Class Of '54 Wills Their Abilities To Future Seniors

BY KAY STEWARD

We, the members of the Class of '54, City of Santa Anna, County of Coleman, State of Texas, being of sound mind and memory, and having reached an age where we consider ourselves as an individual do hereby make and declare this to be the last will and testament of our class. We dispose of the same as follows: We give to our faculty our regrets that their work with us was so much barren of results—we leave them but we don't leave them much. We leave to our Supt., Mr. R. K. Green, the happy and joyous memories that we have shared with each other in dear old S. A. H. S. To Mr. C. N. Perry as the Principal of our school, we leave the unfailing good humor of the entire class; we are certain that he will need this in dealing with the seniors who succeed us. To various individuals we make these important and generous personal gifts, trusting they may be duly appreciated: To the possible future senior class president, Bobbie Rehm, Jay Steward's power to preside with dignity that would do honor to a Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. To Benny Jack Garrett, Shirley Blair and Maureen Drake's ability to keep a cool head. To Lois Ann Shields, Don Pritchard's trick of looking innocent when caught in mischief. To Richard Deal, Winona Bradley's interest in the band. To Dixie James, Mary Floyd Stiles' ease in using long, high-faluting and impressive words. To Dwan Cozart, Donald Trull's knowledge of the mille relay run. To Billie Joyce Woodard, Anne Blanton's loud mouth. To Mac Williams, Burgess Stewardson's power to please the girls. To Barbara Harris, Kathryn Williams' love for spelling and writing three page themes. To Morris Straughan goes Joey Bryan's chance to become president of the United States. To Betty Clark, Pat Williams and June Little leave their ability to write requests to the Juke Box Review. To Edwin Hipsher, Evelyn Shield's temper. To Carlene Mills, Charles McClellan leaves his worn out unmentionables to take upon the mountain to use for sun bathing. To Ray Stitzer, Waymon Upchurch's attractiveness to the girls. To Shirley Simmons, Ann Tatum's ideal dream of being a rancher. To Leroy Pollock is left Patsy Ann Wagner's skill in getting high grades. To Nancy Wylie, Evelyn James wills her Krout Brogue. To Garland McSwain, Raymond Estes bequeathes his outstanding scholastic ability. To Faye Marburger, Joe Barnes leaves his ability to comprehend and publish the Mountaineer Yearbook. To Hollis Bibles goes Boyd French's snap as teacher's pet. To Patsy Bryan, Kay Steward bequeaths her desire to become an old maid. To Mr. Carl Gilkerson, Joan McClellan's deepest sympathy in putting up with the new drum major next year. To George Baucon, Joyce Smith bestows her sunny smile—it won't come off! To Bill McClellan, Clayburn James fondness for the girls. To Clara Jean Stewardson, Jo Ann Dunn wills her ability to catch a man for keeps. To Billy Wayne Lowry, Jay Steward's big feet, including the dirt under his toenails. To Clint Day, Roy Buse's reputation as the school dude. To Charlene Herring, Neva Rehm's typing speed and accuracy. To Edmond Switzer, J. E. Polard leaves all bad memories he has of the Class of '54, which isn't much. To Nobody, Nancy Jo Haynes wills nothing because she's taking it with her. To Odie Clyde Windham, Mrs. Chas. Evans' good humor at all times. (Especially during the weeks of practicing the Senior Play.) To Carl Langford, Lydia Tomme's cute dimples. To Bobby Beville, James Hoyt's habit of spending two hours a day on his speech assignment—by sitting on the book while he sleeps. To Danny Johnson, Patsy Moore's ability to "paddle her own canoe." Patsy has selected some one to paddle hers for her. To Mr. Page Mays, Dean Bass leaves his demolished desk in the English room. We declare the Class of 1955 the real and rightful owner of all equipment and furnishings of this school which have not been destroyed by our industrious labor for knowledge. Any broken pens, stubs of pencils, cast-off note books, mounds of gum we were compelled to stick hastily in out-of-sight spots to avoid faculty detection, and other mementoes, we bestow freely upon the finder. In witness thereof, we, the Class of 1954, the testators, have to this will, written on paper, set our hand and seal this 15th day of April, A. D., 1954.

Bureau Of Census Can Help Establish Proof of Citizenship
More than 5,500 residents of Texas turned to the U. S. Bureau of the Census for assistance in establishing proof of age or citizenship during 1953, according to Supervisor Francis H. Wilmer of the Bureau's district office at Dallas, Texas. Transcripts of personal census records are acceptable, in most instances, as substitutes for birth certificates or other legal evidence in establishing proof of age or citizenship. Such proof is of vital importance in qualifying for Social Security benefits, in settling estates and insurance cases, in determining eligibility for employment in defense industries, and other purposes where it is necessary to furnish evidence of identity, age or citizenship. Transcripts of personal census records can be obtained from the Census Bureau upon payment of the cost of searching the records. Federal funds are not appropriated for this service and the fees charged are used to pay the salaries of the searchers and to cover the cost of the necessary office supplies. A fee of $3.00 is charged for

SENIORS—

We are proud of you, proud of your achievements. And although you are graduating from a course of study, we want to remind you that the "Fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom". True education is not merely a course of study, but the harmonious development of the physical, mental and spiritual powers. It is that which prepares a student for a wide sphere of usefulness in this life, and for a higher, wider service in the life to come. Always remember that there is open before you a path of continual progress. Much higher than the highest human thought can reach is God's ideal for His Children. There is no limit to your usefulness in this life. The heights are yet to be reached. The world needs great men, good men, those who cannot be bought or sold, who are as true to duty as the needle to the pole, who will stand for right tho the heavens fall. So with the pleading call of humanity, we want to urge you in the words of another to "live for something, have a purpose, and that purpose keep in view."

Sincerely your friend

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON-SERMON

That spiritualization of thought and action is necessary for real progress will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul and Body." The following passage will be among those read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual, — they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite, — in order that sin and mortality may be put off" (265:5).

From the Bible will be read the following counsel given by the Apostle Paul to the Corinthians: "Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God" (I Corinthians 2:12).

The Golden Text is from II Corinthians: "What agreement hath the temple of God with idols? for ye are the temple of the living God" (6:16).

High Flying History Of Class Of 1954, S. A. H. S.

BY EVELYN SHIELDS

It came to pass in the fall of this year, nineteen hundred and fifty, a long green, dreamlined plane bearing the class of nineteen hundred and fifty-four came to land at the Airport of United Air Lines of Santa Anna High School. The passengers carried little necessary baggage: some native ability, a few brains, much conceit and more good humor. They were all given the entrance intelligence test, and it was found that 80% of the class were intelligent without being intellectual. This result was based on the fact that 80% read the comic sections of the newspapers first. The first big problem attacked by the class was trying to find their way around in the enormous school they were entering. Another big problem attacked by the class was the problem of their class colors. This problem lasted over a period of two years. Much research in class colors was carried on, which proved most discouraging. The statistics showed blue and white to be most popular, with 70 classes selecting them. The next in popularity was orange and blue, then red and white with 10 variations of the red. There didn't seem to be much left for us to choose, however, we finally decided on red, orange, and black. Look at these through dark glasses and you will know why we changed to pink and silver grey.

The second and third steps were taken almost together. These were the selecting of the flower and song. The class chose the sweet pea as the flower and "The End of a Perfect Day" as the song.

The high spots, or the outstanding features of our Freshman year were Mrs. Charles Evans and Mr. T. K. Martin, sponsors. Another highlight was the initiation of the Freshmen. We were rather comical to be seen with reversed clothes and barefooted.

After the ups and downs of the Freshman Year, we were transferred the next year to a larger plane known as the Sophomore, which was better equipped for rougher travel. The passenger list changed somewhat. Few left the class but others came along to fill their vacancy. Ola Taylor and Nelda Steward left to become homemakers. Many achievements were made. Mrs. Charles Evans and Mr. Dow McBride were our wonderful sponsors. Kay Steward was the high point student. Joan McClellan and Shirley Blair represented the class at the Interscholastic League Meet in spelling and number sense, respectively.

Nineteen hundred and fifty-two came all too soon and found us aboard the Junior Plane. David Pinkerton, Donnie Oakes, Mary Jane Turner and Evelyn Oakes James left the class to get more liberal education elsewhere. An award was given to Joey Bryan for having the most grade points of the Junior Class. Evelyn Shields received the history award, Joey Bryan the Science award, Patsy Wagner, Evelyn Shields and Boyd French represented the class in Interscholastic League District Meet. Patsy Wagner represented us in Interscholastic League Regional Meet, along with Boyd French.

The most enjoyable high spots of this year were the class parties and above all, the Junior-Senior Banquet. With the aid of Mrs. Charles Evans, Mr. Dub Behrens, and Mr. J. E. Pollard, our sponsors, we prepared what we consider one of the best banquets possible.

Through intense study we learned many things, first, that it does not pay to fly to too great heights; second, that an airplane is a great convenience, but we mustn't run it into the ground; third, that education is a wonderful thing.

Finally, we found ourselves flying the Senior Plane. This, our most successful year, has ended in several engagements for football, basketball, and track, in which we have had participants each year. During this last year of flying hours, our plane has gone to higher altitudes, the way has often been rough and bumpy, but the view of the skyline below has been glorious and majestic. As we flew up above the clouds, we learned to appreciate the skill of the Pilots who taught us and the companionship of the class members. Many records have been made. Students of the senior class have participated in Interscholastic League events, basketball, baseball, softball and volley ball. Track was one of their main entrances. They have received awards for the fine work done during the year. Kay Steward was the class valedictorian and Patsy Wagner was the class salutatorian. Each one of the class has passed the requirements and is ready to make a solo flight and to take off for parts unknown.

Against the sky in silhouette Events come one by one, Dear memories we can't forget In other years to come.

Job Openings In U. S. Internal Revenue Service Announced

U. S. Civil Service examinations for Internal Revenue agents and accountant are again open in this area, it was announced today by officials of the two agencies. In the Dallas Internal Revenue district there are 56 openings.

Two Civil Service grades and starting salaries are represented in the positions available. In the grade of GS-5 with an entrance salary of $3,410 per year, requirements are three years of progressively responsible experience in commercial accounting or a college degree in the subject. Applications and full information may be obtained at post offices, offices of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, and of the Internal Revenue Service. The examinations for the vacancies in this category will close June 21.

Examinations for Grade 7 special agents at a starting salary of $4,205 per year also are open and involve somewhat higher qualifications for eligibility to apply. Accountants entering at the GS-5 grade will be potential candidates for promotion to the GS-7 posts and will be given special training which, when successfully completed, will place them on a promotion list.

Written examinations will be required and a grade of 70 on the basis of a possible 100 is requisite. In the accountant groups age limits are 18 to 35 years except for veterans who are not bound by the cut-off age limit.

Applicants must be qualified residents of Texas to obtain certification unless an insufficient number of eligibles is obtained by announcement of the examinations.

AUSTIN — "Evidence of fraudulent and corrupt abuse of our insurance laws, and gross if not criminal laxness in their enforcement" was cited by Associate Justice Robert G. Hughes of the Court of Civil Appeals in Austin.

Being considered was a case involving the Texas Mutual Insurance Company of Beaumont. Garland A. Smith, chairman of the Board of Insurance Commissioners, agreed with Hughes' opinion that the company had been improperly organized. He said that the commission had changed its rules covering the appraisal of real estate for assessments, as a result of the case.

Smith stated that "under our laws, a company can be solvent today and broke three months later." He pointed out that his commission has 28 examiners and that there are some 1,884 companies to examine every two years. "We aren't physically able to do it," Smith said.

He pointed out that Texas insurance laws are generally sound but that "A few termites are going through a few loopholes." Smith repeated his recent statement that the board will insist on corrections in the insurance laws by the next Legislature.

Office Padlocked
Ralph W. Hammonds, attorney-in-fact for Lloyd's of North America insurance company, protested in 98th District Court here that he is "defenseless" because his Houston office has been padlocked.

Attorney General John Ben Shepperd charged that the company was established by fraudulent means and is now insolvent, having a $427,000 deficit. The attorney general seeks a receivership to protect the policyholders.

Padlocking of the Houston office was by court order.

New Officials
Mark Wentz of Big Spring took office as state fire insurance commissioner, succeeding the late Paul H. Brown.

H. C. Pittman of Waco was sworn in as a member of the Industrial Accident Board. He succeeds Robert L. Hill who resigned.

Political Pot Percolates
Things will boom in June on the political front. Candidates are busy now getting their houses in order for the campaigns. What looked to be rather a dull campaign season now promises to be rather a lively affair.

Governor Allan Shivers, seeking a third elective term, spent a few days in Austin, between a vacation in Alabama and a trip to Korea. He plans to leave the Korean party early, to be in St. Louis May 31 for an address at the Southern Baptist Convention. Shivers' main opponent, Ralph Yarborough of Austin, also was actively setting the stage for his race.

Yarborough has appointed Bob Sawtelle of San Antonio as his campaign manager. Sawtelle is son-in-law of the late State Senator Woodville Rogers.

Road Problem
Representatives of state, local, and private highway interests form a special committee assigned by Governor Allan Shivers to the job of working out a road program that will be presented to the next Legislature.

Texas Good Roads Association, which has a member on the committee, is in favor of a one-cent increase in the gasoline tax to provide money for growing highway needs.

This question is expected to be a major one when the Legislature meets.

More Patrolmen
Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, says he will ask the next Legislature for more highway patrolmen.

Four hundred seventy men now are on the job, says Garrison, and 200 more are needed to cut down rural traffic fatalities.

Abolish Orphans' Home?
A proposal, made by the Texas Research League, to abolish the state orphans home at Corsicana was being considered by the State Board for Hospitals and Special Schools.

Almost immediately following announcement of the plan, inquiries from Texans seeking to adopt children from the home began to arrive. Alvin H. Burger, executive director of the Texas Research League, said that was a "totally unexpected response." The league feels the children should be placed in foster family homes, rather than kept in an institution.

Corsicana and Navarro County officials objected strenuously to the proposal. The home has been in operation since 1889.

Also before the Board was a plan to set up a new state mental hospital in Southeast Texas. Another project before the Board is a new dormitory for the Texas School of the Deaf in Austin. Now being used as a dormitory is a building so dilapidated that it was declared no longer fit for habitation.

College Usefulness
Junior Colleges can expand their services to their communities, according to Dr. J. W. Reynolds, University of Texas professor in junior college education.

At a conference here, the professor suggested that the junior colleges should be more sensitive to the needs of the areas where they are located.

Plan To Retire
Plan now for your retirement income, is the counsel of James B. Marley, social security official here.

One American in 12 is now over 65 years old, and the proportion of aged people to total population continues to grow, Marley said, adding that social security is not intended to provide a full retirement income.

Officer Dies
R. A. Wahl, who was with the state selective service system since 1941, died here at the age of 64. At the time of his death, he was the system's state procurement and fiscal officer.

Wheat Estimate
Texas' winter wheat crop was estimated by the U. S. Department of Agriculture at 23,418,000 bushels, an increase over the estimate made April 1.

An official of the USDA here said the increase reflected moisture conditions.

Laughlin's Appeal
Lawyers for ousted Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin, appealing his case to the U. S. Supreme Court, attacked the authority of the Texas Supreme Court under the state constitution to remove a district judge.

Legal counsel for Laughlin contends that the state constitutional provision violates the Fourteenth Amendment, or due process clause, of the federal constitution.

Ridiculous, He Says
"Ridiculous as Romeo's running against Juliet" — that's what Attorney General John Ben Shepperd thinks of C. Woodrow Laughlin running against George Parr for judge of the 79th district, which includes Duval County.

Archer Parr, sheriff of Duval and George Parr's nephew, is running for the state legislature.

Peru For You
Wick Fowler, secretary to Governor Allan Shivers, and longtime newspaperman, does his best to keep things from getting dull for people waiting to see the Governor.

Wick sent a waiting group into much laughter a few days ago when talking on the telephone to someone who wanted an official "letter" to take along on a trip out of the states. Such letters, written on the governor's stationery, are addressed to "To Whom It May Concern," states that the traveler is a good Texan and that any courtesies extended him in the foreign country will be appreciated." The official gubernatorial seal with red ribbons is affixed at the bottom.

After listing to the request of the caller in question, Wick asked, "Where did you say you were going — Nicaragua? Heck, you can't go there. You'll have to go to Peru — I can't spell Nicaragua."

Wick pulled a "Fowlerism" on Ed Gossett of Dallas recently that's been good for several repetitions in the Capital City. Ed, a former Texas Congressman, now is general attorney for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in Texas.

Wick told him to pass the word on to the telephone folks in Dallas that a small West Texas town had something new in phone service. While Gossett picked up his ears, Fowler explained that he picked up a phone and a woman's voice asked for the number. "I told her and presto—she got me my party. I didn't have to dial or anything like that."

Another Texan who is going places in defense circles is 31-year-old General O. P. Weyland, now in charge of Tactical Air Command at Langley Air Force Base, Virginia. A graduate of Texas A & M, Weyland became a 4-star General while commanding the Far East Air Force — a position he held throughout the Korean war. He was honored on Capitol Hill last week at a Texas delegation luncheon. In Air Force circles, Weyland is rated high among the leaders of the present and future.

The "Write" Prescription

Noticed three half-finished letters lying on the counter down at Jones' Drug Store last week. "Writing three at once, Doc?" I asked.

"No," Doc said, "you are—you and the rest of the town. Those are for the boys from our town who are at the National Guard encampment."

"Everyone who comes in adds a line or two, and when a couple of pages are filled, I mail them. That way the boys hear from folks who might not write otherwise. They sure do enjoy it."

400 Against One

Lesson for May 23, 1954

EVERYTHING was set for the great offensive. The cause of the war was beyond criticism, as those days went. The enemy controls one of our cities, and we are to get it, back. Armies and nations have argued like that since the beginning of history. It looked to the two kings, Jehoshaphat and Ahab, on the eve of their military adventure in Bashan-Gilead. That was the name of a city which had been in Israel's hands generations before this and now for some time had been under the domination of the aggressive and land-hungry country of Syria. Jehoshaphat, King of Judah, had been a strong and wise king as kings went in Judah; and Dr. Foreman says Ahab, bad as his reputation is in history, had been a rather strong king of Israel. These two, standing against Syria—how could they lose?

Yes-Men

Ahab was never bothered by a conscience, but Jehoshaphat had misgivings. He sincerely wanted to know how God thought of all this. He felt in his heart that if God did not approve, the whole venture was sure to fail. So he asked his royal colleague Ahab to find out what was the word of the Lord about all this. This was Jehoshaphat's first mistake, for Ahab was the fast man to know, or to want to know, the will of God. However, Ahab, being up-to-date and very rich besides, had a stable of yes-men whom he called prophets, men he hired, men who knew on which side their bread was buttered. It seems ridiculous to call such men prophets, but false prophets look and sound very much like true ones—especially when they tell us what we want to hear! So Ahab called a meeting of these yes-men and asked them the question: Shall I go to battle? Their answer was prompt, it was just what the king wanted to hear, as they well knew. What is God's will? Go, by all means. What will come of it, how will the battle go? The Lord will give it into King Ahab's hands. Two lies; perhaps the prophets knew it, perhaps not. Perhaps they did not care whether it was true or not; all they knew was what they were paid to say, and they said it. "Whom the gods destroy, they first make mad," says an ancient Roman proverb. We could revise that and not be far wrong: Whom God wishes to destroy, he first surrounds with yes-men.

Truth No Matter What

Jehoshaphat was still nervous. Unanimous opinion about a debatable question is suspicious in any language. So he asked if the king had any more prophets. Well, yes, there was one—a man named Micaiah—only you will never hear anything good from him, said Ahab. However, Micaiah was sent for, and in his coming aid in what he said he put his name on the honor roll of history. Micaiah had everything against him; the vote in the Prophets' Association was 400 to 1; the king would not believe him, the war would start, and would fail, anyhow; and furthermore Micaiah himself would never be thanked for telling the truth and might end his days eating bread and water in jail. Nevertheless, Micaiah, being a true prophet, knew what the truth was, knew God's will and mind, and dared to speak it out. The world needs Micaiahs. We have any number of men who will tell the truth when it is popular, when people will believe them, when it "gets them" something.

This story shows, moreover, what a mistake it is to decide what is right and what is wrong by counting votes. Even if the vote is 400 to 1, the one man may be right. Even if Micaiah were silenced (as he was) and his "sour note"—as Ahab thought it—no longer disturbed that beautiful harmony of the 400 yes-men, they still could not make a lie true by agreeing on it. In a democratic country like ours we tend to forget this. We decide so many things by popular vote, that we come to suppose we can settle what is right and what is wrong, by popular vote. We read in a book that a great majority of people interviewed by the author do what we have always known was wrong. Mrs. Frances Adams and Miss Ruby Valentine came from Austin Saturday and brought their sister, Mrs. A. R. Brown, home from a stay since early January, with them. Mrs. Brown's health is much improved and she says

Class Of 1954 Prophecy

BY RAYMOND-ESTES (Editor's note: Following is the prophecy of the class of 1954 as predicted by Raymond Estes, in a letter to his parents, dated April 15, 1964.)

New York City, N. Y. April 15, 1964

Dear Mom and Dad, Twelve o'clock at night is a peculiar time to write a letter, but as I sit here in my art studio, thumping through the 1954 edition of the Mountaineer Yearbook, it starts me to thinking about my former classmates. I wonder if I have ever told you the latest news I have concerning them?

The other night I attended the opera, and guess who the featured ballet dancer is? Winona Bradley!! Afterwards, I went back stage and we talked over old times.

Roy Buse is one of the elevator boys in the Empire State Building. (He's going up.)

Say, have you heard that hit tune, "I've Got Tears In My Ears From Lying On My Back In Bed Crying Over You," by Joe Barnes? I guess by now it is playing on the Juke Box Review. I hear that Patsy Wagner is reading request for that program now.

I got a letter from "Bird" the other day, he is teaching fleas how to scratch. He said that the last he had heard of Anne Blanton was that she was still telling Knock Knock jokes.

Patsy Moore is writing a book on "How To Catch a Man." Pat Williams is painting totem poles while Kathryn Williams models for her. Kay Steward is the President of the Gay Blades, an Old Maids Society in Chicago. Don Pritchard is the chief at the fish market on River Street, San Diego, California. Mary Floyd Stiles sold her Model A the other day and bought her a husband on the installment plan. Dean Bass goes around checking light bulbs in Santa Anna all the time. They say that the poor boy is mentally unbalanced. Nancy Jo Haynes is growing olives to be used in potato salad. Neva Rehm is a bubble dancer in one of the leading night clubs here in New York. I was there the other night and every time she went by, Clayburn James threw pins at the balloons.

Joey Bryan is training elephants at the Barnum-Bailey Circus. They say that people are always feeding him peanuts instead of the elephants. Jo Ann Dunn is the leading lady in MacBeth, (a new Broadway play). You ought to see her beard. Maureen Drake is the editor of "Shocking Romances". I always knew she had some hidden talent. Joan McClellan is a train conductor for the Atchinson-Topeka and the Santa Fe. They say that every time she goes through Santa Anna she blows her whistle just as loud as she can and Mrs. Evans comes down to the tracks and she has to blow the whistle about three more times so she will go back home. Shirley Blair is rolling cigars for some tobacco factory in Indiana. I hope she doesn't take up the habit of smoking. Boyd French and Charles McClellan have their own radio station in Winnipeg, Canada. Station S. A. P. They play string instruments and sing. People are saying they soon will be as good as the Farren Twins, Eddy and Jimmy.

Evelyn Shields is grave-digger in the Bangs Cemetery. They say she is always digging for the facts. Wamon Upchurch is picking peanuts for a living. Well, he is certainly suited for that. Job. James Hoyt finally struck oil and owns a big ranch out in Texas, and they tell me that he is one of the richest young men in that state. But I don't see how the boy makes much money because over the radio it said that it was so dry down there that the Baptists are sprinkling and the Methodists are using a damp cloth, and the Presbyterians are just giving the weather forecast.

Donald Trull will be at Madison Square Garden next week, he is wrestling under the name of Wild Wille the Wonderful. Burgess Stewardson is trying to manufacture Mexican Jumping Beans that won't jump. Joyce Smith is a woman F. B. I. agent in Washington, D. C. I hear that Ann Tatum is back at dear ole Santa Anna High School taking up a collection among the students to buy R. K. Green a toupee. Evelyn Oakes is carrying out bed-pans in the Santa Anna Hospital. She told me in her last letter that she was just crazy about her work. June Little is a bearded lady in the circus. They say it is a fake beard, but I don't know about that. I always thought she looked funny, now maybe I have finally found out why. Lydia Tomme has taken over as cartoonist for Mutt and Jeff. The public surely does like her drawings. Well, folks I had better get to bed now because I have a very important portrait to paint tomorrow. J. P. Pollard (one of my old teachers) has just been elected the new Democratic President of the United States and he is coming to have me paint his picture at nine in the morning. Well, I must close for now, so write me soon and tell me all the news.

Your loving son, Raymond

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Scarborough of Abilene, were Sunday visitors with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Stephenson.

A SURPLUS DISPOSAL PLAN

There is a simple solution to the surplus of grain which is causing our storage facilities to bulge at the seams. That solution is—sell it! Sell it to the highest bidder even if the price will be below the support paid by the federal government.

Such action would recover at least a part of the taxpayers' dollars paid out on this program and, in addition, it would produce some positive results which would more than make up the difference in money lost.

The benefits from such a plan are these:
 (1) It would bring the cost of such feeds down to the level of the farmers pocketbook and move the feed into consumption where it ought to be.
 (2) Provide storage space for upcoming crops, thus relieving a serious storage situation at the beginning of wheat harvest.
 (3) Save taxpayer money on new warehouse construction.
 (4) Make money for grain and cotton farmers by providing them with storage for their crops.

(5) Save taxpayers millions, perhaps billions, of dollars, because they would realize a return from products now off the market and which are now an expensive dead weight.
 (6) Solve serious drought relief problems for cattlemen.
 (7) Will not interfere with normal trade in feed products.

Selling our surpluses for drought relief measures may sound too simple for those who like to do things the hard way. Yet costs of feed for hungry cattle is too high in relation to the sale market.
 Such a situation means we must either raise the price of cattle or lower the price of feed. Either would bring relief, but raising the price of cattle would be complicated and obviously require direct subsidies.

The proposition of lowering feed costs has not been studied except as federal relief programs involving reams of red tape, allotments and expensive administration. On the other hand, the plan of placing surplus feeds on the open market would be simple, direct and entail no government interference or controls on farmers or businessmen.

HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB DRESS REVUE IN COLEMAN SATURDAY

The Coleman County Home Demonstration women will have a Dress Revue, modeling dresses they have made on Saturday, May 22, at 8:00 p. m. in the Coleman High School auditorium.

Members from all Home Demonstration Clubs in the county will participate. First, second and third place winners will be selected. The public is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Neal and son of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Neal and family of Palacios, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Wheeler and family of Fort Worth, were week end visitors with Mr. D. C. Neal and David. Mr. Neal had recovered sufficiently from the accident of the previous week end, to be moved to his home Sunday, from the Santa Anna Hospital.

Week end visitors with Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Fielder, Jr., were Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ward and children of Dallas. The ladies are sisters.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
 A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

ESTATE PLANNING PROBLEMS DISCUSSED

Many legal problems arise in deciding how to distribute a person's estate after his death. Naturally, large estates present more difficulty, but even the smallest of estates cause trouble for the heirs if proper arrangements are not made prior to death of the owner.

Where larger estates are concerned, the question of estate taxes is often the greatest problem. Expert help is required to make proper decisions. A lawyer can be of considerable assistance in advising a client to bequeath his estate so as to take care of his loved ones and at the same time to effect maximum savings in estate taxes.

To illustrate, suppose John Doe and his wife have amassed community property worth $200,000. John wants his wife to be well taken care of during her lifetime. To save an attorney's fee he writes his own will leaving everything to his wife. He dies soon thereafter and his wife dies six years later. The federal estate taxes on his one-half of the $200,000 estate amounts to $4,800.

When the wife dies her estate is worth her original one-half of $200,000 ($100,000) plus the estate she inherited from her husband, $95,200. The federal estate tax on her estate, enhanced by what her husband had left her, is $31,200. If instead of leaving the property to his wife he had left her the income from it for life (the remainder to go to their children upon her death), her taxable estate would have been only $100,000. The federal estate tax thereon would have been $4,800.

There would have been a tax saving of $26,000 ($31,200 less $4,800, the tax on her $100,000 estate). Yet the wife, during her lifetime, would have been well provided for. She would have had $100,000 (her half of the community estate) plus the income from her husband's half of the community estate ($100,000 less estate tax thereon of $4,800).

Many a man has worked hard and lived frugally all his life in an attempt to provide for his loved ones long corridors of security stretching for into the future but has cheated them of the full benefits of his efforts by failing to plan properly. Perhaps he has failed to make a will. Maybe he has undertaken to write his own will with the result that it fails to take into account contingencies that did not occur to him, or he has prepared a will that is so artlessly drawn that those he loved must become involved in bitter lawsuits. Such legal controversies over estates are wasteful and often leave scars that rankle for years.

The drafting of a will involves the making of decisions requiring special judgment which can be obtained only by years of

Don't Use Alcohol For Snake Bites

Austin — A warning about the dangers of snake bite has just been issued by Dr. Henry A. Holje, State Health Officer. A number of snake bites are reported each year in Texas during the summer and early fall; however, few of these result fatally.

Most of the bites occur on the hands or feet, which indicates that stepping or falling in the immediate vicinity of an unseen snake or picking up objects under similar conditions are the hazards of contracting snake bite. The pain following the injection of the poison is most intense. Other symptoms are swelling, giddiness, difficult breathing, hemorrhage, weak pulse, and vomiting.

If one is unfortunate enough to be bitten by a poisonous snake, such as the rattlesnake, the following first aid measures should be carried out.

After making proper incisions at the site of the wound, apply suction and continue for at least half an hour.

Apply a tourniquet above the site of the wound, releasing same every ten or fifteen minutes for about 5 seconds at a time.

If the proper antivenom serum is available, apply it according to directions, but most important of all is to remove as much of the poison as is possible so as to prevent its absorption.

Secure the services of a physician at the earliest possible moment.

If one is bitten by a poisonous snake DO NOT run or get overheated and DO NOT take any alcoholic stimulants because circulation increased by alcohol or exercise serves to distribute the poison much more rapidly through the body.

DO NOT injure the tissues by injecting permanganate of potash, which is known to be of no value as an antidote.

DO NOT depend upon home remedies or so-called snake bite cures, for they are of no value.

ism is a disease, which only God can cure." He flies thousands of miles each year to tell of his experiences, to church, civic and AA groups.

S/Sgt. and Mrs. D. H. Moore and their three little daughters, Donna, Ginger and Cynthia, from Patrick Air Force Base Florida, arrived Sunday afternoon for a two weeks visit with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Moore and Linda. Senior Class Enjoys Trip To West Texas

BY PATSY WAGNER

Thursday morning, May 6, at 5 o'clock the Seniors of Santa Anna High School left on their Senior trip. Even though the bus was crowded and we hadn't had very much sleep, we were a very happy group.

We spent most of the day Thursday traveling. We went through the Davis Mountains and through the McDonald Observatory. The Observatory was very interesting. Although we did not get to look through the large telescope, we did see it. We were shown how it could be moved to different positions and how the dome is opened when the astronomers are working. After seeing the McDonald Observatory we went to Alpine where we had reservations at one of the Sul Ross State College dormitories. After we were settled in our rooms we explored the campus and Alpine and participated in various types of entertainment.

Friday we went to the Big Bend National Park. We saw some beautiful scenery. We again spent most of the day traveling, but I think we enjoyed it. Some of the roads are very much like a huge roller coaster. We did get rather tired of going up and down and around and around. All in all though, I think it was an enjoyable day for all of us.

Saturday everyone did the various things that he wanted to do. Some of us got up early enough to go to church where a revival was being held, but some were too sleepy-headed. Most of us did some shopping Saturday and several went swimming. We got some painful sunburns, but we spent a pretty nice, peaceful day. Other members of the class did various things which they enjoyed so everyone was satisfied.

We left Alpine for Carlsbad Cavern a short time after midnight Sunday morning. I believe that all of us will agree that this was the best part of our trip. It was very interesting and beautiful. One just can't realize how beautiful some of nature's scenes are until he has seen them. I believe that anyone would enjoy seeing Carlsbad Cavern whether or not they had ever seen it before. Immediately after leaving the Cavern, we started the long drive home and arrived in Santa Anna shortly after mid-night Monday morning.

We had a very nice trip and I'm sure that all of us enjoyed it. We were very tired and sleepy upon our arrival in Santa Anna, and also very happy to be back home.

CHICK CHATS—Growing Birds Require Care

Poultry raisers who have healthy, productive pullet flocks in the fall take good care of their growing birds in the spring and summer. They don't overlook the fact that mistakes made during the range period can disrupt the health and laying performance of birds later on.

It's true that there is no return from pullets until they begin to lay. But that is hardly a reason to neglect these growing birds. Good management will prepare them for good production.

Growing pullets should be moved to the range as soon as the weather is decent — usually by the time the birds are 8 to 12 weeks old. The range area should be clean. If possible, land that was not chicken range the year before should be used.

Forage Crop
The range should be covered with a good crop of forage or grass. Frequent mowing will keep the grass short and provide more lush green feed. Land used for range must be well drained.

Light, portable shelters are best for the range. Shelters should be set 150 to 200 feet apart and moved a short distance every 3 or 4 weeks. Additional shade should be provided for the birds.

Each bird will need about 3 inches of feeder space. An 8 foot hopper will handle about 60 birds, (figuring space on both sides of feeder). Use partitioned feeders so that whole grain and mash or supplement can be given at the same time. Feeders and waterers should be moved once a day.

Watch Diet
A good diet is important at any time of a bird's life and the growing bird, needs a constantly increasing supply of feed and water. Set up a regular feeding schedule and keep a close check on the eating habits of the flock. A flock's feed consumption is a good indication of its general health.

Young birds on range are quite susceptible to worms. It may be advisable to carry on a regular worm-control program. Be sure your birds are vaccinated against those diseases which can be prevented — fowl pox, Newcastle disease, infectious bronchitis and karyogonitricellitis.

By failing to give proper care to the birds on range — even when good care was given in the brooder house — growers fail to build up birds for the heavy laying days ahead. It doesn't pay to do a halfway job of raising poultry.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert W. Speed, Jr., of Dallas, spent the week end here with the Bryan deGraffer rigds.

Prophecy Speaks Announces Lecture Program Topics

The Prophecy Speaks lectures continued this last week, presenting Sunday afternoon, Who is the Anti-Christ? Taking the 7th and 8th chapters of Daniel, Pastor Lyndon De Witt pointed out that the work and place of the Anti-Christ was clearly foretold. Among other things, this power was to claim to be above God, or God on earth, and while making this claim, it would mercilessly persecute God's people. It would be a power that would claim to change the eternal law of God, and it would continue in its rule for 1260 years.

Tuesday night, Prophecy Speaks presented the next in the series of Health and Healing lectures, on Mental Disease. Moving pictures were shown of many who had been effected by this sickness, and questions were answered regarding its nature and cure.

What's wrong with God's law? was the question asked by Pastor De Witt Wednesday night, as the nature and work of God's law was studied. It was pointed out that the law was not to save from sin, but to point it out. It was likened to a mirror, which could show the dirt on a man's face, but was powerless to cleanse the face. All sin and sickness is a result of the transgression of God's law, the speaker pointed out. The only thing wrong with the law is that it has been broken, and that, not the fault of the law. God's law is eternal, unalterable, unchangeable, as enduring as God himself, DeWitt stated.

The subjects announced for the coming week are as follows: Friday night, May 21, 7:45 p. m. "Prayer, The Breath of the Soul." Sunday in a double service at 4:30 and 7:45 p. m. Pastor De Witt will answer from the Bible the long controverted subject, Where are the Dead? Tuesday night, the Health and Healing series will continue with the subject Dope Addiction, and more moving pictures.

The subjects Wednesday night and Friday night are connected, and are very vital, De Witt announces. Wednesday night, May 26, 7:45 p. m. "The Sabbath Christ Made." Friday night, the subject is "The Sabbath Man Made." Anyone not able to attend may have any of these in written form by sending a request to, Prophecy Speaks, Box 296, Santa Anna.

Mrs. J. B. Jones of Bishop and her brother, Burton Gregg, came up from San Antonio Saturday night to be with their father, J. J. Gregg, who was very ill, but seems a little better this week. Burton returned home Sunday and Eris remained, and has been working a part of this week in her old capacity of Linotype operator at the Santa Anna News office helping in a fine way to get out this big issue.

Check Your Car, Check Accidents

On Memorial Day the nation's most skilled drivers, operating crack racing cars, will again meet in the famous Indianapolis Speedway race.

In this grueling event both cars and drivers will be tested to the utmost and many of them will probably drop out before the race is over.

Of the thirty-three cars that started in last year's race, twenty-five failed to finish.

It is true that some drivers took calculated risks in trying to win the race, and they soon found out that driving skill alone has definite limits when up against the hazards of speed conditions.

But most of the cars were knocked out of the race by mechanical failures. Those machines are specially built to take it. They get exceptional care from experts. They are driven by real pros, who know their own and the cars' limitations. And yet many fail to finish, because the best machine ever built by human hand is subject to failure when put under extreme strain.

Passenger cars, too, are built to last. And they'll usually take plenty of wear and perform safely if watched closely, kept in top condition, and driven by people who recognize mechanical limitations and keep well within them. But they won't perform well or safely if they're abused.

It is the aim of the current state-wide vehicle maintenance program to encourage all Texas drivers to keep their cars in safe driving condition and to drive within their own and their car's limitations. The Texas Safety Association says this is the only intelligent way to handle an automobile.

Can YOU see, steer and stop safely? Check your car, check accidents!

Ideal Opportunity Offered To Grads Not College Bound

The Southwest School of Printing will enroll its next new class June 7 in a continuing effort to help a shortage of craftsmen in the printing industry.

trained young men in the printing field," emphasized Mr. Robert Gleason, general manager of the school, located at 3800 West Clarendon Drive, Dallas.

He pointed to a recent federal survey which showed alarming shortages of personnel in all the divisions of printing covered by the 16-month general course of Southwest School of Printing. "Printing offers opportunities for a successful and interesting vocation to those high school graduates who plan to leave school now to enter a trade," he added.

The school's general course includes hand composition, press work and composing machine operation (machine type setting). "This instruction gives a trainee the basic techniques of each of these subjects and provides the foundation upon which to build a printing career," said Mr. Gleason.

Southwest School of Printing is recognized throughout the printing industry — in fact, it is owned and operated by the newspaper publishers and commercial printing firms of the Southwest.

As a non-profit institution, the school figures its tuition and fees on an actual cost or below basis.

The school, which has nearly 400 graduates since 1946, was established thirty-four years ago. And more than 85 percent of its trainees have remained in the printing field.

Both classes and practical work are done in a modern and well-equipped plant on the Southwest edge of Dallas.

The school's general policy requires that an accepted applicant be a high school graduate or have equivalent training in night school, service school or some other educational institution.

However, some exceptions are made — and special rules are set up for veterans and handicapped applicants.

Full information can be obtained by writing the Southwest School of Printing, 3800 West Clarendon Drive, Dallas.

HEALTH FOOT TODAY — Polio Vaccine

Question: What about the new Polio vaccine? (Whon).

Answer: The wonderful new serum developed by Dr. Salk against the dread disease of polio is being used by the National Foundation on a non-profit basis for trial purposes only. It is made by five different commercial drug companies. Most of the virus is grown by a Canadian laboratory in Toronto, on a mixture of monkey kidneys and a nutrient fluid. If the virus does not come up to standard on each test the entire batch is discarded. The virus is then killed by USP formaldehyde and tested to see that it is actually dead.

Since there are three types of virus known to produce polio, each type has to be mixed and pooled with the others for the final trial vaccine. Tests are then done to determine the sterility and the safety of each final batch. Each batch is separately tested by first, the U. S. Public Health Service, second by the National Institute of Health, and thirdly by Dr. Salk's Virus Research Laboratories at the University of Pittsburg. Each batch must receive unconditional approval of safety from all three before it is packaged and shipped to distribution areas in 10cc. vials.

Communities to receive the vaccine were determined by selecting the areas in the nation which had the highest rates of polio for the ages 6-9 years during the past 5 years. Children in the second and third grades will receive three shots, the first two a week apart and the third in 4 weeks after the second. Half of the children will receive the serum and the other half will receive a sterile solution with no vaccine in it. No one will know except the scientists which group of children received the serum, which will be given by local doctors and nurses. We know the serum is good, but how good is what has to be proved. Polio is nearly whipped.

Twice As Much Grass From Mowed Pasture

College Station — Mowing helps eliminate weeds, sprouts, bushes and vines from pastures and favors their replacement by desirable grasses.

It also tends to keep grasses in a tender, growing condition, making them more palatable and nutritious to grazing animals.

Mowing should start when the most prominent weeds commence to bloom — before they have a chance to produce a seed crop, says E. M. Trew, extension pasture specialist, who stresses the importance of regular mowing in pasture management.

Eastern bitterweed, a common pest in bermudagrass pastures, need early and repeated mowings to prevent them from making seed. Set the mower high for the first clipping and then lower for subsequent mowings, Trew recommends.

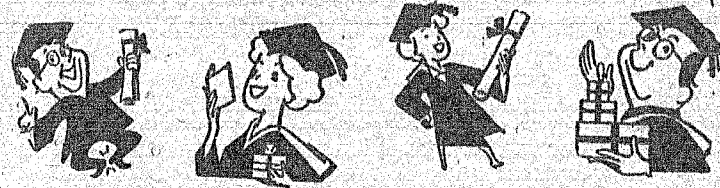

Fall blooming weeds are weakened by earlier mowings, but fall cuttings are added insurance against production of seed.

Mowing alone, however, does not build a good pasture, Trew notes. The soil must be sufficiently fertile to make good yields from grasses and/or legumes either growing naturally or from seedings. He recommends pasture fertilization.

In studies by the Angleton Agricultural Experiment Station, bermudagrass when mowed produced twice the forage and four times as much total protein and phosphorous as did unmowed bermuda. Tall growing bunch grasses often are injured by mowing. The low growing grasses tend to form a sod, and respond best to mowing.
