UNIVERSITY UNION COMMITTEE

Austin, Texas. One student from the city of Santa Anna is taking an active part in making a success of the million dollar University of Texas Union project. It is shown in the list of students in the army of four hundred who are carrying on the campus campaign, starting April 9, and lasting one week.

Those from Santa Anna who are taking part in this campaign include Tom R. Sealy, Ox Higgins of Dallas, stellar football player of the University, has been selected as chairman of the campus campaign, with Miss Gyneth Spogard of Alamo as co-chairman. These will lead the four hundred students in a whirlwind campaign which will make it possible for every student on the campus of the University to have an interest in this project.

The University Union campaign in the state is at its height at the present time, it is explained by H. D. Cross, financial director, and Wm. L. McGill, vice chairman, who are in close touch with the State campaign which was launched at the suggestion of Hon. T. W. Gregory, chairman of the campaign committee.

The objective in the drive is a half million dollars from ex-students, students and other interested ones in the welfare of the University of the state. This fund, supplemented by an appropriation of $600,000 from the board of regents, will go to erect three large buildings on the campus, an auditorium-gymnasium, a women's active building, and a student's union building, around which students and ex-students life outside the class room will center.

WRIGHT'S FLOCK NETS
$4 PER HEN

By F. W. Kazemien Bryan, Texas

There are those who do not believe there are at present as many opportunities to make money, as in years past. Some of these no-doubt do not believe the old saying "The pasture always looks greenest across the fence."

The man or woman that owns or rents a little land can make more money today than in years past.

In the April issue of the Poultry Tribune, a true story is related as follows: "Tom and Mattie Wright, White Leghorn enthusiasts, have made a record that is worth passing on. They made a flock of 363 hens, whose egg production average was 176.6 eggs per hen, produce an income of $2,405.91, a profit of $1,377.13 and a profit above feed cost of $4.05 per hen.

The county agent was instrumental in getting them to keep records also in buying bred-to-lay stock. The first year they had average run pullets, the second year they had pullets from bred-to-lay stock. Note the difference.

First Year
Number of hens—371
Average egg production—122.36
Total receipts—$1,541.90
Profit above feed cost per hen—$2.21
Net income—$803.96

Second Year
Number of hens—363
Average egg production—176.6
Total receipts—$2,405.91
Profit above feed cost per hen—$4.05
Net income—$1,377.13

What 400 White Leghorns Did—On April 18, 1927, Mr. De La Parriere bought 1500 White Leghorn day old chicks, and sold as broilers enough cockerels to more than pay the initial cost and expense of raising, the entire flock. The pullets were carefully culled and placed in winter quarters October first. During the month of October, 1008 eggs were received from the flock. The records for the month of November and December shows a steady increase in egg production and from January 1st to February 1st, this flock laid by actual count 6157 eggs. On the market these eggs were sold for $215.30. The cost of feed for the month was $85.15, which left a net profit of $130.15.

There is no question but that every well balanced farm there should be from 100 to 200 good pullets. Such a flock, nine times out of ten would show a net of $2.00 per hen per year.

Uses of Oil on Body

As in the case in many warm countries, oil was used by the Jews for anointing the body after a bath for example, and before an entertainment to give the skin a smooth and comely appearance. Olive oil had also a funeral use. The bodies of the dead were anointed with oil by the Greeks and Romans, probably as a preservative, and a similar practice seems to have prevailed among the Jews.

"Ripening" Ice Cream

After ice cream is frozen the warmer in the freezer is declined off, fresh ice and salt added and the freezer covered. The ice cream then "ripens," that is, becomes smooth and creamy.

DECREASE IN LYNCHINGS

There were only sixteen lynchings in the United States during 1927, according to a report of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. This is a hopeful sign, because during 1926 there were 80 lynchings (7 whites and 23 negroes). If this ratio of betterment could be continued the practice could be wiped out in about five years.

However, mob violence is not the only thing the civilized world should try to avoid. Bickerings, wars, human strife, unnecessary lawsuits, divorce—in fact crime itself—is not wearing very pure robes. Let the nation point its finger at evils alike, smiting harder the more deplorable.

MAKING GOOD IN SANTA ANNA

Some young men and women leave home as soon as they are out of school, and some leave before. Other things being equal, do those who leave the home town do better than those who remain? It is doubtful whether a check or "census" ever has been taken to find out the answer.

There are good, sound reasons why one can succeed in one's own home town. There may be equally good reasons why one should leave the home community, but they constitute the exceptions.

It is common of course, to hear of many young and ambitious people seeking their fortune in distant lands and in great cities. Distance itself lends enchantment to the idea that such persons have made wonderful successes of themselves. They may have done so. But on strict analysis of the representative situations of the majority, a great many things have to be discounted.

When Bill or Jack or Harry gets away from home his first impulse is to write to the folks back home, telling them what a wonderful job and fine surroundings he has. He doesn't want his old friends to know that his choice of location was not the result of his own good judgment. His new intention and environment make for inspiration. The flash of new people, new scenery, new conditions; enthrall him to paint a glorious picture. The folks back home, a little restless themselves, let their imaginations begin to work. They see the green fields in which he is now pasturing.

Then what happens? The first impressions received from any one of this trio of wanderers become final with the home folks. Bill or Jack or Harry has "made good" they say, and the gossip passes from lip to lip and then dies away.

But what happens to Bill and Jack and Harry? They simply bettle down to the realities of life, and if there ever was any real stuff in them they certainly make good. But if there never was any real stuff in them they do not make good and no amount of shifting around ever will be the sole means of their making good. The sparkling diamonds are in our own back yards if we will only look for them.

Fortune smiles, perhaps not as wistfully but certainly as wholesomely upon the person who believes in his town, works for his town, and stays in his town.

Hard work and tight thinking know no location, and are common to all lines of endeavor. The act of "making good" is not confined to the mere accumulation of wealth nor to the self-sustained indulgence heretics. "Making good" includes also the forming of lasting friendships, the serving of public needs, the protection of individual rights. It includes loyalty and cooperation, thrift and perseverance, morality, justice and self-respect.

Beware of the plaintive song of the siren that lures to disappointments. If one cannot succeed in Santa Anna, among friends where one has learned to know the good and avoid the bad, the chances are his path will not be strewn with as many roses elsewhere. Besides, making good in Santa Anna seems so much more like "making best" a more complimentary achievement with a greater opportunity for service than making good anywhere else.

POULTRY OPPORTUNITIES IN TEXAS

A good deal is being said at the present time on "How the Eyes of the Nation Are Turning Texasward," and there is certainly justification for the poultrymen of the country looking over what Texas has offered them. The fact that Texas ranks sixth among the states in poultry production in spite of a yearly average of only six dozen eggs per hen indicates that conditions are favorable for economical egg production, for an industry with such low average production could not otherwise hold such a high place.

Texas has offered the following distinct advantages: (1) housing and range, (4) temperature and early season, and (5) relatively low land cost.

Very few large fortunes have been made in Texas in the poultry business but several thousand Texas farmers have found that a flock of 500 high-producing Standard-bred hens will not only foot the bills of the family, but will leave cash balance besides.—E. N. Holmgreen, in the Progressive Farmer.

SOIL LOSS BY WASHING

The damage done by the loss of soil and the loss of water on sloping farm lands has been a debated question for many years. It has been through investigation only in recent years that any concrete data has been obtained.

At least three of the state experiment stations have taken this matter up and have conducted experiments to more closely check and get more accurate data on soil losses by erosion. The Texas Experiment Station, located at Spur, Dickens County, has an experiment that has been running now for two years. The data obtained on these plots are very interesting.

Soil Loss Measured

The plots are narrow strips of soil running up and down the hill being separated by a sheet iron fence. At the lower side the sediment and water from each plot are deposited in a concrete vat. The rainfall is measured and soil losses are weighed.

The plants vary from level to a slope of 3 feet to 100 feet. The plots are planted in different crops while some have been left bare.

On plots that have a slope of 2 feet in 100 feet with a rainfall of 27 1/2 inches on sodded land there was merely a trace of soil loss after the native grass sod was well set. On the plot with land bare and cultivated, there was a loss at the rate of 81.422 pounds of soil per acre in one year. This amounts to a removal of 6 inches of soil in a period of 22 years. That planted in cotton lost at the rate of 55.439 pounds per year, or the removal of 6 inches of soil per acre in a period of 32 years. The plot planted to maize lost soil at the rate of 34.733 pounds per year or 6 inches in a period of 57 years. At the same time the well sodded plot lost practically no water. The bare land lost approximately 45 per cent of its water from runoff. That planted to cotton lost 26 per cent. That planted to maize lost a little more than 20 per cent of the water by run-off. A. K. Short, in The Progressive Farmer.

A GOOD INVESTMENT

It is a cinch that Santa Anna is going to continue to grow, and a good building lot purchased at a reasonable price is going to prove a good investment. Lots in the west of the SEALY HOSPITAL, situated between the Highway and the Santa Anna Mountain are very desirable lots for people seeking pleasant and permanent homes. These lots are now ready to go on the market and the price is very reasonable, in fact, considering the location, such as cannot be found elsewhere, and only a limited number can be purchased at any price, with such splendid surroundings, surely no one wanting to build a home would pass up an opportunity to buy a lot in this beautiful Addition.

See us at your early convenience, drive out and look the property over, select the location you like then get the price. You will be delighted with the location and price.

This Addition is going to be restricted, nothing cheaper than a good framed building or better will be permitted. This will eliminate undesirables and guarantee good citizenship.

FRIDAY APRIL 20, 1923

TEXAS AND TEXANS
By Will H. Mays

Public Health Campaign

Fully 150 Texas cities and towns conducted "health campaigns" of some kind during the first week in April, which was designated as "Health Week." In some of these the campaign was in the nature of a general clean-up of the unsightly and unhealthful accumulations of the past year—a sort of tidying up for spring after the fashion of the old-time annual house-cleaning—a united effort to make the place a bit more attractive looking. Some forty towns started movement for mosquito control. Others joined the movement throughout the surrounding country for the extermination of rats and mice. In a large number of places the campaign was educational in character, taking the form of health plays, playground activities, better baby contests, lectures, health sermons, poster contests and newspaper articles.

Perhaps we have yet to learn in Texas that intermittent health campaigns, while accomplishing some good, are far from what they should be in getting results. Every city, every community needs a permanent public health committee composed of people willing to work and having official authority to carry on health activities and to make and enforce health regulations—not for a week, but every week in the year.

More Cheese Factories

Round Rock has become the Mecca for Texas towns considering the building of cheese factories. When the factory was organized there last year cheese factories were almost unknown in Texas, and many people wagged their head, and predicted a failure of the enterprise. It started off slowly, and that caused more head-wagging. In less than three months it demonstrated that such an enterprise could be as successfully conducted in Texas as anywhere else. Now, other towns are wanting cheese factories, and almost every day there is a pilgrimage from some Texas town to Round Rock to learn just how cheese-making is done there. Rockdale and Bartlett are among the latest towns to study such an enterprise.

Town Planning

Mt. Pleasant can hardly be called a city. It is a big town in East Texas, but not too small to emulate the plans of the larger "burgs".

So, Mt. Pleasant has appointed a city plan commission. Just like like the large places have done and that commission is working out a taxation plan, a street naming plan, free mail delivery, an advertising campaign, more paving, a municipal band, fire prevention regulation, traffic laws, city beautification and a lot of other things. If this work is kept up, Mt. Pleasant will be a sure-enough city with all the airs of a city in a short-time. A vision is as essential for city growth as for individual growth.

Studying at College

Here is an idea from Taylor that should be worth something. Citizens of that town are organizing a caravan to go to the A & M College to spend a day, studying poultry, livestock and agriculture. The town folks will ask their country neighbors to go with them. Country folks having cars will take along such as have no cars, and a real inspection and study will be made at the College of such things as each person is most interested in. It is hard to estimate the value of a day spent in this way, for every one will get new ideas and inspiration from such a trip. There may not be a college close enough to your town to be visited in a day, but doubtless there is something near enough to you to make a neighborly trip advantageous. And think, what an outing it could be made!

Another Good Idea

Last year the Crowell banks, co-operated with the Foard county farm agent, loaned the money to 24 boy club members in the county with which to buy pure-bred Jerseys. Each of the members agreed to plant and cultivate five acres of cotton, the proceeds from which was to be used in paying off the notes, as most of the cattle bought were young jersey heifers. The banks have collected 100 per cent on their loans to the boys and every member has reported a surplus of from $45 to $300 in addition to the ownership of a Jersey cow. Perhaps an even greater result has been the business confidence the boys have gained. The banks, too, have made permanent customers of these boys.

Dalhart Celebrators

Dalhart has obtained natural gas, and naturally Dalhart is glad to show its jubilation feeling the council and the chamber of commerce gave a town celebration and placed a jet 40 feet high on the court house lawn, the jet being left to burn all night to let the town and surrounding country see what Dalhart has achieved. Securing natural gas is a forward movement of which any place would be proud.

Dairy Interest Shown

The interest in dairying as a leading industry in the Panhandle.

Plains country was shown at the dairy show at Plainview the first week in April, there being 241 registered cows exhibited, in addition to some 60 or 70 high quality grade cows. People attended the show from as far away as Dalhart, Canadian, and Clarendon, Lubbock, Lamessa, Tahoka, Slaton, Crowell, Floydada, Silverton and Hale Center were largely represented.

Pave Every Street

Pharr started a "Pave-Every-Street" campaign using that phrase as a slogan in the early part of 1927, and so closely has the city stuck to its purpose that in a few months the slogan will be obsolete because there will be no more streets left to pave. Can any other Texas town make as good a showing on street paving?

Another Air-Mail Route

A movement is on foot to secure an air-mail route from Waco to San Angelo via Brownwood, connecting at Waco with the New York-Chicago-Texas-Mexico route. Brownwood and San Angelo will both provide the necessary airport and comply with all the requirements to secure the service.

Tribute to Warden Speer

Captain N. L. Speer, warden of the Huntsville, penitentiary, has asked that his resignation be accepted. Five hundred prisoners signed a petition urging that he be retained and shipped it out of the walls for fear the Captain might intercept it and not allow it to be mailed. Could a greater tribute than that be paid an officer? It speaks volumes for his efficiency and shows that he should not resign.

THE SELF CULTURE CLUB

Mrs. Ben Oliver was hostess to the Self Culture Club on Friday afternoon at a business meeting. Mrs. R. C. Gay was elected as a delegate to the sixth district meeting to be held in Abilene.

Mesdames Frank Turner, Tom Hays and Miss Dora Kirkpatrick were appointed by the president as the year-book committee. Committees were also appointed for the club entertainment which will be held in May. Later an interesting lesson on Briens was given. Those reading papers on this dramatist were: Mesdames R. C. Gay, Hardy Blue and Miss Dora Kirkpatrick. Those present were: Mesdames Clifford Vermer, Jodie Matthews, Hardy Blue, P. P. Bond, Ben Oliver, Frank Turner, Tom Hays, R. C. Gay, S. L. Weaver, and Miss Dora Kirkpatrick.

THE PIONEER BELLS

Mrs. W. T. Vermer was hostess to the Pioneer Bells on last Thursday afternoon. Conversation and fancy work formed the diversions for the afternoon.

Later refreshment plates containing coconut pie, Ambrosia and tea were served to the following guests: Mesdames W. O. Garrett, A. G. Watson, T. T. Perry, Will Harper, E. J. Gillem, D. J. Barnes, J. W. Collier, H. E. Rothmel, H. W. Kingsbury and B. R. Wagner.

A very pleasant afternoon was spent by the ladies. They are always glad to have Mrs. Vermer entertain.

WHY A TON-LITTER CONTEST

January 1 figures of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics show that Texas has 1,375,000 hogs on her farms, which is the largest number that has ever been carried through a period of low hog prices in our state. This gives Texas a rank of 12th place among all the states in the Union in number of hogs on farms. The rank is 11th in value of hogs on farms. This seems like a very great number of hogs, but with this enormous hog production we still have many hogless farms in every section of our state. The packers advise that they are importing thousands of heads of hogs into Texas for slaughter, and also dressed pork to meet our own consumption demand.

To keep these hogs on Texas farms and justify their existence there by reason of profits, each year is the aim of the Progressive Farmer Ton-litter Contest.—Paul Huey, in The Progressive Farmer.

The worst bad habit we know consists in bragging about not having any.

are fighting for the right principle are merely fighting for the fun of hitting the other side.

WINNERS IN BIG SMITH CONTEST SATURDAY

In a novel contest at the Purdy Mercantile Company last Saturday conducted by a representative of the Big Smith manufacturing company, the following were the winners:

The largest man to register was J. W. Lawrence, weight 227 pounds—the tallest man was Norris Parsons, height 6 ft. 9 1/2 inches; the largest boy, age 1 to 4, J. D. Rice, age 3, weight 88; largest boy 5 to 8, Raymond Fowler, age 7 years, weight 66; largest boy 9 to 12, Sam Forehand Jr., age 9 years, weight 121; tallest boy 12 to 18 years, Alvin Burden age 16, 5 feet, 11 1/8 inches.

THE THINK SHOP

Thinking is a human process that is much neglected. People do many things in life entirely out of the element of thought.

This world would be a much better world, a much better place to live in, if each person would simply put his thinking cap on and wear it at the performance of each deed, significant or seemingly inconsequential.

In the office, in the shop, in the home in the social arena, in public places, everywhere, thought would play well its part.

The think shop is one of the most important parts of the human makeup. Lack of proper thought promotes misery, worry, discontent, sadness, suffering, ignorance and hundreds of things that should be destroyed rather than promoted. The man who thinks is the man who does things efficiently and it is likewise with the woman who thinks. The boy or girl brought up in the habit of careful thinking is the boy or girl who will mean most to America.

Wounded feelings, shattered careers, demolished hopes, slouchy work, determinations to revenge and all sorts and kinds of failures may at once be prevented by the simple application of proper thought.

Time and money may be saved if one will but think when about his immediate task. Matrimonial missteps may be prevented by right and proper thinking. Many careers may be brightened and made more useful and larger by merely allowing thought to invade the territory of proper execution. Since thinking is such an important and necessary element in the business of life, it should be fully resorted to by all the people all the time. Before THINK let's get Even, fairly THINK!

THE REAL MAN

A real man never talks about what the world owes him, the happiness he deserves and the chances he ought by right to have and all that.

A real man is just as honest in the dark in his own room as he is in public.

A real man does not want pills and favos. He wants work and honest wages.

A real man does not want something for nothing so the get-rich-quick people can not use him.

A real man does a little more than he promises.

A real man is loyal to his friends and guard their reputation as his own.

A real man minds his own business. He does not judge other persons beyond sure knowledge not presuming to "search hearts."

A real man has excuses for others, never for himself. He is patient and charitable to others, to himself he is strict.

A real man does not hunt danger, but never dodges it when it comes to meet him.

A real man is glad to live and not afraid to die.

IT ACTUALLY HAPPENED

A South Dakota country editor while getting his mail from the postoffice of his home town, heard a business man of the town, place an order with the postmaster for 2000 printed envelopes. After placing the order the business man apologized to the editor for not giving him the order, stating that he could buy them from Uncle Sam for so much less money. The editor accepted the argument as a matter of fact.

A few hours later the editor's small son applied to his daddy for a new overcoat. The editor had a happy thought, and immediately took the youngster up to the postoffice and gave the postmaster an order for a new overcoat for the lad, but was informed that the government did not sell overcoats. The editor then asked the privilege of placing an order with the postmaster for a new pair of shoes for himself, but was told that Uncle Sam did not sell shoes, and in fact did not enter into competition with any private business except printing.

Now that the editor, and several thousand more just like him, are trying to ascertain why Uncle Sam should show this discrimination. If he is privileged to enter into competition with printers, or the land, why not also go to selling shoes, overcoats, radios and other lines of merchandise? And if our Uncle considers it his duty to save the public money on printed envelopes why not organize a monster general merchandise business and save the people more money on everything they buy?

United States Senators and Congressmen are being asked these questions in constantly increasing numbers.—Itcockdale Reporter.

A GOOD RESOLUTION

What would happen if an employee of a bank should tell its patrons to do business elsewhere, or if a salesman in a store should whisper to the customers that prices were lower and quality higher at another mercantile establishment? Would either ease the distasteful employee would lose his job and the respect of all.

But isn't the citizen who trades out of town just as disloyal to his home town as the employee who advises his employer of business? Those who buy by mail or go away to shop are telling the patrons of their town that they could do better elsewhere. They take away from the town merchants not only their business but that of others.

Like bargain hunting and window shopping, buying at home, with practice, becomes a good habit just as out of town trading grows upon one as a bad habit. And it is feared that most mail order and other foreign buying is from force of habit rather than from any hope of profit or gain in satisfaction. Seldom is there a legitimate excuse for trading elsewhere than at home.

What would be the dividends payable to Santa Anna if every citizen on December 31, 1928, could truthfully say he or she had not violated a community resolution for 1928 to "buy at home"? The extra dividends that would accrue to the benefit of the community and each of its citizens would be more business for its merchants, more money in circulation, more employment and more prosperity for all.

AN INSPIRATION

According to a New York daily, Clarence McKay, wealthy telegraph company head, has forgiven his daughter, Ellen, for marrying Irving Berlin, noted popular song writer, in 1926.

That's a long time for a telegraph magnate to hold back information. He probably forgave Ellen immediately after her marriage, but refused to let her know his state of mind. That's the way of some fathers you know.

There are a lot of things worse in this world than the marriage of a Gentile to a Jew, especially when one considers Mr. Berlin's rise to fame. Irving Berlin is a product of the Bowery, or, properly of Chinatown, New York City. Here he sang and played the piano in cheap restaurants. When the restaurants needed a waiter, Berlin became one, according to the story. Who today do not know of Irving Berlin and his stirring melodies and songs? His musical compositions were sung and marched to by the boys in France, England and Germany during the World War. His songs are of love, youth and the new inspirations of the present day. "Over There" put life into the armies. "Always" inspired to fidelity and loyalty to the institutions of home. Millions of people have found in Berlin's composition a combination of the ballad that and inspires and the rollicking jazz that speaks of the new day.

Who was Ellen McKay? The society daughter of a millionaire society leader. She has, however, contributed to the advancement of humanity, and marrying Berlin for she is a mother. And now what will Irving do since the announcement of his father-in-law's forgiveness? Write another song, of course, from the inspiration, and make millions more people happy.

EVERYBODY BENEFITS

The proposition of "trading at home" has been too often constructed for the help of the merchant alone. There is no great economic fallacy. The merchant may gain the first or primary benefit; the result may show up first in his own cash register; but by no means is the "business man" the sole heir of local patronage. We are all business people. It is a broad term, and includes those who toil or add anything to the total of human welfare.

The merchant, the banker, the farmer, the house wife, the teacher, the preacher, the lawyer, the doctor, the laborer, the contractor in shot—the "butcher, the baker, the candle-stick maker" are all in the same class when it comes to making Santa Anna what it should be. Set any one of these trades or professions-going and all the rest are benefited all the way up or down the line. If one prospers the others he deals with or pays wages here, and so on, like any other cumulative dividend.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Rev. P. B. Fitzwater, D. D. Dean, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago

Lesson for April 22 JESUS AND THE HOME

LESSON TEXT—Mark 10:1-16. CHILDREN TEXT—Honor thy father and mother, which is the first commandment with promise.

1. Concerning Marriage (v. 1-12)

The question touching divorce, which the Pharisees temptingly put to Christ, brought forth teaching which exhibits marriage in its true light.

1. Marriage should not be degraded by divorce (v. 1-5). Divorce was not instituted by God, but by man, and is a perversion of His will.

2. Marriage God's primal law (v. 6-8). The ideal law of life for the subjects of Christ's kingdom is marriage.

3. Marriage has God's sanction (v. 9). When God created Eve and brought her to Adam He performed the first marriage ceremony and declared that man should leave father and mother and cleave unto his wife.

4. Marriage of the divorced forbidden (v. 10-12). The marriage relation should not be broken by death and sin.

1. Whosoever shall put away his wife and marry another committeth adultery against her.

1. Concerning Children (vv 13-16). The union of the male and female natures, according to God's primal law of marriage, lays the foundation of family life.

2. The parents rebuked by the disciples for bringing their children (v. 15). They seemed to think that attention to children was beneath the dignity of Christ.

3. Jesus' action (v. 16). He took the children up in His arms, put His hands upon them and blessed them.

Religious Faith Secret in Jerusalem

In Jerusalem, the little city of great things, religious observances play a part in daily life unknown in other capitals.

In a modern city, one meets people daily for years without knowing their religious beliefs.

The religious festivals bring their own paganism to the city. There are Moslems with their adherents from northern Africa, India, Afghanistan, Bokhara, Arabia, and the Sudan.

MAKING MONEY

By Wm. A. Plack

We all want to make money. Making Money is a common but unfortunate term.

"I guess I have got enough money to set them up housekeeping," replied Weiden.

TALK, TRICKS AND TIRES

There is more "talk" in the tire business today than ever before. There are more tricks, too. Old tricks in price cutting with brand new names: special sales, introductory offers, discounts, extra allowances, direct to consumer and others.

MORE CARS RUN ON GOODYEAR TIRES THAN ON ANY OTHER KIND

So great is Goodyear popularity that every year Goodyear makes thousands more tires than any other manufacturer. A leadership that for ten years has gone unchallenged.

It was won by concentrating the resources of the world's largest rubber manufacturer in a tire that would actually do what was claimed for it—outperform any other tire on the road.

It was won by service that is always friendly, expert and in your interest. Service that maintains the Goodyear standard along the highways of the world.

TIME

In this age of progress, new science and invention, we often ask ourselves the question, "Are we putting too much stress on the value of time?"

Any expenditure of wealth and energy is justified, we say, if it contributes to the aid of saving a minute of that precious stuff of which eternity is made.

Think of the radio, telephone, automobile, the many household devices which have been invented. The emphasis on time-saving is shown by the number of the above mentioned articles.

All modern means of conversation justify their existence on the conversation of fleeting minutes in the life of the busy man.

Why are we in such a hurry? What is it that we are so feverishly seeking and striving so madly rushing for that must be reached with such haste?

There are many who, (were it not for the modern methods of time saving devices) would be utterly lost and ruined, while there are others who, in the on-rush of trying to save one of "times" minutes are inclined to mistake, bustle and do aimless fluttering for useful activity.

Would it not be well for each of us to sit quietly down, forgetting the minutes we are taking and decide whether or not time saving is anything more than a manifestation of restlessness and discontent?

Gifts! Gifts! Many nice useful gifts $1.00 each.
