"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

Guarding Against Political Ballyhoo Citizens Must Wipe Away Mud And Get The Facts

Midst a deafening, blaring, crashing of bands, a shouting, roaring, handclapping crowd of 20,000 human beings, Governor Alfred E. Smith was nominated as the Presidential candidate for the Democratic party. Again those who are so well-versed in the working of the political machine, so cognizant of human philosophy, the few that selected the candidate and make the people believe that they did the selecting, have triumphed. Probably, enough delegates arrived at the convention determined to defeat Governor Smith to accomplish that end, but the right kind of pressure being applied, swayed by a flow of words, a plea for harmony, and evidence of super-abundant enthusiasm, their resolves vanished like vapor in the sun, and the majority hastened to jump on the band wagon.

Similarly to some extent at the Republican convention was Hoover nominated. It is not for us to say whether the two best men serve as the next leader of our country. Upon one of them will serve a sly next leader of our country. Upon one of them will be bestowed the highest honor within command of the people.

Together with this honor there is given a burden of responsibility. He who bears it must be strong, capable and experienced or be crushed by its weight, causing the nation to suffer with his fall. To him the people will look for leadership. The decisions such as one makes, the path which he follows will lead either toward greater prosperity and greater contentment on the part of the citizens, a wealthier, happier, better nation, on in the opposite direction.

It is easily seen that one should weigh carefully the ability of each of the candidates before making a decision as to how to cast his vote. Both have worked their way up from comparative poverty; are the creation largely of their own determination and effort. One made his way through college, has dealt with and directed international organizations and has lately headed a federal department of the government.

The other has received his education almost entirely in the university of experience. He has climbed from a newsboy, a butcher, a ward leader, to the governorship of one of the largest states in terms of population, and for a number of years has filled that position.

Around both of these candidates during the months of the campaign there will be thrown a barrage of propaganda. The supporters of each will "praise them to the sky," will extol their virtues, blameless character and ability, will weave romantic and appealing stories of boyhood days and their climb to power. On the other hand the opposition will, no doubt tell of their alleged participation in graft, of their inability, of past unwise actions and decisions.

In order to vote wisely then, it is left to each citizen to make an effort to remain oblivious to the gigantic mass of meaningless words, to shear away the glitter and the unreal, to wipe away the mud and get the facts. It is no easy task to remain unshaken from one's own convictions, to restrain oneself from being swayed by eloquent descriptions, to penetrate the camouflage, to vote a decision based on intelligent knowledge and not sentimentality. Yet with so much at stake in the choice of a leader, such is the paramount duty of every one who claims the privilege of being a citizen of the United States of America.—The Tyler Journal

Our Foreman, W. L. Mills and his family are enjoying the week on the waters of the Llano river, fishing, camping, fighting mosquitoes and having a good time in general. Tom Mills and family and probably some others are also in the party. Just how bad the rainy tribe will suffer due to their presence, may not be very alarming, but well bet they catch some fish while gone.

Speaking of fishing, Frank Crum, E. E. Purdy and a couple of other fishermen are also on some creek again for amusement, and several others are missing from town. If all the men and families missing this week are fishing, several creeks and rivers are being invaded.

Revival at Home Creek Bridge

We have been requested to announce that, Elder G. C. McCraw of the Church of Christ will begin a revival meeting at the Home Creek Bridge on the Whon road Saturday night, July 21st, and the public is urged to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Childers left Tuesday for Corpus Christi, for a vacation. We understand Mr. Childers and J. E. Watkins contemplate spending the summer season in South Texas buying cotton.

The flower of American manhood is self-rising.

Lions Install New Officers

At the regular weekly luncheon of the Lions Club Tuesday afternoon, the newly elected officers for the ensuing year were conducted into office with impressive ceremonies.

P. P. Bond is the new president and Sam Kirkpatrick is the new secretary-treasurer.

The code of ethics, what it takes to constitute a Lion, a Lion's duty and the duties of the officers were ably discussed by Professor J. C. Scarborough, W. Ford Barnes, G. W. Faulkner, J. T. Garrett. In a special edition to be published in the near future, we expect to feature the Lions in one page. We confess, we're a darn poor Lion, but Lionism is alright. Any citizen is a better citizen by being a Lion and a town is fortunate to have in its confines an organized Lions Club.

Santa Anna News, Santa Anna, Texas.

Gentlemen: I am a candidate for a state office that does not pay a cent piece per year and still it is an office that I would be proud to have.

I am a candidate for State Commander of the American Legion and am willing to devote my time and money to hold this office for one year.

If your paper will help me in this race I will pay your post office a personal visit in my airplane some time during the year of 1929. Everyone knows what the American Legion stands for and it will help any community, town, city, or state and will make our state a better place to live in.

If you will be kind enough to publish this letter, I assure you that it certainly will be appreciated by the writer.

With best wishes, I am, Sincerely yours, Col. W. E. Easterwood, Jr.

The first meeting of the Chief Executives of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce met in Coleman Monday and transacted quite a lot of important business.

Howard D. Wade of Stamford was re-elected manager of the organization and the very capable board of directors were all re-elected to serve another year.

Water problems of West Texas, railroad problems and other important matters were considered. The President, Andy Bourland of Vernon, Texas, impressed the directors of the body with the sincerity of his purpose to contribute of his time and energies for the united betterment of all West Texas. Several strong resolutions were passed and the meeting is said to have been one of the most constructive ones held. Big things are expected to happen the ensuing year.

Fourth Annual Ranch Men's Roundup, August 14-15

A program has been sent out by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station announcing the Fourth Annual Ranchmen's Roundup which will be held at the Ranch, Experiment Station near Sonora, Texas, August 14 and 15, 1928. Subjects of interest to the live stock industry and particularly sheep and goat raising will be discussed during both days of the session. A special program of interest to ranch women is also scheduled, and a judging contest for boys will be held. Barbecue will be served free each day and numerous recreational features are provided. The program will be under general supervision of W. H. Dameron, Superintendent of the Station, who states that he expects the attendance to exceed three thousand this year. The highways are in excellent condition and camping facilities at the station are ample for all who may come.

Those attending the former sessions of the roundup have expressed themselves as having had a most enjoyable as well as a most profitable experience. Inasmuch as more than 75 percent of the area of the state of Texas is devoted principally to grazing, this annual roundup of those interested in livestock production is of interest to a large number of people. Texas exceeds all states in the number of sheep sheared and the amount of wool produced and is far in the lead in mohair production, producing more than eleven million pounds annually as against 685,000 lbs. for the next nearest competitor. Texas is also again the leader in beef cattle production.

Bangs Picnic

Bangs is celebrating their annual summer picnic today (Friday). The picnic is advertised as "An Old-Fashioned-Basket Picnic." If we knew they would have plenty of baskets filled with the right kind of fillings, we would attempt to forget some of this hard work and go. The picnic is under auspices of the Bangs Fire Department.

OIL OPERATOR KILLED WEDNESDAY

O. C. Fosdick of Menard, formerly of Brownwood, and well known in the oil circles throughout this section, was killed in an automobile accident early Wednesday morning between Brownwood and Cross Plains. Mr. Fosdick was driving the car when the accident occurred.

Mr. and Mrs. George England and children are spending their vacation fishing in the San Saba River.

Both Parties Have Rights

There would be fewer accidents if motorists and pedestrians would each remember that the other has certain well defined rights in the streets.

Observance of those rights will solve many of the problems that arise from congested streets. And congestion is a problem of every "Main street" in America. It is no longer confined to the larger cities, because with the general use of the automobile, there is no community that can not either boast of or condemn its traffic problem.

Some pedestrians are just as liable to forget that the motorist has certain well defined rights on the streets, just as the motorist is prone to neglect in recognizing the rights of the pedestrian. Automobile drivers should not be privileged to detain pedestrians at street corners for an unnecessarily long period, and neither should pedestrians be allowed to hold up a long line of automobiles, which increases the danger of accidents.

It is scarcely fair for the pedestrian to dart in front of a moving motor vehicle just because he thinks he can "make it."

Neither is it fair for the motorist to attempt to drive through a crowd of people who are crossing the street. If the motorist will be uniformly courteous to the pedestrian and the pedestrian will be equally courteous to the motorist, many of those common traffic problems will solve themselves.

Fed. S. Barton of Commerce is visiting his parents in the Child community. This week while enjoying a vacation, Fed. purchased a scholarship from the Tyler Commercial College and took his course, secured a good job and is now enjoying a vacation. A little more schooling helps make a young man forward and upward to better things, but energy, ambition and determination are prerequisites to success. There is no reward for the boy or girl who sits idly by and waits for something to happen, but happiness and success always crown the efforts of those who say "I will and stick to it." Stick-to-it-iveness is the principle factor in the platform upon which success is usually built.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express to all neighbors and friends, and especially doctors Sealy and Lovelady, for the kindness and favors shown us during our bereavement in the illness and death of our companion and mother, Mrs. R. M. Lucas. Words are inadequate to express our full appreciation, but we trust that in some way we can prove our devotion for your services, and the beautiful floral offerings and many expressions of sympathy. R. M. Lucas and family.

To Make The World Safer

Every year in the United States hundreds and thousands of men, women and children are killed, maimed and injured in automobile and traffic accidents, grade crossing crashes and in the mines, factories, homes and elsewhere. Some of these accidents are in a sense unavoidable, but by far the greatest number of them are the result of carelessness, negligence or downright recklessness.

Can the public be taught to be cautious? It is in the belief that it can be that "No Accident Week" was organized and is being observed. The program is one of education and advertising. The people are being taught to exercise care and the dangers of everyday life are being advertised that fewer people will be the unfortunates victims of them in the future.

Pedestrians are being taught to look before they leap, into traffic maelstroms and motorists are being shown that it never pays to take a chance or to count too much on what the other fellow will do. Sponsors of "No Accident Week" believe if all automobiles and truck drivers would stop, look and listen at grade crossings for one week they would acquire a good habit. Most domestic accidents are the result of carelessness and industrial accidents are quite as preventable.

HOME ECONOMICS CLASS LEARN DIFFERENT TRADES

Austin, Texas, July 15.—From presiding over a formal dinner table or sewing a simple tea to cooking a nutritious meal for six on a dollar a day or keeping a lawn and yard well ordered and attractive, the girls who are majoring in home economics at the University of Texas learn to put into practice the theories they have learned in class when they spend six weeks in practice houses as part of their Senior year's work.

Each of the six girls who are members of the Practice House household at one time attends to certain duties and takes a great pride in doing them well, according to Miss Wilcox, faculty supervisor. The tasks are rotated from week to week so that one girl is hostess one week, waitress another, cook a third, up-stairs maid a fourth, down-stairs maid another and yard-girl the last.

The girls do all their entertaining in the Practice House, having formal dinner parties, afternoon teas, as well as entertaining their Saturday night "dates" there. Girls living in the house the first term of summer term were: Opal Thomas of Prairie Hill, Opal Hickman of Stephenville, Mollie Johnson of Austin, Jewell Hamilton of Austin, Juanita Speer of Mission and Agnes Vaughn of Trinity.

Mrs. Sprout Todd of Frye is spending this week with Miss Lucille Keeling.

President-Elect Obregon of Mexico is Assassinated

IS SHOT DOWN AT POLITICAL BANQUET

Police Say Slaying Only One Of Series Planned for Statesman

Mexico City, July 17.—President elect Tivaro Obregon of Mexico called "lucky" Obregon because he had so often escaped death on the battlefield or assassination, died violently at last today.

Like so many of those who have been president or have headed governments of Mexico, he was the victim of an assassin. He was shot down as he sat at a banquet given to him by his political supporters at the town of San Angel near Mexico City at 2:20 o'clock this afternoon. Police said tonight that the assassination was only one of a series planned and by which a number of the leading statesmen of Mexico were to have been removed.

The one-armed warrior-president with six bullet wounds in his body without speaking a word after the greatest agony. His assassin, known as Juan Escarpillero was captured, almost torn apart by maddened friends of the slain general, and taken to jail where he confessed his crime.

Tonight many of those who were known to have been opposed to General Obregon had fled Mexico City before the fury of his friends and supporters who were kept in bounds only by the stern vigilance of police and soldiers.

What the political consequences of the crime will be, no one would venture to predict. President Calles took charge of the situation within a few minutes after the slaying and it was believed he would have strong control over any situation that might arise.

The question of who will succeed Calles now, that General Obregon is dead is undecided. In many quarters, it is believed the president may under the constitution serve another full term. In others, it is thought, a new election will be called.

SHOWER

Miss Johnnie Pearce and Miss Mary Adams honored Mrs. G. A. Hagsdale with a kitchen shower Wednesday at the home of Mrs. John Pearce.

Miss Velma Sealy presented an appropriate toast to the bride, while Miss Ola Polk and Miss Ruby Harper played musical selections.

The bride was asked to seek her treasure, and after a long search, found a cedar chest filled with kitchen-ware.

The house was very attractively decorated with cut flowers, while refreshments consisting of shetbet and individual angel-food cake were served to the guests.

Snake Cucumber Growing in a Jar; Freak Vegetable

(DeLeon Free Press)
 One advantage about the Snake Cucumber is that one can set a jar near the vine and hang a bloom inside of the jar and in eight or ten days have a jar full of cucumber. At least that was the experience of H. J. Johnson, who lives a short distance east of Downing. All one needs to do is cut the cucumber loose from the vine, pour in the vinegar and seal. The jar is full. In fact, this half gallon Mason jar was so full that Mr. Johnson removed it from the vine to avoid the cucumber breaking the jar with its abnormal growth.

The jar full-o-cucumber and also another specimen of the strange vegetable is on display in the Free Press show window. In addition to snake Cucumbers, Mr. Johnson is also growing bush cantaloupe and vine okra.

Coleman Bar Indorses Judge Morrow

Coleman, Texas, March 1st 1928
 We, the undersigned members of the Coleman Bar, having implicit confidence in the sterling character of Judge W. C. Morrow, as a citizen, and in his well-seasoned ability as a jurist, hereby unqualifiedly and unreservedly indorse him in his candidacy for re-election to the office of presiding judge on the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Signed: J. K. Baker, E. M. Critz, Walter Woodward, V. Rawlins Gilliland, C. L. South, D. D. Knight, Geo. E. Critz, A. K. Baker, W. Marcus Weathered, T. J. White, H. L. Livingston, J. B. Dibreil, Jr., J. O. Woodward, T. H. Strong, W. M. Harman.

The revival meeting at the Baptist Church closed last Sunday night after a two weeks campaign. Rev. E. L. Day who did the preaching has returned to his home at Bryan, Texas, and Mr. T. D. Carroll, who led the singing, has returned to his home in Fort Worth. Pastor Martin is engaged in a revival meeting at Coleman Junction this week. He will leave first of the week for Bluff Dale in Erath County, for a two weeks revival. Several were baptized at the close of the meeting Sunday night.

Judge J. K. Baker of Coleman was a pleasant business caller at this office Monday morning.

Vote For E. J. Miller For District Judge

HE STANDS FOR:
 More trials and fewer continuances. Continuances and delays are the greatest friends to the criminal and the greatest foe to civil justice. "Justice delays is justice denied." There is a cry all over the district about violations of the prohibition law and other laws and it has been charged by surrounding people that it is easier to clear a murderer in this district than any other district in the State. Delays and continuances are responsible for a good part of this.

More Work and less pay—Six days work per week or keep the dockets clear. It costs your County $100.00 per day for court and jury to set around and do nothing. My opponent says that another Court must be created to handle the business of this district. If you elect me I will stay on the job and attend to all the business of the district thereby saving the expense of another court, $10,000.00 per year.

Democratic Rotation In Office. Isn't 20 years long enough for one man to hold this office? Twelve years ago my opponent said give him 8 years and he would get out and give a young man a chance; 4 years ago he said: "Give me one more term and I will quit." Why not help him keep these promises? Isn't $80,000.00 enough for one man to draw from the public treasury?

Why not give a young man with vigor, zeal and industry an opportunity for faithful patriotic service? He is not trying to win this race by mud-slinging and slander, but on merit and assurance of service.

Notice To Coleman County Voters

The date of the Democratic Primary election is rapidly approaching. Just eight days remain, and in a final message to voters I want to explain the reason why I have not made an intensive campaign. Candidates are prone to make unwarranted excuses and for this reason I reluctantly state these facts. You all know, however, that I have been employed in the Tax Collector's office and would have had to neglect the duties incumbent upon me had I spent my time campaigning. During recent weeks, Mr. Lewis' illness and death has increased my responsibilities and my presence in the office was necessary to maintain the high efficiency that has characterized its conduct in the past. I believe, however, that the people expect service from those they honor with a public trust and will appreciate my position. My desire has been to be among you. My duties prevented the fulfillment of the desire and I am taking advantage of the Santa Anna News to issue this sweeping appeal for your vote and active support for the office I seek. If I am elected I will serve you faithfully and well in a courteous manner. I have had so much encouragement I believe that my election in the first primary is a settled fact. It will be if my friends remain loyal.

In advance I thank you heartily,

The Gasoline Tax

The Comptroller has asked the Attorney General whether after Sept. 1 it will be lawful to collect a tax on the sale of gasoline at the rate of 3 cents a gallon or whether, following that date, 2 cents will be the lawful rate of levy. The question may be said to be the product of one of those blunders that have come to be rather common occurrences in our legislative proceedings. It is stated in one section of the act that until Sept. 1 of this year the tax shall be at the rate of 3 cents per gallon, after which it shall be at the rate of 2 cents. In an awkward way the statute expressed that direction clearly enough in one of its sections, but makes no expression of it in its caption. Hence the difficulty in the mind of at least the Comptroller, who is evidently reminiscent of the rule that a purpose not declared in the caption can not be effected in the body of a statute. That rule seems to have been conceived in a spirit of precaution against the chance that, in determining how they shall vote, our lawmakers now and then content themselves only with a reading of the captions only, thus relieving themselves of the labor of reading proposed statutes in their entirety. Just how the Attorney General will resolve the question propounded to him, it would be idle to speculate; but it may be suggested, as one of the possibilities, that instead of deciding which of two rates may be assessed against the sale of gasoline, he may declare that no tax whatever may be imposed, which would be to say that the omission in the caption is a defect no less than deadly to the statute.

Miss Grace Baxter of San Saba is visiting relatives here this week.

Washington Inside Out

A Weekly Panorama of Events in the National Capital. By Peter Keegan, Special Correspondent of Santa Anna News.

Herbert Hoover, out of the cabinet and in the new role of a presidential candidate, will conduct his campaign from his Washington residence—2300 S. Street. But it won't be a front porch campaign—his house doesn't have a front porch. It will have to be a back yard campaign—the back yard is spacious, the front yard is very limited. Following delivery of his acceptance speech in California, August 11th, Hoover will hasten back to Washington, with perhaps, a brief stop en-route, at his birthplace, West Branch, Iowa. After his return, he is likely to remain in Washington during most of the campaign. He will make an occasional address, always with a radio-hookup. But he will do no barn storming. There are two reasons for this—one is that he is a very poor speaker (except by radio) and the other is that the radio makes it unnecessary for a presidential candidate wearing himself out by hopping from town to town.

Al Smith, however, is likely to combine personal appearance with radio campaigning. He makes a much better showing on the stump than Hoover. He is of a colorful type. He has a Rooseveltian style of campaigning. And another reason he must be on the aggressive is that he is the nominee of what is ordinarily the minority party. He must fight to win; Hoover, as the majority party nominee, only has to hold his party's usual strength. To win Al Smith must capture the independent voters—a sufficient number to change a minority party into a majority party.

The Hoover forces recognize Smith's strength in the east. Therefore they will make their most aggressive fight along the east coast—a fight to prevent Smith sweeping eastern states. Democrats have every confidence that Smith will be able to make a much better showing than did Cox in 1920 and John W. Davis in 1924. It could scarcely be worse.

The story is told that one reason that James W. Good hesitated so long before agreeing to accept the appointment was western manager for the Hoover campaign was a feeling that he, rather than Herbert Hoover, should have been the Republican national chairman.

The wet and dry question is a two edged sword. Al Smith's most ardent gives him his strength in large eastern states; therefore the Republicans prefer no wet and dry issue in the east. The Republicans hope the dry issue will help them in western states without hurting them in eastern states.

President Coolidge's vacation his fishing, his roaming in the woods, etc., excites less public interest this year than last. Interest turns to Al Smith and Herbert Hoover. Calvin Coolidge's term expires next March 4—he is fading out of the picture. The new heroes are Al and Herbert. They get page 1 attention in most everybody's newspaper.

New York has forty-five electoral votes—more votes for President than half-dozen of the smaller states. Therefore, it is the important state politically will Smith or Hoover carry it? That is the subject of many debates. Three times has Smith carried New York as a gubernatorial candidate. Can he do as well as a presidential candidate? The Smith forces are confident about New York; the Hoover forces are hopeful New York is the battle ground state.

Many Republican leaders believe they have a chance of making a good showing in some congressional districts in North Carolina, Alabama and Tennessee. They concede that the ten states of the south—the "solid south"—will vote for Al Smith, but they believe that some of the districts within some of these states offer opportunity to retire a few Democratic congressmen. But Democrats concede nothing in the south.

Two smart women, smart politically, most likely will be in the next Congress. Granting that the four sitting women members are re-elected, the two new women nominees will increase the number of "stateswomen" to six. But the two new ones—Ruth Bryan of Florida and Ruth Hanna McCormick of Illinois, will be the stars. One the daughter of the great Democrat, William Jennings Bryan, and the other of the great Republican leader, Mark Hanna. Both women have had a political experience. They are widely known. They will come to Congress with high prestige. They will be "news" from the day they begin their public service in Washington.

Paste this in your hat and remember it—Claius H. Houston of Tennessee, the "original Hoover man", will be a member of the cabinet should Herbert Hoover happen to become President.

A fine baby boy was born to Rev. and Mrs. A. Ben Oliver, June 27. The event took place in Abilene and the youngster has been named Arthur Bruce. Mother and babe reported doing well.

Profits go To Masses

The real capitalists of this country—the people who supply the bulk of the money needed for new industrial enterprises—are not the people of immense wealth, but the great middle class, those who work in offices, stores and factories. A recent investigation shows that more than 1,383,000 customers have invested in securities in the last 12 years.

Customer and employe ownership of our industrial corporation the profits accruing from public ownership in this country. And the profits accruing from public service and business go to the mass of the people, and not to the politician.

Leaf Worm Control

At this date almost every year there appear rumors that the leaf worm is attacking the cotton crop, and there have been occasional years in which considerable damage is done this early to cotton in the Rio Grande Valley and the lower Coastal section. Advises R. R. Reppert, Entomologist Extension Service, A. & M. College.

Knowing the cotton farmer's anxiety regarding this insect and acting upon rumors that it has already made its appearance in South Texas, we have within the last few days taken pains to look into these particular rumors and also to send out inquiries to other points which are expected to be infested first. Replies which have reached us deny all the specific rumors and do not indicate the presence of the leaf worm as yet at any point in Texas.

Farmers, we think, can rest assured that their cotton will not be seriously damaged by this insect for at least another ten days. Any infestation would normally make its appearance first in the more southern portion, progressing from that section northward. Outside of the Coastal area we would think the cotton crop reasonably safe, at least until August 1st.

Extensive damage from the leaf worm, cannot with certainty be forecast for any great length of time in the future, although as we have stated, no immediate damage may be expected. The frequent rains now being experienced, if continued, will be favorable to a rapid multiplication of the insect and farmers may do well to inquire into the supply of calcium arsenate locally available. Our information as to the poison situation is reassuring. Apparently there is an adequate supply in or near Texas to begin a fight, with other quantities stored at such points that it may be reached to meet an emergency.

In order that we may be able to give the best of service possible, we invite all parties who suspect an infestation by leaf worm in their community to send specimens of the worm or moths to us at College Station.

A New York judge, sitting in an alienation of affections case the other day, ruled that it made no difference whether the wife who was suing ever had affairs with other men; even if she had, she could sue any woman who stole her own husband's affection.

That is an interesting story of rule, and at first glance it hardly seems right. But, to our mind, the whole business of suing for alienation of affections is a bit askew anyway. Love isn't anything that can be paid for in cash and no one who truly loves another is going to ask for money damages if the object of his or her affections starts to care for somebody else. So the judge's new ruling does not bother us.

What we would prefer is a judge who would pitch all alienation suits outside and leave them there.

WHAT MOST MARRIED MEN KNOW

A bright paragrapher observes that "when a woman gets jealous the devil picks up his ears and gets busy." We were under the impression, from long observation, that when a woman gets jealous it isn't necessary for a jealous woman rarely needs any help.

THEOLOGICAL NOTES

Many people who profess to be Christians and who keep their names on church registers enjoin another in hurtful, worldly practices which if participated in by their pastors, would cause the former to lose all confidence in them at once. Some people sell their religious influences, if not their own souls, for a mere pawn for the fleeting pleasure they find in being with the "crown."

MAKING OUR MONEY WORK

Americans are sinking approximately $1,000,000,000 a year in dubious financial schemes.

Furthermore the people who are doing this are not the traditional "widows and orphans," but supposedly wise men.

These facts are revealed by a writer in the current issue of Good Housekeeping, who points out that "we have learned how to make money but not how to hang on to it and make it work for us."

The old rule still holds good; if you have money to invest consult your banker. Don't act on tips or the advice of your friends unless you are willing to face the possibility of loss. Your banker will be glad to tell you where safety lies. Let him advise you.

Workers With Muscles

The schools are turning out an unlimited number of bosses, managers, directors, superintendents, foremen, go-getters, also salesmen, bookkeepers, clerks, etc. Meanwhile there is a shortage of people who will take hold with their hands and do work calling for muscle.

This disparity will probably increase, judging by figures given out by the National Industrial Conference Board, which finds that the number of unskilled workers who returned to Europe since 1924, is three times as many as those who came thence to the United States. Perhaps many of these people were disappointed when they found they could not pick up gold in our streets.

The man with the hoe and the pick is needed. There is an equal demand for one who can swing a carpenter's hammer, a bricklayer's trowel, or a painter's brush. Many who practice these trades are driving shiny automobiles, while clerks and bookkeepers are walking.

Anyone should be glad to shake hands cordially with the man in overalls, and be glad to walk down the street with him. The fellow who can mix paint so it will not stick or can fix the chimney so it won't smoke has practical views of life. We can learn from him.

We should pay high respect to the farmer. An owner of land has a position of substantial dignity. When we give due social honors to such people, more boys will see that these callings are desirable.—Breckenridge Democrat.

A machine has been invented that does everything that a golf player should do. Probably the machine doesn't include the vocabulary, as used by some of the golfers when they miss.

Why Advertising Pays

Plainly the newspaper is a good advertising medium, because, in the first place all those who read it all read a newspaper some time during the day. The 2,000 and more English language newspapers in this country have a total circulation of more than 29,000,000 readers daily, more than 29,000,000 papers bought and paid for by a people who read and demand the news of advertising as well as the news of the world.

Newspaper reading is a fixed daily habit, and nothing is so close to a man or woman as the particular newspaper of their individual choice, which they verily swear by.

The newspaper advertisement is set in an atmosphere of interest and action, among things which have just happened or are just about to happen, the "do it now" impulse fairly throbs out by the advertisement set in such alchemy of suggestion the language of the leaden type is immediately transmuted in to the gold of buying.

The manufacturer who advertises in the daily press helps the retailer who handles his products, and the retailer who advertises in that same daily paper has a strong and a double pull on the consumer.

Brown County Crops Better than Believed

Although crop conditions in Brown county are not as good as they were one week ago, the pessimistic outlook held by many local merchants had no basis, according to O. P. Griffin, county farm demonstrating agent. Mr. Griffin states that the drought, prevalent here for several weeks, has damaged the feed crop to a certain extent, but he points out that at the same time the drought has been of much benefit to cotton.

The hot and dry weather has been ideal for threshing grain and as a result practically all the grain in the county has been threshed and either stored or marketed. The drought has hurt the corn crop more than any other crop. Mr. Griffin states: "The hot and dry winds of the past week or two cut the corn crop short."

Cotton is beginning to need rain, especially in this so in certain parts of the county. Mr. Griffin states. However the cotton crop has been able to get an early growth and at present the crop is not hurt. Insects have not infested any fields in this county and it is believed that had there been more rain, the boll weevils would have done more damage than any benefit that might have been derived from the rain.

Poultry in Danger

Mr. Griffin states that the greatest cause for alarm at the present, is the uncertainty of this year's poultry crop. Internal parasites have infested almost every flock in the county including flocks of turkeys. "We are going out of the poultry business unless all internal parasites are cleaned out," Mr. Griffin stated.

A remedy has been discovered and is available for use here that will clean the county of these parasites, but farmers of the county are not co-operating in drives being made to rid the county of these enemies of poultry flocks, he says.

County Agent, Griffin and County Home Demonstrating Agent, Miss Mayesie Malone, are planning to visit each and every community of the county for the purpose of conducting demonstrations of the methods to be used in destroying all internal parasites. All poultrymen will be urged to attend these demonstrations in an effort to get all interested and to realize the necessity of immediate action.

Such a queer physician didn't sound my heart, neither did he feel my pulse nor read the nurse's chart. Didn't take my temperature, didn't seem to care, didn't talk of diet, just gave a searching stare.

"Are you filled with dread?" "Are there fears that haunt you?" "This is what he said. Do you cherish hatred? Of whom? And tell me why. You alone can cure yourself if you really try."

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Rev. P. B. Fitzwater, D. D. Dean, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago (62, 1928, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for July 22 PAUL'S EARLY MINISTRY

LESSON TEXT—Acts 9:9-30; 11:25, 26. GOLDEN TEXT—And straightway he preached Christ in the synagogues, that he is the Son of God. PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul Begins to Work for Jesus. SECONDARY TOPIC—Paul's First Work for Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Saul Champions an Unpopular Cause. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Years of Growing Experience.

I. Saul Preached Christ in Damascus (vv. 9-22). 1. Saul's fellowship with the disciples (v. 19).

After Saul was baptized he remained certain days with the brethren in Damascus (v. 19). How beautiful to think of the transformation which took place—the one who was so passionately bent on their destruction was now enjoying fellowship with the disciples.

2. Straightway preaching in the synagogues (v. 20). Saul, like every one who is really converted, begins to tell of the newly found Savior. As soon as he is saved he goes to save others. His message concerned the deity of Christ. His doctrinal belief is summed up in six words: "He is the Son of God."

3. The people amazed (v. 21). They knew that the very one that had been the ringleader in persecuting the Christians in Jerusalem, and had come to Damascus for the express purpose of bringing them bound to the chief priests, was now passionately advocating that which he had so vehemently sought to destroy.

4. The Jews confounded (v. 22). Saul retired into Arabia for three years. During this time he was taught the full truth of his ministry (Gal. 1:17, 18). Saul increased in spiritual strength and confounded the Jews, proving that Jesus was not only the Son of God, but their Messiah.

II. Saul Escapes From the Jews (vv. 23-25). The Scriptures with such skill that the Jews could not answer him. Finding that the argument was against them, the Jews took counsel how they might destroy Saul. So intent were they upon killing him that they watched the bonds of the chief priests, that they might take him. When this became known to the disciples, they let him down from the wall by night in a basket.

III. Saul Visits Jerusalem (vv. 26-29). The journey to Jerusalem was in strange contrast with the one from Jerusalem to Damascus. The one was as a leader of an important expedition under the authority of the Jewish officers with the prospect of a place of distinction in the country of the Jewish nation. Now he is an outcast, driven from his countrymen, and fleeing for his life.

1. Suspected by the disciples (v. 26). The believers at Jerusalem had not heard fully about Saul's conversion. They were jealous of his sojourn in Arabia, and his preaching at Damascus after his return. Therefore they regarded him as a spy.

2. Barnabas' confidence in Saul (v. 27). Barnabas was a man filled with the Holy Spirit (Acts 11:24). Therefore able to discern the reality of Saul's conversion. He was in reality a "son of consolation" and in this instance showed his kind spirit.

Saul in fellowship with the disciples (v. 28). They went in and out together. Peter received him in his house wherein he abode fifteen days (Gal. 1:18).

4. Saul disputes with the Grecians (v. 29). He was not content merely to visit with the brethren. He spoke boldly in the name of the Lord Jesus Christ.

IV. Saul Sent to Tarsus (v. 30). A conspiracy similar to that one at Damascus was formed against Saul. When the brethren knew of it they sent him to Tarsus. Saul's life was in danger everywhere except among the Gentiles. He now is back at the place of his birth. The first and best place for any conversion is in his home.

Saul's conversion was typical of the conversion of the Jewish nation. Their eyes will be opened by a personal revelation of Jesus Christ to them, and when they accept Him as their Savior and Messiah they will see forth as witnesses to the Gentiles.

V. Saul Teaching at Antioch (11:20, 26). The work at Antioch so prospered in the hands of Barnabas that he went to Tarsus for Saul to help him in the work. Saul returned with Barnabas and ministered for a whole year. The disciples were first called Christians at Antioch. This name resulted from Paul's teaching, instead of being given in Jerusalem, as is frequently thought.

Preachers who mix politics with their religion are deficient in both, although either preacher or layman may be allowed to use his religion to affect his politics, but not to use it as a weapon to influence or coerce others.

Weeds are an Eyesore

This is the period of the year when weeds are the king of everything that grows.

A city or town cannot be beautiful and have patches of weeds growing on vacant lots, back yards, alleys and other places of prominence which detract from the appearance of a community.

Santa Anna has long been noted as a place of beauty. It is a disgrace to ride around and see the high weeds that are taking possession of many of the fine sites, and enough pride should be shown at all times so that the weeds would be overcome.

Weeds are not only injurious to the health of a community, but they permit the insects and other dangerous infestations to breed and spread into the finer plants and shrubbery of the community.

We should strive now to eliminate these "eye-sores" in our locality and keep this a place of beauty.

A. W. MELLON Secretary of the Treasury Washington, July 5, 1928.

Oscar Calloway OF COMANCHE For CONGRESS 17th Congressional District of Texas

OSCAR CALLOWAY Farmer, Lawyer, and Stockman

Reared on a Farm in Comanche County—

Made a record as Prosecuting Attorney at Comanche upon entering the practice of law

Served in Congress from 1911 to 1917

For the past ten years actively engaged in farming on the farm where I was reared and now live, ten miles south of Comanche

During the past thirty years we have departed from the plan of Government as outlined by Jefferson and the founders of the Democracy and have substituted for Government by law, Government by bureaus and commissions. To these have been delegated the powers which should be exercised by representatives responsible directly to the people.

No better illustration of the lack of responsibility to the people on the part of these bureaus can be given than here in Texas where recently the State Board of Water Engineers granted to Samuel J. Insull of Chicago the entire inherent water rights of the citizens residing on the watershed of the Colorado River. I am in favor of abolishing such boards and commissions and restoring these functions of government to representatives directly responsible to the people.

The Federal Reserve Bank must be made to better serve the interests of the agricultural population. As a farmer in 1920 through the action of the Federal Reserve Board I saw the price of my wheat drop below the cost of production and there was no market for my wool at any price, while ruin stared the producer of cotton and cattle in the face. Congress should curb such powers of the Federal Reserve Bank and make impossible the recurrence of such a condition.

By reason of governmental favoritism Financial America and Industrial America for the past thirty years have prospered at the expense of Agricultural America. In 1920 forty-three per cent of the nation's people lived on the farm. In 1928 only twenty-nine per cent of the population of the United States was agricultural and every farmer must continue to see his boys and his girls leave the farms until some steps are taken for the protection of the farmers' interests as well as those of the financial and industrial groups.

Since the organization of the Government all tariff legislation has been in the interest of the manufacturing sections. In the adjustment of the tariff I shall favor the protection of the interests of the sheep man, the cattle man and the farmer.

The Republican administration of the past eight years has been the most corrupt in the history of the nation, reaching its climax in the Teapot Dome scandal which reveals bribery and corruption in high offices never contemplated by the founders of this Republic. If elected as your Representative in the American Congress I will do my utmost to check corruption and to continue the fight against waste and extravagance that has been made by former Representatives from this District.

I believe every Democrat should support the nominee of the Houston Convention. Too often we have elected men of small caliber to high office because they have agreed with us on some momentary question instead of choosing men of capacity who had the courage of their convictions and the result has been that the people's welfare has been jeopardized by laws made by men who were too short-sighted to realize the effect of their legislation. I believe the nominees of our party are capable and honest men and though we may differ on some questions let us be tolerant of these differences and give them our support that will result in the election and thus put an end to Republican corruption.

National Prohibition is a part of the Constitution of the U. S. and will remain a part of it during our life time. Whosoever of us is elected must take the oath to support the Constitution and we are all honest men and any one of us will do our best to enforce the principle of our government and it merely becomes a question of who can best serve you in the enacting such laws as will give a satisfactory enforcement of it.

The people of this district should choose that man for their Representative best fitted by his sympathies, experience and capacity as a legislator to accomplish for you a remedy of the evils that confront us and to outline a constructive program for your welfare.

TO THE VOTERS OF COLEMAN COUNTY:

I would like to say, that when I announced for the office of County School Superintendent it was my full purpose to call at every residence in the county and solicit your support. But after working diligently up to now, I find the task much harder than I supposed, and I fear it is going to be impossible to call at every house. However, I am going to do my best, and if I do not meet you I pray home it will be only for the want of time. I shall not willingly pass anyone up. I do want to meet you, I do want to know you, and I do want your vote.
Miss Maud Laws.

THE CYNICAL YOUNG MEN

Undeniably the young men are not satisfied with the way the older men have been running the world. Barrett Williams, the class orator of Harvard, complained not only for the frightful devastation of "the most terrible and brutal war known to man kind," but of a cabinet at Washington in which one member was bribed to deliver up public domain valued at a thousand million dollars, another member obtained a portion of the bribe funds to pay off the party defects, while a third turned the Department of justice into a den of corruption.

WOMEN AND CIGARETTES

Atlantic smoking society women are demanding their rights. They have the right to smoke and they also have the right to look like a fool. It is pitiful to see a young girl smoke. They really don't mean any harm but get an idea that it makes them look smart and up-to-date. It gets them out of the covered wagon they think, but it makes them look about as idiotic as a monkey with a bib and tucker on. There are some things that the so-called modern woman can't do and look sensible at it. They look just as silly smoking as a man does wearing ear rings.

William S. Vare, of Philadelphia, declares, "I am Senator Vare." If he is satisfied with his present status the rest of us ought to have no reason to complain.

A minister urged young men to any themselves with a great and worthy but unpopular cause. Perhaps he would have them to go to New York and advocate prohibition.

No matter what you get on the radio in warm weather the static makes it sound like Hades.

Summer Playgrounds As Crime Primitives

"Since the playgrounds were started here three years ago, not a single boy or girl in active attendance has caused the probation department any trouble. Two years ago we noticed a 25 to 30 per cent decrease in delinquency which we attributed to the playgrounds."

This significant statement, made by a probation officer in Orange County, California, is not without many precedents. It proves that properly equipped and direct playgrounds are not alone "child's play," but have a genuine moral and social purpose.

The first great experiment in supervised play was made in Boston about the year 1906. The results spread until now nearly 500 cities have year-round playground programs and supervision, and thousands of communities have shorter periods, but working toward the definite goal of adequacy.

A certain juvenile judge is quoted as saying, "Well, I can go on a vacation this summer. Asked why he made the remark, he replied, "The playgrounds have opened."

Juvenile delinquency is only one of the many reasons why recreation should be placed on a systematic basis for youth. Safety is another. The greatest, however, is to give proper outlet for the natural instincts of children. If they have a place to engage in wholesome, non-commercialized play, they will not get into things that are not wholesome. All human beings seek expression. There being no social vacuum, the good will come out naturally when there is no room for the bad. These instincts will not and can not be suppressed. It is a question over which all thinking people should not pass lightly. Conditions have changed, and if we do not provide these opportunities for wholesome expression and outlets for these natural impulses, there will be trouble one way or another.

We cannot take away the old fashioned chores, wood chopping, and the many mental tasks that were relegated youth in the old days, and then expect our children to fold their arms and be good when they have nothing else to do. It just isn't done. The answers are playgrounds, recreation, art, research, club life, camping, drama, music, shopcraft and woodcraft and the many accomplishments for artistic nature and competent skill for which children are eager. Delinquency has no place in these activities.—Selected.

American Machinery

More than $55,000,000 worth of industrial machinery was shipped to Europe in 1927, representing an increase of 29 per cent of such exports during the year. Evidently Yankee inventions are in high favor in the Old World, as our "out-going" ships are filled with machinery to be set up in foreign manufacturing establishments.

Our trade with latin America has also moved upward, and it amounted to $56,657,009 in 1927, which was a gain of more than two and one-half million dollars over the previous year. Cuba moved from the ninth place to the fourth best customer of the United States last year.

Fast living is lots of fun until you hit a sharp curve.

The Universal Draft In The Community

Suppose all forces in the community were drafted and placed by compulsion in the service of the common good.

Suppose every citizen gave like taxes to every institution organized for community betterment. Suppose that the power of the community's money, influence, activity, co-operative spirit, machinery, brain-power and moral resources were constantly directed toward upbuilding the entire community of Santa Anna and its environs. Suppose that the business men of Santa Anna received every dollar in trade that logically belonged to them from the viewpoint of geographical location and community interest.

Suppose that everybody in the community were every day working, striving, giving, co-operating, boosting, shouting, and praying that Santa Anna and surrounding community might enjoy every blessing of wealth, happiness, morality, order, education, religion, prosperity, leisure, research and travel which are always potentially ours.

Suppose all these things and then think of the results. The only drawback to such a scheme is that the "compulsion" would spoil it all. People will do their very best and finest work and put worth into their accomplishments so very much better when the thing is done for the sheer love of doing and because of loyalty to the community than when prodded or forced into co-operative effort.

But suppose that this universal draft were to come from the hearts of all the people—in other words, suppose it were a matter of volunteers—then would come the big results.

Strange as it may seem—everything mentioned in this editorial is not only possible, but probable. It is probable because other communities have nearly accomplished it, while many, many have approached the result.

If people would boost because it is right to boost, and because they help the community and themselves by so doing, the result would be more satisfying and far more lasting than that kind of progress that comes thru compulsion or by hopes of personal and selfish gain. It is a fine thing to be in the limelight, but that is not the end; Lindbergh is in the limelight, but he is there because his accomplishments placed him there, and not because he placed himself there to be in the limelight.

Volunteer effort, volunteer co-operation, volunteer leadership have been the virtues which have built great cities and empires. When any organization, institution, newspaper, association or individual is strong enough to bring such great leadership, it has done the best for its community.

On Monday morning when the list of fatalities of Sunday motorists is published the press doesn't say how many of them were on their way to church when they were killed.

The fellow who went duck hunting the other day and returned empty handed, probably drew the conclusion that there is plenty of room around a duck.

There are five million people classed as illiterates in this country, and at least half of them must be writing the popular songs of today.

Temperature

A scientist has found, after some study that the temperature at which the average American is most comfortable is 70 degrees, while British homes maintain a temperature of 64degrees. Seeking for the reason why Americans are acclimatized to a temperature six degrees warmer than that which the Englishman finds most comfortable, he hit upon the wider use of steam heating in this country.

There is a possibility that the scientists has mistaken the result for the cause. One informed on customs and conditions of both countries comes to the conclusion that the equable but generally cooler climate of England results in the wearing of heavier clothing there and that the heavier apparel makes a lower temperature indoors more acceptable.

The winters are colder and the summers hotter in the United States than on the British Isles, so the American wears thinner and lighter clothes the year around, depending upon warm buildings to keep him warm in winter. In England changing seasons do not necessitate such radical changes in the thickness of man's "fur" as would be required here if the house and office were not so well heated, so the Britisher wears his heavier garments and saves his coal supply.

Two Lines of Development

The development of prosperous communities seems to be proceeding on two lines—encouraging establishment of payroll industries, and introducing more industrial education in the public schools. A practical object lesson, emphasizing these two lines, has become the fixed policy of Oakland, California.

Public school equipment for individual vocational education where large numbers of boys and girls are learning actual trades, is increasing in progressive communities.

Oakland has invested in three high schools equipped with electrical cabinet shops, sheet metal forging and motor vehicle repair machinery, where 15,000 pupils are getting industrial education.

Turning the thoughts of the growing male school population into channels of efficient industrial education, will make all cities more prosperous, reduce crime and encourage home building and contented family life.

The world could be twice as bad as it is. Suppose the seasons were six months instead of three.

People who lead the procession have a habit of not looking back.

The only thing that a horse shies at now is a street with no cars on it.

BAPTIST REVIVAL CLOSÉS AT SHIELD: LARGE ATTENDANCE

The Baptist revival at Shield closed Sunday night, Rev. J. L. Gregory, of Runge, did the preaching. The singing was led by A. Ben Oliver, the pastor. There were sixteen conversions and twenty-three additions to the church.
Services were well attended and the congregation was so large several times that all could not get in the house.
At the close of the meeting the church showed its appreciation to the pastor by rolling in a wheelbarrow filled with groceries to the front and presenting them to their pastor.

IN THE ITEM PUBLISHED LAST WEEK

relating the death of Mrs. R. M. Lucas, we have been requested to make the following correction: Mrs. Lucas would have been 68 years old in August of this year, should she have lived. The funeral was held at the Cleveland Church of Christ, conducted by Elder Oscar Brannan of Whites instead of Elder Werner of this place. The corrections are gladly made.

PERKINS STILL IN RACE

MINERALL WELLS, July 16.—Desiring to correct the impression that he has withdrawn from the race for Congress in the 17th District, Judge, T. P. Perkins of Mineral Wells has issued the following statement:
"Due to the published announcement of Tom W. Perkins of McKinney that he had acted upon the advice of physicians in withdrawing his name as a candidate for Congress in the 4th District, many have confused it with my candidacy for Congress in the 17th District. I should like to correct that impression by saying that I am in excellent health, that I am still in this race, and that I confidently expect to receive the Democratic nomination. I shall make an active campaign to the very last, and many of my friends assure me that I will lead the ticket by a large vote in the primary."

SUMMER BRUISES DANGEROUS

Infection dangers lie hidden in the summer scratch or slight bruise, according to the chairman of a Red Cross first aid committee, and vacationers, especially, will take heed if they want to avoid the consequence attendance to septic poisoning, which is often fatal.
There are just four things to do: Apply a germ destroyer, apply a piece of sterile gauze folded into a bandage, wrap with a sterile gauze bandage and fasten it with adhesive plaster.
Follow these simple precautions and you can laugh at the doctor. Physicians are generally scarce at summer resorts anyway and the wise vacationist will be careful.
Bruises are especially dangerous in summer, we are told. Vacation activities, outdoor sports and lake and seashore pastimes bring frequent minor scratches.
He who takes the time and care to guard against infection is the one who will return from a vacation trip, fit and refreshed and ready to take up his daily duties again.
A word to the wise should be sufficient.

MODERN DEVIL-POSSESSED

We read in the book, where the devil, when cast out of a man went into a drove of hogs and the said hogs ran into the sea and were drowned. If the statement had not been made that they were drowned, we might have inferred that the road hogs of today were some of the same devil possessed hogs.
