"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

FROM "LOG HOUSE" TO "WHITEHOUSE" WITH LINCOLN

Abraham Lincoln was a typical American. He did not cry for opportunity. He accepted as his opportunity the simple materials God placed in his hands, and he hewed success out of them.

Many another American has done the same thing. Many a man and woman who is looking for opportunity can find it in the same way.

Lincoln's educational library was composed of the Bible and Dictionary—a solid foundation today for any person's career.

One of the most eloquent lawyers this country every produced owes his power of eloquence to the simple fact that years ago he was winter-bound in a hut in the mountains of Colorado with nothing but Webster's Dictionary for a companion. Through the long hours of the weeks and months he studied Webster's Dictionary to divert his mind from monotony. Webster's Dictionary became a passion with him. He learned its pages by heart.

And when spring and relief came, he found himself such a master of words that he is able to sway the multitude with his eloquence.

Too many men want to start at the top. They want to build the tower before they build the foundation. They are all front door; when you open the door you find yourself in the back yard.

Other should they who seek a place in the sun, like the great Lincoln use the simple materials they have at hand to fashion for themselves reputation.

Every American is born in a Log House of Opportunity; every American may achieve a White House of Success.

Rev. Sidney F. Martin returned Monday from Rogers, Texas, where he went last week to officiate at the marriage of his niece, Miss Ora Mae LaGrome, to Rev. Oscar Perkins. Mrs. Martin and little son, visited relatives in Dublin while Rev. Martin was gone.

An Appreciation of Mrs. G. W. Teagle

This Missionary Society of the M. E. Church feels that in the loss of Mrs. G. W. Teagle they have lost one of their best loved and most valuable members. Having known and having been associated with her is a privilege we fully appreciate. Mrs. Teagle was present at every meeting unless her physical condition compelled her to stay indoors. She never allowed affairs to keep her from the duties of the society. She could always be depended on in all things. Her constancy and devotion to the church and every phase of its activity were sources of inspiration to us and made us resolve to go and do likewise. When a work of comfort was needed she knew just what to say for, in her heart, she loved her fellow men and her sympathy went out to all who needed her to strengthen them. She had a word of cheer for everyone—a friendly pat on the back and words of encouragement just at the very time they were needed most. An unkind or uncharitable word of criticism was never heard to pass her lips, instead, she turned the criticism of others to some good and defended the one who was being criticised. Being good herself, she saw only good in us all. That inspired us to try to be what Aunt Macie thought us to be. Never talking much herself unless occasion demanded, we knew just where to turn for a wise counsellor, and we never called on her but what we knew she advised or suggested wisely. Always present, always cheerful, always smiling, always seeing good in us and in our acts; always saying the right thing, always dependable, that was Aunt Macie and that is why we suffer and unrepairable loss in God's taking her to Himself. We grieve over our loss for that is only human, yet in our loss we know Mrs. Teagle has only gone to her heavenly home where she is waiting to greet us. And because of her, her influence, and the life she lived before and with us we are all the better prepared to meet her in that home beyond the skies. We pray that we may ever be true to the faith she had in us and may her spirit continue to guide and strengthen us.

C. W. Woodruff, P. P. Bond, W. F. Barnes, D. J. Johnson and the News editor, went to Brownwood Wednesday afternoon and visited two of the large capacity incubators in operation there. The information we received was valuable in our opinion, and we think the special inspection trip will augment the enthusiasm of our local committee to a point where they will recommend that one be installed here.

Harris Greer of Dallas came in last week for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Greer.

Gertrude Brent being the present home demonstration agent. The petition of the Texas National Guard located at Santa Anna, asking for $20.00 a month to pay Army expenses was rejected by the court.

An order was passed to have the Coleman county jail cleaned up and broken bars, windows, cells and cell doors repaired.

THE POULTRY INDUSTRY

At a membership meeting of the Retail Merchants Association in the dining room of the Harrod Hotel last Friday night, one of the main items discussed was the poultry industry and its encouragement. Every report from those who have been investigating what is being done in other places were favorable to the industry and considerable interest was shown by the members present.

There is a movement on foot to install a custom hatch incubator of some ten thousand egg capacity in Santa Anna and we think it would mean more to the citizens of this country than anything that could be added for the investment. The committee will probably have a favorable report to make in the near future, and we hope that a way will be provided for the installation of the hatchery.

Following is a report published in the Rising Star Record last week, furnished by the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. By way of explanation, the News editor will state that he is personally and well acquainted with all the parties mentioned in the article and know them to be reliable parties. The report reads as follows:

The following report from the poultry farms of Walter Smith, D. E. Jones and Joe Haley show what can be accomplished in the poultry industry, by scientific feeding, housing and proper care of a standard bred flock. These men are not experimenting, they know how to make poultry pay. They buy every ounce of feed they use, feed balanced rations, keep accurate accounts of income and expense, then at the end of the month can tell to a penny just how well their poultry has paid.

What they have done others can do and if your report for January does not compare favorably with these reports, whether your flock is large or small, you might ask yourself the question, why? Then work and compare results until you have answered your own question.

There are twelve members of the Rising Star Egg Pool and some of these have less than 100 hens, yet the Pool during December and January has marketed more than $1300 worth of eggs.

Eastland County is recognized as the largest producer of poultry products in the state. Let's make Rising Star territory the largest producer in the county.

The following report is from Walter Smith's poultry farm for

E. P. EWING'S FATHER DIED TUESDAY

Wednesday morning, Mr. E. P. Ewing received a telegram conveying the sad news of the death of his father, T. C. Ewing, who lived near Pittsburg, Texas. Deceased was 85 years old, and was a good citizen. We very tenderly sympathize with Mr. Ewing in his bereavement.

FORD MAY BID AGAIN

Now that the Underwood bill leasing Muscle Shoals has passed the Senate and is before the House, unconfirmed reports indicate the possibility of another bid for Mr. Ford. Under the old bid Mr. Ford agreed to pay $5,000,000 for the properties valued at $85,000,000, and a 100-year lease of the water power plants at a total rental of about $220,000,000. It is claimed that Mr. Ford's pet project is a Lakes-to-Gulf railway with Muscle Shoals as a central power point with ramifications east and west. With such independent distributing facilities for his motor products, coal, nitrate and fertilizer Mr. Ford could snap his fingers at the "Railroad trust" just as he snapped them at the "Wall Street money trust." It is believed a revised proposition from Mr. Ford will be presented to the House rather than the Senate, and in some quarters it is believed the President is very favorably inclined toward a Ford offer.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Eck left Sunday for San Antonio where Mrs. Eck and Evelyn will remain with Mrs. Eck's parents until Mr. Eck is permanently located. We are very sorry to lose these good people from our town and the best wishes of the News goes with them.

The Great Human Drama
Recently we came across a copy of a newspaper printed 40 years ago. On the front page we found these headings: "Try- ing to Avert War;" "Increasing Trouble in Ireland;" "Coal Shortage;" "Railroads Poorly Equipped."

How true it is that history repeats itself—that the growth of a nation, necessitating changes of program, is only repeating the old act.
There is nothing that strengthens the faith of a thinking reader, in the future of his country, so much as to review the pages of the past.
With eternity as the curtain and the sun for the spotlight, this great human drama goes on. A great captain of industry said, a few days ago, "The world must be getting better or God would destroy it."
And the beauty of it all is that we are growing bigger and getting better, day by day.

Not Enough Money
Changes in the president's cabinet are constantly occurring which raises the question why the government cannot keep its head officials year after year the way a business corporation would. One reason is that it is costly business holding these high posts. The salary must melt away fast with the entertaining and other expensive habits expected of these people. The salary may make no difference to some of these men, who are wealthy anyway. But as long as the government pays on a scale far below that of private business, it will have to change its public officials often, and frequently lose very good men, to the detriment of its service.

Government Operation Again Goes on the Rocks
The coal mines of the Philippines, which have been run by the state for generations are reported to be a sad loss.

Recent reports show that it has cost $18 a ton to mine coal that has been sold most of the time at $10 a ton.
Such is the way of government ownership and operation! The taxpayer makes up the deficit.

A SHIFTING POPULATION
By Wm. A. Black

History confirms the fact that as population increases it tends to the city from the farm. This would seem to be the natural order and especially so in this industrial age. Yet there may be a danger line, and we may well pause to see if we haven't reached that point. In the decade of 1910-1920 population increased 14.9 per cent. The increase of rural population was only 3.2 per cent and rural population includes a very considerable number not on the farms. The increase in the number of farms was only 1.4 per cent. In line with these figures ten acres were added to the average size of farms.

So much for the census figures. Agricultural surveys of the last three years indicate an alarming stream from the farm to the city and no effective steps taken to check it. Another census and survey of agriculture is being taken now and some advance reports from Texas counties should give pause for thought. These reports show there are fewer farmers, increased acreage and more machinery used. This sounds all right if we think in terms of industrialism. If it is merely a question of producing so much food and to make so much money out of the production, a larger acreage, more machinery and fewer men may work out all right. But what will become of these workers that leave the farm? They must live and in order to live they must work. They become competitors in the labor market and thus increase anxiety and struggle among wage earners. More machinery on the farm means more FARM LABOR and fewer farmers. The price of land will increase with a consequent pressure for lower wages. The immediate effect will be a seeming prosperity but it will be bought at a dangerous price, a lowering of the standard of living.

The farm is a place to live and make a living. It must not be an industrial plant merely to make money. Under present ideas of the land policy we are drifting rapidly to that end. Everything must give way to the land owner as he comes first. He dictates terms and conditions. As the price of land advances he must have more of the produce, which leaves less for the producer. Ownership of a home-farm will become a matter of history as has the ownership of store buildings by the city merchants. We will have a few landlords and a race of tenants and dependent wage earners. It is not a pleasant outlook, but one that we must face and avoid if possible. There is a way out and it will prove easy and effective. It all depends on our use of land rent.

WHY YOU ARE WHAT YOU ARE
By EDNA PURDY WALSH

WHAT ARE THE SIGNS OF MUSIC?

If music has charms to soothe the savage it has even more power in building the bodies, heads and faces of those who are geniuses in music. Music in the spirit develops the faculty of tune—an area the size of a dime, located in the central part of the lateral forehead, close to the hair-line just where the face rounds off to form the side head. It is one and one-quarter inches above the angle of the superciliary arch.
The musician has a strong development in this area, as well as large auditory canals in his ears. The ear rim is very thin when music is very active, and sometimes almost translucent.

Fluffy hair is a usual accompaniment of the musical temperament, the voice itself is vibratory and musical, rising up and down on the scale as the individual speaks.
Most of the musical geniuses have foreheads very large in the side. Those of the strongly executive type have large lips, optimistic noses, and in the genius the upper eyelids are elevated in the center.
The wide forehead in the region of tune brings skill, a delicacy of feeling, and a keen appreciation of color, as well as sound.

Hands off Railroads

The Railway Age recently asked officials of the railroads to express their opinions as to what was most necessary to solve the present railroad problem. Consensus of opinion seemed to be that, more than anything else, they need to be left alone to run their business as other industries are allowed to do. W. B. Storey, president of the Santa Fe, said:

"One of the greatest handicaps under which the railroads had to labor prior to 1920 was the uncertainty bred by a succession of new varying laws. The legislative stability since 1920 has been attended by only numerous threats of a substantial change. The railroads can adjust themselves to any fair legislative requirements and if the public would rest content with the establishment of such requirements there would cease to be a problem, as the adjustment would constitute the solution."

WEEKLY NEWS SUMMARY

(Furnished by W. T. C. of C.)
 San Angelo—Dates for the 1925 All West Texas Exposition to be held at San Angelo, will be October 26th to 31st inclusive. W. E. Blanton, President and his directors are planning to stage, this year, the greatest fair that has ever been at San Angelo. This date was well timed and so set that all livestock at Dallas Fair and Wichita Falls and intermediate places could be here and the dates are so arranged that the Goat and Sheep Raisers Association can hold their annual sale also.
 Mineral Wells—A new concrete and steel auditorium will soon be under construction here according to Sidney Webb, chairman of the building committee. It will be completed in time to be used by the 7th Annual Convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.
 Midland—The question of a County Fair is now up again for consideration and Midland is expected to come across with a real "up to the minute" County Fair during the fall of 1925. The time for action is now in order so there will be no failure when the time comes to put over a good County Show. A Fair for a town or county is an educational project in that it teaches the value of good seed, better poultry and bigger producers of milk and butter on the farms.

 Decatur—Decatur today is probably the largest shipping station south of Kansas City. Several years ago when things were not going so well with cattlemen and farmers, the business men and farmers began looking around for something to pull through on and finally decided that dairy cows might help. Today this town ships milk and other dairy products that amount yearly to more than $200,000.
 Lubbock—This city reports that the $350,000 railroad bonus has been raised for the extension west to the New Mexico line. The matter is now up before the officials for action. Levelland will be an objective point on this new proposed railroad.
 Pecos—The Chamber of Commerce here pulled a very unique stunt at their noon luncheon recently as they held a cafeteria luncheon at the Hot Dog Cafe. D. Wood-Boseman, President of the Chamber of Commerce conducted the meeting in splendid style. W. H. Vanderpool delivered a splendid talk on "Pulling together." Many subjects were discussed among which was the Red Bluff Reservoir situation.

 Memphis—The sixth annual banquet of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce was held here Friday. Secretary, Geo. Sager, gave a very interesting report of the past twelve months work including different conventions and celebrations. One, among numerous other conventions held here, was the District Convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce held here last June.
 Plainview—This city is now proposing to secure a cotton mill and there is probability that they will succeed. Financing will be partly local and partly foreign.
 Haskell—The hotel committee here reports that they will be able to put over the $60,000 hotel as the amount of stock subscribed is near enough the goal to make the project almost an absolute certainty.
 Dilley—The Winter Garden section of west Texas centers around Dilley, Crystal City, Asherton, Big Wells, Carrizza Springs, and Eagle Pass. They are shipping out thousands of car-loads of spinach, onions, pepper and many other vegetables. Oranges, grape fruit, olives and dates flourish in this climate. As the name implies, their gardens are winter gardens as well as summer and spring.
 Carlsbad—Several new buildings are now under process of construction at the Carlsbad Sanatorium. 355 patients are now regaining their health at this State institution.

Monthly Meeting of P. T. A.

The regular meeting of the P. T. Association was held Friday, Feb. 6th and 3:30 p. m. The club had sent invitations to all the neighboring clubs, but only the clubs from Coleman were represented. There were some fifteen or twenty ladies from Coleman. A splendid program was rendered by the Intermediate grade. A detailed report from each department chairman was presented and approved. There were also good reports and suggestions from both the South and West Wards of Coleman club. After which refreshments were served to the visitors and 15 home members. All report a pleasant and profitably meeting.—Reporter.

Newspapers and Crime

Mr. Herbert Swope, of the New York World, addressing the American Society of Newspaper Editors, defined the scope of journalism as "Life Reflected in Ink," and said that people "must partake of the ugliness as well as the beauty." It is true, nevertheless, that many managing editors permit and even encourage the printing of sordid sensational details of crime, to be circulated in the homes of their friends and neighbors, that, if appearing in a book on the family reading table, or the shelves of a school library, would call from these same editors a protest that would burn the binding and brand the authors as not fit for respectable association. Of course, times have changed since the days of Ben Franklin and Horace Greely—even the old Police Gazette has become passe—but that and results speak for themselves.

The consensus of opinion among judges and people who come in touch with criminals is that the newspapers are largely responsible for the alarming increase of crime and general demoralization of youth, both boys and girls.

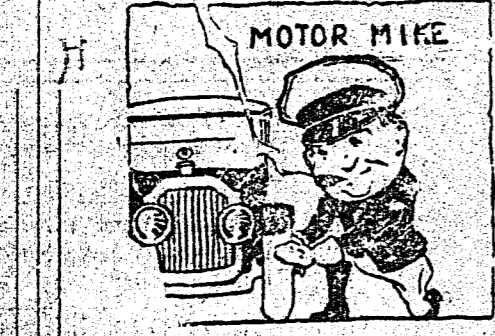

As a rule the press strives to serve their public with what it wants, but a line should be drawn somewhere. Newspapers are unquestionably educational to a large degree, and it cannot be claimed that the spreading out of all these wretched stories of crime is the sort of education needed. It should not be up to the public to show newspapers what they want, it has been repeatedly demonstrated in more ways than one during the past few years that newspapers have the power to show the people what they want.

If the advertisers and Chamber of Commerce should take action on the subject it would be long before a marked improvement would be noticed in this particular.

Baptist Missionary Society

The Baptist Missionary Society met Monday afternoon at the Baptist church. A very interesting program was rendered by the Royal Service. The subject discussed was The Struggle for Religious Liberty in America. There was a good attendance and much interest manifested in the work.

The eclipse of the sun should teach us that no light shines so brightly but that it cannot be extinguished.

Manufacturing Increasing

Census returns for 1923 show tremendous gains in the output of factories made in our country in the past ten years.

Totals for 1923, aggregate $60,000,000,000, or 2 1-2 times as much as in 1914, 5 times the output in 1900 and 10 times as much as in 1880.

The 1923 returns indicate an output 52 per cent greater in value than that of 1921 and increase is wage earners of 34 per cent.

In 109 industries listed, the census report shows 1,335,239 persons on the payroll compared with 993,328 in 1921 in the same industries.

Total of manufactures exported in 1850 was $23,224,000 and in 1923, exports totaled $2,042,000,000.

Factory products formed only 17 per cent of the total domestic exports in 1850, rose to 49 per cent in 1923 and in nine months ended September, 1924, were 55 per cent of total exports. Thus does industry create employment and steady payrolls.

Methodist Missionary Society

The Methodist Missionary Society met Monday afternoon at the Methodist church. Devotional exercises were led by Mrs. T. R. Sealy. Then the society had a business session and decided they would have a pre-Easter bazaar, and the plans and arrangements were made for this. Owing to their being so much sickness in town the attendance was small.

Monday, 16, is Dollar Day.

Large mirrors at railroad crossings to reveal the approach of trains are proposed, but that wouldn't do, because the toll among feminine motorists who stopped to arrange their toilet would be too heavy.

EMANCIPATOR

An all-wise Creator looked down upon his people and saw them, half slave, and half free.

In His infinite wisdom, He saw that this earthly condition could best be remedied through the influence of a human, loved and respected of his countrymen.

So He sent us Abraham Lincoln.

And he keeps love and respect for Abraham Lincoln in our hearts, that we may never forget. All mankind must be free.

A wise God, a faithful Ambassador, a believing people.

THE PASSING DAY

By Will H. Mayes

Twenty five years ago the announcement of the organization of a million dollar corporation to build textile mills in Texas would have startled the financial circles of the State. The other day there was a consolidation of three large mills into one organization with a capital stock of $3,250,000, and plans were formulated to increase the capital stock to $6,000,000. This big financial deal did not get even a front page notice in many Texas newspapers. We now think in terms of millions without getting staggered by the thought—or at least some people can. Texas is doing big things and taking it as a matter of course.

While Texas is doing things really worth while, these things are being done by the really-worth-while persons of the State. There is another class sitting idly by and saying it can't be done. When the development of the lower Rio Grande valley began a few years back, there were thousands living in that country, who said "You can't do it. Texas will never grow fruit to compare with that of California and Florida." There were men of vision who believed in making a trial, and today Texas is growing fruits to compare with any. The it-can't-be-doners who have not sold out and left the country are still croaking about the good old days when cattle roamed the country where the orange groves now flourish.

Many of you recall the first oil strike at Spindle Top, near Deaumont. The people generally laughed at those foolish enough to try to find oil wells in Texas, and many said that oil would never be found in paying quantities nearer than Ohio. There were a few who had vision enough to go on down despite the ridicule they received. Every Texan knows the result. Texas hasn't just a few oil fields, but there seems to be oil under the ground in Texas almost everywhere. The chronic do-nothing people would never have found it.

The Panhandle country was thought by most of us a few years ago as unfit for farming, and a genuine pity was felt for those who invested their money in such a country. The great trouble with that country now is they can't gather the large crops that are grown, and Panhandle people are pitying the Central Texans and East Texans who are content to stay at home and rock along in the same old ways.

The East Texan, once laughed at "book farming" and at the fellow who kept on ploughing his crops after they should have been "laid by." But an Anderson county man last year showed Texas that by the proper use of a little fertilizer and with plenty of hoest to goodness cultivation an East Texas sandy land farm can be made to produce two bales of cotton to the acre. Others are showing that fruits, vegetables, cane and great variety of other crops can be doubled if only the farmer will mix good sense and hard work.

Texas isn't at all the Texas of a few years ago. Good roads and automobiles and public schools everywhere, along with improved machinery and better methods of doing things, have worked wonders. The man who isn't prepared to keep up with the times will have to step aside and make room for others. This applies in every activity—in manufacturing, in business, in farming, in teaching, in newspaper work. You must keep up or quit.

There are some who think that the hurry-up methods of the present time are not as good as the old ox-wagon days. Maybe not. There was more leisure, less haste and feverishness then but that isn't the question. We are living now in 1925 and not in 1900, and if we would get along in whatever we are doing we must discard the ox-team ways of former days, and live and work like present day people. You can't make great progress in a small shell when the rest of the people are using airplanes.

Editor's Note:—We wish to compliment Hon. Will H. Mayes on the above article. Vision is a key that will unlock miracles, and we praise the man who has visions. Rip Van Winkle was a man without vision and when he awoke he failed to recognize his own children.

Santa Anna, from a standpoint of natural resources, is one of the most desirable places in which to live in the world. We have, at our command just the things needed to make a real city. No better people in the world, an agricultural territory that is surpassed by none. Adequate railroad facilities and an opening for industries on the American plan. The natural gas for fuel eliminates the accumulation of unsightly woodpiles, coal bins, soot, ashes and other such things to mar the beauty of the premises, water and electricity at our command in sufficient quantities to relieve any worry, and all that is needed is, for the people who live here to do their part in making a city. Cities and towns of the worthwhile kind never just happen, but are the results of united effort on the part of the citizenship that inhabit them. We see here a most wonderful and unusual opportunity to build an ideal and attractive city, just the kind that good people should want to live in, but the needful things to be added can only be accomplished through vision and concerted effort.

We understand one man, Mr. H. J. Parker, is now building a driveway up the Santa Anna Mountain, and expects to establish a tourist park on the top of the mountain. This move should be encouraged by every citizen here, and if financial aid is needed it should be furnished. Mr. Parker is not asking for anything, but he is due your moral support in this wonderful undertaking.

Charlie Chaplin may be a success as a comedian but he doesn't seem to register much as a husband.

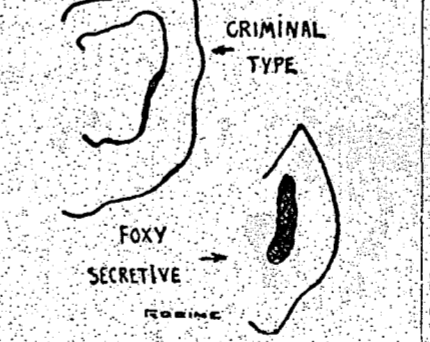

WHY YOU ARE WHAT YOU ARE

By EDNA PURDY WALSH

ABNORMAL MINDS, ABNORMAL EARS

There is a principle in nature which builds the abnormal, irregular ear from the habit of abnormal thought and heredity. The first ear is that of Prendergast, the homicide degenerate. Irregularity is marked in the criminal type, in the bony structure of the head. There is great length from eyes to chin, and small length from eyes to forehead. The eyeball is partially hidden under the upper lid, the feet are restless, he moves quickly from side to side, and when walking he glides like the cat. He may have amative-ness in his back neck, but he is never loving.

The second ear is that of the foxy individual with secretiveness well developed in the region an inch above his ear. The pointed ear points directly to this faculty. He has a great tendency to use the letter "S," spends much time watching everywhere, looking sideways, speaks in a whispering voice, with closed lips. He has a mysterious smile when talking, never trusts people—without positively knowing them. The outer angles of the eyebrows droop down on his eyes, often giving him a shrewd appearance. With the pointed ear, other qualities in the head—lack of conscientiousness, lack of benevolence and veneration, will corroborate the accurate diagnosis of dishonesty. "It Is Only When Dead That the Artist Begins to Have Value"

By SHERWOOD ANDERSON, in Century Magazine.

We came here, or our fathers or grandfathers came here, from a hundred diverse places and you may be sure it was not the artists who came. Artists do not want to cut down trees, root stumps out of the ground, build towns and railroads.

The artist wants to sit with a strip of canvas before him, face an open space on a wall, carve a bit of wood, make combinations of words and sentences, as I am doing now, trying to express to others some thought or feeling of his own. He wants to dream of color, to lay hold of form, free the sensual in himself, live more fully and freely in his contact with the materials before him than he can possibly live in life. He seeks a kind of controlled ecstasy and is a man with a passion, a "nut."

And very often, when he is not in actual contact with his materials, he is a much more vain and disagreeable ass than any man not an artist could possibly be. As a living man he is almost always a pest. It is only when dead he begins to have value.

To Try to Run Civilization Upon the Morals of the Past Is Fatuous

By ALBERT E. WIGGINS, in New York World.

WE MUST perceive the Golden Rule in the light of modern science if we hope to practice it in a way that will really help. We must not only be kind, but we must be intelligently kind. It is one thing to guard a child from tuberculosis or to bolster up a child's weak mind by a specially adapted course in school, so that he may become a useful unit in society and feel through life that he has come into a friendly world. We ought to do this; it is the very evidence that we are civilized, but our immorality in this direction consists in the fact that we stop there. It is another thing to set him up as the head of the family, charging him with its responsibility of increasing our supply of weaklings, who, in turn, may not only breed their kind, but pollute good stock that might otherwise produce strong offspring.

The point is that our modern society has not dared to establish morality in marriage. We regard marriage and the production of children as a natural right for everybody. On the contrary, marriage is a privilege which society should give or withhold in the interest of the race. What we need is an intelligent management of life under civilization and the moral courage enough to act upon the discoveries which we make. To try to run civilization upon the morals of the past is fatuous. The main biological fact of civilization, as I see it, is that both the fit and the unfit more easily survive. It is not necessary under civilization that men have intelligence, for he can acquire an education instead and do very well with that. It is not necessary that he be physically strong, for he can co-operate with others and make his environment safe. It is not necessary, even, that he be moral; for he can obey the law and thus keep out of trouble.

But while all this is true of individuals in civilization, it is not true of organisms which we know as Man. In order that Man shall go on, it is necessary that he be intelligent, strong and moral; and if civilization doesn't breed these characteristics, civilization has got to go.

WHAT MAKES MAN A LEADER?

An individual is a leader usually because he has the crown, or top back head well developed where lie the faculties of firmness, self-esteem and continuity, making him confident, ambitious, often forceful, and able to continue any work he begins.

Such a man will be great in so far as he has a corresponding development of intellect in his front head, and combativeness behind the upper part of his ear.

His nose is large at the top, he holds his upper lip down rather firmly, and his jaw is squarely curved. If he has strong observation in the eyebrows, tact and understanding at the top of his forehead, he automatically becomes a leader—a general, at least.

ness, or a master in his art. His back head, where lies friendship and parental love, is often weak or undeveloped, and he freezes out too much sociability or emotion, though as a rule he lives up to his obligations.

When such a man moves his hands he carries them in straight lines, he wears his shoes out evenly all over, his voice reaches far into the distance, and when he walks he swings only his lower arms. The central part of his ear is well developed.

PIGS

A boy in South Carolina writes to the U. S. Department of Agriculture:

"Five years ago I joined a pig club. I had a pure-bred pig, then eight weeks old. Since that time she has farrowed about 100 pigs. She paid for my clothes three years in high school and gave me spending money also. I am now in my second year in college and she is still doing the same."

He didn't mean the pig had entered college. He meant he realized when he had a "good thing." The fabulous goose of golden egg fame had not a thing on this porker.

Carping Criticism

One seldow sees nowadays the long haired, plug-hatted individual, who, standing in the glare of the gasoline torch, eloquently offered an awed crowd a panacea for all ills. The bottle, held forth prominently that all might see, his listeners were told, contained a preparation that would cure almost anything from croup to squeaking wagon wheels. Probably none of the panaceas so offered was worth much, so far as medical virtues were concerned, but the buyers believed in them and so, perhaps faith swept away many imagined ills.

The medicine man, or faker, call him what you will, offered something that might be of much benefit these days—a remedy. Present time orators for the most part are telling us what is the matter with the country. Judges and social workers and others stress the perils of matrimony; clergymen declare that the church is not doing its duty; educators say that the whole governmental system is rotten and there are many other criticisms of similar nature, but few of these howlers prescribe any remedy for conditions.

Many people have begun to believe that these orators say is true. Consequently faith is being shattered. Some wonder whether it is desirable to be married, to attend church, to send their children to school. What does it matter whether one votes this way or that, or not at all?

Such an attitude isn't likely to build up any of the institutions excoriated by the depressing orators. Most people realize that there are evils in all institutions, that perfection is difficult to attain. They would really like to know some remedy for correcting these evils. But all they get from the oratorical reformers is destructive criticism. Even a faker might do more to arouse a wilting patriotism and a disappearing faith.

DORS TRAINING PAY?

Business is passing through a most prosperous period. Some big man who studdies conditions says the year of 1925 will be the year "19, plenty 5." Better crops and better prices will make the industries hum.

Business concerns realize that it is always profitable to employ the very best trained office help! Which class is to be employed at a time like this? The one best trained for the business office will be sure of a job and will draw the best salary. The man or the woman who stays on the pay roll and enjoys the increase of salary and promotion is the one who is prepared.

Specialized business training will lift anyone above the masses. Ability is nothing more than the average brain specially prepared. Such training is necessary to success in this age of business specialization. Trained brains are at a premium—there are plenty of men and women for the ordinary job that pays an ordinary salary, but the demand for high-priced—for big jobs—is always greater than the supply. This is proven by the records of Tyler Commercial College, Employment Department. They have more calls for trained office help than they can supply.

Do you realize that you can place yourself in demand by the business man in a few months' time? You can do this by enrolling at once in the largest business training institution in America, at Tyler—Tyler Commercial College—with a faculty of over thirty specialized teachers, all modern office equipment, using their own famous systems. Prepare in the General Business, Private Secretarial, General Banking, Penmanship, General Railroad, General Civil Service, General Cotton Classing, Short-hand, Bookkeeping, Radio—and let the Employment place you in a good position. You can complete the course within from three to six months, which is in less time and at less cost than any other school!

Fill out the coupon below and send for the large 208-page book "Achieving Success in Business." This book is free and will help you to business success. Send for it now.

The Senate Is Apparently Becoming More Like the House in Personnel

By PROF. GEORGE E. HAYES, in Atlantic Magazine.

There are men of great wealth in the senate, but none whose presence there finds its sole explanation in the fact that he is a Croesus. Past masters in the arts effective in manipulating state legislatures, like Gorman and Platt, like Quay and Penrose, do not find their exact counterparts in the senate chamber today. The candidate who is obviously backed by a railway or trust stands little chance of election, but during a six-year term unsuspected fealty to such masters may develop.

The senate is apparently becoming more like the house, both in type, or personnel, and in the rate of rotation in office. Men are now coming to the senate with less of lawmaking experience than their predecessors had had in state legislatures or in the national house of representatives.

There seems to be a distinct tendency to turn from men wise in council to men with more dramatic and executive qualities. The spell-binder, the eloquent prosecuting attorney catches the applause and the votes. An aptitude for getting things done—or promising to get things done—often makes a stronger appeal to the voter than does a capacity for deliberate—often, perhaps, too deliberate—study of what is present to do.

NEW CALOMEL BREAKS A COLD OVERNIGHT

When the purest kind of English Calomel was combined with pepsin by a smart young chemist, the world was given an ideal mild medicated laxative for breaking colds. One night is long enough for this new, mild and non-sickening pepsin-treated calomel, called "Pepsinated Calomel," to break the most stubborn cold. Before breakfast time it vanishes and leaves you feeling fresh and fine.

"Pepsinated Calomel" does not sicken, gripe, salivate or upset you, but it does clean you out thoroughly, tone up the appetite, purify the blood, stop dull headaches, relieve stomach and bowel disorders and makes you feel like a new person. Never take the old drastic Calomel—insist on "Pepsinated Calomel," for it is better. Prepared by the Pepsinated Calomel Co., Atlanta, Ga. Sold by S. H. PHILLIPS

Gained Ten Pounds

Mrs. George S. Hunter, of Columbus, Ga., says she suffered severely with female troubles.

"I had to go to bed and stay sometimes two weeks at a time," says Mrs. Hunter. "I could not work. My... were irregular and I got very thin. I went from 126 pounds down to less than 100. My mother had been a user of and she knew what a good medicine it was for this trouble, so she told me to get some and take it. I sent to the store after it and before I had taken the first bottle up I began to improve. My side hurt less and I began to mend in health. I took four bottles in all during the last ten months. Cardui acted as a fine tonic. I am well now. I have gained ten pounds and am still gaining. My sides do not trouble me at all and my... are quite regular. I know that Cardui will help others suffering from the same trouble."

CARDUI

Lesson for February 15
JESUS IN GETHSEMANE

LESSON TEXT—Mark 14:32-42.
GOLDEN TEXT—"Not what I will, but what thou wilt"—Mark 14:36.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus in the Garden.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Christ's Prayer in the Garden.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Christ's Prayer in the Garden.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Lessons From Gethsemane.

1. Jesus Christ Suffering (vv. 32-34).
 1. The Place (v. 32). The garden of Gethsemane—an enclosure containing olive and fig trees, beyond Kidron, about three-fourths of a mile from Jerusalem. The name means "olive press." The name is significant of the occasion. Edersheim says, "It is an emblem of trial, distress, and agony." Perhaps the garden was owned by some one of Jesus' friends. It afforded Him a suitable place to retire with His disciples in this trying hour.

2. His Companions (v. 35). He took with Him the eleven disciples that they might share so far as possible, this sorrow with Him. Being a real human being He craved human sympathy. He bade them watch with Him. While He knew that He must "tread the wine-press alone," He had a keen appreciation of sympathy so far as those who loved Him could give it.

3. His Great Sorrow (v. 34). This is the same as the "cup" in verse 36. It was not primarily the prospect of physical suffering that was crushing Him; it was the suffering as a sin bearer—the sensations of His pure soul coming into contact with the awful sin and guilt of the world. In addition to this there was the judgment stroke from the holy God as it fell upon His Son instead of the sinner. God caused the iniquities of the world to strike upon Jesus (II Cor. 5:21; Isa. 53:8).

4. Jesus Christ Praying (vv. 35-42).
 Though He prized human sympathy in the hour of supreme need, His only recourse was prayer. The sympathy of our friends is helpful, but in the great crises of life we can only find help as we go to God in prayer.

1. The First Prayer (vv. 35-38).
 (1) His posture (v. 35). He fell on his face prostrate on the ground. In the hour of our great need we naturally prostrate ourselves before God—a becoming posture. (2) His petition (v. 36). "Take away this cup from Me." By the cup is meant His death on the cross. No doubt it was most grievous to Him to face its shame, but He pressed on, knowing that for this cause He had come into the world (John 12:27, 28, cf. Heb. 2:14). He prayed that the "hour might pass from Him"—the burden was so great that it seemed His life would be crushed out. His prayer was heard (Heb. 5:7). When God hears our prayers He grants the petition desired (I John 5:14, 15). Angels ministered to Him, giving the necessary grace to endure to the end (Luke 22:43). (3) His resignation (v. 36). His will was in subjection to the Father. He knew that His death on the cross was the will of God the Father; for He was the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world. (4) The disciples rebuked (v. 37). He singled out Peter, since he had been the most conspicuous in proclaiming his loyalty (John 18:38). Though he would go with Him to death he could not watch one hour. (5) Exhortation to the disciples (v. 38). "Watch and pray, lest ye enter into temptation." The only way to be able to stand in the time of trial is to be watching and praying. Jesus knew that although the disciples meant it well they would fall in the trial unless aided from above.

2. The Second Prayer (vv. 39, 40).
 He withdrew the second time from His disciples and uttered the same words in prayer. This was not vain repetition. It is proper to repeat our requests. He found the disciples asleep again. Their shame and confusion were more marked than at first.

3. The Third Prayer (vv. 41, 42).
 He uttered the same words in His third prayer (Matt. 26:44). He tells the disciples to sleep on and take their rest, as the hour had now come for His betrayal. There is such a thing as being asleep when wanted and awaking when it is too late.

Thank God

Thank God every morning when you get up that you have something to do that day which must be done, whether you like it or not. Being forced to work and forced to do your best will breed in you temperance, self-control, diligence, strength of will, content and a hundred virtues which the idle will never know.—Charles Kingsley.

Doubts

Doubts about fundamentals exist in certain churches. Where there is a warm-hearted church, you do not hear of them.—C. H. Spurgeon.

War and Peace

Be at war with your vices, at peace with your neighbors, and let every year find you a better man or woman.

Power for Holy Service

The power for holy service is intercourse with God.

IS THAT SO?

A city dweller recently made this smart remark at a banquet: "The country to rest and to rust in. The city to sow and to reap in."

What tommy-rot! Does this tailor-made gentleman believe for one moment that the people of the rural communities do not sow and reap? Are all the achievements for the big city man and to those of the small town and farming communities produce nothing? Let him look through the pages of "Who's Who," let him study the directory of the names of big business men and honestly tell us how many of those who have achieved success came from and still live in the small communities. Let him search the crowded tenement houses, the slums, the missions and cheap lodging houses, and tell us, honestly, just what percentage of the population of any big city have sown and reaped to advantage.

Then he went on to say: "Out in the country, necessity is the caterer, nature the cook, fresh air the doctor and gossip the amusement."

Well, what of it? Fresh air is the doctor and most of the residents of the rural districts enjoy good health. In the crowded cities they build great medical office buildings where the poor sick city dweller is X-rayed, given vapor baths, rubbed by osteopaths and robbed by everybody. Look over your medical buildings, your public clinics, your hospitals and your sanitariums, your poor deluded city dweller, then come out into God's fresh air, and think it over.

"Necessity is the caterer." Sure! We have appetites in the country, and we get hungry. We don't get much caviar on toast, oysters polluted with typhoid germs, bootlegger whiskey and rotten fruit, but we do have fresh laid eggs, pure cream, fresh vegetables and meat from the smokehouse. Sometimes we eat in bur shirt sleeves and without the jazz strains of an orchestra, but we can hear the birds singing and get the scent of new mown hay.

"Nature, the cook?" Never, you poor simp, unless we eat it raw. We are willing to admit the wonderful ability of the city hotel chef, but did you ever eat pies like mother used to make, at a big town restaurant? How about the old cooky jar, the buckwheat cakes dripping with maple syrup, the country sausage and the strawberry shortcake served on the tables of the small town dwellers? Go ahead and ruin your indigestion with pate-de-foiegras, file mignon, parfaits, and all those city dishes, but give us our old-fashioned bacon and eggs.

And "gossip the amusement." You're right there, old topper. The small town is cursed by gossip. We'll admit it, but when you went on to say "no one in the city gives a gosh-durn for gossip," you said what isn't true. The big town is just as bad as the small town in that way. Nearly all the big scandals, the rottenest stories, the nastiest messes, are corked up in the cities or at Hollywood. When a poor girl goes wrong in the country she goes wrong because she believed in some city guy; when a girl goes wrong in the city it is because she sells herself for city fixings.

Most men are just as curious as women, only they conceal it better.

An Oregon high school has added a course in dodging automobiles. This is putting education on a practical basis.

Who will do the big job—erect a modern high school building? Will the present school board or will the task be passed on to another administration? The News is ready for the campaign.

Tired After Eating? Try this Simple Mixture

If you feel tired after eating, it is often a sign of gas and undigested matter in your stomach or bowels. Simple buckthorn bark, magnesium sulph. c. p., glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adierka, helps any case gas on the stomach, unless due to deep-seated causes. The QUICK action will surprise you. Adierka is wonderful for constipation—it often works in one hour and never gripes.—Corner Drug Co.

Night Coughing Stopped Quickly By Simple Treatment

Thousands who are troubled with persistent coughing at night, which by robbing them of valuable sleep weakens their systems and lays them open to dangerous infections, can quickly act to prevent this danger through a very simple treatment. People who have hardly been able to rest at all on account of coughing spells have found they can sleep the whole night through undisturbed often the first time they try it.

The treatment is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You simply take a teaspoonful at night before retiring, and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it, without following with water. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. The result is you usually sleep soundly the very first night, and the entire cough condition goes in a very short time.

The prescription is highly recommended for coughs, chest colds, hoarseness, and bronchitis, and is wonderful for children's coughs and spasmodic croup—no harmful drugs. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good drug stores. Ask for

CO-OPERATION

"Oh, he's a corporation man." "The corporations are oppressing the common man." "That's a corporation's way of dealing with the little fellow."

Whenever the editor hears a remark like any of these, he feels that there is room for a little education on the exact nature and meaning of corporations.

The word itself is adapted from co-operation, because the corporation is a way of bringing capital and labor together from hundreds of different sources for the accomplishment of a given task. There can be nothing wrong about corporations any more than there is something fundamentally wrong with co-operation.

Suppose you have a big task ahead like lighting a city or supplying thousands of people with steel products. Such a job is usually too big for one man to engage in profitably or successfully. It can be accomplished successfully only when some men will contribute needed money and others even more needed brains and experience.

By forming a corporation those interested in the project contribute what they have that is most needed. The result is a great organization giving service to the public, that draws the source of its power and success from the united and cooperative effort of a great number of people.

There is really no sensible reason under the sun for quarreling with businesses merely because they are corporations, any more than there is the least particle of sense in harranguing about big business. It is not the size or nature of the business or organization that should cause us to complain. It is dishonest business both large and small against which we should direct our wrath.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

(By E. R. Waite)

That modern shoe dealers are persistent advertisers. They carry in stock the best for wear and style. If they did not, they would not dare advertise.

That they have wonderful shoes for men, women and children, made of the best materials and in perfect harmony with style and pocket-book.

That well advertised lines of shoes are products of known value; the kind that give satisfaction.

That shoes of uncertain value are seldom advertised because they do not give satisfaction.

That too little attention is paid to foot comfort.

That good shoes outwear poor shoes by many months.

That shoe dealers advertise for the purpose of attracting you to their stores so they can have the opportunity of showing you their shoes and proving to you that their shoes will give you the best value for your money.

You should buy shoes only from the merchants whose advertisements you find in local papers. It will save you time, worry and money and assure you of getting comfortable shoes.
