THE POULTRYMAN

The Poultryman, a new poultry journal edited and published by Ray B. McCorkle of Coleman, made its initial appearance this week in the form of a splendid 16 page monthly published in the interest of the poultry industry in this section of Texas.

The Journal also strongly advocates diversified farming, which we think is the salvation of this country. The Santa Anna News did the printing of the new journal, and we are taking this advantage of the editor and publisher by telling our readers that the initial number of the journal is worth the price of a year's subscription which will be $1.00 after this month, but in order to get the journal well circulated Mr. McCorkle is making a special offer of .50c a year for this month only. Permit us to say that the infant journal has a bright future, in that it is in competent hands and is advocating a good cause, and we would like to have a large number of our readers to become subscribers to it. Just enclose 50c with your name and address and mail it to The Poultryman, Coleman, Texas and if you do not get value received we will be more sadly disappointed than you.

DIED FROM POISON

A married woman living over in Collin county, member of a prominent family, died last week from a dose of poison, administered by one of the family. She is survived by her husband, and eight children, being 41 years of age at the time of her tragic death. No, she was not poisoned so that she would be out of the way, not that at all. The poison was administered by mistake and prompt medical attention failed to save her life. She had been ill and in the early morning hours a member of the family gave her what was thought to be salts, but it later proved to be a powder for killing chicken lice. Imagine the spectacle and remember it in your own household. This awful mistake will always be deplored by the members of that family, but such a thing could occur in most any family at any time. Be careful.—Mileford News.

REVIVAL CLOSED SUNDAY NIGHT

The revival meeting at the Methodist church closed Sunday night after a series of services lasting two weeks. Pastor Crosby and his faithful helpers did some good and constructive work during the meeting, and thirty or more joined the church the day the meeting closed.

A HAPPY SURPRISE

Last Friday evening, February 13th, the several married children of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Lancaster of near Whion, pulled quite a surprise on them, by storming them with a home coming party.

The children began to come in just about night, very much unexpected to the elderly couple, and Mrs. Lancaster soon began to make preparation for supper but was informed that it was not necessary, as they had not come to eat. After all had arrived, a fine arm rocker was placed in the corner by the fire-side where Mr. Lancaster spends his evenings after the day's work has been done, and he was invited to take a seat in his birthday present, presented to him by his children in memory of his 69th birthday. Useless to say that the event was a happy one, but this was not all. Instead of Mrs. Lancaster having to prepare supper for the bunch when the hour arrived for the eats, all kinds of good things to eat were brought forth from the different vehicles and a splendid lunch was spread. Mr. and Mrs. Lancaster will not lose their smile any more this year.

RESOLUTION OF RESPECT.

Whereas it has pleased the Grand Master of the universe to remove from the cares of this world to that Celestial Lodge above, our beloved brother L. V. Stockard, therefore be it resolved;

That in death of Brother Stockard the Masonic Fraternity as well as Santa Anna Lodge No. 661 has lost an earnest and faithful member. And his family a devoted and loving father, and the community an honest and upright citizen.

And we extend to his bereaved family and friends our deepest sympathy in their sad bereavement.

And that a copy of these resolutions be furnished the family, also a copy be spread on the minutes of the lodge and a copy be furnished the Santa Anna News for publication.

Respectfully submitted,
S. H. Phillips,
C. F. Freeman,
R. D. Kelley.
COMMITTEE.

Will Bartlett, son of Uncle Jimmie Bartlett of this city, died at his home in Ballinger last Thursday and was buried there Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett are both well known here, and have many relatives and friends who will join the News in extending sympathy to the bereaved wife and children. Several from here attended the funeral, but we have not been able to secure the names of all of them.

HOPE THE MAINSPRING OF LIFE

Hope is the great mainspring of all human endeavor. And hope is both desire and expectation combined. Hope looks ahead and is the beacon star that leads us to strive onward and upward for the attainment of things just beyond. When we lose hope, ambition will perish and we can accomplish nothing.

Without hope the future is dark and we are left to grope our way aimlessly and at random, with no objective or purpose, and no goal to be reached. The man without hope in the world is of all men to be pitied.

Hope is built on faith; and faith, we are told, "is the evidence of things not seen." It must be founded on the bedrock of truth and thus becomes sure and steadfast, and though we may meet with reverses and disappointments, we will not lose hope but will continue to fight our battles to the end. The life, death, and resurrection of the Savior were given that we might have a hope of life everlasting beyond the tomb, and that hope, based upon faith in a risen Lord, enables us to endure suffering and affliction and to run with patience the race that is set before us.

In every avenue of business, people are moved by a hope of attaining success and happiness if they but pursue the right course. It is our duty to measure our every action by the correct standard, to look well to the foundation upon which our faith and ultimate success is based, if our hopes are ever to be realized. The principles of justice and honor alone can form the basis for a successful life, and if these are not taken as a starting point the day will come when everything will be lost and we will find that we have been a failure. There is no such thing as success or happiness unless it is real. In our business, social, or religious life the same rule proves true. Let us stand upon the truth—unashamed and unafraid—with nothing to hide or apologize for, looking our fellowman in the face, and let us go forward in the discharge of every duty, and our reward is sure.

THE LEAGUE AGAIN

This country is very much divided on the question of the U. S. becoming a full member of the League of Nations, and that division is not along party lines.

The league has strong advocates and bitter opponents in both of the great political parties.

Millions of Americans are opposed to this country mixing up in European affairs. They dread the possibility of being drawn in to another foreign war.

But there are other millions who contend that there can be no stability in world affairs until America takes her stand by the side of the other nations and assumes her share of the burdens and responsibilities of world reconstruction.

Even the wisest men of our nation are at variance on this question.

One thing, however, is morally certain. Unless the nations of Europe reach some fair and just basis of an early settlement of their rapidly growing differences thereby making possible a restoration of the industry and commerce of the world, it is but a question of time when the lid will be blown off again and hell will become an iceberg compared to the next furnace of war.

Our first duty is to our own country and to our own people, but undoubtedly we owe a duty to the world in the present crisis.

Just how far that duty should carry us is the question of the hour, and it is a difficult one to solve.

We can not afford to ruin our own country, and neither should we contribute to the collapse of civilization through the withholding of our co-operation and assistance.

Solomon should be alive today.

WE STRIVE TO PLEASE

Occasionally we have printed little essays on the country editor and have found some of them reprinted in exchanges. We happen to know a few things about the daily grind of a country editor and a fellow can write best about the things he knows. Editing a country paper is not always as easy as it looks, and the editor naturally makes many mistakes. The most frequent cause of regret does not come from the things he prints in his columns but from the things he leaves out. We know by experience that more readers are offended because something in which they are interested is left out of the paper than because something they do not endorse is printed. To miss your personal item is taken as a direct slap from the editor.

A worth while country editor or reporter never lets his personal animosities creep into the columns of his paper or play any favorites in giving his readers the news of the community. We try very hard in this office to avoid any appearance of playing up items regarding any set of people. But we just can't make some people believe this. We would not intentionally hurt the feelings of the most sensitive reader of the News. Sometimes the compositor skips an item or turns two pages of copy instead of one. The proof reader works under pressure just before going to press and fails to notice the oversight. The item is left out, and the person to whom it referred looks in vain for it when the paper comes out. The disappointed subscribers immediately charges the editor with purposely cutting out the paragraph, when the editor, in fact never knew it had been written. Another great cause of regret in the newspaper office is the last moment ruthless killing of good news item to make room for an advertisement that was received too late to give up time for extra pages to take care of it. The business man rushes in at the eleventh hour with his copy for a big advertisement, begs for space and threatens to boycott the paper if he does not get it. We yield to the jingle of the dollar and in the rush to make room for the store announcement the item about you or your family is omitted. But to the average person who knows nothing about the limit of a newspaper chase, the editor is charged with a personal spite against you and purposely leaving out the very item in which you were most interested. And so it goes. We seldom hear of the nice things we say about people, but let something be overlooked or lost in the shuffle, and we are roasted to a finish.—Chillicothe Valley News.

TRADE AT HOME

Communities grow in proportion to the support given them by their residents. You cannot boost your town by trading elsewhere or placing business in other localities that could be placed at home.

Folks who try to save pennies oftentimes lose dollars. The home merchant is generally honest and offers honest values for your money. He can't afford to be otherwise. He depends for his living from the community and must give the community what it wants at a fair price.

When you are tempted to trade outside and purchase "just as good merchandise at greatly reduced prices," you should think twice before buying. If you are "stung" by your home merchant he will no doubt be glad to make an adjustment. The out-of-town merchant is not personally interested in you. He is intent on selling you this once and probably does not expect to sell you again. He does not have to take great care in preserving your good will.

More than owing it to your community to trade at home, thus keeping your money at home, you should give the home merchant first opportunity to serve you, from a second economic standpoint.—Ex.

HARD BOILED PARENTS AND SISSY SONS

A youngster released from a reformatory in a northern state has written to his boy and girl chums in his old home town, urging them to stay off the streets at night and mind their fathers and mothers.

Chances are he got that very sound advice time and again before he was sentenced to the reformatory, and chances also are that he ignored it with contempt—parading his adventurous spirit with much gusto against the old fogey ideas of his' elders. He did not want to be a sissy, life wanted to be hard boiled. His parents in his mind were sissies. But now, he has seen the error of his ways. It was he who was foolish. His father and mother knew what they were talking about. They were hard boiled, but not quite hard boiled enough to keep him from being a sissy. He went through a pretty expensive school trying to learn all this, but at last he has learned the lesson well.

Despite his very wise admonition, other boys over the country will attend the same school that he has attended. It is a wasteful and disgracing process, yet one that seems tragically necessary for the foolish youngsters who think they are hard boiled, but who in reality are unsophisticated sissies.—Temple Telegram.

NO LONGER A JOKE

Everybody around Panhandle recalls how up to a few years ago the funny men of the city newspapers were all the time laughing about the country folks. "Farmer Cornstassel," "Uncle Reuben," and other alleged rustic characters were the subject for many a joke and cartoon. But you do not see so much of that cheap wit now. The country resident and the country itself have become too popular. Many of the brightest people are settling in rural surroundings. The man with bushy whiskers is no more common in the country than in the cities. Everywhere you find folks who do not use the toothbrush and razor as they ought to, but the cities have quite as many of them as the country bunch in these times, and if there is any difference, the rural crowd would look more alert mentally as well healthier physically. No, there isn't so much "kidding" of the rural residents in the city papers now. That's largely due to the fact that the city newspaper men have come to realize where their bread and meat comes from.—Panhandle Herald.

THOUGHTS WITHOUT EXPIRESION

This week the News editor and limited force have gone through with more than usually comes to a working force in such a limited time. The office foreman and machinist is in the U. S. Veterans hospital at Houston for an operation, and the office has been snowed under with work all the week and our main machine has given us considerable trouble. Thanks to Mr. H. M. Jones of the Democrat-Voice of Coleman for coming to our aid, for if some one had not come to the rescue, the News wouldn't have been published this week. This will explain the cause of many items of news being left out and other work being delayed. The paper will be short of our expectation this week, and for two or three weeks to come unless our machinery gives us less trouble.

Later. Just before going to press, our foreman, J. G. Williamson, returned from the hospital without any operation and again assumed his duties in the office.

CLEVELAND BASE BALL

The Cleveland boys wagoned to Liberty Tuesday afternoon to play baseball. The score was 10 and 12 in favor of Cleveland. Beginning the game as Clifford Lucas as pitcher, Wallace Geer went to the box and the Liberty boys wouldn't pick up their bat. They got to chewing the rag, so they put in Laru Brooks as pitcher; they run one score off of him. The Liberty boys tried to cheat us out of a home run that was knocked by Homer Mills. Some of the Liberty girls tried to flirt with the Cleveland boys, but they wouldn't stand for it. We came back by the store for some sweets. We got in late because we couldn't get Miss Ruby Rountree and John Starnes separated.—Contributed.

The friends of Miss Blanche Collier entertained her Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. R. Gipson with a social, and also gave her a shower Tuesday afternoon in the home of Dr. and Mrs. R. R. Lovelady. The shower was tendered to Miss Blanche by her friends just previous to her marriage which will take place one day this week. Mr. Cecil Grantham is the lucky young man who has won her heart and affections.

Later. We have been informed that the marriage took place Wednesday night, but we have not been fully informed.

Mrs. Carrie Naylor of Waco underwent a serious operation at the local hospital Saturday.

HIGH PRICE OF CANE SUGAR

Within a short time the retail price of granulated cane sugar has risen from a level of about six cents a pound to nine cents and eleven cents, or 50 per cent. Except for the brazen announcement that "because of a threatened shortage, prices will be" and so on, no explanation is offered, and the commissions and fact-finding committees which are paid to keep us posted will probably not have a word to say.

Sugar is one of the most staple of foodstuffs. With an unlimited field of production, there is no danger of any shortage from natural causes. The charge has been made with truth that even in the midst of the World War, there was not a moment when the Sugar Trust could not have supplied the world needs at normal prices and made a handsome profit.

The hypocrisy of the Sugar Trust is exposed by the Oakland (Calif.) Observer, which quotes the announcement of the monopolists as stating that certain branches including those on the Pacific, would not rise prices at present, but had no sugar for sale. It is declared that the warehouses in California are filled to capacity.

A tax levy approaching a fraction of the new sugar rate would cause a revolt powerful enough to retire an administration. Many families will pay a bigger tax on their sugar than the collector will ask on their homes.—Dearborn Independent.

THE COME-BACK YEAR

This year, 1923, is the "come-back year," and those who will substitute industry for indifference, service for selfishness, intelligent thrift for individual extravagance, will win.

The year 1923 is well under way. Already men of vision and purpose have formulated big plans. Watch the stupendous plans of men like Mr. Ford. Keep your eye on the successful men, and you will find they are all figuring on big business. Those men have vision and purpose. In the past, they won on vision and purpose, and they will win again on account of their courage and common sense.

We are on the threshold of sound business expansion. There will be exceptions, of course, and if you fail, you will be one of the exceptions. But before you reap the harvest of this coming season of success, you must buckle down to do your level best each day.

Many will build substantial successes in the year 1923, and the doubters will continue to sleep, all of which sums up like this: Success goes to the men of vision and purpose, and failure is found where men think failure, talk failures and act like failures. Anybody can find weak spots in any year in the history of our nation, and still we have continued every year to go ahead. In the year 1923 we are bound to go ahead while some of the pessimists will go behind. Vision and purpose, with hard work and sticking everlastingly at it will turn the trick.

B. Y. P. U.

We wish to thank every B. Y. P. U. member who took part on the program rendered at Lost Creek and am sure every member of the Union is proud of the work our B. Y. P. U. is doing, and our intentions are to accomplish even more in the future than we have in the past.

One half of the committee, appointed to select books for our B. Y. P. U. library, and the social committee met Monday afternoon and made a selection of books also laid the foundation for our social. We will be building on it all the week if any of you are carpenters apply at once.

We have been missing your presence. We want you and need you, and always have a place for you. The B. Y. P. U. extends a hearty welcome and an invitation always to join us. You girls and boys who have your name enrolled in the young folks work just come over and then you can't be tied away. We have set our meeting time at 6:30 to give everyone ample time to meet the evening train then come to Union.

You pledge your allegiance to your country's flag! Why not to the B. Y. P. U.? Let's make our union a "Pledge Member" union! Hear it discussed Sunday evening in B. Y. P. U. at 6:30.—Reporter.

At the Chamber of Commerce breakfast Wednesday morning, a large crowd assembled in the dining room of the Lillard Hotel and enjoyed another fine breakfast. After breakfast the body of men assembled in the lobby of the hotel for their business session, Dr. T. Richard Sealy was called upon to preside over the meeting, which he did very proficiently. The committee reports were brief, there being present a representative delegation from the Farm Labor Union who wished to explain a few points the organization stands for, in order that they might be better understood by the business men of Santa Anna.

M. A. Prichard and Amos Taylor were the spokesmen, and both made brief talks, in which they explained the purpose of the Farm Labor Union organization. The talks were well received and on behalf of the business men of Santa Anna, we wish to extend to the organization an invitation to attend any meeting held in this town by the Chamber of Commerce, and state to them that the business men of this town will always be found ready and willing to cooperate with them in any legitimate movement put forth for the betterment of this community and humanity at large. Our organization is organized for the development and betterment of the town and community and what benefits one will directly benefit the other. The proposition of selecting a young lady to represent Santa Anna at the West Texas pageant at San Angelo on May 21 during the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce was discussed and considerable interest is promised. Voting boxes have been placed at the Corner Drug Store and Hunter Drug Store, and tickets are placed with several other stores for sale. 10 cents buys 100 votes and the following young ladies have been nominated: Misses Sybil Simpson, Bell Bowers Marguerite Barnes and Lula Volentine. The contest will continue through this week, closing at 10 o'clock Saturday night. Help out the Chamber of Commerce by buying some tickets and casting a number of votes for some one of these girls. Resolutions were read and adopted in behalf of L. V. Stockard, which will be found elsewhere in this issue of the News. The Clean-Up campaign was discussed and the body was informed that the week beginning Monday, April 30th, had been designated for clean up week in this city, and a proclamation by the Mayor and City Health Officer will be issued. We hope to have this proclamation in time to publish it in this issue of the paper, but in case we do not get it in time for this week's paper, it will appear in our issue for next week, and we hope to have the undivided support and cooperation of the entire citizenship in this movement. The hour for the next breakfast is moved up to six o'clock and the time is Wednesday morning of each week. These meetings are of much interest and should grow in interest and purpose each week. Let's have a good turn out next Wednesday morning.

LIBERTY BALL GAME

April 13, 1923, the farmers of Liberty came to the school house for the purpose of playing baseball. The game started at 3:30 with the school boys in the field, with Williams in the box. Dan behind the bat, O. A. Wilson in center field receiving first ball. No errors being made through the entire game on the boys side. Cannon ball Kile pitched a good ball but came in contact with the bat very often. Several visitors were out to see the game, among them being James Williams. Miss Estus Polk did not stay for the game. Jesse Williams seldom ever caught a ball behind the bat. The game was very close until the twenty-fifth inning when the boys bunted about eight home runs, making the final score 20 and 12 in favor of the school boys. The farmers seemed a little blue because the game did not turn out as they had expected it. Williams got 4 scores. Day 3, Duggins 2, Russell 2, Conklin 1, Carter 3, Slim 1, O. A. 1, Polk 3. The faculty was very interested in the game.—Contributed.

WATCH THE CLOUDS

April, the month of clouds and sunshine, for "April showers bring May flowers."

Now watch the sky, for one of these days before long great cumulus clouds will float across the blue. There is nothing so serene and peaceful as one of those towering white clouds, slowly floating across the blue sky.

They could be made very useful in extricating the heart from its disappointments and tribulations, and all one needs to bring about so fine a result is to stand and just watch them. It will stop the ruffles of the soul quicker than anything else. One almost reads on its white cliff a message from the upper world. "Be calm."

If your nerves are out of order or your patience is exhausted, try the spring cloud cure. Select one of those big mountain clouds floating out to the horizon, and watch it as it plays with the blue sky, changing its form so slowly that you can see it. There is no picture in all the world so beautiful as this; and yet how very few see it! You will pay to see a moving picture, yet here is God's picture show worth many dollars a ticket, and it doesn't cost a cent.

Don't miss the glory of the April clouds. They will lift you beyond the petty annoyances of life if you will only let them.

MERRY WIVES

The Merry Wives Embroidery Club met Thursday, April fifth, at the home of Mrs. R. R. Lovelady, with eight members present. It being the first Thursday in the month it was time for election of officers. As is usual, there was so much conversation going on the president could not get order. But, after many interruptions of conversation and diligent work on the part of the chairman, the following officers were elected: Mrs. J. O. Martin, President;

Mrs. L. O. Garrett, Vice-president; Mrs. Leman Brown, Secretary-Treasurer and Mrs. R. R. Lovelady, Press reporter, after which conversation was continued even through the refreshment course.

The following members were present: Mesdames Dennis Kelley, R. C. Gay, Henry, P. P. Bond, F. C. Woodward, Garrett, Archie Hunter.

AMERICAN LEGION HONORED

The dinner given by the American Legion Auxiliary Saturday evening at the Woodmen hall was one of those happy occasions where good fellowship reigns, and due recognition was given to the fact that the affair was given in honor of Jack Laughlin Post No. 182.

Lilacs and fern in pretty blue and gold wicker baskets provided the attractive table decorations and minute bouquets of violets were the plate favors.

Dr. T. Richard Sealy acted as Master of Ceremony, and in his well known and happy way spoke briefly in praise of American Legion and Auxiliary. Mrs. Mike Meyers and G. A. Ragdale with Miss Kate Phillips as accompanist rendered several violin selections, following this two reading which furnished much amusement were given by Miss Bowen. Dr. Isbell, a special guest of honor closed the talks with a humorous address along the theme "Good Luck," after which memories of 1917-18 were recalled when the "Soldier Boys" gathered around the piano and sang the old war songs such as "Pack Up Your Troubles in Your
