"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

RANDOM SHOT HITS

TENDER SPOT

In our issue of last week, we had an article from Coleman dealing with and setting out purported details of one certain trial, using the names of "Ann Adams vs. John Adams" for the plaintiff and defendant, and the firm of Critz & Woodward, attorneys for plaintiff and Baker & Weathered attorneys for defendant, in which, the writer being inspired by the gossip pertaining to the trial caught a vision of a little fiction and fun, proceeded to write a fable and publish it, thinking that it would be received in the fictitious manner in which it was written, and only taking under consideration the part that mostly appealed to the writer from the standpoint of fiction and fun, and not giving proper thought of those whom he selected for his subjects, personated parties that seem to take exceptions to the comedy. The editor perused the article over and classed it as a pretty fair joke and as we possessed no knowledge of the affair, and really had no knowledge of such a case ever being in the court, just accepted the article as being humorous and permitted it to be published.

Now it seems that some of the parties mentioned in the article are peevish and seem to think that we are trying to tantalize them by connecting them with an unprofitable joke. We wish to state that in so far as we know, the article was only a fable, was humorous in its tenor, rich in its wording and was not intended to cast any reflection upon any one.

Personally the writer regrets that any one of the parties mentioned were so sensitive as to become peevish over the matter, for we feel quite sure the author of the article did not mean to offend any one in the least.

TRAVELING HAZARDS

The department of the traveling public has a greater influence on railway safety than is generally known, and the Safety Section of the American Railway Association in an appeal for the conservation of human life and limb gives some illuminating facts on the subject.

Of the 229 fatalities occurring in railway passengers travel during the year 1920, about two-thirds were cases in which the individual himself was in some way involved in the chain of circumstances. For example, 28 persons were killed by falling from coach seats, 18 by falling from moving trains, 64 by being struck or run over, and 10 met their death by deliberately jumping from trains while mentally deranged or to escape penal servitude. More startling still is the fact that 64 passengers were killed and 1,299 injured in getting on, or off moving and stationary trains.

Once seated inside a railway car the traveler is in about the safest place in the world, and it is generally his own acts in gaining or leaving such position that create any substantial hazard. Notwithstanding the wonderful safety of passengers on the railways of the country, it is in the power of each of the billion travelers carried annually to make himself still more safe by being careful.

A. & M. SUMMER SCHOOL WILL BE FOR COUNTRY PEOPLE
College Station, Texas, May 28.—Simultaneously with the preparations for the annual commencement exercises which will be held at the A. & M. College off Texas from June 3 to 6 plans are being made for the opening of the annual summer school just one week later.

This is the time of the year when the college extends its facilities for the training of those actually engaged in the business of farming and who cannot leave the farm except for a short period during summer months. Courses will be given for all the various groups of rural-inhabitants, farm boys and farm girls, farm women and farm men, rural teachers and rural ministers, county and local officers, merchants and others interested in any phase of agricultural or rural development. And then there will be the specialized schools for the business man handling agricultural products, implements and supplies.

In fact the range of subjects will cover all phases of agriculture and the allied sciences, from the simplest course in butter-making for the farm girl and the primary course in livestock-judging for the farm boy to the courses in rural sanitation, rural economics and rural social science for the minister, teacher, welfare worker and other community leaders. Catalogues of the courses are now being distributed to all who ask for them.

W. J. CUNNINGHAM FOR CONGRESS

Hon. W. J. Cunningham of Abilene was in the city a short time last Friday morning, mixing with the voters and placing his claims before them for the congressional nomination of the 17th District, and while here he placed his announcement with the News. Following is a clipping from the Abilene Reporter, which we submit to our readers for their consideration:

From Abilene Reporter
"The Reporter specially the announcement of Honorable W. J. Cunningham as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congressman from this district at the coming primary. Mr. Cunningham has resided in Abilene for over 20 years and he needs no introduction to the people of this city or county or immediate vicinity. He has been a prominent figure in all of local movements of a public nature for the last 20 years.

His first public service was as a member of the Local Option Campaign Committee which handled the campaign in which the saloons were voted out of Taylor County in 1902. Shortly thereafter he was appointed by the Governor to the office of District Attorney in this judicial district. He was elected to the office in 1904 and re-elected in 1906 without opposition. He was then elected again to this office in 1918 and re-elected in 1920 without opposition. During his tenure of the District Attorney's office he has been a terror to the violators of the law in this district. There is not a more able or fearless prosecutor in the State of Texas. He has measured swords with the very best lawyers of this state who will testify to his ability.

"He was also a member of the State Senate during the 30th Legislature, and while in the Senate he introduced and assisted in passing the bill giving Local Option contest cases precedence over other cases in the Court of Appeals. He also voted and assisted in passing the Full Rendition Law, the Robinson Insurance Law, the Anti-bucket-shop Law, and the Anti-gambling Law, which made it a felony to run a gambling house or to permit gambling on the property of the owner or the lessee thereof.

"He has also been active in matters political. He was a member of Pointdexter's State Executive Committee and campaigned for Pointdexter when he was a candidate for governor. He also campaigned for Ramsey and Ball when they were candidates for governor. He also made prohibition speeches over the state in 1911 in connection with the State Wide Prohibition movement.

"He has always been a clean, forward looking progressive citizen. He is always keenly interested in the welfare of our schools and in the civic development and improvement of our city and county. For eight years he was a member of the Abilene City School Board being Chairman of the Board the last four years. He has been a member of the First Baptist church of this city for many years. On all public questions where a moral issue is raised he has been found upon the side of morality. He is a good man, a good neighbor, a good friend, a good fighter and if he is elected to Congress he will be fearless and courageous and vigorous in discharging the duties of this office. If you are not acquainted with Judge Cunningham, make it a point to meet him. We trust that the voters of this district will give his claims due consideration."

TO STAMP OUT BOOTLEGGERS
The following preamble and resolution was adopted recently by the Rotary Club of Shreveport, La.:

"Whereas, there can be no bootlegger without patrons, and

"Whereas, every citizen that patronizes any manufacturer or seller of intoxicants in any manner is an abettor of all such violations of the prohibition laws of our country and is guilty of thwarting the intent and purpose of the amendments to the constitution of the United States and should be punished accordingly, therefore

"Be it resolved, that this Rotary Club with its entire individual membership subscribes itself to the above statements as being facts, and places itself upon record with this resolve to assist the officers in this vicinity and elsewhere where opportunity is had to enforce the prohibition laws rigidly and effectively until such laws are annulled or proven to be worthy of a permanent place with all other good laws."

This is a resolution that might well be adopted by all Rotary Clubs and other civic organizations throughout the country. It is on the right line.

We are much impressed with the statement in the preamble, "there can be no bootleggers without patrons." Deprive the bootleggers of patrons and they will go out of business.

MRS. F. E. WESTER

Mrs. F. E. Wester died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. L. Grayham, last Friday and was buried in the City Cemetery Saturday afternoon. Elder Leon Williams in charge of the services.

Mrs. Wester was living in her 33rd year, her husband preceded her to the grave 12 years. She leaves seven children, several grandchildren and a host of good friends to mourn her death.

The News joins the friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved.

Lady Astor says that "one sex can not govern alone." We know of some men who can't govern at all.

SCHOOL CLOSES THIS WEEK

This week marks the closing of a very successful term of the Santa Anna schools, and the several programs for the week are as follows:

Wednesday night Misses Baker and Crosby gave their music and expression program at the Methodist church. Thursday night the Seventh Grade held their promotion exercises with an interesting program at the Baptist church.

Friday night the Commencement and graduation exercises will be held at the Baptist church.

Interest has run high this week among the students, it being the final week of school and the final examinations were being perused by the several teachers who were very exacting in their terms as they should be. Learning cannot be purchased except with effort and those who put forth sufficient effort will be promoted, but those who did not exercise sufficient judgment and begin preparations at the beginning of the term will have a hard time to squeeze by the scrutinizing eyes of their teachers. The writer feels grateful that all his who were in school passed and were promoted to higher grades.

STEADILY IMPROVING

People who expected to see the U. S. resume its normal status following the war were disappointed.

Those who pinned their hopes to a slow but gradual readjustment are witnessing the vindication of their judgment.

Neither wages nor prices will ever go back to the pre-war level. Men who have enjoyed a long taste of high wages and easy work will not willingly return to long hours and grueling toil and poor pay. Manufacturers and dealers who have reveled in sky profits will fight shy of the old system of slim pickings and few of them.

That is human nature, and nature makes all laws and regulates all things.

It was, however, manifested impossible to maintain wages and profits at the sky peak of war days. Abnormality may prevail for a period, but in the end it must give way to rational thought and action.

Prices of necessities, and of even luxuries, have been steadily declining for a long time. The same is true of labor, and all of the raw materials that go into the construction or production of articles of daily use.

The fall has been slow but gradual, and some time must still lapse before we reach that level which will insure the return of a full measure of prosperity to the country.

The situation, however, is fairly satisfactory and full of promise, and the future is bright to those who can see.

BANGS HAS BIG BERRY CROP

Last week just as we were closing our forms and preparing to print, we received an ad from the Bangs Berry and Fruit Association, announcing their berry crop for sale this week. Several have taken advantage of the opportunity and purchased themselves a supply of fine berries, such as the people of Bangs produce.

T. RAY GARRETT WITH-DRAWS FROM RACE

We have been requested by Mr. T. Ray Garrett to announce to the readers of the News that he wishes to withdraw from the race for Public Weigher of this precinct and express his thanks to those who have offered to him their support and encouragement. At present Mr. Garrett is living outside of the precinct.

If you have anything good to say about us don't wait until we are dead. Everybody spreads it on then.

Other lodges in the territory are invited to come and take part in the services. Non members and their families are specially invited to attend this service, as it will do you good and augment your idea of the order and what it is doing for humanity and those who need sympathy and aid.

EASTERN DISTRICT SINGING CONVENTION MET AT WHOM

Last Sunday, according to a call by the President, the Eastern District singing convention met at Whom in a called session and completed the organization.

The convention was to have met in Santa Anna on the Fifth Sunday in March, but was rained out.

At the business session in the afternoon the News editor was elected secretary of the convention, and Rockwood was selected for the next place of meeting the Fifth Sunday in July. Several from Santa Anna attended, but we have no record of them, thus we will just say that all who went had a good time, enjoyed the singing and the part that always comes in on the program in the middle of the day. The weather was clear and warm and a goodly crowd attended. The day was well spent. The good citizens of Whom furnished a fine dinner, plenty for all and to spare, and the quality was equal to the quantity.

The communities of Trickham, Whom and Rockwood are musically a live and are doing their part in putting Coleman county on the map. The old and young with all the in-between turn out and help support the conventions and all enjoy them.

TOO MUCH SELF

Over in the old world the war goes merrily on in their efforts to preserve peace.

To the careful observer on this side of the Atlantic, however, there appears to be one necessary element that is almost entirely lacking. The welfare of humanity is forgotten. It has been side-tracked in favor of self-interest and greed.

It is readily conceded that the nations desire lasting peace, but each wants that peace on terms that predominate in their own favor.

The league of nations is a failure for that reason. The Washington conference was time wasted for the same reason, and the Genoa confab was tarred with the same brush.

Now they are planning for a future meet to be held at The Hague, and unless history reverses itself the same road will be traveled there.

Nothing of a lasting nature can be accomplished in world adjustment until humanity triumphs over selfish greed, and that day has yet to come.

This government should speak softly and keep its powder dry.

There are no wings yet in sight. The European allies are still allied together because each is afraid to break away. It is a wonderful state of harmony that does not exist.

PLAY FAIR WITH YOUR WIDOW

If you just won't protect her—if you just won't sign this application now—
Then go home and take her to the front window and tell her what to do when the baker passes the door and the children cry for bread and she has no money to pay him—
Tell her what to say to the groceryman when he refuses her further credit—
Tell her what she should say to the doctor when he refuses to come any longer to visit the children when they're sick—because of an unpaid bill—
Tell her what to say to the merchant when he tells her that she can't buy shoes without money—
Tell her what to say to the druggist when he refuses to fill the prescription unless paid for in advance—
Tell her what to say to the children themselves—when they see other children pass the house going to school warmly clad and getting an education that you are denying them by your action today—
Tell her how to explain to your children why you didn't protect them—that should help to keep your memory green.
Play fair with your widow—give her definite instructions on the best way to run a boarding house—just where she should hang her sign—"PLAIN SEWING."
Instruct your widow—play fair with her!

THINK IT OVER!

BAND CONCERT JUNE 17

In a letter from Dean J. Thomas Davis, of John Tarleton Agricultural College at Stephenville, Texas, addressed to Prof. J. T. Runkle, Dean Davis states that on Saturday, June 17th, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the Tarleton Band will render a concert on the streets in Santa Anna.

The writer is personally acquainted with Dean Davis, and is somewhat familiar with the kind of music the John Tarleton Agricultural Band renders, and if we be the judge, the concert will be worth coming miles to hear. Make it a point to be here.

A man claims that he married 14 or 15 times, but when he was hit by a baseball but when young. They didn't hit him hard enough.

From such methods is absolutely absurd. The department specialists have been attempting boll weevil control with liquid applications for many years. In these tests they use the finest available high pressure spraying machinery, distributing the liquid poison over the plants in a mist form, thus reaching absolutely every part of the plant. Furthermore, these applications are usually made at the rate of 100 gallons of solution per acre. In spite of this these spray applications do not control the boll weevil, and how can anyone expect to secure benefit from the absurd recommendations issued with some of the machines now offered the farmers?

Farmers who desire more detailed information on this subject may secure it free of charge by writing the Delta Laboratory, Tallulah, La.

MRS. NANCY LAWRENCE

Mrs. Nancy Lawrence, wife of J. A. Lawrence, deceased, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. R. Kennedy, at Rockwood, Friday morning, May 19, of paralysis. She appeared to be in usual health until a short time before her death. She is survived by six sons and three daughters, and twenty-eight grandchildren. She was buried in the Trickham cemetery Saturday afternoon. All her children were present except one son who lives in western New Mexico.

She was a true christian. She became a member of the Church of Christ thirty-three years ago. She was a loving mother, good neighbor and true friend.

Since the death of her husband six years ago she has made her home with her children.

She and her husband came to this county forty years ago. They were pioneer citizens and have a wide circle of friends in this part of the state.—Contributed.

FOR PUBLIC WEIGHER

The News is authorized this week to announce the candidacy of Joe B. Flores for the office of Public Weigher in this weigher's precinct, subject to the action of the democratic primaries in July.

Mr. Flores has lived in this vicinity for the greater part of his life, and has always been regarded a splendid and respectable citizen. He suffered the misfortune of accidentally shooting himself through the left arm some 8 years ago, which necessitated the amputation of his arm, and being a young man of very limited means so far as this world's goods are concerned, he has endeavored to make his living and support his wife and children by honest toil in doing whatever kind of work he could do. For the past four years he has been carrying the mail on the Santa Anna and Trickham Star line, but failed to be able to renew his contract for the ensuing four years, due to being under bid by another party.

Mr. Flores wishes to place his claims before the good citizens of this precinct on his own merits and record as a citizen. He is fully competent to attend the duties of the office, and will appreciate your earnest consideration before casting your vote.

A man thinks he is in great luck if he is able to figure himself out of paying any income tax.

When a man begins to think he is indispensable, he is not far from learning that he isn't.

WHAT OTHERS SAY AND HOW THEY SAY IT

West Texas vs. "The Sticks"
 Richard H. McCarty of the Albany News takes a fall at Jim Lowery of the Honey Grove Signal. Lowery's good on the virtues of buttermilk, but he's a poor judge of a country.

The Albany News says:
 "Jim Lowery of the Honey Grove Signal takes a fall at West Texas, yes, takes fun at us about our bad storms and says the boys down in the sticks come out west with big fat horses and mules, and stay a year or two, get sand in their eyes and in their craw, go broke and then migrate back home with a pair of jacks and a tar grinder. Jim Lowery, when he strikes one of those numerous moods in the editorial columns of the Honey Grove Signal, is like a murmuring brook running through shady brooks, over the white pebble beds and gliding down the gentle sloping water falls, and the bass and trout of joy play hide and seek in the liquid depths of the pearly stream of laughter. And so we cast a line, and follow him in his wild and drunken spree as he goes scampering through the grassy dells, and directly we hang our hook in an interrogation point, whose definition would make a stone man laugh. And when his time, when he enters the realm of sarcasm, he wields a two edge lance, and still it's funny too, when the joke is on the other fellow. But doggone your time, Jim Lowery, you want to be careful how you bandy with the name of West Texas, for out here, just where the eastern and the western longitudinal or meridian lines meet and blend, there is a beautiful golden gate, the passage way to a vast domain, away up, about two thousand feet above the Gulf Stream, away from the chiggers, ticks, chills and fever infested swamps of east Texas, especially created and set apart by the Creator for a noble race, and the gates stand ajar, and bids brain and brawn and the hand of industry a hearty welcome. And by the way, thousands of the down easterners have come west and made good, but unfortunately, lots of them had the disease of hook worm, and were full of prunes, and thought that they could come out here in the glorious west and make a living dead easy, swapping horses and dealing in wild cat grass lands, yes played at the game of being a sport and got skinned out of their belongings, and wound up with a pair of jacks—down in the sticks and dead broke, and they have doled out a lonesome story of hard luck to the press boys of east Texas, out of which they have made much capital and bulged the fires of discontent. And not withstanding to the contrary as to what Jim Lowery and his like may say about it, it's a great country, and pregnant with golden opportunities. We said a vast domain, and that's the truth. It's four or five hundred miles wide and about eight hundred miles lengthwise, the blue dome of heaven drops her azure skirts down and kisses the virgin soil, injecting into its capillary system the toxin of wealth, and oh, gollys watch the valleys blossom with the golden grain, the juice oozes from the peach and there's a drips from the vine—and there's a sack of gold at the end of every rainbow of hope, provided, however, that you do not mind blistered hands, sore shins, and you have got nerve and ain't afraid of a scrap. But on the other hand, if you think that you can come out here and run a skin game, play poker on easy street, build a castle on prosperity lane, and soldier on the job—you'd better remain in the sticks."

EARLY CARE OF TEETH

Decayed teeth are present in 98.2 per cent of the children under school age and are the result of neglect of the baby teeth and lack of vitamins containing foods in the diet of young children, authorities on dental hygiene and nutritional experts say.

The time to begin cleaning the teeth is when the first one appears. Mothers are advised to wash the baby's teeth with a soft cloth wrapped about her fingers. As soon as the child is able to do so (about 2 or 2½ years old) he should be given a small tooth brush of his own and shown how to brush the teeth, gums, and tongue and then encouraged and reminded until the morning and evening brushing of teeth will become as habitual as putting on and taking off the shoes.

During the years when the teeth are growing it has been proved that a diet which will supply lime and vitamins assists materially in the formation of sound teeth. Milk, yolk of eggs, fresh fruits and salts and supply both mineral and vitamins. Even young children should not have less than two cups of milk a day and some vegetable (green if possible) or fruit in the diet. Oranges and prunes are among the fruits recommended for their high mineral salt and vitamin content. Minnesota Health Journal.

YOUTHFUL LEADERS

Frederick Palme, the war correspondent who has been in Ireland writing a series of articles for a syndicate of American newspapers, has been especially struck with the youthfulness of the present Irish leaders, most of whom are under 40.

"The older members of the Dial Eireann," he writes, "would be mere boys in our national house of representatives, and in the United States Senate they would be so young that some of the senators might rise to ask if they had brought their nursing bottles with them and insist that the child labor law be applied to statesmen."

The moving spirits in adventures like that under way in Ireland have always been young men. When we speak of the "Pilgrim Fathers" it has almost always been a figure of speech. Most of the men who come over in the Mayflower were young men, under 30, many of them.

In our civil war many of the major generals on both sides were under 30. The leaders in political upheavals are usually young men, though they often have wise old heads to counsel them.

THE IRISH SITUATION

The Irish people have been clamoring for their independence for a long time. They say the struggle has been going on for seven hundred years. Recently they were given home rule. The British government moved out, bag and baggage, the Irish being asked to give only nominal allegiance to the British empire, which they, or their representatives, agreed to do.

But what has happened? The Irish people have gone to fighting among themselves. The warfare is of the guerrilla kind, and murders and arson are most frequent.

It is not necessary here to try to fix the blame; the big fact is that the Irish people are not maintaining law and order. It is pretty clear that the blame is not confined to one side. The British government has been claiming all along that the Irish people could not be trusted to govern themselves. Not much of this claim has been heard in recent years, for it sounded absurd, but outsiders are beginning to wonder if the British government was not right after all.

If the warring Irish factions do not quickly get together and put down lawlessness and establish a government that will insure reasonable safety to life and property, the British government will be justified in sending troops back to Ireland, for present conditions cannot be permitted to continue.

The world at large wants Ireland to have her freedom, but the Irish people must show that they are worthy of it.

Small Boy Drowned in Cistern
 Charlie, the little 3-1-2 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Jennings of the Cleveland community, fell into the cistern one morning last week and was drowned before he was discovered.

The remains were buried in the Cleveland cemetery Thursday in the presence of the family and a host of sorrowing friends. The News joins other friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved.

Press Service of the Texas Public Health Association

Austin, Texas, May 24.—That Texas is taking a great deal of interest in the health of her school children is shown by Texas schools winning ten pennants in the National Modern Health Crusade.

The Modern Health Crusade is conducted in Texas by the Texas Public Health Association. It teaches the school children health habits by having them perform eleven health chores until the doing of them becomes natural and their minds have become trained to think in terms of health. Enormous good has been accomplished through the Modern Health Crusade.

The pennants are awarded to the schools showing 100 per cent enrollment as knights banneret. Texas schools winning pennants are: Alta Loma, grades 3 and 4; 5, and 6; Bellaire school two; Pampa two; South Mayde school of Katy one; Austin school at Sulphur Springs one; Progressive school at Hereford one and Independent school at Pampa one.

Children in every state of the Union and a number of foreign countries compete every year for these prizes. It is a great honor for Texas to win ten of the one hundred and seven pennants that were distributed this year. It is hoped that next year more children will be enrolled in the Modern Health Crusade and that more honors will come to Texas. Even though the children may not win national prizes they will at least win the prize of good health.

INSPIRATION OF HISTORY

The fellow who sees in heroes nothing but just human beings neglects the fact that history is the story of human achievements. It contains the life stories of men who have built civilization.

In reading the records you will find generally that those who ought to have succeeded did so, while scoundrels, sometimes successful, usually lived to regret their rascality or meet with some just punishment.

In the biographies of men are to be found examples for every young person to follow. There are men who accomplish the same sort of things that each of us is trying to do. Read their life's stories. Read, especially, that of Leonardo di Vinci and Michaelangelo in July and King Alfred in England. Find you a "hero" for a form of hero worship, next to religion, is one of the most valuable incentives to high endeavor.

The greatest chapter, of course, is that dealing with the life of the Nazarene, the founder of the Christian religion. But one should read all history for inspiration. Read the history of the rise of Greece, and the men who accomplished it. Read how Rome, beginning with barbarism, came to control the entire world. Read how England, coming under the influence of the Romans, became civilized and rose to world domination. More especially, study the history of our own country. Everywhere you will discover a record of work, accomplishment, unremitting, intense labor on the part of the men who created and preserved civilization.

You will find that as you read, your curiosity about the world and its people will increase and that you will have laid the foundation for a liberal education, which, by industry, is to be had without the aid of school or college. Sooner or later you will find some particular persons as examples, and when you try to emulate them, then you will have found yourself.

Young Men and Women are

In Demand in Business
 A country-wide investigation of employment conditions to get information as to the type of help in greatest demand, showed the following results: 1338 of 2445 advertisements for help specified a business training, and 524 of the remaining 1107 advertisements were for position that office assistants can claim one-fifth as great a demand. In fact this proves that there is a greater demand for business training than for all other trades and professions: the average income of a lawyer is $1600, of a doctor $1800, others in proportion, while the average income of a business man is $3000 a year. There can be no question but that the business world offers you the best opportunities.

You can be sure of success if you enter the world of business trained in the Tyler Commercial College. You must be prepared. This is an age of specialization. The trained man gets the big job and the big salary. You must know how to do some big thing well, that the business man will pay you for doing. Let us train you in Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Business Finance, Telegraphy, Cotton Classing, Typewriting, Salesmanship, Wireless Telegraphy and Telephony, and we will secure you a position at a good salary that will also serve as a stepping stone to higher things.

We have started thousands of other young people on the road to success, and can help you. Some of our graduates are now drawing salaries of twenty to twenty-five thousand dollars a year; we can give you the same Thorough, Complete and Practical training that gave them their start, in a few months time and at a small cost. The fact that we are the largest business training institution in America, with an average annual enrollment of over 3600 the last five years, is indisputable evidence as to the merit of our courses, for no inferior school could ever build up and hold a large patronage.

You are not going to pass up a business training and its wonderful opportunities to become a day laborer, house maid, department store clerk, telephone operator, factory hand, or live on the back end of someone else's farm. You can't afford it when you can spend a few months with us and make sure your success.

Make up your mind to enter now. Fill in and mail coupon to Tyler Commercial College, Tyler, Texas for large free catalogue.

NOBODY WORRIES

We have but recently passed through a war that tried the souls of the universe and practically bankrupted half of the world.

But nobody worries—in this country. We paid out billions of dollars in upholding our army and navy and stand to lose billions more that we loaned to our allies.

But nobody worries. We are only beginning to emerge from a period of business stagnation that would have rocked any other nation to its foundation.

But nobody worries. Hundreds of thousands of our citizens have had to be clothed and fed and housed by their friends or by charity because there was no employment for them.

But nobody worries. Taxes are high and expenses are heavy and everywhere it is a continual drain upon the resources of the people.

But nobody worries. We see war clouds constantly hovering over Europe, with apprehension rife in the breasts of the world lest the fires of hatred again break out and engulf the universe.

But nobody worries. We see the incessant and bitter fight between labor and capital raging with unabated fury, hampering construction, retarding progress, and raising periodical hell from one end of country to the other.

But nobody worries. We see political battles fought with a degree of ferocity that would shame a cage of Bengal tigers.

But nobody worries. We see royalty dethroned and reduced to poverty, governments crumbling from decay, millions dying from starvation in other lands, and whole peoples gradually descending to the savagery of the beasts of prey.

But nobody worries. And amidst all of this scrambling of the people and of the affairs of the world, why do the people of the United States possess the moral and physical courage to refrain from worry?

Because we are a God fearing and a God believing people.

Because we are a republic founded upon the tenets of justice and right, with a firm and abiding faith that in the end right will prevail and justice will be done.

Because we are a people who have unbounded confidence in the stability of our government, regardless of the political complexion of the party that may be in power from year to year.

Because we prefer to do the things that work for success and happiness and let other people do the worrying that saps the vitality of life.

Why worry, anyway?

THE NATIONAL GAME

Americans everywhere, from those living in the smallest hamlet to those in the largest cities, are now interested in the national game, baseball. Baseball has been our national sport since the Knickerbocker Club of New York City started the world's first baseball club in 1845.

Six years before that, Abner Doubleday took paper, quill pen and a ruler and an inventive brain, and mapped out the first "diamond." Abner certainly started something. He would have heart failure if he could come back today and see a big league grand stand audience in action.

You can never tell what you are starting. Some of the things recently brought into existence will play as big a part in future American life as baseball.

It is fortunate that we have a national sport that combines physical exercise with the exercise of the brain, mental ability and quick decision. Baseball is of incalculable benefit to the nation, as a stirrer up of the liver and as a soother of nerves highly-strung by congested civilization.

YOUNG MAN'S OPPORTUNITY

There are from twelve to fourteen million bales of cotton raised annually. Every bale has to be classed from one to four times, seldom by the same man twice. Until the last five years, there has been no training schools in this line, consequently the supply of men for this work is limited. Thousands of warehouses are being erected in this country and every warehouse requires two or three men to handle the cotton. The Commissioner of the Market and Warehouse Departments has appointed a Board of Examiners to examine applicants for license as Public Cotton Classers. To those passing a license is issued to engage in the business of Public Cotton Classing and to charge for his services. These examinations are open to both men and women. Practically every town and village where cotton is sold will employ one or more licensed cotton classers.

Aaron Sapiro, Organizer for the National Marketing Association, says that between 10 per cent and 16 per cent of the entire cotton crop is lost to farmers on account of incorrect grading. It is the purpose of the Association to have competent Cotton Classers grade their cotton for all farmers belonging to the Association. This statement from one who is in a position to know shows two things, first that the man who raises cotton should be able to class it, to protect himself from loss, and second, that there is a wide growing field of employment for the competent cotton man.

Cotton is the leading product of the south and will continue to be. Every young man of the South should know the classification and handling of cotton. More money is lost each year by the farmers on the marketing of this product than all other crops combined. The man raising it often knows nothing about marketing it and is therefore wholly at the mercy of the man buying. The facts are we lose thousands of dollars each year for lack of trained men.

The young man or woman trained in the Cotton Classing Department of our institution, the Tyler Commercial College of Tyler, Texas is in a much better position to take one of these many positions that are opening up, or to protect his own interests as a grower, than one who has had no training, or a training by guess. In four weeks' time we can prepare you to save this year more than double the cost of your learning, or to take a good position with unlimited opportunity. We have been asked, "How do you teach Cotton Classing so successfully?" Believing that the time has come when the South needs to know more about her leading product, when the farmer should know more about marketing the crop which he labors so earnestly to produce and which means meat and bread to his family, we have equipped our department so that the most efficient teaching possible may be done. Our teachers understand classing, stapling, buying and selling from a practical standpoint, and are experts in the training of students. The head of this department is constantly in touch with the Agricultural Department at Washington, D. C., and at Austin, Texas, from whom we get the Government types; besides these we purchase sample in quantities of three to four thousand. For full particulars, fill in and mail coupon for free catalogue.

THESE MODERN GIRLS
"This new fad of women bobbing their hair makes me tired," is the remark of many an already tired crank these days. These blue individuals should try to remember that bobbed hair is not new, and therefore it is not a fad.

Stone-hewn pictures on the walls of temples erected before Moses of the Old Testament was known to the world have found to represent dancing Egyptian girls, not only wearing shorn locks but going through contortions that resembled the "shimmy" in a startling and realistic manner.

Joan of Arc bobbed her hair, though she probably did it for convenience while on the field of battle and history tells us of the style being accepted by the women of certain sections of France off and on for quite a while thereafter.

Later, as far back as 1800, when women of certain types, then called "freaks," broke away from matrimony and entered the professions, they not only bobbed their tresses but had 'em off completely and even donned trousers.

"So, girls, you see that you can't start much that is new. This planet is a pretty old mass and it is almost an impossibility to pull anything new that some one else hasn't tried out centuries or decades ago."

If you want to retain the good will of a politician keep him guessing. Time is too precious to waste on fish that are already hooked.

PRUDENT PRUE.

The get-rich schemer who swindled all the Chicago people ought to be punished, of course, but there is mighty little sympathy for his victims.

"ALWAYS DEPENDABLE"

Farmers Who Succeed

Of all the successful farmers whom you know, is there one who does not maintain a banking connection and a checking account?

A checking account is particularly useful for a farmer as it enables him to safeguard his funds by prompt deposit in person or by mail and simplifies the paying out of money to meet obligations—supplying a legal receipt for every check written.

Farmers' accounts cordially welcomed here—always.

The First State Bank Santa Anna, Texas

Miss Ruby Brannan had as her guests last week, Miss Griffie Atkins of Ballinger and Mrs. Tom Jamison of Coleman.

CARD OF THANKS

We thank our many friends and loved ones for their kindness and help during the sad accidental death of our precious Charlie. Also for the beautiful floral offering and financial help. Praying if it is God's will you may never have to suffer as we have.

L. P. Jennings and family.

Last Friday afternoon the editor and Ed Sanderson boarded a Ford and meandered our way to the Colorado River and spent the greater part of the night fishing. The "Ketch" was not as abundant as we had hoped for, but several of the finny tribe were brought back on the Ford and the families could not deny that we had actually been fishing.

As often as not a candidate lives to realize that he was fortunate when he failed to get the nomination.

Parents ought to consider themselves lucky, in this mad times, if they are not criticised more than once or twice a day by their children.

We don't know whether or not we can get along without Uncle Joe Cannon in congress, but we'll have to try it. He says he is going to quit.

UNCERTAINTY PASSING

The times recently have been like sailing a ship in a typhoon, with the masts torn away, the rudder crippled, the crew working frantically at the pumps to counteract leaks that have sprung in the hold. The crew has been weary, confused, no one has seemed to know where to turn, what to do next.

This explains the widespread uncertainty, the epidemic of, "Shall I do this, or shall I lose if I do?"

But the storm is dying down. Land is in sight. The ship will soon go to port for repairs, a general overhauling, a new coat of paint, new masts, new rudder, and then out to sea for another trip, all hands singing.

It is a beautiful picture. Also an inevitable development. No storm can last forever. With this one over, uncertainty will vanish and confidence will be restored.

And the change is taking place right now.

Parents ought to consider themselves lucky, in this mad times, if they are not criticised more than once or twice a day by their children.

We don't know whether or not we can get along without Uncle Joe Cannon in congress, but we'll have to try it. He says he is going to quit.

Don't Envy Them

Do you envy some neighbor who seems to be getting along a little better than you do?

The chances are that his success is due to some special plan which you can adopt with equal success.

Your neighbor's handsome bank account is the result of many small deposits made often. That plan is easy but it pays handsomely.

There are many people passing our bank every day with money in their pockets that might easily be deposited into a growing account.

But because these amounts are small they are not saved—and the loss goes on for a life time.

We always welcome the small regular deposits of all who are willing to adopt this system—it means sure success in due time.

Think it over.
