PORTER WHALEY IS AGAIN CHOSEN AS HEAD OF W. T. C. OF C.

Wichita Falls, June 11.—The Executive Board of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce today unanimously re-elected Porter A. Whaley as manager of the organization and accepted his nomination of staff officers and agreed upon a budget of $104,585 to carry on operation of the ramified services of the association for another year. The operation of a special publicity excursion train either to the North and East or to the Old South to direct capital industries and farm immigration to this area, suggested in a resolution, was left to a committee to work out. The session, held in the ballroom of the Kemp Hotel and presided over by R. Q. Lee of Cisco, president, found seven vice presidents, six staff employees and twelve of the Executive Board present, supplemented later in the day by the arrival of others.

TRAINING SCHOOL AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Mr. L. E. Posey of Houston is conducting a training school for B. Y. P. U. and Sunday school workers at the Baptist church this week. Good interest is being shown, considering the hot weather and busy season.

Oren Newman, recently graduated in the Law department of the State University at Austin, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Newman and other relatives in these parts before taking up the duties of his profession at Bowie, Texas. His many good friends here wish for him much success in his profession.

The following from here attended the Christian Convention in Abilene Sunday: Ed Baxter and family, G. W. Faulkner and family, Mrs. J. R. Gipson, A. L. Oder and wife and Velma, Harry and Clifford, Miss Katherine Baxter and Mrs. Wallace Kirkpatrick. Several stayed over until Monday night. They report a fine attendance and great convention.

Roder Dick had the misfortune one day last week to get a bad hurt in one eye. Roder was in the act of opening a bottle when it exploded, and a small piece of glass entered the eye, inflicting a serious injury. He is being treated in Dallas.

Miss Marion Fletcher of Brownwood visited several days last week with Miss Jeanette Johnson.

Preacher Visits Former Home In Tennessee

Rev. A. M. Pleasant returned a few days back from Nashville, Tenn., where he went with the Texas delegation to attend the general assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian church after the meeting at Nashville. Rev. Pleasant visited relatives in the Rives community in Olion county, where he was born and spent the early days of his childhood. The preacher left there with his parents 32 years ago, and this was his first visit back. He states that to him many changes have taken place since he left there, and his kinpeople, some of whom he felt he would never know, he never would have recognized. Rev. Pleasant had a nice time and enjoyed the trip, but it was hard for him to realize that those were the people of his same blood and former associates of former days.

Sacred Harp Singing

There will be a Sacred Harp singing at the Primitive Baptist church, the Fourth Sunday in this month. Song services will begin at 10 o'clock, preaching at the 11 o'clock hour and singing in the afternoon. The singing will be managed by Prof. A. N. Whitten of Dublin, Texas. All singers and lovers of the Old Harp music are invited to come and bring your books and dinner and spend the day with us in singing these good old songs. W. E. Vanderford.

FERGUSONS ENDORSE DR. W. M. W. SPLAWN

Austin, Texas, Jun 15.—Former Governor E. Ferguson had some good words to say about President W. M. W. Splawn and the University of Texas on the occasion of the annual commencement exercises of that institution. He declared he was in agreement with Dr. Splawn that the University should receive an annual appropriation of $2,500,000 for maintenance in order that its development might be unhampered. He said that while he agreed with Dr. Splawn as to these figures he also wanted the public schools of the state to receive an annual support of $25,000,000. He promised that he would bend his efforts to secure for Texas the greatest educational system in the United States.

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson preceded her husband on the program. She spoke briefly, merely expressing her pleasure at being present on the occasion and her pride in the University.

Mrs. R. D. Kirkpatrick and daughters, Misses Jettie and Dora, visited R. D. Kirkpatrick, Jr., and family at Millersville, Sunday.

Texas Editors In Annual Session at Tyler

This week, while the News editor is at his desk, grinding away at his regular routine of duties, most all the editors from over the state are enjoying themselves at the annual session of the State Press Association, in Tyler, Texas. This occasion is looked forward to from year to year by most every editor in the state, as it is the only outing or vacation many of us ever take, and the business sessions are very profitable to an editor who is devoting his time, his energies, his talents, his efforts—in fact, his life to serve his readers, advertising patrons and his community in an elevating way. We all have our problems to meet that must be met and overcome. Community problems often confront a local editor as well as financial problems, and no one can realize what it means to an editor to attend these conventions and hear these problems discussed and how to deal with them by those who have met and overcome them. A matter of course, considerable free entertainment is furnished by the cities and counties where the press gang meet, all of which adds considerable to the pleasures of the meeting, but the real substance of these conventions is the service we can render to each other in helping to deal with, meet and overcome the difficult things we so often are confronted with, which requires of us our valuable time. It is with exceeding regret that we cannot attend the association at this time, the reason for which is better known to us than anyone else. May it be such that in the future we can always attend.

Rev. J. M. Burrow broke into the quiet of old Flotsam and Jetsam Wednesday afternoon. A whole generation of Comanche people probably never heard of him, but up to about thirty years ago he was a permanent resident here, preaching to Cumberland churches, farming, teaching school, merchandising and perhaps other things to make an honest living. He has lived and preached in and about Santa Anna for seventeen years. Like others of his age, time has changed his features almost beyond recognition but he is the same companionable friend and gentleman when once identified. He took advantage of a seat in the car with Will Childers who came down on a flying business trip, and Mr. Burrow had to limit his greetings to old friends to some two or three hours—Comanche Enterprise.

Misses Faytima Bartlett and Gladys Burk left Friday for Waco, where they will attend the summer session of Baylor University.

GENERAL PROSPECTS NOT VERY GOOD

According to a crop report sent out last week from the office of the Commissioner of Agriculture at Austin, there has been planted 17,331,186 acres of cotton in Texas. The conditions over the state are poor. Prospects indicate a short crop and fair price. Wheat, oats and corn are very short. Grain sorghums depend largely on summer rains, as does the cotton crop. Following is part of the report:

Agricultural conditions are the worst I have ever known. The reports show conditions to vary from no per cent in some localities to 100 per cent in others. In fact, there are some localities where they have no crops. The rainfall in the State has averaged only 2.21 inches during the months of April and May, and with no winter rains it is impossible to make a crop on such a small amount of rain. Large areas have practically no crops in sight while some small areas have good crops. The trade territory of Austin and San Antonio, covering a radius of 75 miles around each city, report very poor crops.

Some Good Crops

The best crops are reported from East Texas, a small area in North Texas, and a few counties in the Rio Grande Valley.

The tomato crop of East Texas is good and the peach crop of that section is promising.

Seven per cent of new land has been taken in and planted mostly to cotton and feed sorghums.

Livestock are reported in better condition since the rains in April and May, but the grass is not yet up to normal, and stock water is not yet sufficient on the ranges.

Corn, Wheat and Oats Almost a Failure

The corn crop cannot make an average yield, and the wheat and oats are beyond redemption and are the shortest in many years. This shortage of feed can be partly overcome by the larger acreage of grain sorghums if we have summer rains sufficient to mature the crops.

Cotton Crop Problematical

No one need believe that because the cotton acreage has been increased that this means a large yield. It might be possible to make a good crop, but it is not probable. In fact the chances are ten to one against making a big crop. There were no winter rains and there is no

Married

Mr. Eaf Day, son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Day of the Liberty community and Miss Gladys Woodward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Woodward, were married here last Friday at the Presbyterian manse, Rev. A. M. Pleasant officiating. The contracting party is a splendid young couple and have a number of good friends who will join the News in extending best wishes.

Mrs. J. M. Childers and daughter, Miss Faye, Tom Moore and wife, S. W. Childers and wife, Jim Robin and family, Mrs. L. Gillette and daughter, Miss Laraine, spent Sunday with relatives in Breckenridge.

subsoil moisture, and without ideal seasons through the summer it will be impossible to make a good crop. The farmers have worked well and their crops are generally clean. The boll weevil are now in the early cotton puncturing the squares. Much of the late cotton is dying because of the lack of subsoil moisture. Without summer rains cotton cannot make, and with too much rain, the weevil will destroy the crop. A short crop and good prices are now indicated, unless the other states increase their production over last season.

Cleveland Canning Club
Cleveland Canning club met on May 29, all members being present with two new ones. Miss Brent gave a demonstration on sewing which was appreciated by all. On Friday night, June 5th, the ladies of the club gave a lemonade and cake party at the home of Mrs. Moore. They charged each one a penny per inch for the number of inches around their necks, resulting in a sum of about $15.00, which will be used for purchasing a community canner. Our next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Benjy Allison. All the members are urged to come and visitors are welcome.—Reporter.

THE LIGHT OF LIFE
Ten years ago William A. Hadley, a Chicago educator, was stricken blind almost over night. Most men with such an appreciation of the good things in life, would have been discouraged, discontented, their usefulness gone.
He took up the study of the Braille system, the alphabet of the blind, and after five years, began teaching it by mail, thus bringing to the door of the blind in reduced financial circumstances a new hope.

"When the light went out of Prof. Hadley's eyes, the windows of heaven were opened for us," wrote one blind girl, who had been taught short-story writing by correspondence school methods.
Prof. Hadley is quoted as saying: "If I had to choose between having my sight back, or my work, I would choose my work."
Here is a frank confession of the rewards of a life of service—an unwillingness to put aside the fruits of an appreciated work for the priceless sense of sight.
Yet the most of us rush on, selfishly, with little thought of others when there are such lessons as this to prove beyond doubt that unselfish labor pays in a currency with a much higher exchange rate than the American silver dollar.
Prof. Hadley's name may never go down in history, but he is none the less great, because he has brought the light of life to scores upon scores of his unfortunates.

THE FAULT-FINDER
Will H. Hays, czar of the movies, thinks we need the honor system awhile in the nation, as it is being established in the universities.
At least, that's what he said in an address before the spring meeting of the Inland Press association. He was commenting on the superfluity of regulatory legislation. The continual "Don't do this!" arouses inherent resentment, he said.
These are the only words in the vocabulary of a fault-finder. Mr. Hays advised people to sit down on him. It is good, but you have to keep sitting, because he is a hardy plant, a perennial as it were, who can't be killed off.
It would be better to try our hand at conversion, rather than squelching him. Continual fault-finding is a dangerous habit—dangerous in an individual and dangerous for a people, as Mr. Hays very wisely said, but we can't cure the fault-finder by adopting his methods.

The forces of optimism must start a counter offensive to offset the work of the fault-finders. Instead of arguing with the fault-finder, we must do something constructive; for every flaw the fault-finder discovers we must supply a couple of good qualities.
In time it might be possible to convince even a fault-finder. And that would be a victory indeed.

PROTECTING AND DEVELOPING AMERICA'S GREATEST ASSET

(By Rev. E. A. Hunter, Lampasas, Texas)

Child vs. Hog
What is America's greatest asset? Is it agriculture, her manufacturing interests, her oil industry, her merchandising, her political freedom? No. America's greatest asset is her childhood.

And yet many set greater value on hogs and cattle than on childhood. A prominent university professor in this country some years ago estimated the economic value of a human infant at $90. The paper announcing this estimated value of a human infant announced the sale of a prize sow for $6,000. Her pigs had a market value of $500 a piece the week they were born! A pig worth five times as much as a baby! And a pig can only become a hog; a baby may become President of the nation.

America's future depends not upon her hogs and cattle but upon her childhood.

Childhood's First Right
Steps should be taken, therefore, to guarantee to every child the right to be well born. We ought to take more pride in producing a fine race of men and women than we do in producing a fine strain of hogs and cattle. The unborn should be protected against the ravages of disease, suffering and death.

Examinations at the various mobilization camps during the last war, based upon the examination of the second million of drafted men, showed five and four tenths per cent of the men at that time unfit for the high and holy relationships of marriage and parenthood. In Texas 11 per cent were found disqualified, only five other states in the Union showed a higher per cent disqualifications than Texas. We need a law in Texas requiring every candidate for marriage to furnish the County Clerk with a health certificate signed by a reputable physician before a license to marry can be granted. Such a law would insure our childhood a good start in life.

Good Environment
To this should be added good, wholesome environment in which to mature. Wholesome moral atmosphere is as essential in the development of this national asset as pure air. How can this be done? By suppressing social immorality; by closing all dives and gambling dens; by bringing to speedy justice all violators of law; by utilizing our holidays in a patriotic fashion, instilling into the hearts of all the ideals of true Americanism; by a close censorship of all shows and plays and all manner of entertainment; by closing the public dance halls; by an American and not an Oriental observance of the Sabbath day; by refusing to allow suggestive performances, or carnivals accompanied by gambling, drinking and fighting, a place in the community life.

Physical Training
A thing necessary in the development of childhood, and one often neglected, is physical training. Gymnasium, play grounds, parks, swimming pools and community centers, properly supervised, should be provided for in every community. Compulsory physical training laws similar to our compulsory educational laws would not be out of order. Proper physical training under trained directors would go far towards producing a more healthful and efficient citizenship.

Education
Then youth must be educated. Ignorance is a liability. By education the State can increase the efficiency, productivity and happiness of its childhood and citizenship, and raise those who take advantage of it from the common level to a place of leadership.
Only one per cent of American men are college and university graduates. Yet from this one per cent we have gotten 50 per cent of our Presidents; 36 per cent of our Congressmen; 47 per cent of our Vice Presidents; 62 per cent of our Secretaries of State; 50 per cent of our Secretaries of Treasury; 67 per cent of our Attorney Generals and 69 per cent of our Justices of the Supreme Court.

The State can make no better investment than in the education of its childhood.

Religion
But a complete, symmetrical development of the child must include the development of its religious instinct and nature. The separation of church and state, however, makes it impossible for the state to become an instructor in religion. To this policy of separation I am unalterably and eternally committed. But the State can give to every child such an opportunity by continuing to guarantee freedom of religious thought and worship. In matters of religious education the church and Sunday school are recognized as supreme. And religious education becomes both a religious and patriotic task.
Good birth, wholesome moral environment, physical training, secular and religious education, this is our debt to American childhood, AND TO AMERICA.

Another "Bull" Durham advertisement by Will Rogers, Ziegfeld Folies and screen star, and leading American humorist. More coming. Watch for them.

A Miracle, A Truthful Ad
Did you ever read a truthful Ad. I mean one when you read it you would say, "That fellow really means what he says"? No you never did. You read where some Guy endorses an Overcoat, and to prove it he has one on, (or one they loaned him for the Picture). Now even if he did like it, what has that got to do with you. Peoples tastes are not alike. What difference does it make to anybody what some prominent Statesman, or Actor or Actress, or Movie Star wears. You are no Kindergarten, you know what you wore last year and if it pleased you try it again. Now I don't smoke "Bull" Durham, I ain't going to smoke "Bull" Durham, but if you did and you liked it, why don't let some Guys Picture and indorsement tout you off on something else. Now the only way I could ever be caught in a falsehood with this ad would be to smoke it myself.

Roman Coin of Time of Christ Owned By Resident of Austin

Austin, Texas, June 14.—A Roman coin used before Christ was grown, is owned by Max Davis of Austin. It is of bronze, about the size of a quarter of a dollar, American money, and the inscriptions on it are legible. It is supposed to be a coin of Augustus, Emperor of Rome, and was made in the year 11 A. D.

The inscription "Imp. Caesar Divi. F. Augustus, Imp. XX," translated means, Emperor Coasar, son of Caesar, Augustus, General, Twentieth year. On the other side the inscription

"Tribun. Pot. XXX. Pont. if Maxim-SC," means "As tribune chief power thirty-fourth year, chief priest by degree of senate." Harry J. Leon, classical language instructor at Texas university, made the translations. Mr. Davis also owns a Saxony coin bearing the date 1607.

BAPTISTS DENOUNCE EVOLUTION; REPORT PROGRESS IN THEIR WORK

Southern Convention at Memphis Adopts Statement of Baptist Faith and Message for Information of World—Co-operative Program for Support of Enterprises Endorsed.

Many large achievements were reported to the Southern Baptist Convention at its recent session at Memphis by its various missionary, educational and benevolent enterprises, although none of them had at its command during the past year as large funds as were needed.

The Hospital Commission reported 24 Baptist hospitals in operation in the South, with three others under construction. These institutions treated over 100,000 patients during the year and did over $1,000,000 in charity work for deserving poor.

More than 1,000 aged preachers and their dependent ones were aided by the Relief and Annuity Board.

MANY BAPTISMS REPORTED

The Sunday School Board reported a gain of 969 Sunday Schools for the year, with 155,236 new pupils, bringing the present number of Southern Baptist Sunday schools to 21,570, with an enrollment of 2,553,952. Other items in the board's statistical report show that there are now 27,517 Baptist churches affiliated with the Convention which last year reported 209,076 baptisms and which now have 3,763,362 members.

During the past 25 years Southern Baptists have increased the number of their schools, colleges and theological seminaries from 65 to 117 and the supreme standard by which all human conduct, creeds and religious opinions should be tried."

THE FALL OF MAN

"Man was created by the special act of God as recorded in Genesis. 'So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them.' (Gen. 1:27). 'And the Lord God formed man out of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul.' (Gen. 2:7). He was created in a state of holiness under the law of his maker but through the temptation of Satan he transgressed the command of God and fell from his original holiness and righteousness; whereby his posterity inherit a nature corrupt and in bondage to sin, are under condemnation, and as soon as they are capable of moral action, become actual transgressors."

THE WAY OF SALVATION

"Salvation of sinners is wholly of grace, through the mediatorial office of the Son of God, who by the Holy Spirit was born of the Virgin Mary and took upon him our nature, yet without sin; honored the divine law by his personal obedience, and made atonement for our sins by his death. Being risen from the dead he is now enthroned in heaven and uniting in his person the tenderest sympathies with divine perfections, he is in every way qualified to be a compassionate and all-sufficient Savior."

CO-OPERATION

"Christ's people should, as occasion requires, organize such associations and conventions as may best secure co-operation for the great objects of the Kingdom of God. Such organizations have no authority over each other or over the churches. They are voluntary and advisory bodies designed to elicit, combine and direct the energies of our people in the most effective manner. Individual members of New Testament churches should co-operate with each other, and the churches themselves should co-operate with each other in carrying forward the missionary, educational and benevolent program for the extension of Christ's Kingdom. Christian unity in the New Testament sense is spiritual harmony and voluntary co-operation for common ends by various groups of Christ's people. It is permissible and desirable as between the various Christian denominations, when the end to be attained is itself justified, and when such co-operation involves no violation of conscience or compromise of loyalty to Christ and His Word as revealed in the New Testament."

STEWARDSHIP

"God is the source of all blessings, temporal and spiritual; all that we have and are we owe to Him. We have a spiritual debtorship to the whole world, a holy trusteeship in the Gospel, and a binding stewardship in our possessions. We are therefore under obligation to serve Him with our time, talents and material possessions; and should recognize all these as preaching the Gospel of Christ, and of God and helping others. Christians should cheerfully, regularly, systematically, proportionately and liberally contribute of their means to advancing the Redeemer's cause on earth."

EVOLUTION IS DENOUNCED

To the statement of faith proper the Convention added a declaration upon the relation of science and religion in which the theory of evolution was denounced. Referring to evolution the statement says:

"Its best exponents admit that the causes of the origin of species have not been traced, nor has any proof been forthcoming that man is not the direct creation of God as recorded in Genesis. We protest against imposition of this theory of evolution upon the minds of our children in denominational or public schools as if it were a definite and established truth of science. We insist that this, and all other theories be dealt with in a truly scientific way, that is, in careful conformity to established facts."

"We record again our unwavering adherence to the supernatural elements in the Christian religion. The Bible is God's revelation of himself through men moved by the Holy Spirit, and is our sufficient, certain and authoritative guide to religion. Jesus Christ was born of the Holy Spirit, through the power of the Holy Spirit. He was the divine and eternal Son of God. He wrought miracles, healed the sick, casting out demons, raising the dead. He died for the vicarious atoning Savior of the world and was buried. He arose again from the dead. The tomb was emptied of its contents. In his risen body He appeared many times to his disciples. He ascended to the right hand of the Father. He will come again in person, the same Jesus who ascended from the Mount of Olives. We believe that adherence to the above truths and facts is a necessary condition of service for teachers in our Baptist schools."

total assets of these schools from $7,500,000 to $48,000,000. It was reported by the Education Board. In these institutions there are 33,000 Baptist students.

The Home Mission Board employed 1,077 workers during the year who reported 30,027 baptisms and 50,854 additions to the churches, the erection or repair of 353 church houses and the organization of 693 Sunday schools.

On 17 foreign fields the Foreign Mission Board has employed 618 American missionaries and 2,443 native workers. A total of 12,134 baptisms were reported by these workers for the year, bringing the present membership of the foreign churches to 117,561.

ENDORSES CO-OPERATIVE PROGRAM

The Convention heartily endorsed the co-operative plan for the support of all its missionary, educational and benevolent work and named a Commission on the Co-operative Program which will seek to enlist all the Baptist churches of the South in the regular, systematic support of home, state and foreign missions, ministerial relief and Baptist schools, hospitals and orphanages. Churches not already supporting all these enterprises through weekly contributions are invited to assume such support at once. The Convention endorsed the plan of the Commission discouraging independent appeals to churches and individuals on the part of special denominational interests, urging all of them to look to the Co-operative Program for their support and asking all the churches to support the Program.

STAND BY THE OLD BIBLE

That the world may know where Southern Baptists stand upon the great fundamental Christian doctrines, many of which are being assailed today, the convention adopted a statement of the Baptist faith and message, in which attacks upon the inspiration and authority of the Bible and the divinity of Christ were vigorously refuted.

These are some of the leading declarations in the statement as it was adopted:

THE SCRIPTURES

"We believe that the Holy Bible was written by men divinely inspired and is a perfect treasure of heavenly instruction; that it has God for its author, salvation for its end, and truth, without any mixture of error, for its matter; that it reveals the principles by which God will judge us, and therefore is, and will remain to the end of the world, the true center of Christian union, and

PUT SANTA ANNA WHERE WOLF CITY APPEARS

Wolf City Sun.—If you have made up your mind to live in Wolf City, then stand up for it. If you know positively no good about your home town, then silence is golden. Do all you can to help along every man who is engaged in legitimate business. The success of your fellow-townsmen will be your success. No man liveth to himself and no man does business independently of his fellow-business man.

In other words, if a town is worthy of your citizenship it is worthy of your commendation and good will. There is only one place whose residents are excusable for condemning it and warning others not to come. Dives went to live in that place, and he had enough goodness in him to wish his brothers would have sense enough to stay out of it. This signifies that Dives was not a wholly bad man. He loved his brethren and wished to save them from the torments his greed and folly led him into. Good towns like Wolf City, where there is plenty of water and only normal heat in season, deserve to be bragged on, not condemned. There are times when individuals and families deem it advantageous to them to move from one locality to another, but even in that case they owe it to their former friends and associates to speak kindly rather than severely of the old town, unless they are run out of it, or ridden out on rails. The mudsill fact is that there isn't much difference in places or people. Ground is at the bottom of all, the sky at the top. Each locality is surrounded by atmosphere at practically the same pressure per square inch. People are much alike everywhere, same as in Wolf City and Ladonia. When the little busy bee drains a blossom of its saccharin content it doesn't kick the petals off or otherwise injure it. It recognizes the blossom as being a source of profit. So it should be with citizens of the town where they get their living. Let them be grateful, or at least silent.—State Press in Dallas News.

New Swanson Paramount Picture, "Wages of Virtue"

"Wages of Virtue," Gloria Swanson latest Paramount production, directed by Allan Dwan, who made both "Manhandled" and "Her Love Story," will be shown next Wednesday and Thursday at the Queen Theatre. The story is an adaptation by Forrest Halsey of the popular novel of the same name by Percival Wren. The picture is a pleasing love tale woven about a young girl, product of the slums, who becomes the toast of the French Foreign Legion. As Carmelita, Miss Swanson has a role ideally suited to her, a part that makes "Wages of Virtue" stand out as the greatest thing she has ever done in her lengthy career.

The story has interest, appeal, comedy and all the rest, and we sure miss our guess if it doesn't prove the finest entertainment you've witnessed in many months.

Ben Lyon, you remember in First National's "Flaming Youth," "Painted People," etc., plays opposite the star, heading a real all-star cast.

Ford Employs Large Number of Men

The Ford organization is now employing more than 161,000 persons in its various activities throughout the United States, according to the latest employment figures. This is a record for the industry.

The largest increase has come, as might be expected, in the Detroit area where the Ford Motor Company's big manufacturing plants are located. Here close to 14,500 have been added to the employment list since March 1.

The big majority of workers are employed, of course, at the Highland Park and River Rouge plants. The River Rouge now has 52,800 on its payroll a record for that plant. Highland Park still leads all plants with 55,300 employees; through this number is considerably lower than the peak employment record of 1923 which was before transfer of several thousand men to River Rouge when the motor assembly and crankshaft departments were moved there. Along with the steady increase in employment in Detroit, due to greater production demands, there have been corresponding increases at domestic assembly plants until the employment rolls for these now show close to 44,000 employees.

Richard Talmadge Proves It Doesn't Pay to Stall

Richard Talmadge, featured star in the F. B. O. picture, "American Manners," to be shown at the Queen Theatre, Saturday, 27, proves that there is truth in the old adage: "It doesn't pay to stall on a job."

During the filming of the picture which gives the best opportunity of his career, both for acting and to display his unusual ability as a "stunt" man, the scenario called for the young star to dive from the top mast of a vessel to rescue a girl who had accidentally been knocked overboard. Talmadge wanted to make the dive himself, as he is not only fond of high diving, but "stunts" are one of his chief stocks in trade.

The director, however, did not want to take a chance on injuring the star, as the dive was more than 112 feet. Therefore, he insisted on calling in a stunt man, offering him one hundred dollars to make the jump. This champion high diver, escorted by his trainer and his wife, reported to the director on the morning this scene was to be taken. At the proper time he kissed his wife "goodbye" and waved his hands to the extras as he mounted the rope-ladder and started his climb to the top of the mast. Reaching the very top he paused to adjust his clothing. He again threw a kiss to his wife and waved to the crowd below. He exercised his arms and legs, looked at the sky and then the river. The cameramen, actors and directors were getting impatient. They were used to action and were disgusted with the stalling of the "champion high diver." When all at once Talmadge mounted the rope ladder and started to climb to the top, paying no attention to the shouts and warnings from the directors and the rest of the company. At the top rung of the ladder Talmadge shouted to the cameramen to start "grinding," and without any further dilly dallying dove into the green depths to the rescue of the girl.

Summer will soon be here providing, of course, some law is not passed against it.

Boy Attempts to Hang Himself When Daddy Breaks His Promise

Because he thought his daddy was not going to take him to the farm when school was out, a seven year old North Park boy attempted to hang himself last Friday.

"I don't want to live if I can't be with my daddy this summer" the little boy said when his grandmother and sister found him with a rope around his neck and the branch of a mesquite tree. He was standing on a box which he was trying to kick from under him when the grandmother saw him.

The child's mother died several months ago and he has been staying with his grandparents and attending North Park school.

The father had promised to come for him as soon as school was out, but failed to arrive as soon as expected, and the boy decided that daddy had forgotten him.—Taylor County Times.

Increase of Nearly Billion Dollars in Incomes is Reported

Washington, June 14.—Taxable personal incomes in America in 1923 were shown tonight by the internal revenue bureau to have amounted to $26,336,337,834 or five billion dollars more than the 1922 total.

The bureau's figures made public in its annual analysis of personal incomes disclosed that 7,698,321 persons filed returns in the year, covered by the statistics while in the preceding year, there were 6,787,481 returns. The 7,698,321 taxpayers in 1923 contributed $703,962,165 in taxes to the government which was approximately $17,000,000 less than the taxes paid in 1922, largely as a result of the 25 per cent refund voted by congress.

On the basis of the census bureau's population estimate for July 1, 1923, returns were filed in 1923 by 6.94 per cent of the nation's citizens while in 1922 the proportion 6.2 per cent.

Incomes in the class of $1,000,000 and over in 1923 numbered 74, the highest point since 1917, and the third highest in the history of American income tax collections. The number in 1916 was 206. Sixty-seven persons reported incomes of a million dollars or more in 1922. The 74 who had incomes in excess of a million dollars in 1923 paid a total of $35,788,475 in taxes.

A Teacher Increased Her Earning Power

She was earning $720. Now her income is close to $2,500.00. Mrs. Eva McDonald has been a public school teacher for more than fifteen years, and with all her years of schooling and experience behind her, one winter found her working under a contract that called for a monthly pay-check of $90 for only eight months out of the twelve.

That, if you will remember, was the year in which wages paid common and skilled labor soared to heights never before known. Forced to keep up with high living costs on her meager salary, seeing former students of hers, without experience, earning more than she could command, Mrs. McDonald resolved to find a way to increase her earning power.

She loved teaching work and had no desire to give it up. Commercial teaching offered her a way to remain a teacher and still greatly increase her income. When her school closed that year she took a Commercial Training Course. It was in March that she received her diploma.

Imagine her surprise when the school employment department asked her, the very day of her graduation, if she would like to work immediately at $120 a month. She accepted the position offered. Because of her ability as a shorthand writer and typist, she earns about $300 more each year, doing spare-time "odd jobs" of reporting, letter-writing, and manuscript work, etc.

What a wonderful dividend her business education has paid her. And what a wonderful dividend it can pay YOU, or any young man or young woman with a foresight, energy and ambition.

The Tyler Commercial College has many teachers in attendance at their school during each summer. If you are a teacher, or if you intend to take up teaching work, arrange to join them. A few months' training there can make a life time of difference to you.

The courses taught are especially arranged for teachers and are Private Secretarial, General Business, General Banking, General Railroad, General Western Union, Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Penmanship, Civil Service, General Cotton Classing and Radio. Should you desire to quit teaching altogether, these same courses will place you in a splendid office position with a good salary.

You are interested in a better position and a bigger income or you would not have read this article. ONE WORD
Making money is not so serious a matter if your business policy includes the word advertising.

SAVE THE HUSBAND

The other day a woman shot her husband because he refused to dance with her. A few years ago a popular song had a refrain which ran: "I can dance with anybody but my wife." That sentiment has been the sincere feeling of many a husband since time whereof the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. Some husbands can dance with their wives, but many others can not, despite all their trying; and to the latter sort of husband it seems a trifle unjust that a precedent should now be established making a refusal to dance with one's wife punishment by a bullet.

For there is little doubt that what one wife has done, others will do; and presently we shall hear reports of a determined campaign, all over the country, for the extirpation of husbands who refuse to dance with their wives. However, there is little cause for sadness. The addition of one more reason—or excuse—for husband-killing can have only a slight effect on the rate at which the species husband is being wiped out. It is doomed to go the way of the perodactyl and the dodo anyhow.

Once there was a time when the word "husband" was synonymous for something else than "victim." There was a time when a husband was a being to be feared. The word comes from the Middle English "hosbonde" or "husbonde," meaning master of the house or family. Conceive of a husband who is master of his house or family nowadays! In the old days, no doubt, the husband was a nobler animal than is the modern representative of the species. In the old days he held his head erect and his eyes flashed fire. But since then he has been tamed. He has bowed his neck to the yoke. And now his head is being put upon the block and the axe descends rudely. Soon all the husbands will be no more.

But hold! Even yet it may not be too late. Even yet Izaak Walton League, dedicated to the preservation of the Nation's animal life, may undertake a campaign to save the few remaining husbands.

We who live in these hasty days have not a sufficient perspective to realize how wanton the slaughter may seem a generation from now. Remember how the Nation awoke, almost too late, to save the few remaining buffalo, which an earlier breed of Americans had killed ruthlessly in the careless pioneering days. To be sure, the husband never was, nor probably ever could be, so noble and majestic a beast as the buffalo. But even so there is a certain pathos about the poor fellow, and we hate to see him vanish from the face of the earth which has known him: so long.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Shoost in Time!

A gas jet had become disconnected, filling the shoemaker's shop with fumes. The shoemaker, an aged German, arrived early. He sniffed questioningly, then struck a match to light his way. Instantly there was a deafening explosion. The shoemaker found himself lying in a heap across the street, viewing his shop, which was then a mass of flames. "Himmel!" he exclaimed, "I got out of dere shoost in time!"

Accepting Outside Business.

A small town newspaper publisher writes to ask if he should accept an annual advertising contract of considerable size from a large mail order house. Why not? Is there a merchant in the town who would refuse to accept business from a neighboring town or city? Hardly. The newspaper is a business enterprise, and while it works for the interests of its community, it is under no obligation to refuse business solely for the reason that to accept it may cause some people in the community to trade elsewhere. Business of every kind must stand on its own merits and must meet whatever competition comes. If it can not do that, it has no right to exist. The mail order houses would not be able to make large inroads on local trade if the local business concerns were just as energetic and would put forth the effort to get and hold trade.

Business Cannot Be Subordinated to Public.

Why is it that so many people do not think of a newspaper as a business dependent for its existence on its earnings? There is no other business in the community that can live on sentiment or that allows sentiment to enter largely into its affairs. All business must be run on business methods consistent with the public good, but no business should be expected to subordinate its affairs entirely to the public. You say, "The newspaper is a public institution and should work for its town." That is true within certain limitations; so is the hotel business a public business that should be conducted in the interest of its town. Conventions have come to be regarded as great factors in building up towns, but who expects the hotels to entertain convention guests free through sentiment for their communities? Why expect so much free service from the press?

Texas Loves Great Educator.

Dr. W. B. Bizzell, who has for a number of years been the successful president of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College, has accepted the presidency of the University of Oklahoma. He is of the type of men that Texas can poorly afford to lose even to a sister state like Oklahoma. It would be interesting to know just the motive that prompted Dr. Bizzell to leave Texas, for it is well known that he loves the state devotedly. Perhaps it would be learned that his personal feelings and his own interests waged a hard conflict before the decision was finally made, and that he left to get free of an incessant effort to secure sufficient funds from legislatures and executives to conduct the kind of a school that he knows Texas needs. It is humiliating for educators to be always in the attitude of supplicants for support, and no educator can do his best work with a mind so humiliated.

Not So Bad in Texas.

When we feel like complaining of the heat we should compare conditions here with those in Illinois, New York and other Northern and Eastern states, where hundreds have been dying from the heat, where business has almost been stopped, and where the suffering is intense. There have been few days in this section when a person could not be reasonably comfortable in the shade and no nights when there has not been a cooling south breeze. Death and illness from heat are almost unknown here. There is no need to leave Texas in search of a better climate. If you feel the need of rest by the seaside, Texas has several hundred miles of as fine beach as the world affords; if you yearn for mountain resorts, Texas affords all the mountain climate one could desire. Stay in Texas and keep comfortable.

Fitting Themselves for Life.

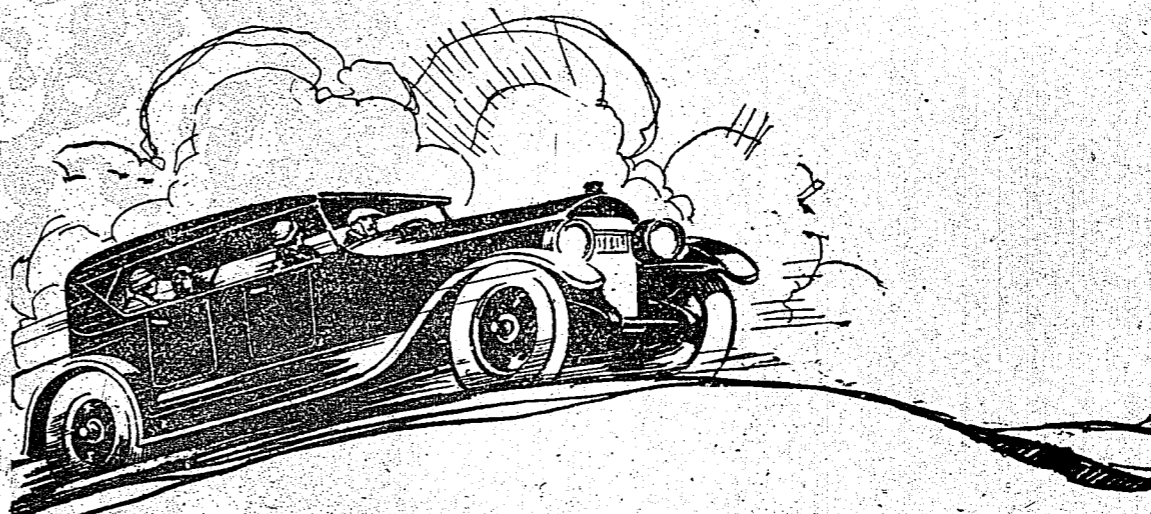

All over Texas, despite the summer weather, students are registering as never before for summer school studies. The writer has seen a few thousand of these as they have patiently waited in line at the University of Texas to be given official authority to make the sacrifices necessary to better fit themselves for life work. An earnest, ambitious line of men and women they were, many of the number themselves teachers, anxious to become more efficient instructors. Most of the students of the long session are sent to school by their parents, most of the summer school body go to school at their own expense, many of them spending hard-earned money. Take your hat off to the summer school students; they deserve your respect and admiration.

Give Cotton Your Care.

The cotton crop in Texas is in poor condition, and in some parts of the state farmers are despairing of making any cotton. If you are a farmer and have a growing crop, save it in a way to get the largest returns from it for the most part. The cotton will be valuable at harvest. Remember that those who last year made the best returns were those who plowed their crops most. They did not stop when the weather became dry, but kept plowing. Keep plowing and count your increased gain at harvest.

"The Lone Wolf" as Big Film Has Two of World's Best Stars

Louis Joseph Vance wrote one of the world's best sellers in "The Lone Wolf," and his amazing and thrilling adventures wherein one Michael Lanyard, regarded as the most daring and skillful of all international crooks, were read and re-read by thousands and thousands of fiction lovers. "The Lone Wolf" has been transformed into a powerful screen story by S. E. V. Taylor, who personally directed a phenomenal cast, headed by the famous stars, Dorothy Dalton and Jack Holt.

As a novel, "The Lone Wolf" won instant popularity everywhere and its pages of exciting adventure and absorbing romance are admirably fitted for picturization.

The photoplay action centers largely in Paris and in Washington. Jack Holt has the title role. Dorothy Dalton appears as a secret service operative, but the identity of this character is revealed only in the closing scenes.

It's a smashing big film and cleverly played by the most competent cast of stars ever assembled.

This picture will be shown at the Queen Theatre Friday, 26.

The Sing Song

The sing song was held on the lawn of the Methodist church on Tuesday evening. Excellent music was furnished for the occasion by some of the Santa Anna band. Mrs. J. Hall Bowman led the singing. The Misses Pleasant sang a duet and several readings were given. Games were played and a general good time was had by every one present. Every one in town has a cordial invitation to attend these meetings.

A Gentlemanly Robber

Twenty thousand people attended the funeral of a slain gangster in Chicago. Probably the epitaph will read: "He was the finest gentleman who ever shot a customer."

Success is a failure if it makes him less a man.

Delicious refreshments of angel food cake and apricot ice were served to the guests. Visitors present were Mesdames J. O. Martin, P. P. Bond, Stafford and Edd Baxter and Miss DeWitt of Comanche. All report an enjoyable afternoon.

"The Snob," New Monta Bell Film, Makes Bow Sooi

From Helen Martin Novel

"The Snob," the first production for Metro-Goldwyn by Monta Bell, brilliant young film director, who startled the picture world with his direction of "Broadway After Dark," one of the year's biggest hits, is booked as the feature attraction at the Queen Theatre, Monday and Tuesday.

A great deal of interest attaches itself to this picture because of Bell's sudden rise to prominence as a director, and because of the success of "Broadway After Dark" and "How to Educate a Wife." The young director has demonstrated his versatility by filming two widely varied stories in his first two pictures, and "The Snob" is an entirely different type of vehicle.

It is an unusual story in one respect at least, in that the central character is an unsympathetic one, and most of the picture is used to create this personality.

The story was adapted by the director himself from the popular novel by Helen R. Martin.
