"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

S. S. INSTITUTE AND WORKERS CONFERENCE

Next Wednesday, May 20th, a District Sunday School Institute and workers conference will be held at the Methodist church in this city. A splendid program has been arranged, the same will be found on another page of this issue of the News. The public is cordially invited to attend, and especially the membership of the church.

At the Lions Club

Several visitors were present at the regular weekly meeting Tuesday. President Martin of the Coleman Chamber of Commerce headed a party of six from Coleman, composed of Mayor Scarborough, Rev. Bailey, Garland Woodward, Jack Wilson and one other who failed to meet. A. J. McDaniel had two guests with him, who were here in the interest of the West Texas Utilities Company.

In the absence of the President, D. J. Johnson, Vice-president, Dr. T. Richard Sealy, presided over the meeting.

Family Day—Methodist Church

Next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock will be "Family Day" at the Methodist Church. It is the preacher's desire to see all members of the family present at this service. Fathers, mothers and children. Let all of the family that are at home be present. We desire to make this the BIG SERVICE of the year. Music suitable to the occasion is being prepared. DON'T FORGET NEXT SUNDAY MORNING.

J. Hall Bowman, pastor.

Let's render this program in the right spirit.—Reporter.

E. E. Polk attended the State Firemen Convention at Cisco this week.

K. OF P. GRAND LODGE IN SESSION AT BROWNWOOD

The 39th annual session of the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias of Texas was held in Brownwood this week with a record attendance. Due to the rush in business in the Mountain City, the membership here was not all able to attend, however, some sacrificed and went.

S. E. Brown Died at Sweetwater, Texas, Tuesday

S. E. Brown, President of the State Bank of Lorraine, died at a Sweetwater Sanitarium early Tuesday morning.

Deceased was reared in Coleman county, was a brother to Lemman Brown, president of the First State Bank of this city. He was the oldest child of a family of nine children, seven boys and two girls, and was the first of the family to answer the death summons.

Mr. Brown's parents are both living west of Coleman where they have lived since the early settlements of Coleman county, are among our very best citizens and have a host of good friends throughout the county.

Leman and family left Tuesday for Lorraine to attend the funeral of his brother. The News joins other friends in extending sympathy.

Sophomores Entertained

Mrs. Ford Barnes was hostess to the Sophomore class on Saturday evening. There was a good crowd present. 42 was the diversion for the evening. Punch was served to the guests and a general good time was had by the younger set.

Baptist Missionary Society

Mrs. Dennis Kelley was hostess to the Baptist Missionary Society Monday afternoon. There was a good attendance and the Royal Service program was well carried out. After the program a short business meeting was held then refreshments of tea and sandwiches were served to guests by the hostess.

Visitors present were Mrs. Brown of Childress, Mrs. Lindsay of Abilene and Miss Hilda Harrell.

Emmet A. Neill and his aunt, Mrs. M. E. Wiatt made an overland trip to Uvalde county, Sabinal, Texas last week. Mrs. Wiatt will spend some time there with her only living brother.

Emmet also visited relatives in San Antonio, returning home Saturday.

ARE WE LOYAL TO OUR HOME TOWN?

Advertising Offer

The Santa Anna News is in possession of an offer from Sears, Roebuck & Co., through their advertising agency, the Southwestern Advertising Co., of Dallas, Texas, offering to place a contract for advertising to run for a year which would amount to approximately $300.00.

Some will say we are darn fools for not accepting the offer, but we used our own judgment in the matter and refused to accept the offer, because we encourage our readers to patronize home industry and we also encourage our readers to patronize our advertising customers. We appreciate the offer and believe it would be money to us at the present time, but in the long run it would be to our detriment, therefore it is the future we are looking forward to. So we are going to take what we can get from our home merchants and live upon it and by so doing help in every way we can to continue to build a bigger and better Santa Anna.

How to Make the Most of Summer. Scripture, Mark 6:31-32; Rom. 13:11-14—Velma Oder.

What temptations and tests does summer-time bring to the Christian?—Frank Polk.

Should Christian activities slacken or increase with the summer season?—Ellis Oder.

Piano solo—Dorothy Baxter.

How does closeness to nature help us to worship God?—La Verne Dennis.

What suggestions can you give for ways to spend a profitable summer vacation?—General Discussion.

J. O. Martin, Fred Battle and Ben Parker returned from the San Saba River last week with a 40-pound cat fish. The fellows claim they landed the large cat themselves, but some have said that one of the party implied, accidentally of course, that the fish cost them $15.00. Anyway they brought the fish home with them, which is proof they had been fishing.

M. Wofford and son, Miles, made a business trip to Abilene Monday.

SANTA ANNA SCHOOL TO CLOSE NEXT WEEK

The outline for the closing exercises is as follows:

On Tuesday evening, May 19, at the Methodist church, Misses Edna Mackey Williamson and Lydia Gresham will present the graduates of their departments in recital. The graduates are, Burgess Sealy and G. A. Ragsdale, Violin, and Misses Lois Adelle Adams and Olivia Land, Piano.

On Thursday evening, May 21, Misses Williamson and Gresham will present their Intermediate and Primary pupils in recital at the Methodist church.

Sunday morning, May 24th, Dr. Hunt, President of the McMurray College at Abilene, will deliver the Baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the High School, at the Baptist church. Dr. Hunt is a forceful speaker and his message will be worth coming miles to hear.

Monday evening, May 25th, at the Baptist Church, the graduating class of the Grammar school will render an interesting program which will be well worth your time to hear.

Tuesday evening, May 26th, at the Baptist church, the graduating exercises of the High School will be rendered with Dr. Morelock, President of the Sul Ross College at Alpine, the principal speaker.

You could not do better than to attend these exercises and encourage these boys and girls of today who will be the men and women of tomorrow. Great preparations have been made for your entertainment.

Self Culture Club

The Self Culture Club, met with Mrs. Clifford Vernor on Friday afternoon. There was a large number present and much interest manifested in the work. The essays on the Peace Contest were handed in and the judges were appointed by the club. Then the question of next year's course of study was discussed and after voting on two subjects the club decided on a University course on the English and American novel. Mesdames Frank Turner, S. L. Weaver and Miss Bettie Blue were appointed to get up the year book for next year. After all business matters had been attended to the regular program was taken up. Miss Cora Stockard as leader, read an interesting paper on the Imperialism of Kipling. Mrs. Cecil Grantham gave an excellent talk on the "Recessional" and Mrs. J. Hall Bowman read Kipling's "If" in a very able manner. On account of the rain the club had to adjourn before the program was through with. The next meeting will be in September.

It is reported that the State of Arkansas proposes to submit a Constitutional Amendment to exempt all textile mills, from taxation. This is done to encourage manufacturing of textile goods in the state. One advantage to be gained is the fact that goods can be manufactured and sold cheaper where the mills are exempt from tax, which will encourage other states adjoining to offer the same inducement for manufacturing industries to locate within their domain.

COME to the Methodist church next Wednesday if you enjoy a good program.

DAVE RUTHERFORD GIVEN LIFE TERM

Dave Rutherford, to whom reference has been made several times in the News during the past, was tried at Brady last week on a charge of venue from this county, charged with the killing of J. H. Griffith here in Santa Anna on the night of February 16, 1924, was found guilty and sentenced to life imprisonment. Rutherford will be tried in Coleman the first Monday in June for the shooting of W. S. Conley at the same time Mr. Griffith was killed.

24-OUNCE BABY AT CISCO DOING WELL

Cisco, May 11.—A baby weighing one and one-half lbs. is winning its fight for life and is apparently doing well. It was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Townsend of Moran at the Graham Sanitarium here May 5.

Attendants feed the baby with a medicine dropper and special equipment is used to keep it warm.

Burrage-Harvey

Miss Mabel Harvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Harvey of this city, and one of the county's efficient teachers, was united in marriage Saturday evening at the Baptist parsonage, to Mr. Clyde Burrage, Pastor S. F. Martin officiating. Mr. Burrage is a stranger to the writer, but we accept that he is a worthy young man with a bright future before.

The News joins other friends in wishing them much happiness, and a prosperous future.

Presbyterian Missionary Society

The Presbyterian Missionary Society met with Mrs. Sam Collier on Monday afternoon. Devotional exercises were led by Mrs. Clinton Lowe and a splendid program was then given on "Our Spanish speaking Americans in the South."

There was a short business meeting after the program. The attendance was good.

Miss Lyda Gresham and Miss Edna Williamson will present in graduating recital Olivia Land Lois Adelle Adams in Piano; Burgess Sealy and G. A. Ragsdale in Violin, on Tuesday evening, May 19 at eight o'clock at Methodist Church. The public is urged to attend.

HEAR the program at the Methodist church next Wednesday.

HONOR GRADUATE TO RECEIVE SCHOLARSHIP

Kerrville, Tex., May 11, 1925. Special to the Santa Anna News:

Because of its superior ranking by the State Department of Education the Santa Anna High School has been selected by the Board of Trustees of Schreiner Institute to receive annually one of the $300 scholarships which the Board is offering to a few high schools over the State. The award of this scholarship, which is doubtless the largest scholarship offered by any college or university in the State, is a signal recognition of the superior grade of work done by that high school.

"We are anxious," said President Delaney of Schreiner Institute in his announcement of the award, "to give the honor boy in the class of '25 of this high school an unusual reward for his good record. Schreiner Institute wishes to encourage the very best of scholarship and to draw into her student body those who have shown themselves capable of utilizing to the fullest the advantages which the Institute offers to junior college boys. For this reason, we are offering the honor boy graduate of a selected number of high schools a scholarship of considerable value and one which I feel sure, he will not only prize, but will find of real financial assistance in meeting the expense of a college education."

The Parent-Teachers' Association had an interesting meeting in the High School Auditorium Friday afternoon. The interest and attendance were good. The High School Orchestra rendered some splendid selections. The Glee Club sang two beautiful songs, and La Verne Dennis and Myrtice Graves gave splendid readings.

A number of Santa Anna women attended a P. T. A. meeting at Coleman Monday afternoon. They report a fine program and pleasant social hour. The following attended: Mesdames S. W. Childers, J. R. Gipson, G. W. Faulkner, Eugene Greer, A. L. Oder, Mary Brisco and Miss Ruby Volentine.

Miss Velma Evans is in a Temple Sanitarium this week taking a special treatment for a complicated trouble. We understand she will undergo an operation Thursday. Her mother, Mrs. G. S. Evans is with her.

Bank Directors Laud Norrell in Resolution

Dallas, Texas, May 10.—Directors of the Mercantile National Bank Saturday afternoon unanimously adopted resolutions, submitted by a special committee previously appointed, expressing regret in the retirement of M. J. Norrell as an active vice president of the bank and congratulating the whole sale and manufacturing interests of the city on Mr. Norrell's return to the management of the two associations, the place held before going with the bank a year ago.

Mr. Norrell again became manager of the Dallas Wholesale Merchants' Association and of the Dallas Manufacturers' Association on May 1 and had held this place for several years previously.

The committee drafting the resolution comprised L. O. Daniel, W. B. Williams and J. A. Rogers.

Methodist Missionary Society

The Methodist Missionary Society met Monday afternoon at the church. Devotional exercises were led by Mrs. Sealy. There was a splendid attendance. Preparations were made for the all day meeting the first Monday in June with Mrs. J. Frank Turner. It was also decided that the society would give a birthday party some time soon for all of the Methodist church and serve chicken gumbo. The society next took up the young people of the church and planned to have a meeting once a week for the young people at the church. Then plans were made for the Sunday School Institute which meets at the church on the 20th.

SAUL BECOMES A CHRISTIAN

LESSON—TEXT—Acts 9:1-19.
GOLDEN TEXT—"If any man be in Christ Jesus, he is a new creature."
I Cor. 5:17.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Man Who Helped Another.
JUNIOR TOPIC—How Saul Became a Christian.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Saul Was Converted.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—A Study of Conversion.

I. Saul's Violent Hatred of the Lord's Disciples (vv. 1-2).

Saul knew full well that unless the movement set on foot by Jesus was stopped, it would supersede Judaism. He was ignorant of the genius of Christianity. He did not know that the "blood of martyrs is the seed of the church." The noble display of faith by Stephen in sealing his testimony with his blood, did not soften Saul's spirit, but rather intensified his hatred for Jesus and His disciples. It made him more determined than ever to stamp out the Nazarene heresy. The intensity of his madness, and the extent of its operations are best set forth in his own words, "And I persecuted this way unto the death, blinding and delivering into prisons both men and women" (Acts 22:4). "I both shut up many of the saints in prisons having received authority from the chief priests, and when they were put to death, I gave my voice against them, and punishing them oft in all synagogues I strove to make them blasphemous, and being exceedingly mad against them, I persecuted them even unto foreign cities" (Acts 26:10-12 R. V.).

II. Saul Kicking Against the Pricks (vv. 3-9).

The figure here is that of the Eastern ox driver following the ox with a sharp iron fixed to the end of a pole. The animal is prodded on with this instrument and if it is refractory it kicks against the sharp iron and injures itself. This is a picture of Saul as he was madly fighting against Jesus.

1. A Light From Heaven (vv. 3-4).

The time had come for the Lord to interfere. Saul was stricken with blindness and fell to the earth. This physical demonstration accentuated the workings of his conscience which doubtless were going on quickened by the Holy Spirit as He used Stephen's testimony.

2. A Voice From Heaven (vv. 4-5).

This was the Lord's voice calling Saul by name and asking, "Why persecutest thou Me?" This moved Saul to inquire, "Who art thou, Lord?" The answer came, "I am Jesus, whom thou persecutest." He is so closely identified with believers that He feels their sufferings and regards treatment of them as treatment of Himself.

3. Saul's Inquiry (v. 6). "What Wilt Thou Have Me to Do?"

The Lord told him to go into the city where information would be given him as to what he must do.

4. Saul Entering Damascus (vv. 7-9).

The haughty persecutor went quite humbly into Damascus, led by his attendants. For the space of three days he remained blind and fasted. What went on in his soul in those days no mortal can know, but we may be assured that he, like the Lord in the wilderness, was too deep in meditation and prayer to desire food.

III. Ananias Ministers to Saul (vv. 10-19).

1. Ananias' Vision (vv. 10-12). In this vision the Lord appeared and instructed him to go to Saul. He gave him the name of the street and Saul's host, and informed him that Saul was now a praying man, and that He had prepared Saul by a vision for the coming of Ananias.

2. Ananias' Fear and Hesitancy (vv. 13-16).

He knew of Saul's ministry and the authority by which he came. The Lord encouraged him to go, assuring him that Saul is no longer an enemy but a chosen vessel to bear His name before the Gentiles, kings, and the children of Israel.

3. Ananias' Obedience (v. 17).

His fears being removed, Ananias went to the house where Saul was staying, put his hand on him and affectionately addressed him as "brother." Ananias told Saul that the Lord had sent him with a two-fold mission:

(1) "That thou mightest receive thy sight"

(2) "Be filled with the Holy Spirit"

4. Saul Baptized (vv. 18-19). After Saul received his sight Ananias baptized him. The Lord bestows the gift of the Spirit upon whomsoever He will, and may designate anyone whether occupying an official position or not to lay hands upon individuals.

HELP US PAY

Look at the date on your copy of the Santa Anna News. If your subscription is due kindly sit down right now and write us a check in payment for the coming year.

To be frank we need your help. We have paper bills to meet, help to pay, and a thousand and one expenses to consider every month. And we can't run along in a tranquil frame of mind unless you pay up the amount you owe us today and help us pay the other fellow when he needs his money.

Your subscription to the paper is really a small matter. At $1.00 a year or less than 2 cents a week, you cannot afford to be without the valuable information the Santa Anna News brings to you every week. And because the amount is so small we cannot afford to extend credit indefinitely.

So attend to this today. Don't wait until we have to send you a statement. We don't like to send you dunning letters any more than you like to get them. But we cannot let these matters slide. We must have the money in order to pay the other fellow.

Men Of Vision

Longview, Oregon, is a town built up by a single man. With magnificent courage and admirable vision, he set out to establish a town where nothing before existed.

First he analyzed the possibilities of the section, and decided on what industries to attract. After careful investigation, he decided that the place had ever natural advantage needed for lumber manufacture. Then by putting some of his own money into the industrial development of the community and by interesting logical prospects, he established the Longbell Lumber company.

With something for the people to do, he did not experience great difficulty in building up the city's population, and not many years had passed before he, through his own efforts, had built up a new city.

This might well be made the subject of a long article—how he did it, what were his plans for making it a better city than the average, and so forth. But this information given illustrates one important thing.

If a man of vision can build up a city out of whole cloth, so to speak, why can't we do something, here in Santa Anna to enlarge our community? We already have a start. We've got a good town on which to base our future work in community building, while the man who founded Longview had nothing to work on but his courage and imagination.

When you get rather discouraged, and feel that there is no future for Santa Anna just

The Man Who Counts

It is not the critic who counts, nor the man who points out how the strong man stumbles, or where the doer of deeds could have done better. The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena; whose face is marred by dust and sweat; who strives valiantly; who errs and

EDUCATED, IF—

If, on seeing a homeless dog, a stray cat or a crippled bird, your heart goes out in kindness toward the unfortunate creature, you are educated.

If you have a willing ability for honest, constructive labor whether ditch digging, brick laying, turning the sod, teaching ministering to the needs of the afflicted, or otherwise and can honor and respect another craft of profession from your own, you are educated.

If you can see in every man a fellow being, whether white or black, red or yellow, and look up to no man and down on none, and can give a lift to the fallen brother, and lend a helping hand to the aged and respect their gray hairs, you are educated.

If you can look a virtuous woman or an honest man straight in the eyes and have no stinging, conscience or condemning voices to arise in your soul, you are educated.

If on hearing the song of the feathered creatures, or the laugh of innocent children, your soul is inspired to a greater faith in the world ahead of you, and in your fellowman, you are educated.

If you can turn your back on the God of Gold, deafen your ears to the musical ring of the dollars, stand unflinchingly for what is right and at the same time love those who differ from you and set your face steadfastly toward virtue, honor and truth, you are educated.

If there is a response in your heart to the glories of nature found in the flower-studded meadow, the rolling plains, the quiet, deep forest, the flowing stream, the majestic mountains, the fire and gold of the sunset, you are educated.

If there is an acknowledgment in your heart of the Almighty, All-wise, ever-present God, a confession to His claim upon your life, a conscientious attempt to obey Him and an unwavering purpose to model your life outlined in the Bible, you are educated.

If your heart beats in loving sympathy for and feels the heart-throb of an aching, sick, dying humanity, a humanity against whom Death, Crime and Disease wages an unrelenting, increasing warfare, leaving behind them invalids, orphans, widows, fallen womanhood, crushed ideals, withered hopes—a humanity groping in darkness, lost in the error of their own way; hungry and starved for the higher and nobler things of life—a humanity on whom Divine Wisdom set a price that only Jesus Christ was able to pay with His own life's blood. If your heart goes out for such a race of beings, you are educated.

If you have not these attributes and have in their places, a heart locked in selfishness, an intellect trained to the last degree of perfection by Colleges and Universities, you are ignorant.—Exchange.

Baby Chicks Need Sand

I never knew the value of sand for baby chicks till some years ago, when I happened to observe a lot of yarded brooder chicks clustered around some grass roots picking. An investigation proved they had found a tiny sand deposit and were feasting on sand and not grass roots, as I had first thought. I immediately placed a box of sharp sand in the brooder yard and soon found it covered with chicks. It then occurred to me that sand, providing it was dry, would make an ideal covering for the brooder floor. I tried it with results so gratifying I have never since used anything else. It is an ideal absorbent, does not become filthy or give off an odor like hay chaff or sawdust, is strictly sanitary and supplies little chicks with grit so essential to digestion in proper form.

I remove sand about every two weeks and replace it with new sand. In localities where the soil is not of sandy nature few people realize that the little chick, particularly when yarded, rarely ever get enough sand or grit essential to digestion. If you don't believe this place a little box of sand in your brooder yard and watch how quickly it gets away.—C. C. Conger, Jr., in The Progressive Farmer.

Dry Goods, Clothing and Shoes

Santa Anna, Texas, May 15, 1925

To Our Friends & Customers:

Conditions three weeks ago, which began to look like another 1918 are gone and the good rains give us an excellent prospect for a crop and instead of a frown we now have a smile. You probably needed merchandise that you did not buy and we are prepared to serve you in a most satisfactory way

We have a wonderful line of Curlee suits and at prices you can afford to pay. From a small beginning a few years ago to one of the largest clothing makers in the United States is the record of Curlee Clothing Co. Good clothes and priced-right is the cause of this remarkable growth. We want to show you the line.

To appreciate our line of young men's trousers you must see them. All the new light shades, wide belt loops and 17 and 18 inch bottoms. Shirts, Ties, and Belts to go with them. Also a good line of Trousers for the older men.

Shoes for every member of the family and a large selection from which to make your choice. Especially do we want you to see what we have in work shoes, priced at $2.00 to $5.00. They are good ones and even the cheapest will give you real service.

In work clothes we DO handle good ones for we think they are the cheapest to buy. Our prices are no higher than a great many ask for the cheaper grades. Men's best overalls $1.75, boy's $1.00 and $1.25; best work shirts $1.00, and a khaki pant as good as the best for $2.50.

Why pay long credit prices when you can save by buying from us? Every article you buy from us must be exactly as represented and every purchase must be satisfactory. Come to our store when you come to Santa Anna.

Yours very truly,

D. R. HILL & BROTHER

P. S. 25 dozen "Happy Home" house dresses just received. The prettiest selection we have ever had and the price is again $1.00. Come early so as to get best selections.

"Predicting Another War"

Von Hindenburg is the strutting war lord of Germany. He is the idol of the old monarchy regime. He wants to recall Kaiser Bill. The German people voted overwhelmingly for Hindenburg. France will keep her soldiers on the Rhine. Poland will shiver in its boots, for Von Hindenburg would dismember that unhappy Republic again. There will be no immediate war in Europe. But vengeance will be taught to the German and girl, the Versailles Treaty will yet be scrapped, the cruel ties of 1914 to 1918 will be torn and the promises of American and English statesmen that Germany should pay for the world war will be but a memory, and conferences upon her own soil.

will be a thing of the past, the war days of Europe will be unleashed, the United States will be calling American manhood to arms just as tho we had never talked of staying out of foreign alliance. All this and then some are the coming events of the next quarter of a century—San Saba News.

The Santa Anna News does not predict another war with Germany quite so soon, but just as soon as the German Empire gets back on her feet in a financial way, she is going to and the fighting and degotten, the promises of American and English statesmen that Germany cannot bear the powder and smoke of the powder conferences upon her own soil.

AVOID MISTAKES IN HOPPER POISONING

By R. R. Reppert, Entomologist Extension Service, A. & M. College of Texas

(Read Carefully)

The poison bran mash as recommended by A. & M. College has proven fully effective in killing grasshoppers. Last year failures were reported, but investigation in every instance showed some detail of mixing or distributing had been neglected.

April 7th of this year the Extension Service sent out Press Letter Vol. 1, No. 1 on grasshopper control, giving the formula and going into considerable detail. Where a good grade of amyl acetate could be obtained this was advised in place of lemons, being cheaper, more effective, and more easily mixed. Especial care was taken to advise "high grade amyl acetate" and to "avoid bronzing liquids."

In spite of this, we have already found that bronzing liquid is being sold to the farmers in large quantities for the purpose of killing grasshoppers.

Bronzing liquids contain amyl acetate, but mixed with other materials in such quantities that it often repels the hoppers instead of attracting them. Only a high grade amyl acetate should be used, such as "C. P." or "Technical No. 1." Avoid anything sold in tin cans labeled "Bronzing Liquids." A high grade of amyl acetate suitable for use in poison bait can be purchased at less than $5.00 per gallon, and we will be glad to put your druggist in touch with a source at this price if he cannot obtain it otherwise.

We wish to emphasize the necessity of following closely all details of mixing and distributing. "Don'ts" are obnoxious, but must be used here.

1. Don't substitute bronzing liquids or other low grade products for high grade amyl acetate.
2. Don't use calcium arsenate. Be sure your poison is either white arsenic or Paris green.
3. Don't use corn syrup. Cane molasses is necessary, and a low grade cane molasses is best.
4. Don't put the mash out in piles. Sow broadcast.

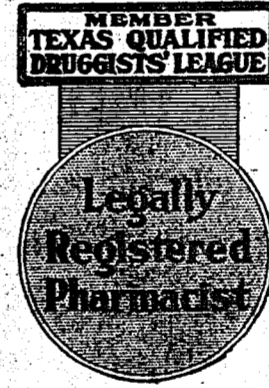

"Essay on Pants"

Pants are made for men and not for women. Women are made for men and not for pants.

When a man pants for a woman and a woman pants for a man, that makes a pair of pants. Pants are like molasses; they are thinner in hot weather, and thicker in cold weather. There has been much discussion as to whether pants is singular or plural; but it seems to us when men wear pants, it's plural; and when they don't it's singular.

It has been erroneously said that "some men are born great, some achieve greatness, while others have greatness thrust upon them." Greatness is neither born nor thrust. It is only achieved. In these as well as all other recorded days, you pay for what you get. Nothing is thrust on anybody or anything. If a town or community is attractive it must be made attractive by the people composing that town or community. Individuals, communities, and towns must work out their own salvation. In the first place, no one is going to be disposed to work it out for them, and could not do so were they so disposed. If you build yourself, you must be the builders. If a town or community build, the people of that town or community must build it. Keep ever in mind that the good things of this civilization are not thrust upon you.

The Intermediate and Primary pupils of Misses Gresham and Williamson will appear in recital Thursday evening, May 21st, at Methodist church, at eight o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to the public.

DISCREDITING A TOWN

The Standard editor recently had occasion to visit a number of neighboring towns, and was quite favorably impressed with some of them. But imagine the feeling that came over us after leaving these same towns to encounter a mile or less distance from the outskirts the town dump heap—right alongside the main highway. All the favorable impressions that had been ours, vanished in the blue ether at this obnoxious sight. Just such an impression as if you had walked in the front door of a splendid mansion and right out of the back door into a liver stable.

Of course, every town must have a dump ground—but why select a site alongside a public highway? Why try to attract tourists by advertising Texas beautiful scenic highways, and then debauch them by piling up old tin cans, broken bottles, worn-out auto bodies, refuse and rubbish along-side?

Every town has a hundred and one hollows and gullies in out-of-the-way spots that are just the thing for dump grounds. Use them, but don't destroy the beauty and enjoyment of our highways by lining them with dump heaps.

This criticism is not directed against any one town, rather it is against every town that is guilty, or has been guilty of the practice, and we recall to mind not less than three such that we observed on our trip aforementioned.—Brady Standard.

After the Editor's Scalp
 Men of intelligence, whether they agree with him or not, admire the man who has honest convictions and is not afraid to express them, whether this expression is made from the pulpit, the public rostrum or thru the editorial columns of the public press. They may criticize his judgment, but they will admire his courage. This is true of the preacher and public speaker; but with the local newspaper the case is different. The fearless newspaper is admired and respected by the man who stops to think, but with many even a slight jolt through the local press causes a wound that creates a thirst for vengeance, and a desire to punish the editor. The speaker may rail at us from the platform; or the preacher may criticize us from the pulpit, but we pass it up, while the effect is soon lost and forgotten. But with the newspaper the first impulse is to cancel the subscription to the paper, withdraw our advertising patronage and have our printing done elsewhere. Just why this is can not be explained but it is true. It is only human nature. When a local paper takes a firm stand on a question of public concern men will admire and applaud as long as the other fellow gets hit, but when it does not agree with their pet theories they are ready to fight and are soon after the editor's scalp.

Echoes of the world-wide movement for determining a method by which peace may be maintained among nations, were heard in the policies of Secretary of Navy Wilbur, and Senator Borah, which were enunciated last week. Wilbur stated that the formula for peace was "Christianity and big guns," explaining that while we keep our Navy for defense we should also become so Christian in our thought that we would not desire to attack any other nation. The policy of Senator Borah, however is to lay the foundation for any peace plan on the principles of international law.

MUCH TOO SIMPLE

On Lang Lake in Ontario lives a red-headed Irishman who will tell you that the simplest life is the happiest. We call him "Jack" and he is the picture of robust health. He lives in a two room hut on the edge of a forest and the rim of a lake. In the winter he tinkers about the place and spends many long and icy days before an open fire that blazes in a huge fireplace. When the weather is fit he takes long tramps and empties and baits his traps. Once in a while he has a fight with a hungry lynx or takes a shot at a wolf that shows his fangs. When summer comes he guides a motor boat and takes the fish off the hook for the jaded business man who stops a few days at his camp. He dwells nine months in solitude and idleness for the good time he has during the ninety days when the tourists come and bring him good cigars and chewing-tobacco from the States.

Jack will wave his hat in glee when he sees you coming up the trail and he will look at you with hungry eyes when you tell him good-bye on the day you leave. He will set for hours in the bow of his boat as it tugs at its anchor while you wait for the fish to bite. He will grunt when you ask him to move to some more likely spot and cheerfully comply with your request. He will accept your old fishing pants and hat with a nod of thanks when you toss them to him at the end of your vacation. He will carefully gather up the magazines and periodicals you have left behind. Then he will go back to the silent places and wait for the freeze and the thaw that will lock and unlock his prison.

Perhaps some hard-driven, debt-involved city man will look longingly at Jack's solitude and idleness and agree with him that the simple life is the happiest. But there is such a thing as having life too simple. There are compensations in doing something for others; there is a joy in having somebody who cares, waiting for you at the close of the day. There is a satisfaction in helping to bear the burdens and being a part of things in the life of a community. Jack's hut may be a haven of peace but it is also a darned lonely place when the wind blows.

Trials are no longer investigations to get the truth, says a prominent writer. They have become contests between clever lawyers to confuse the issue.

For A Better Santa Anna

A unity of purpose, intelligent team work and eliminating of self will turn the trick.

Santa Anna boasts of the most delightful climate in the world. Homes are the sinews of any town. Without home owners no town would or could exist for any great length of time. Most people living in Santa Anna own their homes, thus it behooves us as citizens to improve our premises, beautify our homes, encourage civic pride in every way by both precept and example. The general appearance is generally accepted as an index to the home, and a neglected premises naturally creates an impression to the public that the invisible part of the home compares with the visible part. Thousands of tourist will pass through our city within the next few months, and if the general appearance of the town is inviting it means a great deal to us in the eyes of the world and vice versa. However, this is not the only reason for having a clean town. The health and happiness of the citizens depend largely upon the sanitary condition of the surroundings, and of course, is the main factor for a clean town.

Hen's Eggs In a Rattler

Diamond-Back rattlers, which writes a correspondent, are now rarely found in the highly cultivated parts of Florida, were common in the late eighties when the first orange groves were started. Mr. W. C. Morrow, a pioneer orange grower, tells of an odd experience with a diamond-back rattler that raided his henhouse.

Attracted by the frantic scolding of a hen that he had set the night before on a dozen eggs, Morrow hurried to the henhouse, where he found a large rattler coiled in the nest. Returning with his shotgun he decapitated the intruder.

While removing the dead snake from the nest, he noticed the wavy contour of the rattler's belly, caused by the dozen eggs that it had swallowed. He opened the abdomen and recovered them; only one was cracked. After washing and drying them he put the eleven under the hen again. Nine chicks were hatched.

Pleasures of Being An Editor

Yes, the average editor lives a quiet life mid peace and plenty. Had it ever occurred to you—

That the more he labors to uplift his community, the more are his motives questioned?

That if he takes a hand in local politics, he is accused of being crooked?

That if he does not, he is accused of being a coward?

That if he advocates public improvements, he is condemned and his motives are under suspicion?

That if he stands for law and order, he is charged with truckling to the preachers?

That if he takes a stand for prohibition, he is denounced as a fanatic?

That if he advocates light wines and beer, he is branded as a drunken sot?

That if he roasts the mail-order house, he is told to mind his own business, that the people have a right to buy where they please?

That if he prints mail-order advertisements, the merchants land on him with both feet?

That if he tries to discuss fairly the merits of public utility corporations, he is accused of being owned by them?

That the life of the average editor is indeed made exceedingly pleasant?

That if the people would only realize the truth, they would boost the editors.

That you need him as much as he needs you?

That without him your community would soon be numbered among the dear departed?

The following attended District Conference of Brownwood District, Methodist church at Rockwood Wednesday and Thursday: Rev. J. Hall Bowman and family, W. T. Verner, Misses May and Bettie Blue, Mesdames Bond and Sealy, and S. D. Harper, Hardie Blue, E. M. Easley, Clifford Verner and J. Frank Turner.

A good way to begin saving is to learn to say "NO."

FARM DAIRYING PLUS POULTRY AND PIGS SURE DEBT CHASER

The essence of the matter is simply that by adding a few extra cows and selling cream to the creamery (which may be done without in any way upsetting the farm labor situation), a steady current income of cash may be had and the farmer thus independent of debt for current expenses. The skim milk may be profitably utilized through feeding in the form of clabber to the chickens and every farm woman knows there is no better feed for poultry. Also skim milk may be profitably used in feeding the brood sow and pigs and, of course, every farm family should raise and kill meat enough at home so as not to have to go to the store.

Creamery markets have been developed until practically every farmer in the South is now in convenient shipping distance to a market for cream. It is well known that in most localities of the South more or less country butter is sold on local markets at very low prices. Usually the prices ruling for country butter are from 10 to 20 cents per pound; or about half the price paid by the creamery for butterfat. This butterfat, diverted to the creamery in the form of cream means a great saving to the farmer and saves the farm woman much drudgery in churning and preparing the butter for market and, most important of all, the disappointment and discouragement of selling at so low a price. The problem of marketing forage and other feeds is solved through this plan and it is found that forage and grain may be most profitably sold thru feeding on the farm, thus converting it to a product may be marketed with facility and at highest market prices.

The keeping of cows will, and does, encourage rotation of fields and the production of more legume crops, which incidentally serves to improve and maintain soils in better conditions and productivity.

In addition to the improvement of lands which comes with rotation of crops and the planting of larger amounts of leguminous crops, more animal manure is provided and used on lands, which means greater yields of all crops.

Of course, I appreciate there are other means of getting in cash currently than keeping cows and poultry, but I believe there is no other plan that lends itself so splendidly and practically to all farms as does this plan of a few cows, a few hogs, and a flock of good poultry as permanent phases of production on the farm.—The Progressive Farmer.

"Sinners in Heaven," With Superlative Cast, Coming

The title of the new paramount picture, "Sinners in Heaven," which is coming to the Queen Theatre for a two days' run beginning next Wednesday, 20th, has a distinctly paradoxical sound. It is safe to assume that the picture satisfactorily explains and justifies the title.

To those, however, who have read the story by Clive Arden from which the picture was adapted by James Creelman and produced by Alan Crosland, the title has an especial significance and it is certain that they will approve its retention in the screen play.

"Sinners in Heaven" tells the story of a man and a girl who are thru fate wrecked on a tropical island off the coast of Africa. Try to imagine what would happen if you found yourself stranded in some remote corner of the earth, apparently a million miles from any sign of civilization, and your only companion was a person whom you cordially disliked! This is the situation that confronts Barbara Stockley, the heroine, and you can readily understand the dynamic possibilities for rich drama when we tell you that the girl eventually falls in love with the man and marries him, there in the heart of the African desert! How the marriage was performed and what happened after that, we will let you discover for yourself. Bebe Daniels and Richard Dix portray the two leading roles. Make a note of the play date if you want to be amongst those present when "Sinners in Heaven" comes to town!

THE PASSING DAY

WILL H. MAYES
Department of Journalism
University of Texas

Your Work is Worth Your Best Effort.

It may be stated as a proposition that cannot be refuted that any undertaking while it is worth doing in such a way as will secure the greatest possible measure of success. It is equally true that unless a person is willing to go about an undertaking with a determination to put every ounce of his energy into its success, it would be best not to do it at all. In spite of that, truism, with which all will agree, most of the things we do are done in such a way as to indicate that we care very little about them. How many of you who read this started about your work today with any thought as to how you could best use the day for the good of whatever you may be doing? Were you one of the great number that just dragged through with what you were doing just because it was your daily task? If so, the day was a failure so far as you were concerned. Enough days spent that way will make you a failure.

Big Failures Start in a Little Way.

Most persons are prone to minimize whatever they may be doing—to regard it as hardly worth an effort because it is not on the large scale of the work of some one else. The farmer on forty acres dreams of what he would do if he were farming four hundred; the merchant with a small stock thinks he would be a wonder if only he had a large capital; the small-town banker would be a financial wizard if he were in a big city. None of them seem to think that the way to make a big thing out of something small is to put a big amount of energy into it. That is the way every large enterprise in this country has been built up. But none of these big concerns would have grown to their present proportions, if their owners had waited for them to grow large before putting their best efforts into them.

A Useful Organization of Women.

Texas has been fortunate in entering the National Congress of Parents and Teachers at Austin. The organization was formed some twenty-eight years ago to bring about that cooperation between parents and teachers that would secure the best possible results in the proper training of the children. It at once proved its usefulness in interesting parents—mothers especially—in the work of the schools and in giving teachers a better understanding of the children's problems in their homes. From a small beginning, the work has been extended until it covers practically every village in this country, and now there is hardly a school whose effectiveness is not greatly increased by its activities. Its work has been of a kind that has been above any just criticism. Like every other organization, it has problems about which there are disagreements, but no one doubts the effectiveness of its methods.

Girls Their Own Dressmakers.

It was my good fortune to attend the State Clothing Contest recently given under the auspices of the State Department of Education, and to see the hundreds of beautiful dresses made by students of home economics in the high schools of the State. The contest was in charge of Miss Lillian Peck, supervisor of home economics in the State Department, who has visited and is known personally to most of the students, and to all the teachers, of home economics in the State. These teachers were along to assist in and to explain the work. To say that the display was a marvelous exhibition of designing and of needlework expresses it mildly. The girls of Texas are being taught things that will always be useful to them in their homes, and this is being done without any neglect of the elementary academic subjects.

The Country is Looking Up.

In most parts of Texas the weather situation had become alarming as the long continued drought was seriously interfering with the planting of cotton and feed crops. Rains have been falling throughout most of the State in time for crops to be planted and made, and the people who were becoming despondent are again happy and contented. The drought may prove a blessing to those sections that could create irrigation districts, provided the people do not too soon forget the threatened danger.

Are We Baseball Mad?

A reading of the daily papers of the country impresses one that the subject uppermost in the minds of the American people is baseball. A large part of the reading matter of the regular editions is filled with details of the games throughout the country, and the baseball editions contain little else. The town that does not yell itself hoarse at least three days in the week over its home team is put down as the hick village class.

Soon Felt Improvement
 "The first time I took Cardui I was in an awful bad way," says Mrs. Ora Carlisle, R. F. D. 5, Troup, Texas. "I went fishing one day. A heavy storm came up and I got soaking wet in the rain. I was afflicted with awful smothering spells. I could not get my breath. My mother had some in the house that she was taking, so she immediately began giving it to me. In a few days I got all right. Last fall I got run-down in health. I was weak and puny and I began to suffer. I would get so I could hardly walk. Having taken Cardui before, I sent to the store for a bottle of it. Almost from the first dose I could feel an improvement.

 "Cardui has helped me a lot and I am glad to recommend it. I don't feel like the same woman I was last fall. My appetite is good now, and I'm sure it's Cardui that's made it pick up."

Ignorance as to Waste.
 The Fort Worth Star-Telegram attributes waste to lack of early training in conservation. The more you think of it the more likely you will be to agree with the Star-Telegram. Wastefulness is due largely to indifference about saving and not to a destructive spirit. Teach the child that it is as necessary to conserve as to make, and he will grow up to practice conservation. When I was a child I was allowed, in fact was encouraged, to eat all the food I wanted, but if I took more on my plate than I could eat, the plate of uneaten food was carefully put away for the next meal, and I had to eat that before getting anything else. To this day I never leave any food on my plate. Lessons like that have to be taught early, before wasteful habits are formed. The place for such teaching is in the home and in the school. The teaching should not only be against personal waste, but it should be extended to the protection of the property of other people and to the safeguarding of public property.

Courses in Conservation.

There is a tendency to make all education practical. Why not extend it to include, in the grade schools, courses in conservation? Children should be impressed that to waste even the food that the birds might eat is sinful; that water waste is wrong; that destruction of, or injury to, school property is an injustice to the public; that to break street lights is criminal; that saving is just as commendable as making; that loss to any individual or to the community is an injury to all. Such lessons well taught in every school in the land would result in the saving of millions of dollars annually.

Looking for a Big Texan.

The board of governors of the Texas Centennial at its last meeting appointed a committee to find the best man in Texas, measured by the requirements of the position, to be permanent president of the movement which will commemorate the history of the state, reflect its present greatness, and build for a future commensurate with the state's great resources. The board decided to go about this selection carefully and to find a man of the financial strength to be able to devote his time and his means to the accomplishment of the purposes of the exposition; of the influence to get the ear of congress and of the legislature and to secure the co-operation of Texas and other states and nations; of the ambition to make the Texas Centennial his great culminating life work; of the vigor to give untiring effort to the great work. In other words Texas is looking for a leader with qualifications commensurate with the great undertaking before it.

Exigencies Develop Leadership.

In studying the immensity of the work the Texas Centennial board was at first fearful that Texas has no man who can measure up to its requirements, but more careful consideration convinced the governors that Texas has citizens big enough to accomplish anything that people anywhere can do. The history of the world shows that there has never been an exigency, however great, that some person has not been discovered to meet it; and Texans may feel sure that in this case the best leadership will be found, leadership of which the state may be proud. The governors of the Centennial have gone about their selection in a way to insure that no mistake shall be made, which reminds me to say that the board has also shown much wisdom in planning a great educational campaign to "Texanize Texas" as a preliminary step. Get Texas thoroughly enthused, and the Centennial will be put over in a splendid way.

From Newsboy to Exchange President

In becoming president of the New York Cotton Exchange, Richard T. Harris, a former Fort Worth newsboy, has shown again that poverty and hard work in youth are not handicaps but helps to success. The poor boy has an equal chance with the rich youth in the fight for success if only he can be brought to think so. Harris would never have attained his present position if he had thought that newsboys could not hope to become financial leaders.

Criticizing the Newspapers.

Criticizing the press appears to be a fad. Even at the Parent-Teachers meeting recently held at Austin, the newspapers came in for some trouncing because some one thinks they are threatening to usurp the functions of the schools. Newspapers are not trying to take the place of the schools, but are endeavoring to help them, just as the Parent-Teachers are trying to help. Too often the loudest critics of the press are those who are its greatest debtors and who do least for its advancement.

Music in the Public Schools

(By Mrs. W. D. Carroll, in the Rural School News.)

Those who are familiar with conditions in other countries, more particularly Europe, cannot but feel that we in America fail to appreciate good music and it would appear that the place to begin work, in order to stimulate appreciation of good music is in the public schools. There can be no appreciation of the beautiful, or of the arts generally without systematic, and early (if possible) training. Music is essential, but tradition is so strong, and training of educational leaders is of such a nature that music is not ranked with the academic subjects. Lowell Mason is called the "father" of public school music and gave lectures in Boston in 1826, and music was introduced in the public schools in 1830.

Recently among others the following questions were asked some of the leading colleges in America: "What influence if any does the study of music exert as a part of the general education of the students? How do students who study music compare intellectually, culturally and in academic standing with students who do not study music?"

The answers were practically the same and as follows: "The study of music has a great influence upon the general educational equipment of any student. It trains the mind to accurate, quick thought, develops the power of concentration, perhaps more than anything, gives poise and a broader outlook on life.

Students who study music are broader in their knowledge, and better intellectually than those who take no music has a great influence upon the art subject. Culturally, they are decidedly better, and in academic standing they rank with the highest. The study of music improves their memory, and gives ability to grasp ideas readily."

The greatest enemies to progress in Santa Anna are envy and jealousy.

A Bell Continually Ringing

Many are familiar with the old legend about the village of Arti, which had a large bell that was rung only in time of great need. For years it had not been used because Arti was prosperous and contented. The bell rope was covered with green vines and trailed to the ground. One day a poor horse, turned out to starve, seized the fresh green tendrils in his teeth. The ringing of the bell, when he pulled the rope, called attention to the beast's predicament, and he became a well-fed ward of the town.

Advertising is a bell that is continually ringing to call your attention to something you need and ought to have. Merchants who are selling something they believe you will want, are using its clarion notes to attract you to their wares.

Do you read the advertising? Many people do. They are the wise shoppers—the economical buyers—the ones who are strictly up-to-date on the opportunities for saving money or spending it to greater advantage.

Read the advertisements. They will tell you of many things you will need. Read them to save steps; to save money. Read them, because it is to your best interest to.

Read the advertisements regularly. It pays.

A Big If

If Elmer Apperson and Elwood Haynes and Henry Ford had not invented the horselless buggy and put it into big production and everything—then we would not have any good roads, tax problems nor any traffic problem, nor any worries over meeting next month's note for the car, nor any grief about how many miles we'll get out of that rubber, nor any more troubles with garage repair men. Nor any other griefs which are connected with gasoline buggies. But what a slow, uninteresting world it would be.—Winters Enterprise.

SALESMANSHIP

Salesmanship is the key to all success. The lawyer sells his evidence to the jury, the doctor his service to the patient, the merchant his goods to the public, and so forth. If you are looking for a better job, you must be able first to sell yourself to your future employer.

This value and need of salesmanship extends to everything in life. As it applies to individuals so it must apply to communities. No town can grow and prosper unless it is made up of loyal citizens who sell it to the stranger at every possible opportunity.

If you are a pessimist and look upon the sour side of everything you will see only the worst in your town and point it out to everyone who comes across your path. But if you are satisfied and enthusiastic over the prospects of your community, you will unconsciously sell Santa Anna to your friends from outside, to the stranger within the city, and thus to the world in general.

We all want to see Santa Anna prosper and grow. We want people everywhere to regard it as a good town—a live town—a fine place to make their homes.

But to see that accomplished you must consider yourself a salesman of the community, and you must set out to prepare yourself for that particular job. Cultivate the habit of seeing good points of Santa Anna as well as the bad points. For no salesman ever succeeded unless he was first sold on his own goods.

And then after you have come to a fuller appreciation of the true assets of our community, go out of your way a little to tell others about them. Even though you can see no direct result, the kind of spirit that this will create is bound to make Santa Anna a larger and better city in the years to come.

"THE STORE THAT MAKES THE PRICES"

Where to Train in Less Than Half the Usual Time

How would you like to know that before the end of 1925 you could step into a good position in business—a position paying you a good salary and offering you splendid opportunities for promotion?

You can do that. In fact, if you act now, there is no reason in the world why you should not be drawing your first salary check from business some time in September or October, this year—or even earlier. And you will be doing nothing more than thousands of young people have been doing for several years.

At Tyler Commercial College the time required for a business training has been cut in half. This has been done due to the intensive methods, superior and specially designed courses, a great faculty of trained experts and equipment that is up-to-the-minute.

The longest courses at T. C. C. requires seven months—and the one hundred weeks of study. The shorter business courses may be completed in from three weeks to three months.

At Tyler Commercial College, dedicated as it is to training young people for success, one will find courses to suit every ambition, every degree of education, every purse. For young people who wish to step over the smaller jobs in business, there are courses in Secretarial work, in Business Administration, in Higher accountancy, Banking and many others. For those who wish more quickly to begin earning their way, there are courses in Stenography, Book-keeping, Civil Service and others. For young people who wish to enter the great railway work or Western Union, there are the General Railroad and General Western Union Courses. A graduate of either of these courses is assured of employment. There is a department devoted to Telegraphy, Station work and other railway executive duties. The General Cotton Classing Course is excellent for those who wish to handle cotton—the South's greatest industry. Then there is the Radio Course whose graduates pass the Government Examinations.

So, if you are interested in a bigger future—and if you want to save half the usual time in making your start, why not get in touch with Tyler Commercial College and arrange to start a course there.

If you have not made up your mind, fill in the coupon below and mail to them for the large, free, interesting book, "Achieving Success in Business."

AIRFORDS

It may not be so many years until every well equipped American household will have its "Airford" so that the family can travel in a straight line on a joy ride instead of being bothered with annoying detours.

Then there will be a clear and unobstructed view of the landscape, with no billboards or other distractions that so ruffle the temper of the motorist.

The dream of Darius Green and his flying machine fell far short of what the Fords expect to accomplish.

They will be "family" cars in the sense of the word that the Ford is today. They will be all metal, will have a wing spread of sixty feet, a fuselage of forty-eight feet, but their total weight is less than that of a sedan automobile.

The capacity, or as it is technically phrased "useful load," is 2,000 pounds and there will be room for eight or ten passengers in addition to the pilot's seat.

It is the avowed intention of the "flivver king of the air" to produce these machines ultimately at the low figure made possible by quantity production.

Ford now builds, an automobile every eight minutes, and who is there to challenge that he can't build monoplanes the same way.

Twenty years ago the man who dared to predict that automobiles would dot the country's highways as they do today, was ridiculed as a dreamer.

Today he is the richest man in America if not in the world.

Not all dreams come true, but this one did. And who makes bold to say that in two more decades every community will not have its landing fields?

A Dog With Ten Tails

In a certain published book there appeared as an example of "brilliance" the following problem and solution:

A small boy who wanted a pair of skates said to his father one night, "Father, will you get me a pair of skates if I prove to you that a dog has ten tails?"

The father smiled and nodded, and the boy began: "Well, one dog has more tails than no dog, hasn't he?"

"Right."

"Well, then, if no dog has nine tails and one dog has more tails than no dog, then one dog must have ten tails."

The small boy got the skates. Swiped.

We award the year's prize for unadulterated nerve to the daily editor who rums features like "Advice to the Love Lorn" and then makes fun of the country weekly.

TEN YEARS IN THE "HOME TOWN" NEWSPAPERS

United States Rubber Company Celebrates Tenth Anniversary of a Pioneering Advertising Program

In 1915 there were 2,445,666 automobiles in this country. It seemed a tremendous number.

Some people were already talking about "the saturation point" being not far ahead.

But if there were some men who couldn't see the woods for the trees, there were others whose faith never faltered.

It took a lot of vision for them to see that the true market for the automobile had hardly been touched.

It took a lot of courage for them to bank on the ultimate success of the automobile in that market.

They had both.

Back in 1915, the United States Rubber Company said: "The real future of the automobile is not in the big cities but away from them."

It is not in short runs on city streets, but in mile after mile on country roads."

So back in 1915 the United States Rubber Company began to prepare for this movement—and to help it.

In 1915—ten years ago—the first U. S. Tire advertising began to appear in the "home town" papers.

Few people saw these papers in their true dimension.

Few realized the influence they had on what the people thought and did and wore and bought. Because few people realized the place they filled in the minds and lives of their readers.

The United States Rubber Company saw.

As clearly as it saw that the development of the automobile would be in the smaller communities, it saw that the people in these communities would have to have tires measure up to the service and tire merchants to sell them.

And it saw that in the "home town" newspapers it had, ready to hand, the medium to help it put tire merchandising where it would have to be in the new era of the automobile.

So ten years ago people began to read the first U. S. Tire Advertising in their "home town" paper—over the name of their "home town" dealer.

They have been reading it every since.

They have seen these home dealers develop their little "side line of tires" into real business—always with the support of "U. S." Advertising in these local papers.

Co-incident with the tenth anniversary of "home town" advertising by the United States Rubber Company, this company announces another long step forward in the perfection of automobile tires—the greatest since the introduction of the cord tire in its perfected Latex treated—Web Cord—Royal Balloon Tire with the flat low pressure tread.

Today there are 16,000,000 automobiles in this country.

80 percent of them are owned by men and women on the farms and in the smaller communities.

Where there was one U. S. tire dealer in the small towns then there are hundreds today—real merchants.

What was only a vision in 1915 has come true in 1925.

Soviet Russia urges the rest of the world to adopt her system of government. Then she follows that with a plea to relieve her starving millions.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Martin who moved from here to Smithville some two years ago, are visiting friends here this week.

The problem is, shall we have more speed laws and get pinched or no speed laws and get killed.

No Increase in the Price of Firestone FULL-SIZE GUM-DIPPED BALLOONS

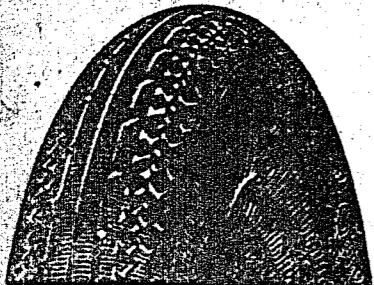

The extra quality built in by the extra process of Gum-Dipping, the economy of these wonderful tires and the added mileage obtained from them during the past two years, has created such a large demand that over 75% of Firestone's mammoth production is now Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords.

This has greatly increased the total sales volume and the huge Firestone factories are now working on a 24-hour schedule to supply the demand.

This large volume, produced under the most economical tire manufacturing methods, permits Firestone to sell these extra-process Full-Size Balloons at no extra cost to car owners. And this in the face of greatly advanced cost for crude rubber brought about by the operation of the British Rubber Restriction Act.

Gum-Dipping means longer mileage—greater economy—at no extra cost to you!

Enjoy the safety, economy and comfort of Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords this summer. Let us equip your car now at low cost—with liberal allowance for your old tires.

Save Something

In all cases where it is possible, however, I believe that a boy should not only earn something for buying some desired object, but he should also get the habit of saving for later needs.

I sometimes feel that it would be a good thing if all persons at all times were required to save 10 per cent of what they make. There are a few of us who could not, if we had to do so, get along practically as well on nine-tenths of what we make as on ten-tenths, and the saving of the extra 10 per cent would come mighty near making everybody independent. Practically the whole country and every family in it would become prosperous.

When old James J. Hill was asked the secret of success for a young man, he answered: "Can he save money? If he can not, the seed of success is not in him." Now this is true not simply because of what money we accumulate by saving, but because saving is one of the best means of discipline and character-formation that a boy can possibly bring to his help. It is said of most people that whenever they have money "it burns a hole in their pockets until it is spent." In other words, everything they want makes an urgent, imperative demand for the spending of the money so long as they have it—and they lack the will to say "No." Later on they will need the money more sorely for some other purpose, but they lack the will to deny the present for the sake of the future. It is this strong will and self-control which the habit of saving breeds in a boy. And this very habit of self-mastery formed by the discipline of saving will be of incalculable value to the boy when other tests of character come in later life.—Clarence Poe, in The Progressive Farmer.

Flies Travel Far From Home

Up until 1916 the longest range of travel for house flies was given as 1,700 yards, or about a mile. Since then considerable intensive study has been put on this problem and greater distances have been observed. In experiments in Texas about 234,000 marked flies were liberated and traps placed from four to 17 miles distant caught many of them. The maximum distances are given as 13.4 miles for the housefly, 15.1 miles for the screw-worm fly, and 10.9 miles for the blow fly.

The house fly traveled with the wind in largest numbers, but also traveled against and at right angles to it. It was recorded at distances of six miles in less than 24 hours, and at 10 miles in less than 48 hours. Observations off the coast of Florida indicate that house flies may travel as much as 95 miles with the wind under favorable conditions.

These results indicate the importance of the general or community application of sanitary measures, and that one neglected stable or slaughtering house may infest a wide surrounding country.—The Oklahoma Farmer Stockmen.

"Excuse Me" Is a Wide Awake Sleeping Car Comedy

"Excuse Me" is the most moving picture of the year; it moves with express train speed from the start, when a young couple are taxicabbing wildly about Chicago looking for a minister to marry them, thru the hilariously adventurous trip across the Continent in a Pullman train, to the sensational finish when the newly-weds catch the transport for the Philippines by way of an airplane to San Francisco.

It's an out and out farce, with no other object than entertainment. And it's sure-fire entertainment that will sweep any theatre with gales of laughter. Written in 1910, it scored a record success on the stage, running for years with four companies playing it all over the country. Published as a book, it kept up to the big selling standard of Rupert Hughes's highly successful novels. And now elaborated, modernized, pepped up for motion pictures, it's more joyously amusing than ever.

This picture will be shown at the Queen Theatre, Monday and Tuesday, 18 and 19.

In the Days of Long Ago

In the days of long ago, when grandmother kept house, Monday and Tuesday were washing and ironing days. Friday and Saturday were for housecleaning and beating the rugs. Considerable time was lost in cooking, washing dishes and other household duties.

Today, the up-to-date housekeeper's washing is done before noon. Electric irons speed Tuesday's task into a couple of hours. Grandmother never imagined that meals could be prepared so rapidly, or that dishwashing could be disposed of in such a short time. She would have been amazed at the effectiveness of the vacuum cleaners, better cleansers and many household helps designed to lighten, quicken and improve the work.

A WIDE AWAKE PREACHER

Lampasas Record

Rev. John R. Hilliard, pastor of the Methodist Church at Johnson City, has organized a Boys and Girls' Poultry Club in Blanco county with 116 charter members. After organizing his club he began writing poultry breeders all over the United States asking for their co-operation and a gift of one or more settings of eggs for the boys and girls in his club some 500 letters! The response has been wonderful. Eggs are coming, valued from $1.50 to $20.00 per setting! Every member is to have at least one setting and Blanco county will have more fine blooded chickens this fall than ever before in her history.

It is not surprising that a Methodist preacher should organize a poultry club when you consider that their reputed fondness for chickens, but Mr. Hilliard's interest is not primarily in the fine chickens he hopes to see raised in Blanco county but in the boys and girls of Blanco county whom he is seeking to reach and influence for the better things of life.

After the organization of his poultry club, Mr. Hilliard decided that Blanco county ought to have a county agent, two attempts had been made by others to secure such an agent but without favorable results. These failures did not daunt the young preacher. He knew the value of such an agent to a county in terms of better living and increased happiness for the future. So he went before the Commissioners' Court to ask them to employ a county agent. They had no funds for such a purpose this year but upon his suggestion and promise of co-operation funds have been raised by private solicitation in the various precincts and the county will in a few weeks have a county demonstrator.

He is now actually engaged in promoting the interest and activities of the Chamber of Commerce which has been recently resurrected and reorganized. The Chamber is now planning a county fair and poultry show. A clean up campaign has been conducted in which the preacher has worked "with his hands" as hard as any body. A tourist park is now being arranged for. Gates are being replaced by cattle guards through much ranch country which has opened up new trade territory. Folks dislike opening and closing of gates.

In addition to these things, Mr. Hilliard knows how to play, coach and referee baseball, basket ball, foot ball. His knowledge of an interest in athletics adds to his popularity among the young people.

Large crowds attend the services of this aggressive young pastor who is only twenty-eight years and just out of college. As a preacher he is earnest, sympathetic, tender, evangelistic. But he believes the preacher of this day and time should have a bigger program than those of yesterday. Without undervaluing the importance of preaching and prayer-meeting services, the visiting of the sick and stranger, he feels it incumbent upon the modern preacher to relate himself in a very definite and positive way to the social, recreational, educational, fraternal, domestic, physical and commercial life of the community he is appointed or called to serve. He believes that Jesus Christ came into the world to bring abundant life to light and that his ministers and church should be interested in all things calculated to add to man's physical, mental, social and spiritual well being.
