"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

COUNTY SINGING CONVENTION

The Coleman county singing convention will meet with the class at Novice next Sunday. Quite a number from this part of the county have expressed a desire to attend, and we hope a large number of our Eastern district singers will be there and help make the convention a success.

Just at this time it appears the News editor is not going to be able to attend, but we feel sure a good convention will be enjoyed. Let all who can be on hand.

MORTUARY

Mrs. C. B. Garrison, 49, died at the local hospital Monday morning from injuries received Saturday evening in an accident near Liberty, about five miles west of town.

Mrs. Garrison was returning from Brownwood where she had been on Friday to visit a daughter, lives at Brownwood, and her daughter had secured a Ford service car and was bringing her mother back to Santa Anna. The fatal accident happened when Miss Garrison drove into a farm wagon, as we understand was loaded with cotton. She undertook to stop the car and her foot slipped off the brake, and the car plunged into the wagon with such a force to turn the car over, demolishing it considerably, inflicting many painful bruises on both occupants, which resulted in the death of Mrs. Garrison early Monday morning. Mrs. Garrison died without ever regaining consciousness. Her body was badly bruised, internal injuries being such that could not be relieved.

Mrs. Garrison was a Christian woman, a member of the Baptist church here in Santa Anna. Her

Contest Growing In Interest--Work In Dead Earnest--First Premium Offer Made

On Tuesday's count, October 9th, another fine report was turned in by our contestants, who realize that the time is growing short and in just a few more days their work will be completed and the prizes awarded.

There has not been a time since the contest was announced that the interest has ever slacked, notwithstanding the interest seems to change at times from one contestant to another and from one community to another, but truthfully speaking, the interest has grown from the time the contest was announced until this date, and the most sensational period is yet to come. Remember contestants, there will only be three more counts, and that last count is the one you are mostly interested in, but here is a little stimulant to encourage you for the next count. Read it carefully and make up your mind to take down the grapes.

Special Offer

To the contestant turning in the largest number of subscriptions next Tuesday, October 16th, we will give a ten ($10) gold piece. This should encourage every one to get busy and try to win this special prize, as your votes will all count in the final count October 30th.

BONUS OFFER—Every contestant turning in 50.00 or more on the count, October 16th, we will give 25,000 extra votes. This special bonus vote offer should be some inducement to you to get busy. The next three weeks will tell the story. It depends upon your efforts during that time as to who the winners will be. Don't lose a moment, for every moment you lose means lost opportunities. A few dollars would change the standing from the lowest to the highest, so get busy with your friends; tell them how you would love to win the capitol prize; use the telephone, write letters and put forth your very best personal efforts for the remainder of this campaign. There are many good families in this country yet who do not take the paper and we want them on our list. Make a special effort during the next three weeks to see every person in this country and ask them to subscribe. The Santa Anna News is an institute of long standing, and an industry that every citizen in this country should feel an interest in its welfare. Don't hesitate to tell the people that the Santa Anna News is worth the money, for we know it is. When new babes are born into the world, we carry the glad tidings to your friends; when they enter school we hail them with delight and encourage them to strive for greater knowledge; when they graduate we encourage them to press onward and upward to nobler things; when they commit marriage and take upon themselves new responsibilities we extend to them our very best wishes, congratulations, sympathies or whatever is most in order for the occasion, and when they have served their term here upon this earth and crossed over the river whence no traveler has ever returned, we heard the good things they have done during the time they were permitted to mingle with the people of this earth, and never mention any error that might have been committed. In fact, we tell the best and leave the other to be forgotten, for it is your good qualities we are looking for and not your faults. Our friends will do us a great favor by encouraging your neighbors to subscribe for the News and become regular readers.

Following is the list and standing of the contestants according to their reports Tuesday of this week:

Miss Ethel Moegelin	257,550
Mrs. C. M. Moseley	123,800
Miss Alpha Ryan	114,700
Miss Una James	89,500

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our thanks to those who helped us during our recent bereavement, in the sad tragedy and death of our companion and mother. Especially do we thank Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Woodward and family for taking her into their home after the accident occurred. Words are inadequate to express our full appreciation. May God bless you all.—C. B. Garrison and family.

It is said that a man who won't take his home paper because he can borrow one has invented a machine by which he can cook his dinner by the smoke of his neighbors chimney. The same fellow sits in the back pew in church to save interest on his contributions and is always borrowing a ride to town to save the wear and tear on his own horse flesh. Yes, we know him. He is a first cousin of the man who used the wart on the back of his neck for a collar button.—Ex.

SIMS-RICHARDSON

Mr. Walker Richardson and Miss Willie Mae Sims were married Saturday. This marriage has been expected to take place for some time, and is not a total surprise to their friends. The News joins in extending best wishes and congratulations.

MORTUARY

Mrs. Leston Cozart died at her home in Trickham last Friday. Mr. Cozart went out to the field to work Friday morning and when he returned just before noon he found his wife lying across the bed dead.

Mrs. Cozart had been in bad health for several months, and her death was not altogether unexpected. Dr. Nichols of Bangs was called, and pronounced the body dead and ordered an inquest. The writer and J. H. Griffith went to Trickham and held the inquest.

Mrs. Cozart leaves a husband, some brothers and sisters and a host of good friends to mourn her untimely death.

The News' very tenderly extends sympathy to the bereaved.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this method of thanking our many friends and neighbors of Trickham for their kindness shown us at the death of our daughter, sister and wife, Mayme Cozart, (nee Blackwell). May God bless each and every one of you.

Leston Cozart

Mrs. F. A. Cozart and children.

If you believe in better church services and better churches in which to hold services, take a day off from your regular routine of Sunday doings and come out to the Baptist Church next Sunday and spend the day. Bring some eats along with you.

STATE'S TRAVELING EXPENSES INCREASED

Austin, Oct. 7.—Traveling expenses of representatives of the various State departments in 1919 amounted to less than $40,000, while in 1923 appropriations made by the Thirty-eight Legislature for this purpose exceeded $260,000, according to Representative John T. Smith of Travis County, in the October number of his Texas Tax Journal, released Saturday.

"Note the enormous increase," said Smith. "The tax rate in 1909 was 5 cents on the $100 valuation. The above amounts were to pay the traveling expenses only. No salary is included, as the salaries are in addition to the traveling expenses and will amount approximately to as much as the traveling expenses. Estimating the traveling expenses of each person at $5 per day or $150 per month, there would be an army of more than 100 traveling over this State all the time.

"The truth of this whole traveling program in the main is that it is a great system of aiding candidates for office at the expense of the taxpayer."

JUDGE GEORGE CRITZ IS PERHAPS OLDEST ACTIVE MAGISTRATE IN TEXAS

(Democrat-Voice)

There may be older persons in public office in Texas than Justice George Critz of Coleman, but we doubt if there is any one as active as he, considering his advanced age.

Judge Critz is living in his 84th year and a visit to his office convinces one that he is yet comparatively young in person and mind; and his office is perhaps the best kept of any in the county's Temple of Justice. The last stated distinction may provoke a friendly dispute by some of the other efficient house-keepers at the court house who claim recognition for efficient public house-keeping.

Judge Critz's memory of the eventful past is clear and distinct. He was born May 16, 1840 in Taledaga, Alabama. His father was Archelus Critz, son of Haman Critz, a Virginian, soldier in the Revolutionary War under Gen. George Washington, and active at the battle of Yorktown.

Judge Critz volunteered his service to the Southern Confederacy in 1861 and surrendered in May, 1865. He enlisted in Co. C 14th Mississippi, was later identified with Co. K 35th Mississippi; at one critical time of the Confederacy he was in north of the Confederacy he in north Georgia trying to stem the tide of Gen. Sherman flowing in from the North. In the last months of Confederacy activity he was with the Confederate Navy around Mobile and fought the final losing navy battle at Blakely near Mobile.

Judge Critz's venerable wife is nine years his junior. They came to Texas in 1892, settling in Williamsom county and moved on to Robert Lee in Coke county in 1905. They lived in Concho county a number of years and came to Coleman in 1916.

Judge George Critz' predecessor in the office of Justice of the Peace at Coleman was Veteran T. W. White, who was near 82 years of age when he voluntarily retired from the office, and is now living at his home in Coleman at the age of past 84 years.

WHICH KIND ARE YOU?

Every citizen should be actively interested in community betterment—first, for the good of the community; and second, on the theory that what benefits the community is of equal benefit to the individual.

Some people are aggressive, and work continually for the welfare of the community in which they live. Some hold back thru modesty, some through timidity, and others through a disinclination to "neglect their private affairs." The modest man is respected, although it is to be regretted that his modesty keeps him so much in the background. The man who is timid is to be pitied, for his timidity is a serious handicap—yet a handicap that, happily, is often overcome. The modest man and the timid man should assert themselves. The community needs their efforts, just as it receives the co-operation of their more aggressive friends and neighbors. But what of the citizen who is averse to "neglecting his private affairs?"

Is he the kind of man that makes a community, or is he merely one who profits from the community that others make? The man who is "too busy with his own private affairs" to aid in community betterment may be possessed of many of the good qualities usually found in mankind. He may be highly respected by his neighbors, and his honesty and integrity may be beyond question. But no community can strive on neighborly respect and honesty and integrity alone. Aggressiveness is required if a community would not slip backward instead of pressing forward.

Every man owes a duty to the community in which he lives, and that duty should be performed, even though it entails an occasional personal sacrifice.

No man should consider himself "too busy with his own private affairs" to aid in community betterment. He should not expect others to do all of the community work while he reaps his share of the benefits. He should respond in kind.

HOW TO STUDY THE NOSE

The altruistic nose has the faculty of sublimity well developed in the wide nostrils. He has a lofty, noble personality, bright, shiny and very large pupils, loves scenery, especially the big—the sublime. He is not given to petty gossip, but will talk with a full voice on travel, big new discoveries, and great undertakings.

The nose of sordid gain has a tip that goes back far on the face, and in the lower portion, just above the wings. It is also large, showing the faculty of acquisitiveness.

The optimistic, dramatic nose is built with upward, hopeful lines. It is lacking in serious reason and logic; and is cut off at the septum where the reasoning faculties are located in the nose.

With the nose of scientific truth goes a deep-set eye, large combativeness in the upper region, yet the largest part of the nose is in the mental region at the tip.

The nose of treachery is lacking in the motive region at the top. Its mental development at the tip shows curiosity rather than a search for knowledge. It is lacking in important bony development which attracts the honest chemical calcium to the system.

Don't expect to win in everything you undertake. If you were to do so you'd soon become so greedy you'd shove everybody else off the earth, and then you'd be too lonesome to live.

"Feeling Fine!"

"I was pale and thin, hardly able to go," says Mrs. Bessie Bearden, of Central, S. C. "I would suffer, when I stood on my feet, with bearing-down pains in my sides and the lower part of my body. I did not rest well and didn't want anything to eat. My color was bad and I felt miserable. A friend of mine told me of and I then remembered my mother used to take it. After the first bottle I was better. I began to freshen up and I regained my strength and good, healthy color. I am feeling fine. I took twelve bottles (of Cardui) and haven't had a bit of trouble since."

Thousands of other women have had similar experiences in the use of Cardui, which has brought relief where other medicines had failed.

If you suffer from female ailments, take Cardui. It is a woman's medicine. It may be just what you need.

"BACK TO SCHOOL"

The Largest and Most Progressive Commercial School in the United States joins hands with the Rotary Club, and other similar organizations in the movement to have the boys and girls to complete their courses in the high schools and colleges. This school is known all over the United States a friend to young people. There is a large number of boys and girls who have advanced to the age where they cannot, under the circumstances, return to high school or college, but must equip themselves in some way within a short time to earn a livelihood. In order to accommodate these young people, The Tyler Commercial College teaches a literary course in connection with commercial courses, without additional cost. The same literary training can be had in the Tyler Commercial College as in literary schools, and at the same time the student is qualifying himself or herself for a salaried position with a reputable concern, or can go into a university or college and pay their expenses. Those who do not to re-enter high school or the university should write The Tyler Commercial College today for a free catalogue explaining in detail the school, the work they are doing, and the success of their graduates, especially those who do not finish high school who have availed themselves of this opportunity.

Mr. Jack Underwood, manager of the Ardmore Milling Company of Ardmore, Oklahoma, and numerous others who did not complete high school, have creditably completed these courses in The Tyler Commercial College, and are now employed in good positions. Most of them did not advance as far as the 8th grade in public school, and some of them did not get further than the 5th grade.

The Tyler Commercial College has provided the means by which you can secure a business education at the least cost and shortest possible time. You can put yourself in the class of trained workers in a few months time by enrolling at once in the largest business training school in America; with a faculty of over thirty specialized teachers, all modern equipment, using their own famous systems of Business Training. You will get the most thorough, complete and practical training that can be had. Secure your business training now. They are continually being called upon, on account of their influence and prestige, and as a result of rapid growth, by business men, a large number of whom are graduates, for young people to fill positions. BOARDS CAN NOT ADD PERSONAL PROPERTY

Austin, Oct. 8.—County Boards of Equalization have no authority to add personal property to lists prepared by tax assessors or to tax rolls, the Attorney General today advised State Comptroller Smith in an opinion prepared by Assistant W. W. Caves.

The ruling further held that the Board of Equalization has no power to summon persons before it, or to consider evidence for investigating whether personal property has been rendered for taxation. The opinion was delivered in connection with inquiries from county tax assessors.

PUBLISHING THE NEWS

The news published in any newspaper naturally does not please everybody. To produce a newspaper that would gratify the whims and desires of every individual would be a difficult job and would probably result in a newsless journal. Keeping incidents out of the paper or coloring them to suit the viewpoints of all readers is unfair to the general run of patrons.

The newspapers do not make the news. They make events public after they have happened or chronicle those which are scheduled for the future. They are not responsible for court trials, arrests, bootleg raids, labor conventions, political activities and the other happenings in daily life. It is their duty to publish what has occurred, colorless and free from editorial opinion.

If your job is a soft snap make it a hard one. Less people will be waiting to grab it away from you.

STANDING BY PRINCIPLES

"Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap." These are the words of holy writ and their truth has been demonstrated all down the ages. They were meant no doubt primarily to apply to individual conduct, and the lives of men and women testify to their unerring accuracy. No man ever yet sowed his "wild oats" without reaping either a weakened constitution, remorse of conscience, or financial ruin, or all of these. The laws of God cannot be violated without bringing their recompense in one way or another. We must walk in the straight and narrow way if we would have the satisfaction of mind and strength of body that our all-wise Creator intended for us in this life, and enjoy eternal life beyond the tomb.

And these words are fraught with the same meaning when applied to state and nations. There are principles of justice and right by which we must be guided if we would attain the destiny that and is ours to reach in the realm of government. The principles of individual conduct, in their essential elements, are the same as those that must guide communities in their dealings. Those principles cannot be violated without bringing turmoil and confusion and in the end death. The liberty we enjoy today in the United States, like the liberty and freedom of the human soul that comes from faith and obedience to God's command, was brought with blood and sacrifice, and should be held most sacred. We cannot afford to hold that liberty lightly, and to preserve it and enjoy its blessings we must adhere to the rules of conduct that are given for our guidance.

"Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." If we sow to the wind we will reap the whirlwind. Let us form such resolutions as will give us a victory for truth and righteousness, not only in our individual lives, but in the life of our beloved state and nation. The News would have peace and prosperity reign throughout the land and to this end it ever strives.

THE SPIRIT OF DISCOVERY

Columbus day (October 12) is being quite generally observed, as a result of admiration for one of the great geniuses whose initiative has transformed the world. Where other men were content to follow the beaten paths, the great discoverer of America was not satisfied just to accept the conclusions of his time.

He believed there were unknown resources intended for the use of man, and better paths by which commerce and trade could find their way. Disregarding the easier life he might have led as a more ordinary voyager and trader, he started out to explore the mysteries of the sea.

While there are still large uninhabited spaces yet to develop, yet the world is pretty well known, and the work of the explorer is pretty nearly done. But every day life even in our commonplace times, has room for the spirit of discovery. The men and women who possess this sentiment accomplish far greater things than they realize. Columbus died in ignorance of the nature of the thing he found. He supposed that in discovering American soil, he had merely discovered a new part of India. "He sailed for the back door of Asia, he landed at the front door of America, and knew it not."

People who are not satisfied with the old methods of accomplishing results, but try to find better inventions, better ways of living and working and thinking, show something of the spirit of discovery. They may be working as they think solely for their own benefit, but the world gains the advantage of their work, and human life goes on from the same to higher levels.

It is for the present generation to show something of the same spirit in daily life, and not rest satisfied with existing conditions but, always to press on to better civil life, better education, better government.—Dublin Progress.

Another nice thing about being poor is that your friends don't insinuate that you are a liar when you say you haven't the ten dollars to spare. These are stirring times. And you must keep stirring if you expect to have any time at all. This back-to-the-farm movement offers no peculiar advantages. You can live right on in town and contrive some way to go broke.

In all malarial countries the popular remedy is Herbine. People find it a good medicine for purifying the system and warding off the disease. Price 60c. Sold by all druggists.

TEXAS LEADS ENTIRE NATION IN DIVORCES

Washington, October 8.—One divorce to every 7.1 marriages in the United States last year is the record disclosed by the Census Bureau's marriage and divorce survey just completed.

The survey just completed is the first made since 1916 when there was only one divorce to almost 9.3 marriages, showing that divorces are increasing at a greater ratio to marriages.

Texas led the whole United States in number of divorces in 1922, with a total of 12,399, which was one for every five marriages in the state.

A WARNING

An absolutely automobile driver told us the other day that he counted fifty-four small children playing in the streets of Santa Anna while he was driving around the city. Mothers and fathers are warned every day of the danger of permitting toddling children on the highways and streets. There is hardly an edition of the cosmopolitan papers in which there is not found a story telling of a small child either killed or maimed by a passing machine.

Of course we understand that many drivers are very careless and continually break the traffic laws but we will always have such people to contend with and it is safer to keep the children off the streets and away from danger. Children do not understand, when they are small, the danger of speeding cars and it is up to the parents to take heed.—Contributed.

AS ANOTHER SEES US

A friend talked to us for an hour the other day about conditions in this town—as he sees them. He is a man with open mind, a quiet student of community affairs, and sees men, women and conditions as they are. Perhaps, to a certain extent he is a moralizer, but in his moralizing he puts his finger on the spot. He mentioned numerous highly respected citizens who are in the prominent class, but whose prominence seldom impels them to do anything exceptional for community betterment. In contrast to them he mentioned others who are more humble in their mode of life, yet who are energetic and determined workers for the public weal. He deplores the lack of co-operation, the petty jealousies, the religious bickerings, and the growing formation of close corporations and social cliques. He sees in this town the good that comes to our community accomplished by the efforts of a few, working regardless of factional differences, which the many are complacent, or indifferent, or willing to have others do the work for them.

He sees, also, a community that should be well up toward the head of its class, yet in reality one that is just drifting along—good, but not as good as it should be; not bad, but decidedly worse than it should be. And why are conditions as they are?

He summarizes thusly: There are not enough Georges in our midst—not enough people who are willing to forget self for a moment and do something for others. The town, he says, is full of brains, but those brains are devoted almost exclusively to the advancement of personal interests and pleasures. He concedes the right of any person to achieve the distinction of becoming a "prominent citizen," but that prominence, he thinks, carries its penalty in the way of proportionate community obligations. He hopes to see our prominent citizens emerge from their comfortable retirement and put their shoulders again to the community wheel. It needs the weight of their influence to whirl it at a healthy speed. Too many of the little fellows are working, he thinks, while too many of the big ones are looking on. And lastly, he thinks, the community needs the united efforts of a big, little, old, and young.

He is too modest to publish his views himself. We are briefly airing them for him.

We have had our attention called to the fact that in a few instances subscribers in renewing with our contestants failed to mention the fact they wanted to renew and for a week or two have been getting two papers. This is an error on our part and we will get the names all straight on our books after a while, and see that every one gets proper credit for the time they pay for. During the contest and while we are handling so many names, it would be a miracle if we get them all perfect the first effort.

New Sedan

Changes featured in the new Ford Sedan make it a better looking, roomier car.

A higher radiator with a trim apron at its base lends dignity befitting a closed car. The higher hood and enlarged cowling curving gracefully to the dash give a stylish sweep to its body lines, and afford additional leg room for occupants of the front seat.

All body fittings—window regulators, door grips, door latch levers, door lock, dome light—are finished in nickel. The upholstery carries a fine dark line on a soft brown background that does not easily show dust or dirt. Silk window curtains to harmonize for the shade rear windows enhance the style of the car and add to the comfort of its passengers. See the new Sedan and other new Ford body styles at our showroom.

TALES OF THE OLD FRONTIER

By ELMO SCOTT WATSON
(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

WHEN A JOURNEY WAS MEASURED IN "PIPES"

En roulant ma boule, roulant;
En roulant ma boule, en roulant me boule.
En roulant ma boule, roulant!

TO THE accompaniment of this gay chanson the paddles dipped and flashed in the sun as the brigade of long canoes swept around a bend in the river. Then at the shout of the bourgeois, "Whoop! la! A terre, a terre, pour la pipe!" the sturdy arms of the voyageurs brought the canoes around sharply and beached them gently on the sloping bank.

For these were the days when the fur trade was the principal industry of the Middle Western frontier and the picturesque figures of the French-Canadian trader (the bourgeois) and his employees (the voyageurs) held the center of the stage.

The voyageur's life was one of difficult tasks, long hours and constant privation. For it all he received the meager wage of about $100 a year and daily rations of a quart of dried corn and one ounce of tallow or its equivalent in whatever sort of food is to be found in the Indian country.

But a more light-hearted, happy-go-lucky fellow never lived. Simple, trusting and intensely loyal to his bourgeois, he regarded the terms of his engagement as binding to the letter on both parties. Once M. St. Jean, a trader on the Upper Mississippi, ordered one of his voyageurs to go with a party into the forest to chop wood. The man refused.

"I was not hired to chop wood," he declared.

"Ah, for what were you hired?" exclaimed M. St. Jean.

"To steer a boat, monsieur."

"Very well, steer a boat then you shall," replied the bourgeois.

It was midwinter and the boats were frozen in the ice-bound river. But the stubborn voyageur was marched to the river bank, placed in the stern of a boat, given a paddle and ordered to steer.

There he sat holding the paddle in his bent hands for two hours. At the end of that time he was willing to admit that he might perform duties other than those stipulated in his agreement and he never again refused to obey the orders of his bourgeois.

SANTA ANNA FOOT BALL TEAM HAD EASY PICKING WITH BALLINGER

On last Friday, Oct. 5, the local High school foot ball team met the Ballinger team on the local gridiron. The home team had an easy going victory from the very beginning. Ballinger chose to receive and it looked as though they were going to give the Santa Anna squad a lively fight for the first few minutes. After making two first downs they were held for downs and the ball went over to the home team. The hard hitting line driving bunch of the back field assisted by the charging line of the Santa Anna boys soon carried the ball down to within scaring distance where Woodward carried it over for the first touch down. From this time on the local boys went through Ballinger's line or around their ends for continuous gains. Several forward passes were completed for touch down. Those carrying the pig skin over for Santa Anna were Woodward four times, Sims, three times, Capt. Greer, twice, Davidson, once, and quarterback Gassiot once. Greer place kicked four times and kicked once for five additional points. The final score was 71 to 0.

Santa Anna plays Coleman here today, October 12. Let's come out and assist the home team in winning this game.—Contributed.

When a child begins to tell its parents that it will or will not do thus and so it is about time to convince that child that it will do as its parents say, whether it desires to do so or not. Many parents lose control over their children by resorting to wheedling and persuasion when they should be firm in the requiring of prompt and implicit obedience. Another mistake that is often made by parents is that of threatening to punish a child and then failing to carry out the threat when the child disobeys. Children are quick to recognize bluster as so much harmless wind. It has no terrors for them, and simply encourages them in their wilfulness. A child respects firmness. It has a supreme disregard for wheedling and pleading and cojoling and harmless threats. MEETING THE TEST

Every person must sometime in life, and many of us oftentimes, be tested and tried to see if we are what we are, what we pretend to be, or whether we are untrue to ourselves and the standard of life that we have claimed to live by. We may go along for a time and succeed, but we cannot hope to win in the long run if we are unable to stand every test that tries our manhood and sincerity and by the result of which we must ultimately be judged.

In our relations with one another we are being constantly placed under obligations that should be regarded as sacred as life itself. For instance, some one has shown our loved ones a great kindness, has possibly ministered to their needs at a time when such ministrations meant a great personal sacrifice on his part; perhaps we were not in a position to show our appreciation of such kindness at the time, but when the time does come that we can help one who has befriended us, are we always equal to the occasion and do we always meet the test? It is only in the degree that we show our gratitude to others for what they have done for us, that we exhibit those high traits that give dignity and honor to real manhood.

And after all, life is but a discharge of the obligations we owe to God, to our families, and our friends. We cannot exist on this earth without being under constant obligation to some one. But how many of us there are who fail utterly to meet the test, even in the very smallest matters. A person's obligations are not fixed by any oath or even by a promise; they exist of themselves, and are even more binding on that account, and to discharge them faithfully without any pressure being brought to bear on us is the highest evidence of our Christ-like nature. The Savior came to earth and died for men in order to carry out the scheme of redemption planned by his Father. He made the supreme sacrifice and came out to conquer in the greatest test that ever man was called upon to meet.

Gossip never builds character. It destroys reputations instead.

DRINK PATENT MEDICINE

Spur, Sept. 30.—As a result of drinking some patent medicine, supposed to have been secured at a drug store, Oscar Harrington of Spur is dead and Dick Boykin of Spur and Lewis Hale of Crosbyton are in a serious condition.

Oscar Harrington, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Harrington of Spur; Dick Boykin, 19, son of Mrs. A. Boykin, four miles north of Spur, with Spencer Sullivan, went to Crosbyton Sunday to attend the Crosby County Fair. They met Lewis Hale, a married man, a barber of Crosbyton.

About 10 o'clock Saturday night a patent medicine drink was secured which killed Harrington in less than five minutes and produced unconsciousness in the other two causes in about three minutes. The tragedy occurred at the fair grounds. It has not been determined the exact nature of the drink, or where it was secured, as the two living men are not able to tell the story. Dickens and Crosby county officers are at work on the case.

The people of Dickens and Crosby Counties are very much wrought up over the tragedy. The citizenship of the two counties, co-operating with the officers, have practically driven all bootleggers out of the county. Indignation meetings are being held on the streets today, and it seems that drug stores that persist in selling patent medicines for drink purposes will be considered in the same light as bootleggers by the public.—Tulia Herald.

Germany has "backed off" in the matter of passive resistance to France's occupation of the Rhur. But the old, arrogant spirit immediately manifests itself in its demands upon the very nation that has brought that country to its knees. Let Germany once announce that it recognizes its utter defeat in the great world clash which its haughtily monarch, backed by a domineering and cruel people bent upon world-control, brought upon us, and let it declare it will pay the costs to the last farthing and not only France, but every country will join in making it possible for it to do so. But its defiant spirit must be crushed before it can be accorded and feeling of mercy or pity.

MUST WORK TOGETHER

No town can grow as it should unless its people work together in its upbuilding. The history of every city that has had rapid and substantial growth will show that united and enthusiastic work of its people had the greatest part in making it grow. In towns where a few live men boost and work the town's upbuilding and many are indifferent and do nothing, the work of city building is exceedingly difficult and the results slow in coming. If all boost and help to build up the town it is an easy matter to make the town push forward.
