The game will be called at 3 p. m. and the proceeds will go for a good cause. The Lions Club has fostered several worthy causes since its organization and is sponsoring several now that will represent an expenditure of several hundred dollars. The public is invited to attend the game and we promise you some real sport.

HONORABLE LYNCH DAVID, SON WILL SPEAK IN COLEMAN

Honorable Lynch Davidson will speak in Coleman, Tuesday night, June 29th. Every citizen who is interested in stopping the political wrangle over the Governor's office, is invited to hear him. (Paid Adv.)

Golf Tournament July 5th; Public Invited

Monday, July 5th, the members of the local Golf Club expect to put on a tournament and entertain the families and friends who feel they would enjoy such an occasion. It is our understanding, the program will be arranged for the entire day, but the main feature will be in the afternoon. The members and their families and any others who wish to join in will have a luncheon at 6:30, and everybody will be expected to bring something for the spread. Let as many come and enjoy the day with us as wish to do so.

Oil Man Seriously Injured Last Sunday

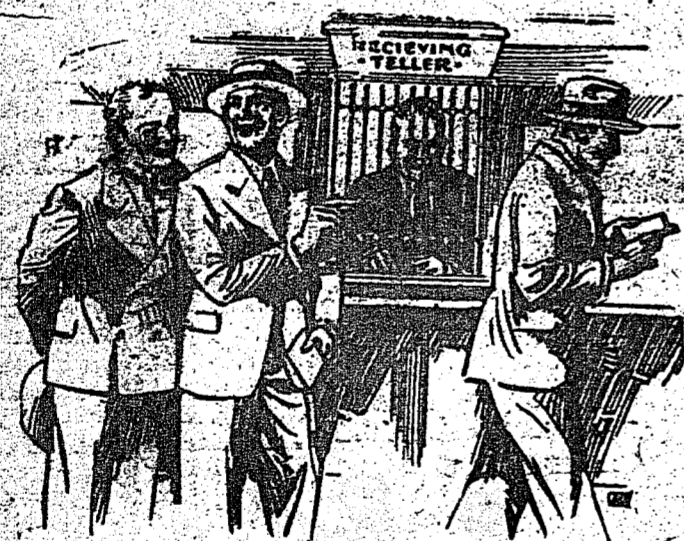

Ed Bury, local oil man, who resides on Avenue C, was seriously injured at an early hour Sunday when the car he was driving turned turtle and broke several of his ribs besides receiving other injuries. He was enroute from Santa Anna to Cross Cut when the accident occurred. He was rushed to a hospital at Santa Anna. Doctors say he will recover. Mrs. Bury, his wife, and son, George, are at his bedside.—Brownwood Daily Bulletin.

Mr. Bury has been receiving special attention at the Sealy hospital here, and is reported to be recovering. Unless unforeseen complications set up, he will recover.

LIONS INTERNATIONAL CONVENTION JULY 19-24

Reports from San Francisco, Calif., state that 4000 reservations have already been made in the various San Francisco hotels; for delegates who will attend the tenth Lions International convention to be held there July 19-24 inclusive. The biggest convention in the history of Lions is looked forward to this year. Rev. J. Hall Bowman will represent Santa Anna at the big convention.

A Coincidence That Made Brown

"YOU WANT A MAN LIKE THAT"

Brown was an every day young man around town. Well known, well liked. From his small salary he saved a set amount each week. Every Monday morning he made his deposit, watching small amounts grow into large figures. It was this saving habit that won for him a good position at real money.

Brown's regular appearances at the bank were well known and one day when a prominent manufacturer needed that type man, Brown was pointed out.

Regular saving builds confidence in you. A thrifty citizen is a worth-while dependable citizen—in whom others feel safe in placing trust—friendship, and whom they are ever willing to employ and to help.

A Thousand Voices

Through the medium of slender strips of celluloid an actor appears simultaneously on thousands of screens in many different towns. On the same evening he entertains great armies of film fans who regularly pay their money to see his performance.

So the movie star commands a king's ransom for a salary and a fortune is spent profitably to provide a proper background for his art. The movie multiplies personality and earning power.

Advertising does the same thing for a merchant. In a single day it takes his message into countless homes, to tell people why they should have his goods and how to get them. Advertising endows him with a thousand voices with which to tell his story.

But the value of advertising is by no means confined to the advertiser. It has a very definite value to you.

A glance through this paper enables you to sift out the things that interest you. Sitting in your easy chair you can compare values and prices. In a moment you can tell exactly where to go for what you want and how much to pay.

Remains of Mrs. C. C. Bonner Buried at Mart

Mrs. C. C. Bonner passed away Monday, June 21, at the residence of her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Barnes.

For three long weary months Mrs. Bonner had been sick and her suffering was very great, but she bore it all patiently and with submission. All that loving hands could do was done for Mrs. Bonner by her daughter and family.

Mrs. Bonner whose maiden name was Wright, was born near Bonham, in Fannin county, on May 20th, 1849. In 1870 she was married to C. C. Bonner, and to this union were born seven children, five of whom survive her. Her husband passed away twelve years ago. Mrs. Bonner was converted in early girlhood and joined the Baptist church. Later she united with the Christian church. She lived a consecrated Christian life, and was much loved by her friends and relatives. Funeral services were held at the family residence at 5 o'clock, Monday afternoon, Rev. Sidney F. Martin conducted the services. Then the remains were shipped to Mart, Texas, for burial. All of her children were present when death came, but one son, whose home is at Sweetwater. All accompanied the remains to Mart.

The News joins with a host of friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved.

L. A. McCREARY DIED AT HOME IN ROCKWOOD SUNDAY

L. A. McCreary died at his home in Rockwood Sunday, June 20. Mr. McCreary was confined to his home for the past five months. At the time of his death he was 78 years and 9 months old. He leaves a wife, three daughters, five sons and other relatives to mourn his death. Mr. McCreary had been a citizen of this community for twenty-three years and was loved and respected by all who knew him. The News joins the many friends of the family in extending sympathy to the bereaved.

Weather—Stephenson

Mr. Clyde Weathers and Miss Jessie Stephenson were married at the Baptist parsonage Saturday evening, June 19, Rev. Sidney F. Martin officiating. Mr. Weathers has been employed at Texas Mercantile for several months and is the son of J. M. Weathers of this city. Miss Stephenson is the daughter of Mrs. C. W. Stephenson, also of this city. She is too well known to need an introduction as she was raised here and graduated from Santa Anna high school class of '24. This young couple have the best wishes for a happy and prosperous future. They will make their home in Santa Anna.

Fred W. Turner left Saturday for Amarillo, where he attended the Seventh Annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Turner is one of the Directors and was also elected to serve another year.

Boy Scouts to Have Camp House Soon

At the Lions Club Tuesday, a move was launched to build a camp house near the old city lake for the Boy Scout organization. The shack will be a framed building 16x26, equipped for the members to camp at intervals. It is fostered by the Lions Club, but any one wishing to contribute to the building fund will be permitted to do so, and the contribution thankfully received.

A. J. McDaniel, the Scout Master, will have the work in charge and will greatly appreciate getting a camp erected for his fine bunch of Scouts.

Walker's Pharmacy Adding Improvement

The interior of Walker's Pharmacy has undergone some considerable change this week. New equipment and furnishings have been added, and a complete change of arrangements made. Mr. Walker is a booster by both precept and example, and a glance at the new arrangements of his Pharmacy reveals his good taste.

TELEPHONE SERVICE BEING VERY BADLY DISTURBED

D. J. Johnson, proprietor of the local telephone exchange, reports having considerable trouble on the lines leading out south of town, especially the lines out on the Whon road. The trouble is of such nature, the patrons in the communities who are being disturbed are going to have to use their efforts in co-operation with the telephone company to find the miscreants and bring them to time. Tuesday morning of this week several lines on the Whon road were all tied together and the patrons could not get service and considerable effort was made to locate the trouble. The trouble shortly finally located the trouble about six miles out. Some miscreant had climbed a pole, and by using an extra wire, tied all the wires together and no one could get any service. The party who performed the act probably was not aware of the fact he was promiscuously interfering with transmission of service and is subject to a fine in any sum not less than $200 or more than $1000, or imprisonment of a term from one to five years or both. It may require a sweeping grand jury investigation to clear the matter up, but whoever it is causing so much trouble should be brought to time and held accountable for his conduct. Mr. Johnson also states, people seem to disregard the fact that breaking of insulators caused disturbance of service and was expensive to the company.

Several people from Santa Anna have visited the well above mentioned, and the report given apparently is correct. However, some leases have been reported to sell for $100 per acre, and several drilling contracts made. The Fry well is situated near the north bank of the Jim Neel, and is only about 10 or 12 miles from Santa Anna.

The State Association of Sacred Harp Singers of Texas, will meet in the Baptist church at Dublin July 30, 31 and August 1. Meals will be served in the basement of the church. All Sacred Harp singers and lovers of the old time music are cordially invited to attend and enjoy this soul stirring occasion with us.

NEWS OF INTEREST AS TOLD BY THE SANTA ANNA NEWS, MAY 30, 1902

The commencement exercises of the Santa Anna High School, last Thursday and Friday nights were well attended. At an early hour all available space in the Stockard opera house was occupied and a great many seats or even standing room. The program for both nights was nicely arranged and carried out perfectly.

Friday night, Rev. Brown, of Coleman, delivered an entertaining and instructive address on education. At the close of his remarks he presented the diplomas to the graduating class, Misses Jennie Brown, Bettie Blue and Stella McDaniel.

Misses Ollie Evans and Mattie Hunter two of Miss Louella Chambers' music pupils, received gold medals for punctual attendance and progress made in their studies. Prof. C. L. McDonald presented the medals.

Willie Dunwoody and Lester Bell received the medals offered by the W. C. T. U. for the best examination on temperance, in physiology class, of the 5th and 6th grade students. The medals were presented by Prof. J. P. Murray.

V. L. Grady and wife attended the closing exercises of Miss Baker's music class at Coleman last Tuesday night.

Dr. T. M. Hays, wife and children and Mrs. M. Tyson and son, Graham, left Tuesday night on a three weeks visit to relatives in Arkansas. The News will keep them posted on the happenings in this section during their absence. We wish them a pleasant trip and a safe return home.

J. D. Simpson has had quite a number of hands at work this week thinning the cotton out of his Johnson grass and thistle patch.

The Stewardson boys brought in three loads of wool for shipment yesterday. They informed a News reporter that their wool clip this season amounted to about 12000 pounds. The entire clip was sold at 15c per pound.

Ed Bartlett and Miss Retta McDaniel, two of our most popular young people, were quietly married last Sunday evening. Rev. J. R. McCorkle performed the ceremony. May Heaven's richest blessings be showered on them and their pathway thru life be strewn with choicest flowers is the wish of the News.

J. P. Ayers has sold his barber shop and fixtures to T. R. Campbell who will conduct the business at the same old stand. See his card in this issue.

J. P. Ayers and Walter Hosh have purchased a bunch of horses and mules from W. M. Riley. They will start east on a trading expedition at an early date.

Ask Jim Gardner and Stafford Baxter about that new stock of hogs they saw at Galveston.

Workmen are laying the foundation for the Overby rock building. We are informed that it will take about three months time to complete the building.

Graduates Too Young.

I have seen a number of high school graduating classes recently and am of opinion that boys and girls are being graduated too young. From the public schools of Texas, it is contended, and is true, that the high school graduate of this era knows much more than the graduate of fifty years ago. Facilities for teaching are much better and there is much more to be learned than formerly; but with all that the child of fourteen or sixteen is too immature to be graduated and sent out to battle with life. Such a child is too undeveloped for safe college or university training and still needs the protection which the home alone affords and the individual instruction which the high school alone can give. The remedy is hardly to be found in the junior colleges, good as they may be, for too large a percentage of high school graduates take it for granted that a high school diploma is a certificate of their preparedness for life and will not go on through even the junior college courses. The better alternative now, it seems, would be to add another year to college entrance requirements, or to high school courses, and begin collegiate instruction with what is now the sophomore year.

Sequi-Centennial Opens.

The Sequi-Centennial opened at Philadelphia May 31, with an attendance estimated by the papers at 20,000 people. Doubtless most of these were persons participating in some way in the opening ceremonies. It is true it was a rainy day in Philadelphia, but rainy days do not keep Philadelphians or other people of the North away from affairs in which they are greatly interested. It is doubtful if even one person in ten that reads this knew until now that this country is celebrating or pretending to celebrate a memorable event in its history. The celebration is almost certain not to attract people in proportion to its real importance. The reason is that those in charge waited too long to begin preparations for an undertaking of such immense proportions and that the publicity given the centennial had not been in keeping with its importance. Texas should begin right now to pay the way for its great centennial and should not be satisfied with less than a half million loyal Texans at the opening ceremonies.

Bringing Them To Texas.

The East Texas Chamber of Commerce has drawn its first citizen to Texas by securing W. N. Blanton, of the Shreveport Chamber of Commerce, as its general manager. At first thought one might be of the opinion that a Texan should be given the job of managing the development of East Texas, but more thinking convinces one that the East Texas Chamber is seeking results and already has something to show for its work. Then, if Blanton knows Louisiana, and if it is presumed that he does, he ought to be able to persuade them that it will be to their interest to leave Louisiana and "come to East Texas." If he can only show those East Texas towns how Shreveport, right near the eastern gate of Texas, has so outstripped them in the race for population and industries, and can induce those same East Texas towns to do as Shreveport has done, then he will have earned his salary. Here is hoping for Blanton and the East Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Bond Validation Must Wait.

Governor Ferguson announces that he will not call a special session of the legislature now because of the primary election. The request made by the committee was that the call be held now for a session to be held after the primaries. It being thought that a call issued now would indicate to bond owners and buyers that Texas intends to protect its bond issues, and thus confidence would be immediately restored. The governor, however, will not give consideration to the request for a special session until next September of October, at which time she will decide whether the relief proposed by the attorneys who have prepared bond validation bills would in fact afford the necessary relief and whether a special session should be called. Texas' credit and financial standing are involved to the extent of about $82,000,000 and awaits the governor's pleasure.

Advertising Texas.

The Texas Associated Advertising Clubs are to spend $250,000 in the near future in advertising Texas. This is a good start, but it is only a start toward the amount that will be spent in the next ten years for such a purpose, and especially if the Texas Centennial project gets under good headway as soon as it should.

Aping European Monarchies.

Some of our public functions indicate that the United States is not at heart a democracy. We can hardly have a public entertainment without crowning a king or queen with all the pomp and ceremony which we imagine were used in olden days when royalty was crowned in state. This appears to be the most popular kind of school entertainment that can be given, and fond parents delight to see their republican children aping monarchical ceremonies. These may not be harmful plays, but certainly it seems out of place and out of line with all our governmental ideas.

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

by John Joseph Gaines, M. D.

FRESH VEGETABLES.

You sit down at your radio and "tune in" for the biggest city your set will reach; you listen to the program, which usually embodies that plaintive song, "Thank God For a Garden." The singer perhaps exists more than thirty-five miles away from anything like a garden, and buys her vegetables after it has passed through a dozen hands possibly including one manufacturing company! The value of the real garden is inestimable. Out in the country where the sweet rain falls from heaven—where pure soil nourishes the fresh, tender plants; where the peas, beans, radishes, lettuce, onions, and what not, grow to perfection in the purest air imaginable; where strawberries, raspberries, currants, gooseberries, cherries, ripen in the sunshine. Where even the cucumbers are so harmless! Where tomatoes are real; where the hand of the "middleman" the wholesaler, the "jobber" and the refrigerator bin are unknown. Is it any wonder that rural life stands enviable in its completeness?

Fresh garden-grown food is the best known diet. Here the vitamin is at its best and highest potency. Here the protein in the vegetable is manufactured in Nature's wonderful laboratory. Here the plant juices supply the body with everything needed for its restoration and recreation.

Recently I read that we have about 200 new diseases, since the advent of scientific canning, curing, sterilizing, and pasteurization! It's enough to set one to thinking. Some time ago, I was horrified to find in one of our canned soups—a standard variety—a thousand or so of little starch discs, each bearing letters of the alphabet, presumably advertising! Ye Gods—what next?

OUR MAGAZINE FOR JULY

Following are titles for some of our magazine articles which appear in our July 2nd Santa Anna News:

"The Old San Antonio Road"

Will be the heading of an article in the Monthly Magazine Section of the Santa Anna News. Over this road passed the early Texas colonists and pioneers.

Richest Indian Tribe in the World

The income of the Osage Indian tribe of Oklahoma now amounts to $20,000 per day; this money is being paid the tribe in bonuses and royalties by oil companies which have leased their lands.

The Dairy Industry in Texas

Offers exceptional opportunities for the industrious man who will go in with a small herd of cows and increase his herd gradually. During the year of 1924, 174,786,642 gallons of milk were sold in Texas. An all-year-around cash market for dairy products makes this business attractive.

Boys and Girls

Aunt Mary's Sunshine-for-Shut-Ins Club is increasing in membership day by day. Help some poor unfortunate boy or girl by joining the club. Full particulars on the Boys' and Girls' page.

Woman's Page

The friendly talks of Mrs. Margaret Stute, who edits the Woman's page in the Monthly Magazine Section of the Santa Anna News have become quite popular with housewives. Mrs. Stute writes from experience, is a practical housekeeper and has the interest of the women-folks at heart. Read her page in our July Magazine Section.

Seezem and Squeezem

Well, old Seezem and Squeezem are out again with something funny in our July Magazine Section. Squeezem is not much impressed with the Governor's race. Says there is too much mud-slinging and that the race has about narrowed down to petty personalities. If he announces his candidacy at all it will be upon the urgent request of the majority of his staunchest friends.

1,000,000 CAMPERS

More than 1,000,000 boys and girls are expected to attend 6000 camps that will be provided for them during this summer. This modern development is quite a change from the old days when so many boys spent much vacation time slouching on curbstones, and the girls spent a large part of it dreaming and in child play.

These youngsters will come home as brown as berries, they will know something about good games, they will have learned to obey rules, and they will behave pretty well until their homes demoralize them by lax government. Many of them would be better off if they were under camp discipline all the time. Which is a suggestion to a good many indulgent and foreeless parents, that they might well study the methods by which these summer-camps get control of the children and make them play the game.

The only reason a lot of us don't have to go to the 'poorhouse' is because we're already in one.

When it comes to bank rolls, "Roll your own" is a good motto.

WHAT'S DOING IN WEST TEXAS

Washington D. C.—The West Texas Chamber of Commerce through H. M. Eaton their Washington representative has intervened in the hearing regarding the control of the Thurberia weevil of Arizona. This weevil, a dry-land insect, is even more destructive to cotton in dry uplands such as West-Texas than the Mexican boll weevil has proven in more humid sections. The U. S. Department of Agriculture has framed a rigid system of regulatory measure similar to those employed to combat the pink boll worm and a quarantine of Arizona cotton is contemplated unless the pest has been brought under control.

Stamford—Reduced passenger rates have been granted by the Rock Island, Sante Fe, T-B, M-K-T; and the Denver Road on labor moving into West Texas during the harvest season. Fare of two thirds the regular one way rate have been granted by these roads on parties of twenty five or more moving into the grain belt of West Texas.

Chillicothe—A great July 5 Celebration will be held here. The celebration is sponsored by the American Legion and is supported by the Chillicothe Development Club. Fire works and other entertainment is to be provided.

Ranger—The old Ranger Refining plant here has been rehabilitated and will be reoperated by the Petroleum Products Corporation of Pittsburg, Pa. These people are considering the establishment of a mineral rubber factory here in connection with the refinery.

Cisco—R. Q. Lee, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has returned to his home following the completion of his campaign thru the Heart of Texas district in behalf of his program of diversified and intensive farming.

San Antonio—Porter A. Whaley, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for the past seven years will assume his new post as manager of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce on July 15.

Hamilton—The Hamilton Chamber of Commerce has reorganized after a period of inactivity and has elected Chas. McMorte as secretary. E. H. Whitehead publicity manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce was principal speaker at the regular banquet of the Chamber of Commerce held this month.

San Saba—The greatest oat crop in the history of this region is now being threshed. Fields of more than one hundred bushels per acre are common and the average is nearly eighty bushels per acre.

Breckenridge—This city is to have a new five story hotel to cost $400,000.

Olney—Boyce House, well known West Texas newspaperman formerly staff correspondent for the Fort Worth Record, is the new editor of the Olney Enterprise. House will also serve as general publicity man for the town working in co-operation with the Olney Chamber of Commerce.

Cross Plains—Fifteen thousand dollars has been appropriated by the state highway commission for the purpose of improving the corner of State Highway 23 through this county. This gap is the only weak link in the chain from San Angelo to Fort Worth via the Bankhead Highway.

Are You Getting What You Should Out of This Life?

(Hamilton Herald-Record)

You may be well provided for, as far as this world's goods is concerned; but if you are not contented and enjoying it, you are no better off than the person who has practically nothing. You wish for more and more; you are dissatisfied because you can not constantly increase your pleasures of your holdings. Do you remember when you thought that if you possessed a certain amount you would be satisfied for the rest of your life? You worked and you got it. Now you can buy anything your fancy indicates; but the joy in possession is not yours.

It is always the things-in prospect that lures you. It is always the thing in hand which cloy's you.

What can you afford, you do not want and what is beyond your grasp is your greatest ambition. You don't get much out of life with such a disposition. What is life without peace and joy and contentment? It does not pay to gain possessions unless you appreciate them.

Why should anyone work for something that is of no value after it is gained. Nothing in this world is so valuable as pleasure that has been earned.

Press of Wheeling, West Virginia, Tells of Blanton's Standing in Congress

Reprinted From The Wheeling Telegraph, April 5, 1926.

CONGRESSMAN BLANTON OF TEXAS

Washington, D. C., April 5. When Congressman Rankin of Mississippi attempted to climb Representative Ogden L. Mills' frame on the floor of the House, Thursday morning it was Congressman Blanton of Texas that led Mr. Mills out of the danger zone and probably saved the New Yorker a pair of black eyes. Yes, Congressman Blanton was right there, as he always is when anything of importance is going on. Hon. Thomas Lindsay Blanton of Abilene, Texas, is probably the most remarkable individual that has ever been a member of Congress in recent years, possibly for all times. To students of psychology he would prove most interesting subject for analysis and many different conclusions concerning him would no doubt be reached. This, however, is certain, he is honest, fearless, and possessed with a tremendous seeming tireless energy.

Blanton has something to say on almost every subject that presents itself in the House of Representatives. He usually seems to be right on the different stands he takes on any and every matter.

Mr. Blanton not only takes part in almost every debate on the floor of the House but is also one of the best parliamentarians in the House. He is said to be equally regular in his attendance on Committee meetings in whose deliberation he always takes an active part. It is also said the Congressman from Texas reads the Congressional Record daily and peruses carefully every bill that is on the Calendar. Where he finds time to attend to all these matters is one of the mysteries of Washington.

Congressman Blanton is a member of the House Committee on District Columbia which makes all the laws governing the city of Washington and supervises the expenditure of money contributed by the Federal Government for its use. There is a great deal of work that accrues to conscientious members of this Committee and Mr. Blanton is one of the hardest of these workers. He takes a hand in everything that has to do with the local government of Washington and a most intelligent interest at that. He exerts a tremendous influence in its affairs here, so much so he is termed by some the Mayor of Washington. There was a time when Blanton first became a member of Congress that he may have been considered somewhat of a nuisance by his contemporaries.

But not so now, he is treated by his associates with uniform consideration and his arguments listened to by them with apparent interest. Blanton is an unrelenting foe of graft and extravagance and no doubt his sincere efforts in this direction has won him the confidence of his fellow Congressmen.

That he is popular at home is indicated by his continued re-election with increased majorities. In 1922 in the Democratic primaries his plurality was in excess of 14,000; in 1924 he was re-elected to the present Congress with a majority of approximately 50,000 votes. Before his election to Congress Mr. Blanton was a Judge of the 42nd Judicial District of Texas, a judgeship to which he was re-elected in 1912. Congressman Blanton is a Presbyterian, also a Knight of Pythias, Knight Templar, Shriner, 32d Degree Scottish Rite Mason, member of all bodies of Independent Order of Odd Fellows and Woodmen of the World. Congressman Blanton coming from Texas, is of course, a Democrat, and a dyed in the wool kind at that. He makes an all around good Congressman and the country is fortunate in having a man of his calibre and temperament on the job.

Robber Loots Riley Feed Store at Melvin of Cash and Checks Sunday

The J. W. Riley feed store was entered on Saturday or Sunday night and $15 in currency and $40 in checks taken. The money was three five dollar bills and was left in the cash drawer of the safe, which was not locked.

Entrance was gained by pushing open the front door and after rifling the safe the cash drawer was turned over and left inside the book compartment of the safe and the door closed. The robbery was discovered Monday morning.—Melvin Enterprise.

It seems quite consistent for the party conventions to adopt the two-thirds rule, since the rest of the country obeys only about two-thirds of the laws.

Worry is of no value after all. Many would be idle about half the time if they didn't have something to worry about.

It is not so much we oppose the other candidates, but our choice for Governor of Texas, is Lynch Davidson, for the simple reason he is clean, sober and industrious in his personal life. He has had experience as a statesman, and proved a success every time he was tried. He made a good Lieutenant Governor, he made a success with the "bursted" state railroad and in every legislative or executive place he ever held he mastered the situation. However, the one who secures the greatest number of votes and is elected, will be our Governor, and, as the governor of this great state, we will respect them during their term of office.

What Independence Means to America

A century and a half ago the American Colonies declared their independence from Great Britain, established the foundation of the United States of America. In support of the Declaration the 54 delegates, "with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence," mutually pledged to each other their "lives, fortunes and sacred honor."

The famous document aimed its protests against the King, and came at a time in the world's history when the result was inevitable. It was not only a declaration against the political bands, but has been the fountain head of the American ideals of independence in action and thought. The generations that have come since 1776 in both Great Britain and the United States have ever reconciled the Declaration of Independence and its consequences with the necessities of the time. Americans hold in racial characteristics and in the attributes of the English-speaking people the rich heritage which has contributed to the glory that is theirs from the Mother country.

It is but a tribute to Great Britain, and a source of pride to America, that the offspring found itself in possession of the initiative and the resourcefulness to develop into a great and self-sustaining nation. Clothed with this independence in government and freedom from the religious and social restraints that, in some measure have kept the people of Europe in the throes of strife, the people of the United States can join in friendly intercourse with all civilized nations in helping the world to attain its highest destiny. America has never felt herself entirely independent of the civilization and learning of the old world. Independence is never to be translated as isolation. It is rather to be construed as placing a nation in the position of asserting greater influence for good and of rendering better service to the human race.

With such independence—the national self-reliance which is the goal of intelligent citizenship—may the people of the United States celebrate the anniversary which time and history have interwoven with the American ideal of liberty.

Santa Anna Star to Coach Football at Victoria High (Brownwood Bulletin)

Albert Lowe of Santa Anna, four-year football player at Trinity University and all-T. I. A. A. quarterback last season, has signed to coach and teach in Victoria High School and Junior College for next year. Lowe will receive his degree from Trinity this summer.

It is likely that the former Trinity grid star will coach the junior college football and baseball teams, with the high school football and baseball teams, and the junior college track teams being handled by his assistants.

Lowe played an important part in the success achieved on the gridiron by the Tigers last year and as a result was named on the all-T. I. A. A. team. He led the Tigers in scoring, making practically all of his touchdowns after long runs nearly the length of the field. He was one of the best dropkickers in Texas college circles last year.

Besides lettering in football four years, Lowe won his "T" in track two seasons.

The Trinity star coached football at Santa Anna High School in 1924.

DOES ADVERTISING PAY? ASK THOSE WHO USE IT

Wrigleys spend $3,500,000 a year to tell the public about chewing-gum. Ford spends $6,000,000 to sell fifty-cars.

The electric light and power industry spends more than $4,000,000 in advertising.

Campbells spend $1,500,000 advertising soups.

Electric railway companies' advertising appropriations total $2,500,000. The advertising budget for Colgate is $1,185,000.

Some $1,170,000 is spent by Proctor & Gamble to sell soap.

Gas companies spent something more than $2,000,000.

A total of $1,142,000 is spent on Victor talking machines.

Telephone companies have busy advertising lines with an estimated total of $1,500,000. Along each line sounds the voice with the smile.

Does advertising pay? The answer is to be found in America's business, commercial and industrial trend.

"THE SAME HERE"

"Dad's Day" passed very quietly in Brownwood. The stores failed to feature the day, the ministers forgot to mention it, and except for an occasional "Dad" who was remembered by a thoughtful and much appreciated message or gift from son or daughter, the day might have as well been marked off the calendar.—Brownwood Bulletin.

WORKING ON HOME GROUNDS

A good many families here in Santa Anna spend quite a little money in hiring men to take care of their gardens and lawns. It is an excellent way to use money, and so far as one can afford it, it pays many times over.

It is also a fine thing for families to form the habit of working on their home grounds with their own hands. When they do that, they are not satisfied with plain and unadorned places, but they are constantly adding some new touch of beauty. A home will never look like a kind of machine product then, but it will look as if some craftsman had done it for love.

J. M. Smith, wife and little daughter of Dublin, visited first of the week in the H. H. Brown home near Liberty. Mrs. Smith is a cousin to Mrs. Brown. The editor was happily surprised Monday morning to have Mr. and Mrs. Brown and the Smith family to pay us a visit at this office. Mr. Smith and Mrs. Brown were good neighbors to the Gregg family back in Clay County, Ala., and it gives us a real pleasure to have them visit us here in our Texas office. Well do we remember how good Mrs. Brown could prepare bread and butter when the writer was a small boy, especially when we were detained a few hours in her husband's blacksmith shop waiting for a few plows and sweeps to be sharpened. At that time she was Mrs. Eli Smith, and her home was at Delta, Ala.

"Wolf Heart's Revenge" at Queen Theatre Saturday

Smiling Jack, as he is known among the boys on the Bronson Ranch, was taken out to be hanged by the ranch hands after being accused of murder and cattle rustling. It was a case of circumstantial evidence, as the foreman on the ranch, who was jealous of Jack, planted a letter on his person that involved him. Had it not been for the timely arrival of his dog, Wolf Heart, who dug up the real murderer and revealed him, Smiling Jack would now be among the rest that went west. This and many other gripping scenes make up the red-fire western feature starring Big Boy Williams.

The fine rains this spring has made it possible for plenty of good home gardens, and these Kentucky Wonders are really wonderful. Black-eye peas, beets, cauliflowers and other garden products are sure fine. The Santa Anna News is going to award a prize to the farmer presenting the first watermelon to this office, and we have a "hunch" there is going to be more melons grown in Coleman county this year than have been grown in several years.

Rev. A. M. Pleasant and family returned last week from a visit to San Antonio, Corpus Christi and the Rio Grande Valley. They report that crops are flourishing in that section of the country. Mrs. Pleasant has relatives in Donna, which she visited. Perhaps it will be of interest to some of the News readers to know that J. A. Ruffner, a former pastor of the Methodist church at this place, is now stationed at Donna.

No one has ever figured out a way to sit on your hands and grasp an opportunity.

The Pennsylvania Republican primaries, in which a United States senatorial candidate was selected, cost $2,000,000. This was paid for largely by large manufacturing interests, the president of one association contributing or paying nearly $400,000. Perhaps the present campaign in Texas, when all the offices from the precinct officials to the candidates for governor are considered, will cost Texas people even more than Pennsylvania paid for their primary. The time lost by the public in political meetings, and wasted in private political discussions, if spent in profitable employment, would doubtless bring the total expense or loss of a Texas election up to four or five million dollars. It is estimated that the expense of running the Texas government for the next two years will be about $50,000,000.

People pay cheerfully for elections and for the support of the National and State governments, but there are deep-seated mutterings among the masses when there is glaring evidence of waste and mismanagement, for they know that in some way they must bear the brunt of governmental support.

Texas Needs a Great Museum

Prof. J. E. Pearce, head of the anthropology department of the University of Texas, says that the university needs a great museum worse than anything else unless it be a library building. Texas should have the greatest museum in the world and the University of Texas seems to be the logical place for it. If the people of Texas will center their attention for the next few years upon the proposed Texas Centennial Exposition and will locate it adjacent to the State University, Texas University will be provided with buildings to house its museum collection for the next hundred years or more. More than that it will have auditoriums, a great community building, dormitories and many other much needed structures. Texas should have the greatest exposition ever held in this country, that is, a partial progress of the past century may be suitably commemorated, and good business judgment demands that the buildings used for the exposition be afterward converted to some use that will best serve the interests of the entire State.

Measuring Personal Success

Commenting on the masterly commencement address delivered at the University of Texas by former Attorney General T. W. Gregory, M. E. Foster, of the Houston Chronicle, says: "We do stress too much that success which means only the accumulation of money." In this Mr. Foster is eminently correct. He mentions men like Judge Norman G. Kittrell, Dr. M. L. Graves, B. W. Turner, H. M. Garwood, M. H. Gossett and Col. J. P. Walters as local examples of eminently successful men who are not in the millionaire class. These are good examples, but every one of those named is financially independent and much in the public eye. Mr. Foster could, if he would, go further and find scores of successful men and women who are so poor in worldly goods that they pay practically no taxes, and whose names are never seen in the newspapers, who are just as successful, and in many cases more successful, than the millionaires of his city. They are the people who are unostentatiously doing the little daily services to better the conditions of or make happier those around them. Mr. Foster's reporters find the every day often in the most humble walks of life, and they really deserve more praise from the press than many of those who are doing the so-called "big things."

Press Favors Court Reform

Following an earnest discussion, after what looked like an effort to sidetrack the motion through technical procedure, the Texas Press Association at its meeting in San Antonio went on record with a unanimous vote to render what assistance it can to the Texas Bar Association in an effort to so reform Texas court procedure as to bring about quicker and greater justice in court trials. It was agreed that the present procedure often works unnecessary hardships, delays justice and often thwarts it entirely, encourages crime, and needs reforming. The Texas press can, if only it becomes enough interested, bring about the needed changes, for the press can make its influence felt in legislative halls as no other agency can. That part of the Texas bar that really wants improvement in court procedure recognizes the power of the press, and for that reason its co-operation was sought.

Henry Ford's Degree

There are some unkind enough to say that since the University of Michigan has seen proper to give Henry Ford an engineer's degree it is now hoped that he may, in return for the compliment paid him, put an engine in the Ford car.

Speaking of Cars

Do you recall that autoists in Texas once hoped that the present headlight law would make it possible to drive at night without being blinded by glare from headlights?

TRUTH IN ADVERTISING

A dozen dealers in jewelry and tableware of a large city have adopted a code of ethics in which they agree not to misrepresent their merchandise. Any violations of the agreement they have made are to be reported to the Better Business Bureau of that city.

This step by the jewelry merchants is in line with the modern tendency in the retail business. Retailers have learned, many from experience, that falsehoods in advertisements react unfavorably, in time, upon the business concerning which they are made, and indirectly they undermine all business by lessening public confidence.

The large city jewelry stores, as a class, have been the worst offenders in using misleading advertising to get business. The fact that they have entered into an agreement to stick to the truth in representing their merchandise is an admission that there have been some practices in that branch of the retail business that needed correcting.

The public confidence in business will increase as different branches of business follow in the steps of the jewelers. Furniture dealers have taken similar action and for a similar reason.

Merchants are constantly endeavoring to avoid exaggeration. They know that such an attitude will rebound to their credit, and an honest policy in representing merchandise is beneficial to all advertising.

THANKLESS CITY JOBS

Civic loyalty is a splendid virtue, but one can hardly expect thankless jobs and low pay to attract the most qualified men to important municipal positions.

A survey covering 12 eastern cities, conducted by the Philadelphia Bureau of Municipal Research shows that the salaries of higher officials and scientific and professional city workers are at a discouragingly low mark.

Men who spend their time deriding city officials would do well to give a little attention to the conditions under which these men work and help make city offices more attractive to persons of ability and talent.

Golden opportunities are generally found in clouds with silver linings.

Every man knows what he would do if he had the money, but few do like he thinks he would.

A LAY SERMON
A number of men were discussing another who was not present and the remarks were not all complimentary. Finally one man who had been silent said: "Well, I know he isn't any saint, but one thing I'm sure of he doesn't owe one of you a cent. Whatever he is, he pays his debts and pays them cheerfully." And that ended the condemnatory talk.
There is hardly any one thing that will help a young man so much in making a success, as the reputation of promptly taking care of his financial obligations, and nothing will injure his reputation more than to get his name on the town's dead-beat list. We know a young man who only last week failed to secure a position he very much desired because an investigation of his record for debt paying proved he was not living within his income.
And just here we would say it's a pretty safe plan not to condemn a man for being a "little close," if that man is as punctilious about paying his own debts, as he is on insisting for what is due him. Most of us have known some very generous souls who have been generous with other people's money.
This little lay sermon is being preached to impress on the readers that it pays to be honest, even if there is no higher motive than that of policy.
Over 40 years ago a man walked into a Marshall store and asked the proprietor how much he owed him. The merchant had forgotten the young man who had been out west for two years on a cattle ranch, and the young man told his name and the merchant looked at his books and said he found nothing against him. The young man insisted he owed the merchant and told him to look on his ledger 2 years back. The merchant looked but again found no charge, then the devil entered into the young man's soul. He said: "Well, when I left here I thought I owed you twenty dollars. I haven't been making much money, but I have always intended to pay it. I am home now on a visit and as I have saved up a little I thought I would settle it. But, I suppose I must have been mistaken. I must have paid it and forgotten it." With that he left the store. In ten minutes he came back and threw a twenty dollar gold piece on the counter and said: "I don't care what your books show, I owe you that money and you came near making a thief out of me, that twenty dollars looks mighty big to me and it came near being big enough to cause to lose my soul."
That young man now is one of the most successful ranchmen in West Texas. In talking to a friend not long since about the twenty dollar debt, he said: "That twenty dollars was all I had except possibly a couple more. I just don't remember how I got back on the job on the ranch, but I do remember one night away out there on those western plains while I was riding my pony that I got down and knelt by a cactus bush and thanked God that He sent me back to that store that day, the store I had left a few minutes before as a thief, and the store from which, after He sent me back, I emerged an honest man. And when I got back on my pony I looked up at the stars and they beamed on me with approving rays and a night bird sang a song to his mate in a nearby mesquite bush, and my eyes blurred with happiness and thankfulness that when the greatest temptation of my life came that I had power to conquer. I have never had trouble since in being honest. But my entire career hung in the balance that day when that Marshall merchant couldn't find my name on his book.—Marshall News.

COMMITTEE SETTLES BANK TAX QUESTION FOR COMMISSIONERS (Democrat-Voice)
The Commissioners' Court of Coleman county has been in session the past several days and with the assistance of a committee appointed by bankers and the court the bank tax question, it is believed, has been amicably settled.
In and prior to 1923 personal property in Coleman county, including bank stock, merchandise, live stock, etc., was rendered at 66 2/3 per cent. Cash on hand and notes, when assessed, were rendered at 100 per cent. Banks objected to the rendition and went into court. The court sustained their contention and the rate was subsequently fixed at 41 per cent. Personal property as named above was rendered at 60 per cent with cash on hand and notes remaining at 100 per cent.
In 1925 bank stock was raised from 40 per cent to 50 per cent and merchandise, automobiles, live stock, cash on hand, etc., was lowered to 50 per cent. The court justified this action with Article No. 7165 Revised Statutes of 1925, paragraph No. 3, which reads as follows: "National banks shall be required to render all their real estate as other real estate is rendered; and all the personal property of said National banks herein taxed shall be valued as other personal property is valued."
At a meeting of the Commissioners' Court sitting as a board of equalization for 1926 it was agreed that banks should be allowed to reduce to 45 per cent in view of the fact that merchandise, live stock, automobiles, etc., did not appear to be rendered at a higher figure; despite the fact that an effort had been made to take them at 50 per cent. The banks protested at being required to render at more than 40 per cent and it was finally agreed between the committees representing the banks and the Commissioners' Court to select disinterested men and submit the facts to them as a committee and abide by the decision. The committee composed of T. J. Allen, W. T. Vinson and A. R. Brown decided that 40 per cent would be an equitable rendition and the court set 40 per cent for the current year.
It is, however, the opinion of all members of the present court that in future years all forms of personal property should be reduced so as to be in line with bank renditions as provided in Article 7165 given above.
REPAIRS.
Santa Anna News: Last week we started out full of vim and determination, but not vitality, to get our paper out early and get a good run on another one for this week, come out a day early and meander our way over to San Antonio for a three-day session of the State Press Association, and more things happened to us in one week than usually happens in six months. One of the drawbacks was a pinion on the motor drive that works the main gear wheel on the typesetting machine shriveled up and refused to perform. We boarded a car went to Brownwood and exerted our every effort to find one, but to no avail. Late Wednesday we wired to Memphis, Tenn. for one, and it came in Friday night, but was the wrong pinion. After pondering over the further disappointment for a while we assembled our mechanical implements and proceeded to work the thing over and make it perform. So far it is performing and we are working like fury to get out another paper before the "critter" refuses to function again.
It is one of the mysteries of the business how the mechanism of a first-rate shop can get out of whack. The linotype is one of the most wonderful machines ever invented. But, unlike a fliwver, it refuses to function at all if it is not in good health throughout. The slightest derangement will give it the hiccoughs or even mal de mer. And when a linotype pot has the mal de mer 'woe' be unto the shin that is unwary. S. P. has heard luckless operators begin at the bottom of the vocabulary and gradually work up. When they were out of breath they just had to stop. Everything has to stop while the process of poking and chipping and prying cleans the patient—the linotype, that is—all up and the operator slides gingerly back into his chair and tickles her to see if she's still uneasy in her tummy. Like an infant, the linotype has to have her dinner just right, neither too hot nor too cold; and, like baby, too, she has to have her mouth wiped off at intervals or else there'll be trouble.—State Press in Dallas News.

Baptist Church
We are anxious to have all in Sunday School Sunday at 9:45. Especially we are anxious to make this a high day in the Sunday School. So if you are not in Sunday School start. We will be glad to see you. We have classes for all. We will have a treat Sunday morning at the morning hour. Rev. C. E. Lancaster, pastor of the First Baptist church of Coleman will preach for us. You will want to hear him. He is a good preacher and will bring us a message that will make us all happy. All are invited to hear him.
The B. Y. P. U. will meet promptly at 7:15. Come to the B. Y. P. U. Sunday without fail. God programs have been arranged.
There will be no evening service on account of the revival at the Methodist church.
Sidney F. Martin, pastor.
Christian Church
The regular services will be had at the Christian Church next Sunday morning, but there will be none at night on account of the revival at the tabernacle. All members urged to attend the Bible school and the services following.
The protracted meeting of this church is to begin on Friday night before the Fourth Sunday in July. Evangelist Strong and singer of Fort Worth will lead in this meeting.
A. L. Oder, minister.
Philathae Class Organized
The Philathae class met at the church and organized with Mrs. Byrd as teacher. The following officers were elected: President, Mabel Newman; Vice-President, Thelma Hinds; Sec-Treas., Maggie Mills; Corresponding Sec., Lula Harvey; Reporter, Ethel Jones.
"WHAT HAPPENED TO JONES" at Queen Wednesday and Thursday
In "What Happened to Jones," the latest Universal-Jewel, Reginald Denny, impersonates a woman for several important sequences. Being a master of all the manly sports, an athlete, yachtsman and expert racing driver, the star had an awful time in trying to perfect his characterization. But Marion Nixon, his leading lady came to the rescue, and gave him several hours instruction in the manly art of being a woman. That she is a good teacher, or Denny a good pupil, is evident on viewing the scenes on the screen.
Your opinion of a man always grows when he compliments you on your judgment.

FARMERS ARE TIRED.
MONEY ENOUGH—MELLON.
DANCING IN CHURCH.
GERTRUDE TRIES AGAIN.
Dr. Jaeger, Government volcano expert, ordngs from Hawaii an interesting device. Stored in basement or cellar, this household seismograph will warn the family of any coming earthquake sufficiently in advance. That interests New Yorkers, told that a big earthquake fault runs from the Statue of Liberty up the Hudson River. But many little earthquakes rumbles mean nothing and after a few warnings families will become as indifferent to earthquake warnings as workmen do to lars of dynamite.
There is an automobile for every six people in the United States, about half as many as there ought to be. Before long, in hundreds of thousands of families, there will be a separate car for each person past sixteen years of age. Each bird needs its own wings.
The Reverend Tertius Van Dyke, son of the extremely able Dr. Henry Van Dyke, quits his fashionable New York church for a small town pulpit. "The people of New York want their religion with a jazz tempo," he says, and he doesn't intend to shoot off fireworks or wear a red vest, to save men's souls.
Mr. Van Dyke's complaint is just. When you have bare-footed young ladies dancing in the church aisles to "express religion" you push competition far. But pulpit competition is not new. It was still active in Brooklyn DeWitt's time, and down his long pastures of Henry Ward

Beecher sold a good looking mulatto slave girl at public auction in his pulpit.
Farmers ask a fair profit on money, labor and life invested in their farms, and are told "Oh, that is ruled by the laws of supply and demand. We cannot do anything about THAT."
When railroads tell the Republican Government they want at least $100,000,000 on fifteen to twenty billions of securities, largely pure water, no supply and demand platitudes are handed out.
The Interstate Commerce Commission most politely raises freight and passenger rates, and the public pays.
The farmers are tired of that.
If you wonder WHY the farmers are tired, look at today's Wall Street news:
No. 1: "Class 1 railroads gain 14.7 per cent in earnings."
No. 2: "Corn is worth about fifty-five cents a bushel on the farm where it grows."
Bankers wondered how much Secretary Mellon must borrow to meet the Government's spring payments. Optimists thought he might get along with two hundred millions. Conservatives said at least three hundred millions.
Mr. Mellon amazes high finance by borrowing no money. Uncle Sam can finance himself, thanks to Mr. Mellon's management.
The people pay him $12,500 a year, and this year he will clear off eight hundred millions more of public debts.
Gertrude Ederle, extraordinary young American swimmer, will try the English Channel once more, and says, "Last year's experience will help me." It should help her not to eat another heavy meal before she enters the water. A thoroughbred horse eats nothing on the morning of the race. Men know how to handle horses, but don't know how to handle themselves. Millions of young Americans eat heartily and immediately dance the Charleston violently, adding a heavy percentage to the American dyspepsia record. Tell that to your children.
Our young ladies are becoming sophisticated, almost cold. A young gentleman in love with Miss Clara Bow, who did not care much for him, slashed his wrists with a razor. Her comment was, "Gentlemen usually prefer guns, when they commit suicide for love."

Dad Comes into His Own in "The Auction Block"
Every man and woman in motion pictures has had innumerable screen "mothers," but it is only once in a while that a father has figured prominently in the action, and then usually as a figure of ridicule or the "comedy relief." Hobart Henley has gone a long way toward making it up to the gentlemen of the land in his production of "The Auction Block" which will be shown at the Queen Theatre Monday and Tuesday. There is no only one father in this Metro-Goldwyn Mayer picture, but three. Edythe Yorke is the only mother in the picture, and she plays the wife of Mr. Corrigan.

Lesson for June 27

REVIEW: WHAT WE HAVE LEARNED FROM THE BOOK OF GENESIS.

GOLDEN TEXT—We know that all things work together for good to them that love God, who are called according to his purpose.—Rom. 8:28.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Favorite Stories from Genesis.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Stories of the Patriarchs.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Favorite Characters in Genesis.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Permanent Messages of the Book of Genesis.

The method of review must always be determined by the department of the Sunday school and by the teacher's preferences. For the young people and adults, perhaps the best method will be to assign the task of finding the most important teaching of each lesson.

The following is suggestive of the method of review recommended:

Lesson for April 11—God created all things. The things which are come to be by the creative act of a personal God. God created man in His likeness and image, which means that man bears God's likeness morally and intellectually.

Lesson for April 18—The explanation of theills and sorrows of the world can only be made on the basis of the historical fall of man as recorded in the Bible. The prime actor in this tragedy was the personal, cunning, malicious being called the Devil. Because man is a free being, possessing the power of contrary choice, sin entered through man's belief of the Devil instead of God.

Lesson for April 25—Because the human race is an organism, Cain and Abel through the law of heredity came into the world with sinful natures. God taught them that the way of approach unto Him was through a bloody sacrifice, typifying the supreme sacrifice made by Jesus Christ on Calvary. Abel believed God, took his place as a sinner and presented his offering accordingly. Cain in proud self-will brought the fruit of the ground, thus ignoring God's appointed way of approach unto Him. Cain's offering therefore was rejected because he did not recognize himself as a sinner and come to God in the way which God had appointed.

Lesson for May 2—Noah, coming forth from the ark, faced the responsibility of repopulating the new world. In recognition of that obligation, and out of gratitude for God's grace in saving himself and family, he erected an altar and worshiped before the Lord. God responded and entered into covenant relationship with him.

Lesson for May 9—Lot's selfish choice involved him in trouble. Abraham, because of his separation from Sodom and unto God, was able to go against a mighty king and rescue his unfortunate nephew.

Lesson for May 16—God manifested Himself visibly to Abraham in the form of an angel. This angel was none other than the Son of God. Abraham thus met Jesus Christ. Christ no doubt referred to this when He said, "Abraham saw my day and was glad."

Lesson for May 23—Issac, a child of the covenant given in the old age of his parents, was a gentle and peace-loving man. He suffered wrong rather than strive with his enemies.

Lesson for May 30—Jacob was chosen of God. Because of this God was with him. God will keep, protect and prosper His elect ones even in spite of their weakness and failure.

Lesson for June 6—Esau because of living under the sway of his appetite sold his birthright for a mess of pottage. He afterward repented and sought to undo his deed. Though sincerely regretting his act, it was impossible to change conditions. Our acts and choices are irrevocable.

Lesson for June 13—Joseph was peculiarly beloved by his father. Because of this Jacob unwisely expressed favoritism. This favoritism incited the jealousy of his brothers, who at the opportune time sold him as a slave to merchantmen going down to Egypt. Because of the false accusation of a wicked woman he was imprisoned.

Lesson for June 20—Because of Joseph's fidelity God raised him to a position of honor and power in Egypt. While in this position he made provision against an awful famine which came upon the land and became a means of saving from starvation not only the Egyptians, but his brethren who came down from Canaan. Though they had wronged him he graciously forgave them and provided for them in their need.

Neglecting Christ
Men who neglect Christ, and try to win heaven through moralities are like sailors at sea in a storm, who pull some at the bowsprit, and some at the mainmast, but never touch the helm.—H. W. Beecher.

Worth Thinking About
Have you any compelling purpose in life? Is that purpose God's purpose for you? Are you co-operating with God in the carrying out of his purpose?—James F. Riggs.

TEXAS STATE BOARD OF HEALTH NEWS LETTER

Don't Let Typhoid Fever Get You

You can keep from having typhoid fever, as it is a preventable disease, is the statement issued by Dr. H. O. Sappington, state health officer, who urges vaccination by one's family physician as a means of protection from this malady, which last year claimed 578 victims in Texas.

"Camping parties and cross-country motorists should by all means secure this immunization against typhoid before leaving home as they may be subjected to infection from various sources. The most common methods by which typhoid is transmitted are flies, contaminated water, milk and other foodstuffs. The fact that water is clear is no guarantee of its safety, and springs and other inviting pools of water often contain myriads of invisible disease germs. Motorists and campers should boil all water used by them unless it is obtained from an approved municipal supply."

Typhoid is a Filth Disease
"Typhoid is a filth disease, and is acquired by the entrance into the body through the mouth of colon bacilli expelled in the body wastes of a typhoid patient. For this reason, excreta of typhoid sufferers should be disposed of in a safe manner to prevent infection of others.

"The installation of sewer systems has practically eliminated typhoid from our cities, and has made it primarily a disease of rural communities. Much can be done to eliminate it from these districts by the installation of sanitary closets, plans for which can be had on request to your state board of health.

"Approximately 4 per cent of all persons having typhoid become 'carriers' of the disease, and though fully well, still expel the germs in their excreta, thereby endangering the health of all with whom they come in contact. Convalescent patients should have laboratory examinations made to determine if they are carriers."

Save Texas Babies
"Diarrhea was responsible for the deaths during 1925 of 1,958 Texas children under the age of 2 years, with 1,274 of this number dying between the ages of 1 to 12 months.

Diarrhea is a preventable disease, according to the state board of health, and is usually transmitted to children by means of flies, or contaminated water or milk. Keep flies away from your baby's food, and if he is fed artificially, be sure that the milk used

NO. 1981
Citation on Application for Letters Testamentary

THE STATE OF TEXAS.
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Coleman County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to cause to be published once each week for ten days, before the return day hereof, in some newspaper of general circulation, which has been continuously and regularly published for a period of not less than one year in Coleman County, Texas, the following notice:

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To all persons interested in the estate of Mrs. Lizzie McCallister, deceased, Leman Brown has filed in the County Court of Coleman County, an application for the probate of the Will of said Mrs. Lizzie McCallister, filed with said application, and for Letters Testamentary, which will be heard at the next term of said Court, commencing on the first Monday in August, A. D., 1926, the same being the 2nd day of August, 1926, at the Court House thereof in Coleman, Texas; at which time all persons interested in said estate may appear and contest said application, should they desire to do so.

Herein Fail Not, but have you before said Court on the said first day of the next term thereof this Writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness L. Emet Walker, Clerk of the County Court of Coleman County. Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Coleman, Texas, this 23rd day of April A. D., 1926.

is of safe quality. It is also preferable that water given him should be boiled and then cooled before using. Keep your baby as cool as possible, and remember that the best place for him is at home. If any intestinal disturbances appear, call your family physician at once, as delay in this matter often ends fatally.

ABOUT THE PRIMARY

The difficulty in dealing with the primary is that those who want it are devoted to it with a good deal of fervor and obstinacy. There are some parts of the state where the larger bodies of both political parties believe the primary is all right and should not be meddled with on any account for any purpose. Just as it is they want it to remain and they are prepared to resist any effort to change the system in essential respects. There are other parts of the state where the primary is regarded with extreme antipathy and there is nothing partisan in either view. Many Republicans and many Democrats are strong supporters of the primary, just as large bodies of each are opposed to it and would abolish it if they could. It is in this view that the anti-primary Republicans hope for a hostile utterance from the Democratic convention concerning the law. That for one thing would strengthen assurance that the next legislature would be more easily brought to amend or abolish it and for another would reduce the hazard of having taken any sort of stand against it.

Concrete pavement gives greater value per dollar than any other type

Property Owners in Breckenridge Call for More Concrete Streets

Breckenridge is one of the latest growing little cities in Texas. This rapid growth brought her face to face with a difficult problem—that of providing paved streets that would stand the immense increase in swiftly moving automobiles and pounding motor trucks.

When the city's present paving program was launched in 1924, the city officials wanted to build paving that would reflect credit on their administration and give the property owners full value for every dollar spent. After careful investigation they chose portland cement concrete.

The initial concrete was for only 16,000 square yards but property owners were so well pleased with this pavement that additional contracts have been let totaling more than 60,000 square yards.

A well planned street paving program is a gilt-edged investment. A concrete street means continuous dividends—not perpetual expense.

All of the facts are in our free booklet on "Concrete Streets." Ask for your copy.

His chosen weapon is the stiletto of falsehood. He knows not the word of truth nor the armor of righteousness. His stock in trade is to appeal to malice and prejudice. Honesty and faithfulness to him are anathema. He is a liability instead of an asset to the town in which he lives and moves and has his being. Bridge Club

Mrs. Jodie Mathews was hostess on Friday afternoon to the Bridge Club. The house was very pretty indeed with its decorations of red geraniums, phlox and zinnias. There were three tables of players and several interesting games were played. Later a delicious ice and salad course was served to the guests on bamboo trays decorated with red geraniums. Honor guests were Mesdames W. I. Mitchell, George Johnson, Eads and Miss Jeanette Johnson.

Meeting the "Bull" Durham Smoker Face to Face

I am just making, as the Politician says, "A swing around the Circle," to see what was going on in "Real America." I had been in New York so long, I was getting a kind of a Subway "Slam" on things. I was becoming as narrow as a Metropolitan Newspaper Editorial Writer. My eyesight was getting so poor I couldn't see beyond the Hudson River, and my mind wouldn't function farther away than Albany, N. Y.

I knew that New York was "amusing the world," but I wanted to meet the fellow who was "feeding it." I am kinder oddly constituted. You can cut off my amusement, but if my food stops you are going to have an argument on your hands.

I, as Editor and Proprietor of the Bull's Eye, wanted to meet not only the readers, but the consumers of THIS Wonderful Product of OURS. (The American Tobacco Company and me.) Well, I wish you could see the type of men they were. Big fine healthy upstanding He-Men. They were not the little Anemics that has to tap his Cigarette on the box before he can smoke it. They were our Producers of our Necessities of Life. When I saw the type of He-Men smoking "Bull" Durham, it almost made me cry, that I wasn't a smoker myself.

TELEPHONE COURTESY

"HELLO, Central. Give me two-o-two-eight, please."
"Is this two-o-two-eight?" There was a sound of confusion at the other end of the wire as the telephone receiver clicked—a mixture of tortured piano and riot and rough house out of which a harsh voice sounded.
"We-ll?"
"This is Mr. Clark."
"Who?"
"Mr. Clark. I—"
"Well, what in the h—l do you want? Shoot it out."
I finally succeeded in making my identity clear, and the voice softened perceptibly. What I really did want was to deliver a very important telegram to an undergraduate student.

There is little doubt that the telephone has helped to facilitate business, and that it has brought the country people nearer to each other and nearer to town. When I was a boy, and wanted to ask a girl to go out with me to singing school, I had to saddle a horse and ride three or four miles to see her; now all that is necessary for a young fellow is to call her up on the telephone and ask if she has a date for Friday night. Whatever the telephone has done to encourage matrimony and to put the punch into business, it has not had an improving influence upon our courtesy or our manners. We employ language and tones when using the telephone which we would never dream of doing or dare to do if speaking face to face with an individual. We insult helpless telephone girls and grocer boys, and engage in altercations with officials in a way that would not have been possible before the days of the telephone.

I have been rung out of bed at midnight to give someone the name of the president of the Menorah society, and I have been called away from a dinner party to settle a dispute between two women whose names I had never heard before as to whether or not a son of the kaiser had been killed during the recent Teutonic unpleasantness. One is not likely to find a man in bed or at meals if one times his calls properly, and though we would never think of calling at a man's house at lunch time or at night to settle our trifling business, we do not hesitate to call him on the telephone.

A friend of mine whose family was seriously ill last year remarked that she could have managed everything quite comfortably if it had not been for the telephone. It rang continuously from daylight to dark until it wore her out and drove her half mad. Finally she had it taken out and went to the neighbors when she needed to telephone.

The worst of it is that most of us, though we complain of them at one time or another, are ourselves guilty of these discourtesies.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our thanks to our friends for their kindness during the sickness and death of our dear mother, and the floral offerings, which were beautiful.

PRONUNCIATION AID

June Webster, descendant of the famous lexicographer, Noah Webster, presents a copy of her ancestor's work to the Publicity Department of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition Association to help them in pronouncing properly the name of the big events which opens June 1 to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. There are many types of pronunciations heard but there is just one proper way Noah says. It is "Ses-Kwuh-cent-ten-nial" with the accent on the first syllable of the "Sesqui" and on the second syllable of the "centennial."

SITE OF THE FIRST PHONE MESSAGE

THE COST OF PRIMARIES

One of the reasons advanced for primary elections, to nominate political party candidates, in the days before the primary was general, was that it put the poor and the rich on the same basis, in seeking public office.

Events of recent years have proved that those who promised such an improvement were false prophets. Senator Newberry of Michigan lost his seat in the senate because it was shown that he spent $190,000 to win the nomination.

But even that was mild to the Pennsylvania primary, according to evidence which was brought out at the senate investigation. Close to one and a half million dollars was expended, the Philadelphia headquarters of one candidate alone showing expenses of $615,000.

The primary is not the panacea for all political ills. This has been amply well demonstrated in every state where it has been tried. It has been abused just as the convention system was abused by the politicians.

The primary requires candidates for offices of any consequence shall spend large sums of money to make any headway. They have to appeal to a large mass of voters rather than a selected list such as the convention delegates represented. It is doubtful if its advantages outweigh its disadvantages.

To give a child a good start is one thing and to leave him so much he has nothing to work for is quite another.

To the pure all things are pure, but to the simple all things are complicated.

The family driving horse had his drawbacks, but you couldn't run him into a train.

We sometimes get a poor estimate of a man because we use our standards in judging him instead of his.

Headache dizziness

"I HAVE headache once in a while, usually coming from constipation or torpid liver," says Mr. L. A. Morphis, of Pottsville, Ark., "and the very best remedy I have found to correct this condition is Thedford's Black-Draught. It acts quickly and easily, and it just can't be beat.

"Black-Draught is the very best laxative I have found. I always feel so much better after taking it. My wife takes Black-Draught, too. For dizziness, costiveness and any little stomach disorder, we find it most satisfactory, and consider Black-Draught a family medicine."

Constipation, with an inactive liver, locks up poisons in the body and allows them to do their dangerous work.

Being purely vegetable and containing no harmful drugs, Black-Draught acts gently, helping the system get rid of impurities and preventing serious sickness. Get a package today.

TABERNACLE REVIVAL INTEREST GROWS

Judge Frank Morris, South's great Lay-Evangelist, Dallas, has spoken for a week in the big open air tabernacle with increasingly great interest with the passing of each day and to growing audiences. Even though the first Sunday night was completely rained out and it rained continuously during the week, there were large crowds present, and those times that the weather made it imperative to meet in the church building, the house was filled. This past Sunday night, Judge Morris preached to one of the largest audiences ever assembled in Santa Anna. The tabernacle was well filled and some two hundred sat in their automobiles.

The pastors and membership of all the churches are attending regularly and co-operating untidely in an effort to make this a great sweeping revival for Santa Anna and the surrounding country. Though the meeting has just begun, it is being talked constantly on the streets and in the business houses and all are united in their statements that Judge Morris is a great evangelist, earnest and forceful in delivery, powerful in prayer, and all inclusive in his love for people.

Mrs. Morris who is known in Dallas and throughout the South as one of the greatest of speakers among women is speaking to the young people each evening at 7:30 just preceding the song service. Mrs. Morris has had phenomenal success in this work and it is a rare privilege the young people of this city have to hear her during these days, as indeed they have recognized, judging by the large numbers who have been present for the first few meetings.

Thru the co-operation of the musicians and singers of the city, the singing thus far has been exceptionally good. Director Harlan greatly appreciates the splendid response and urges that even larger numbers may yet join the choir and old members maintain regular attendance regardless of weather conditions.—Contributed.

According to the common, ordinary calendar, Tuesday, June 22, was the longest day in the year, and Tuesday night was the shortest night. Do you notice the difference?
