"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

Revival at Methodist Church In Progress

The revival advertised here for the past two weeks is now in progress at the Methodist church. A large open air tabernacle has been provided just north of the church building with a large choir space, and sufficient seating capacity to seat several hundred people. The meeting made slow progress first of the week, being rained out Sunday night.

Judge Morris and his party are putting their very best efforts into the meeting, and it is their prayer for the co-operation of the christian people in this vicinity. The meeting will continue two or three weeks.

Wildcat Jumps on Car, Found Dead When Run of Occupants Is Over

Fort Stockton, Pecos Co., Texas, June 13.—Mose Cobb, a San Angelo traveling salesman, well known in this section, left McCamey late Wednesday afternoon for Fort Stockton, bringing a friend in his car. Darkness overtook them, and they were driving through a part of the country which in the old days was famous for its hold-ups.

Cobb told his friend all the gruesome details of these early day crimes as they passed each spot which had witnessed them. He was in the middle of a particularly hair-raising story when from the darkness a large body plunged into the middle of the road. Cobb clamped on the brakes and as the car slowed the animal leaped back toward the radiator and began working back toward the front seat.

Cobb and his friend left the car rather hurriedly. For half a mile, he said, the race between the two men was a tie, but at the last he drew ahead.

Three hours later they returned. The road was a dead wildcat four feet ten inches long and three feet two inches tall. How it was killed neither knows, unless by being hit by the car. They brought it here and will have it mounted.

Dave W. Rutherford Gets Life Sentence

Dave W. Rutherford was tried in the District Court in Brownwood this week for murder in connection with the fatal shooting of J. H. Griffith, Deputy Sheriff, here in Santa Anna, on the night of February 16, 1924, and drew a life term in the penitentiary.

The case was transferred to Brownwood on a change of venue from McCulloch County, where it was tried in May, 1925, and Rutherford drew a 99 years sentence. The case was reversed and remanded by the higher courts about two months back. The history of the Rutherford case is familiar to most people in this vicinity.

Canning will be the work for the day.—Reporter.

The following ladies attended a W. M. S. meeting in Talpa Monday: Mesdames R. R. Lovelady, Tom Campbell, Bill Mitchell, J. L. Smart, Tom Newman, Earl Watkins, T. T. McCreary, Ewing Lovelady, S. F. Martin and Misses Grace Lackey, Althea Ragsdale and Louise Campbell.

The Modern Monte Cristo

After a search that led through untold hardships, the Count of Monte Cristo found the secret cavern. Gold, jewels and untold wealth were his.

But think of this! Simply by spending a few minutes running through the advertisements in this paper, you can find a wealth of things that Monte Cristo could never know. Things that make your life rich in comforts, countless conveniences that iron-out the mechanics of existence! Economics that bring within your reach things that were once priceless!

We sometimes overlook the important role that advertising plays in making our lives pleasant and altogether livable. Advertising is as much a part of today's life as electricity, antiseptic surgery or automobiles. It keeps us up-to-date on many things we need to live profitable, happy and useful lives. It presents for our approval articles of all kinds and for all purposes. The requirements of each member of the family are met by advertised offers of good merchandise of proved value.

The advertisements save time, money and effort for those who read them and follow their guidance. They are practical guarantees of satisfaction. Don't put down this paper without reading the advertisements.

UNCLE BILL ADAMS DIES IN BROWNWOOD

Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association to Meet in Dallas June 28

The annual meeting of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association will be held at its offices in Dallas on June 28, 1926, at 11:00 a. m., according to an announcement made here by Mr. W. R. Baxter, Field Service Representative of the Association.

Mr. Baxter stated that this meeting is one of the most important meetings of the Association at which time the directors and officers will be elected for the coming year. The membership has recently voted for directors, in the several districts, and the results of this election will be announced at the annual meeting.

This closes the fifth year of operation of the Association, stated Mr. Baxter. The Association has circulated a new five year agreement and sufficient volume has been signed up on this agreement to assure the successful operation of the Association for the new period. He further states that the Association will handle more cotton during 1926-27 season than it has handled any other year since it has been in operation—this based on the re-signup and sign-up of new members.

It is hoped a number of members from this county will attend the annual meeting of the Association. Those going please notify Mr. Baxter.

New Arrivals in Town

Among the new arrivals reported this week were a baby boy born last week to Rev. and Mrs. T. S. Slaughter, also a baby boy born to Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Williamson, and twin girls born to Mr. and Mrs. Burl Seal.

Misses Annetta and Edrine Tysen are at home from Fort Worth. Miss Edrine was one of the honor graduates at Texas Christian University last week, when she received her B. A. degree. She will have an opportunity to impart some of this knowledge as she will teach in Breckenridge High School next year.

D. D. Burris carried his daughter, Miss Laura, to San Marcos last week, where she entered the San Marcos Academy for the summer. W. P. Burris accompanied them to San Marcos, and the two gentlemen extended their visit on to Belmont where they visited with relatives. C. S. Burris and wife accompanied them home and will visit here several days.

Mrs. Burrow was hostess to the Missionary Society on Monday afternoon. Mrs. W. O. Garrett led the devotional exercises. The subject of the lesson was West India Missions. Quite an interest was manifested in the discussion of the lesson.

Mrs. Rountree Dead After Long Illness

Mrs. Rountree died at the family residence Wednesday afternoon at 1:10 o'clock. The funeral services are being conducted this afternoon at 3:30 at the residence. Interment will be in the city cemetery following funeral service.

Stricken with disease some months ago, Mrs. Rountree had been confined to her bed almost continuously since she was first stricken. The skill of physicians failed to give her material relief, and for some time the family and friends have realized that it was only a question of time until death would free her of her suffering. While a large circle of friends, as well as the children, are sorely bereaved by her passing, it is comforting to know that there is no death, no pain, no sorrow, where her spirit now rest; for we have the greatest assurance that the spirit, God's own reflection, never dies, and it is the spirit that is God's image that dwells in that "house not made with hands, eternally in the heavens." Ever since she has been sick, she has been tenderly ministered unto by her devoted daughter, Miss Bertha, who has scarcely left her bedside, and the loving friends were untiring in their tender ministrations. To this sainted woman death has relieved a period of suffering and pain that has been enduring for nearly a year, the last few months of which she was unconscious.

Miss Ruth Moss was born in Hunt County, Texas, Dec. 11, 1857; was married to R. Rountree Dec. 13, 1871. To this union were born four children, Mrs. Eva Fulton, Jackboro, W. J. Rountree and Miss Bertha Rountree, Santa Anna, one daughter Miss Natalie, preceded her to the grave by 2 years, and her husband also preceded her to the grave 2 years and 3 months. Mrs. Rountree was also the step-mother of three children, J. A. Rountree, Fort Worth, R. T. Rountree of Abilene, and Mrs. W. P. Ross, Bridgeport. This good woman has also been a mother to three of her grand-children, whose mother died here some 2 years ago. Due to sickness some of the children were unable to attend the funeral.

Deceased moved to Santa Anna with her family in the year of 1912, and they engaged in the grocery business, and were actively engaged in the business until 1924.

The News joins the many friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved.

Mrs. E. McDaniel and daughters, Misses Stella and Edna, of Belmont spent a few days of last week with their daughter and sister, Mrs. J. Ed Bartlett, enroute to San Francisco, Calif. Miss Stella will study in Berkeley University while there.

A Coincidence That Made Brown

"YOU WANT A MAN LIKE THAT"

Brown was an every day young man around town. Well known, well liked. From his small salary he saved a set amount each week. Every Monday morning he made his deposit, watching small amounts grow into large figures. It was this saving habit that won for him a good position at real money.

Brown's regular appearances at the bank were well known and one day when a prominent manufacturer needed that type man, Brown was pointed out.

Regular saving builds confidence in you. A thrifty citizen is a worth-while dependable citizen in whom others feel safe in placing trust—friendship, and whom they are ever willing to employ and to help.

A FOURTH OF JULY "WEEK"

The Fourth of July will have an added significance this year on account of this being the 150th birthday of the Declaration of American Independence, and the centennial of the death of its author, Thomas Jefferson.

For patriotic communities that wish to commemorate fittingly the unusual occasion, the Fourth of July is to be more than a day, as a whole week is to be devoted to the celebration, covering all phases of the memorable occasion.

More thought ought to be given to the meaning of the Fourth of July because the celebration has come to be meaningless to a large majority of the people—just an opportunity for a holiday and a chance to make noise.

Beginning Monday, June 28, Patriot's Pledge of Faith Day will be celebrated in honor of the 150th anniversary of the day the Declaration, drafted by and in the hand-writing of Thomas Jefferson, was first presented to the Continental Congress. While the mayor of Philadelphia is ringing the Liberty Bell at 11 a. m., it is suggested that governors and mayors throughout the land ring bells as the "Echo of the Liberty Bell."

Tuesday will be Universal Education Day in honor of the great American system of free education which Jefferson aided in establishing, and Wednesday is Founders' Day, in recognition of the noble efforts of those who built upon a solid foundation the beginnings of a government destined to lead the world.

Thursday will be Greater America Day to celebrate the Louisiana Purchase by Jefferson, and Friday will be Signers' Day, in honor of the memory of the brave signers who proclaimed to the world a new doctrine of government—the immortal Declaration of Independence.

Saturday is to be Monticello Day to commemorate the establishment of the home of Jefferson as a national memorial to the author of the declaration of Independence. Sunday has been designated as Jefferson Centennial Day, as this is the hundredth anniversary of his death, and Monday, July 5, is to be known as Sesqui-Centennial Independence Day in honor of the 150th birthday of the nation.

This is a program that is deserving of the best efforts of every community as it gives an opportunity to impress upon the young generation our obligation to those who built so wisely that we might enjoy liberty and happiness to the extent never before known in the history of the human race.

Beneficial Contests

If the press has it right, a 17-year old Hollywood boy won the National Oratorical Contest by making fewer and milder gestures than any of the six other contestants. Five justices of the U. S. Supreme Court selected the winner. Now the boy, to prove his wits, will represent the United States in an international contest in oratory.

Such contests as this are not going to hurt the world's chances for peace. Beating some European or Asiatic in a war of words or in a tennis match is somewhat less destructive than coping with him in battle. In such a war one can be both a good and a live loser.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR HAD BY BAPTISTS

Convention at Houston Heard Many Gratifying Reports on Work. Evolution Denounced.

$9,000,000 GOAL IS SET

This Objective for Missions and Benevolences to Be Sought By Co-operative Program Commission for 1927.

Following an unusually good record in the work of the local churches and large achievements on the mission fields, there has just been held at Houston, Texas, one of the most successful sessions of the Southern Baptist Convention in recent years. The session was marked by unusual unity, definiteness of purpose and determination to carry forward the work of the Co-operative Program.

DR. GEO. W. McDANIEL
President Southern Baptist Convention.

Following the re-election of Dr. George W. McDaniel, Richmond, Va., as president, he sounded in his inaugural address a conviction on the theory of evolution that was promptly and unanimously adopted by the Convention as its own sentiment. Dr. McDaniel said:

"I am happy to believe that this Convention accepts Genesis as teaching that man was the special creation of God and rejects every theory, evolution or other, which teaches that man originated in, or came by way of, a lower animal ancestry." With the evolution question disposed of, the Convention was able to proceed with a consideration of its great missionary and benevolent enterprises.

Here are some of the outstanding developments of the Convention:

GOAL OF $9,000,000 SET UP

1. In the hope of enabling the mission boards and other agencies of the Convention to take care of their indebtedness gradually without having to too greatly curtail their work, an objective of $9,000,000 for missions, education and benevolences was set up for 1927, on recommendation of the Co-operative Program Commission. This money will be applied to foreign, home and state missions, Baptist schools, orphanages and hospitals and ministerial relief, thus taking care of both the state and Southwide Baptist work. It is hoped the Southwide portion of the budget will amount to at least $4,000,000.

2. An effort will be made to enlist 500,000 titheers during the next year.

3. The Foreign Mission Board reported 18,289 baptisms on its fields during the year, a gain of about 1,000 over the previous year. The board has 1,215 churches on the foreign fields with 140,488 members, 3,247 out-stations where preaching services are held from time to time, and 528 missionaries and 2,644 native Christian workers employed in 17 countries.

4. Among the results for the year reported by the Home Mission Board were 833 missionaries employed, 19,744 baptisms, 85,228 additions to the churches, 100 new churches and 458 Sunday schools organized, and 402 church houses built or improved. DENOMINATION GREW DURING YEAR

5. The Sunday School Board reported total business receipts for the year of $1,710,471. Of this amount $880,844 was put back into the general work of the denomination. A total of 89,038 awards in teacher training were made. 405 churches were aided by the Architectural Department in worship, the number of standard Sunday schools reached 546.

With the gains for the past year the main figures of the denomination are now given by the statistical secretary of the Convention as follows: 26,467 churches, 19,908 ordained ministers, 3,649,330 church members, 21,760 Sunday schools with 2,681,828 pupils, 20,965 church houses, 3,197 pastors' homes, $165,903,278 invested in local church property $30,771,574 contributed to local church objects, $8,255,435 to missions and benevolences and $39,027,099 to all purposes during the past year.

The time is now ripe for a distinct Baptist advance all along the line and especially in a support of the great missionary and benevolent enterprises fostered by the Co-operative Program, the Convention leaders believe.

Smoke This In Your Pipe—Smoke if you will, but be careful where you throw your match, cigar or cigaret stubs and pipe ashes. Careless smokers are a positive menace to property. Forest fires are probably greatest source of danger. Next come buildings, and the great hazard to growing and harvested crops of grain caused by fire thrown along the roadside.

The personal liberty of smoking has not yet been generally or formidably attacked, nor is it likely that it will be so attacked for many decades. But no question of personal liberty is involved in the reckless casting aside of the munitions and leavings, because such action directly and seriously affects the other fellow's rights.

A Tribute to Farm Mothers

That eloquent Georgian, the late Senator Thomas E. Watson, said on one occasion:—

"There are thousands of devoted and absolutely admirable wives and mothers in our cities, in our towns, and in our villages, and it gives me pleasure and pride to testify to the fact; but if you ask me to carry you to the home of the true wife and the true mother, one who loses herself entirely in the existence of her husband and her children, one who is the first to rise in the morning and the last to retire at night, one who is always at her post of duty and who carries upon her shoulders the burdens of both husband and children, one who is keeper of the household and its good angel, utterly unselfish, happy in making others happy, with no thought of fashionable pleasures, perfectly content in quiet home life in which she does nobody harm and everybody good, taking as many thorns as she can from the pathway of her husband and strewing it with as many roses as possible, strengthening him by her inspiration as he goes forward to fight the battle of life, smoothing the pillow upon which he rests his tired head when he comes home, tenderly rearing the boys and girls who will turn go away from the door, some day for the last time—the boy to become a good soldier in life's continuous warfare, and the girl to become some ardent suitor's wife and be to him what her mother has been to her father; and who, when all toils are done and her strength is departing, will sit calmly in the doorway, watching the setting sun with a serene smile upon her face and never a frown in her heart—ask me to find where this woman lives, where this type is to be found, and I will make a bee line for the country."

What Tom Watson said is true; we all know it. It only remains for us to ask ourselves whether we are doing what we should to show our appreciation of the work and love of farm mothers. Is the kitchen as well equipped with labor-saving conveniences as it ought to be? Have we really installed the most modern water and light systems we can afford? Does the farm mother get a real vacation once a year? Do we cooperate with her as much as we might in giving expression to her love of the beautiful—is the house painted, the home grounds beautiful with shrubs, trees, and flowers; the home decorated with reproductions of beautiful paintings? Is there some source of cash income the farm mother can claim as her very own? Is her counsel sought about all matters affecting the welfare of the farm and family? Are husband and children thoughtful of her comfort and ready to show her that loving courtesy and appreciation which will lighten all her burdens and shorten and sweeten her hardest tasks?—The Progressive Farmer.

Business to the Bat

The summer season is here and it behooves every business man to bridge the languid gap of July and August with increased energy. Summer can be made profitable and stimulating in many lines by the taking on of a summer attitude. That attitude is alertness and wide-awakeness to all that is going on and to all opportunities that are passing by. When business goes to the bat in summer it generally makes a clean home run by fall.

A Pretty Home Wedding

A wedding of unusual interest took place in Santa Anna Thursday, June 10th, at 8:30 p. m., when Miss Vera Oakes became the bride of Mr. Jasper McClellan. The soft glow of the darkened rooms enhanced the loveliness of the decorations of pink gladiolas, cape jasmines, sweet peas, and ferns.

The pre-nuptial music was given by Mrs. John Oakes, who rendered very beautifully, "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Miss Louise Boyd. The bridal party entered to the strain of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Miss Louise Boyd. Bless Be the Tie That Binds was rendered very softly during the ceremony.

The bride and groom were met at the improvised altar by the officiating minister, Rev. J. M. Burrow, who in the presence of relatives and friends, pronounced the solemn words in the ring ceremony, uniting these two lives.

Miss Celeste McClellan, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. She wore a cream colored flat crepe and carried an arm bouquet of pink gladiolas. Mr. Oliver McClellan, brother of the groom, was best man.

The bride was becomingly gowned in an evening costume of pink georgette. She carried an arm bouquet of cape jasmines.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held for the immediate family and near friends.

Mr. and Mrs. McClellan left immediately for Austin to spend a few days, after which they will be at home in Santa Anna.—Contributed.

Missionary Society Entertained

(Delayed From Last Week)

Mrs. L. W. Hunter was hostess to the Missionary Society on Monday afternoon. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion with sweet peas and gladioli. The dining table decorations were very pretty indeed. The first on program was the devotional exercises, then a business session of the society was held. This was followed by the social hour. A very interesting contest on the Ten Commandments was enjoyed by the ladies. Delicious refreshments of cream and cake were served to twenty-five guests. Plate favors were sweet peas.

Correction

An item in our Round-Up last week reported "Mr. Leeper Gay and wife of Austin visiting Mr. Gay's parents in the city." Young Mr. Gay called our hand Monday, stating it was his brother, Coleman, who had a wife, and not he, so we stand corrected and assume all the responsibility, notwithstanding, the fact the local was furnished by one of our good reporters.

A Reception

Mrs. Ford Barnes gave a very elaborate reception Wednesday afternoon in honor of her sister, Mrs. Bonner Barnes of Port Arthur. The house was very pretty in its floral decorations of sweet peas, nasturtiums and pot plants. The prevailing color scheme was pink and green. The guests were met at the door by Mrs. Fred Turner, who conducted them to the pink room where they were requested to register by Mrs. L. O. Garrett. The guest book was made and presented to Mrs. Barnes by Mrs. Jodie Mathews and was truly a work of art and a thing of beauty. The following ladies were in the receiving line: Mesdames Ford Barnes, Bonner Barnes, Ray Lovelady, P. P. Bond, B. Weaver, Avery Collier, A. U. Weaver, H. W. Kingsbery, W. I. Mitchell, Jno. Pool, J. O. Martin, J. Q. Barnes, D. J. Johnson and Miss Lucille Barnes. The guests passed from the receiving line to the dining room, which was lighted by pink candles in green holders. A basket of lovely sweet peas formed the center piece of the dining table. Mesdames G. W. Faulkner and Jodie Mathews presided in the dining room serving ice cream and cake to the guests in the pink and green. Plate favors were sweet peas. Music was furnished for the occasion by Misses Elsa Lee Harper and Nettie Turner. Mrs. Petree sang two solos and Mrs. J. Hall Bowman gave a reading. Taken all in all this was one of the prettiest parties of the season.

Bridge Club

(Delayed From Last Week)

Mrs. A. U. Weaver gave a very pretty party Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Bonner Barnes, who is visiting relatives in Santa Anna. The diversions of the afternoon were bridge and music, which was furnished by Miss Nettie Turner. There were six tables of bridge decorated in the pastel shades. Flower decorations throughout the house were very beautiful. Later a two course luncheon was served to the guests. There were several out of town visitors.

Merry Wives

Mrs. Elmer Easley was hostess to the Merry Wives on Thursday afternoon. The house was beautifully decorated with sweet peas, nasturtiums and pot plants. The diversions for the afternoon were needle work and conversation. Later refreshments of apricot ice and angel food cake were served to the guests. There were a number of visitors but the writer did not secure their names.

A certain Danish prince said, many years ago, to be or not to be, and a latter day prince, of the British royal house, probably thinks the same thing every time he mounts a horse.

THE ALAMO CITY

As announced in our issue of last week, the editor and operator spent the week-end in San Antonio, attending the 47th Annual Session of the Texas Press Association, held at the Gunter Hotel. The attendance was the second largest in the history of the association and the program was so arranged to keep us busy from the time we arrived until we were dismissed and several items of business and entertainment features were omitted due to the lack of time.

The Alamo City proved true to every promise to provide plenty of wholesome entertainment. We could write several articles more lengthy than this and the half would not be told. In our judgment, San Antonio is one of the best convention cities in the state for several reasons. Good hotels, and more places of amusement than a person can visit on such a short trip. We managed to visit the famous Breckenridge park, the sacred old Alamo and several of the old historical missions, but the time was so short we failed to visit many places of interest. At some future date, we owe it to ourself to pay another visit to the city and inspect several of the noted places of interest.

A GRAVE RESPONSIBILITY

The opinion grows that higher demands should be made upon groups than are made on individuals; that when men and women live together in communities, they should justify their existence by worthy accomplishments.

The principle which makes higher demands of groups than of individuals is recognized in our laws against conspiracy. Frequently individuals can do that which collective bodies may not do.

Any individual may fritter away his time about as he pleases, but it is the popular verdict that when people spend their lives together, their time here on earth is wasted if they do not make an effort to improve conditions and prepare the coming generation for useful citizenship.

There is justice in this verdict, for any community that does not grow and improve will eventually waste away and the people who are at the helm now, the citizens whose opinions are respected and whose leadership will be followed, should feel that they have a very grave responsibility.

Necessary Delay in Great Projects

To the group of Western States to be affected by the development of the Colorado river, the postponement of final action on the Swing-Johnson bill until the next session of Congress should not be at all disheartening. The project is too big to admit of rushing through. Even if all engineering matters were agreed upon, it is still necessary for more compatible relations among the interested states.

It's an ill wind that blows nobody good, and it's an ill dam that stops no water controversy. Every conceivable objection to the distribution and allotment of water—the "white gold"—so vital to the life and prosperity of the lower Colorado basin—should be met and every possible misunderstanding should be ironed out before one pound of concrete is poured into the Colorado at any point along its mighty course.

All great projects take time in their development. The Panama canal was no overnight realization. The Great Lakes-St. Lawrence development has claimed the thought and attention of thousands of people of the United States and Canada. The Lincoln Highway, established several years ago, has not yet by any means linked the two oceans by a continuous thread of pavement.

The people will not be pushed; nor should they be. Our nation is developing materially in proportion to its advance in education, in literature and in the arts. Many believe we are going top fast. The problem always is to adjust the social and spiritual trend in healthy ratio to the economic. This makes for greatness in nationality and for goodness in citizenship, and for a corresponding stability in business and commerce.

The Different Kinds of People In the Average Community

(From Hamilton-Herald Record)
There are some folks so constituted, that if you put them into the highest class-community in America, they would look at its institutions and privileges in a deprecating sort of way, and would always be criticising the faults they would discover there.

They would be constantly remarking that if they could do so as they chose they would go elsewhere, but they merely stay on because they have a job or business relations there, or conditions prevent their removal. And there are some who, if placed in any old ordinary town, where there is nothing out of the usual, will yet love it and say it is the best place on earth. They will feel such deep attachments to a community where these ties exist, that they would not exchange this environment for anything else that could be offered them. If you had to pick your neighbors from these two classes you would not hesitate long in making up your mind as to which class to take.

Some people apparently cannot have a good time unless they are bored. They are always out of sorts with condition. To like anything is to appear old-fashioned and thoroughly behind the times. There is some good to be found in almost everything, almost everybody. The man who does his best to find it is the happy citizen.

Also, he is an asset to the community. Try to like whatever is around you. If it is good, if it is bad, try just as zealously to get rid of it. It is no trouble to draw a line of demarcation between things that are good and things that are bad. If you cannot like your job or your community, by all means move. In this way you can make your associates and your neighbors happy.

Save the Feedstuff

There is a reason to believe that Texas and other Southwestern States will produce an abundance of feedstuff this season. A large oat crop has already been harvested. Hay and other forms of forage are making a better showing than for several years, and there is yet time for fall crops and fall pastures.

The Southwest has always been more prosperous when farmers have not had to spend their cotton money for feed, and this seems to be one of those years. Next year may not prove so favorable, and therefore every pound of feed should be saved, and that part not needed for immediate consumption should be stored against the time of need. If a farmer is without barn and shed room for his hay and other forage, select a well-drained place and stack. Be sure your stack is well constructed and will shed water. If properly stacked after being properly cured, it will keep through the winter and for an almost indefinite time thereafter.

There is very little money in producing feed and selling it. One never receives for it as much as he would have to pay, if he were in need. An abundant supply of feed is more valuable on the farm than it is in the market.—Farm and Ranch.

EXTENDING THE LAW'S ARM

The president has issued an executive order empowering the federal prohibition enforcement officer to appoint local officials to assist in enforcing the Volstead law.

As might be expected, there has been a storm of protest against this so-called encroachment upon state authority, but most of it has come from the modificationists and those of more pronounced wet tendencies.

If the men who want the Volstead law made less severe on the theory that it can't be enforced in its present form, are sincere in their arguments, they should not object to this extension of the law's arm to determine whether prohibition can be made effective.

The criticism that the order violates the rights of states is not well taken, inasmuch as no coercion or force will be applied by the federal government to get state co-operation.

The order says that appointments may be made in states where there are no statutes forbidding state officers to accept such appointments, and none will be made except without the acquiescence of the appointee.

Surely no one can consistently object to this attempt on the part of the federal prohibition officer to extend the operations of the Volstead act. It at least should be given a fair test.

That proposal to reduce the size of dollar bills may be incidentally calculated to serve as another equalizing relief measure to fool the farmers, who already have their 60-cent dollars.

THE PASSING DAY

WILL H. MAYES
Former Dean
Department of Journalism
University of Texas

A Gift of Appreciation.

Edgar B. Davis, after many years of disappointing efforts to get oil in the Luling field, was at last successful—and became "a man of money." He gave a picnic at Luling to which he invited all who wished to attend. There were 10,000 people present whom he fed and entertained. During the festival he announced that he had set aside a half million dollars for a home for destitute children, and especially to those of Caldwell and Guadalupe counties. At one half million, he stated, would be given to founding an institution for the promotion of crop diversification. He also presented Luling with a public park, which he will improve. If all rich men would endeavor, as Mr. Davis is doing, to make the world a better and happier place for those less fortunate, instead of hoarding much more money than they can ever use, they would get far more pleasure out of their wealth and the masses would rejoice in their prosperity.

Disgracing Texas Name.

A guard on the Houston city farm is charged by short term prisoners on the farm with brutally beating another prisoner to death because he was not doing as much work as the guard thought he should be doing. The physician who attended the dead man swore that the prisoner had received 100 lashes with a plaited bull whip, any one of which would have produced death. After being beaten into a dying condition, according to witnesses the poor fellow was left in the hot sun for two hours without attention. The cruelty, as related, is an unthinkable brutality, in a civilized country. Men who violate city ordinances are not necessarily criminals, and even if they were the basest villains, they are entitled to every legal protection while in the cells of the law and in charge of officers. Guards who whip prisoners, except in self-defense, are worse than the hardest criminals, for they are law officers sworn to respect law. Texas must stop brutal treatment of prisoners.

The Joy of Learning.

In an address to the graduating class of Rice Institute at Houston, Dr. Amos of Johns Hopkins University decried the present tendency to crowd the training of students in preparation for college and after they are in college to exact too much of them in preparation for the professional studies or for graduation. That students are burdened with their studies and with books is evident to those who closely observe our educational system. They scatter over many subjects indifferently instead of learning a few thoroughly. Their purpose is merely to be graduated and not to learn. They acquire only the amount of knowledge necessary to get a coveted degree, and they do this for the degree and not for the love of learning. There should be more time in all our schools for thorough work. The student who leaves school without having acquired such a love of learning as will make him a student for life has not had the right kind of school training. One great object of all our schools should be to create a genuine passion for study, and the degree should indicate that that object has been attained.

Propagating Texas Flowers.

One of the most splendid movements in Texas is that started a few years ago at San Antonio to gather Texas bluebonnet seeds and send them to counties in the State where these flowers are not growing, the idea being to get bluebonnets established in all parts of Texas where this flower will grow. This year special efforts are being made to get Denton and perhaps some other counties seeded with bluebonnets. The movement to gather and distribute Texas flower seed has gradually extended to other flowers than bluebonnets. There is now at San Antonio a club of girls whose purpose is to gather and disseminate throughout Texas the many wild flowers to be found in the State.

The Press and Its Readers.

Will Allen White thinks that the daily press, with its pages of comics, its emphasis on crime, its poorly written sex stories, its general light diet, is underestimating the mentality of the reading public, which "should be given more of the sentiment and the philosophy and the facts that are pregnant with the fate of human society." The light and even the foolish things of the daily press may be all right in their due proportions, but the press is under obligations to feed the mentality of those who desire better things than these, and who look to the newspapers largely for their intellectual and literary improvement. The press can not undertake the elevation of public mentality as its sole purpose, but it has obligations in this direction that should not be ignored.

Unburden the Railroads.

So long as Texas is without sufficient railroad facilities the roads should be allowed the greatest liberty in making extensions into territory they think may prove profitable. No restrictions should be placed around agencies that want to assist in the development of the State other than those that guarantee honesty of purpose and fair treatment of the public. Texas growth has long been hampered by inefficient transportation facilities.

SIMPLIFIED SPELLING

The effort is being made to enlist the newspapers in the campaign for simplified spelling promoted by the Simplified Spelling board of the Men's Faculty club of Columbia University. It is argued that newspapers would save two per cent of their space if they would adopt the spellings favored by this board.

About 600 American newspapers and magazines have accepted a certain number of spellings advocated by this board, and the total number of words which according to these people should be spelled in a simpler way is 30,000. This calls for a rather radical change in our spelling habits. People cling to the old spellings they learned in youth, but most of these changes will no doubt be gradually adopted.

There should be a clearing house of ideas which will mean the realization of ideals. To accomplish this the citizens of our community should work together as never before. The law fixes our boundaries and political units and prescribes our form of government. It merely sets up the house and tacks up the house rules. The people themselves must do the "house-keeping," and initiate and put into effect the developments that enable civilization to reach its destiny.

BUT IT'S WORTH MORE

Wonder how many News readers would like to go back to the good old days before prices went so high. In 1876, fifty years ago, the year of the great centennial fair in Philadelphia, men worked for a dollar a day. Their beefsteak cost ten cents a pound, so those items balanced about as they do now. Corn sold for 20 to 25 cents a bushel, and the farmer hired his helper for ten dollars a month. There were no automobiles, telephones, free mail deliveries, electric lights, radios, electric motor or gasoline engines. Railroads were crude, traveling was dangerous, telegraphs were of short range and very few people outside the cities read the daily papers. Women folks washed and ironed by hand, farmers walked behind their implements, and many townspeople would not use kerosene lamps because they blew up so frequently. It costs more to live at present, but everything seems to be working in proportion.

A letter from Congressman Thomas L. Blanton, states that he expects Congress to adjourn soon and he will leave immediately for Abilene, Texas, where he will open his campaign for re-election. The Judge will put extra pep in the campaign, as he is some campaigner.

RULES FOR A HUSBAND

Domestic infelicity threatened to dash the matrimonial bark of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Walsh of New York upon the rocks. In fact, matters had reached such a crisis that Mrs. Walsh was suing for a divorce. Peter pleaded for one more chance to hold his job as husband.

Mrs. Walsh heeded his plea and agreed to withdraw her suit if Peter would promise to abide by eight simple, easily understood rules which she would lay down for his future guidance. Peter promised. Here are the rules:

You shall not drink.
You shall respect your wife at all times.

Do not teach your children insubordination by interfering when I am correcting them.

Do not bring your pals home when you are all drunk.

Give me your salary each week, because I can save out of it what you spend on booze.

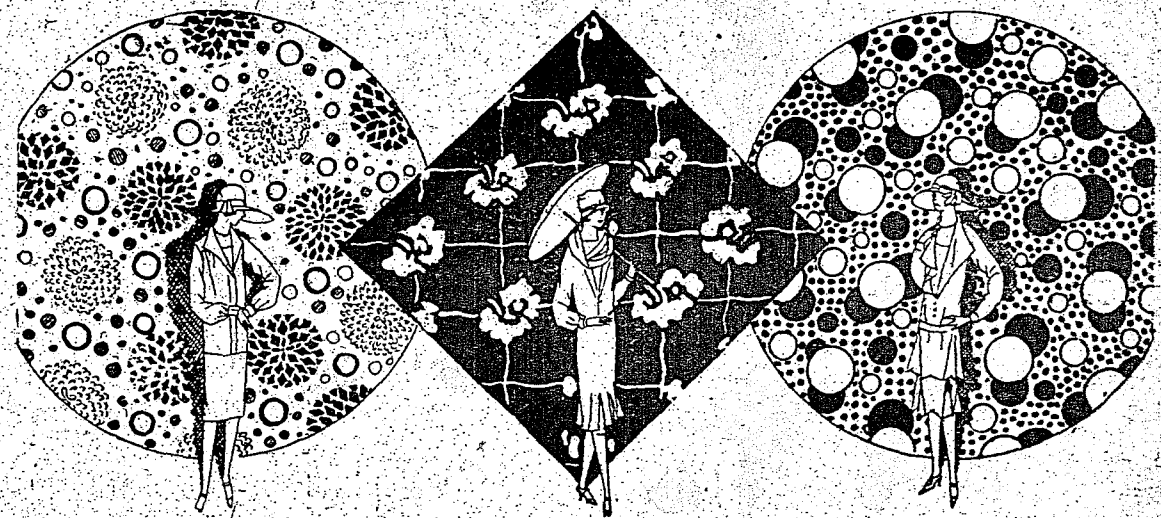

Keep yourself tidy and fit for a woman to look at.

Do some repairing around the house and make our home beautiful.

Do not smoke in bed.

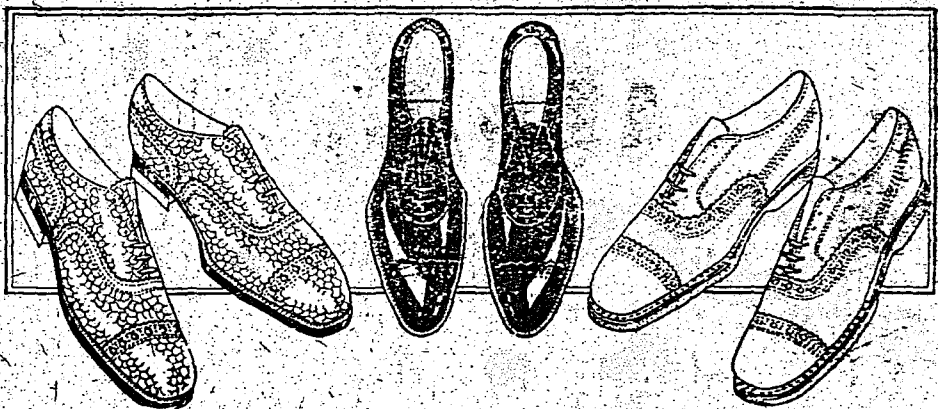

A boom wouldn't be so bad if it didn't make burns out of the ones that it don't make prosperous.

Taylor-Swindle

(Bangs Gazette)
 Horace Taylor and Miss Melba Swindle gave their many friends a surprise when it was learned several days later that they had slipped quietly away on May 26th and were married at the Methodist parsonage at Coleman, about 7 o'clock p. m. The bride and groom were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Garms at Santa Anna that evening, later returning to Bangs, where Mrs. Taylor had made her home the past several months with her aunt, Mrs. J. Mark Boler and attended school. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Swindle of the McDaniel community, was 16 years of age, but a graduate of the Bangs High school this past term. She was voted the class beauty of the 1925-26 term and very popular among her school mates. Mr. Taylor is the son of Mrs. Una Taylor of Bangs and is a telegraph operator for the Santa Fe Ry. Co. at Santa Anna. The many friends of these splendid young people wish for them all the good things that life holds. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will make their home at Santa Anna.

THAT VACATION TRIP

It is the lure of distance that causes us to want to go to Europe or some other far off land. How about that summer vacation? Is it really necessary to go so some far away resort in order to recuperate or enjoy one's self in what we call a vacation? Perhaps the railroads would not agree with us.

Texas has many beautiful haunts and fine attractions where an inexpensive trip may be planned and taken. Even Coleman county is complete as a resting place, where one may find respite from the weekday worries of shop, farm or factory. Indeed, we have known of remarkable instances of rejuvenation in two weeks of back-yard mornings and front porch afternoons. It is largely a mental state. Around the corner is as far as Europe if you think so; and a lot cheaper.

Freshness is a fine quality in almost everything except children and imported cheese.

Numbers seldom count for nothing. Several hundred people will sit through a speech one wouldn't listen to unless tied or paid to.

To the Voters of Coleman County

In this issue of the Santa Anna News appears my announcement for the office of District Clerk of Coleman county, subject to the action of the Democratic primary election July 24. In making this announcement I am not doing so on the merits or demerits of anyone. I have no ax to grind and will conduct my campaign on the highest standard that I know—just asking for the job. Tried by this rule I am willing to be weighed in the balance of public opinion and abide by the consequences. Mr. Gideon, the present incumbent, has held the office twelve years and says it is not a paying proposition; but combined with his insurance business the two make him a good living. I think the people have been very kind to Mr. Gideon in furnishing him an office for this length of time and he should not expect a permanent continuation at this practice when he has competitors down on Main street paying high rent for insurance offices. I have been in Coleman county 24 years and I feel that I need no introduction to the people as I know most of you and you all know me. I will not make a house to house canvass because crops are late and everybody is busy and no one has time to be bored with politicians. I will try and make all the picnics and see as many of you as I can. But whether I see you are not please don't scratch old Dad.

Yours truly,

A. D. (DAD) BURDICK.

STUDENT MARRIAGES

Colleges and universities are adopting a rule that students who marry during the school year will be dropped. The Chicago Tribune remarks: "It's a very reasonable rule. A college education is a costly business. It most parents means sacrifice. To send their children away for four years of higher education. They send them to acquire knowledge and not to get married. The student who is thinking of marriage is not thinking very much about studies. It is a pleasant but thoughtless way of defeating the purposes for which the parents made a sacrifice. There is time enough for marriage after graduation."

People who complain that they never get what's coming to them wouldn't be so well off if they did.

NEWS OF INTEREST AS TOLD BY THE SANTA ANNA NEWS FEBRUARY 7, 1922

"Our esteemed fellowtownsman, W. R. Kelley has been at home this week nursing a sore foot.

"E. A. Campbell and one of his children have been quite ill with pneumonia, but are reported convalescing."

"R. V. Cupps reports a new girl baby at his house. She arrived Saturday, the 1st. Mother and child doing nicely.

"Stockmen of this section are utilizing prickly pear as feed. It had been quite a task to burn them but we are informed by a prominent cattleman and a good Methodist brother—that a strong wind a few weeks since blew all the stickers off; so now the cow that refuses to stay fat does so from pure honory contrariness.

"H. W. Kingsbery is in Coleman this week helping Uncle Sam arrange his household affairs.

"Jim Brannan has moved to Rockwood at the house of Dr. Brown. We hope he will like his new home.

"Mr. and Mrs. Goen and Miss Lillie Frost of Waldrip were in Santa Anna trading Saturday. They spent the night at the Turner ranch.

"Tom Johnson's little boy, about 10 years of age, was fooling with a dynamite cap and got shot through the hand and seriously hurt, but hope he will soon recover from the wound.

"In a few more years all of the tillable land in Coleman county will be put in a state of cultivation and stock raising except on a small scale will be a thing of the past. The advance of the man with the hoe is inevitable. Stockmen are aware of the fact that cattle cannot be profitably grazed on land that is worth from $5 to $12 per acre, and are fast cutting their pastures up into small farms and pushing their herds farther west to cheaper grazing lands.

"W. D. Stephenson had business at the county capitol Saturday.

"J. D. Simpson, our genial station agent, has been having trouble with his bike of late. J. D. is a pretty good rider, but his wheel, like the average Spanish pony, has periodical bucking spells. One day last week as he was bowling along at a pretty lively rate, meditating on the beneficial affects of cycling and enjoying himself to the fullest extent, his bike, without a moment's notice, began doing a turn, known in cowboy parlance as "fence-row bucking." J. D. didn't like this procedure, and decided to dismount. In doing so he lost his equilibrium and landed on his shoulder and ear about ten feet from his wheel. He was bruised up a little and pretty well "winded" but soon pulled himself together and led his wheel into town. There is but one thing that can throw a person harder than a bike and that is a Spanish mule. We have tried both and had; as soon undertake to ride a streak of zigzag lightning as to remain on the hurrican deck of a Spanish mule during a bucking storm.

"Miss Minnie Egel of Coleman visited Santa Anna friends Monday.

"M. Tyson, one of our enterprising merchants, is at Coleman this week doing work in the grand jury room.

"Our friend W. T. Verner handed us $1.75 this week in payment for the Santa Anna News and Dallas News, two of the leading Texas Journals.

"Leonard Bell, one of the Santa Anna country's progressive farmers, has called at this office to pay up his subscription and order the paper sent to him another year.

"J. P. Richardson, an enterprising farmer of the Rockwood country, was in Santa Anna Monday, and called at the News office to pay up his subscription.

"Henry Millard left Friday night for Duke, Texas, where he has a position with the Santa Fe 'house gang.' He informs us that he will be absent about six months. His family will remain in Santa Anna. Henry is a splendid fellow and we wish him all kinds of success."

Christian Aid Society

The Christian Aid Society had a social meeting with Mrs. Gipson Monday afternoon. A Missionary program was rendered. There was a better attendance than usual including several visitors, while several members were out of town. The house was decorated with sweet peas and asters. Real Gipson angel food cake and grape punch were served as a fitting climax to a pleasant afternoon.

TOO MUCH CREDIT?

We trust that we are not growing old mentally. Always we have tried to appreciate modern development. In most of it we believe thoroughly, even to the extent of believing that the good old days do not compare favorably with the present. But there is one tendency that we must criticize adversely, that of buying anything and everything on credit or on the installment plan. There are certain essentials that every individual needs, such as food, clothing, shelter, amusement. These are definite expenses, varying in amount, according to the desires and financial independence of each person. They should be paid for in cash, for they can in no way be considered an investment. Other items, such as a home, an automobile for business, or largely for business purposes, equipment for the business, and to some extent for the home, these may be considered as desirable articles for installment purchases. The list would vary with the individual. Their purchase, however, should come only after the person has bought necessities for cash. Perhaps what we have here set down is rank heresy. At least it is not being practiced much by Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen today.

TALENT AND GENIUS

(By Thos. E. Pickering)

Genius is the power and the capacity to create new forms and new combinations. Talent is the art of performing and demonstrating what Genius has made manifest. The school girl "speaks a piece" and is encored. The same school girl composes a poem and is laughed at. Why? Grant that the poem is poor; there is yet another reason for the difference in public attitude.

The world is slow to accept the new creations, whether in science, art, literature or invention. The one who creates suffers; while the one who performs gets the applause of the crowd. Note this difference in the human make-up. Genius is scorned for daring to show that there are stories yet untold, pictures un-painted, inventions unrealized. While Talent, the second cousin of Genius, and without which there would be no field for Talent's action, is praised for her cunning and winsomeness and lauded for her ability to express what Genius has placed in her possession.

Why Not Longer Lives?

The law of compensation works in the changing habits and modes of life. Altho people are having better sanitation, cleaner surroundings, preventive measures for health, more shower baths and fewer flies, there is a negative factor at work in canned and concentrated foods and artificial stimulants of all kinds taken into the body.

If we still lived as our forefathers lived in matters of plain foods and simple habits, such existence, plus the modern standards and methods of hygiene, undoubtedly would produce longevity such as the world has never seen.

"The Man From Red Gulch"

Colorful Film of Days of '49

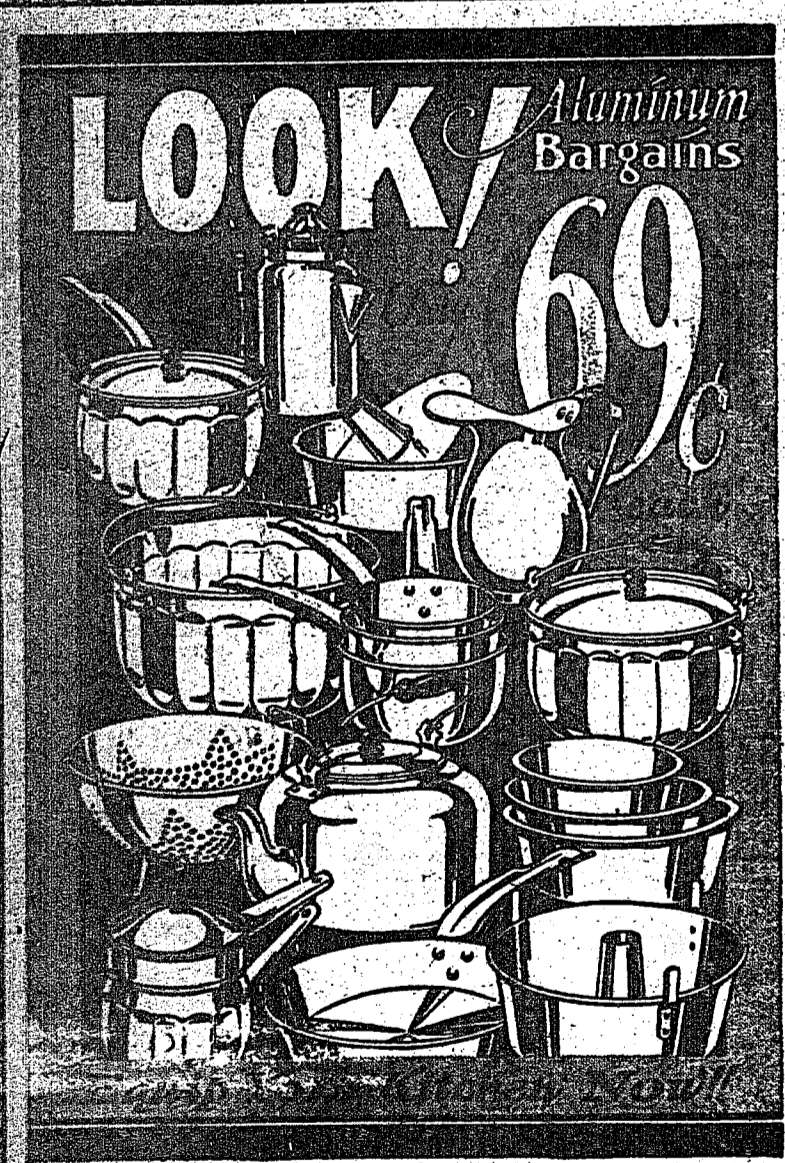

Harry Carey's new star picture, "The Man From Red Gulch," which will be shown at the Queen Theatre, next Friday, was the first story of the halcyon days of the gold fever in California filmed at the Hunt Stromberg studio. Prospectors, gamblers, river men, cow punchers, dancers and vigilantes vested the filming with colorful, romantic interest. Carey appears as the kindly partner of John Fallon, and when the latter is murdered, he swears revenge. The role is said to offer Carey the best opportunities for characterization he has had in several years. Harriett Hammond, the "Elinor Glyn blonde," appears opposite Carey. The supporting cast includes many players of prominence.

Sunday School Lesson

(By Rev. P. B. Fitzwater, D.D., Dean of Day and Evening Schools, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.) (G. 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for June 20

JUDAH'S PLEA

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 41:18; 45:15. GOLDEN TEXT—A broken and contrite spirit, O God, thou wilt not despise.—Ps. 51:17. PRIMARY TOPIC—Judah's Love for His Brother and His Father. JUNIOR TOPIC—Judah's Unselfish Offer. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Standing True to Our Home Folk. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Loving Devotion to Our Kindred.

The lesson subject should not be, as suggested by the lesson committee, Judah's plea, but rather Joseph's forgiving love. The emphasis should not be primarily upon the signing and penitent brothers, but upon the magnanimous and forgiving brother, Joseph. I. Joseph's Elevation to the Premiership of Egypt (41:14-44).

The circumstances which led to his elevation from prison to the position of prime minister were:

1. The dreams of Pharaoh's butler and baker (Ch. 40).

These were two very important officers in Pharaoh's court. Their business was to provide the drink and food of the ruler and of his household. It was most important not only that proper food and drink be provided, but that the monarch should be protected against poisoning. These officers had disturbing dreams. He interpreted their dreams.

2. Pharaoh's dream (41:1-13).

For two full years Joseph remained in prison forgotten by the butler. Pharaoh's dream of the fat kine and the lean one and the full ear of corn and the blasted one brought to Joseph the great opportunity. The failure of the wise men of Egypt to interpret this dream caused the chief butler to remember what Joseph had done for him, whereupon Pharaoh, brought Joseph out of the prison. He made known to Pharaoh that it meant seven years of plenty, followed by seven years of famine, and suggested that a part of the produce of the land be stored up during the years of plenty, that there might be food for the people in the famine period. The plan appealed to Pharaoh as feasible. Therefore he assigned the task to Joseph and intrusted him, with authority to execute it.

3. Joseph's Harsh Treatment of His Brothers (42:1-4; 4:17).

Driven by sore need his brethren came to Egypt for food. To test them, Joseph:

1. Accused them of being spies (42:9-17).

He cast them into prison and demanded that their youngest brother be brought as a proof of the truthfulness of their word.

2. He kept Simeon as a hostage. Because he feared God he sent the rest home with provisions for their families.

3. Benjamin's peril (44:2-12). By a clever device Joseph's cup was placed in Benjamin's sack and was used as an occasion for bringing them back on the charge of theft. Convicted of their sins Judah pleaded for the release of Benjamin.

4. Judah's Plea (44:18-34).

1. For turning away of Joseph's anger (v. 18), He recited the history of the family and their coming to Egypt and appealed on the basis of the effect upon Jacob, their father, if Benjamin was not permitted to accompany them home.

2. That he himself might be kept in slavery instead of Benjamin (v. 33).

4. Joseph Reveals Himself to His Brethren (45:1-15).

1. He declares his identity (vv. 1-3). This act on the part of Joseph troubled them. It ought to have made them glad. This not only affords a beautiful example of forgiving love, but most beautifully illustrates Christ's dealing with His brethren, the Jews.

2. He bids his brethren come near (vv. 4-8).

When he revealed himself to his brethren, the remembrance of their sins pierced them through. Joseph's first question was about his father, showing that his desire was to put their thoughts far away from their crime. He invited them to come near to him and assured them that God had overruled their crime for their salvation.

3. Joseph sends his brethren away with good news (vv. 9-15).

As soon as Joseph's brethren knew him and were reconciled to him, they were sent with the glad tidings to their father. As soon as the Jews come to know Jesus Christ as their Messiah, He will send them away to the ends of the earth with the good news of His saving grace.

State to Take Over Maintenance of All State Highways, Patrol System Ultimately to Be Used

Austin, Texas.—Maintenance of all State highways is being taken over by the State, Hal Moseley, chairman of the Highway Commission, said Saturday.

By the middle of June, 640 contracts for maintenance of roads in about 150 East, Northeast and Central Texas counties will have expired. Contracts for some of the counties have already expired.

The maintenance contracts let to contractors by the preceding Highway Commission, headed by Frank Latham, drew the criticism of Attorney General Dan Moody, who sought to have contracts in a large number of counties cancelled on the ground that they had not been awarded to low bidders. He charged this failure had cost the State approximately $150,000.

The State had paid several million dollars to contractors for highway maintenance since April, 1925. Moody has charged, repeatedly the contracts were let to "political favorites of the administration, many of whom had no experience in road contracting."

Moseley said all details for the State's taking complete charge of the maintenance program have not been worked out, but that ultimately a patrol system would be placed in operation. This plan of maintenance is somewhat familiar to the "sectionized" maintenance used by railroads.

"We are going to give State maintenance a thorough trial," Moseley said.

Doak Rainey, Assistant State Highway Engineer, said that for several months the State had employed the patrols in Division 3, made up of Baylors, Archer, Young, Wilbarger and several other counties.

"On most State highways, extensive maintenance is not required," Rainey said. "Effective results can be obtained by shifting a large maintenance force from county to county, as the need may arise, with a small force being kept intact at all times in each county."

"For example, a bridge gang has been able in District 3 to salvage much material and accomplish worthwhile results by this plan."

Good manners and good looks should be twins, but they don't always go together.

Talking About What Makes a Good Town

What makes a good town, anyway? The question is often asked. Is it the wealth evidenced by the fine homes and splendid business buildings?

The News does not believe that fine residences nor the big business buildings make a good town. Of course a good town will have fine residences and elegant brick stores, but there must be a solid, substantial citizenship, and citizenship must have a unity of purpose and a desire to make a good town. No town of similar size in Texas can boast of finer residences nor more modern business buildings.

These may test the stability and thrift of certain people, but they offer no inducements to commerce, and moral progress. It is the spirit of good order and law observance. That is a factor only. The sleepiest old hamlets that dot the map have the spirit in rank abundance. Is it the schools and churches? May their number ever increase, but they do not make a town—they only cultivate it. Is it the geographical location, the character of the country surrounding, the shipping facilities, the natural advantages?

Well, what is it that makes a town anyway? Just one thing—the unity of the people, the existence of a common bond which causes business and social antagonisms to put aside all difference when it comes to boosting the town.

No town ever made real success without the get-together spirit, it unanimously adopted. It has rejuvenated old hulks of towns that were yawning their way into endless sleep. It has infused new life blood into the heart of commercial life and made thriving cities out of paralytic villages.

Natural advantages count for much and prosperity cannot be built on shifting sand, but any town with half a chance can be made to grow and expand and thrive when its citizens join with one accord in the boosting program.

Concrete is the aristocrat of pavements

Why Wichita Falls Builds Concrete Streets

Wichita Falls laid its first concrete pavement in 1915—on Scott Street.

For ten years this firm, rigid, unyielding pavement has carried the heavy traffic of the business district. During that time only simple, inexpensive maintenance has been necessary to keep the pavement as good as when built. On many other streets in this thriving city concrete has given the same satisfactory service.

It now has over 500,000 square yards of concrete street pavement, and recently contracted for 200,000 square yards more.

Wichita Falls is known as "The City That Faith Built." Her citizens have pride in the present and vision for the future. Concrete pavements have helped this faith because they act as a town tonic.

PUTTING AGE ON LIFE

The centenarian is more commonplace than he once was, but he is still rare enough to be good for mention in any newspaper. The time is coming, however, when living to be a hundred will be such an ordinary thing that no one will boast of it.

This, at least, is the view of Dr. S. J. Crumrine, director of the American Child Health association, who believes the health of the nation to be improving so rapidly that everybody will soon have more than a sporting chance to live to be a hundred.

"If the things that we now know can be applied," he says, "we should add ten years within the next twenty to life expectancy. We have lengthened ten years in the last fifteen and believe we can add another ten in the next twenty, with proper progress. In fact, it is my belief that centenarians will be common."

Great advances in scientific knowledge, the improved standards of medical schools and quickening interest in public health are among the principal reasons why advances in the age limit can be predicted with any degree of certainty.

Each year brings new conquests of dread diseases. The exact cause, course and cure of yellow fever, typhoid and diphtheria have been mastered in the past generation so that it is not improbable that ten years from now a death from one of these diseases will be the subject of a coroner's inquest to fix criminal responsibility.

The scientific discovery, however, is only half the battle. Knowledge must be spread to those who will be benefited by it. There must be a popular understanding of the value of health and how to keep it. Yeoman service is being done in this work by public health authorities, private practitioners, volunteer health agencies and the press.

And probably nobody will mind, even if it does eventually take the news value out of the centenarian!

MEN WANTED

In summing up the wants of this nation today, you will no doubt agree with us that the greatest want of this age is men—men who are not for sale. Men who are honest, sound from center to circumference, and true to the heart's core. Men who will condemn wrong in friend or foe, and in themselves as well. Men who will stand for the right, though the heavens totter and the earth reels. Men who can well tell the truth and the world and the devil in the lie. Men who have courage without whining for it and joy without shouting to bring it. Men who know their place and fill it. Men who are willing to earn what they eat and perform the duty they are paid to perform—politically and otherwise.

TAKING THE 'KICK' OUT OF WAR

(By Thos. E. Pickerrill)

"Everyone knows that we covet no territory, we entertain no imperialistic designs; we harbor no enmity toward any other people," said President Coolidge in his Memorial Day address at Arlington.

The statement is correct except, unfortunately, the first phrase "everyone knows." Everyone ought to know, but everyone doesn't, and that is what causes wars. The failure to understand the other fellow is the worst enemy of peace. America does not seek revenge, she nurses no grievances, just as the President says, and if we can get the other nations believing it, and if we can believe it of other nations and they of one another, there will be little need of a World Court. England, France, Japan and other civilized peoples may say the same.

The differences in racial customs, languages, commercial practices, religions and social conduct can not always be reconciled with harmonious relationships. It is not only the resort to war for the "redress of wrongs and the enforcement of rights" that peace loving people seek to avoid, but to do away with misunderstandings that bring about the necessity of the intention to resort to war.

War is becoming less probable all the time, because the people of the world are getting together and understanding one another as never before. The radio, the airplane, the institutions of fraternalism and fellowship, peace and disarmament conferences, world-wide service in combating disease and evils such as narcotics, are agencies for closer relationship and better understanding among world inhabitants.

The late war against the Rifles by France and Spain was frowned upon even to the point where the Rifles got some undeserved sympathy along with some that was deserved. Even the French Government got tired of the struggle and the French people were more so. The next war that looms upon this globe will become still more unpopular. And when war becomes both unpopular and unprofitable there will be no more of it. The "kick" will be removed. What this world needs is a war in which the maximum of profit and popularity to anybody would be about one-half of one per cent. That would make war quite unprofitable and extremely unpopular.

FARM RELIEF PROMISED

Sixty United States senators have agreed that congress shall not adjourn until some legislation has been passed in an effort to help the farmer. This pledge was made to the people after the house had refused to pass the Haugen bill, which sought to remove the blighting effect of world market conditions on the domestic market for American farm products.

The opinions of the best known British and American economists have been sought on the question and they were summed up and explained to the senate by Senator Watson of Indiana. This is expected to form a basis upon which some satisfactory measure can be constructed.

Sir Josiah Stamp, foremost English student of economics, summed up the study of the question in eight points. His logic was that segregating the surplus farm products for export would tend to increase the prices at home. This would increase the cost of living and bring the necessity of higher wages which in turn would add to the most of the farmer's living expenses. Thus an unending circle of increases might be set in motion and the ends sought would be defeated.

The results of the proposed legislation, of course, are all a matter of conjecture, and the exact effects will not be known until the proposal is put in operation. In the light of what has happened in the past, however, economists are able to predict very nearly what will come to pass.

J. P. McCORD, Chairman.

THE ENTERPRISE OF TRADE

Competition between rival towns and cities for retail trade is getting a little hotter each year. Employers may be active and enterprising, but they must have the hearty co-operation of their helpers to win success in this race.

People who take jobs in these stores ought not merely to feel that they are going to get some money that they want, but they should have a distinct purpose in their heads to help these concerns expand their trade. They should be wide awake all the time to win business for these stores.

Most of them have friends through the outlying towns and villages. When they see these people they should say a good word for the store for which they work. They should make all the new acquaintances they can, and continually be boosting their store. If all the retail workers in Santa Anna would do that, we would see a marked growth in the trade of the city in a few years, and everyone would profit thereby.

'The Isle of Retribution' at Queen Monday and Tuesday

Although he has been making pictures in this country for little more than two years, Victor McLaglen has firmly established himself as the greatest he-man, stand up and fight it out player on the screen, whether he is portraying a likable hero or a most roundly hated villain. He was brought to this country from England by Vitagraph to play the title role in "The Beloved Brute," and he has been sticking to just that sort of role ever since. Just how much of a brute he can be is shown in "The Isle of Retribution," adapted from Edison Marshall's famous story of the frozen wastes of Alaska. McLaglen is a physical giant, standing nearly six feet, four inches in his stocking feet, and his muscular development is in keeping with his height. Before the World War he was a real prize fighter, although the son of an English clergyman, and stood up to Jack Johnson for a four-round, no-decision match just before the latter became world's champion. No morbid ideal man could be found to portray the brutal "Doomsdorf" in "The Isle of Retribution."

It isn't a pleasant smile unless it pleases you to smile.

Gravel Slide Covers Man Eighteen Inches; Is Rushed to Coleman

Ed Miller, engaged in hauling gravel and sand for Jack Powell at Echo, narrowly escaped death last Thursday evening by the timely assistance of co-laborers when he was covered by a sand and gravel slide. According to information reaching this city Mr. Miller was buried some eighteen inches in the pit. Employees nearby cleared his face immediately and later removed his body from the debris. He was rushed to his Coleman home for examination and treatment. He sustained a badly broken left thigh, an injured back and right shoulder and many minor bruises. Reports from his home in south Coleman are to the effect that he is doing nicely. Mrs. Miller is a trained nurse and it was not necessary to carry him to the hospital.—Democrat-Voice.

Suffered weak, nervous

"I WAS in a very weakened, run-down condition, surely in need of a tonic and builder," says Mrs. J. R. Wrenn, of Anna, Texas. "I was so weak I had to go to bed, and kept getting weaker."

"I suffered with my back so much. I was very nervous, couldn't rest good at night. I couldn't eat anything—I just wasn't hungry."

"I had read so much of Cardui, I thought best to use it. I took seven or eight bottles, and by the time I had taken them I was stronger than I had been in several years. I can highly recommend Cardui."

Thousands of other women have found that the tonic effects of the purely vegetable ingredients of Cardui were just what they needed to help restore their appetites, to help bring them easily and naturally back to normal health and strength. Its action has been found to be of great benefit in many common female ailments.

You Have Heard of Bruce Barton

Not long ago he was making a speech, and he said:

Some years ago there was a celebration in Boston in honor of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers. After several laudatory speeches had been made by men, a bright and vivacious woman was called on. Said she:

"I am tired of hearing so many praises of the Pilgrim Fathers. I want to say a word about the Pilgrim Mothers. They had to endure all the Pilgrim Fathers endured, and they had to endure the Pilgrim Fathers, besides."

Do you know what happened to the Pilgrim Mothers, my friends? I will tell you. They died. They died young. It took two or three of them to bring up one family. The Fathers were tough and lived long, but work and hardship made short work of the wives.

It has been truly said that you can measure the height of any civilization by the plane upon which its women live. Measured by that standard, we have made great progress in the United States, but we have not made enough. An electric motor which runs a washing machine or a vacuum cleaner works for three or five cents an hour. There are still millions of women doing this work which motors can do; selling their time at coolie wages of three cents an hour, having to neglect the highest work entrusted to human beings, the work of motherhood.

The time in the life of a child when a mother can exert her influence is terribly brief. "Give me a child until he is seven years old," a great philosopher said, "and I care not who has him afterward."

Seven years in which to mould character; seven short, fleeting years! What a tragedy that a single moment of these years should be wasted in work which an electric machine can do.
