Man Is Major in U. S. Army for Two Years Without Knowing It

Resident, June 6.—An officer of the United States army two years without knowing it, Robert D. Gordon, well known oil operator, Saturday was ordered to report for duty. The unusual situation was caused by the loss of a letter two years ago, its recovery a few days ago, and receipt of a telegram Saturday from the War Department.

Two years ago Gordon lost some mail which he was unable to find. Subsequently he moved to California, selling his office furniture. Upon his return recently he bought back his furniture and in a desk drawer was found a letter from the War Department informing him he had been given the rank of major and inclosing a commission signed by the President.

Gordon immediately notified the War Department and Saturday received a telegram ordering him to report to Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, for duty. He said he expected to claim the back pay.

Ross Kelley expects to leave with his family the latter part of this week for an extended trip overland through New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado. Mr. Kelley requests the Santa Anna News to announce the records and secretary's business of Golf Club has been turned over to E. R. Purdy, the assistant secretary until he returns, and all members wishing to transact business with the secretary will find Mr. Purdy ready to accommodate them.

Bank Building Hit By Lightning and Badly Damaged

About ten o'clock last Thursday night during a heavy rain and an electrical storm, lightning struck the top of the State National Bank building, greatly damaging the roof and upper part of the walls. Occupants of the Bank Hotel, occupying the second story of the Bank building, narrowly escaped an unexpected ending, and some of them have, it is said, been talking more about church affairs and religion than they have in several months. One young man, a roomer, was preparing a bath when the bolt struck, penetrating the roof just above his head, and running down the wall, received a right severe shock, but was not seriously injured. Fire was discovered between the floor of the hotel and ceiling over the bank, but was extinguished before any damage resulted. Brick were scattered for several yards in most every direction. J. J. Keeling, proprietor of the Queen Theatre, was standing out in front of the theatre on the sidewalk when a brick came down with a terrific speed, missed his head about six inches, and burst to pieces on the pavement at his feet. It is said that Mr. Keeling went up just about as fast as the brick came down.

Misses Jeanette Johnson and Ruth Stephenson Entertain

The following, Misses Pauline and Francis Craig, Ida Harrel, Irene Griffin and Messrs. Ed Evans and Charles Barnes of Brownwood, Bert Robinson of Dublin, Lewis Caster, San Angelo, Carl Nelms, Brady, Elva Cathey, Olga Zappe, Margaret Vogesong, Griffie Atkins, Marvin Atkins and H. E. Frizzgerald of Ballinger, and Elgean Hensley, composed a party of guests who spent the day Sunday with Misses Jeanette Johnson and Ruth Stephenson. A splendid luncheon and other amusements were enjoyed throughout the day.

Judge Morris never met a stranger.

Giving New Ease to Life

Strip your walls of curtains, window glass, paint. Move out the davenport, radio, phonograph, magazines, telephones. Banish pepper, salt, sugar and all but home prepared foods from your pantry. Go back to the flint for your fire, the fields for your bread, the sheep on the hills for your clothes.

Without advertised products your life would seem both drab and hard. You would have little comfort or convenience; know nothing of the means to secure them. Unhelped, your ingenuity would tend to limit your pace. Your progress would be at a snail's pace; you might not progress at all.

Advertisements sweep you on to new enjoyments. Read them and know about advertised goods. They give your life new ease.

Pin your faith to advertised goods—its merchandise of no regrets. Every time the merchant advertises he puts his reputation in your hands. His products or his wares must make good. His service must be as advertised.

That is why it pays to read the advertisements, to deal with advertisers and to buy advertised goods.

Mrs. Morris Also Works

With the Evangelist is Mrs. Morris, who is also a great worker, especially among the young people. She will conduct a pre-service, each evening prior to the main service for the benefit of the young people and her tactics will greatly please all who attend.

A strong appeal is made for a good attendance, feeling the assurance that the services will be uplifting and greatly beneficial to all.

Prof. H. Grady Harlan has been here for several days working up an interest and advertising the meeting. Prof. Harlan will have charge of the musical part in the meeting.

Some Public Needs For Santa Anna

The Santa Anna News has published several articles recently relative to the need of better school facilities, and the more we think about the matter the more we are convinced as to the importance of a better building.

If we are correctly informed, Santa Anna has now lost her 23 points of credit affiliation and is now just a common Independent school district. These points of credit are the result of several years' hard work, and to lose them means quite a loss to our school. However certain requirements must be met if they are maintained and nothing short of a better high school building will suffice. This is the hardest knocker Santa Anna has ever had, and people who are raising families with high ideals are not going to tolerate any such. It is up to us citizens to either build a more adequate school building and improve our school, or just become a dumping ground for people who don't care. What are we going to do about it?

R. D. KELLEY HAD GOOD LUCK ON FISHING TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Kelley and Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Kelley returned Sunday from the coast country, where they spent a several days' vacation. R. D. proved to be the champion fisherman while gone, having landed a 62 pound tarpon. A shark of about the usual man-eating size put in its appearance one day while Mr. Kelley was out wading and fishing, but Mr. Kelley refused to make friends with the sea-beast, even ran out of the gulf and turned the entire liquid premises over to him. The shark acted very nice about it, since it couldn't catch its prey it just went on its way looking for other eats, which was very agreeable to E. D.

Values

Benjamin Franklin, a wise man born of thrifty people, said: "If you would know the value of a dollar—try to borrow one."

How true.

Teach your son or your daughter that Franklin truth and nurture in their minds the appreciation of the value of the dollar while they are in the penny age. It takes a stronger hold and becomes so deep rooted that all later influences toward reckless spending and careless handling of money cannot destroy the habit of thrift—the solid rock upon which all success is built.

The BULL'S EYE

The Farmer Can't Stand Much More Help Like He Has Been Getting

Congress say they are helping the Farmer. They are in Washington ON salary. He is home trying to pay it. Farmers have had more advice and less relief than a wayward son. If advice sold for 10c a column, Farmers would be richer than Boodleggers. And when they get all through advising, there is just one thing will help the Farmers. That is eliminate some of the middlemen and let the two ends meet. The Consumer and the Producer are two men in America that have never even seen each other. Cut out the middle and tie the two ends together.

When a steer starts from the feed pen to the table, there is about 10 to take a bite out of him, before he reaches the family that pay for him. Who wears the best clothes or drives the best car, the fellow who raises a bushel of wheat, or the working fellow who goes up to buy a sack of flour? Why neither one of them. The ones in between these two have their private Tailor and "Straight Eights."

The Government just told Agriculture, "You are in a hole." They didn't offer to pull them out, but they did say, "We will get down in there with you."

I want to tell you right here, I don't know what would have happened to the poor farmer if it had not been for his old friend, "Bull" Durham. It's the only thing he has been absolutely able to rely on. And I want him to know that myself and "Bull" Durham are with him right to the poor house door.

INTERESTING ITEMS CLIPPED FROM ISSUE OF SANTA ANNA NEWS OF DECEMBER 27, 1901

Just to bring memories back to some of the citizens of Santa Anna, we are re-producing some articles below which were published in the Santa Anna News, December 27, 1901. Read them:

Clover Hunt

"The clover hunt at the home of Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Grady last night proved to be the grand social event of the holidays according to statement of participants. At an early hour quite a number of merry young people were seen making their way to the beautiful home of the host and hostess. Soon the several rooms were filled to overflowing with happy young folks.

"After indulging in the many games at hand, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Phillips, assistant host and hostess, passed through the crowd distributing what appeared to be 'goobers,' but upon close examination, each 'goober' was found to contain the name of an eminent author. Then came the search for the authors wives.

"The most delicious refreshments were served, after which came the long expected 'clover hunt.' At a given signal each individual began a quiet search for the beautiful green clover leaves. When every one had hunted as long as they wished, it was necessary to determine who should receive the prizes. The greatest number were found by H. M. Thomson and Miss Jessie Melton, and the least number by Frank Caradine and Miss timely, for just as he says and just as every father and mother and every boy knows, kite flying time is here. A few weeks ago a little lad, out on a farm three miles from a little Texas town, had his kite to get caught on a high powered electric wire. He secured a wire or some good conductor and in untangling so severely burned his arm that he lost its use entirely.

THERE'S DANGER IN PLAYING WITH WIRES

The Mexia News the other day published the following item for boys who fly kites near electric transmission lines.

Such accidents could become common here, unless precautions are taken early, unless the boys who thus lose their kites are aware of the menace and danger of trying to free them from the wires. Better it is for a boy to finger a buzz saw than to fool with a kite across a never ending streak of lightning racing through a wire.

SOME HEROES OF PEACE

Paralyzed and helpless below the waist, he dragged himself along by his arms. Twenty feet away was the bomb, with its fuse growing shorter and shorter," writes Philip H. Gadden, in an article in a recent number of the Nation's Business.

He continues, "That sounds like a piece taken out of a scenario for a moving picture which will end with the young soldier who, having received a Medal of Honor, is about to marry the banker's daughter. But it isn't. "With almost no change, save to make the bomb a live electric wire, it is the story of a negro lineman in the employ of an electric lighting company in Charleston, South Carolina. His special job was to attend to arc lights, which the Police Department reported out of service. One stormy night, with the wind blowing a gale and the rain coming down in sheets, he undertook to lower an arc light. As he touched it he got a shock from 3,200 volts. He was knocked to the ground, helpless from the waist down.

"The negro knew that buses from the railroad station would soon be passing through the street and that lives might be endangered by the arc light lying on the street. With the help of his arms he dragged his partly paralyzed body across the pavement until he could reach the rope attached to the lamp. He couldn't get to his feet, but by hauling hand over hand he managed by the weight of his body to lift the arc light out of danger. Then he fell unconscious in the roadway, where he was found an hour or so later by a policeman.

"A true hero of peace, moved by a sense of duty, risking his life at a time when there was no one near to know of his bravery or to urge him on. And not an isolated case. Public utility executives will tell you hundreds of cases every year of men and women who have put aside their own safety, their own lives, and thought only of others, of protecting the public, of keeping service open. Sometimes there's a reward—money, perhaps, a medal, a word of public praise. Sometimes there's nothing except a consciousness of doing one's job and doing it well."

Car Worth More Than Its Cost to the Farmer

The average cost of maintaining and operating an automobile on the farm is $227.66 a year, while it costs only $159 to board the average horse, according to a farm census bulletin issued by the American Research Foundation, but the value of one automobile to the farmer is several times as great as that of one horse, the bulletin estimates.

"While the cost of maintaining an automobile on the farm is 80 per cent greater than that of keeping a horse," says the bulletin, "one car can accomplish as much as three horses in marketing, road work, and some phases of farm labor.

"Moreover, it does the work with much less effort and loss of time. It can keep working all day and still be used in the night.

"Average estimated value of an automobile to a farmer is $285 per year. This is 20 per cent greater than the actual operating cost. Added to this are the pleasure and opportunities for social contact a car brings to the farm.

"It is doubtful under present conditions of farm efficiency whether the average farm horse returns $159 in value to his owner each year.

"Number of horses on farms is steadily decreasing, while the number of automobiles and tractors show a steady increase. Improved machinery gives farmers greater prosperity.

"Although there has been a shortage of farm laborers in recent years, the average farmer has increased his efficiency through the use of automobiles, tractors, motor cultivators, engines, milking machines and other devices."

THE NATURAL WAY

Wide awake retail business men advertise because they want the people of their trading area to know about the goods they have for sale; they want to extend an invitation to people to call and see them.

People read the advertisements because they want to know what and where they can buy to the best advantage, and these facts can be determined only after knowing what the merchants have to offer. They haven't the time to make the rounds of all stores and compare prices and merchandise, so they rely on the advertisements.

The local newspaper is the logical and natural medium between buyer and seller. It is a means by which the merchant speaks to his customers and the customers do their buying.

The one should use it and the other should read it. Both profit from the transaction.

A COUNTRY GIRL'S CREED

I believe that the country is a better place for me to live than the city because it is cleaner, quieter and more beautiful. I believe that I can find no nobler work than to use all the knowledge and skill I can obtain to make my country home a place of happiness for my family and friends.

I believe that the community in which I live is a part of my home and that I should work earnestly with my neighbors to bring more helpfulness and joy into the community life.

I believe that God did not mean to shut me in a house, away from the free air and sunshine. I believe that all the blessings of the great outdoors are intended for me.

I believe that for me, too, it is an enabling privilege to work with Nature—to care for the life giving soil with my own hands, to sow the seed and help it grow. I believe that all my life I should plan to have some work that calls me every day into the open air.

I believe in learning to enjoy good books, good music and good pictures. But most of all I believe in reading in Nature's unwritten books the wonderful stories of plants and animals; in listening to the music of birds and insects, of wind and rain; in watching the ever-changing pictures of earth and sky. For I believe that God has given all these things to make my country home beautiful and dear to me.

Let's Beautify Our Cemetery

Do you think it a reflection on our town and people to let the last resting place of our friends and loved ones go unkept.

We owe it to the memory of our departed ones to keep their last resting place attractive, and this cannot be done unless we all get together and all do what we can to help.

Many of our pioneers sleep in the Santa Anna cemetery. Many of those who compose our silent population are those who made it possible for us to enjoy what we have today.

In view of these facts is it not fitting that we keep fresh the memory of our loved ones, in caring for the city of the dead?

How sweet and hallowed should be the memory of those dear ones whose passing have left foot prints on the sands of time.

Then shall we insult their memory by a stingy, narrow attitude in preserving their resting place?

Let's make our silent city one of nature's beauty spots, a place fit for our loved ones to rest until the morning of eternal awakening.

Watch the crowds. They'll be present early for best seats at Morris Tabernacle.

"Judge Morris is in a class to himself," says Houston Post.

I'd miss my vacation rather than miss Judge Morris in Big Tabernacle.

H-L AND MORIAH

Some head—you say: Well, that is about the only kind of heading we can think of suitable for the occasion. Last week we started out full of vim and determination, but not vitality, to get our paper out early and get a good run on another one for this week, come out a day early and mender our way over to San Antonio for a three days session of the State Press Association, and more things happened to us in one week than usually happens in six months. One of the drawbacks was, a pinion on the motor drive that works the main gear wheel on the typesetting machine shriveled up and refused to perform. We boarded a car, went to Brownwood and exerted our every effort to find one, but to no avail. Late Wednesday we wired to Memphis, Tenn. for one, and it came in Friday night, but was the wrong pinion. After pondering over the further disappointment for a while, we assembled our mechanical implements and proceeded to work the thing over and make it perform. So far it is performing and we are working like fury to get out another paper before the "critter" refuses to function again. If we encounter no further trouble, this issue of the Santa Anna News will reach its readers a day early and the editor will be mingling with a crowd of several hundred pencil pushers in the Alamo City for the week-end. If all the thoughts we've had this week were committed to type, they would make a large volume, but some of them might not be very fit reading. So long, if we live to get back, we will try to tell the story later.

Judge Morris knows not failure. He prays to success.

YOU TELL 'EM

That rain we have all been talking about needing, or soon going to need, has already arrived. The precipitation was about 1.1-1.8 inches, and it is just right. You tell 'em with the fine season underneath to back it up we claim Coleman county is in the swing this year. Cotton is a little late, but it is growing very rapidly, and with a few "cotton" showers during the summer, the several cotton gins in this section will run day and night during the fall season, and pickers will be in demand.

Judge Morris defies any man to hear him a week and not be a Morris Booster.

Leatrice Joy Wife of one in New Picture "Made For Love"

"He was a mummy digger and expected his wife to be a mummy." That was the way Leatrice Joy described the role Edmund Burns plays in "Made For Love," which comes to the Queen Theatre Friday, 18. Miss Joy plays the part of a forgotten wife who because of her exploring husband's interest in mummies and archaeology drifts into a love affair with an unscrupulous Egyptian prince played by Bertram Grassby.

MONDAY, JUNE 14 IS FLAG DAY

Monday, June 14th is Flag Day. It is to be observed by the display of the Stars and Stripes throughout the nation on all buildings whether public, commercial or residence.

It is an occasion for the exhibition of the national emblem which is the symbol of our birthright and our liberties and a reminder of the obligations we owe to the preservation of the attributes for which it stands.

It is an occasion for one and all to renew their appreciation of the sacrifices it represents and to pledge again their devotion thereto and respect hereof.

The proper unfurling of the flag Monday, wherever it may be done, is a plain and simple duty in which one and all may share. It is the opportunity for an impressive as well as significant lesson in nationalism and the ideals for which this nation has thus far endured.

JOSEPH'S FIDELITY

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 39:1-21.
GOLDEN TEXT—Seek thou a man diligent in his business; he shall stand before kings.—Prov. 22:29.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Noble Slave Boy.
JUNIOR TOPIC—How Joseph Behaved as a Slave.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Passing Severe Tests.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Triumphing Over Trials.

I. Joseph, the Well Beloved Son (37:3).

He was Jacob's favorite son, partly due to the fact that he was the son of the wife of his first love and the son of his old age, but mainly because of the superior qualities he possessed.

1. Joseph's Fidelity as a Son (37:12-17).
Joseph's brethren had gone to Shechem, some fifty miles from Hebron, where there was plenty of pasture for their flocks. After a time Jacob became anxious as to their welfare and dispatched Joseph, now about seventeen years old, for the purpose of finding out their condition. He did not allow the envious hatred of his brethren to deter him from his duty, but willingly responded, "Here am I." He no doubt realized that his mission was fraught with great peril—exposure to wild beasts, robbers, and the murderous hatred of his brethren. His fidelity is shown in two ways.

1. The fact that his father sent him on such a long and dangerous journey to bring back word concerning his brethren shows that he had proved himself to be a trustworthy character.

2. His brave and glad response to his father's request. He responded to his father's confidence.

III. Joseph's Fidelity as a Slave (39:1-19).

1. Sold to the Ishmaelites (37:28).
At the sight of Joseph, the murderous envy of his brethren was stirred up. They first proposed to kill him in order to prevent his dreams coming true. Finally, the prudent suggestion of Judah to sell him to the Midianites prevailed and he was carried to Egypt and sold to Potiphar as a slave.

2. His prosperity while a slave in Potiphar's house (39:2-10).
The secret of Joseph's prosperity was that the Lord was with him (v. 2). This prosperity consisted:

(1) Of being accorded the privilege of Potiphar's house, i. e., his private residence instead of his fields or public buildings.

(2) He became Potiphar's personal attendant (v. 4). Observing Joseph's fidelity Potiphar chose him to give attention to his personal affairs.

(3) He was made overseer over Potiphar's house (v. 4). As a personal attendant he proved himself to be so capable that he was made administrator over his estate including his household. He no doubt purchased all supplies and had charge of the servants.

(4) He brought prosperity to Potiphar (v. 5).
The Lord blessed Potiphar for Joseph's sake.

(5) He possessed an attractive personality (v. 6). His fine physique and commanding personality were gifts from God. All our gifts should be consecrated to the Lord who gave them.

3. His temptation (vv. 7-17).
His very attractive person became his peril. Potiphar's wife became infatuated with this handsome slave, and attempted to induce him to commit adultery with her. He resisted this temptation because yielding would have been to sin against his master and his God. The man who is faithful to God will be faithful to his fellowmen.

IV. Joseph's Fidelity as a Prisoner (vv. 18-23).

Being defeated in her wicked purpose, Potiphar's wife accused Joseph falsely. Because of her charge he was thrust into prison. Potiphar must not have really believed his wife or else he would have put Joseph to death. He did to him the least that was possible under the circumstances. Because of his purity and unflinching loyalty to God and man, God was with him even in the prison.

1. The Lord gave him favor in the sight of the keeper of the prison (v. 21). This keeper was none other than Potiphar himself (40:3, cf. 39:1).

2. He was given charge of the prisoners (v. 22).
Potiphar knew Joseph's ability and faithfulness, therefore gave him employment in this new place.

3. The Lord made him prosperous (v. 23).
Joseph's success was due to the hand of his God upon him.

Ordinary Duties of Life
If there be anything, in fact, where the views of God and the impressions of men are apt to be at total variance, it is in respect to the solemnity and importance of ordinary duties.—Horace Bushnell.

The highest point of heaven's throne in glory can only be reached by going to the lowest place of earth's cross.—Jesus found it so, so shall we.—Prophetic News.

INSECT PESTS THREATENING

(By R. R. Reppert, Entomologist)

College Station, Texas, May 29.—Various sections are reporting the presence of the web-worm, or "careless" worm, and it is evident that damage is now being done, or may soon be expected from this insect, to cotton, in all parts of Texas.

This worm hatches from eggs laid on careless weeds or on alfalfa. Observations we have made in the field lead us to believe that the egg is never laid on cotton itself, but that damage to cotton results only when the worm migrates from alfalfa fields, or from careless weeds. When because of continued rains careless weeds, even though very small, sprout in the fields and eggs are laid on them, damage to the cotton crop when the worms migrate may become very serious. In this case the cotton over the entire weedy area will likely require treatment. On the other hand, where the field is generally clean, and the worms migrate from weedy margins, heavy spraying of a zone of cotton, even though with a strength that kills this limited area of the crop, will be profitable because it results in the protection of the larger acreage beyond.

In such case however, careful watch must be continued lest later migrating worms cross this area and continue the damage.

The "careless" worms, like most other are best poisoned when very small. Unfortunately at this time, they feed mostly on the lower leaf surface, leaving the upper epidermis with its covering of poison. Also they protect themselves by spinning a web over themselves as they move about feeding, that prevents applications of poison, from reaching the feeding surface. By the time the worms have begun to eat through the leaf, they have attained a size that renders them harder to poison.

Thus it happens that where the entire field becomes infested on account of weedy cotton, the control of the webworm becomes a difficult matter. One cannot use poisons in such cases in heavy concentration. We believe however, that a light dusting or spraying with arsenicals will effect a control that will make such treatment profitable. In dusting, lead arsenate is safest but is costly. Calcium arsenate will be best—all things considered. Use three pounds of either lead arsenate or calcium arsenate per acre, directing the dust onto the cotton rows, rather than merely allowing it to float. If Paris green is used, mix with an equal amount of hydrated or air slaked lime, and apply three or four pounds of this mixture per acre.

In spraying, use one and one-half pounds of either arsenate or calcium arsenate, or one pound of Paris green, per fifty gallons of water. Where Paris green is used, slake one pound of quick lime and add to the water also. Apply sprays to the lower leaf surface if possible, as well as on top.

White arsenic will kill the cotton, and should not be used except on a few rows where migrating worms are to be stopped.

Leaf Worm.
Leaf worms have already appeared in the Houston section. This is a month earlier than they have appeared so far north in any previous years. This does not necessarily mean that heavy damage will result this season, and farmers should not be discouraged. They should keep careful watch, however, and apply poisons early should small worms appear. It is especially important that supplies of poison be purchased in early anticipation of its need, or that at least sources of ready supply should be located. This insect is much more easily controlled than is the webworm. Use the same poisons, preferably in the dust form, and while the dew is on the plants. Spraying may prove more practical in the drier sections.

Grasshoppers.
Local infestations of grasshoppers are being reported in the north and west portions of the state, and damage may be severe in regions that did not experience heavy rainfall during the past winter and spring.

Farmers are urged to fight these insects early, if they threaten to migrate from pasture lands or fence rows into the cultivated crops, by the use of the poison bran mash. This is made up of the following ingredients:

Formula for Poison Mash
Coarse wheat bran ..... 25 lbs.
Paris green or white arsenic ..... 1 lb.
High grade amyl acetate (avoid cheap grades of banana oil or bromizing liquids) ..... 1 oz.
Cane or sorghum molasses (avoid corn syrup) ..... 2 qts.
Water sufficient to make a moist mash as explained below:

Mix the bran and poison together thoroughly. Dilute the amyl acetate and molasses in about two gallons of water. Pour this liquid over the mixture of poison and bran until every particle is moist. Then make further additions of water and mix thoroughly until a mash is obtained that is quite moist, yet so it will fall apart after being tightly squeezed and so may be readily sown broadcast.

This quantity of mash should be broadcast so as to cover about five acres. A good practice is to mix at night and sow early in the morning before nine o'clock since the hoppers do not actively feed until the dew dries up. If it is desired to kill hoppers in grass land sow over the entire acreage to be protected. Where they are migrating from fence rows or pastures into cultivated crops sow the fence row or a fairly broad margin of the pasture, and also a broad margin of the cultivated crop with the mixture.

Wingless May Beetles
Several kinds of Wingless May Beetles have appeared in different portions of the state. These are often known as "Four o'clock bugs" from their habit of emerging from the soil and feeding throughout the night on various plants. At this time they are apt to be found moving from pasture lands or fence rows onto growing cotton. In such an emergency a double furrow may be plowed, with post holes dug at intervals in the bottom of these. The beetles collecting in the postholes, can then be killed by spraying with kerosene or with a blow torch. Poison bran mash sown rather thickly in front of their line of march, has been found duly effective in controlling these beetles.

Melon Lice
Melon lice, or "honey dew" will soon appear, doing damage to melons. For these, nicotine dust with a two percent actual content of nicotine sulphate, applied on a warm quiet day with a good dusting machine is fully effective. Your county agent will be able to furnish directions for mixing and applying.

Christians of Santa Anna, your opportunity to have a great evangelist in your city is here. Co-operate with Judge Morris in a great campaign for Christ.

The hand that lends itself to unselfish service is always the right hand.

COLLECTIVE THINKING

Much as we may prize our right of individual opinion and our cherished form of private enterprise, there must of necessity be a certain amount of collective working out of community problems. There is a certain pride and a certain ambition that every citizen possesses which, if put into the common pot and backed up by co-operative effort, will result in the advancement of Santa Anna and the entire community surrounding it for many miles.

The Increasing Power of Rescue

A crew of men and passengers are saved from a sinking Hudson River steamer, miners are rescued from crumbling shafts, drowning persons are pulled to shore and resuscitated, and children and grownups are snatched from burning buildings. This, due to the increasing power of rescue.

There are more accidents in this age because there are more people, more hazards taken, more lives risked in industry, in sport, in exploration and in the ordinary duties of life. But the great compensating effect is the modern methods of rescue and the facilities for prevention of disaster.

First aid, pulmotors, electric drills, life saving apparatus, and the human element of protection all enter into the general scheme of safety and deliverance from fatality. Thanks be to science, human sympathy and organized effort for relief.

Santa Anna is turning out June 13. Judge Morris day. Big tabernacle.

One-Third All Deaths 1925 Due to Preventable Diseases

A total of 42,251 deaths were reported for the year, and of this number 15,078 could have been prevented through the rules of right living, personal hygiene, sanitation, and other precautionary methods.

There were 322 homicide victims, and 256 accidental deaths from firearms; 295 died as the result of burns; 194 were victims of drowning; train accidents claimed 168; and auto accidents totalled 437.

Deaths from infectious diseases which are listed as preventable were: pulmonary tuberculosis, 3,613; pneumonia 2,644; diarrhea (under 2 years) 1,953; influenza, 1,082; broncho-pneumonia, 992; typhoid fever, 578; diarrhea (over 2 years), 499; meningitis, 335; other tuberculosis than pulmonary, 251; malaria, 191; syphilis, 181; diphtheria, 176; tetanus, 149; puerperal septicemia, 132; whooping cough, 102; measles, 62; acute poliomyelitis, 43; anthrax, 2; small pox, 2; and scarlet fever, 34.

Let's all boost for Judge Morris. He'll make our city better.

A Record Worth Striving For

Portland, Oregon, has just earned a great victory. The city leads all the great cities of the nation in the advance made in eliminating fire hazards, in reducing fire losses, and in preventing deaths by fire.

Every fire takes the life-work of some one as surely as though it drained the blood directly from his veins. It takes the working time of men and women, and that is their life. Most fires are preventable: either in more careful building, or in more attention to the hazards that careful management can eliminate.

Your neighbor's fire costs you money in insurance rates, or in hazards if you carry no insurance.—The Manufacturer.

Bilious dull feeling

MY old stand-by is Thedford's Black-Draught—I have used it off and on for about 20 years," says Mr. W. E. Reynolds, of R. F. D. 2, Arcadia, La.

"I get bilious and have a bad taste in my mouth. My head feels dull. I don't just feel like getting around and doing my work. I know it isn't laziness, but biliousness.

"So I take a few doses of Black-Draught and when it acts well, I get up feeling like new—full of pep and ready for any kind of work.

"I can certainly recommend it." In case of biliousness and other disagreeable conditions due to an inactive liver, Black-Draught helps to drive the poisonous impurities out of the system and tends to leave the organs in a state of normal, healthy activity.

Black-Draught is made entirely of pure medicinal roots and herbs and contains no dangerous or harmful mineral drugs. It can be safely taken by everyone. Sold everywhere. Price 25c.

GUM-DIPPING
the Extra Process for Extra Miles!
Breaks all Tire Records

The 500 Mile Speed Classic at Indianapolis has always been a Battle of Tires. In 1911, Firestone won with fabric tires at 74.59 miles per hour. In 1920, Firestone won with cord tires at 88.55 miles per hour. In 1925, Firestone won with Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons at the record breaking average speed of 101.13 miles per hour.

In 1926, Firestone again won with Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons. The test cars to finish "in the money" were all Firestone-equipped. They went the distance without a single blowout and with but two tire failures—one due to a puncture and the other to a leaky valve.

The Firestone Record in Battle of Tires at Indianapolis

Year	Driver	Car	Tires	Miles Per Hour
1911	Harrow	Marrison	Firestone	74.59
1912	Benson	National	Michellie	75.70
1913	Goux	Peugeot	Firestone	76.92
1914	Thomas	DeLage	Palmer	82.47
1915	DePalma	Mercedes	Goodrich	85.68
1916	Rata	Peugeot	Goodrich	85.26
1917	No Race
1918	Weld War
1919	Willcox	Peugeot	Goodyear	88.06
1920	Chevrolet	Montone	Firestone	88.55
1921	Hilton	Frontenac	Firestone	89.62
1922	Murphy	Murphy Sp.	Firestone	94.48
1923	Milton	HCS Spec.	Firestone	99.95
1924	Cocum	Duesenberg	Firestone	98.23
1925	DePaolo	Duesenberg	(Firestone) Full-Size (Balloons)	101.13
1926	Lockhart	Miller Spec.	(Firestone) Full-Size (Balloons)	95.68

This performance is even more remarkable when you consider the terrific speeds at which the cars traveled over this fifteen-year-old, rough brick track.

Experienced race drivers will not risk their lives or chances of victory on any other tires. And in the commercial field, large truck, motorbus and taxicab fleet operators, who keep careful cost records are among the big users of Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.

The City Transportation Co., of Tacoma, Wash., writes: "One of our 12 buses on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires has gone over 40,600 miles and still looks good for many miles of extra service. For all around tire safety and mileage, Firestone cannot be beat."

From Calumet Motor Coach Co., Hammond, Ind., the following: "We operate 40 buses all equipped with Gum-Dipped Tires. The very low cost per mile on which these tires operate is considerably less than that of any other make." Hayes Bus Lines, Columbia, S. C., says: "We operate 19 buses equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. A number of these tires have run over 45,000 miles without ever having been removed from the rim."

The largest taxicab companies in the world standardize on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires. W. R. Rothwell, taxicab operator, Detroit, Mich., writes: "Two of my Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have run 76,000 miles."

Hundreds of thousands of car owners voluntarily testify to the safety, comfort and economy of Full-Size Gum-Dipped Balloons. W. H. Peacock, Birmingham, Ala., testifies: "I have had Firestone Balloons for thirteen months and they have delivered in that time 24,469 miles." H. C. Staehle, Minneapolis, Minn., says: "My Firestone Balloons have gone 49,900 miles and are still in good condition."

These records of endurance, speed, safety and mileage could only have been made because of Firestone development of the Gum-Dipping process which insulates and saturates every fiber of every cord with rubber, reducing friction and heat and building greater strength and endurance in the cords—assuring you at all times—

Rin-Tin-Tin in "The Night Cry"

Picture audiences who saw Rin-Tin-Tin in "Tracked in the Snow Country," "Below the Line," and "The Clash of the Wolves," will expect his latest Warner Bros. picture to live up to the high standard of his previous success. Rinty surpasses even these remarkable characterizations in "The Night Cry," which will be shown at the Queen Theatre Saturday, 19, and which is a thrilling story of a California sheep ranch. The supporting cast includes June Marlowe, John Harrison and Gayne Whitman. Herman Baymaker the director, has given us Rinty at his best and a dramatic picture of tense thrills and tenderness in "The Night Cry."
