill

APPROACHING AN IDEAL

The ways of the world are varied and many. Intricate systems of government, finance, industry, commerce and social relationships dominate public action and private thought. The aim of all endeavors, rightly directed, is toward the goal of perfection, and the zest of the struggle is the striving for its attainment.

It is not out of place to talk about supreme excellence in any line of action, whether it be in education, art, science or the more prosaic affairs of life such as trade and commerce. Without an earnest effort to secure to all a full measure of life's blessings and comforts we can not hope to even approach an ideal. It is the degree to which we devote ourselves to these ends that governments are maintained, institutions grow, business prospers and art and education flourish.

Comparatively speaking and in light of the ultimate good accomplished, there appears to be enough people engaged in the advancement of the higher goals and the expression of talents. What this country needs is the closer co-operation of its communities and the more efficient coordination of all forces for good in the community.

If our premise is correct, that the business of life is to strive earnestly for the ideal, then the question follows "What are we doing about it?" Are each and all of us lending our support to the public welfare? Are we patronizing merchants in business, in the every-day transactions that add to the prosperity of the whole community directly and indirectly?

Are we striving to approach the ideal in local government, good order and example to the youth?

Are we helping in the great cause of world peace by starting at home?

Are we carving our neighbor's virtues in stone and writing his faults in the sand, putting down silly gossip and insinuations that are so destructive to any community and unfortunate so common to all?

No goal can be made, no ideal approached unless and until we all put our figurative shoulders to the figurative wheel of progress and push the figurative load down the figurative road to success.

If life consisted in literally putting one's shoulder to the wheel the matter of sorting out the lazy ones would be easy. So much, however, depends upon the conscience, good-will and public spirit of the people, renewed efforts should be consistently urged.

Write your name and address below and mail to us quickly. We cannot extend this unusual offer to more than one hundred young people at this time.

ARE YOU SUPERSTITIOUS?

BY FRANK ELLIS, JR.

Legends of Rings

IT HAS been believed from earliest times that rings, enriched with certain precious stones, of occult virtue, were supposed to influence the actions and character of individuals, and many are the superstitions of the wonderful effects produced by these charms. Solomon's ring gave him divine powers by which he acquired incredible knowledge and triumphed over all obstacles. The wedding ring of Joseph and the Virgin Mary was an object of adoration. Legends in connection with rings were introduced from Asia and Greece. The power of invisibility was accredited to a ring worn by an ancient king. Rings once constituted the principal means for the prevention or cure of cramps. They were considered more effective if formed out of the screws or nails taken from coffins. A special ring was worn to cure each individual disease. Superstitions connected with supposed cures of epilepsy, etc., by chained rings still exist in our country. On which finger the wedding ring should be worn was long the subject of learned discussions. On the first finger, a haughty disposition; on the third finger, love and affection; on the fourth, a masterful spirit. In Sweden girls place under separate pots a ring, a coin, and a piece of black ribbon. If the ring is turned up the girl will be married; if the money, she will get a rich husband; and if the black ribbon, she will die an old maid. A "real" wedding ring rubbed on a stove is considered a good remedy. To wear a ring engraved with hearts pierced through with darts shows a girl's gratitude and respect for her lover. ARE YOU SUPERSTITIOUS?

BY FRANK ELLIS, JR.

Marriage

TWO weddings in the same family in the same year are unluckily. Marry in a snowstorm and you will become rich. The first to go to bed on the wedding night will be the first to die. Wear out your wedding garments quickly and you will become rich. A laughing bride will make a weeping wife. Postponing a wedding day brings bad luck. If you pour coffee from the cup you can see from the picture in the cup whether your visitor will be a man or woman. A woman whose skirt turns up in the back has a widower as a partner. Dip a four-leaved clover over the door, and the first man to enter that door will become your husband. Count nine stars on nine nights in succession, and the first young gentleman with whom you shake hands will be your husband. If a servant falls downstairs she will have a new beau. If you would have the admiration of the opposite sex, carry the heart of an oak in your pocket. (© 1924, Western Newspaper Union.)

Partnerships are none too safe especially those in crime.

Texas and Texans

By Will H. Mays

Fall Time in Texas

There is a fall tang in the air in Texas. The woods are taking on their brightest, most varied of all the colors, subdued at certain hours by the violet haze that hangs over hills and valleys. Flowers are gorgeous in their color schemes as at no other season. Freshened by late rains, the grasses are making their last appeal before winter to the lovers of the beautiful. From the hill-sides the brown and greens that carpet the valleys, intermingled with the brighter hues of acres of flowers, are a delight to the eye, furnishing a panorama of loveliness for the fortunate traveler never to be forgotten. The other seasons have their compensations, but fall time in Texas is the glad time, the time when nature is at her best and when man is drawn closest to his God.

The Year Has Been Good

The year has been good to us in Texas. Bountiful harvests have rewarded the labors of those who have tilled the soil. Industries of all kinds have prospered. The laborer has reaped the rewards of his toil and the capitalist has no cause to complain of his earnings. The troubles and the sorrows that have fallen heavily here and there have been only such as men have endured in all time, and most of these have been met with the stoicism that has ever characterized mankind. Whether our personal lot is one of poverty or prosperity, of suffering or rejoicing, of ease or toiler, whether it is our better fortune to have a middle place between these extremes, we can be glad that we live in a land where nature smiles so bountifully and bestows on each of us something in which we can delight.

More Than A Million Cars

Texas now has more than a million motor cars. These are pretty well distributed among all classes of people. On some recent trips in Central Texas I have noticed that while there are many fine cars on the roads, most of those seen have had long service and are filled with people who, until automobiles became low-priced, seldom had opportunities to get more than a few miles from home. Makers of cheap cars have been real benefactors of the poor, and along with the manufacturers have been the well-to-do who have discarded their used cars and bought others, thus enabling many to own cars at prices within their reach. To these benefactors may be added the taxpayers who have voted bonds upon themselves that the public might have better roads over which to travel. Travel provides an education for the masses of a kind scarcely excelled by the schools. Observation teaches lessons not found in books.

Beeville Dairy Plant

Beeville is to have a $25,000 dairy products plant, the principal output of which will be cheese. If plans that have been formulated are perfected, the capital stock is to be divided between farmers who are, or will be, owners of small dairy herds and Beeville business men, the dairy farmers having as their should, the controlling interest in the stock. Dairy products plants have been made possible in Texas by automobiles and good roads. Until we got good roads and cars, enough cream and milk could not be concentrated at central points to make such plant profitable. Now, many communities are building and successfully operating milk plants. Wisely, most of them are locally owned and controlled. Most of the industrial enterprises in the State that have failed, have been purposely wrecked by greedy capital anxious to buy up the stocks at nominal prices, effect reorganization, and put the industries on a profitable basis. This is a form of common graft against which investors should guard.

Building Texas Resorts

Some Houston people have recently bought a tract of land on the river near Kerrville on which they expect to build a number of homes, and establish an exclusive resort. The section of Texas known as the Hill country, including a vast area to the west of San Antonio, Austin and Waco, will some day become famous as a summer resort for the people of the East and South Texas and will be equally popular as a winter resort for those seeking a refuge from the cold of the North. That section has an all-year-round climate that is not surpassed anywhere in America, and the people are beginning to find it out.

Special Editions

I have been in newspaper work in Texas for many years and have seen large numbers of "special editions" of weekly papers from year to year. In a peculiarly strong way they show of the growth of the places where they are published. I have never before seen so many splendidly creditable special editions of weekly papers as have reached me this year. They have come so thick and fast that it has been impossible for me to mention them in this column, however, much I would like to do so. Without an exception they have been papers of much merit, of which both the communities and the publishers have right to be proud. They all show, too, that the newspapers have kept step with the progress of other lines of business in the State.

More Texas History

While in Gonzales recently I saw a copy of a special edition of the Gonzales Inquirer issued in 1923 on its seventieth anniversary, by the lamented Henry Reese, shortly before his death. I brought it home with me, and although the paper was published five years ago, I sat up until a late hour at night, fascinated with its contents. It was different from all other special editions I have seen in that while it contained the usual write-ups of contemporary business interests so essential to the success of such a paper, it contained also a column of valuable history of the town, so interesting that I wanted to keep the paper for future reference. Mr. Reese had the able assistance of his sister, now the Inquirer editor, and many of the old-time residents of the town who wrote interestingly of historical events, many of which would not otherwise ever have been published.

I am mentioning this as a suggestion to other editors in Texas. Why not have a well-planned historical section of your special editions and make them valuable in securing and preserving the history of your community? By doing this you will make the edition more valuable and more likely to be preserved for its permanent worth.

Can You Beat This

An Eastland county farmer has raised 411 bushels of sweet potatoes on an acre of land this year. The land was irrigated twice, the water being supplied by a dirt tank, and was fertilized from the barn lot, where he kept a few dairy cows.

BOOZE AND AUTO WRECKS

No newspaper reader who follows the shocking increase in automobile accidents can escape the conviction that a very large portion is due to liquor in one way or another. The liquor may be in the driver or in the machine which is wrecked, or the wrecked machine may be the result of liquor in the car which did the damage.

The accident may be a skid or a collision with a post. It may be the result of heedless approach to a railroad or trolley crossing which ends in death or injury, but no matter what form the accident or casualty should make, the amazing thing is that liquor figures in such a high proportion of cases.

Many times the newspapers at the moment fail to learn that booze has been contributing factor in the smash-up, but inquiry shows a surprisingly large number of automobile misfortunes due to drink.

Why Worry?

Cakes can be bought from Ragsdale's collection of "Fine Cakes For The Home" at your dealers.

A wide selection of the finest cakes absolutely fresh. Every cake is guaranteed. Ask by name—for Ragsdale's cakes.

These cakes save you money, time, worry and the annoyance of cooking this hot weather, and they are very highest quality. There are other cakes in town, shipped in from Dallas and San Antonio, selling at about the same price but listen, if Ragsdale's cakes which are baked right here at home are equally as good or better, and just as cheap, too, why not buy them and keep the money at home? Our cakes are baked fresh every day and wrapped in wrappers with our name on them. If the other cakes are cheaper and better, you like them better, I do not blame you for buying them, but if Ragsdale's cakes are just as good and as cheap, too, why not buy them? When you go into a store, ask for Ragsdale's Guest Cakes, made at home, or when you are making your own selections, be sure and select the cakes bearing Ragsdale's name. SHOULD THE STREET FROM TOWN TO THE HIGH SCHOOL BE IMPROVED

An item discussing the problem of paving the street in Santa Anna has caused much comment as to whether the street from town to the High School building will be improved.

There is nothing that the people of the town could do that would help the children more than to improve the street on which we have to travel.

The betterment would not help the children as much as it would the parents who send their children to high school. Streets that are slippery in muddy weather and rough and bumpy in dry weather are not only dangerous for the children but also wearing on the cars. The money paid for the wear of the car for one year would easily improve the street enough to diminish the wear almost entirely.

Not only is the road bad on cars, but it is a disgrace for the town to let the beauty of our most prominent building be ruined by bad roads. The people of the town have exerted every effort to erect their beautiful building for their children to work in, and do we, as students of the school, wish to have the place in which we spend so much of our younger life to be hidden from the town by bad roads? Never! We are proud of our new building and want it to be an outstanding feature in our town.

There is nothing more worth while in life than to give the future citizens of the town the right to become better men and women than those before us.

We as students of Santa Anna High School have given an oath that we can be depended upon at any time to do our duty, and with good roads nothing can prevent us from coming to school and trying to make our town bigger and better from year to year.

S-A-H-S

Last Friday morning the Students were entertained in Assembly by "Barnyard Steve". Ten cents was charged all the students, 30 percent of the sum to be retained by the school. The school received a total of $16.55.

SENIORS OF '28

Seniors of '28 are of a right jolly good class. Their views and virtues no one dares to surpass. They are Seniors tall, lean, handsome, lank and fine, Seniors wide, long brown and of many different kinds.

Where'er you go, to school or to sneeze,

Right into your way comes bouncing one these.

Or if you hear yodeling at school or down town.

You may be sure that Wayne is around.

Or if Darwin or Vernon should happen to pass.

One thinks of ladies skirts, tripping across the grass.

And of all the midgits in the big story book.

Please for a change at the Seniors take a look.

Jack, Helen, Pauline and Queenie make four of us.

Who have a possible career in the world short circus.

Ellen and Mary are twins by name.

And Vada and Nadine, I'm sure are the same.

Edith and Lois are both coy and blonde.

And appeal to the ladies true and fond.

As Fern doesn't like the boyish bob so smart.

She does her hair up with clever art.

Pollock and Douglas giggle in Chemistry class.

A course which it will take a he man to pass.

And Avis of all lassies is sure to blush.

If play the piano Mr. Oliver says she must.

Our shy sponsor likes her dally dozen to do.

And she has a frightful habit of losing her shoes.

Eugene and J. B. so still and quiet sit.

That one would never guess they are trying to sharpen their wit.

And James, if he ever comes at all.

Is sure to be late to the Study Hall.

Half of the period is past Before Agnes arrives to History Class.

A game of checkers, Ralph and Grady had just begun.

When along came Miss Smith and spoiled their fun.

Mertle and Clara always sit on the last row.

So they can comb their hair and their noses also.

Ruby and Ima must sit on the front seat.

And everything Mrs. Scarborough says they try vainly to repeat.

Fanny Mae scatters her books down the hall.

Which afterwards looks like a field of football.

Alvin, Annie Lou, and Annie Marie.

Are some of our Seniors amounting to three.

And Lonella, J. E., and Inez are some empty heads.

Because they go studying instead of to bed.

Juanita is also a member of the Senior Class.

Who is quite a bright, daring young lass.

And I the author when I'm dead as you will see.

Will be buried as a poet in Westminster Abbey.

Of all the class members there's not a single fool.

Even if we do have to remain after school.

Or if our English we forget to know.

We like others bend to learn it also.

Now Classes after us take our advice.

And don't make a course in Geometry twice.

Do all well as you go along.

And when you are Seniors, sing your own song.

Although at record making we may be late.

Don't forget the Seniors of '28.

WHAT THE STUDENTS ARE READING

A recent check on what is being taken from the library by the students demonstrated the fact that the science magazines are most in demand. The cards show that a few of the summer numbers have been read. The checkup illustrates that six have used the September number of the Scientific American; five have called for the October number of the same magazine; the June and August editions of the Popular Science have been used once each; the July issue twice, the October issue three times. Only one other book, an Atlas of American History has been issued. This points out that science is prevailing in the minds of high school students, since the above includes all books and magazines that have been issued since the library was opened.

A Rich Man's Darling or a Poor Man's Slave?

FOR a girl reared in her father's saloon, Anna's exquisite beauty seemed incredible. Yet how she loathed her surroundings! If some one would only take her away and give her a chance for real happiness.
When wealthy Carl Morton, struck by her beauty, offered to "adopt" her—give her a lovely home, beautiful clothes—everything—it seemed her dreams had come true. But when Anna realized that she was simply being "bought," she flamed with revolt. Since her father was determined on the "adoption," there was only one way out. That night she boarded a train for the city, where, friendless and alone, she soon found herself checking out a miserable existence.
Then Frank Weston came into her life.

Frank was poor, but loved her—wanted to marry her. But at thought of the future, Anna's heart quailed. Life with Frank meant honorable marriage—but it also meant more poverty, hardship and struggle. Could she do it? Were honest love and her own honor worth the sacrifice? Carl Morton, who offered her every luxury, would still welcome her. Would it not after all be better to be a rich man's darling than a poor man's slave? Don't miss the rest of this profoundly moving story. It is entitled "Is There Any Escape," and appears complete in the November True Story Magazine.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

The time is near at hand when the people of the nation will express at the ballot box their approval or disapproval of its public servants and national policy.

When the public speaks it always is portentous, significant and consequential. Whether the verdict applies to national politics, a public utility, a private business or an individual. It is an incontrovertible commentary to our unswerving efforts that our must abide.

The public demands, and is entitled to service—good service and constructive service—no other kind will develop confidence and trust or perpetuate loyalty and patronage.

This sort of service forms one of the basic principles upon which the West Texas Utilities Company is founded. It is with pride that we point to the thousands of satisfied customers who stand loyal and steadfast. We like to believe that it is force in what judgment the victor of the victim industry continues to grow and thrive in such gratifying proportions.
