NUMBER 35

"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

Election Day Saturday, August 28th

Saturday of this week the voters of this state will go to voting places and cast their votes in the final nominating primary.

Three important state offices are to be settled, that of Governor, Attorney General and State Treasurer.

Governor Ferguson and Attorney General Dan Moody are at issues in the Governor's race. James V. Allred of Wichita Falls and Claude Pollard of Houston are contesting for the office of Attorney General. J. R. Ball of Fannin county and W. Gregory Hatcher of Dallas county are contesting for State Treasurer. In the county L. E. Collins and Walter Weaver are contesting for the office of Tax Assessor and J. M. Martin and W. R. Hamilton are contesting for Sheriff. In the precinct, J. B. Flores and H. C. Davis are contesting for Public Weigher, and these will be the only names on the ticket in Saturday's election.

The voters are urged to come out and vote. Select your choice and vote your own judgment.

BOY SCOUTS OUT CAMPING ON HOME CREEK THIS WEEK

Some twenty-odd of the Boy Scouts are enjoying a few days camping on Home Creek this week. Reports Thursday morning state the boys are all well and having a good time. Shield Brown and Leonard Gipson are in charge of the camp, which assures good management.

Commenting on Who's Who in West Texas, West Texas Today, the official publication of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has the following to say about our fellow townsman, Fred W. Turner:

Fred Turner of Santa Anna is a well known oil man, a director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and is proud of three things—Santa Anna, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and his family consisting of wife and twelve children.

Lions Club Will Help Farmers Secure Cotton Pickers

A letter from Homer D. Wade, Manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, dated at Stamford, Texas, August 12, was presented to the Lions Club for consideration at their regular weekly meeting Tuesday, which deals with the labor situation in Texas, especially that of cotton pickers. The letter states that a peculiar situation confronts farmers this season who desire to import cotton pickers, due to several things among which is a lot of projects being built over the state that furnish employment to unskilled or common labor.

C. W. Woodman, 806 Taylor Street, Fort Worth, Texas, is Assistant Director of the Farm Labor Division of the U. S. Employment Service, and Mr. Wade states in his letter that Mr. Woodman will know at all times where cotton pickers can be found and at what price their services can be secured, and requests that he be advised as early as possible how many pickers will be needed and what price the farmers will pay.

Leman Brown, Burgess Weaver and J. J. Gregg were appointed as a committee to assist farmers in securing pickers, and all who are in need of pickers if you will report your needs to either of the committee, an effort will be made to supply your needs. A letter addressed to Mr. Woodman's Fort Worth address might bring more information, but this committee, as well as the Santa Anna News, is at your service and ready to render any aid we can to help secure pickers for all who need them.

Miss May Blue, while in Saint Louis last week buying goods for the Santa Anna Mercantile Co., visited her good friend, Mrs. C. W. Woodruff at the McLean Sanitarium, where her son Hunter is being treated. Hunter is reported improving, and Miss May brought the baby, little Miss Charley home with her.

No Static to Worry You

A simple twist of the wrist and the radio fan covers miles. A turn of the dial and he gets a little jazz here, a lecture there and perhaps classical music somewhere else. Hundreds of things are continually being broadcasted for his amusement and instruction.

But radio fans or not, remember that many things fully as interesting and far more vital to you are being broadcasted in every issue of this paper for your personal benefit.

Your messages always come clear. There is no static to worry you. The condition of the air does not concern you. From the depth of your own arm chair you listen in on the doings of the world. You know what is going on all the time.

Turn to the advertising columns and you are transported to the grocers, the clothiers, the dry goods stores. You see what they have for your enjoyment and for your welfare.

And remember, too, that the merchants who put their advertisements in the Santa Anna News are progressive and dependable. They must give good value. They know that advertising, by increasing the number of their sales, enables them to sell for lower prices and give you more for your money.

The Advertisements are broadcasted for you. Listen in.

Cotton Advances $5 Bale as U. S. Report Shows Big Decrease

Washington, Aug. 23.—A decrease of 373,000 bales in the prospective cotton crop during the last two weeks was shown in Monday's Department of Agriculture report indicating a total production of 15,248,000 bales. The condition of the crop declined 6.3 points in the fortnight.

The final outcome of the cotton crop will depend upon whether the various influences affecting the crop during the remainder of the season are more or less favorable than usual. If developments during the remainder of the season are as unfavorable to the crop as during 1921, 1922, 1923, a total production of about 14,000,000 bales might be expected on the estimated acreage, as compared with 14,425,000 on Aug. 1, this year, on the same basis. On the other hand, if later developments are as favorable to the crop as during 1924 and 1925, a total production of about 16,211,000 bales might be expected, as compared with 17,510,000 bales as Aug. 1, 1926, on the same basis, the crop reporting board stated.

Comment of Board
The board in commenting on the report said:

"The boll weevil is rapidly increasing in many sections with the possibility of material damage because of the lateness of the crops."
"The hopper, which caused serious damage to the bottom crop in the Gulf States and the Southwest, has become much less active or has disappeared in most sections, although some few sections report renewed activity of this pest. The leafworm has become very destructive in Texas and

Gas Company Now In New Building

The Santa Anna branch of the Coleman Gas & Oil Company moved their headquarters last week from their former stand on West Main Street to their new office recently built, just south of the Santa Fe, on Depot Street. The company has built a nice little brick building and the office is now nicely situated in their new quarters. See their announcement elsewhere in this paper.

MRS. B. J. RATCLIFF DIED AT HOME IN MARSHALL FRIDAY

Mrs. W. B. Hancock left Thursday for Marshall, Texas, to attend the bedside of her mother, Mrs. B. J. Ratcliff, who was reported seriously ill. Mrs. Ratcliff died Friday morning.

Deceased was well known in Santa Anna, having lived here for three or four years previous to moving to Marshall some months ago. The Santa Anna News extends sympathy to the bereaved.

HEAT WAVE BROKEN BY RAIN MONDAY AFTERNOON

The rain which fell here Monday followed by some cooler weather, ended what we believe to be the most oppressive heat wave this country has experienced in many years. For three weeks the heat was almost unbearable, and caused much suffering to people as well as deterioration to crops. Cooler weather is welcomed with open arms.

LOCAL COTTON REPORT

Up to noon Thursday, 50 bales of cotton had been weighed in at the local yard, and several more bales were at the gins. Buyers are active as is usual in Santa Anna. Picking has been started on most farms, and all will start next week.

Vernon Adams and family of Dallas visited relatives here this week.

In a much less degree in some other States.

"In Texas the bollworm and the boll weevil are also doing a great amount of damage and serious losses are reported locally from root rot, which is equally bad this year."

"In Texas the number of bolls reported as safe is slightly less than in 1925 and only slightly less than in either 1924 or 1925. In Oklahoma the number is only about one-half of the number in each of the preceding years. In all other important States the number is about two-thirds of the number in either 1924 or 1925. In general, this reflects the lateness of the season as well as the early loss of squares due to hoppers and other causes."

Remains of W. S. West Buried Here Saturday

W. S. West, 71, died at his home in Comanche last Friday, August 20, after a lingering illness lasting over a period of several months. His remains were brought here for burial Saturday, and placed in the Santa Anna cemetery, following funeral service at the Baptist Church, conducted by Pastor Sidney F. Martin. The following data was read at the funeral:

William Sidney West was born March 3, 1855, near Meridian, Mississippi, came to Texas in 1886, and settled at Giddings, moved to Santa Anna in 1911; back to Giddings a year later, and back to Santa Anna in 1920. He lived here until he moved to Comanche about two years ago.

Deceased was married to Miss Sallie Phears, who is still living, but was not able to attend the funeral. Eight children were born to them, four of whom are dead and four living. Richard West and Mrs. Chas. Evans of Santa Anna; the other two living in Comanche.

Mr. West was converted and joined the Baptist church while just a boy, and lived a Christian until his passing away.

The News extends sympathy to the bereaved.

The Proverb of the Farmer and the Seed

The farmer is very careful to sow his seed upon the richest soil, where he knows it will bear the richest crop. Of course some seeds fall upon poor soil and bear very little. A few seeds fall upon the rocks and barren places and are lost.

What would you think of a farmer who deliberately sowed the greatest part of his seed among the rocks? "He must be crazy," you would say.

Yet as you walk thru life you sow your earnings. Be wise, sow your dollars in rich soil. Avoid the rocks and barren places, where fools' dollars are wasted. Sow your dollars in the Bank.

Does Reckless Driving
Involve Moral Turpitude?

Of late the country has heard a good deal about "moral turpitude." It has been a phrase common to the legal profession for many generations. But not until Lady Cathcart was refused entrance into the United States on account of a divorce tangle has the term become more or less lay property.

How many offenses under the law involve this moral turpitude? Where does moral turpitude end and mere inhibition by law begin? Civilization recognizes that such crimes as murder, burglary, kidnaping, treason, etc., are inherently base and their perpetrators depraved to the extent to which the acts are committed. Coming on down to larceny, forgery, bad check writing, and fraud in its many elements, we find less serious (though none the less excusable) violations, for which the law provides penalties. Civilized man believes these offenses to be wrong even in the absence of code or statute.

Where, then, is the break between moral wrongs and wrongs made so by law? Can anyone say? It is by force of public opinion and moral restraints that legislatures and courts define the rights of man. Is reckless driving of an automobile an act involving "moral turpitude?" Not unless the people are bold enough to pronounce it so, and unless public sentiment and conscience back up the declaration.

A few years ago no one would have considered the fast driving of a vehicle in the same category as felonies; yet with the present-day traffic problems all recklessness in the operation of a motor car is a serious thing to consider. And when the reckless speeder is classed as a felon along with the murderer, the thief, the traitor and the common crook—when intelligent men and women first slow down their own cars and then justly frown upon the criminally careless as they would upon the ransom seeker who steals their child—we will see less of these potential murderers charging up and down our public highways in their hell-bent rush to get nowhere.

SEVENTEEN YEAR OLD GIRL DIES OF FEVER

Esther, the 17 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Riley, prosperous farm family living in the Shield community, died Friday night of Typhoid fever. Her remains were prepared and interred in the Brown Ranch cemetery Saturday, the funeral being conducted by Elder Mickey of Coleman.

Esther was a splendid good girl and had a host of friends in the community where she lived. Every care was given her, but God saw fit to call her home. The Santa Anna News extends sympathy to the bereaved family.

Brady Man Inventor of Wonderful Poison Dusting Machine.

J. F. Tindell has invented a poison dusting machine which works so wonderfully well as to have aroused the interest of farmers throughout the McCulloch county section. In fact, the machine does its work so well and so thoroughly as to be accounted as good as the highest price commercial machines, yet so simple is it in construction that any farmer can make one at a cost not to exceed $35 to $40.

The machine was tested out on the Abernathy crop, and some 50 acres were poisoned in about three hours. Since then, it has been in demand and used by all the farmers that have witnessed its operation.

Mr. Tindell claims credit for having invented and patented the first riding planter, but says his patent was stolen from him, and he never realized one penny from his patent rights. Consequently, he will make no attempt to patent his dusting device, but says anyone is welcome to use it as a pattern for a machine for his own use.—Brady Standard.

The Boy From the Hick Town

The so-called hick town has lately become a source of great inspiration to our professional humorists.

A hick town, say the various users of this convenient formula, is a place where a backfire is never mistaken for a pistol shot; where bedtime is orthodox; where woodpeckers eat up the depot; where central can tell you whether it is a boy or a girl; where the neighbors will supply you with a conscience if you lack one; where there is no parking problem; where a curfew disturbs the residents' rest; where fine cut tobacco is no handicap socially, and so on and so on.

With no intention of becoming terribly heavy over the matter, we want to add that a hick town is a place where twenty-six of our twenty-nine presidents were born and where seven out of ten of the immortals in the National Hall of Fame originated. A hick town that didn't have a name produced Lincoln. Hick towns gave us most of our literary figures of the past and practically all of those now living. Hick towns produced our Edisons.

If we may, then, we would like to suggest that a hick town is a place where a boy has an excellent opportunity to lay the foundation of future greatness.—Lebanon Reporter.

Good roads make good citizens. The election booth is seldom more than five minutes away from the kitchen door and the farmer is voting, and rapidly learning his political lessons.

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS

(By West Texas C. of C.)

Alpine—Crops in this section are looking especially good at this time according to recent reports sent in to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Cotton, which is irrigated from the Rio Grande, is free from the leaf worm, and will be ready for the first picking in a few more days.

Washington, D. C.—A cotton crop of 15,363,000 equivalent 500 pounds bales this year is indicated by the present conditions of the crop, according to officials of the department of Agriculture. Acre production will be about 155.8 pounds in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona are included in this indication.

Breckenridge—Building permits for the month of July 1926, show a total of $58,250 will be expended for improvements in the city. This total exceeds the one for July 1925 nearly $3,000. More building was done in June of this year, however.

Crowell—The Foard County Fair will be held this year September 2, 3, 4. All committees have been at work on their plans for the event, which is expected to be the best in the history of the county.

Albany—The Albany men's club is boosting the plans for a new sewer system for this city. A bond issue to the amount of $25,000 will be voted for this improvement, half of which was subscribed by members of the club at a recent meeting.

Plainview—The people of Stoneback community are laying plans to enter an exhibit at the fair to be held in Plainview this fall. Sam Sealing is superintendent of the agricultural exhibit of this community and is getting together the material to make the Stoneback exhibit an outstanding feature of the fair.

Stamford—President Arthur P. Duggan, of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and his party of West Texas officials returned this week from a tour of Southwest Texas and New Mexico. The party attended three district conventions of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and President Duggan and Manager Homer D. Wade made addresses on these programs, and at several towns visited on the tour.

Slaton—Slaton has taken another step cityward. All of the houses in the city have been numbered and street markers which have been ordered, are being placed at all corners. Directions to strangers can be given easily by any citizen of Slaton since this sixth plank of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce has been completed.

Stiles—A $75,000 court house is to be erected for Reagan county, and the contract has been recently awarded. The building will be a three-story structure of gray brick, steel and tile. The jail will occupy the third story.

Pecos—The Commissioners' Court of Reeves County has recently made provisions for marking the highways of this territory. Arrangements have also been made to buy new machinery with which to keep these roads in good condition, especially the highway leading from Pecos to Ft. Stockton.

Wichita Falls—A state fish hatchery is to be located at Wichita Falls, according to reports from the State Game and Fish Commissioner. The hatchery will be located near the diversion dam below Lake Kemp. This will be the third hatchery to be located in West Texas Chamber of Commerce territory.

A TRIBUTE TO CUSTER'S MEMORY

On June 25 there was a celebration by Indians and white men alike of the fiftieth anniversary of Custer's fight with the Indians on the Little Big Horn river, in Southern Montana, in 1876. In that fight the unbeaten Custer, four members of his family and 200 troopers of the Seventh Cavalry rode boldly to their death against Sioux and Cheyenne warriors, while the greater part of his regiment fumbled his plan of battle and failed to respond to his call for reinforcements. Charles Francis Bates, retired colonel of the U. S. Army, has written for the Santa Anna News a description of the Battle of the Little Big Horn, which will appear in the Magazine Section, Sept. 3rd.

General Custer is remembered with affection and reverence in both Texas and Oklahoma. While an U. S. officer he lived in Oklahoma several years and during the time frequently visited Texas army posts.

Other subjects of interest in our Magazine section are: "Promoting the Fishing Industry of Texas;" "Woman's Page;" "Boys' and Girls' Page."

The Boy Who Founded a Great Fortune in a Glass Dish

Seventy-nine years ago a boy, then eight years, put his pennies in a glass dish on the mantle.

He worked three days in a potato patch. He wasn't satisfied with the wages.

One day he saw a stray turkey hen stealthily making for the woods. He patiently trailed her. For days he hunted her nest. When he found it, he took home the baby chicks and fed them with the scraps his mother gave him. He sold them in the Fall at the village market.

That was his first money-making enterprise.

And he began to figure and figure. He found that he'd earned less from three days working in the potato patch than the year's interest on the money from his turkey business.

So he concluded it was easy to save money.

He put his savings to work. He even took the pennies from the glass dish on the mantle and put them to work.

This boy celebrated his eighty-seventh birthday a few days ago. His money "worked" for him until he accumulated one of the largest fortunes in the world.

This boy was John D. Rockefeller. —Three Rivers News.

FIND TURTLE DATED IN 1815

Thompsonville, Conn., Aug. 8.—A turtle ambling through the underbrush on the farm of William McCracken, was recognized as the same one which had been a free tenant for the last 100 years.

Mr. McCracken first saw the turtle fifty-two years ago and noted on its shell "NW" and "1815." Records showed that a Mr. Wardell had lived on the farm in 1815. The turtle is thought to be about 150 years old.

FIFTH SUNDAY SINGING CONVENTION AT TRICKHAM

The Santa Anna News has been requested to call attention to the Eastern District singing convention which meets each Fifth Sunday, at Trickham next Sunday afternoon. H. M. Smith, the president, states he has the promise of some splendid singers for the program next Sunday, and all are invited to attend.

Dear Friend:

Just a minute of your time here to tell you about our big line of solid leather shoes for both work and dress wear. In our wide assortment you will find styles for the entire family featured at popular prices.

Friedman-Shelby Solid Leather Shoes are built to stand the grind in the daily wear and tear of your life. There is real comfort and extra service in each pair—the sturdy numbers for every-day wear, and the dress styles as well.

The value is there—a worth-while saving in each pair—Shoes that wear and wear, and come back as good as ever after a trip to the cobbler. In fact some customers tell us a pair of our shoes will outlast two or three soles—and that's getting real value for your money.

Come and see for yourself. Don't say you are too busy, for the busy folks are the ones who use their feet the most and need comfort and real service in the daily walks of life.

Yours for Solid Comfort and Long Wear,

D. R. HILL & BRO.

IT'S WORK THAT COUNTS

There is an adage that "There is luck in leisure" but there is no truth in that adage and there is as little truth in the preachment of many failures that "work and merit don't mean anything anymore; the lucky man will win anyway."

Of course there have been battles won by luck in which the better man lost, but they are the proverbial exceptions which prove the rule and are so outnumbered by incidents the reverse as to be unworthy of notice. Luck-won successes are accidents. Work-won successes are incidents.

Accidents always attract more attention than incidents for the same reason that normal human beings, which are incidents, pay money to see freaks of nature, which are accidents. To depend on luck is to play blind man's bluff among the laws of nature and of man.

These laws, when studied carefully, seem to prove that in the long task. Fortune favors men who are not afraid of dreary, irksome drudgery. Luck climbs no Everest. Luck transmutes no cataract into electricity. Luck is never a ladder from the earth of mediocrity to the heaven of achievement.

Luck smiles on those who take off their coats, put their shoulders to the wheel, and plug away at the run the best man wins the best place, and personal merit does succeed. Evidences to the contrary are merely the flips of chance.

When you hear a man complain there is no such thing as justice, put it down there is and that he is getting it.

The smallest things on earth are atoms and the largest are two automobiles trying to pass at a narrow point in the road.

A Word of Caution to the Farmer

What was forecast as a bumper cotton crop on Aug. 10 when the Government report placed the condition of the crop at 69 and that of Texas at 73, with a total indicated yield of 15,620,000 bales, may turn out to be no more than an average crop or a really short crop. Deterioration, particularly in Texas and Oklahoma, which produces half of the American cotton, has been so great that no reliable cotton authority can safely predict the outcome. Estimates run all the way from a total failure to the possibility of a bumper crop, through favorable weather conditions during the remainder of the season.

Whatever the yield may be, it is certain that the crop has suffered terrific deterioration since the last Government report and so great has this deterioration been and so short the period of it that it is doubtful that the cotton report due Monday morning will show its effect. However, reports from correspondents in every section of the cotton belt, expressions of cotton men themselves and private advice to them show that the estimated yield in nearly every cotton producing county in Texas has been greatly reduced within the past 15 days. Rains that have helped the cotton in one locality are reported to have damaged it seriously in another. The boll weevil, the boll worm and the cotton flea are at work. In addition to this is the evidence that the heavy rains during the early growing season produced a rank growth and a large stalk but little fruit and few bolls. The insect damage is reported from South Texas and North Texas and a large number of the counties in East Texas, and in many parts of Oklahoma. The cotton growing region of Fort Worth's own territory—West Texas—is the only section in the State that apparently has not suffered greatly from the ravages of insects, and even in it there are some instances where they have made their appearance.

The Star-Telegram does not care to present a gloomy picture or to forecast a crop failure. But the situation is such that the farmers of Texas can take advantage of it and profit by it, if they will. It seems to us a situation in which they have much to gain and little, if anything, to lose. Present prices are largely based upon the last Government report and upon expectations of a large crop. They are not based upon the rapid and widespread deterioration that has taken place in a short time and that is growing more widespread. Thus if the crop turns out much better than present deterioration indicates there is not much likelihood that prices later on will be any less than they are now. If, on the other hand, deterioration continues unchecked, there is certain to be an average or short crop and an equal certainty of higher prices than those now prevailing. The farmer, therefore, can afford to hold his cotton; not necessarily for a given price, but he can afford to hold it until the size of the crop or the probable size can be determined with more accuracy than is now possible. There are reliable cotton men who insist that cotton will bring 20 cents by November. Such prices may or may not be realized, but it is certain that the price of cotton will not be helped by rushing it to market when the price of that market is now governed by expectations of a greatly increased yield, but not a record-breaking crop. As soon as the present deterioration begins to have its effect and to show up in the Government report, the price should advance. A week or 10 days may tell an entirely different story and a few weeks' delay in the marketing of the cotton may mean an enormous difference in the money the farmer will obtain for his crop.

Let the farmers of Texas, let the merchants of Texas and the bankers as well, who are interested in the cotton farmer and the marketing of his cotton, go slowly in the matter of selling. Let them hold it wherever it is possible and Texas should prosper as a result.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

TEXAS AND TEXANS

(By Will H. Mayes)

Some Blackberries—Count 'Em

Lindale is in Smith county, where diversification is being preached and practiced. Lindale is literally in the sand or on the sand, but that town doesn't care. Among other things Lindale grows blackberries and sells what it can and cans what it can't. The blackberry acreage around Lindale is about 4,500 acres, and these acres produce every year. This year the crop shipped from Lindale will reach 150 cars, of which 100 cars will be fresh and 50 cars canned. This is about half of the blackberries produced annually, the rest being in the fields, or sent out by autos for consumption in other towns or canned or preserved for home use. The blackberry crop gives employment to an army of workers at profitable wages. Many of the berry pickers go there every year and camp near the berry fields while the crop is being harvested. Lindale also produces other berries, and melons, and tomatoes, and corn, and cotton, and things. Lindale prospers.

Berries Grow in Other Places

There are hundreds of places in East Texas adapted to berry growing. In fact, berries of one kind and another can be grown on almost any kind of soil and in any part of the State. At Bangs, in Brown county, dewberries are extensively grown and shipped. I haven't the figures to enable me to say how many acres are cultivated or how many cars are shipped and canned. But Bangs bets on berries and finds it safe. A big berry patch near a cannery is a sure money maker, and Texas needs more of both.

Home Canning Profitable

While community canneries conservatively operated seem to pay wherever established, no land owner need fail to can at least enough of his farm products for home use. Major Whitaker and his family live near Grapeland. Grapeland is over in East Texas where Albert Luker edits a newspaper and talks diversification through the Messenger. "Major" Whitaker had two acres in tomatoes this year, but prices were low and the market was poor. So, he bought a home canner, and he and his family canned 2,200 cans of tomatoes, 118 cans of corn, 71 cans of speckled and crowder peas, and 66 cans of peaches.

and have stored 196 half gallon and quart jars of berries, peaches, plums, beets, cucumbers, chow-chow, pears and figs. Most of the canned goods will be sold to local and neighboring merchants. Can you beat it?

Organizing County Federations

Over at A. & M. College recently I met that wonderful little woman Mrs. Phoebe K. Warner, who lives at Claude, Texas, and writes for the newspapers. Like most other writers, she writes for the love of writing and for the good she hopes to do. Just now she is busy studying a plan for the federation of all the women's clubs of each county into a county organization of a kind where each may continue its own special field of club work and all may co-operate for the general good. This looks easy, but those that have tried it find that it is difficult to get clubs of all kinds to lay aside their little likes and dislikes—prejudices if you please to call them such—and work together harmoniously. Mrs. Warner believes it can be done. The idea is splendid and there is a splendid little woman at work at it.

Comanche Chief Celebrates

The Comanche Chief is 53 years old. Last year it celebrated its birthday by giving a watermelon party to which everybody in the county was invited. This year, in addition to the watermelon slicing, a grape festival was added. A ton of grapes and 550 Comanche county watermelons were offering at the feast, all ice cold. The entire population of the county was invited and most of it was there. The Comanche band furnished the music, and 32—there should have been 52—of Comanche's most beautiful girls served the guests. It was a great day for the Chief, but more important was than the Chief's pleasure in its birthday celebration, was the big advertising given Comanche county for its grape culture and watermelon growing. Live newspapers, like the Chief, with the enterprise to undertake big things, are a great community asset.

Colonel Coon's Generosity

Colonel Dick Coon is a ranchman who lives at Houston and has large ranch and cattle interests in Harris county and in the Dalhart section of the Panhandle. He has accumulated wealth and is trying to do good with it while he lives. He has created a trust estate to erect and maintain a hospital at Dalhart, to be used first as a charity hospital and then to receive pay patients if the trustees so elect. The property set aside for the hospital fund is a theatre building at Amarillo that is leased for 15 years at a monthly income of over $700.00. The property is not to be sold for fifteen years, and if sold then the income from the selling price is to be used to maintain the hospital. Texas men of large fortune, like Colonel Coon, are learning that the best of large wealth is got in hoarding, but in distributing it where it can do most good.

Improving the Zinnia

The dictionary says that a zinnia is a coarse, easily cultivated flower. This may have been true once, but the zinnia has been refined and is now just about the most gorgeous flower grown. The zinnia show in Austin recently under the auspices of the Amateur Garden Club rivaled the much exploited dahlia shows of the North in beautiful and gorgeous blooms and in brilliant and pleasing colors and combinations of tints. It was a revelation as to the variety and size of the blooms and as to marvelous shades and tones of coloring. The zinnia is peculiarly adapted to Texas. Get well selected seeds of the varieties wanted, give the plants good soil, plenty of sunshine and water, along with cultivation, and the results will be all that could be desired. Here is a suggestion for enterprising newspapers for next year. Sponsor a zinnia show in your town.

San Saba Fair Success

The newspapers say that 12,000 people were at the San Saba Fair one day. That is 2,000 more than the average paid attendance at the Philadelphia Sesqui-Centennial. Naturally San Saba is proud of the success of its fair, which is due to the untiring work of some of the citizens of that county extending over a number of years. San Saba gave a show that was worth while, gave it good publicity, and got results.

Junction's New Hotel

Junction, out in Kimball county, where the fishing and hunting are resting are good, is building a modern hotel. Due to the increasing travel to that section. There are a number of camp resorts near Junction, all of which have been filled this summer. The people who go there talk about the good times they have and the hospitality of the people, and this makes others want to go. Texans are learning that Texas has as good resorts as may be found anywhere.

To the Voters of Coleman County

Saturday of this week you will be called upon to select your Sheriff for the next two years, and the race is between Mr. Hamilton of Coleman, and myself. I just wish to make a few brief remarks in closing my campaign. I entered this campaign on my own initiative, and have conducted my campaign on a high plane, free from mudslinging and false statements and am a candidate upon my own merits and not the demerits of my opponent. Mr. Hamilton served four years as Sheriff and his record is before you, now will you please give me a trial and see whose record is the most commendable? I am not condemning the record made by Mr. Hamilton while he was Sheriff, that is left to you to either condemn or approve, but I sure would be proud of the honor and promise you if elected to render a service the law abiding people will approve of, by enforcing the law to the best of my ability, without favor to anyone.

I certainly appreciate the vote I received in the first primary, and hope you will still remember me when you go to the polls Saturday.

Yours truly,
 J. M. MARTIN.

"Lovey Mary" a Genuine Success

William Haines, one of the most promising and popular romantic young actors in the films, has the leading male role in "Lovey Mary," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture directed by King Baggot, which comes to the Queen Wednesday and Thursday. Haines distinguished himself in "Little Annie Rooney," with Mary Pickford; in "Memory Lane," and in "Mike." His last big role was the title part of "Brown of Harvard." Bessie Love has the title role in "Lovey Mary" and the cast includes Vivis Ogden, Mary Alden, Russell Simpson, Eileen Percy and others.

Dependable Merchandise!

This is a triumvirate that is unbeatable. Yet it is one that can be found at Marshall & Sons every week day in the year. It is our constant purpose to make everything we sell a bargain by giving the purchaser more value and service than is promised or expected.

Price Is Not First Essential

Price, although important, is not the only thing to be considered in buying merchandise. Every day we have chances to buy so-called bargains which have nothing to recommend them except price, and when passed on to the customer would be a disappointment, and therefore expensive.

We insist on quality along with price when we buy and we give our customers the advantage.

Young People of Baptist Church

Entertained in Rev. Pleasant Home last Friday evening the lawn at Rev. A. M. Pleasant's home was beautifully lighted and decorated for the reception of the young people of the Baptist church. The entertaining committee had planned for a Japanese party. The Japanese atmosphere was secured through suitable decorations, and games. Japanese lanterns, splashes, and baskets were used. A Japanese tea garden situated beneath the branches of a brightly lighted tree from which punch was served, became the scene of interest during the evening. Adding to the Japanese decorations, were four Japanese girls, who met each guest, welcomed him with a warm kamonwa, led him to the registering desk and then to the tea garden. Miss Cecile Lancaster, who has been in Japan for the last six years was with the young people. She told them a number of interesting things concerning Japan and introduced some of the Japanese games, showing the Japanese method of eating with the chop sticks, and several of their customs. She then introduced her girls whom she had brought from Texas (?) They appeared rather embarrassed at meeting the people, making their bow and singing their native song. Little Miss Beth Barnes read. Misses Grace and Eureka Pleasant sang "The Perfect Day." Ukuleles and the piano furnished other entertainment. Seemingly everyone enjoyed the evening's entertainment.

The following were present: Misses Faye Childers, Eunice Wheeler, Lula Harvey, Grace Luckey, Thelma Martin, Karina and Leta Ragsdale, Mamie Turner, Ola Polk, Faye Atkinson, Mary McCorkle, Ora Lee Neill, Veda Floyd, Mattie Ely, McCreary, Johnnie Pearce, Thelma Hinds, Grace and Eureka Pleasant, Beth Barnes, Cecile Lancaster; Messrs: Lyle Pease, A. D. Donham, Jr., Walter Hill, Bailey McCaughan, J. E. Ford, Reginald Owen, T. B. Pleasant, Buell Gene Martin; Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Gotwald, Rev. and Mrs. Sidney P. Martin, Rev. and Mrs. A. M. Pleasant, Mrs. Melvin Lamb.

"Let Well Enough Alone"

The influence of the above thought has been one of the great obstacles in the way of community progress. If conditions are not right in their own personal affairs, or if the community suffers from defects and evils, there are many who cheerfully remark that we would better let well enough alone, and not trouble ourselves to gain improvements. The towns where that spirit prevails will never amount to much. There should be in human nature an impatience of defects, a desire for progress, and people who have the right spirit are not satisfied unless they are bettering their personal opportunities and seeing their home towns go ahead. If the "Let well enough alone" spirit had governed our ancestors, America would still be tenanted by the Indians.

A pessimist is generally a man who judges other people by what he knows about himself.

If your neighbor's grass is greener, it is because he mows it and sprinkles it more than you do.

To the Voters of Coleman County

Under date of July 29th, 1926, there appeared in the Democrat-Voice, an article over the signature of W. R. (Rat) Hamilton, candidate for Sheriff of Coleman County, telling the voters of Coleman County, that if elected to that office, he was going to clean up the county as was never done before, and that he was pledging himself to law enforcement without fear or favor, irrespective of the law violator. He further indicates that the whiskey drinker, the gambler and all other law violators will be dealt with in a manner suitable to the good citizens of the county. He places great stress on law enforcement and wants to show the good people what a wonderful Sheriff he can make.

Under date of August 20th, 1926, he sallies forth with another article in The Democrat-Voice, heralding the necessity of rigid law enforcement! He has apparently just arrived at this conclusion. He again states, that if elected, he is going to show the people what a good sheriff can do. He is even going to save all the girls and boys and make Coleman county a fit place to live, an example to the state of Texas as a law abiding county.

With due fairness to the good voters of this county, and as a matter of arriving at the facts, I will ask this Stalwart Champion of the law to tell them why he did not curb the law violators during the two terms he served this county as Sheriff. If he is going to enforce the law with the iron hand that he now tells you he is, why is he ashamed to point back to his past administration as a law enforcement officer. If he is the making of a great law enforcement officer now, why, under the great Heavens, didn't he give us a little sample of his ability when he was Sheriff before. Seems as though it has just dawned on "Rat" that law enforcement is needed in Coleman County.

I would also like to have "Rat" tell the good people of this county who the bootlegger, the gambler, and the criminal element in general, supported in his past campaigns as well as in this one. It would also be interesting to the good voters of this county to know the number of gamblers and bootleggers convicted due to his efforts in his past administrations.

Come clean "Rat," get out from under the camouflage, we all know you and know what you will do if you are elected again. You can fool some of the people part of the time, but you can't fool all the people all of the time.

FORD AND HIS MONEY

More than one citizen has wondered at some time or another how much money Henry Ford makes, and now that we have found the figures we are going to satisfy their wishes. Detroit reports that his motor car company made a profit of $526,441,951 for 1917 to 1924; that his biggest year was 1922, when his company earned a total net profit of $115,797,361. But the lesson to gain is not in how much a man can make but in the fact that Ford started at the bottom, wearing blue overalls every day and a white collar only on Sunday. He stayed in overalls until his business grew to a point where he had to step in as supervisor. The young man of today may never be left a share of Ford's fortune, but he has been handed something of great value in the example Henry Ford set by starting at the bottom and sticking to the overall end of the job until he had accomplished that which any boy who wills to can accomplish—his ambition.

BURGLARS ABANDON

NITRO-CHARGED SAFE

Coleman, Aug. 23.—A safe charged with nitroglycerin stood in the Santa Fe passenger station here Monday, where robbers left it Sunday night when interrupted as they were about to blow it. Everyone carefully avoided the vicinity of the explosive loaded container, as some means was sought to harmlessly extract the nitroglycerin.

Robbers blew a smaller safe and took $180. A telegrapher in an adjoining building was attracted by the noise of the explosion and his arrival frightened the robbers away. Detective W. L. Fulch, Sheriff J. A. Trammell and Deputy Jess Reese were searching for the robbers Monday.

Ever stop to think what a better world this would be even for a day if every bit of centure was turned into words of praise?

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS—DUTIES TO MAN

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 18:11-21.
GOLDEN TEXT—Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.
PRIMARY TOPIC—The Commandments About Man.
JUNIOR TOPIC—How to Serve Man.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Loving and Helping Others.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Ideal Human Relationships.

I. The Fifth Commandment (v. 12).
1. How this commandment may be broken.

(1) By showing disrespect to parents. Disrespect is shown to parents—

(a) By speaking of them as "the old man" and "the old woman."
(b) By being ashamed to be seen in their company.

(2) By disobedience.
(3) By not supporting them in their old age.

2. Promises annexed to this commandment.

(1) "That it may be well with thee" (Eph. 6:3).
(2) "That thou mayest live long upon the earth."

II. The Sixth Commandment (v. 13).

This is a bulwark thrown around human life. Man was created in God's image. Every attempt to take human life is a thrust at God. This commandment may be broken:

1. By sinful anger (Matt. 5:22).
2. By hatred (I. Jno. 3:16).
3. By immoderate recreation.
4. By employers having unsafe surroundings, thereby causing the death of their employees.

5. By sending children to toil in shops and factories before maturity.
6. By suicide.
7. By infanticide.
8. By wars.

III. The Seventh Commandment (v. 14).

This is a bulwark thrown around the home. This commandment may be broken:

1. By unclean thoughts, affections, purposes and imaginations (Matt. 5:27, 28; 15:19).
2. By unchaste conversation.
3. By wanton looks (Isa. 3:18; II Peter 2:14).
4. By immodest apparel.
5. By actual adultery.
6. By divorce.

IV. The Eighth Commandment (v. 15).

This commandment strikes at the sin of theft. This commandment may be broken:

1. By taking that which actually belongs to another.
2. By false weights and measures.
3. By extortion.
4. By employers defrauding employees and the employee failing to do honest work or put in full time.
5. By borrowing and not returning.
6. By going into debt, knowing that payment is impossible.
7. By usury.
8. By graft.
9. By lying advertisements.
10. By making assignments to escape payment of debts.
11. By strong nations oppressing the weaker ones.

V. The Ninth Commandment (v. 16).
The sin aimed at by this commandment is a most deadly one—that of lying. This commandment may be broken:

1. By actual open lying.
2. By perjury—swearing to falsehoods by the name of God.
3. By slander.
4. By tale-bearing (Lev. 19:16). This is commonly done by repeating a report without investigating its truthfulness.
5. By creating a false impression (Ex. 23:1).
6. By a breach of promise.
7. By withholding the truth.
8. By exaggeration.
9. By flattery.

10. By recommending a man for a position of honor and trust who is unfitted for it.

VI. The Tenth Commandment (v. 17).

This commandment strikes at the desire for that which is unlawful for one to have. The sin does not lie in the desire to possess things, but in the desire to possess that which belongs to another. It is not wrong to have lands and personal property which one may have acquired honestly, but it is wrong to have the lands which belong to another. It is right for a man to have a wife, but it is sinful to have another's wife. This commandment goes back of all the rest. It deals not only with the open violation, but with the inner desires and motives. It strikes at the very purposes of the heart.

Nowhere Else to Go

SMALL TOWN DEALER DOES BIG BUSINESS

Says Regular Advertising and Cash Basis Responsible for Success.

A small town merchant who has this past year done a cash business of $1,200,000.00 in a town of 906 people was a principal speaker at the United Merchants of Texas Convention at San Antonio on July 26, 27 and 28.

Mr. Otho Mooney of the B. & O. Cash Store at Temple, Okla., who did this enormous business in a small town attributes most of his success to his advertising in his home-town newspaper.

"No one would care to read the same news on the front page of each issue of a newspaper," Mr. Mooney declares, "and they as well do not want to see the same store advertisement in each issue. A store advertisement should be changed with each issue of the paper and due regard should be given to news of the store as well as to the bargains for that particular issue."

Mr. Mooney's store does more business in a small town than any other merchant in the United States, and the condition in his trade territory are not the best. Temple is a town of 906 population located in a county of only 16,679 people. Cotton County is just what its name implies—a county where over one-half of the annual wealth comes from the production of cotton. In a one-crop country, it is usually considered necessary by merchants to sell merchandise on fall terms. Mr. Mooney has applied to his business the best merchandising methods of successful merchants all over the country. He has always sold for cash. Beginning in 1906 with an annual business the first year of $31,000.00, he has expanded his business to its present volume of over $1,000,000.00.

Mr. Mooney does not consider that he has done anything extraordinary in developing such an enormous business. He says that any merchant who will base his practices in business on methods which have been proven successful by other merchants, can increase his business from year to year. Mr. Mooney's sales people meet regularly to discuss all matters of interest to them and the store, and to receive instruction on new items of merchandise which may have been added and salesmanship instruction.—Exchange.

KNOW TEXAS—

More than a billion and a half cubic feet of natural gas is used by public utility power plants in Texas as fuel each month—about one-third of all the gas so used in the United States.

Extremes of temperature recorded in Texas during recent years range from 115 degrees as the highest to 15 degrees as the lowest.

The Brazos River has a drainage area of 41,700 square miles, all in Texas, and the Colorado River is second with a drainage area of 37,800 square miles.

There are nearly a million acres of farm land under irrigation in Texas.

The city of Alpine in Brewster County is one of the highest cities in Texas with an altitude of 4,484 feet.

One way to prevent back seat driving is to let the wife sit on the front seat as she did before the wedding.

Trying to stop something usually starts more.

Nervous hot flashes

"SOME time ago when in a very nervous, run-down condition," says Mrs. Martha F. Marlow, of Broken Bow, Okla., "I tried numerous remedies to try at least to keep going, but I could not. I was weak and tired—just no good at all. My back ached and I had hot flashes until I was so very nervous I smothered."

"I couldn't sleep and I was never hungry, and I kept getting weaker. I couldn't stand on my feet. This was an unusual condition for me as I had been pretty strong all along. I knew that I would have to do something, and that pretty soon."

"Some friend suggested that I take Cardui, and it certainly was a good suggestion, for after taking one bottle I could tell I was stronger and better. I didn't quit. I kept it up all through the change and did fine. I felt like a different person after I began taking Cardui."

Cardui has helped thousands of suffering women.

CARDUI For Female Troubles

KEEPING FAITH

Some two thousand years ago, it is recounted, a Roman playwright said: "He's not to be commended who trusts no other any further than he sees."

That may have been good advice in those days—we can't say whether it was or was not—but if it were the rule of the business and social life of this country today, we would all be headed for the bow wows.

Imagine what would be the result if, when someone handed you a check in payment for something, that you demanded to see his bank account. Let us suppose that he showed you his bank account, what would it mean if you did not trust him?

You would insist that the person giving you the check should take you to the bank. But would you trust the banker. Not if you were guided by the teachings of two thousand years ago. You would probably ask the banker to show you the money this person had in the bank. The banker likely would exhibit some gold or silver certificates.

But, what do they mean? They are valueless unless they are backed up by the required amount of gold and silver in the United States treasury. It would be out of reason to ask the banker to take you to Washington to see the metal coins that stood back of the paper money.

So you would be in a blind alley, as it were, up against a brick wall. As a matter of fact none of us can be guided by this sort of teaching. We must have faith in our associates, our friends, our neighbors, our townsmen, our merchants and our public officials. Our whole manner of living is based on faith. If it were not for confidence that men repose in one another, our social and business structure would be on a flimsy foundation.

So, when your faith in someone is shaken, just recall how much depends upon the faith and confidence of people in one another. Where it is violated once, it is kept thousands of times. Without it we would all be lost.

There are lots of people who favor regulation for other people but not for themselves. It's easy to be a reformer when such would not interfere with one.

It is often said that men in legitimate business fear to take a stand or act against those engaged in illegal business and vice because of their fear of loss of trade.

THE NEW DOLLAR BILL

Shortly there will be issued by the United States government a new dollar bill which will be two-thirds the size of the one now in use. It will replace the old dollar bill because it is cheaper to make. It requires less paper, less ink, smaller engraving plates and reduces the cost of distribution. The saving in paper alone will amount to a million and half dollars a year.

Not so long ago the government at Washington began to spread propaganda to increase the use of silver dollars. The argument was economy because the life of a silver dollar is so much longer than the life of a silver certificate.

The average life of a dollar bill is one year, and since there are always a half billion dollar bills in the pockets of the people of the United States, it follows that this number has to be printed annually, to replace those worn out.

The reaction to the government's dollars was unfavorable and treasury department officials, seeking a campaign for wider use of silver was to overcome the enormous expense of printing dollar bills, hit upon the plan of decreasing their size.

Undoubtedly the people do not want silver dollars. They have demonstrated this because the use of one dollar bills has increased seven times since 1900 and in the last decade the number of dollar bills in circulation has grown from forty to fifty percent of the currency.

Government is to provide for the wants of the people, and if they wish less weighty money, it is their right to have it, because they pay the bills.

WOMEN IN OFFICE

A recent survey of the number of positions which women occupy as town, county, state and federal officeholders, has some elements of astonishment for those who do not keep their eyes on other sections of the country.

We now have more than 11,200 postmistresses, and women serve as superintendents of schools in eight commonwealths. In Montana 50 to 56 county superintendents of schools are women, in Colorado 52 of the 63, in Idaho 36 of the 44, in Wisconsin 29 of the 71, in Wyoming 19 of the 23, in Washington 21 of the 36, in North Dakota 64 percent, in Oregon 44 percent, in New Mexico 58 percent, in Minnesota 50 percent. The women are strong, too, as county recorders, and auditors. In Utah, Iowa, Ohio, and Indiana, the percentages of county recorder offices filled by women are respectively 80, 56, and 25, the figures for Ohio and Indiana being about the same.

Two of our 48 states have elected women governors, Mrs. Ross in Wyoming and Mrs. Ferguson in Texas, each a beneficiary of a preceding husband. Half a dozen women have been secretaries of state. Ohio has a supreme court judge. We have had women mayors recently in seven states.

A "Correct" Likeness of Washington

This heroic statue of the commander-in-chief of the first armies of the United States was made for the city of Portland, Oregon, though not yet delivered there by the artist. The western municipality has loaned it to the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, opening in Philadelphia June 1 and continuing until December 1, to celebrate 150 years of American Independence. At the foot of the sculptor is shown Pompeo Coppini, the sculptor. Dr. Henry Waldó Pof, of Portland, declares the face to be the most correct likeness of Washington ever modeled.

AMERICAN SUPREMACY

Americans have a way of accomplishing things that give them supremacy in many lines of endeavor. Bobby Jones brought home the British open golf championship this summer and Gertrude Ederle, the New York butcher's daughter, has added to American laurels abroad by swimming the English channel—the first woman who ever accomplished the feat in the history of the world. Perhaps the swimming of the channel is nothing of itself, but it is significant that a slip of a girl had enough grit and determination to stay with the task until she overcome apparently insurmountable obstacles. The distance from the French mainland to the British shore is the most difficult stretch of water known to man, due to tides that made the going hard. Miss Ederle made an attempt last year and failed. Undeterred, she tried again and won. Americans, the greatest admirers of good sportsmanship, will applaud the girl for her feat. She has proved herself a good sport by trying again after failing and when the odds against her were heavy. If there was ever any doubt about the equality of woman, Miss Ederle has removed some of it by performing a feat that only man up to this time had accomplished—and in better time. She swam the channel two hours faster than the speediest male swimmer who has ever crossed. Miss Ederle has been regarded as the woman swimming champion of the world. She began early to show her prowess as a swimmer and held amateur titles and records for distances between five and fifteen miles before turning professional. Knowing how to swim is valuable. Many lives would be saved if more people, particularly women, learned the art in their youth. All can't be Gertrude Ederles, but they can at least learn to swim well enough to be able to take care of themselves in times of peril.

Speed Usually Explanation

Sunday ought to be made a day of rest for a lot of overworked Speedometers. That is a humorous statement of a very serious need. The Monday newspaper everywhere has become a motor casualty list. One is tempted to look down the columns not for whether automobile accidents occurred but whether one's friends were among the victims. And this situation prevails largely because speedometers have been overworking. Despite all that has been said that at times it is safe for motorists to attain high speed, the facts are that it is not safe. Just where the dividing line between safety and danger is for others to determine, but high speed in the popular sense is nine times out of ten the cause of accidents. A car runs off a bridge. It could not if the car were under control. One car is rammed by another. Even the victim car might have avoided the accident had its speed been lowered. A child is run down. More often than not this tragedy might be averted if the automobile were going slower. In most cases speed, even speed within the law, is responsible for the bloodshed and the property damage. The lesson that the motorist needs to learn is moderation. The American lost his liquor because he did not know how to use it. He has lost other things and will lose more unless he learns the lesson of moderation. Under certain conditions the law permits speed up to 35 miles an hour. If the motorist elects to go beyond that speed he must expect the consequences. In investigating motor accidents it is not unerringly found, but very often so, that the speed of one or both cars explains the real reason for the smash.

To the Voters of Precinct No. 7

I wish to call the Voters' attention to the Public Weigher's race, once more, at the closing of this primary.

I will say that I do not believe in this eleventh hour mud-slinging. I have not had one word to say about my opponent that would offend any one. I have tried to run a clean race and on my own merits. I feel that I am much more qualified to do the duties of the office than ever before.

I have not got to canvass the Precinct and see every one like I would have liked to have done. Watching the office and doing the duties that I have been serving you has kept me from canvassing the Precinct.

Friends I have stayed on the job day in and day out, year after year, and have not pretended to do anything else, have given you my whole intire time. I like the work and can make a living at it, won't you give the job to me for another term. Friends if I don't see you between this, and the time you vote will you consider me and help me to be your public weigher for two more years.

A Breezy Photoplay is Goulding's "Don't!"

The romantic adventure of an unconventional, modern American flapper in a small, old-fashioned town is the motif of Alf Goulding's latest picture "Don't," which comes to the Queen Theatre on Friday 3. Sally O'Neil, the newest screen "find," plays the girl in the case. Despite her inexperience, she acts with the assurance and ease of a veteran of many years' standing. The cast of "Don't!" includes many well-known players, such as John Patrick, Bert Roach, James Morrison, Estelle Clark, DeWitt Jennings, Ethel Wales, Johnnie Fox, Dorothy Seay, Evelyn Pierce, and Helen Hoge.

There has always been crime, but it didn't look so bad from the pages of history as it does face to face every day in our communities.

DON'T

With Sally O'Neil, John Patrick, Bert Roach, Estelle Clark and others.

Don't let the mania for jazz make you forget that you are a lady. When the white lights beckon you don't ignore the voice of your parents. Don't get that when you really meet your soul-mate you'll know there's no guess work.

Supreme Auto Oil

Supreme Auto Oil leaves less carbon in the cylinders, as it contains no paraffine. It has been found by United States Naval tests that paraffine in Lubricating Oil has a strong tendency to form a gummy substance on the piston and cylinder walls, which collects carbon. The excessive heat of the combustion hardens this collected carbon until layer after layer is deposited.

By using Supreme Auto Oil much of the carbon trouble is eliminated, as the soft carbon is more readily blown out with the exhaust.
