Connally Wins Senatorial Race Lee Defeats Callaway

In the run-off primary last Saturday, Congressman Tom Connally defeated Earle B. Mayfield who was seeking re-election to the United States Senate by about 75,000 votes. Mayfield was elected in 1922 having the support of the Ku Klux Klan, being in the run-off with Jas. E. Ferguson. This year, Mr. Ferguson supported Mr. Mayfield, but failed to influence the former Ferguson vote to follow him into the Mayfield ranks.

Col. R. Q. Lee of Cisco defeated Hon. Oscar Callaway of Comanche for the nomination for Congress to succeed Congressman Thos. L. Blanton, who defeated in the first primary for the United States Senate. Lee's majority of Callaway is about 5,000 votes.

Marrs was renominated for State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Robinson was renominated for Land Commissioner and Miller renominated for Lieutenant Governor.

In the county, Miss Jettie Kirkpatrick was nominated for Tax Collector by several hundred votes over her opponent, Mr. J. J. Roberts of Coleman. Joe B. Flores was renominated for Public Weigher of his opponent, Mr. H. C. Davis by only 6 votes. Mr. Flores defeated Mr. Davis two years ago by 27 votes.

For the next ten weeks the attention of the entire reading public in the United States and the world will be directed to the National election on the second Tuesday in November. The campaign has already waxed warm and getting warmer. Thousands of people who have always voted the Democratic ticket are going to vote the Republican nominee for President, and likewise will many Republicans vote for the Democratic nominee. The whole thing from a casual observers standpoint of view is in a mellow-ness, either Al Smith or Herbert Hoover will be the next President of the United States and the wheels of progress will roll right along just the same as it has been doing, with some people standing in the background finding fault with every act, while others will stay right in there and pitch.

P. P. Bond, D. J. Johnson, E. R. Purdy and G. W. Faulkner went to Coleman Monday evening to attend the organization meeting of a Lions Club in that city.

Mrs. J. D. Center of Hamilton is visiting in the home of her son-in-law, Ewing Lovelady and family.

Rev. J. J. Kellum spoke at the Baptist church Sunday night in behalf of the Buckner Orphans Home. Rev. J. J. Kellum is a former pastor of the Baptist Church at Coleman.

Miss Edith Lowe of Brownwood is visiting friends in Santa Anna this week.

Court Holds Giving Chances For Automobile is Lottery

In a decision handed down by the Fifth Court of Civil Appeals at Dallas recently it was held that the giving of chance on an automobile indiscriminately effects no change in the scheme itself, but only in the manner of executing it, and is therefore a lottery. The case grew out of the giving away of chances on an automobile as advertising and promoting good will, and attorneys for the defendant urged that inasmuch as the chances were given away the scheme was lacking in the elements of chance necessary to a lottery. The court however, ruled that the change merely in detail made no difference and the scheme was unlawful. This decision will operate to stop many, in fact practically all of the games of chance which are operated as an adjunct to patronage.

Brown County To Vote On Road Bonds

The Commissioners Court of Brown county last Saturday received a petition signed by 649 citizens of Brown county, requesting the Court to order an election soon for the purpose of voting on bonds to the amount of $1,650,000 for road improvements in Brown county. The Court considered the matter, ordered the election, and set the date for October, 1st.

Apparently, a well organized move on the part of the citizens over the county is behind the proposition, and we hope it carries. Brown county has the poorest system of roads of any county in this part of Texas, and the people everywhere are interested in seeing them improved.

RECORDS ARE SMASHED BY YATES WELL

FORT WORTH, Tex., Aug. 27.—All records scored by any well in West Texas, or probably in the United States, have been broken by the Gulf Production Company No. 13 Yates in the Yates pool of Pecos county, with a measured flow of 2,756 barrels of oil in 30 minutes. This is at the rate of 123,643 barrels per day. Following the test the well was pinched in, as a result of the proration in effect in the pool. Total allowance from all the Gulf's Yates pool leases is only approximately six percent of the rate of daily flow tested by this one well.

SUNRISE BREAKFAST

Last Monday morning a group of young people, chaperoned by Mrs. Ford Barnes, went up the mountain for a sunrise breakfast. All reported an enjoyable time. Those in the group were: Misses Velma Oder and Elizabeth and Margaret Wylie, Messers Curry Mills, Bud Maxwell and Joe Christie Barnes.

MORE ABOUT OUR SPECIAL EDITION FOR NEXT WEEK

Last week we announced our intentions to publish a special edition in the near future, giving the local merchants and all the business people of Santa Anna an opportunity to extend invitations to the public in general to come to Santa Anna this fall to market their crop and purchase their supplies. Several have called, and talked the matter over with us, and have shown much concern about it.

We will publish our special edition next week and would like to carry a "goodwill" message from every business house in Santa Anna to the people in this trade territory. The buying public appreciates courtesy, and goodwill advertising is valuable advertising to any firm who appreciates a liberal patronage from the public. Let us have several goodwill and greeting advertisements for next week, and may we insist on getting the copy as early as possible. Just sit down and write a message right out of your heart. Invite the people in to see you and tell them what you have to sell. If you have nothing to sell but service, remember, "He Profits Most Who Serves Best."

No use to wait until next week. Let us have your copy any day up to Wednesday morning. We believe we can make this edition filled with goodwill advertising, fall greetings and announcements, well worth while to Santa Anna and hope to have your full cooperation. We will be ready for advertising Friday and Saturday of this week if any of you have it prepared. Just telephone 45 and we will be there P. D. Q.

R. M. LUCAS PASSES AWAY VERY SUDDENLY

Friends of the R. M. Lucas family were grieved last Friday to learn that Mr. Lucas was suffering from a stroke of paralysis which caused his death about noon of that day.

Mr. Lucas was, according to information gathered this week, 69 years of age, a native of Breunham in Washington county, Texas. He moved here about 28 years ago, reared a family and was one of our well respected farmer citizens.

His companion died, July 7, this year, a few days after the family suffered severely from the result of a poisoned dish of vegetables that were partaken of at the noon day meal. Deceased had not fully recovered from the effects of the poison himself, but was thought to be improving.

His remains were prepared and brought here for burial Saturday, the funeral services being held at the Cleveland Church of Christ, conducted by Elder Jones of Brownwood, and old time friend to Mr. Lucas.

The following children survive: Mrs. P. H. Williams, Mrs. Ruby Rogers, Miss Daisy Lucas, Clyde and Clifford Lucas, living in these parts; Frank Lucas, Hereford, Texas and John Lucas of Plainview, Texas. All the children were here for the funeral.

It was said of Mr. Lucas that he obeyed the gospel about 28 years ago and united with the Church of Christ. The Santa Anna News joins in extending sympathy to the bereaved family.

CANDIDATE FILES TRUTHFUL LIST OF ELECTION "COSTS"

NEW LEXINGTON, OHIO.—The law requires candidates for office to file a report of all expenditures. A widely known candidate for sheriff in Perry Co. has his all ready to file and has the matter truthfully compiled, showing just what it cost him "to be elected."

"Lost 1,349 hours of sleep thinking about the election. Lost two front teeth and a lot of hair in a personal encounter with an opponent. Donated one beef, four shoats and five sheep to county barbeques. Gave away two pairs of suspenders, four calico dresses, $5 in cash and 15 baby rattles. Kissed 126 babies. Put up four stoves. Kindled 14 fires. Walked 4,076 miles. Shook hands with 508 people. Told 10,101 lies and talked enough to make in print 1,000 volumes."

Attended 16 revivals and was baptized four times by immersion and twice by other ways. Contributed $50 to foreign missions and made love to five widows—five grass and four gold.

"Hugged 49 old maids. Got dog-bit 39 times and was elected by 353 majority."

IS THERE A LIMIT?
Art Goebel has proved that an airplane can fly from Los Angeles to New York in less than 19 hours. Which suggests the question, is there a limit to speed? As surely as there is no limit to invention, there is no limit to speed. He who might chance to read of Goebel's "quick trip" a hundred years from now will laugh.

That Georgia man who lost his speech while making an airplane flight probably wishes he had let his wife go first.

Coleman Plans A Court House

COLEMAN, August 27.—A petition was being prepared today and will be circulated early in the week for a $250,000 bond election, which if passed will be used for the construction of a new Coleman county court house and jail.

The present court house constructed in 1884 is becoming antiquated and entirely too small for the volume of business which it is called upon to accommodate, according to the claims of those championing the bond issue.

When sufficient signers have endorsed the petition, and election on the bonds will likely be called within 60 days. Numerous people who have made the claims that they favored no other bonds with the possible exception of school bonds, have stepped over the fence and are favoring the court house plan.

How To Go Broke Farming

1. Grow only one crop.
2. Keep no livestock.
3. Regard chickens and a garden as a nuisance.
4. Take everything from the soil and return nothing.
5. Don't stop gullies or grow cover crops—let the top soil wash away, then you will have "bottom" land.
6. Don't plan your farm operations. It's hard work thinking—trust to luck.
7. Regard your woodland as you would a coal mine, cut every tree, sell the timber and wear the cleared land out cultivating it in corn.
8. Hold fast to the idea that the methods of farming employed by your grandfather are good enough for you.
9. Be independent—don't join with your neighbors in any kind of co-operation.
10. Mortgage your farm for every dollar it will stand to buy things you would have the cash to buy if you followed a good system of farming—Division of Extension, University of Tennessee.

TWO WOMEN DROP DEAD WHILE IN HOUSTON CHURCHES

HOUSTON, Aug. 27.—Two women have dropped dead in Houston churches in two days, one while preaching.

Miss Clara Mae Catlett, 19, of Pritchett died last night while attending an entertainment at the Church of Christ.

Mrs. J. W. Selfert, 58, dropped dead Thursday noon while preaching at the Field Gospel Tabernacle.

Heart disease was the cause of death in both instances, physicians said.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Loudermilk made a business trip to Anson and Spur one of which places they contemplate moving soon.

Abilene Goodwill Special Here Next Wednesday

Abilene, Texas, August 27, 1928. Mr. J. J. Gregg, Editor, News, Santa Anna, Texas. Dear Mr. Gregg:—

Abilene's 1928 Friendship Special, a Pullman train of nine cars, will visit your city on Wednesday, September 5th. It will arrive in Santa Anna at 9:00 a. m. and will remain with you for thirty minutes.

At least 125 of Abilene's leading citizens will be on the train. The Cowboy Band, of Simmons University, official music making aggregation of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, will be along and a group of entertainers from Abilene Christian College and McMurry College will be on hand also.

Abilene is, this year doing something a little different in the way of a business men's excursion. This affair will not be a trade trip. It is, as the name implies, simply a visit to see you folks.

Your town and all of the other forty-eight that will be visited by the Friendship Special, have in the past and are today, contributing much to Abilene. Your people have patronized Abilene's industries, her wholesale houses, her colleges, and other institutions and concerns of the city that render service which cannot be obtained in the smaller cities of West Texas. Had it not been for the friendship and patronage of your citizens, Abilene would not be the city it is today.

Therefore, a group of representative people of Abilene are coming to pay you a friendly visit. We want to meet with you whom we know and to know those of you we haven't had the pleasure of meeting in the past.

We want to see as many of the people of your community as possible when we come over. We will have a real message for you. You will be advised later concerning some of the features the tourists will offer.

Yours very truly,
J. C. Watson,
Asst. Secretary
P. S. The program will be short and entertaining, and every reader of the Santa Anna News and their friends are invited to be here and meet the bunch.

SAVE YOUR MONEY, BOYS

The young man in this day who does not value his time and who does not save some of his money is making a bad start in life. He is headed toward failure and misery to say the least of it. In many cases this course leads to crime and to prison.

"How long had you known your husband before you were married?"
"I didn't know him at all. I only thought I did."

FINANCIAL CREEDS

The man who gets the furthest is the man who has a goal and works to reach that goal.

Your creed should be something like this:

- To Earn Money Honestly
 - To Spend it Intelligently
 - To Invest It Wisely
 - And To Save It Regularly
- Result—Success, Comfort, Independence
- We offer Co-operation

Labor Day Enriched

Labor Day, September 3, will be enriched by another celebration in honor of the men and women who toil. Many will not center their minds upon the day. We may as well face this fact. They will seek pleasures during the respite unattended by any demonstration concerning labor. This is to be expected.

The purpose of such a day in honor of labor is to gain the sympathetic heart of all in the problems affecting the workers; to cause the wealth to be a little more charitable toward the poor, and to stimulate the poor and ambitious to greater achievements and to take up the opportunities open to them for self-improvement and accumulation of sufficient wealth to live decently and comfortably.

Labor Day is not solely for the purpose of looking down upon the masses of workers with tears in our eyes. It is also for the very righteous purpose of helping the workers see and know their freedom of opportunity to work out their high and noble destinies; to remind them of the great strides they have made in matters of legislation, wage, hours, safety, standardization, employment, and for the social advancements made over former periods of serfdom and slavery recorded in labor history.

Notwithstanding labor has not received all it has striven for, and that considerable unemployment exists in certain parts of the country, we can see the sun rise and set on another Labor Day enriched by a record of progress in many lines of activity.

He (worried): I don't feel right about this powder of yours on my coat.

She (nonchalantly): It's quite all right. I have plenty more in my compact.

Fort Stockton—Ten thousand acres of fine farming land are under irrigation from two to ten miles from this city.

Eden—A thirty thousand dollar bond issue for the installation of water works carried by a vote of three to one.

Laredo—The opening of a twelve story, 300 room hotel will be formally opened here September 1st.

Pampa—The District Convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be held here September 10.

CHASTITY

Mrs. Walter Ferguson in Houston Press

In these our days, even as of old, the most beautiful attribute of woman is chastity.

Girls may toss their pretty little heads, defying fate, to do its worst. They may be brave and alert, and wise, been upon mortal's eternal quest, but sometimes this zest of life leads to disaster.

Not only the youngsters, but their elders want excitement, swiftness and varied. Jazz, cock-tails, joyrides, petting in the dark, risks, dares, ventures, all, these things are meat for moderns. We are far more tolerant, in many ways. We no longer condemn girls when they love unwisely and too well. One moral mistake can not spoil a maid's future. Married women carry on their small flirtations, sometimes soiling their skirts with affairs that detract from their dignity as wives and mothers. But, may it be said to our credit, that they can beat back.

However, we should never forget that beating back is hard work. The temptation to lapse in our morals is incited by much of our literature. The theory that we live but once leads us into the error of giving way to our emotions. Suppression has become a crime instead of a virtue. We pretend that we must "taste life" whatever that may be.

But truth does not change though manners may. And chastity, like honor, once sullied can never be the same again.

There is an atmosphere of serenity about the chaste woman that is spiritual in its loveliness, and spiritual beauty is always more lasting than physical. Women of experience acquire with the years a hard flinty appearance. Their eyes are cold and calculating. They have a sort of enameled look. For when one makes sex—the most beautiful and powerful force of life—a plaything, one destroys one's self.

And it is a tragic mistake to allow girls to believe that men will ever be content to take "experienced" women for their wives. Of all modern bunk, this is the most false. Though men may learn to forgive even as women have always forgiven, the girl who goes chaste to the altar has not only her own self-respect, but the respect of her husband, which sometimes lasts longer than love.

Sam Collier is in Dallas this week attending to business.

STORY OF THREE BOYS AND AN APPLE TREE

Once upon a time a little boy found an apple tree and while he was plucking some of the apples and putting them into his basket another little boy came along and said: "R. Q., where did you get all those nice, red apples?" R. Q. answered and said, "I found this tree and it had a lot of apples on it, and I just picked them that were ripe. In fact, while I was standing under the tree there were some that just fell into my basket, the others that hadn't got quite ripe enough to fall I pulled a little and off they came." "But," says Oscar, "ain't you going to give the some of those apples?" R. Q. answers: "Why should I? This is my apple tree. If you want some apples, you go and find you an apple tree like I did." "And," he continued, "if this had been your apple tree you would have broken the limbs off and scarred up the trunk, and scratched the bark until it would not have had any more apples on it. I have just taken the ripe ones and left the tree in good shape to bear more apples. Now you get away from this tree and don't bother it. It is in good shape now, but if you live but once leads us into the error of giving way to our emotions. Suppression has become a crime instead of a virtue. We pretend that we must "taste life" whatever that may be.

"Listen R. Q., you have all the apples and if you will give me a dime for the one I lost I will carry your apples to the house for you." R. Q.: "I can carry my own apples. Besides you are not a good apple carrier anyway. You run along and forget about losing your little old, measly dime. Lots of people do that when they are playing with it, but never howl and cry about it."

Oscar felt sorry for Homer, and he said: "Homer if you will help me find an apple tree like this one I will give you a nickel, and then you won't be so much the loser. But you must do some good hunting for that nickel." So Homer accepted the nickel and Oscar is still behind him every day seeing that Homer does what he agreed to do and they are both looking for another apple tree like the one R. Q. had found, when R. Q. would not play fair and divide with them. They are making a thorough search, looking everywhere, but Oscar won't trust Homer to go about by himself and look while he goes some other way to seek one, but Oscar is as much concerned about Homer's faithfulness in hunting as he is about what he might find. Oscar wants to be sure Homer earns his nickel, and that is right. —Contributed.

Truth Never Sounds Right

A customer walked in to a furniture store and selected an article, telling the clerk to charge it.

"On what account?" asked the clerk.

"On account of not having any money with me."

The seashore's far, and under par,
My purse, no water's near,
But chic and cute is my bathing suit,
And so I wear it here.

My dark brown brow is sure a wow,
But more a bluff than that,
No holiday took me away—

SANTA ANNA NEWS

Entered at the Post Office at Santa Anna, Texas, as Second Class Mail.

J. J. Gregg, Editor and Pub

FRIDAY, AUGUST 31, 1928

Cotton picking is the main order of the day in this territory, and several people have been calling for pickers. The gins are running almost regular and by the end of this week several hundred bales will be in the yards here. One gin reports ginning 44 bales Wednesday of this week. We expect to have some interesting announcements to make about our cotton gins in Santa Anna in our next issue of the News.

A lengthy newspaper mention of the death of William Tennill, automobile racer, killed Sunday August 19, a nephew of J. M. Martin of this city, about 38 years old, and was killed in a race on a post road when his Ford racer collided with another car at a fast speed, his car turning over, falling on him, splitting his head open, causing death instantly. His home was at Taylor.

A young preacher arose one Sunday morning to announce the subject of his sermon, "Brethren and sisters" he said, "the subject of my discourse this morning will be: 'The World, the Flesh and the Devil.' I shall make only a few remarks on the world, merely touch on the flesh and go straight on the devil."

AN 11-YEAR-OLD HERO

In Tennessee, a little 11-year-old boy died in a fire that destroyed the home rather than leave his baby sister in the flames. Lonnie had already escaped the fire but went back to rescue his 2-year-old sister. Soon he called out: "Mother, I can't bring her out. I'll just remain and die with her." In scanning the pages of history and reviewing the brave deeds of brave heroes, ancient or modern you could not find an instance of greater courage, or greater devotion. In erecting memorials to the honored dead, the erectors should not overlook this Tennessee mountain boy. His deed was as great as any, and it typified the kind of boy he was.

Texas and Texans

By Will H. Mays

Politics and Roads

Political activities have not lessened interests in road building in Texas. Among the latest movements is the proposal for a $1,500,000 bond issue for roads in Brown county, fostered by an organization of young business men and a $750,000 bond issue in Montague county. Sections of the State that are without good roads are finding that they are being studiously avoided by both homeseekers and tourists. The first thing investigated by persons seeking a new location are the character of the roads and good schools. If good roads and good schools are lacking the homeseekers pass on to more progressive sections.

Taylor Plans Studied

Taylor is taking time off from politics to make a close study of city planning. Taylor has awakened to the possibility of substantial growth, but its citizens are anxious to have the place improved in attractiveness along with its development in size. Towns that were started years ago on the hit-or-miss way then so common in town building are trying to remedy their mistakes. It is but little more trouble or expense to build an attractive city than to allow one to grow up with no regard to beauty.

Uninsightly Entrance

The part of a house that makes the best and most lasting impression upon a visitor is likely to be the front entrance, or the first room entered. Real estate dealers have learned that it is hard to sell a house with an unattractive front. Why haven't those who are building cities and towns learned this lesson? Usually the shabbiest shacks line the railroad tracks, and often they are about all travellers can see in passing through a town. If I were starting on a campaign of civic planning and improvement, I would begin work at the railroad-right of way.

Parks and Population

Interesting figures have recently been given out in regard to the relation of city park acreage to population. Fort Worth leads other Texas cities in park space per capita, with Dallas, Houston, Beaumont, Waco and Wichita Falls coming next in order. Brownwood, though much smaller than these cities, rank seventh while Austin, the city most favored of all by nature, takes the seventeenth place in park acreage. A survey showing the attractiveness of park improvements as related to population would be of interest.

Marfa Coming Along

Judging from the news items in the Big Bend Sentinel, Marfa is a West Texas town that is coming right along. The front page of that paper for one week shows that a movement is on.

foot to pave 17 city blocks with Uvalde rock asphalt, that an oil company has leased 100,000 acres for development, that a State scenic highway with numerous parks is being planned, that a big fair is in prospect and that a committee of Marfa citizens has been to San Saba to study how successful fairs are managed that a full-time secretary has been employed for the Chamber of Commerce.

Turkey Trot Plans

Cureo is making strenuous efforts to redeem its first place as a "Turkey Trot" center. But will have to trot pretty fast to catch up with Brady, which took up the turkey trot idea when Cureo dropped it a few years ago. Visitors to the Cureo event are to be shown a model 25 acre turkey farm, where they may see for themselves how the work is carried on and may study the best arrangements for properly conducting the turkey business. A large acreage near the city has been purchased by an enterprising realtor to be subdivided into 25 acre plots for turkey raising. Brady has the next move.

Mercedes Shows Progress

Mercedes is putting some of the other Lower Rio Grande Valley towns on their tip-toes to keep up with its progress. A $150,000 bridge across the Rio Grande into Mexico, where over $300,000 is being spent in building up a Mexican "resort" town a $40,000 country club house, parks filled with native tropical trees and shrubs, lining both sides of the Rio Grande, a $250,000 hotel and business structure, a new $45,000 city hall, a $11,000 American Legion Hall; numerous other club houses; new school and church buildings; hard surfaced roads leading to all parts of the Valley, and the "lowest city tax rate of any town in the valley" are the things which Mercedes has a right to boast.

Fort Worth Gas Rate

Fort Worth is having trouble over a proposition of the gas company to increase the rate to consumers. The gas company, it seems, lost its fight before the railroad commission for an increase in rates. The matter is now before a Federal tribunal, consisting of two districts and one circuit court judge on application of the gas company. In the mean time the Federal court has asked for an injunction restraining the city of Fort Worth, the Texas Railroad Commission, and the Governor from enforcing the present schedule. Contests of this kind create sentiment favorable to municipal ownership of public utilities.

Headwork in Farming

J. E. Rogers, formerly a traveling salesman, started farming in Ootie county six years ago, and says that, by using his head along with his hands, he has made farming pay him a clear profit of $12,000 or $2,000 a year above his living expenses. He started with two cows, three heifer calves, one pony and a yearling colt, no farm machinery, and about $100.00 in cash. He bought 320 acres of land, going in debt for all of it. The land is now clear of debt, the farm well stocked and equipped with machinery, and his four boys and one girl go to school, even though the cotton picking season is on. Mr. Rogers has no set formula for success, but has made his money selling cream and milk, chickens and eggs, hogs, cotton and the other things that can be produced on any Texas farm. He thinks that the farmer needs to exercise as much thought and energy as a salesman to make a success of his work.

Trucks Help Farmers

The Weatherford Democrat thinks that a large part of the success of Parker county farmers has been due to the use of trucks in marketing their products. The fruits and melons that grow to such perfection in that county are often hauled hundreds of miles in trucks in search of the best markets, whereas, when the railroad afforded the only transportation facilities, much of the farm products went to waste for lack of markets. If the farmer can't find a local market, for what he grows, he can load the produce on a truck and go until he finds a place that will buy it.

WINNERS IN THE GUESSING CONTEST

The following are the winners in the "Wild Cat" guessing contest at the Purdy Mercantile Company store, last Friday and Saturday: A. Heffer, Miss Marcuette Bralley and Mrs. J. J. Johnson. The contest No. was 326. Mr. Heffer's guess Friday was 324. Miss Bralley and Mrs. Johnson both guessed the same number Saturday, each one guessing 325. The winners are requested to call for your prizes at your convenience, Purdy Mercantile Co.

The theory now is that Pat and the other women who were could have said all the things credited to them.

MISS KIRKPATRICK THANKS VOTERS

I wish to thank the voters of Coleman county, one and all for my success in the race for Tax Collector and sincerely hope you may never have cause to regret what you have done. I shall endeavor at all times to give you courteous efficient service.

Miss Jettie Kirkpatrick

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to extend a word of thanks to the voters of this precinct for the vote given me last Saturday. I assure you that I am grateful and feel that I owe a debt of gratitude, which I will partly pay in service during my term in office, by doing my best to deal justly and with fairness to all.

yours truly, Joe B. Flores

TO MY FRIENDS AND SUPPORTERS

I wish to thank each and every one of you for your wonderful support you gave me in my race for Weigher. I hope I may be able some day to show you how very much I appreciate your support.

If people who undertake to argue political issues would take the trouble to inform themselves and confine their discussions to facts rather than to assumptions the volume would be materially decreased.

ROMANCE OF THE TROPICS

Tim McCoy, dashing adventurer of the screen, has a new setting and a new brand of adventures for his newest role—and consequently reaped a new triumph in "The Adventurer," his latest Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer vehicle that will be shown at the Queen Theatre next Friday, Sept. 7th.

It is a romance of the tropics, with McCoy playing an American mining engineer, thrust through a strange trick of fate, into the midst of a Latin-American Revolution.

You can tell about how a boy will turn out if you know what time he turns in.

A FOUR-HORSE RUNAWAY

One of the most spectacular runaways of a four-horse team on a narrow mountain grade is seen in "Code of the Scarlet," Ken Maynard's latest western feature for First National Theatre Saturday September 29th. Ken is a specialist in dare-devil stunts, but this tops anything he has ever before attempted.

THOROUGHbred HATS

CONSTANT effort backed by expert technical knowledge has produced in THOROUGHbred Hats, an article with a distinct appeal.

The harmony of blended colors and the perfection of details are interesting to the man who desires to be well dressed. The wearing qualities (THOROUGHbred Hats are made from long selected hare's-fur, felted and finished to withstand more than ordinary use) make them worthy of the consideration of the man looking for honest values.

DR. J. B. CRANFILL REVIVES THE ADVANCE

Dr. J. B. Cranfill, the old-time prohibition editor, who launched The Gatesville Advance in 1882, and which was the first weekly paper in Texas to advocate National Prohibition, has revived his paper. The price of The Advance is $1.00 a year. Sample copies will be sent upon request. Agents are wanted in every part of Texas.

The Advance heartily and vigorously advocates the Eighteenth Amendment and all other prohibition provisions, and identifies itself as "a journal of Christian civilization."

A post card will bring you a single copy, or what is better, $1. will bring this prohibition paper to you for a whole year. Address The Advance, 630 Wilson Bldg., Dallas, Texas.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By Edson R. Waite
Shawnee, Oklahoma

THAT it takes time for any business to build a reputation that is strong enough to insure a steady growth.

THAT the success of every business depends on its gaining its reputation by honest advertising and living up to its advertisements.

THAT a good advertiser who gets results is the one who advertises frequently and sufficiently.

THAT the reputation of a business comes from satisfied customers—satisfied customers come as a result of honest goods and honest advertising.

THAT today the public does not seek a store; the store must seek the public and they must do it by advertising.

THAT the business concerns that have enjoyed a prosperous business year after year have been constant advertisers.

THAT the business that has grown from a small business into large business has been a heavy advertiser.

Lesson for September 2

PAUL PREACHES IN THESSALONICA AND BEREIA

LESSON TEXT—Acts 17:1-15; Thessa. 5:12-23; Rom. 15:13-20. GOLDEN TEXT—The entrance of Thy words giveth light.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul Finds New Friends and Foes.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Paul's Use of the Scriptures.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Paul, the Organizer of Churches.

1. Preaching in Thessalonica (Acts 17:1-10). His method (v. 1, 2). He observed the divine order, "to the Jew first," but whenever they proved themselves unworthy he turned to the Gentiles.

2. His message (v. 8). It was that Jesus is the Christ. In order to prove that Jesus is the Christ, he expounded unto them the Scriptures, convincing Christ he set forth three propositions:

(1) "That Christ must needs have suffered (v. 3).

The suffering Christ was not welcomed by the Jews (Isa. 53). They were looking for a Messiah of a different type. This is common today in our churches and Sunday schools. The cross is an offense.

(2) "That Christ must needs have risen from the dead (v. 6). This he proved by the Scriptures. The resurrection of Christ and the bodily resurrection of believers are the most sound and practical exposition in our churches today.

(3) "That this Jesus, whom I preach unto you, is Christ." He declared that the historic Jesus whom he had proclaimed had suffered and risen from the dead, therefore He is the predicted Messiah.

3. The attitude of the Jews toward his preaching (v. 4-10). While some Jews believed and many Greeks, the envy of certain Jews was aroused at Paul's success that they gathered together the worthless fellows of the town and created a riot. They turned the preaching of Paul into a specious lie. He preached the kingdom of Jesus (v. 7). Jesus is most assuredly coming to reign on this earth.

4. What He Preached at Thessalonica (1 Thessa. 5:12-20). He corrected certain doctrinal errors which had crept into the church. They were not to sorrow unduly (v. 13). Because they failed to understand the meaning of Paul's preaching concerning the coming of the Lord they were indulging in excessive sorrow. They seemed to think that their loved ones who had died would miss the blessings and glory connected with the return of the Lord.

5. The events associated with the Lord's coming (v. 18-19). In this section he gives the reasons why they were not to allow themselves to be overwhelmed with grief.

(1) The departed saints will come back when Jesus comes (v. 14). Immediately following the death of believers their spirits go to be with the Lord where they remain in the state of blessedness until the Lord shall return to this earth, bringing them with Him.

(2) The bodies of the dead in Christ shall come forth from the grave (v. 16). When the Lord comes there will be a real resurrection of the dead in Christ, before the change of the bodies of living believers.

(3) Living believers will be caught up with those who have been resurrected (v. 17). We are commanded to be ready to watch.

6. Paul Preaching in Berea (Acts 17:10-14). His method (v. 10). He entered the Jewish synagogue and preached Christ.

7. The reception of the Gospel by the Bereans (v. 11, 12). (1) They received the message gladly.

(2) They searched the Scriptures daily for the truthfulness of the message which they had heard. For this worthy act Paul said they were more noble than those at Thessalonica.

8. The wicked action of the Jews (v. 13-15). Wicked Jews from Thessalonica followed the missionaries and stirred up the people against them, making it necessary for them again to flee.

IV. Paul's Manner of Preaching (Rom. 15:18-20). Wherever he went in the Gentile world he preached salvation through faith in Christ. God accompanied his ministry with mighty signs and wonders, with the object of turning the Gentiles obedient to the Gospel. Paul's aim was to preach in new fields so as not to build on the foundation of another.

The Golden Age Of Courage

The stone age, the bronze age, the iron age and the electric and radio age each marks a period in the world's history when the arts of man were confined, to and centered upon self-preservation and the use of natural forces with the materials at hand. Materialistic in their very essence, these ages did not express, or do not of themselves express differences of human nature, nor especially mark the triumphs of human thought and character.

But the golden ages of courage are not to be reckoned chronologically. Courage that denotes strong character and lofty ideas is not necessarily distinctive to any particular period.

The age of physical courage began when men built fires to ward off wild beasts from their homes in cave cliff. Moral courage had hardly taken hold when killing with clubs and stones was man's only protection against other savages, except the courage of self-preservation which was a primal instinct. But when men began to shape stones into hatchets and metal into implements to carry on the needs of their meager civilization, there began a recognition of property rights calling for courage of accumulation and ownership and protection of their enjoyments of the fruits of labor.

In proportion to the advancement of civilization were physical courage gave way to a higher and more commendable courage—a fearlessness that became fortified. Courage became a condition of the heart as well as of the hand and head. Mere bravery partook of intrepidity and resolution. As a result great empires were founded, battles of mentality, philosophy and ethics were won along with sheer conquest of sword and catapult, commerce and other means of interchange of commodities were inaugurated, institutions of language and learning were established, seas were sailed, mountains were scaled and new lands discovered, rational forms of government were ordained.

As a climax to this evolution of courage from physical bravery to constancy and firmness of intellect, there came great systems of religion, or perhaps one great system of religion, embodying the steadfastness of soul and devotion to things spiritual.

Any departure from the kind of courage that impels people to go about doing affirmative good, tends to lower them to the levels of selfishness, interest, and retard the onward march of civilization.

Courage has reached its golden age when it is of the kind and quality that may be interpreted as charity or love, benevolence, and a crowning mastery over disregard of the welfare of others. True courage has been transformed from self-preservation to self-immolation. For, "he that loseth his life shall find it."

Thanks To Democracy

William F. Whiting, successor to Herbert Hoover as secretary of commerce, was given the oath of office at Superior, Wisconsin, in President Coolidge's private office.

There is nothing particularly significant in that fact, except the thought that in a democracy or republic like the United States of America the people care little where the so-called "seat of government" is situated. The country goes right along whether its President is in Washington, Superior, San Diego or Pensacola. Americans are strong for results, even if weak on methods. The President can go to any point he wishes, or even to Europe or China, and nobody is going to try to "capture" Washington while he is away, or usurp the functions and privileges of state. With all its attendant ills, democracy must be credited with having brought about such a state of mind in both the American people and people of other countries; a state of mind wherein different results are sought by opposing factions or parties, but whereby the form and establishment of government itself is a settled fact.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

He who cannot find time to consult his Bible will one day find he has time to be sick; he who has no time to pray, must find time to die; he who can find no time to reflect is most likely to find time for repentance. Will find an eternity in which repentance will be of no avail; he who cannot find time to work for others may find an eternity in which to suffer for himself. Hannah Moore.

Every time we begin to think a little bit along the wet line and then suddenly see a friend of ours a little tipsy, we go home and stay dry for another six months.

Why?

(By Thos. E. Pickering)

Why does a fellow boost his town? Why does he lift you up when you're down? Why does he make things boom and hum, taking a punch at old man Gum, tell me, why does he do it?

Why does a fellow sing and shout? Why does he always put to rout, all the pessimists he can find, knockers and sinners of every kind, tell me, how can he do it?

Why does a fellow shoot 'er straight? Why is he happy tomorrow and late? Why does he banish all fret and frown, tho he can't run the whole blamed town? Tell me, how can he do it?

Oh, I'll tell you why he can sing and shout, kick all the stumps and pessimists out, boost when the others are tearing down, spreading good cheer, hroust the town; I'll tell you why he can do it.

'He's the fellow who's claim to fame, is simply the way he plays the game. Always square tho he's on the run, always fair tho he clearly won. That's why he can do it.

'He's the fellow who knows his stuff, knows how to call the knocker's bluff. Knows his town needs the booster's call, he's the man who's a MAN—that's all! That's the reason he does it.

RURAL EDUCATION TAUGHT IN STATE UNIVERSITY

AUSTIN, TEXAS, Aug. 29.—That the need for special training for the work of rural education is felt has been evidenced by the steady increase in number enrolling in Rural Education courses at the University of Texas, according to Dr. Annie Webb Blanton, associate professor of Rural Education and former State Superintendent of public instruction.

"The department of rural education was established by the University one year ago," she said in a recent statement regarding the growing demand for rural education. "The State of Texas has more rural territory, more rural schools, and more pupils in rural districts than any other state in the union. Yet those desiring to take special training in Rural Education for advanced degrees have in the past usually been compelled to go for such work beyond the borders of the state.

"In the last ten years, state support of schools in Texas has been increased to twice, and local support of schools to three times, the amounts raised for education from these sources at the beginning of the decade. With increased resources for schools, there has been intensified the realization of the need of trained supervisors and superintendents for rural schools.

"During the past year, a total of five classes in Rural Education have been enrolled in the University. Rural Education is ranked as advanced work, and the enrollment figures compare favorably with enrollment in advanced classes of other courses of long standing.

A Second-Hand Joke

"Is this a second-hand shop?" asked the young man.

"Yes, sir," came the reply.

"Well, I want one put on this watch."

Country In The Boy

You know it's mighty hard for one to get away from their boyhood or young manhood environs. Yes, the things that happen to them when the mind is plastic, and the red blood of youth ran riot in their veins, ever clings to them, though they may climb high up in temples of fame, yet the tang of the exploits of boyhood hang onto them. Of course, the country boy takes the polish like a clear cut diamond, in the academic realm. In the cloister of the institutions of learning, in the forum, and in the great big business world, the green gets rubbed off. But nevertheless, the country is still in the boy—just can't get away from it—O yes, those capers of early day youth, lying there, seemingly dormant, but just touch the violin string of youth, with a little rosin on the bow, and all restraint is throwing to the winds. Standing in a crowded hotel lobby not long since, the newspaper gang were there from all over West Texas, the small and the great, among this crowd was a debonaire, stately portly fellow, best known and best loved newspaper man in all of Texas. His hair is frosted over, the picture of mentality is stamped on his features, he always carries a cane, chews wax and the rest of the time, he smokes a cigar, and a special favorite of the fair sex—Looking at him you would never suspect that he came out of the sticks, polished and very reserved in his demeanor, nothing whatever to suggest that he had ever cut a coon tree, played mumble peg or stink base, attended the log rolling or the country dance—But you got another guess-coming boy—Directly the jazz band began to play, and those feet of his which grew and got their shape ere footable of fashionable foot wear and silk sock put a crimp in 'em sorter began to wiggle and shift about—O yes, hot footed youth runs true to form, the scars from stone bruises and busted toe nails began to itch and tingle—Again he heard the call of the country side, bullpen and burnback, the old time country dance in the mountains of the Carolinas, the fiddle and banjo and the chicken bones—Cotton-eyed Joe and One-eyed Riley, chicken in the bread tray, peck, peck—Swing Swing your partners and all run away—A boy again—And, my how he did knock the back step and the double shuffle—Joe just could not be still—The Country in the boy—Albany News.

J. J. Walden Trained For Big Position

Mr. J. J. Walden is the sole owner of the Southwestern Engraving Company of Fort Worth, Texas and the principal stockholder of plants by the same name in Dallas, Houston, Wichita Falls, Tulsa, Oklahoma, and Atlanta, Georgia. His annual income is very large and he is rated to be worth over $125,000.00.

(This income and this rating were not handed to Mr. Walden on a silver platter. Indeed a few years ago—when he was 16 years of age and lived at Itasca, Texas—he stood just where hundreds of thousands of other young people stand today, without money without influential friends, without even a High School training.

But, unlike many others, he didn't spend any time bemoaning his handicaps. He quickly discovered that without special ability of any kind he wouldn't have a ghost of a chance ever to rise above the ranks of muscle workers. Observation showed him that it was in the world of business where the biggest incomes were made—where opportunities were most abundant. All that stood between him and these op-

Make cleaning your rifle unnecessary

WITH Peters Rustless 22's you can shoot your rifle, check or revolver as often as you like, never clean it, and still have it remain bright, clean, straight shooting as long as you use them exclusively.

And when you use Peters Rustless 22's you are getting the most accurate cartridges you ever slipped into a rifle—loaded as only Peters can load ammunition.

Try them. They cost no more than ordinary 22's. We have them in shorts, longs, and long sides.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTICE

Mr. J. W. Mitchell, lay leader of the Brownwood district, will speak at the Methodist Church next Sunday morning, Sept. 2, at 11 o'clock. All are invited to hear his gospel message at that hour. B. R. Wagner, pastor.

Wonder what percentage of the bunk poured out by a confirmed politician he imagines the public believe.

"Did you ever hear," inquired a wagish acquaintance, "of the American, who, owing to an accident to his airplane, suddenly changed his nationality—he came down a Russian."

"Yes," he replied, "falling in with his humor, 'but we heard further that this aviator carried a passenger who also changed his nationality—he landed on some telegraph wires and came down a Pole.'"

Thinking is a human process that is much neglected. People do many things in life entirely leaving out the element of thought. This world would be a much better world, a much better place to live in, if each person would simply put his thinking cap on and wear it at the performance of each deed, significant or seemingly inconsequential. In the office, in the shop, in the home, in the social arena, in public places, everywhere, thought would play well its part. The habit of careful thinking is the boy and girl who will mean most to America. Wounded feelings shattered careers, demolished hopes, slouchy work, determinations to revenge and all sorts and kinds of failures may at once be prevented by the simple application of proper thought. Time and money may be saved if one will but think when about his immediate task. Matrimonial missteps may be prevented by right and proper thinking. Many careers may be brightened and made more useful and larger by merely allowing thought to invade the territory of proper execution. Since thinking is such an important and necessary element in the business of life, it should be fully resorted to by all the people, all the time.—Ex.

It was bad enough to be a man without a country, in which to live; but how'd you like to be a trans-oceanic flyer without a country on which to land?

The best "hot weather navy" of the season is that furnished by the two presidential candidates. A mother offered her baby to Herbert Hoover to kiss, and he refused point blank to kiss it.

Al Smith refused to talk on the Platte amendment, admitting that he knew nothing about it, and shortly after refused to have his picture taken as a bricklayer. "Everybody knows I can't lay brick," he said.

Thus, baby kissing and hot-air photographs of the candidates at unfamiliar but supposedly vote-getting tasks are ruled out early in the campaign. Let there be more of the same.

NOT A BABY KISSING CAMPAIGN

A LESSON FROM THIS FAIR

That it is possible for friends to vote differently and remain friends is exemplified in the case of Henry Ford and Thomas A. Edison. The former says he is for Hoover; the latter just as strong for Smith. A good example for other friends to follow and adhere to during this dangerous campaign. Everybody wants tolerance, and the present race for Presidents furnishes an unequalled opportunity for everybody to test out his own tolerance, while measuring the other fellow's short-comings along that line. Tolerance does not relate merely to religion; it relates to everything that divides people's thoughts and convictions. In politics, it is as desirable as in any other field.
