WHY NOT GO TO CHURCH?
People why will ye stand
On the street corners and gossip
On Sunday when you ought to be at church
Trying to learn the way of Salvation?
Why not go to church and do your duty
To the God of the Universe?
You should go to learn the way of Salvation
And then go to glorify God.
It will do you no harm to go to church
It will do you a lot of good.
Why will ye treat the only Begotten Son of God as you do?
—Ora Lee Neill.

BUSY IDLERS CLUB
A leisurely and industrious group of young ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. H. T. Canon last Friday afternoon to be busy during their idle hours, and enjoy social news over their needles and fancy-work, a purpose that was well carried out, and resulted in an enjoyable time for all who were present. None may know, except those present, of the many topics that were discussed by that circle of delighted damsels, and the many stitches that were sewed in with a pleasing thought or a smile, for humor abounded throughout the afternoon.

All well directed plans must be organized, so this hitherto unknown gathering assumed the appropriate name of the "Busy Idlers Club" and elected Miss Georgia Gilmore for its president, and selected an able secretary in the person of Miss Ruth Crosby. After such strenuous physical and mental labor, Mrs. Canon's strawberry ice cream and angel-food cake was appreciated and enjoyed immensely, and the idlers busily departed, pronouncing the hostess an excellent one, and the entertainment sufficient to last them until next Friday, when they meet with Miss Ruby Brannan.—Contributed.

TRINITY MALE QUARTETTE
RENDERS PLEASANT AND SUCCESSFUL PROGRAM
On Thursday evening, June 15, a large audience gathered at the Best Theatre to hear the well advertised concert, given by the Trinity Male Quartette, and from the time the four young men came out on the stage, to the closing number, the audience was held spell-bound by the quality of the music they heard. Appreciated applause followed every number, and credit is due the audience for its support of the four strangers and their efforts to render a program that would be accepted with enthusiasm.

When the quartette sang in unison, the blended harmony, perfect control and time, as well as the well chosen selections, called forth favorable criticisms on all sides, and the duet numbers, sung by the baritone, Mr. Amos Groce, and Mr. Paul Jones, first tenor, were equally appreciated, especially the encore, "Can't Yo Hear Me Callin' Caroline." The pianist, Mr. Evans, received unqualified applause for his popular selection, "Ain't Nature 'Scarin'" and his classical number, "Soaring" by Shumann was an evidence of his genius and ability along that line. Mr. Herring, the bass, starred in his authority in the impersonation of characters of the negro "Hen-roost Club," as well as in his singing, which was bass of a genuine, well modulated tone.

In short, this quartette was made up of four talented, refined gentlemen, of pleasing personalities, as well as four gifted singers with the enthusiasm and spirit to successfully put over a program that would be appreciated anywhere and by every one who heard it. Santa Anna wishes the success, and it is hoped they will appear in our city again.—Contributed.

COUNTY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE
MITTEE MET MONDAY
The county executive committee met in Coleman Monday and arranged the ticket for the Democratic primaries in July, assessed the candidates, filled the vacancies and transacted considerable business that was brought before them for attention.

The pledge required by the state executive committee who met in Austin last week will be eliminated from the ticket in Coleman county and the pledge required by the Terrill Election law will be used in its stead.

The state executive committee would have every body from voting who did not vote the democratic ticket two years ago, when, it seems, all that is necessary is a pledge to support the nominees who are nominated at the primaries this year.

It was decided to hold the second primary in this county, as a majority of those interested were in favor of holding a second primary.

Leman Brown was appointed Election Judge of Santa Anna North Ward and W. E. Baxter was appointed for the South Ward.

JOHN TARLETON BAND
RENDERS GOOD CONCERT
Last Saturday afternoon as was announced in our issue of last week, the 25 piece band of the John Tarleton Agricultural and Mechanical college of Stephenville, spent several hours on the streets and rendered a splendid program while here.

Dr. S. B. Culppepper, pastor of the First Baptist church at Stephenville, was a member of the party and acting in the capacity as spokesman, made a splendid talk to the crowd while they were assembled, naming the object of their trip and some of the things they expected to reap from their labors.

Dr. Culppepper spoke in the highest terms of the Junior college, its faculty, the citizenship of Stephenville and their efforts to make John Tarleton one of the leading colleges in the state, and especially mentioned the moral conditions that back up the faculty in their efforts to make this college a real place of training for the young men and women of Texas.

Personally, the editor lived in Stephenville several months prior to our moving to Santa Anna, and we are frank to admit that Stephenville is second to none when it comes to schools. Primary, High school and College, and we do not hesitate in the least to recommend John Tarleton College to any young man or woman who believe in a Junior College, seeking training in a Junior College, for we believe in the remainder of the teaching faculty are of the highest type of citizenship and are thoroughly prepared to teach, train and discipline young people in the proper way and manner.

UNITED STATES LEADS
WORLD IN COMMUNICATION
The number of telephones in the United States is nearly two-thirds of the total number in the world, although the United States has only one-sixteenth of the total population of the world.

Telephone development comparisons between countries are interesting and significant and show that the United States is far and away ahead of all other countries, including the great countries of Europe, which most nearly approach the United States in other respects. For example, as of January 1, 1921, the latest date for which comparable figures are available, the number of telephones for every one hundred people was 12.5 in the United States, 3.0 in Germany, 2.1 in Great Britain, and 1.2 in France.

An important factor in the consideration of telephone development is the distribution of the development. It is generally true in foreign countries that the rural sections have been almost entirely neglected, and that what telephones exist are to be found almost exclusively in the cities. Exact data are not available, largely because of lack of interest in the subject on the part of government officials abroad, but it is a safe statement that a telephone on a farm in many parts of Europe is a curiosity. Needless to say, this is far from being the case in the United States, where forty per cent of the farms are provided with telephones, according to statistics recently published by the Bureau of the Census.

TOWN AND COUNTRY CO-OPERATION
It seems to us that a movement should be encouraged by the business men of Santa Anna this summer to bring about a better spirit of co-operation of town and country people. The writer has had opportunities to be out in some of the communities tributary to this town during the year, and we find a dire need for united movement on the part of Santa Anna to bring about a better feeling of co-operation among our rural communities and the town.

This town is not enjoying the business she once did and she never will any more until she wakes up and gets out of the ruts and makes a little noise to the tune of getting people interested in coming here to market their products and buy their supplies. We admit that we have a pretty fair business, but with the same working force we can almost double our output of business if we will just get up and go after the business in and more united and business like way.

One merchant in this town, not long since, in talking with the editor said that he would make a more determined effort for business, and would offer more inducements to bring people here to do their trading if the other merchants of the town would get busy and do some advertising, but as it is now, just a few of the merchants doing any advertising and most of them just drop in a little ad once a month, when if they would all use a reasonable amount of space and use it regularly, incorporate a few specials in their ads occasionally, lots of the trade that is leaving our town could be kept at home, and we agree with him.

MARK TWAIN ON ADVERTISING
Mark Twain once edited a paper in Missouri. One of his subscribers wrote him he had found a spider in his home paper and wanted to know whether it meant good luck or bad. This is what Mark answered: "Old Subscriber: Finding a spider in your paper was neither good nor bad luck for you. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant is not advertising, so that he can go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a line of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

Boss Estus of Rockwood was among the business callers at this office Wednesday.

TAYLOR REUNION HELD
RECENTLY AT BROWNWOOD
ATTRACTS WIDE INTEREST
The following notice concerning the Taylor re-union recently held at Brownwood was published in the New Orleans Times-Picayune, together with pictures of the eight gentlemen mentioned in the article, and will be of interest to Brownwood people:

"Years ago, eight boys, averaging from one year to fifteen, gathered about their mother, Mrs. J. M. Taylor of San Saba, Texas, and watched her holding a bunch of straws. 'You strong, healthy boys have just got to amount to something,' she said to them. 'No use putting it off. We'll decide now. I want you to become preachers and doctors. See, here are some short and long straws. Draw a long straw and you will be a preacher, pick a short one and you'll be a doctor.' They all drew in turn, four getting preachers' and the other four getting doctors' straws. Today the four who selected the long straws are ministers and the short straw boys are all physicians—all having made a success. A few days ago Mrs. Taylor held a reunion at Brownwood, where she is now living, and the eight sons came to celebrate the famous straw drawing. Shown here, left to right top, Rev. W. W. Taylor, Brownwood; Rev. Gordon S. Taylor, Dallas; Rev. W. T. Taylor, Eastland; Rev. Sam D. Taylor, Chickasha, Oklahoma; and Dr. L. F. Taylor, Haskell; bottom: Dr. H. H. Taylor, San Saba; Dr. A. L. Taylor, Brownwood; Dr. Lark Taylor, Brownwood."—Banner Bulletin.

TIN CAN TOURISTS
The automobile, aided by the public parks offered for camping places, is converting a considerable number of Americans to the gypsy style of living. The report comes from many sections of public parks which furnish free water supplies, also stoves on which to cook, for the use of automobile tourists.

The tourist has every facility for living. It is said that near some of the larger towns on the more popular lines of travel the tourists have become so numerous that they have organized municipal governments, mayors and boards of aldermen, although when it begins to get warm in the north the tourists start south, and when warm weather comes in the south the tourists start north. Travel by auto is inexpensive and can be made very pleasant, and more people are taking to the road every season.

KEEPING ROADS IN REPAIR
(Farm and Ranch)
Experience in road construction has cost the tax-payers hundreds of millions of dollars and as many more will be spent before some have to do with road building will learn just what type of highway to construct and how to take care of it after it is finished.

Most types of road will remain serviceable a long time if properly maintained, but the general impression of the County Commissioners and voters seems to be that a road once constructed at a cost of many thousands of dollars per mile, should last forever without further attention.

When a railroad company constructs a line, not costing more dollars per mile than some of our good roads, and in some instances, not so much, they divided it up into sections and put a crew of men on each section to keep it in repair. If they did not do this, their original investment would soon be lost. If counties and road districts would patrol their new highways and keep them in thorough repair it is possible that they would still be serviceable even after ten years had matured and had been canceled. Too often are our expensive roads worn out long before they have been paid for. Such has been the experience of every county and good roads district in the Southwest.

Serviceable roads in all seasons of the year are one of the necessities of the twentieth century, but it is a waste of money and uncalled for extravagance to spend from $10,000 to $40,000 per mile in their construction only to let them go to pieces for want of attention. No county or road district should vote bonds unless a sinking fund is provided for the cancellation of the bonds at maturity. It is of even more importance that a fund for maintenance be provided in order that tax-payers may get value received for the large expense necessary for the original construction.

SPENDTHRIFTS
Mr. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, writes to Senator McCumber that the national government may show a deficit of $484,000,000 in the 1923 fiscal year. So Congress intends to spend that much more than will be collected in taxes.

If that sort of prediction were made for any private corporation—one of Mr. Mellon's, for instance—the axe would fall heavily and the responsible parties would be told to hunt new jobs.

Uncle Sam could live within his income, the same as the taxpayers who support him. But spendthrifts cannot be stricken from the payroll until election time.

Congressmen will manage to find a way to avoid deficit if, when they put Uncle Sam in the hole, they have to make it up out of their own pockets, as has happened lately in a good many private corporations.

A New Hampshire hypnotist put a man to sleep and then couldn't wake him up. But he had nothing on the proud father who waked up his baby in order to show him off and then couldn't put him back to sleep.

A LETTER CLAIMED WAS WRITTEN BY CHRIST
The following letter has been going the rounds of the press for a period of time much longer than the writer has authority to speak. On one occasion some twelve years back, the writer published the same article in the local newspaper, and it showed to be a clipping from an eastern paper published in the state of Georgia during the nineties, and several times during our life we have noticed the article in print, and not that we claim the letter to be a true one, but just for its news-sake and because we see nothing wrong in it, we reproduce it for the benefit of our readers who possibly have never read the article before.

"Whosoever works on the Sabbath day shall be cursed. I command you to go to church, and keep Holy the Lord's Day. Without any manner of work you shall not idle or misspend your time in bedecking yourself in superfluities of costly apparel and dressing; for I have ordered it a day of rest. I will have that day kept Holy, that your sins may be forgiven you.

"You will not break my commandments but observe and keep them; they being written by my hand and spoken from my mouth. You shall not only go to church yourselves but also your man servant and maid servant. Observe my words and learn my commandments. You shall finish your work every Saturday at six o'clock in the afternoon at which hour the preparation for the sabbath begins. I advise you to fast five days in the year beginning on good Friday and continuing the five days, following in remembrance of the five bloody wounds I received for you and mankind.

"You shall love one another and cause them that are not baptised to come to church and receive the Holy sacrament, that is to say baptism and then the Lord's supper and be made a member thereof, and in so doing I will give you long life and many blessings; your land shall be replenished and bring forth abundance and I will comfort you in the greatest temptation and surely he that doeth the contrary shall be cursed. I will also send hardness of the heart on them and especially on hardened and unpenitent unbelievers, he that has given to the poor shall find it profitable. Remember to keep the seventh day for the Sabbath day for the seventh day I have taken as a resting day to myself; and he that has a copy of this letter written by my own hand and spoken by my own mouth and keepeth it without publishing it to others shall prosper; but he that publisheth it to others shall be cursed by me and if their sins be as many as stars by night and he shall be punished, and he shall be pardoned and they that believe not this writing and my commandments will have my plagues upon you and you will be consumed with your children, goods and cattle and all other worldly enjoyments that I have given you. Do but once think of what I have suffered for you; if you do, it will be well for you, in this world and in the world to come.

"Whosoever shall have a copy of this letter and keep it in their house nothing shall hurt them; neither pestilence, thunder nor lightning, and if any woman be in birth and put her trust in me she shall be delivered of her child.

"You shall hear no more news of me, except through the Holy scriptures, until the day of judgment. All goodness and prosperity shall be in the house where a copy of this letter shall be found. Finished."

THE JOY OF KNOWING
We heard recently of an old lady who spends many evenings with a newspaper, an encyclopedia and an atlas. On inquiry the old lady said she was educating herself in this manner and that she had no other way of finding out what she did not know. When she reads an item in a newspaper concerning a section of the world of which she is ignorant, she consults her atlas and then her encyclopedia.

The old lady has lived long enough to know that the only way to knowledge involves some inconvenience, some effort, and no matter if she is an old lady, she wants to learn something.

A great many persons do not want to be troubled about such matters. In reading a book or newspaper they follow the easy way of passing over names, words and references about which they know nothing. It requires an effort to get up and pull down the dictionary, a map or some reference book, and the matter is allowed to pass.

A vast fund of information, useful knowledge, is built up through steady effort of years. The effort may become a habit, a habit as useful as the regular savings of money. Many men have advanced steadily through the practice of such habits, while others have lost just as steadily through the feeling, "Oh, it doesn't amount to much, after all."

Knowledge often has earning power, but the learned person is recognized as such. Knowing a lot gets one little except the sheer joy that comes from the knowledge that one knows a way to avoid deficit if, when they put Uncle Sam in the hole, they have to make it up out of their own pockets, as has happened lately in a good many private corporations.

"Truth is stranger than fiction," they say, but telling it often gets a fellow into trouble where he has to resort to fiction to squeeze out.

TO OUST SPONSOR
OF EVOLUTION IN A
BAPTIST COLLEGE
Nashville, Tenn., June 14.—unless Professor C. E. Davis, member of the faculty of Union University, a Baptist institute at Jackson, Tenn., is eliminated from its teaching staff or declares publicly his repudiation of the theory of evolution all financial or moral support of the Nashville Baptist pastors' conference will be withdrawn from the institution, according to the resolutions adopted today by the conference.

The action of the board of trustees in the re-election of Professor Davis after he had been tried upon charges of teaching evolution was condemned by the conference. Texas Baptist might take warning.

BROWN COUNTY TO HOLD
FAIR SEPTEMBER 21-23
At a meeting of the livestock and agricultural interest held in Brownwood Wednesday night of last week, it was decided to hold a county fair in Brownwood this fall, the dates being set for September 21, 22 and 23. We wish that every county in Texas would hold annual fairs. They cost money, time and effort, but they are valuable and worth while.

FAITH
Clarence H. De Mar, who recently won the American Marathon race at the age of 34, says his victory was due to prayer.

Before the race he knelt and prayed for a return of the strength and endurance that won him his first Marathon race in 1911.

In his 1922 long distance race De Mar lost four pounds. The home stretch was agony. But he says he felt himself pushed along by the power of his answered prayer.

Prayer gave De Mar faith. With faith you can overcome any obstacle. Without it, you are doomed to failure.

This is true, whether the faith is in yourself or outside influence.

DRESSING A GIRL
A fashion magazine declared the other day that it costs $250 a year to dress a girl properly.

Whereupon the Arkansas Gazette exclaimed, "For goodness sake, give one of them $250! It would be worth it to see one of them dressed properly."

NEGROES CELEBRATE
FREEDOM OF ANNIVERSARY
Monday, June 19th, the colored race throughout this country met in different communities and celebrated the 57th anniversary of their freedom from slavery.

On June 19, 1865, and following the war between the states; often referred to as the Civil War, it became the duty of all slave-holders to set their slaves at liberty, and the colored race have been free ever since, notwithstanding the fact a great many people doubt that the negro was really benefited when they were set free, to which the News will refrain from argument.

FREAK OF NATURE
F. E. Battles of Nivot brought to the News office this week one of the most interesting freaks of nature that has been seen in Santa Anna in some time. It consisted of a normal stalk of Kaffir corn with a well developed Irish potato attached to one of its roots. The potato is about the size of a hen egg and does not appear to have been attached to a potato vine recently.

The freak was found by Mrs. Battles while digging potatoes in her garden. It is supposed by those who have examined it that the root grew to the potato after a plow or hoe had cut the potato from the vine, before the incision of the potato had healed, and the potato drew its sustenance from the root system of the Kaffir stalk.

THE NEW ART
While some of us are brooding over our financial problems, light-hearted independent artists are exhibiting their paintings in New York. They call themselves psycho-plastics and explain:

"The art of the invisibilists is an ultra-dimensional, temporal-spatial art appealing not to separate sense organs but to the residue of undifferentiated sensitivity, that is to say, their art is synaesthetic."

Now, what do you think of that? Some of us think we have a hard time raising money for the grocer and the landlord, but what if we had to add an understanding and application of psycho-plastic art to our burden?

HOME AND HARD TIMES
How many miles did you travel last year on railroads? The average was 355 miles for each American. That was 90 miles less than the year before.

You explain it by high passenger rates? There were other causes. The causes really are the manifestations of the tendency of people to cling closer to home during hard times. When money is flush, everybody wants to travel.

Hard times are bringing families and homes together again.

W. A. Standly, one of Santa Anna's popular blacksmiths, received a lot of plows from Coleman by Parcel Post last week to be sharpened and returned. The man sending them lived on a farm north of the mountain at one time, and is particular about his blacksmith work, thus, he is willing to pay the extra trimming in order to get his work done to his satisfaction.

Girls and Boys Are You Progressing In the World or Moving Backward? Are you chained to a small job and a small salary? Are you in a rut where you are just holding your own, where you are not improving yourself and have no future? Don't think you are standing still. You can't; you either move forward or backward. If you are not progressing you are losing ground. You have ambition, you want a good position and prospects for success in the future. Don't allow yourself to stay on a small job and a small income, without making any progress in life. Get your feet on the ladder of success. How are you going to do it?

There are several ways from here to there. You can travel the twenty-five thousand miles around the earth and arrive in the next street, or you can take a straight line across the block and reach your destination in two minutes. The world is full of the people trying to cross the block by going around the world. The ones who know how to select a direct route.

THE DIRECT ROUTE TO A GOOD BUSINESS POSITION IS THRU THE TYLER COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.

If you don't believe this, go out some day and make a dozen applications for positions. Approach, the employer and say, "I would like to have some kind of a position," and when you are asked what you can do, tell him you haven't any particular training, but that you can do most anything. Nine-nine times out of a hundred he will tell you he wants a bookkeeper, stenographer, typist, somebody who can do someone thing in a superior way.

There is a short cut to business success and there is a long route, and when you are young you have the opportunity to select the one or other. Doubtless you can get some kind of a job in a business and work up. But don't underestimate the difficulty of the task of working up. Successful business men are too busy to teach school in their office. Select the shorter, direct route, through the T. C. C., and you will reach your destination early enough to enjoy the fruits of the journey.

You do not have to be a sage to understand that these things are true, but you will be a wise young man or woman if you realize their significance, realize that they apply to you and not to some one else, and take advantage of the opportunities that the right sort of action will open up. Take a course with us and we will place you in a good paying position as soon as you finish. Fill in coupon below and mail to us for free catalogue, descriptive of our courses of Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Administration and Finance, Telegraphy, Cotton Classing, etc., and of the largest commercial training institution in America.

A RICH EDITORIAL
(From The Baird Star)

Oh, yes! We know that the Egyptian and Babylonian civilizations perished; then followed the Grecian civilizations, great in the arts, sciences and learning; a civilization that is yet the wonder and admiration of the world today, and is something the world has never been able to equal. Then came the Roman government of coarser grain but sturdy and all-powerful, and her undaunted, trained armies conquered the known world. Rome lived longer than any of its predecessors. It was builded so strong that when it began to decline it required three hundred years to die.

What caused the downfall of all these ancient governments? Historians know little of ancient Egypt, Babylon, Nineveh, but know much about Greece and Rome. The increase of wealth in the hands of the few and the impoverishment of the great masses of the people, together with the loss of faith in the mythical Roman gods, caused the downfall of Rome, and perhaps caused the ruin of all the others.

Is our country going the same way? Many profess to see signs leading in that direction: England, whence came most of our ancestors, today shows alarming signs of decay. The far flung battle line of the once invincible British Empire show more signs of disintegration than ever in life. Internal strife in Ireland, Egypt, India and to some extent in all British colonies, bode ill for England and every other civilized nation. Find the remedy.

Some of the ablest writers in this country and Europe—not all of them church members—express the belief that the only salvation possible for the world in its present disturbed condition is the religion of Jesus Christ, in belief, preaching and practice.

You may say what you please, but man is a born worshipper of something. If it is not any of the religions or cults of the day, he will worship himself. So said a Texas editor in the long ago. A Christian that loses faith in his religion is in a bad way. History shows that a nation that loses faith in its religion is headed for destruction.

If we could only get an answer from Caesar, Antony, Cicero or Sulla, of the old Romans, or from Demosthenes, Miltiades, Leonidas or Alexander the Great, or from the Greek, or from the Pharaohs of more ancient Egypt, or from the Kings of Ancient Babylon, or Cyrus, the Persian, who conquered Babylon, we might get some light on what caused the downfall of all these great nations; but we believe the loss of faith in their religion had as much to do with their destruction as anything else.

The Christian religion demands self-denial and simple living; treat your neighbor as you would wish him to treat you; help your brother man; think of and help others as well as yourself. If we abandon these commandments our nation will fall just as the ancient nations fell, and our religion won't save either us or our nation. Think on these things.

INCREASING THE OFFICERS WHILE PROMISING REDUCTION

Discussing the bill which provides for increasing the number of internal revenue districts from 64 to 74, involving an additional expenditure annually of $500,000, Representative Eugene Black (Dem., Texas), pointedly called attention to the fact that this increase is not only in violation of Republican promises of economy, but is made at a time when the transactions in the Internal Revenue Department have fallen off 20 per cent. He said:

We reached the peak of taxation in 1921. In that year the Internal Revenue Department handled 20,000,000 transactions; that is the filing of a return, either income tax or excess profits tax or a sales tax return, or a payment or a quarterly payment of income tax, excess profits and other taxes. It is estimated this year there will be something more than 16,000,000 transactions, a decrease of 20 per cent in the routine business of the office from 1921, and yet after we have passed the peak of taxation, after the department has carried the heaviest load of detailed transactions, it is proposed to increase the number of internal revenue officers by 10. Gentlemen, you forget that the Republican Party in 1920 promised the people economy in your platform, and not only that, but some of your most vigorous and extravagant orators said, 'Put us in power and we will abolish half of the Federal offices.' Now that you have been intrusted with the power, what are you doing?

"Why, you promised the people bread, and now you are giving them a stone by such bills as this and the one you recently passed to increase the number of federal judges. The people are already concluding that there is too much rattling of the dishes among you Republicans for the fewness of the victuals, and they are going to express their disapproval in no uncertain terms next November."

WITH THE OIL MEN
(Tulsa, Okla.) World.

G. F. Barlett, who left Tulsa in 1912 and has been in the various fields of Texas ever since and has had as much and as varied experience as any of them in the city on business and will return to Coleman county, Texas, within a few days. Mr. Barlett came to Oklahoma in 1904 and shortly thereafter became associated with the Moiser Oil & Gas Co., of Kane, Pa., the highest point where oil was produced in Pennsylvania, and is noted for its long winters and short summers. As one man put it, who came from there, "We don't use snow until it is two years old." There are many Tulsa "people" who came from Kane, among them the Markhams. "In my opinion," says Mr. Barlett, "the trend of the Pioneer field is going south and a little west and there is likely to be quite an extension in that direction. It will be along the Brown and Coleman county lines. In fact I look for a connection between the present production of Pioneer and the Santa Anna field thirty miles southwest, which is controlled almost exclusively by the Gladys Belle Oil Company of Tulsa. They have 55,000 barrels in storage with a very dull market at the present time. The oil is used for fuel and cotton gins and electric light plants, etc."

Mr. Barlett is receiving the glad hand from his many Tulsa friends who are all glad to see him, and hope he will make this his headquarters.

In Sing Sing the other day they awakened a man at 5 o'clock in the morning in order to electrocute him. Shocking, don't you think?

SATURDAY we will sell one of the best grades of flour at $2.15 per sack, at the East End Grocery. Every sack guaranteed.

Monday's baseball game between Santa Anna and Coleman resulted in a score of 6-3 in favor of Santa Anna, and the game went off a little more smoothly than did the last game played between the Santa Anna and Coleman teams, played at Coleman last week. It was said by those who attended the game at Coleman played Thursday of last week that Santa Anna got everything but a square deal.

The local team went to Brady Wednesday and played a winner to the tune of 7-4. Brady will play the locals on the home diamond Thursday and Friday.

SATURDAY we will sell one of the best grades of flour at $2.15 per sack, at the East End Grocery. Every sack guaranteed.

Success comes to him who earns it, grabs it, and holds onto it.

AMERICANISM

The Veterans of Foreign Wars have demanded, in formal resolutions, that aliens now living in this country learn to speak English and become citizens, and that those who, for any reason, cannot acquire citizenship, be deported at once.

These are reasonable demands. There is no place in this country for the resident who cannot speak the language of the country after a reasonable length of time nor for the man who owes his allegiance to any foreign government.

The world is full of good people, but many are unable to tell us from the common herd.

Miker Meyer returned Thursday from Dallas where went to take his little daughter for a visit with her grand-mother.

SATURDAY we will sell one of the best grades of flour at $2.15 per sack, at the East End Grocery. Every sack guaranteed.

In a city election at Winters, Saturday, June 10, to determine whether or not the city should be authorized to issue bonds in the sum of $90,000 for the extension and improving of their water works system, the election carried to the tune of 156 for the bonds and 26 against them. This sounds like Winters means to reach out and grow, as no town will ever spread very far without an adequate water supply.

Do you invest your savings in bonds? If so, buy only gilt edged ones from substantial houses and then hold onto them. Don't become uneasy and unload the moment they go down a few points on the market. A bond that is worth having will pay par at maturity, and in the meantime it pays the interest provided for on its face. Speculators force them down and then buy them up in large quantities. They get the gravy while you get the experience.

The sheriff and city police at Brownwood made a run on the bootleggers at Brownwood one night last week and captured thirteen bootleggers, ten white men and three negroes. The sheriff's force had been planning to make a raid for some time, working in co-operation with the city police force, and the unlucky night for the violators of the prohibition law was guessed right. Several of the parties made bond in the sum of $1500, and were released, while the others were still in the county jail at last report.

Up to this time we have heard nothing of a summer picnic for Santa Anna, and it appears to us that this is the year for picnics, it being campaign year. Many candidates would like to meet the voters personally and put their claims before them, and candidates for state and district honors would like to come here and make public their announcements. July 4th is preferred to any other day for a summer picnic, but due to their being several picnics and celebrations in the territory already set for that middle of the month and just make it real old-fashioned picnic with plenty of red-lemnade, sweeten-wind, etc., where all the neighbors can come together and talk over the political situation, crop conditions, congratulate the June Brides, eat some of each others pies and have a darn good time in general.

Thank the stars a newspaper man is still welcome into a few places of business in this town yet, and the local newspaper is still regarded as a necessity to the health and growth of some of our mercantile establishments, notwithstanding the fact that several of the main merchants of the town, by their actions, would rather not have a local newspaper to be bothered with. Well, a man generally gets results in proportion to the efforts he puts in to his business, and when public spirit ceases business is bound to lighten up, and a local newspaper cannot exist very long without the support of the town where it is published. We would like to have better recognition by our local merchants but the editor of this paper is not the kind of man that can be insulted, and contempt is about as drastic to us as anything else. We have tried soliciting, pleading and almost begging and we have no way of extracting, so we have decided to take what we can get and make the best paper we can furnish with the amount of business we get, and our place is open for business every day in the week, but our advertising is done in part by our stock in trade and from here out no advertising will be refused that comes in a legitimate way, Sears Roebuck & Co., excepted.

The political pot is now beginning to boil, and candidates are beginning to campaign in earnest, but for the life of us, we cannot tell where to place our bet. In the race for United States Senate, we have about six candidates who have filed their names for place on the ticket, and are making active campaigns, but the turmoil is beyond our comprehension. Mr. Thomas, in our judgment will carry the major part of the prohibition vote, but Mr. Strong of Dallas is also a prohibitionist and will get a scattering vote, but just what effect Mr. Strong will have on Mr. Culbertson remains yet to be seen. Mr. Culbertson the present incumbent stands a fair chance to be in the run-off primary, unless, per chance, the Ku Klux Klan organization springs a surprise and rolls up about 100,000 of Mr. Culbertson's votes for R. L. Henry. We thought at the beginning of the campaign that the run-off would be between Thomas and Culbertson, but we would not be surprised to find them both left out after the first primary. Mayfield has a good following, Ousley is conducting his campaign in such a way that he is gaining ground every day, Ferguson is going to get a vote, and due to his fight for modification of the 18th amendment and the Ferguson element that has always supported him, he is liable to roll up a surprise at the first primary. As we see things now, we are at sea to make predictions in the senatorial race. For Governor, in our opinion, Mr. Neff is the leading candidate. For Congress there are also six candidates as follows: Thos. L. Blanton of Abilene, present incumbent, W. J. Cunningham, Abilene, E. G. Albright, Brownwood, Oscar Caloway, Comanche, N. S. Holland, Stamford and J. B. Dillard, Coleman. At this juncture we cannot surmise but little in this race, as people have been busy at work and have been slow to express themselves. The next four weeks may bring about many changes, but unless some more pep is injected into the campaign on the part of some candidate or organized movement on the part of some candidates, the people in this vicinity will be left to choose their own candidates in most of the places being sought. We refuse to discuss the county candidates, as they are so close to home they can get us before we could say a thing and retreat before they would have time to call our hand.

AS THE EDITOR SEES IT
Government chemists are now working out a means of producing a cheap fuel for motor cars from corn cobs, and are said to be meeting with gratifying success.
It is doubtful, however, if it will ever be placed on the market where the users of motor cars can take advantage of it at reduced cost. The oil and gasoline interests are too rich and powerful to ever allow such disastrous competition with their industry to exist.
Periodically we hear such reports, and motorists become enthused over the possibility of cheaper fuel for their engines.
Then the project goes the way of its predecessors—possibly through strangulation—and the public continues to line the pockets of the oil barons.

The great American throat is not so parched as it was. It is becoming wetter every day.
Statistics from Washington state that in 1921 every man, woman and child in the United States consumed an average of forty-nine gallons of milk, or nearly a gallon a week per capita.
That is encouraging. It is also disheartening to those who would abolish prohibition.
A nation that consumes a gallon of milk a week per person will surely not suffer to any great extent as a result of that "terrible thirst."
In time it may become corpulent—even fat.

The flapper has had a great run for her money.
She has been the observed of all observers, the admired of all admirers, and the cursed of all cursers. She flapped herself into fame and now she is on the verge of flapping herself into oblivion.
But there's a reason.
Americans like sensations—those that are spicy, but brief. We haven't the time to pursue any one sensation to a great length. There are too many others waiting to edge in.

The flapper was a sensation—for a time. But she flapped so strenuously, in season and out, that she became wearisome to the public, and now she is about to become a nuisance. Soon she will be flapping only for her own admiration.
But she was quite worth while. She furnished us a few thrills, and was the subject of many new jests—all of which is necessary in the average American day.
We will bid her adieu without regret.
But, Lord! What will we get next?

Laws are made for the protection of the people who live under them.
If a law is a good one it should be enforced. No favor should be shown either to the rich or the poor, to the powerful or to the insignificant. If it is not a good law it should be repealed.
We have too many laws that are dead letters. They are only resurrected when some crusty cuss wants to satisfy a grudge, or some prosecutor wants to make a safe splurge. At other times they are disregarded with impunity.
This condition is well known to the public, and even to the younger generation just merging into manhood. It is not conducive to respect for either law or order. It is a breeder of evasion and is the father of contempt.
We need fewer laws, but we need good ones that are enforced.

UP TO FRANCE
Chaos must reign in Europe for another period of time.
The international bankers of the world, with J. P. Morgan at their head, have ruled against extending a loan to Germany without first having the war reparations placed at a figure which the Germans will be able to meet without completely wrecking their industries and reducing the population to absolute poverty and slavery.
Every nation concerned agreed to and advocated a revision of the reparations figures except France. She refused, and by her refusal the loan was blocked.
In demanding her pound of flesh to the last ounce, when a reasonable concession would have meant the rehabilitation of stricken Europe, herself included, France has made the mistake of her life, one which will cost her dearly in the end.
Had she agreed to a revision of the reparations the European situation would have been rapidly cleared up through the action of the bankers in financing a readjustment, and the consequent return to industrial and commercial prosperity.
This improvement would have extended to America and every other distant country. The whole world would have shared in the beneficial results.
France, it would seem, is so blinded with passion she can not see the handwriting on the wall, although it is plain to every other nation under the sun.
If she persists in her present course, to the detriment of the entire world, the day may come when she will have to fight Germany again, but she will fight alone. There will be no foreign armies sent to her relief, as was done in the last war. Other nations will not care to sacrifice their sons to aid a nation that is too stubborn to aid itself.
In three months the international bankers will meet again. The French have yet time in which to redeem themselves—if they will.

HOBBIES
Modern thinkers are agreed that a hobby is a good thing, in more ways than one. A hobby is to be encouraged, in fact. A man with a hobby is usually happy, usually harmless, and often a real benefactor to his community and to his generation.
Hobbies not infrequently assume a scientific or at least a quasi-scientific form. Happy is the man who is an amateur botanist, or an amateur anything else, which brings him into kindly contact with nature.
Take it by small and large, the world is much better off for hobbies than it would be without them. Even in the tolerant and half-pitying smile bestowed on the hobbyist there is recognition that his hobby is harmless.
But in nine hundred and ninety-nine cases out of a thousand, the hobby is a positive benefit.
Almost always it is a health preserver, and more times than it gets credit for, it has proved a life preserver.
Former Empress Zita is devoting her life to the task of placing her son on the throne of Austria, from which her husband was so ingloriously kicked as an aftermath of the war. That is an ambition, which too frequently produces unhappiness, disaster and death. It would be much more profitable to the young Hapsburg if she were to give him a hoe, put him to work in the garden, and teach him to earn his salt. That would be common sense, which is the forerunner of success, and happiness, and a life worth living. Her inordinate ambition made a fool of her husband and is likely to do the same for her son.

AS TO VALUES
A one-cent stamp, printed by the government of British Guinea in 1856, sold the other day in Paris for $32,077.
For that much money you could buy a diamond big enough to look as if a small hen had laid it.
Values are usually fictitious—imaginary. So, too, are the most things in the human life, especially emotions and so-called knowledge.
We are said to be creatures of habit, but in a truer sense we are creatures of thought. We reflect our thoughts in our daily actions in our conditions in life.
Germany has made another promise as to those reparations payments, if that is of any interest to you.

ABOUT SECRET SOCIETIES
(Granger News)

The Elks Lodge was founded in the United States in 1871. Its present membership is about 900,000. It donated to charity in 1920 $1,566,234. It maintains an Elks' National Home at Bedford, Va., for aged and indigent Elks. It built and turned over to the United States during the war one of the finest reconstruction hospitals, located at Boston, Mass., at a cost of $2,000,000. It financed the Salvation Army during the war and has raised money to help its work in every state in the Union every year since the war closed. It was one of the first organizations to come to the aid of those who were suffering from the Colorado flood in Pueblo, Colorado, by donating $10,000. It gave $10,000 to the starving people of Central Europe in 1920. The Fraternal Order of Eagles was organized in 1898, and now has a membership of about 450,000. It pays weekly sick benefits to its members; pays a physician to treat them and contributes to the funeral expenses of those who pass away. During the war over 1,000 of its members lost their lives in the army and navy service, and their relatives have received about $1,250,000.

The Loyal Order of Moose was founded in Louisville, Ky., in 1888. In 1917 it had about 620,000 members. It maintains a large farm at Mooseheart, Ill., for the benefit of dependent members, or orphans and widows. Its contributions to charity are large.

The Order of Knights of Pythias was founded by Justus H. Rathbone in Washington, D. C., February 19, 1864. On the 31st of December, 1920, the order had 6,702 subordinate lodges, with a membership of $28,440. During 1920 these lodges expended for the relief of their members $1,773,195.53. In 9 states are eleven Pythian homes. Widows, orphans and indigent members of the order are admitted to these homes. Arizona it to have such a home in the near future.

The Independent Order of Odd Fellows was organized in Baltimore in 1819, but had existed in England some time prior to this. The Rebekah Degree for women was started in 1851. In 1919 the Odd Fellows had 68 grand lodges, 56 grand encampments, 9,725 Rebekah lodges, 1,794,638 lodge members, 264,178 encampment members, and 850,738 Rebekah members, a total of 2,371,738.

The total relief paid in 1919 was $7,187,862. The Order owns 56 homes for widows, orphans and others who are unable to support themselves. The homes are valued at $6,756,824.88. There are now 4,487 helpless people in these homes. The total number of members in the lodges from 1830 to 1918 is 5,195,223. The total relief granted during this period is $194,038,614.86.

The Masonic Order is said to be the oldest, largest and most widely distributed secret society in the world. It exists in all civilization and Russia. It has about 30,000 lodges and nearly 2,250,000 members. The idea of friendship is very strong among Masons and they are expected to stand by each other in trouble. We are told that no record of the amount of benevolent work is published, but we know that it must be very large.

Two brothers ran a general store in a small town, where they had quite a trade in wool. One of them became converted at a revival meeting and urged the other to follow in his footsteps.
"You oughter jine, Jake," said the converted one. "You don't know how helpful and comfortin' it is to be a member of the church."
"I know, Bill," admitted Jake thoughtfully, "an' I would like to jine but I don't see how I kin, now."
"Why to prevent it?"
"Well, it's just this way, Bill. There has got to be somebody in this firm to weigh this wool."—Montana Farmer.
