Lucas Family Suffers From Poison; One Dies

The day early last week the Lucas family, living in the Newland community southeast of here, were victims of a serious experience. The family was seated at their dining table eating their dinner, when they were struck sick. Medical aid was summoned, and according to information received here the family was pronounced suffering from poison. According to reports it is believed a spider or some other poisonous insect, by accident, was cooked in a pot of shelled peas.

It is said that only one of those present escaped being almost deathly sick, and she was a fourteen-year-old granddaughter, who was not partaking of the dish. All have practically recovered except mother Lucas, said to be about 70, who died Saturday.

Most all we have learned of the unfortunate circumstance has been from hear-say. Funeral services were held at Cleveland Sunday morning, conducted by Elder, A. S. Werner, and interment made in the Santa Anna cemetery.

Senator Woodward to Speak Here Saturday; 3:00 p. m.

The Santa Anna News has been requested to announce that Senator Walter Woodward of Coleman will speak in Santa Anna at three o'clock, Saturday afternoon, July 14th on the general political issues of the day.

Senator Woodward was a delegate to the National Democratic Convention, recently held in Houston, and will probably have some valuable information that will be worth your hearing.

Other candidates have signified their intentions of speaking here Saturday afternoon.

Blanton To Speak At Coleman

A letter from the Blanton headquarters in Abilene, requests us to announce the Hon. Thomas L. Blanton, who is a candidate for the United States Senate, will speak in Coleman, Saturday, July 21 at 4:30 p. m. and will appreciate a good hearing. Meet him there.

To Advertisers!

Part of our working force will be out next week on a vacation, and our help will be limited, therefore, if you will be so kind as to furnish us with your advertising copy early in the week, we will surely appreciate the favor.

Mr. Harvey Hood of Washington City is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hood of the Longview community.

Bangs Tot Is Killed As He Drinks Poison

Jesse Quinn Martin Jr., 19 months old baby son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Martin, of Bangs, was killed by drinking out of a bottle of carbolic acid at the home of his sister, Mrs. Anson Boyd, of Gustine. The child found the bottle 20 minutes after his parents had arrived in Gustine to visit with their daughter, Mrs. Boyd, and was dead when discovered. The poison had been used to kill insects. Jesse Quinn Martin Jr. was born November 19, 1926, at Bangs.

The body was brought to Bangs for funeral and burial services Sunday afternoon, with the services being held in the Bangs Baptist Church, and being conducted by the pastor of the church. Burial was made in the Bangs cemetery.

The baby is survived by his parents, his sister, Mrs. Anson Boyd, and other relatives.

The Power of Words

John Coolidge, son of President Coolidge, has been offered a job with an advertising agency at $40 per week. The agency, in a letter to John said, "if you are anything like your distinguished father, you know the value of words and you should therefore make a good advertising man."

There is much sense in what the advertising agency said. Words do have power. They express all the power there is. The first great power of words is shown in the Biblical writings and other great religious works. Presidents have kept pace with poets and authors in coming immortal phrases, the words of which carry power and conviction. Woodrow Wilson believed in the power of words. Hamilton, Jefferson, Lincoln, Webster and Emerson knew the power of words; as did the great Shakespeare.

We find in great documents of state, fine examples of choice language employed to impress meaning. Lawyers and jurists have taken words and overturned and created fortunes at their will. Lawyers have won their hearts' desires by the use of words. Goods are sold by words. Children obey by words. Whether printed or spoken, words are power, and empires have been won and lost by their magic spell.

It is to be regretted how loosely some of us use words and phrases. "Small talk" may have its place. Vocabularies, however small, may be capable of sincere expression. It is not how few or how many words we know, but how well we put them together that counts. Many of the finest pieces of literature are written in simple and plain words. But the influence of the power, the grace and charm are still there.

Mrs. A. B. Stark of Coleman was a guest in the J. D. Whetstone home this week.

Time Drawing Near For First Primary

Only two more weeks remain until the first Democratic primary in Texas, and candidates are now making their home stretch. The race for the United States Senate is waxing warm, as several good men are contesting for the place held by Hon. Earle B. Mayfield, who is seeking re-election. Congressmen, Tom Connally and Thomas L. Blanton, and the Hon. Alvin Ousley are opposing him besides Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham. There is much speculation as to who will be the winner or who will be in the runoff primary in August. Personally, we are not taking any stand in this race, but we do believe that the runoff will be between the two, Tom Connally and Governor Dan Moody.

For Governor, the present incumbent, Governor Dan Moody is being opposed by several candidates. Wardlaw of Fort Worth seems to be making the most noise, and some predict he will run the governor a pretty close race; but the Governor has not took the matter very seriously as yet. One Mr. Hawkins of Breckenridge also has his hat in the ring but does not seem to be attracting much attention. Mrs. Williams of Dallas, seems to be a chronic candidate; but for some reason has never created much interest.

For Congress, some five or six candidates are seeking the place to be vacated by Mr. Blanton. Hon. R. Q. Lee of Cisco was the first to announce, closely followed by the Hon. T. E. Perkins of Mineral Wells. Others in the race are Judge E. N. Grisham of Eastland, Homer Shanks of Clyde and O. C. Callaway of Comanche. We are not prepared to say how this race will go, but are somewhat inclined to believe the race lies between Mr. Lee and Mr. Perkins.

The District Judge's race is being contested between Judge J. O. Woodward, present incumbent, and Judge E. J. Miller of Brownwood. We are not publishing our prediction of the outcome in this race.

District Attorney, Walter U. Early of Brownwood has no opponent in the race for re-election to this important place.

For the Legislature, Hon. Frank P. Grantham, farmer and business man of Brown county and Judge C. H. Jenkins, also of Brownwood are the candidates and while we are not very well advised as to how the people stand regarding the two, we would not hesitate to predict Mr. Grantham will be the winner in this race.

In the county there are more candidates for the office of Tax Collector than any other place, the only comment we have to make on the county campaign is to refer you to our announcement column and advise you to select the men and women of your choice. Consider the importance of the place to be filled and then consider the honor, integrity and qualifications of candidates and choose accordingly.

Cotton Sags On Acreage Report

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The acreage of cotton in cultivation on July 1 was estimated today by the Department of Agriculture at 46,695,000 acres, which is 11.4 percent more than in cultivation a year ago.

Owing to late planting, the department announced, the need for replanting in many sections, and owing to the impossibility of working the crop out at the proper time, the reported stand of cotton is 6 percent below the stand reported by correspondents of July 1 last year.

The estimate of acreage, like those of previous years, does not refer to the total acreage planted but only to that portion remaining in actual cultivation on July 1. Allowance has been made in the 1928 estimate, the department explained, for about 150,000 acres of cotton flooded out in Arkansas during the last week of June and for a small acreage similarly flooded in Missouri.

The increase in acreage this season are most marked in the less important cotton states in the extensive area flooded last year and in some other areas where the acreage was sharply reduced last season—California and Arkansas are the only states where the acreage this season is greater than in 1926.

This year's acreage in cultivation on July 1 and its percentage of last year's average, by states follows:

Alabama	3,556,000 and 114
Florida	1,090,000 and 149
Georgia	2,566,000 and 107
South Carolina	2,577,000 and 105
Mississippi	3,783,000 and 111
Louisiana	4,888,000 and 119
Arkansas	4,899,000 and 117
Oklahoma	3,613,000 and 115
New Mexico	114,000 and 114
Arizona	200,000 and 143
California	223,000 and 171.5
All other states	29,000 and 126

The acreage in lower California (Alo, Mexico) not included in California figures nor in United States total is 100,000 and the acreage of all other States made up of 4,000 acres in Illinois, 160,000 in Kansas, and 223,000 in Kentucky.

Where Do We Loose Most?

At this time the American people are thinking about the election of a President of the United States, of Senators and Representatives in Congress, and local officials. Minds will be centered upon issues and candidates until the elections are over. It is natural that voters will want the best men elected and the party in power which offers the best platform with the greatest assurance of backing it up.

But while we are listening to the arguments for this and that candidate in the national affairs, let us investigate carefully those seeking office in our own community and county. A virtue sometimes apparently overdone is the importance attached to the candidate running for the most honored position, or highest placed in government—a virtue overdone only when it is too much distracted from local affairs. Suppose, for example, that a federal official misappropriated a million dollars, or that his inefficiency of administration resulted in that amount of economic loss. While the act would be reprehensible or deplorable as the case might be, the individual taxpayer would hardly feel the loss, because the loss would be distributed over so great a number. It would not be felt as much as the loss of a thousand dollars due to the maladministration of a local or county official.

Our own local government up to and including the State government, after all, and in many respects, is the more important. It is more important because its effects directly our homes, schools, transportation, peace and order, and general welfare. There are fewer upon whom the responsibility must rest; therefore, individual responsibility becomes greater in local government. Every problem affecting the nation in general effects our own community in particular, and the reverse is true. It is certainly no disgrace to get out and work for the best people to administer our local affairs. It is the kind of "politics" of which no one need be ashamed; because politics honestly entered into and faithfully engaged in, is a mark of good citizenship and becomes of genuine civic and community interest.

A far-off President is none the less important because he is far off. But in the general run of affairs a local official who goes wrong can come nearer breaking up a man or woman whose voice we can hear, whose hand we can shake, who is close at home and whose destiny is undeniably linked up with ours that should engage a near and dear interest on the part of every citizen.

Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Ferry, their daughter, Mrs. H. T. Cato of the Big Bend section, Mrs. Sweetwater, and Mrs. Winnie Blatherwick and little daughter, Jeannette of Coleman spent last week-end in San Antonio.

Was It An Accident?

The other day at Glendale, California, Roy Stockberger made a "hole-in-1" on the 17th hole of the Oakland golf course. From a tee 190 yards from the flag, Stockberger socked the ball and without touching the ground it wedged itself in the hole and remained there.

A "hole-in-1" is the ambition of the majority of golfers. Few make it, although every driver from a tee is potentially or theoretically for the hole regardless of the distance. Finished golfers, if there are such, would deny this, saying the first drive should be made for the "green" or for a good lie for the next shot. However, no golfer would fail to count a "hole-in-1" or neglect to tell his friend in it.

Life is much like a golf game. We always aim for a figurative "hole-in-1". If we make it, we call it either accidental or we call ourselves "self-made" men. Take it as you please. No one knows whether a "hole-in-1" is accidently made, because no science could determine. All we know about it is that the ball is there in the hole and we have taken only one shot or drive. Similarly, no one knows whether success is entirely purposely achieved or accidently entered into. Perhaps it matters little so long as the act of achievement is honestly intended and faithfully carried out.

CARD OF THANKS
We want to thank the many friends who were so kind and thoughtful when our beloved husband and father went home on Friday last week. May God's richest blessings rest on you and yours.

Crump No. 2 Reported Making 600 Barrels Per Day

New interest sprung up in oil circles here Monday morning, when the Crump No. 2 drilled in the southwest corner of the C.A. Crump 39 acre tract in the west part of town, by the Cunningham and Charter Oil interest, came in for a producer estimated to be good for 500 to 700 barrels per day. The pay was struck at 1847 and drilled 8 feet in the sand. 1,000,000 feet of gas is said to be accompanying the oil.

Two other wells of importance are being drilled in the Santa Anna pool, the Rex-Tex Py-Tex No. 1 Banister and the Mathews No. 1. Humphrey Brothers will be watched with keen interest.

The Last Jinx Day

Friday, July thirteenth will be the last Jinx Day of the year. For some reason, Friday, the thirteenth, has been regarded as a particularly unlucky day. This superstition has hung on where many have been forgotten. Not so long ago there were hundreds of superstitions, and all were implicitly believed. Now, with the masses more generally educated, there are fewer superstitions and fewer persons take any stock in those that are left.

"At one time a man was sure hard luck would come his way if a black cat crossed his path or if he happened to walk under a ladder. And sometimes hard luck would come his way, but it really was not the black cat or the ladder that was responsible. It was his own mental attitude. Expecting disaster, he met it."

A great sign of progress is the lessening of superstition. And one of the strongest of these old superstitions is that one, which pertains to Friday, the thirteenth. At one time many people would not take chances or make investments or get married on Friday, the thirteenth. They seemed to think it was a day of calamity—a Jinx Day.

Make up your mind on Friday the thirteenth, that it is not different from any other day. It's the mental attitude that counts. When Friday the thirteenth comes around there are many people, no doubt, who will watch their steps pretty closely. One consolation—they are greatly in the minority.—Exchange.

National Guard Unit Leaves For Encampment

Captain Sam H. Collier, commanding officer of the local unit, Company B, 142nd Infantry, 36th Division of the Texas National Guard, with Lieutenant Plerat and other officials of the Company, left with a number of approximately fifty members Saturday night for Palacios, for the summer encampment. The Company went on a special Santa Fe train, carrying units from Coleman, Brownwood, Ballinger and other points. They will be in the encampment about 30 days, if we are correctly informed.

Miss Ora Belle Feitus returned from Glen Rose last week, where she accompanied her mother to the Snyder Sanitarium at that place.

Cost of Growing Cotton 8 to 59 Cents

Figures Are Given Out After A Survey Made By Department of Agriculture.

HARD TO LOCATE AVERAGE

Much Depends on Local Conditions and Poor Yields Are Most Expensive—Data Compiled by Various Groups in Cotton Belt of Country Made Public—992 Growers Report.

Washington, July 8.—Costs of growing cotton ranging from 8 cents per pound of lint to 59 cents per pound during the 1927 season have been reported to the United States Department of Agriculture by 992 cotton growers. Most of the growers reporting on their costs had yields higher than the average of 154 pounds per acre reported by the Federal Crop Reporting Board.

The department has tabulated the costs by yield groups. Forty-five farmers reported yields of 60 pounds and under per acre at an average cost of 59 cents per pound of cotton. On the other hand, 23 farmers reported yields of more than 500 pounds per acre at an average cost of 8 cents per pound. Seventy-two farmers who grew from 51 to 100 pounds of lint per acre reported an average 25 cents per pound of lint, and 90 farmers who grew between 101 to 140 pounds to the acre reported an average cost of 20 cents per pound of lint.

More than half the group of 992 farmers had yields of 141 to 300 pounds per acre with an average production cost of 13 cents per pound of lint cotton. These farmers were among the group having the large cotton acreages.

Busses As Electrical Aid

There are 333 electric railways operating almost 8,000 busses, in this country, according to a report obtained from the utilities and this shows an increase of 280 companies operating 5,460 busses during the year previous.

This year the companies have set aside $15,000,000 for the purchase of new busses to extend their service as feeders for the existing car lines. The electric line owners know that the bus service will never equal the electric car for the handling of mass transportation, as electricity remains the premier motive power for heavy traffic, the bus is providing its usefulness in conjunction with the electric lines, serving as feeders.

WHERE EDUCATION HAS FAILED

If education has failed—and that is a moot question—it has failed in neglecting to unteach the doctrine of selfishness with which all are more or less endowed at birth.

The International boundary between Canada and the United States including Alaska, is 5,500 miles long.

Are We Worse or Better?

Recently a pastor began his sermon with a statement which sounds quite familiar. He said: "There is lawlessness everywhere. Children no longer obey their parents. It is evident that the end of things is at hand."

Then the preacher told his congregation that the words were not original with him, nor even an utterance of the present day, but that they had been translated from an inscription found among the ruins in ancient Assyria, dating centuries before the time of the patriarch Abraham.

Throughout all recorded history are evidences that such pessimism has existed from time to time as to the future of the race. Now and then an era of comparative peace and quiet has been experienced only to be followed by recurring outbreaks of violence and lawlessness.

While present day conditions are bad enough, it seems that on the whole they are better than those of the past. There is more thought given to the relief of the suffering, to the betterment of industrial conditions, to the protection of the helpless and to other humanitarian enterprises than ever before.

Although the World War gave civilization a severe thrust, recovery has been rapid and the ground lost is being speedily regained. It must be remembered that war has marked the history of every generation of mankind, and the same is true of lawlessness, oppression and every manifestation of human imperfection.

It is reasonable to believe that these will always exist in greater or less degree, so long as good and evil struggle for mastery in the minds and hearts of men. —Longview News.

The Poiseful Life

Work—Play—Love—Worship. Too much of the first, not enough of the second, dangerously little of the third, and almost nothing of the fourth—that is about the way it works out for most of us.

After all it is probably correct to say in choosing "work" we have chosen the easiest, and that compared with the other three "work" is the lazy man's preference and excuse.

A GOOD POSITION is what every ambitious young man and woman yearns for—and is certain for those who prepare the Draughton way.

Texas and Texans

Lure of the City

At least half of the people in the country are hoping they may some day be able to live in a city or at least in some neighboring town. They are lured by the city lights, city shops, city parks, city companionship and the appearance of city leisure and ease.

Greed of the City

Every city is constantly reaching out, like a huge octopus with its many deadly talons, for something new on which to feed. It must do this to sustain its growth. It must provide from outside itself something to feed its increasing population.

Meeting City Efforts

A few of the smaller communities have found ways of meeting and withstanding the encroachments of the larger places. The formula is simple. They people stick together. They work for the interest of each other in preference to those of the city.

neighborly terms with the nearby cities, but careful to see that that neighborliness does not result in their own undoing. They produce crops and merchandise with which to supply the cities. They make their own communities so attractive that the local people take pride in them, and the city people seek them for rest and recreation.

Community Fairs

Secretary Jones of the Kenady Chamber of Commerce, has started in the right way to have the right kind of a county fair. He is working hard to have a successful community fair every part of Karnes county, and then will see that the best of inducements are offered to have the best of exhibits at the county fair to be held after the community fairs.

City Attractiveness

The Wellington Leader has made the discovery that Wellington would hardly take first prize in a beauty contest. Some towns become so immersed in business or grow so fast that they lose sight of the fact that beauty should increase with growth.

Federated Clubs Building

The Women's Federated Clubs of Big Springs have completed and dedicated a new club building that would be a credit to any city in the country. The enterprise shows what women can accomplish when they unite and try.

City Planning Job

Speaking at Lubbock, the secretary of the Kessler Plan Association of Dallas, said, "City planning that originates at the city hall usually ends at the city hall."

is going to be more attractive than its people want it to be. An indifferent population results in an indifferent looking city. For this reason, the press and all the other available agencies must work together constantly if our cities and especially our small places are to be made and kept attractive.

Tomato Prices

Tomatoes were recently quoted at Texas shipping points at 1 1/2 to 2 cents a pound. The same day they were being sold by Austin retailers at three pounds for 25 cents and advertised a bargain at that price.

Pearsall's New School

Our Poultry Column

By W. F. Kazmier, Bryan, Texas

The Side-Line Farm Flock. Much has been said and written about diversification on farms. The farmer has been given much free advice, often times by people not capable of giving such advice.

Diversification

Diversification to a certain extent is desirable on the average farm. For example, poultry raising, corn and milo growing and dairying may be considered a good diversification program. The corn and milo may be fed to both cows and hens, the skim milk from the cows may be fed to the chickens to a great advantage.

Saturday as a Holiday

Miss Froyang of the New York city department of education, says in a new undertaking that the Saturday holiday never began in the cities, but in the rural sections of our country. It is of undoubted origin that it originated in the colonial days, when there were very few towns in the community.

John Brown's Fame

Whatever his right to immortality, John Brown is still remembered. Fifty descendants of the famous abolitionist recently held a reunion on a farm near Arkon, Ohio, where there is a cave in which he is supposed to have concealed escaped slaves.

DID YOU EVER STOP
TO THINK
By Edson R. Waite
Shawnee, Oklahoma

United States Senator, Edward
I. Edwards of New Jersey, says:
That prohibition is an exact antithesis to a true and healthful temperance. For more than eight years we have been attempting to legislate morality into the minds of Americans with the most colossal failure ever registered against a constitutional amendment or enabling statute.

Prior to the enactment of probhibition a nation wide campaign of education against the intemperate use of strong liquors was gaining such tremendous headway that it had been permitted to pursue its own course, it would have eventually convinced America that the more harmful intoxicating liquor would be ultimately banned.

What is the situation today?
Secret and criminal speakeasies
have supplanted the old time corner saloon which all agreed was a menace to the health and morals of America. Bootleggers, drifted from the worst element of life, have taken the place of the bartender. Poisonous liquors are now substituted for the pro-voicestadian malts and grains.
The youths of our colleges and universities, upon whom future America must depend for her greatest achievements and enlightenments, easily obtain liquor illicitly. No such drinking and carousing contaminated our university halls prior to 1918.

Prohibition is now nourishing
what it sought to kill. Evidence of prohibition corruption is available in every city, town and hamlet in the country.

What is America going to do about it? Will she sit idly by and permit a bigoted and intolerant minority to dictate to the majority how we shall conduct our private lives? The present unfortunate conditions under probhibition cannot be perpetuated. A solution must be sought. What this solution shall be, is in my opinion, a matter to be decided

What About Dan Moody?

"What are you going to do about Dan Moody?" an insistent reader wants to know.

The question may be pertinent inasmuch as Mr. Moody is a candidate for re-election, but it had not occurred to us insistent.

Mr. Moody will be renominated in the July primary, and re-elected in November. The Bulletin can think of no adequate reason why it should be otherwise. He has given a good administration thus far, under circumstances that were difficult at the beginning of his term of office. He has removed confusion and discord and corruption from state departments, has placed responsible men and women in responsible public positions, and has kept the faith with the people who elected him upon his promise to maintain the state government at the least possible
cost.

The only serious opposition to Mr. Moody has developed in connection with the incidents in the state and national conventions at Beaumont and Houston, and it should be remembered that none of the events occurring at either convention had the least effect upon the state tax rate,
the state's legislation, the personnel of any state institution, Mr. Moody was invited to assume leadership of one of the three major factions in the Beaumont
state convention, and with sincerity and honesty—although,
perhaps, without political sagacity according to the standards of present-day politics—he won a victory for the policies he had espoused. In the Houston convention he obeyed the letter the instructions given by the Beaumont convention, and fought almost single-handed a battle that was already lost before it was begun. When the fight was ended he stood alone before the convention and protested the decision that had been reached by the majority, refusing to compromise the principles which he had espoused but yielding to the Democrat who regards participation in party activities as a privilege voluntarily claimed, by the individual, he will support the Democratic nominees, and the Democratic platform throughout the campaign, and will vote the ticket straight in the November election.

The opposition to Mr. Moody lacks an issue that could carry it to success in the primary this month. It is merely a group of factions, every one of which has been repeatedly defeated in previous campaigns. When the followers of Jim Ferguson align themselves with the remnant of the Klan and give their support to a candidate for public office
in Texas, as they have pledged it to Mr. Moody, it is a safe policy for our conservative Democrats to look upon such a coalition with suspicion and defeat it as decisively as may be possible.

Mr. Moody's administration has not been without mistakes,
but most of his errors have been made in the field of political strategy and few of them in the actual direction of the state government. He has earned respect even of those who doubted his ability two years ago, and is entitled to another two years of service at Austin because he has served the state faithfully
and efficiently during the past year and a half. That he will be renominated and re-elected is certain, and the encouragement of the present opposition to him

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS

San Angelo—San Angelo is to be included on the scenic route
of the third annual WTCC motor cade.

Rowena—One of ten special dairy schools to be held in Runnels county is scheduled for this town.

Canadian—Exhibits for the Hemphill county fair to be held here in September are being prepared by various communities.

Pampa—The Pampa fair will be revived this year and will be in session three days, from October 11 to 13.

Littlefield—Baby chick raising
in the Littlefield territory
has added considerable returnable wealth to this vicinity.

Coleman—Indications are that the WTCC board meeting here July 16 will be the most largely attended of any yet held.

Slaton—A $40,000 gin is to be erected here, to have a daily capacity of 100 bales.

Ozona—The Ozona Cattle
Show, held recently, attracted many entries.

Stamford—An article under a New York date line says that Wall Street has its eye upon West Texas and that the effects of its prosperous condition is being felt.

Amarillo—Amarillo is one of the first cities to send inquiries on the WTCC '28 motorcade to be staged in August.

Fort Worth—Following instructions passed by the 10th annual resolutions committee, a WTCC representative has been sent to the Southern Cotton Council in New Orleans.

Anton—The Anton Chamber of Commerce is making efforts to secure needed enterprises in its city.

Abilene—Abilene entertained
the State convention of Texas
Business and Professional Women, July 5, 6, and 7.

Follett—Follett is laying plans to ask for the next year's convention of the Trans-Canadian division of the WTCC.

Miami—Miami's recently organized Lions Club continues to be a leading factor in civic development and spirit of the town.

Sonora—The third annual motorcade of the WTCC will attend the Ranchmen's Round-up

SISTERS UNDEE (THE SKIN!)

The love of two women for Emil Jannings shines with the same saintliness in the character star's latest Paramount picture.
"The Street of Sin" although one of the women is a well priestess
while the other might well be called one of the devil's henchmen.

God or bad their hearts are the same when it comes to womanly love. Fay Wray plays a Salvation Army lass, living for others. Madame Olga Baklanova, noted Russian actress, plays a girl of the streets, living only for Jannings.

Jannings, himself, takes the powerful characterization of a giant brute in London's Limehouse district, ruling the gutter rabble with his fists, but not finding the true meaning of love until a shocking catastrophe occurs which almost costs
the life of Fay Wray.

"The Street of Sin" coming to the Queen Theatre next Monday
and Tuesday, July 16th and 17th.
is one you will enjoy, and will be remembered by many. See it.

Got Pigeons "Soused"

The problem of catching pigeons
in order to thin them out was solved rather ingeniously about twenty years ago by a London
vicar—a well-known temperance worker—who employed an old puncher's dodge. His trouble was to get rid of the pigeons that nested in and overcrowded the exterior
recesses of his church.

So he sprinkled in the churchyard a quantity of corn which had been well soaked in rum for 24 hours. The pigeons ate it greedily and their capture was rendered easy.

It was said that one intoxicated pigeon was found staggering up the middle aisle of the church with a pronounced alcoholic.—London

Only Firestone Can Give You Such Quality at these Greatly Reduced Prices. WE have a tire for every purse and purpose—all at new low prices—the famous Gum-Dipped Balloon—the tire supreme, holding all world's records for speed, safety, endurance and mileage. Oldfield Tires—which for many years were sold by Oldfield distributors and dealers at higher prices than any other high grade standard tire. Now selling all sizes for LESS THAN ANY OTHER STANDARD TIRE. Courier Tires and Tubes—built in the great, economical Firestone Factories—provide car owners with a full-size tire, with tough non-skid tread and rut-protected sidewalls at prices below many unknown, untried makes. Airway Tires—the great Firestone-built tire for light cars—selling at the industry's lowest price level. These new low prices are made possible by Firestone's victorious fight against the foreign monopoly which has resulted in the removal of all restrictions on the raw rubber supply. All Firestone prices have always been below those of other tires of equal quality, due to Firestone's great economies in manufacture and distribution. These tires are built in the world's greatest and most efficient factories where Firestone engineers have designed the machines which build the tires.

An Industry That Decreases

Live stock raisers in the United States have two things to do, as essential to their business, in the opinion of Dr. J. R. Mohler, chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

These essentials, he says are to increase the biological efficiency of their stock to the highest degree and to convince and inform the public that livestock raising in the United States is an essential industry, which deserves consideration in proportion to the service it renders.

The passing of the old west ranges has resulted in a gradual decrease in the number of beef cattle in this country.

Agriculture Department experts estimate there are about 22,000,000 fewer beef cattle, sheep and swine in the country than there were 25 years ago. Over the same period of the population of the United States has increased 35,000,000.

The decrease in meat animals has also effected the corn farmer. Ten years ago corn fields aggregated about 107,000,000 acres while this year the corn planting will be about 96,000,000 acres, a shrinkage of nearly 1,000,000 acres a year.

Dr. Mohler said these changes are evidences of a growing industrialization of the United States.

"This country is undergoing much the same change that occurred during the last century in Great Britain," he said. "At that time the British Isles were agriculturally prominent. Agriculture in turn was largely a livestock enterprise."

"I need not dwell on the excellence of British livestock for it ranks with the world's best. Yet for many years it has been overshadowed by industrial development, such as manufacturing, mining and the acquisition of a world-wide commercial trade.

"The United States is undergoing a similar change. We may point with pride to our 173,000,000 domestic animals. We may assert that the livestock population of the country, not counting poultry, exceeds the human population by 30,000,000."

"We may call attention to the large meat consumption of the United States and the progress made in improving the quality of animals and in reducing the risks of production."

"But if we are honest with ourselves we must accept other facts. We must consider the livestock industry in relation with other developments."

The Influence of Words

Every word that man utters, no matter how light or seemingly insignificant the word may be, has an influence upon himself and upon others. Whether the influence be good or bad depends upon the character of the word. Man instinctively knows the kind of effect that words will have upon his affairs. The matter of uttering only the right words then becomes one of discrimination and watchfulness.

It is easy for negative words to enter the mind; they come by suggestion from without, or as the result of error through within. High standards of thought and constant vigilance must be called upon to keep out those thoughts that are not conducive to our highest good.

"I WANT TO GET UP" SAYS GIRL, AGE SEVEN MONTHS

Birmingham, Ala., July 3.—At the age of 7 months, Yuvawn Shotte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Shotte, both college graduates, announces in clear English:

"I want to get up!" When the child was a week old according to careful notation in her "baby book", she startled her parents here by saying:

"Eat! Eat! Eat!"

While the record isn't specific on the point, the impression was gained that Yuvawn ate.

Birmingham's talking baby, weighing eight pounds at birth, Nov. 23, 1927, now tips the scales at nineteen pounds.

The log of her loquacity includes: Nov. 29—"Eat, eat, eat."

Nov.—30 "Dady."

Early in December—"Oh" and "Up." (Her parents indicated she then became irked at her crib confinement.)

Jan. 10—"I want up" (now elaborated to "I want to get up.")

Jan. 23—"Sat up."

Feb. 2—"Look there!" spoken when she saw her sister playing with a hoop.

Feb. 24—"Eats good." In answer to her father's query "Why do you want to eat?"

April 5—"I don't know," in answer to her mother's query "Where is Dean?"

Yuvawn, her parents said, refers normally to the next-door playmate of her sister as "little girl."

Her words are said to be pronounced without the usual baby accent. She seldom cries.

Shotte, the father, is employed by the United States Veteran's Bureau here.

WORLD'S WORST PAPER HANGER

The world's worst paper hanger has turned up in Iowa. His latest activities are reported in a letter from an Iowa farm woman to the editor of Farm and Fireside, national farm magazine.

"I hired this fellow the other day to paper my farm parlor. He was on itinerant workman, but assured me he knew his business. I put him to work and had to be away most of the day on various affairs."

"When I looked the job over in the evening, I noticed some peculiar bumps on the wall and I asked the paper hanger for the reason. He scratched his head and replied: 'I knew that I had forgotten something. They must be the dog-gone pictures.'"

The Iowa woman sent the letter to George Martin, editor of Farm and Fireside with the following inquiry: "Will this make an item for the paper?"

Mr. Martin replied in his customary epigrammatic way "Dear Madam: 'It will. It has.'"

Playground of The North

Tourists from the United States and Europe will spend more than $300,000,000 in the Canadian provinces this year, which is probably about $200,000,000 more than the Canadians will spend across the international line and abroad. This is a highly satisfactory balance of "trade" in Canada's favor.

Though tourist travel is a seasonal activity it is looming up in ever increasing importance as an economic factor. Spontaneously generated, and for some time permitted to develop largely of its own accord, this holiday travel to Canada has now come to rank as a major source of revenue, taking a place in this regard with the Dominion's greatest natural possessions.

This traffic is enriching Canada business, swelling the revenue of Dominion railways, aiding highway construction and providing employment for many thousands. It is also a source of much government revenue.

Canada is a natural playground. It provides hunting and fishing for countless Americans and many Europeans. Over its good roads pass endless streams of automobiles from the United States. And its hotels and other hosteries are filled with foreign visitors.

This vast lucrative business is worth going after. Recognizing this, virtually all the provinces are inviting tourist business, confident that it can be doubled in the next decade.

PRESBYTERIAN MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Presbyterian Missionary Society met Monday afternoon at the Manse with Mrs. J. W. Brown as hostess.

Mrs. Clinton Lowe being the leader, led the devotional. The lesson being read from Prov. 3rd chapter, after which a hymn was sung. Articles on the National Mission lesson were discussed by Mesdames Kelley, Oakes and McClellan.

After the lesson the members spent a very pleasant hour in honoring Miss Lena Boyd, Missionary from the local church, who has returned from India, and to celebrate the birthday of our president, Mrs. W. R. Kelley.

Much pleasure was spent in lighting the candles on the huge birthday cake and making wishes for the honoree. The honoree was remembered with several nice gifts, one being a beautiful necklace from India.

Then we had the wonderful privilege of hearing Miss Boyd tell of her trip through the Holy Land, and of her work in India.

Our hearts thrilled to know that we can have our own Missionary back again with us. We want others to have the same privilege of hearing her tell of her most wonderful work that she is doing for the Glory of God.

The hostess served angel food cake and cream to the members and two visitors.

CONTEST CLOSSES

Saturday night ended the contest at Walkes Pharmacy. The three winners were, Mrs. W. T. Ferguson, who won the Diamond Ring, Mrs. Ford Barnes, won the 21 piece Tea Set, and Miss Margaret Donham won the box of candy.

The contest was far better than we expected, and it was due to the faithful and congenial work of the contestants, so we wish to thank each and every one of them.

We appreciate the many new customers that came in and traded with us and we only hope that you were satisfied and will come back again as that was the object in view, to win more customers.

We were more than glad to give the winners the prizes, as we feel like we have gained many good customers which are worth far more than the prizes to us. So come back and trade with us, as we appreciate and need your business.

TO THE VOTERS OF COLEMAN COUNTY:

I am again asking you for the office of County Attorney of Coleman County, Texas, and in that connection I will state that I have lived in Coleman County all of my life and most of you know me. However, if you are not acquainted with me and the record I have made in the County Attorney's office, then I respectfully invite your investigation, and I shall be especially glad if you will inquire of any man in your community who has served on a Grand Jury since I have been in office and find out from him whether or not I favor strict enforcement of the laws of our State.

I want the office of County Attorney for an additional two years because of the experience I shall get out of it, and because it has only recently become a paying office. My first two years only afforded me a bare living, and I believe I should be entitled to hold the office for another two years now that it has begun to make me more than a living.

The only promise I shall make to you, in the event that I am elected, is that I will give you an honest and capable administration of the office, and that I will devote my time and efforts to a strict enforcement of all laws to the best of my ability and I believe, if I can receive the proper help, that all laws can be enforced.

An experienced Attorney is needed in your County Attorney's office and I believe that with the experience I have had, I am now better equipped than ever to serve you in that capacity.

I respectfully solicit your vote and influence in the coming Primary Election, and if you see fit to vote for, and support me in that election, then no one will appreciate it more than I.

Yours sincerely
V. Ravilus Gilliland,
County Attorney

Test For A Dictator

Americans pretty generally understand that politicians are made by the prosperity and decay of the country.

Coolidge—that is, as a statesman—undoubtedly is the creature of the amazing wave of prosperity which began after 1921 and is only now subsiding. Most observers admit that if the country should run into a really difficult economic crisis before next March, the Coolidge myth would evaporate almost instantly.

But there is a wide spread impression among Americans that Mussolini is a sort of miracle politician, above all the ordinary rules of politics. It is obvious that he does not abide by the American rules of the game and so it has been argued that he is controlled by no rules.

Soon the world may see the matter put to a test. Italy faces an economic crisis. Can Mussolini survive it?

If any politician can be can it is much easier with machine guns and prisons than with slush funds. Mussolini destroyed all the means of orderly political protest and flooded the country with soldiers and spies so that the people could not resort to their only alternative, violence.

Should the economic crisis develop and Mussolini be thrown out as a result thereof, then the rule will be well established that no politician can survive a really first class economic crisis.
