Ruling For School Transfers Is Given

Austin, July 10.—Parents who expect to transfer their children to other school districts for work unavailable at home, at state or county expense, must apply to their county superintendent before Aug. 1, State Superintendent S. M. N. Maris reminded today, in explaining operation of the new legislative act appropriating $100,000 state funds for tuition in such cases.

Officials of high schools to which common school students are transferred will render monthly tuition bills to the home district, and the latter will pay by warrant approved by the county superintendent. Tuition is to be not more than $5 a month.

The above statement relates to a piece of school legislation accomplished during the recent session of our state legislature which in our way of thinking is one of the most outstanding laws ever passed for the equalizing of educational opportunity in our state. The law provides that where a district does not maintain a high school grade those students desiring the work of that grade may transfer to a school which offers the work, and it is mandatory on the district from which such transfer is made to pay the students' tuitions in the high school after the state and county transfer fund is exhausted. At the close of the school year if the district from which the transfer was made is not financially able to pay this tuition along with the maintenance of its own school work, it may then ask the state for re-imbursment of such tuitions it has paid. The maximum for which the district may be re-imbursed is $5.00 per student per month. It should be borne in mind that this is true only in case the district DOES NOT OFFER these courses.

At the special called session $100,000 was appropriated for each year of the next biennium to take care of such high school transfers. The law has two advantages. It is a step in the right direction in endeavoring to give rural students an opportunity for a high school education. It will have a tendency to cause the small school to cease trying to teach so many grades, and concentrate its efforts on fewer grades with inevitable greater results.

ERNEST GROVES DIED IN CISCO; TO BE BURIED HERE

The Santa Anna News received a telephone call from Cisco Wednesday afternoon, requesting us to print and distribute funeral notices for Ernest Groves, twenty years old, who will be brought here from Cisco Thursday for burial. The funeral will be conducted at the cemetery at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon. The party calling requested us to secure the services of a Presbyterian minister to conduct the funeral, and Rev. J. M. Burrow very kindly agreed to serve. The young man is a stranger to the News editor, thus we cannot give further information at this time.

MISS BRENT OFF TO CALIFORNIA ON SPECIAL MISSION

Dallas, Texas, July 9.—Miss Gertrude Brent of Coleman, representing Coleman county on the Texas Farm Women's Special to California, left here tonight with the party on a special Pullman which will be retained by them throughout the trip, ending in Dallas on July 26th following one days attendance at the annual Farmers short course at A & M College. The party was made up of thirty outstanding farm women leaders of the State, which will inspect and study rural life and conditions in California, standardization, organization and cooperative marketing. The trip is being sponsored by the educational department of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association under the direction of Miss Susan Landon.

This is the first time in the history of the State that a tour of this kind has been made possible, and much interest is being attached to the valuable information, facts and figures that the various representatives will bring back to their respective communities for the benefit of a more prosperous agriculture and farm life.

Mrs. S. H. Phillips, proprietor of the Phillips Drug Company, left Tuesday for Gonzales to attend the bedside of her mother. Mr. Phillips' brother, Whit Hampton and family of Quanah, drove over Sunday enroute to see his mother. Mrs. Phillips requests the Santa Anna News to announce the Drug Store will be in charge of Mr. Miller and Sammie Kirkpatrick, with Miss Ruby Harper in charge of the books, and the business would be carried on efficiently.

F. A. Rollins went to Paris Saturday afternoon, accompanied by Mrs. W. E. McKnight, Catherine and Elizabeth Rollins and Fanchen Gaston. Mrs. McKnight and the girls have been visiting their parents and grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Morgan and other relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thate left Monday for the Mountains in the State of Colorado, to spend a vacation.

WHEN TO ADVERTISE—?

The time to advertise is now—not tomorrow or next month. To wait on winds and whims is worse than procrastination.

Merchants are open for business regardless of the weather. Men and women eat and sleep and seek recreation at all times of the year. Health and happiness are present or in perspective. You advertise now and reap the reward hereafter.

But you cannot expect anticipated profits from anticipated advertising. If business is good, keep it good by good advertising; if it is bad, make it better by better advertising.

Advertising has advanced wonderfully in the last five years, so have merchandising methods, and the two work wondrously in double harness. Transposing a sentence from Shakespeare: "Ye who have advertising to do, do it now."—The Fourth Estate.

Advertisements in the Santa Anna News are widely read.

Fine Rain Fell Here Thursday Morning

In so far as we have been able to learn, a general rain fell throughout the central part of the state early Thursday morning. The rain began falling shortly after midnight and continued for several hours. At 7:00 o'clock Thursday morning the gage showed 3.7-10 inches in Santa Anna. The real value of this rain would be hard to estimate. The cotton, which is the principal crop in Coleman county was in a stage where moisture was beginning to be needed, late feed crops were suffering, summer plowing could not be done, now the earth is soaked and nothing is lacking. Business in Coleman county bids fair to exceed any year during the past five. Several of the Santa Anna merchants have reported much better cash business this year than was expected, and some have even wondered where it was coming from. Take under consideration the number of old hens there are in Coleman county now compared with a few years back and you have the answer.

Ex-CowPunchers Meet In Annual Reunion

Ben Stone of Brownwood, owner of the Coggin ranch, situated a few miles southeast of Trickham, just across over in Brown county, had for his guests first of the week some 200 good sports, in what is called the third annual reunion of ex-Cowpunchers. The camp, on the waters of Clear Creek, in a beautiful grove of large timber, mostly pecans, furnished fine shade for those who spent the day and did the chores.

Beef, mutton and chevon were barbecued to the tune of proper taste, plenty of bread, pickles, onions, and that old dish known to all ranch men called sun-of-a-gun, furnished a repast good enough for the gods. There were 185 present for supper Tuesday night, among them being several business men from Brownwood, Santa Anna, Bangs and other towns in this section. We have a list of names of those present, but would have to have an interpreter to tell us what some of them are, therefore, we think it best not to use them as names should be correct when put into print. The party was held on the Gill ranch near Whon last year, and will be held at some convenient place next year. It was the liveliest crowd we have seen this season. Rich jokes were told, wit and humor exchanged, every body appeared to be jolly. Such meetings should be held more often.

Ex-CowPunchers Meet In Annual Reunion

The revival meeting at the Baptist church is still in progress and will continue through the present week. Dr. Hornburg has been doing some fine preaching and large crowds attending. Several have joined and others are in prospect. At this time we have not conferred with Pastor Martin, and do not know his plans for further announcements.

BAPTIST REVIVAL STILL IN PROGRESS HERE

The Christian Endeavors had supper on Home Creek Friday night at the Richardson crossing. A beautiful feast of good things was enjoyed by the large crowd. Swimming and games furnished the diversions of the evening. Those chaperoning the crowd were Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Burrow, Mr. and Mrs. Jasper McClendon, and Mrs. Jack Woodward.

Mr. James N. Land, small son and daughter of the State of New York, are visiting in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Land.

Mrs. C. H. Todd and little daughter, Mary, spent several days this week with Mrs. Todd's parents near Rising Star.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Magness and baby of Brownwood spent Sunday with Mrs. Magness' mother, Mrs. A. N. McLeod.

THE difference between success and failure is only ten cents. The business man who takes in a dollar and spends only 95c is on the road to financial independence, but the fellow who spends $1.05 when he's got only a dollar in the bank is headed for the rocks.

The message you hold in your hands will be to many, if not to you, a beacon light pointing the way to the harbor most of us are striving for—financial success—where will also be found great peace of mind.—Selected.

Does He Believe In Advertising?
There was a man who said he did not believe in advertising. He is a married man. When he was young and gay he had a sweetheart.

She became his wife. He is happy now. But why and how did he get her? He advertised. Not in magazines or by joining a "Lonesome Club." But he advertised just the same. He "showed off" at picnics; did stunts of physical skill where she could see. His trousers were always pressed when he went a-courting. His tie was of the latest hue and pattern. He talked of big, brave things in her presence. He told her of the little home they would acquire, and how it could be done on his salary. By this time she answered "Yes" she knew who he was, where he was, and what he was worth financially and morally. By his "advertising," her attention was directed to him, she knew all about him, and she was convinced of his value. She simply "answered his ad." Both are happy now, and both have profited by the transaction. He simply "let her know what he had to offer." Advertising is simply letting the world know what YOU have to offer. Newspaper advertising is the best way to do that. Advertising in the home newspaper is the best particular way of doing it.

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS

(By West Texas C. of C.)

Lockney—Work on the gas distribution lines over Lockney and Floydada will be underway here soon. It is expected that gas will be ready for use by fall.

Shamrock—An expenditure of $16,000 for improvements in the Shamrock yards has been authorized by officials of the Rock Island Railroad. Included in the improvement program will be three additional spur tracks, two north of the depot and one south.

Rule—Contract for the bridge over the Double Mountain Fork of the Brazos west of here has been awarded. The contract price was given as $13,727.

San Antonio—Traffic experts of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce have completed an analysis of the recent decision handed down by the Interstate Commerce Commission with reference to what is known as the Common Point Freight Case after six weeks of intensive study. U. S. Pawkett, traffic manager, states that the sum-total of West Texas freight charges on traffic to and from the Southwest will be very considerably reduced under the new rates, and that distributions of the reductions spreads out over practically the entire territory, excepting for more or less considerable increases that are made to and from points in Arkansas and Louisiana. The new order is to become effective December 5 next.

San Saba—San Saba's new hostelry, Hotel San Saba, will be erected at a cost of $96,000 and will contain 35 rooms. The building as suggested would have space on the first floor for a drug store, barber shop, and a telegraph station.

Lamesa—Approximately 400 acres of the Weaver Ranch, west of Lamesa, is being planted in sunflower seed, the Mammoth Russian variety being sown. The average yield expected is about a ton to the acre, and during the last ten years, the average price per ton for this seed has been $90. It is thought a new industry will receive impetus from the Weaver Ranch project.

Fort Worth—An All-Texas exhibit to be a part of the Dairying-in-Dixie Exhibit of the South, will be collected and sent to Memphis, Tennessee, in October for the fall session of the National Dairy Show which will be held south of the Mason and Dixon line this year for the first time in history. The exhibit will be sent through cooperation of the East, West, and South Texas Chamber of Commerce. B. M. Whitaker, Exhibit-Agricultural Manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce who arranged the prize-winning Sesqui-Centennial exhibit last year, will arrange the All-Texas display, working in conjunction with J. E. Stanford, exhibit-manager of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, and with other members of the special Texas committee.

Petersburg—Contract has been let and work is underway on a light and power plant for this place. A Throckmorton contractor has charge of the work.

Big Spring—Farmers of Howard county are milking more cows, feeding more chickens, and hoeing more gardens than at any previous time. Neither the acreage usually sown in cotton nor that of feed is as large in this section for 1927 as it was for 1926, due to the lateness of rains.

Farm Bureau Refund Checks On First Year's Reserve Fund to Members

The past week the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association has distributed or mailed to shipping members of Coleman County of the Association during the first year of the first marketing contract period, refund checks on the reserve fund deductions made at that time. These checks will total $88,712.25, paid to members over the state. This announcement was made by D. A. Cameron, Field Supervisor. In making this announcement Mr. Cameron stated: "The plan of refunding the first year's reserve fund deductions at this time is in line with directions from the Association's Board of Directors which at this time provide for the return each year of deductions made the corresponding year of the first contract."

A meeting was held at the Court-house in Coleman on July 6th for the purpose of distributing Farm Bureau checks to those who signed a contract and shipped their cotton to the Association in 1921. Those who were present received their checks at that time.

HOME, DAD AND THE BOY

By FRANK H. CHELEY

Are You "Dad" or the "Old Man"?

THOUGHTFUL Fathers Do Not compel the respect of their boys, but rather strive to be enthusiastically worthy of it. Consequently, it never occurs to such sons ever to think of their fathers as "the old man" or "the old boy."

Dads Win, because they are convinced vital character is as contagious as the measles and never lose an opportunity to "expose" the boys and themselves to it, and—

Because They Do Not Blame the Boys for every occasional falling in love with the girls. They did it themselves, and are convinced that comradeship with the right sort of girls is the greatest tonic in the world for right living, and—

Because They Believe that boys must actually both earn and spend money in order to learn practical thrift and so take pains to provide them with ample opportunity for both, not forgetting to have them give, too, and—

Because They Understand perfectly that a broken will is a greater misfortune than a crippled body to a boy; while a directed will is the greatest of boy possessions.

Blackwell Oil and Gas Company Buys Entire Interest (By Howard Barman, Oil Editor, of Tulsa, Oklahoma Paper)

Gladys Belle Oil company of Tulsa has sold its entire interest in an 80-acre tract in Seminole county to the Blackwell Oil and Gas company of Blackwell, Okla., for between $1,250,000 and $1,500,000 in oil and cash.

The 80-acre tract lease is the east half of the southeast quarter of section 35-8-6, and diagonally offsets to the northwest the tract on which the Indian Territory Illuminating Oil Co., two weeks ago drilled in the No. 1 House, and which established a record for 24-hour production in Seminole July 2, when it flowed 13,541 barrels. The gusher is in the NW corner of section 1-7-6.

Cash and Oil
An official of the Gladys Belle company told the Daily Democrat he could not reveal the exact price paid, saying that the purchaser had asked that the consideration not be revealed at this time. Inasmuch as one daily newspaper published an estimate of the price, he volunteered the information that the price was between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000, but closer to $1,500,000.

Asked if the consideration was all cash or part cash and part oil, he said, it was "lots of cash and lots of oil."
Okmulgee-oil men today said when told of the sale, that the price must be around $1,400,000, with about $600,000 of the total in cash and $850,000 in oil.

The news of the lease sale is cheering to stockholders of the Gladys Belle Oil company everywhere and in Okmulgee, where many live. The company has had its difficulties, and the stock has been depressed for a long time.

Stock Is Depressed
The stock is bringing between 12 1/2 and 15 cts a share, it was said at a brokerage office this morning. The stock is not listed and it has been handled locally on a hand to hand basis.

An upturn in the price of Gladys Belle stock is looked for in the next day or two.

The company was incorporated in Delaware in 1919, as a producer and natural gasoline manufacturer. Ten million dollars worth of stock was authorized, and a large part of it was issued, it was said. The company has leases in Oklahoma, Louisiana, Kansas, Texas, Arkansas and Montana.

Make Adventure Safe

Those who can not swim are not always those who get drowned. Near Fallon, Nevada, a young man found the water too chilly, but he kept on, crumpled and went down before aid could reach him.

"What a tragedy is drowning! No swimming depth of water is absolutely safe; no one is too expert a swimmer to get immune to drowning. But no adventure is without its hazards. Attention should be directed rather toward making adventure as safe as possible than toward discouraging adventure. The adventurer, too, must use good judgment in undertaking the risks involved. It is not too strained a philosophy to proceed on the theory that nothing is entirely safe, so be careful. Foolhardiness is not bravery, nor is undue risk pure adventure."

HOME, DAD AND THE BOY

By FRANK H. CHELEY

The Trained Dad

HE IS the man who has made it his business to study the Dad-business. His slogan is: "It pays to know." He is a student of his problem. He recognizes that the more one knows about boy-nature, the less physical punishment one needs to use. He realizes that parenthood is a profession, perhaps the noblest profession, in fact a life-calling, a fine art based upon genuine science, and seeks constantly to be increasingly skillful. He knows that each boy is just a collection of twenty thousand wiggles, each wiggle with a meaning, and trains himself to understand the language. He believes the boy without a "playground" will become the man without a job, and that to do too much for a boy guarantees that he will do nothing for himself. He is determined to master the Job of Being a Dad and uses every legitimate means.

Are You "Naturalized?"

Taking out papers and being admitted to legal citizenship is one form of becoming a full-fledged citizen. Sometimes we are inclined to look upon these foreigners with a feeling that no amount of ceremony can make one a patriotic citizen. But history shows that countless numbers become loyal adherents to our institutions. Achievements in literature, science, art and finance are not limited to the native born. Furthermore, what English the naturalized citizen learns is the pure tongue—at least until it is contaminated with slang. What fragments of civics and government he learns are academic but theoretical. In other words, at the start he is pretty near Americanized.

By ancestry we are all foreigners. It is what these citizens by adoption do after they have entered into active citizenship that makes them either Americans or hyphenated foreigners. But a native born is not by the fact of birth any more immune from obedience to law and from doing his part in the upbuilding of the community or country. Rather is his burden the setting of a proper example to the artificially born citizen; for the latter are human and certainly will "do as Rome does" when Rome does it.

The fact is that no one is actually born a citizen of any country in the true sense of the word any more, than he is born with education or with the skill in workmanship which he may acquire later. Man is not born with manners nor with respect for law. To the babe, the world is his, even the moon, and apparently nothing else will do. He has no respect for property rights or the niceties of etiquette. He is strictly a "foreigner" to everything but his own wants.

Man must acquire the art of good citizenship the same as he must acquire education, morals or religion. Living in the United States, making one's living in the United States and enjoying its protection does not of itself make one a good citizen. And the same applies to one's own home town or community; because it is localized effort that reaches individual needs and demands individual patronage.

A citizen is as a citizen does, whether he was born in Spain or Oshkosh. Citizenship is a school without a campus, a profession without a diploma, a business without reward in money, but with a great compensating value in helping to make a better nation and a happier community.

Methodist Missionary Society

The Methodist Missionary Society met Monday afternoon at the Methodist church. The devotional exercises were led by the president, Mrs. W. T. Verner. The lesson was taken from XXXVI chapter of Isaiah, and comments on different parts of chapter were made by members. Then a business session was held and plans made to have the new sleeping porch painted.

$350,000 HATCHING CHICKS

(By F. W. Kazmeier, Bryan, Texas)

Many people still think the poultry business is only a pin money proposition. They think you may be able to make a couple of hundred dollars in the chicken business, but that the best, it is a "small potato business." For these reasons I have selected the above heading. Mr. D. T. Farrow of Illinois, in 11 years, has made over $350,000.00 hatching chicks. The story goes that 12 years ago, he stood on the streets of his city jobless, then he made an unsuccessful attempt in another business. It was actually only seven years ago he started out in the business hatching chicks.

He has mammoth incubators holding 1,034,000 eggs at one setting. Each year he hatched a total of about 7,000,000 eggs. He has 65 people on the job from January until July. He ships more than 4,800,000 chicks each year. As many as 40,000 chicks have been hatched in one day and as many as 270,000 in one week. The yearly turn over in sales exceeds a half million dollars. At times during the season he has received as many as 625 orders, totaling over $10,000.00. He has had to return as high as 150 orders—aday because he had more business than he could handle. More than a quarter million chicks are sold over the counter, in the hatching building each year. To obtain the necessary eggs, more than 1000 carefully selected farm flocks, ranging in size from 75 to 1000 hens, making a total of 200,000 breeders, are required.

Just what does such an enterprise mean to a community? The breeders in the community eat 60,000 tons of feed each year. Over $300,000.00 is invested in poultry houses on the farms, where the breeders are kept. The local feedman, lumberman, banker and hardware dealer, in fact everybody comes under the influence of this chick hatching business.

Do you think the people in that community are shouting over-production? In Texas and Oklahoma, I have known of many cases, where when somebody would put in a 12000 egg incubator, his neighbors would begin whispering to each other, and extend sympathy to his wife, because surely soon she must be in dire want of food and clothes.

Do these facts sound like pin money? Still in every community I find people more or less displeased with their surroundings. They claim the opportunities are few are far between. The actual fact, is there are just as many opportunities today as in any other age, but most people are afraid to venture and they don't recognize the opportunities when they present themselves.

The Hatchery and the Community. We are quoting from the Poultry Dealer as follows:—

"Mondays and Tuesdays of the hatching season are mighty busy days in the little town of Zeeland, Michigan, whose population is less than 2,500 but boasts of 45 hatcheries. Willard L. Claver, the genial postmaster, was interviewed by the Field Reporter and very kindly furnished some very interesting data. Zeeland is a first class postoffice, all due to the shipment of baby chicks.

Up to June 1st about 5 million chicks were shipped, a gain of 10 per cent over the corresponding period in 1926. During March, April and May a car load of chicks is dispatched every Monday and Tuesday. These cars are of the standard sixty foot mail car type, and each is loaded with 86,000 chicks. During the balance of the week individual shipments are constantly going out.

Oh you calamity howlers, where are you? Do such facts make any impression at all?

At Silver Lake, Indiana, a railroad engineer got tired of his job and after getting a little experience he launches out in the "hatching chicks" business. He started with 2 hens in 1919 and today he hatches each year over one million chicks, and he is still each year increasing his capacity. In the State of Indiana there are over 200 other hatcheries, all doing a great business.

In every community right today are wonderful opportunities. Young man, they are knocking at your door. In every community there is a great need for one or more public incubators of great capacities. In every community there is a need for several dozen poultry breeding farms. Your town needs a large number of commercial egg farms, yes, real egg factories. Some towns make special efforts, to secure the locations for more larger factories. Why not go after a few real egg factories, so that fresh fertile eggs can be shipped out in car load lots.

Here again we better make a statement to side-track the calamity howlers by bringing out the fact, that right now Texas and Oklahoma are importing eggs from the North and are shipped thru Texas into Mexico, Cuba and South America. What a wonderful market we have. What opportunities for our young people, if only you are willing to work. You do not have to leave your community, your community offers as many opportunities as any other.

Philippine Administration

A change in Philippine administration has been discussed. A central bureau, in stricter nature of civil government as distinct from military control by army and navy, appears to be the goal sought.

Those who believe in continued attachment to the Philippines can not seriously object to such a plan; while many who advocate freedom for the island possessions see in the proposal a letting up of rigorous control of the United States in the far Pacific. But whether the people of the Islands know it or not, the protection afforded since the Spanish war has been of considerable value to them. It has at least made them strive for independence, and they have not been able to satisfy Washington that they would have been better off by freedom.

In some foreign circles it has been charged that the hold of the United States on the Philippines for the past quarter of a century has been as much to gain Pacific advantage for itself as it has been to lift a backward and otherwise defenseless people into a position of self-government and independence. The Filipinos themselves have maintained that domination has not been worth the price of protection. Philippine administration is a national problem—almost a world problem. Whatever steps are taken should come after mature deliberation. Let us have confidence that no mistakes will be made.

Many persons will sigh for the good old days and then make a terrible fuss if the paper is a few minutes late.

TEXAS AND TEXANS
(By Will H. Mayes)

Expensive Politics

The Texas "Good Will" trip was intended originally as a boost to Texas. Those who planned the visit to the Eastern and Northern cities thought to create much favorable publicity for the State with capitalists seeking opportunity for investment. Capital is timid and failed to meet the Texans in the various cities visited, at least in any great numbers, but the politicians were waiting at every station to greet them, and monopolized the time of the visitors. Capitalists stayed in their factories and invited the Texans to come and see what great plants they had, and instead of allowing the Texans to talk Texas they used most of the time "showing off" their plants. When Moody started with the party he had been mentioned as a candidate for the Senate; when he reached St. Louis the politicians talked of him as a candidate for vice president, after getting to New York he was boosted for president. The trip cost the Texans who went along about $40,000; politics made its worth to the State negligible.

Moody Not to Blame

Moody couldn't help it that the purpose of his visit was misconstrued. The politicians along the route, assisted by political correspondents, did it. The newspapers "played up" Moody and "played down" Texas. They conceived the trip as political and would listen to nothing else. Besides, they doubtless reasoned, "Why show up Texas in a favorable light to capital when we need capital at home?" Especially, "Why do it when we have such a fine opportunity to talk about Texas' favorite son?" As a pleasure trip it appears to have been a success, though a bit tiresome even to Moody, young and vigorous. As a political trip, results are yet to be seen. As a business trip, it was far from all that its promoters hoped and planned. The politicians spoiled it.

Large Springs of Texas

Texas has resources about which few Texans know. The United States Geological Survey announces that, of the 65 springs of the first magnitude in this country, Texas has four. These are Comal Springs near New Braunfels, the Good-enough Springs near Comstock, the San Marcos near San Marcos, and the San Felipe Springs near Del Rio. The San Antonio Springs nearly come within the first class. A spring of the first magnitude has an average discharge of 65,000,000 gallons a day, or enough to supply the needs of a city of a half million people. How many readers of this article knew that Texas had all these great water resources? Let's get to know more about Texas.

Textbook Cost Low

The textbooks for which the State pays, cost for the last scholastic session about 99 cents a pupil according to a report from the educational department, but what about the books that students are required by the schools to use, but that are not included in the free book list? I have no figures, but my guess is that the cost of books to students in the public schools, over those supplied by the State, is far in excess of the cost before the free textbook law went into effect. Every parent with whom I have talked on the subject is of the opinion that far too many school books are bought, hurriedly scanned, and laid aside, that the schools do not have much consideration for the purses of the people requiring the purchase of supplementary books. And the higher the school, the greater the burden in the buying of needless texts.

Frederickburg

Did you know that Frederickburg granite, from Bear Mountain, won first prize at the Sesquicentennial exposition at Philadelphia? The prize-winning granite was taken to Philadelphia by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and is now on exhibition at the offices of the chamber of Stamford. It is a fine-grained rock and takes a beautiful polish. We had come to think of Llano and Burnet counties as the sources of granite supplies in Texas, but these counties may have to look to their laurels.

Lockhart After Industries

Lockhart has a committee at work to secure a cotton mill at that place and another to get a creamery. Both cotton and cream productions are needed industries in Texas—in practically every town in Texas—and it is difficult to say which is most needed or is most helpful. Cotton has a market whether it is produced near or far from a cotton mill. The market for milk and cream must be close to the place of production. The cotton mill requires greater capital and employs more labor, but the creamery encourages and makes profitable a kind of farming that can not be carried on at remote distances, and thus directly employs large numbers of people in its immediate locality.

Texas Wool and Mohair

Two thousand wool and mohair growers around Kerrville have sold their spring clips of 3,573,316 pounds at $1,503,242.57 net, according to reports from the commission companies. The profits from small flocks of sheep are shown in a statement that one grower near Kerrville, who owns a two-section ranch, of which 145 acres is in cultivation, cleared last year over $8,000 on a flock of 481 sheep. If the small flock can be made to pay nearly $7.00 a head at Kerrville, why not elsewhere in Texas.

Texas Is Cool

Texas are inclined to complain of the heat. If there has been a sunstroke in Texas this year the papers have said nothing about it. In Chicago 34 persons have died from heat, and in Ohio more than a score, while St. Louis and other cities report heat fatalities. The thermometer may register high in Texas, but death strokes from heat register low.

Highway Cost

The Texas Highway Commission has bought a car for $5,595 to be used on its inspection tours, trading in four old cars at $1,402 and paying $4,193 cash. Permit the statement that to the average taxpayer this looks like a high way to inspect roads.

Bergdoll, widely advertised draft evader, who wants to fly from Germany to this country, would doubtless succeed if given the chance, in view of his record for flight from the United States.

According to the Americans who were there, Captain Lindbergh did not make a single mistake while in Paris. Nor did he make any while he was enroute to Paris.

Friendly Communities

Communities that do not have large signs welcoming strangers within their gates are usually looked upon as out of date, but it takes more than signs to make a community friendly.

The automobile tourists have frequently been misled by signs. They have gone into communities with the expectation of finding a hearty welcome and a willingness on the part of everyone to make their stay pleasant. They obtained that idea from the signs, but their actual experience was that the people were as cold as icebergs.

Even more beneficial to a community than a well fitted tourist camp, is a friendly spirit on the part of the people towards strangers passing through while on an automobile trip.

A modern tourist camp is essential if the average community wishes to attract any tourists—and visitors of this class are fast growing in number—but the thing that lingers longest in the memory of a tourist is the kindly reception from the people with whom he came in contact.

A tourist recently informed us that the incident that he remembers best about a long motor trip he took, was the courtesy of a policeman in one city through which he passed. The policeman recognized him as a stranger and piloted him through the city so that he could avoid the heavy traffic and a torn-up street and thus escaping vexing delay.

But the responsibility can't all be placed on the shoulders of the officers of the law, nor upon the officials of civic organizations. It is a responsibility of citizenship and a sign of home loyalty to be courteous to strangers and give them a friendly welcome.

The touring season is here and thousands of motorists will be passing through this summer. Many of them will stop here if they get the right sort of reception. More of them will be our guests and will patronize our places of business if we show that we want to be hospitable.

There is only one way to be friendly, and that is to loosen up and act human when a stranger asks for information. If strangers are to be treated as if they were lepers, we may as well tear down the welcome signs and close up the tourist camp.

Signs extending a welcome to strangers are the most expensive things a community can have if the welcome is not manifest when the stranger gets a cold shoulder at every turn.

Praying When in Distress

Many of us pray only when we want something, forgetting that it is more blessed to give than to receive, and ignoring God except in times of dire distress.

Recently in many states communities formed themselves into union mass meetings to pray for rain. The drought had reached such stages in some sections as to be alarming, and in many towns and cities water supplies were getting at the lowest ebb. God sent the rain, the water supplies have been replenished, a general relief from the extreme hot weather has been given and crops aided to a great extent.

We have not as yet, however, seen any mention of community mass meetings expressing thanks to God for the refreshing rains and for His many other kindnesses to a rather undeserving people.

A few thanksgiving services, aside from the regular yearly day in November, would be better insurance against disaster in the future.

We will go on as before, receiving the blessing of God, but never giving thanks.

LET'S VISIT MORE

Is it possible we are losing the old neighborly spirit, for which every family in this section was once noted? Is there as much visiting and as many reunions and neighborhood get-togethers now as there used to be? Pleasant days have made us wonder if the old spirit of visiting among each other, family dinners to which the neighbors were invited, and Sunday afternoon reunions out under the trees are about to go into the discard. We certainly hope not, for the passing of these customs really means the dying out of community spirit, and a healthy community spirit is the best asset a town can have. In the city it is not necessary to be on speaking terms with your next door neighbor, but it's different here. We must cultivate the community spirit if the neighborhood is going to be the good place to live in that we all want it to be. Don't lose the old-time neighborly spirit. Plan a little reunion or Sunday dinner, group picnic—do more visiting among your neighbors and encourage them to do the same thing. It's the best way to make a community worth bragging about.

Kartoom, the largest elephant in the New York Zoo, is still growing and, it is predicted, will soon be taller than Barnum's Jumbo, the biggest elephant ever seen in America. Jumbo was 10 feet 9 inches high and Kartoom is 10 feet 4 1/2 inches. He was only four feet tall when he, as a calf, lived 20 years ago. He now weighs 7,000 pounds.

Buster Keaton Not "The General" After All

For the first time in motion picture history, a star allows another character to play the title role in his own production, in Buster Keaton's "The General," which comes to the Queen Monday and Tuesday. An iron horse of the crinoline days—"The General." In April of 1862 the famous Andrews railroad raid took place at Big Shanty, Ga., and much of the fun in Keaton's new comedy centers upon that basic incident. It was fashionable in the days when skirts were skirts and America didn't need a good five cent cigar to christen your pet locomotive with a symbolic name. So the crack railway smelter of Big Shanty was baptized "The General." Buster plays the part of the young engineer, an actual character in history, who was so attached to his iron friend and companion, "The General," that he chased a score of Union daredevils over burning bridges and torn-up tracks, even inside the Federal lines. "The General" is the costliest comedy spectacle ever made and is Keaton's first picture for United Artists. Directed by Buster himself, the comedy was produced by Joseph M. Schenck.

When Are Jobs Necessary?

A new city administration taking office in Long Beach, California, announced that it would reduce the expenses of running the city's affairs by curtailing fifty jobs and eliminating fifty jobholders.

If Long Beach can do this and still maintain proper and efficient government, any other municipality in this country either has made or can make corresponding changes for the better, depending, of course, on the number of jobs of a political nature held and the problems of government to be confronted.

There is no question but that, under any system of representative or democratic government there are too many jobs. The very nature of such a system distributes its spoils in the form of political patronage. But no better system has proved itself, and the best we can do is keep paring down the number of jobs until taxes are reduced to the point of reason, but never until service is hampered to a degree of absurdity.

Striking an efficient medium is the object of a good administration. Anything less than is necessary for order, health and good government, in the interest of sheer economy, is false economy, and is almost as bad as a surplussage due to the outgrowth of extravagance.

Producing Liquid Air

Liquid air is a transparent, limpid and intensely cold liquid, slightly blue in color, and of about the same density as water. It is prepared by subjecting air to great pressure and then cooling it by its own expansion to a temperature below the boiling point of its constituents (this point, 191 degrees centigrade, oxygen 182 degrees centigrade). Its chief use is as a refrigerant.

SAMUEL ANOINTS DAVID

LESSON TEXT—1 Samuel 16:1-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—Let no man despise thy youth, but be thou an example of the believers in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Shepherd Boy Chosen King.
JUNIOR TOPIC—God's Plan for a Boy's Life.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Why God Chose David.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Discovering Future Leaders.

I. Samuel Mourns for Saul (v. 1).
1. Why he mourned. The death of Saul was, no doubt, a personal loss to Samuel, for Saul was a commanding and lovable personality. Then, too, the ruin of so promising a career would deeply affect Samuel. Finally the humiliation to God and God's people grieved his heart.
2. Excessive mourning rebuked. The fact that God had rejected Saul should have lifted Samuel out of his grief. Excessive grief over that which God does is a reflection upon Him and should be rebuked. When sorrow becomes a hindrance to the discharge of duty, it merits rebuke.

II. Samuel Sent to Anoint David (vv. 1-3).
1. Samuel's fear (v. 2). Perhaps by this time Saul was becoming a desperate character. Samuel still knew that if Saul should hear that he was taking steps to anoint a successor to the throne, his own life would be in danger. Samuel was wise in submitting this hard situation to the Lord. God's servants are to be brave. However, even when going on errands for God we should not court danger.
2. The Lord's direction (vv. 2, 3). The Lord smoothed the way for Samuel. He showed him how to perform his duty and escape the danger. Samuel was to take a heifer and announce that he was going to offer a sacrifice unto the Lord and to call Jesse to the sacrifice. The prophet was not told all that would happen. This is usually God's way with us. He gives us our work piece by piece, and guides us step by step. Samuel's purpose was known only to himself. It was to be kept a secret so that the news would not reach Saul. "This was a shrewd device but entirely legitimate. We may conceal that which others have no right to know, especially when such a disclosure would be detrimental to the success of our mission. What Samuel said was true."

III. Samuel's Obedience (vv. 4-13).
1. The trembling elders of Bethle-hem (vv. 4, 5). Their unusual movement was an occasion for alarm. To the elders' alarming inquiry Samuel responded with the assurance of peace, inviting them to join him in worshipping the Lord.
2. Examination of Jesse's sons (vv. 6-12). The Lord had revealed to Samuel that one of Jesse's sons was to be the new king, but not the particular one.
(1) Eliab rejected (vv. 6, 7). Eliab was the eldest son and therefore he was the first presented as having first right to the place of honor. Furthermore, he was a splendid specimen of manhood, tall and majestic in appearance, so that even Samuel was captivated by him as he had been by Saul (10:24). Outward appearance is favorable, but the realities seen by God were against him. We frequently estimate men by their dress, cultural appearances, wealth and position. These are only surface manifestations and frequently lead us astray, but God looks into the heart.
(2) David chosen (vv. 8-12). All but one of Jesse's sons had been looked upon, but still the Lord's choice had not appeared. Jesse's reply to Samuel's question as to whether all his children had appeared seems to imply that David was not of much importance. At any rate he was only a boy, while his brothers were already young men. He was considered good enough to watch the sheep, but not to be called to the feast. This is ever the way of man. He overlooks the very ones whom the Lord has chosen for places of honor and influence. Because David was faithful as a shepherd boy, he was in line for promotion when God's given time arrived.
3. David anointed (v. 13). When the shepherd lad appeared, the Lord directed Samuel to anoint him. When the oil was applied the Spirit of the Lord came upon him. David was a gifted and attractive lad, but his gifts were of no avail without the Spirit of God. Only as we are anointed by the Holy Ghost can we truly do the Lord's will and work.

We Can Choose
We cannot tell what shall be on the morrow; but we can choose what we ourselves will be. We can resolve to live faithfully whatever befalls. . . . We can walk with the bright angels, and wrestle with the dark ones, and oblige the flying hours to leave a blessing behind. —N. Y. Frothingham.

That Which We Do for Christ
That which we do for ourselves is forgotten; that which we do for Christ is immortal.

A. & M. Short Course July 25-30

College Station, Texas, July 11.—Indications point to an attendance of 3,000 or more at the eighteenth annual Farmers' Short Course to be held at the A. & M. College of Texas July 25 to July 30, Charles H. Alvord, director, has announced. The attendance last year was between 2500 and 3000. This year is expected to set a new record. District agents of the Extension Service, under the auspices of which the Short Course is held, reported to Director Alvord at recent conference that inquiries regarding the coming session point to greater interest this year than ever in the numerous meetings and conferences scheduled for the five day program.

Director Alvord has urged that those who expect to attend register early in order that ample preparations may be made to accommodate everyone. Much of the advance registration is being handled through county and home demonstration agents and early notification will assist a great deal in this respect. In addition to the college dormitories for taking care of those who attend, there will be camping park facilities for those who plan to come in their cars and camp. This free camp ground is in a pleasant grove of trees at the south end of the campus. The grounds are electrically lighted and wood and water will be furnished free.

Advance information indicates that many communities will send large delegations. Special railway rates have been authorized and special trains will be operated in some instances. One of these specials will be over the Missouri Pacific Lines from East Texas. It is due to arrive here the afternoon of July 24, a day ahead of the opening of the course. Starting at Longview, this train will pick up county delegations along the route. Smith county people have advised that a large delegation, headed by Judge J. W. Fitzgerald and Henry Edwards, of Tyler, will come from that county.

The official program of the Short Course, just off the press, promises a five day period replete with varied events. Various phases of the course have been divided into groups and leaders designated to preside at these group meetings. There will be special programs for those interested in agronomy, horticulture, poultry, livestock, dairying, cotton classing, and special programs for the farm boys and girls, farm women, and others. Numerous associations will hold meetings in connection with programs of the various groups and there will be conferences of those interested in particular subjects. Among the associations that will hold meetings are the Texas Jersey Cattle Club, the Texas Bookkeepers' Association, State Association of County School Superintendents, the Texas Home Demonstration Association and others.

Conferences by the following groups are scheduled: Water conservation and utilization proponents; fruit growers and produce men of Texas; commercial poultrymen; agricultural writers and editors; Experiment Station superintendents and workers; county and home demonstration agents and other Extension workers, bankers group with representative banker from each county who is interested in agriculture and agricultural educational work.

A large number of outstanding specialists and speakers will be here for the Short Course and every waking minute of the five days will be filled with meetings, conferences, and courses of instruction. The Farmers' Short Course at the A. & M. College of Texas is recognized part of the educational program of the College. Farmers and leaders in rural work find opportunity at these sessions to get a new perspective of the agricultural situation and an opportunity to study those problems intimately connected with rural welfare. "The Short Course is primarily intended for rural citizens interested in some phase of improved farming or the improvement of the county home," said Director Alvord. "Farmers and members of their families will find a welcome awaiting them and every effort will be made to make the week both pleasant and profitable. Special invitation is extended to teachers of vocational agriculture to attend. There is no statewide meeting that will give greater opportunity for comprehensive study of rural problems."

LEAF WORM

College Station, Texas, July 8.—Here have been a great many reports of the presence of leafworms at various points in South Texas. The entomologist of the Extension Service has investigated these and finds confirmation only at one point; namely, in Nueces county, in which section considerable damage is being done. Individual leafworms have been found also in the Waco district, but not in numbers to cause concern at the present time.

It is difficult to present any forecast regarding a general leaf worm infestation because the extension of an infestation is contingent upon various factors, including weather conditions. Precipitation for the two weeks just previous to July 6th over a great portion of the state has been favorable to their spread, and we believe that if this condition continues the worms may be present in considerable numbers as far north as the Red River by the 20th of July. In case of hot, dry weather immediately ensuing, the extension of infestation may be delayed for a considerable length of time.

Enough poison appears to be stored at readily available points in or near Texas to initiate a leafworm fight, this amounting to sufficient to dust 500,000 acres once. The best estimates furnished us are to the effect that poison sufficient to dust 700,000 acres more can be moved into our territory in about a week's time. When a demand on stocks develops the factories will, no doubt, hurry up production so that farmers may expect to be reasonably well taken care of.

Dusting with calcium arsenate is the approved method of leafworm control, using, at the stage of growth that most of our cotton has attained at the present time, from three to five pounds per acre. Where dew is not experienced, spraying with the same material, using about two pounds to fifty gallons of water, will be the best method, keeping the mixture well agitated during application. As long as calcium arsenate can be obtained, we would advise against the use of Paris green, although where necessary this can be used, but in the case of dry dust the addition of at least four or five parts of hydrated lime to one part of poison should be used, and in the case of a spray at least an equal amount of the same material should be added. We advise against the use of white arsenic, mixtures of white arsenic and sal soda, or of stock dips, so long as calcium arsenate, lead arsenate, or Paris green can be obtained. Weevils are a serious menace to the cotton this season, and with promises for a fair price for cotton this fall we believe that farmers may expect a margin of profit in the use of dry calcium arsenate dust in the sections subject to dew, and if the land is capable of producing a half

Frequent Bilious Attacks
"I suffered with severe bilious attacks which came on me two or three times every month," says Mr. Ollie Miller, of Murray, Ky. "I would become dizzy. My head would ache terribly, feeling as if it would almost burst. It felt exactly like a tight band was being drawn closer and closer around my temples. My stomach would be so upset I could not retain any kind of nourishment for hours. I would have to quit work and go to bed. My color was awful. I was yellow and my skin was drawn and dry. I did not have any energy—no ambition to work. I was just about half sick most of the time because of these spells. One day one of my neighbors, who has used Theford's Black Draught for years, said he had noticed how bad my color was and thought it would help me. I got some Black Draught immediately and began to take it regularly until I got my system clear of the poison. I had been absorbing, soon began to feel better and developed a fine appetite. I had no more bad headaches or bilious spells." ©-1927 bale per acre, calcium arsenate for this purpose should be applied at intervals of about five days as long as the weevils remain abundant.

As a result of the excellent crop of corn now ripening, unusual damage from the boll worm may be expected to develop towards the end of July. Where these have attained a stage of growth that they are boring into the cotton bolls, little is to be expected in the way of control from applications of poison. Since the very small worms immediately after hatching feed upon the leaves for several days applications of poison at that time will kill considerable numbers. While it may be a question if poison can be applied with profit for the control of this insect alone, yet where it is applied at intervals for the control of boll weevil and leaf worm, a degree of control of the boll worm may be expected also, which will be proportional to the number of applications made.

As the situation develops the public may expect to be advised by future press letters emanating from the Extension Service and appearing in the columns of the press. Farmers and others interested are invited to seek information also from their local county agricultural agents or from the Extension Service at College Station.

Hydrophobia A Horrible Disease

Hydrophobia is a horrible disease, and if once developed, is practically always fatal to man or beast. The statistics of the state department of health show that 51 people died in Texas during 1926 from this malady. Statistics of the Pasteur Institute, where patients are treated for rabid animal bites, show an average of 30 to 50 patients daily during the entire year.

"The germ of rabies is in the saliva of the rabid animal, and as the dog is the only rabid animal that shows much inclination to bite when suffering from the malady, naturally it is the chief agent of the transmission of rabies. However, the germ can be transmitted by any rabid animal whose saliva gets into the blood stream of other persons or animals, through open sores, breaks in the skin or otherwise.

"If a dog bites your child, and you have no reason to think it is mad, have your physician cauterize the wound, and keep the dog locked up for observation. If the dog was suspicious in behaviour, it is best to start Pasteur treatment at once. "Beware of stray dogs."

Hot Weather Philosophy

Some people seem to go all to pieces after a little experience of hot weather. They become cross and irritable, and their physical ability is completely wilted.

While it is a mistake to plug at work as hard through a hot day as in ordinary weather, a little philosophy and common sense is a help. The typical American characteristic of haste and hurry are in-appropriate to hot weather.

Our daily program should include some regular physical exercise, and if our work does not provide it, we should take some system of exercises. The physical and nervous system of our wonderful human body is supposed, like a watch, to be adjusted to changes of heat and cold. If we keep it working efficiently, it will adapt itself to those changes here in the excellent climate of Texas without too much friction and discomfort.

Scientists claim that crops can be increased twenty percent by a system of stimulation by atmospheric electricity. It would be just about the farmer's luck to have this come along when he was trying to curtail production.

If every person living here bought his requirements from some firm which does business here, it would have more to do with the growth and progress of this little city than any other one thing.

Do you know that almost everything needed by everyone living here is sold by some firm doing business right here in Santa Anna? How will Santa Anna ever become the city we all hope for it to become, unless every citizen living here patronizes home industry?

BOY SCOUT NEWS

We think all boys should be boy scouts. We think all boy scouts should attend the Summer Camp at Leuders, July 28th to August 7th, inclusive, as the cost is only $8.00 per boy and the program will be under adult leadership directed by Scout Executive Shumway, assisted by a staff of trained adult leaders and Eagle Scouts. This is a great opportunity for the scouts to attend a real Boy Scout Camp for the 11 days with a program chock full of things the boys like to do.

There will be leatherwork, archery, Indian Ceremonies and the water front activities will be supervised by Red Cross Life Guards.

Every boy in our community should go to this camp and we think it is a great opportunity for our boys to receive this character development program. Registrations, $8.00 per boy, must be sent to Executive Shumway, Chamber of Commerce building, Abilene, Texas, immediately. Each boy will bring their own cot, blankets, mess-kit and canteen, fine tents will be provided for sleeping and experienced cooks will make the boys happy and their belts expand every time they sit themselves down to eat.

Every boy is requested to bring turkey feathers with them to use in Indian Ceremonies.

Civic Clubs from various cities will hold their regular luncheon meeting at the Scout Camp, and it is expected that the Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions and exchange Clubs of Moran and Albany, the Rotary Club of Stamford will visit the Scout Camp. The visitors Bible Class of Abilene will attend in a body. Lets go to the Scout Camp. Visitors will always be welcome. Lets go and see what is going on.—Contributed.

HOW TEXAS GROWS

Boston Herald: Do we New Englanders realize that Texas—whose governor has recently been visiting us—while universally known as the largest state in the Union, stands a good chance of becoming the most populous, too. Watch the trend. In the assignment of seats that followed the admission of Texas into the Union, and for the whole of the decade that followed, Texas had just two congressional districts, based upon population, as against thirty-four in New York. Roughly speaking, Texas was one-seventeenth as populous. By the Civil war census of 1860, Texas came to the front with four congressional districts, as against thirty-one in New York. A little more than one-eighth as populous. The next census stood five Texans to thirty-three New Yorkers, a little better than one-sixth. The decade of the eighties gave Texas eleven to New York's thirty-four, close to one-third; the next census stood thirteen Texans to thirty-four New Yorkers. Now it is eighteen Texas seats to forty-three for New York.

The disparity in area is so great as to give Texas a wonderful opportunity. It has 265,000 square miles against New York's 49,000. If Texas were one-fifth as thickly settled as New York per square mile it would have the larger population. Is that ratio impossible of achievement? The Texans say no.

Remember the good old days when you used to giggle behind your spelling book every time the teacher's beau came to visit the school?
