THIRTY-EIGHTH YEAR

SANTA ANNA, COLEMAN COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1924

NUMBER 43

"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

SANTA ANNA HAS GREAT POSSIBILITIES

One of the best ways to build Santa Anna and bring the town into her own, is advertise to the world our natural resources together with what we have already accomplished. Several methods of advertising can be used effectively and to advantage.

Our Business Men's Luncheon Club, the only commercial organization functioning here, is overlooking a real opportunity in not having some small folders printed, setting out our several advantages, and inclosing one in every letter, business or otherwise, broadcasting to the world what Santa Anna is and what she can be. Not that we would get a little printing bill out of it, but because we believe so strong in advertising, we would like to see this matter meet with favor.

SPECIAL SERVICES AT BAPTIST CHURCH

There will be a series of special services at the Baptist church each night next week. Dr. W. E. Hornburg of Brownwood will preach each night. Dr. Hornburg is one of the best preachers we have in this part of the state. It will pay all the Christian people of the town to hear him. All people of Santa Anna have a special invitation to attend these services. Joe Trussell of Brownwood will sing each evening. He is a good singer.

Sunday School Sunday at 9:45. We have set a goal to be reached by Christmas. The goal is 400. You must help us reach this goal. Services at 11 o'clock.

Sunbeams at 11 o'clock. B. Y. P. U.'s at 6 o'clock. Evening worship at 7 o'clock, by Rev. E. A. Ingram, Missionary from Brazil. Sidney F. Martin, pastor.

SANTA ANNA GETS MORE COTTON THAN LAST YEAR

Up to Wednesday afternoon of this week, there had been weighed in at the cotton yard here 9,283 bales of cotton from the 1924 crop. Santa Anna has received about an average of 10,000 bales each year the past three years, and will go 1,000 bales over the three-year average this year. The future bids fair to be good for all who try.

BANKS TO BE CLOSED

Both banks in Santa Anna will remain closed all day Tuesday, November 11th, on account of General Election.

SANTA ANNA STORES ARE WELL STOCKED

In the judgment and estimation of the writer, Santa Anna merchants are now carrying the best stocks of merchandise they have carried in many seasons. Due to the favorable weather this fall, people have not needed to buy winter clothing, and the farmers have lost no time in harvesting their cotton crop, and the merchants have large stocks of goods on hand, and they are offering them at the right kind of prices. We make these statements because we believe they are facts, and we want you to come to Santa Anna before you go elsewhere, or place an order for your supplies. The merchants here have Dry Goods, clothing, groceries, hardware, furniture, drugs, novelties, etc., in abundance, and two of the best banking institutions in the south west to care for your extra funds.

Don't ever pass up Santa Anna, for to do so you are making a mistake.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Mrs. J. S. Martin celebrated her 72nd birthday last Sunday. There were 47 children, grandchildren and friends present for the happy occasion. All her children were present except 2, George Martin of Ninekaba, Okla., and S. Martin of Sterling City, Texas.

Late in the afternoon all said goodby, hoping that Grandmother would soon have another birthday.

Those present were Mrs. J. S. Martin, Mrs. Mollie Caldwell and son Walter McCord of Gatesville, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McClure, Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Lou Matchett of Hamlin, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Newman and family, Clovis, New Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. ## HOME PURPOSES OF BAPTISTS PROSPER

Local Texas Churches Use $16,000,000 In Five Years

IS RESULT OF CAMPAIGN

Dallas, Texas, October 20.—Home purposes of the 3,636 Baptist churches in Texas during the period of the the Baptist 75 Million Campaign beginning in 1919, received $16,472,680 thru free-will offerings, Dr. F. S. Groner, General Secretary of the Executive Board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas reports. This amount was not included in the contributions of the five year program but it was intended that local church expenses should be carried through special offerings for that work.

The gifts to local church expenses are increasing as a direct result of the efforts of the denomination to bring about the success of the Campaign, Dr. Groner said. In the year preceding the Campaign the gifts to local church expenses totaled $2,151,705 in Texas. During the year which closed May 1, 1924, just five years later the gifts to local church expenses were $3,908,889, which is the largest amount used for Home purposes in the history of the denomination in the State.

The gifts during the first four years of the Campaign showed a gradual increase with $2,183,230 in 1920; $3,371,519 in 1921; $3,580,672 in 1922; $3,423,370 in 1923; that year being the only period during which the growth was halted.

It is expected that the gifts to the Campaign from now until the opening of the Baptist General Convention of Texas in Dallas, November 20, will exceed all gifts during this same period in Texas Baptist History. After that Convention, efforts will be turned toward the 1925 program of the Southern Baptists, in which it is hoped to obtain $7,500,000 in the seventeen Southern States and the District of Columbia, which are included in the Southern Baptist territory. The goal which Texas has set for next year is $1,800,000, of which 58 per cent will go to state work and 42 per cent to South Wide work.

GARD OF THANKS

We certainly do thank the people for the kindness shown in helping to put out the fire at the Mattress Factory Monday evening.—C. B. Garrison and wife.

Slogans are good things to have lying around if they are put into practice.

P.-T. ASS'N. ABANDON HEALTH PAGEANT

Wednesday afternoon of this week, the committee in charge of the movement, putting forth an effort to stage a three days program for Santa Anna, to take place about the middle of November, met and decided that, due to the apparent indifference on the part of the business men of the town, in that, it was impossible to enlist a more unanimous support, they would abandon their efforts for the present time and look to some other method of trying to raise funds sufficient to finance their contemplated improvements this season.

These good ladies regret to give up their plans, but think that it is better to abandon them now as to continue without a more unanimous support.

They request the News to extend their thanks to those who offered to help them, and to assure you they appreciate it more than they have words to express, but under the circumstances, they feel they are acting wise in calling in their announcement for the present time.

Authorized by the Committee.

E. T. HADEN SUCCESSFUL MELON GROWER

On display in the window of the May & Garrett office, is a 57 pound melon, raised by one E. T. Haden, formerly of these parts, but at present farming west of Lamesa, in Dawson county. The melon here is a large one, but Mr. May, who brought it home with him last week, states that Mr. Haden produced melons on his farm this year that weighed as much as 75 pounds. The editor is not trying to get up in class with Foster may in telling unbelievable things but we have seen water melons that were grown in the same vicinity that weighed over 90 pounds and then was told that still larger ones were further out in the patch? We know this sounds fishy, and we don't care whether you believe it or not? We have also been told that just a little further on it was nothing uncommon to find three or four little Mexican drowned in a water melon rine, but we never did go that far out? However, we did go far enough to see that it is a great country, and water melons are not the only things raised out there of enormous size.

Lesson for October 26
THE STILLING OF THE STORM

LESSON TEXT—Mark 4:35-41.
GOLDEN TEXT—What manner of man is this, that even the wind and the sea obey Him?—Mark 4:41.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Story of a Great Storm.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Stills the Tempest.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Power of Jesus Over Nature.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How to Meet the Storms of Life.

Jesus was a great Teacher, as was shown in the parable of last lesson, but Mark's aim was to show Him as the Divine Servant doing mighty deeds. Hence after the parables are presented deeds which show Him to be the master of the forces of nature, demons, diseases and death. His mastery of the forces of nature is the particular deed shown in this lesson.

I. Jesus and the Disciples Crossing the Sea (vv. 35, 36)
Weary with the teaching of the day, He proposes that they take a ship to the other side of the sea; the aim doubtless being to escape the crush of the multitude. They did not delay, for "they took Him even as He was in the ship."

II. Overtaken by a Storm (v. 37).
Storms were frequent on Galilee, but this was an unusual storm. It was a furious tempest, so great that the waves beat into the ship so that it was full. Even though Jesus was in the boat with the disciples they were overtaken by a storm. To follow Christ does not necessarily mean smooth sailing or cloudless skies. Indeed, it rather implies that we will have to encounter storms. However, those who have Christ on their boat cannot sink.

III. Jesus Himself in the Storm-Tossed Boat (v. 38).
The day had been a very strenuous one, and He was weary. In the midst of the turbulent elements He was resting in sleep. He who made the sea could well lie down and sleep though the storm did violently rage. His being asleep did not indicate that He was indifferent to the need of His disciples.

IV. The Terrified Disciples (v. 38).
In their minds nothing but disaster and death awaited them. There was absolutely no danger for no boat can go down regardless of the violence of the storm which has Christ on board. The disciples were not only terrified but they chided Him for sleeping while they were in such great danger. It was all right for them to come to Him for help but it was presumptuous on their part to make a demand upon Him.

V. Christ's Rebuke (vv. 39, 40).
He arose and rebuked the wind. Unless we see Him as the God-Man we will be perplexed, for we see a human being sleeping because of exhaustion and then we hear the divine voice of the Creator and Ruler of the universe. He who was asleep has power to rebuke and calm the raging elements.

1. The Wind (v. 39). This showed that He had power over the elements of nature for at His command the wind ceased and there was a great calm.

2. The Disciples for Their Lack of Faith (v. 40). They were looking upon their circumstances instead of upon their Lord. For all the disciples had seen and heard they should have been without fear in the company of Jesus. Let us learn to trust Him for He has power over all things.

VI. The Effect Upon the Disciples (v. 41).
They were filled with great fear. A little while ago they were afraid in the face of a storm. Now they are afraid in the presence of the Lord. Frequently marvelous deliverances by the Lord so affect God's children that they are more alarmed over the presence of a divine being than they are by the threatening perils. Let us see that standing in our midst though unseen today is our Lord and that despite the raging of the storms we can hear His voice of peace.

Christianity
Christianity is a religion of the Spirit. And, whatever else a church may or may not have, possession of the Spirit of God is that which makes it Christian. Elaborate formalism, beautiful architecture, ornate discourses may be vehicles for the expression of the Spirit, but they must be understood to be secondary and contributory only. When so understood they are legitimate and praiseworthy.—Charles B. Tupper.

Our Blessings
We fail to get much benefit from many blessings because we do not try to impart them to others.—Herold and Presbyter.

The Wages of Sin
The worst of the sin is that they are always paid in part by the innocent.—Lucas Malet.

Riches of Friendship
A dollar is soon spent, but the riches of friendship are inexhaustible.

TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR MOTORISTS

If all motorists would observe the following "ten Commandments" there would be a great reduction in the number of accidents on the highways:

1. Drive on the right side of the road; it's just as good as the left.
2. Slow down when approaching a cross road; it is nearly as dangerous as a railroad crossing.
3. Look out for children. You can never tell what they will do, and you are always in the wrong when you hit one.
4. Try to help instead of hindering the traffic officers; he's there for your good and he's got a tough job.
5. Be sure that your lights are not defective or glaring; it's no joke driving into a blinding glare, as you yourself know.
6. Read and obey the warning signs; they are not put up as ornaments.
7. If you've got to speed—do it where you won't kill anybody but yourself.
8. When making minor repairs get all wheels off the pavement and stop where your car can be seen from both directions; otherwise you may stop longer than you anticipated.
9. Speeding around corners is a straight route to the hospital. Don't race past a stopped car. Some day the jury will call it manslaughter.
10. Use discretion. The fact that you had the right-of-way won't bring anybody back to life, least of all, yourself.

Mrs. Hardy Blue Entertains

Mrs. Hardy Blue entertained her Sunday School class on Tuesday afternoon of last week. The time was spent very pleasantly in playing games and roasting marshmallows. Those present were Mary Harriett Simpson, Anna Wilson, Velma Sealy, Helen Hall and Evelyn Eck. The girls report a fine time and are always glad to have Mrs. Blue entertain them.

Merry Wives

The Merry Wives met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Burgess Weaver. The house was decorated for the occasion with cut flowers, and the time was spent in conversation and in doing fancy work. There were no visitors. Delicious refreshments consisting of chicken salad, nasturtium sandwiches, olives and ice tea were served to the club by the hostess.

J. M. Byrd is attending the Synod of the Cumberland Presbyterian church in Dallas this week and will visit his daughter in Waco before he returns home.

BOBBIE'S GRANDMA

We saw her the other morning. Her face was bright and her dress was clean and neatly pressed. As we came up behind her, she looked like she might be a woman of forty. She was carrying a parcel, and as we caught up with her she answered our "good morning" with a cheery smile.

"You can't guess what this is," she said, holding out the parcel.

"Looks like a bundle of laundry," we hazarded.

"Laundry, nothing!" she retorted. "That's Bobby's birthday cake and I'm going to spend the day with him."

The cheerful little woman was Bobbie's grandmother, and she was going a distance of some sixteen miles to spend the day with her grandson. She always made him a birthday cake, as she did all the rest of her grandchildren. She is typical of the grandmothers of today. She has raised her family and helped them to establish homes of their own. For fifteen years she has been a widow and trod the path of life alone, except for the saving presence of her children. She doesn't wear a lace cap and sit in the corner and knit. She does not even wear glasses, at least she doesn't wear them on the street. She goes to the picture shows and keeps in touch with the community activities. She has been lonely at times, and perhaps discouraged, as she faced the duties of life after her companion was taken. But she never took her troubles to her friends. "You've simply got to look on the bright side," she said to us one day. "Other folks have their troubles, too, and they don't want to hear about yours." What a splendid philosophy! She left us at the corner with a smile and went on her way with the birthday cake. Bobby is a lucky little fellow to have such a grandma. And Grandma is lucky to have Bobby for a grandson.

There are no ties like the home ties, and no folks like our own kin.

The Complete Life

"We get out of life exactly what we put into it," says Harvey S. Firestone, a man who knows by experience.

Life gives back to us more than we bring, it is true; but if we bring nothing it gives us nothing in return.

Interest, sympathy, a love for earnest work, the human touch, a conscientious wish to close each day with at least some little addition to the structure we are building; the pleasure of knowing that something we have done has speeded the other fellow on his way—these are the things that make life worthwhile. No man is important in himself, except as he is able to influence others. Any one individual is a mighty small atom in the universe.

It is only as we are able to develop others, to bring out the best that is in them; to guide them to things to which they would not have found their way alone; and only as we are able to receive from them what they have to give, that we can grow and become a worthwhile part of the scheme of things as they are. These are the things that make life complete.

DECIDED BY ONE VOTE

In 1811 a Rhode Island farmer dallied to release his pig from a fence and arrived at the polls too late to cast his vote. The Federalists lost that precinct by one vote; as a result, a representative who favored war with Great Britain was elected to the legislature, which in turn by a majority of one elected a United States senator who favored war. Then the Congress, by a majority of one, declared the war, generally known as the war of 1812.

The foregoing is quoted from the political observations of Richard T. Greener. It should be re-read and memorized by the man who says to himself: "Gee! my vote doesn't make much difference. Guess I'll not go to the polls."

Our country, in its Colonial days, fought a hard and bloody war to win its independence and to establish government by majority.

This principle of government by majority vote is the most valuable possession of democracy.

Yet for many decades there has been an increasing tendency among voters not to cast their ballots in presidential elections.

This tendency has reached a grave and critical point where we are very close to government by minority.

In the 1920 presidential election, for every 100 who voted, 96 who were legitimately entitled to vote stayed away from the polls.

Do you want government by majority or by minority? You answer quickly: "By majority." But you help destroy government by majority if you neglect to register and cast your ballot.

The vote-slacker, by not voting, expresses indifference as to what kind of government we have, good or bad.

The ballot is the foundation of popular government. By wise use of the ballot, citizens can remodel our political and economic institutions—in short, can have any kind of government they want.

Are you really indifferent about whether we have good government or bad? No! a thousand times, no!

Is your lone vote unimportant among millions? Remember the Rhode Island farmer whose failure to vote may have caused a war, and again you answer: "No! a thousand times, no!"

Do you want better government, a voice in making it better? Do you want to help keep America a government by majority? Yes, a thousand times, yes! Then be sure to cast your ballot this fall. Vote without fail! Your vote is needed.

An ignorant man in dead earnest can make a more eloquent appeal than a great orator who isn't.

When fashion takes comfort into consideration it ceases to be fashion.

COSTLY NEGLIGENCE

Negligence in driving automobiles, which causes them to run into railroad trains is going to prove costly, because railroads have announced that they expect to retaliate; that instead of being on the defensive as in the past, they will be the complaining parties at the bar of justice.

Not so long ago the Great Northern railroad won a verdict for damages against a resident of Great Falls, Montana, who drove his automobile into a freight train, smashing the side of a freight car. The amount collected was small, but the railroad values the judgment as a precedent and expects to press suits of similar character where the motorist is at fault.

Though railroads are frequently at fault in running trains thru towns and cities too fast, every fair-minded person will admit that they have done much to teach the motoring public caution. It has availed them little, and while they will not lessen their efforts to save lives and themselves damage suits, they can not be blamed if they retaliate in kind.

With millions of automobiles in America, the problem of keeping them off the railroad tracks becomes more and more perplexing. If the railroad companies, in threatening to collect damages and thus touch a vital spot with the automobiles owner, can reduce the number of accidents at railroad crossings, they will perform a service not alone for themselves, but for the motoring public as well.

Every other means having failed, the railroads will not be censured for taking this course. The reckless driver, instead of receiving sympathy, will have to show cause why he should not be held responsible for his acts. This may cause him to think twice when he approaches a railroad crossing.

Silver Dollars

The United States treasury department has started a movement to encourage the wider circulation of silver dollars.

We are heartily in sympathy with it. Why shouldn't silver dollars have circulation, we ask? What's more essential to the life of a silver dollar than circulation?

They lend weight to a man. They give him standing—that is if he has too many in his pocket he can't get up, once he sits down, and therefore he has to stand.

Silver dollars are works of art when carefully polished with quality silver polish.

They are so much easier to throw to the birds than paper money.

One can always take a nice collection of silver dollars with him and spend them with easier conscience because of the relief that comes from being freed of a heavy load.

By all means give us silver dollars. That's about the brightest idea that has come out of Washington since congress adjourned.

Work is a preventative of crime—and lazy husbands.

SOLDIER BONUS APPLICANTS ARE URGED TO HURRY

New York, Oct. 8.—Only 1,300,000 applications out of a possible 4,500,000 have been received for the soldier bonus, and veterans who intend to apply for the adjusted compensation were urged to do so without delay by Major General Robert C. Davis, adjutant general of the army, in a statement Tuesday.

Of the applications received 850,000 have been examined and about 400,000 have been passed and certificates for the amounts due forwarded to the veterans bureau, which will make payments or otherwise compensate the veterans as the adjusted compensation law provides.

"It is imperative from the standpoint of economy in administration," said General Davis, who is in charge of the machinery for handling the applications, "that those veterans who intend to avail themselves eventually of the benefits conferred by the act, should make their applications now."

"The war department is now ready," he added, "to receive, verify and certify an average of 30,000 or more applications daily, whereas applications are now coming in at the rate of about 10,000 a day."

Applications require only the signature of the veteran or the relative or other person applying under his name and his finger prints in case of living veterans.

WHO ARE THE FARMERS' FRIENDS?

There are a lot of farmers—and by the way a good many not farmers—who habitually "order" what they need.

We will admit that there are some things which are not habitually carried in stock in Santa Anna and which, if in a hurry, must be bought elsewhere. But, when crops fail, who will give credit for supplies to make this year's crop? Will Sears-Roebuck or Montgomery-Ward. Did you have any idea these mail order concerns would loan you money to carry you over? You know they wouldn't.

Who pays the taxes that furnishes public schools for your children? Foreign mail order concerns or the people who live in Coleman county and the state of Texas? Who chips in with money to bury a poor person or to replace a house burned in the country? Who buys your fruit, eggs, butter, vegetables, crops and other stuff? The mail order house or the local merchant? What would your land be worth if there was no Santa Anna with its railroad and good roads?

Come clean, now. Don't you feel sneaky selling your stuff to Santa Anna merchants and then mailing a money order to some mail order house?

Correct this sentence: "The time is short and I don't want to talk any longer than is necessary."

TRAINING THE DISABLED

The U. S. Veterans' Bureau, though it has been condemned, is doing a very creditable work in restoring disabled ex-service men and women so that they may again take their place in the world and become useful citizens.

The bureau is appealing to prospective employers to give consideration to these men and women, who seek not charity, but a chance to earn a living.

The fact that they have not permitted their handicaps to darken their lives, but have striven to fit themselves for a productive occupation, is recommendation enough that they will make valuable employes.

There are approximately 52,000 men and women in vocational training and 67,000 have already been rehabilitated and have gone into employment.

They are normal in appearance, ability and their desire to be self-sustaining. Less than five per cent have any apparent disability and more than ninety per cent are able men and women, viewed from the standpoint of the occupation for which they are being fitted. Their disability consists of handicaps only insofar as their prewar occupations are concerned.

They deserve wise and sympathetic consideration, not alone because of the service they rendered their country in time of need, but because they have shown a determination to overcome their handicaps and take their rightful places in gainful employment.

A Good Example to Follow

Lotta Crabtree, noted actress of a day that has gone, who died the other day, worth four million dollars set an example that should ever be held before men of wealth, to show the possibilities of doing good that lie within their grasp.

She did not leave her estate for relatives to quarrel over, but willed it to those persons and objects that she held dear during her life.

Miss Crabtree knew the misery and disappointments of poverty and misfortune. She knew the trials of those who had not prospered as she, because as a child she saw the sinful life of the California mining towns when she danced for drunken miners who threw gold at her feet.

The poorest of us dream of being able to give material help to the less fortunate, but how many of us would be so unselfishly liberal if we were blessed with the opportunity to do good, that Miss Crabtree had, and took advantage of?

If every person in this community could be inspired with the same ideal of unselfish service that this woman has demonstrated she had, most of the acute distress and unhappiness due to poverty and misfortune could be overcome.

Her life and good deeds may be a lesson for every person. They make more apparent that wealth carries a responsibility. She lived up to hers, but how many do?

Even good logic is not always the truth.

THE PASSING DAY

(By Will H. Mayes)

A friend whom I have known many years, and who I never heard speak a word against any one, said to me the other day that the most noticeable change in his character as he grows older is that he becomes less critical of others and more inclined to concede that they have as much right as he to think and do as they please. Youth is inclined to be impetuous and to attempt to force the whole world to accept its ideas. Failing in the effort to implant its ideals in others, it is likely to become critical and to say things that should be left unsaid. As one grows older he comes to see, if he keeps his contact with the life about him, that others, as well as he, are largely the products of their environments and their training and often are more to be pitied than censured if their views and their conduct are at variance with the commonly accepted standards of right.

One of the hardest lessons to learn, though, especially if one holds the position of teacher or preacher, is to avoid passing unfavorable judgment on those who do not accept your views. Most persons forget that they change their own views and their standards of conduct from time to time, and that they are only in very small part what they were in their early years. It is unfortunate if, despite this change which all thinking people recognize as inevitable, an individual grows harsh in his judgment of those who have not developed or changed a long time with him. The most miserable person in the old man or woman who has grown cynical and harsh and merciless along with age, and who has gotten out of attune with the world. The happy old age is that which keeps close to the thoughts and to the lives of youth.

On his own account, even if the happiness of those about him is not considered, one cannot afford to drift into a pessimistic attitude toward life. It may be true that life today is not pitched along exactly the same lines as it was fifty years ago, but why complain of the change? We are living in a faster age, just as our parents lived in an age faster than that in which their ancestors lived. I can't bring myself to think, though, that the people are any worse than they were in "the good old days." In fact it seems to me that youth is better than it was then, that, with some exceptions of course, young people have higher ideals and motives and are making preparation for doing greater things in life. The age has lead aside a certain prudishness and assumed modesty noticeable in former years, but who can say that it is really any worse for that.

Recently a young girl was talking to me about taking a ride with a party which her mother was to accompany. Inadvertently I asked why she did not take her father along, too. Her reply was that he was too grouchy and would "spoil" the drive for the whole party. Somehow I did not feel so sorry for the girl because she had such a father as I did for the father because he had such a disposition. To come to be recognized as a "grouch" by one's children is a plight to invite pity. That father has merely lost contact with the viewpoint of youth, and the mother has retained it. Perhaps it is because she has lived closer to the children that she is better prepared to understand them, and to enter into their pleasures as one of them.

Teachers have wonderful opportunities for living with young people in such intimacy that they themselves may remain young in mind if only they will. Unfortunately too many of them become dogmatic in their instruction, dictatorial in their methods and disgruntled in their attitude toward life. When they do, they not only lose most of their influence on those they would teach, but a reaction is felt in their own lives that makes them "crusty" and "grouchy." The best teachers are learning this and as they do learn it the school room is losing most of its horrors for youth and is getting its right place in the hearts of the young. It is great to remain young just to know the viewpoint of youth.

Texas Ranks 37th In Expenditures For Education

(By Sec. State Teachers Ass'n.)

Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 6.—Texas ranks 44th in per capita state and local expenditures for all public purposes, including schools and state and local government. Texas ranks 37th in per capita and local expenditures for all forms of public education. These facts have just been made public by Dr. George A. Works, director of the Texas School Survey. He stated that the averages are based on the total population, and they include 48 states and the District of Columbia.

For all public purposes, including all forms of public education, Texas spends $19.42 per capita, ranking 44th. Nevada ranks first with an expenditure of $102.26, and Alabama last with $12.13. For all forms of public education, Texas spends $8.41 per capita, ranking 37th. Montana leads with $24.46, and Kentucky is last with $4.36.

These facts, said Dr. Works, justify the conclusion that Texas maintains an inexpensive public service, including schools and state and local government, as compared to her sister states. The second section of his report deals with the funds being spent on public elementary and high schools, exclusively, according to Dr. Works. Details in this show that in its per capita expenditures for public elementary and high schools, Texas ranks 37th, the amount per person being $7.32. Montana leads in this respect with $22.33 per capita, while Mississippi is lowest with $3.54.

Texas gives $3.64 out of state taxes to the public elementary and high schools, taking in this respect 10th place. Nevada leads again with $7.51, while Florida is last with 70 cents. But Texas is far down the line in respect to local taxes spent on education, taking rank as 43, giving only an average of $2.77. Montana leads here with $17.64, and Mississippi is last with $1.72. In the percentage of the total revenues for providing for elementary and high schools that comes from the state, as contrasted with local sources, Texas ranks first. There is no state in which a larger proportion of the revenues for these schools comes from the state treasury. But Texas is the lowest state in the nation in the proportion of expense of providing for elementary and high schools borne by the local communities.

THE WITCHES' PARTY

There was frost in the air that October night,
And the moon rose big and round
The wild wind blew with all of its might,
And the shadows were long on the ground.
The great stacks of corn in the harvest fields
Looked lonely and dark like ghosts,
And the autumn leaves danced the Hallowe'en reels,
O'er the tops of the black fence posts.
An old owl sat on a long dead limb
Up 'twixt me and the moon,
And a huge black cat with a visage grim
Sang a song to a worn out broom.
It was Hallowe'en night and the Witches' night,
The only night of the year
When the year when the spirits that died in the Salem blight
Might leave their ghostly biers.
During a whole long year their plans were made
For the annual Witches' feast
To be the best of a whole decade,
Aer witness by man or beast.
So out o'er the stubble hard and dried
Where the wind blew wild and fast,
A black pot boiled while a skillet fried
Hung up o'er the red fire's blast.
The moon beams stole like great white ghosts
O'er the stools that sat all around,
And Jack O'lanterns sat on the tops of the posts
To light the old festival ground.
Far away o'er the fields and a bit to the right,
A light from a farm house gleamed,
And the trees rose dark 'gainst the sky that night
As they bordered the old trout stream.
As I watched in the shade of a great black rock
I saw such an awful sight
That e'er I recovered from the clutch of the shock,
The Witches were abroad that night.
For up in the air 'twixt me and the moon
A great black Witch sailed by,
And the thing that she rode was a worn out broom,
And there was fire in her ghostly eye.
The hat that she wore was sharp and tall,
And her nose drooped down to her chin,
And her hands clutched the broom for fear she would fall
The feast of the night should begin.
Her cape like a cloud with a silver lining
Floated high in the light of the moon
And the eyes of the cat on her back was shining,
And her bony ankles wreathed the broom.
Then thick and fast like a covey of birds,
I saw the gleam of their hats,

And I saw as I listened to their angry words
That the skies were filled with bats.
And the owl that sat on a long dead limb
Up 'twixt me and the moon
Opened both of his eyes that he better might see
The riders of the worn out brooms.
Like black birds that light at the setting of sun
They slowly come down to the earth
And I watched each visage as one by one
They joined in the Witches' mirth
And long 'til the night waned into the dawn,
They played with their cats and switches,
And people were conscious long e'er they were gone
Of the annual feast of the witches.
That night while the young were making merry
They oft saw a witch sail by,
And the little old man who kept the dairy
Saw the fire in their ghostly eyes
And the face that was lit by the candle light
Showed the face of the maid's bride groom,
And all men knew e'er the close of the night
That the Witches were abroad in the gloom.
But long e'er the first rose tints of dawn
Appeared in the cloud ribbed east,
The last of the ghostly guests were gone
From the Witches' annual feast.
Each hastened away to her ghostly tier,
And not one witch will be seen 'Til old Time has told another long year,
And again comes Hallowe'en!

OUR TEXAS INDUSTRIES

(By Phoebe K. Warner)

Here is something else for the school boys and girls of Texas to study this year. And it makes fine subject matter for your composition work and your junior or senior high school English. What could be more interesting to any live Texas boy or girl than to know more about what is going on and what is being done in Texas?

Until this day Texas and Texans have been the biggest producers of raw materials in the Union. Men, women and little children have spent their lives to produce something for others to do. They have done the hardest work that other people in other States and other Nations might build great factories and employ millions of others to work up the raw products raised in Texas.

Just how many people do you suppose Texas furnishes a job? By this we mean how many people do you suppose it takes to ship the million bales and more of cotton from both Galveston and Houston as Texas did this past year, and make it up into garments of every kind and then ship it back to Texas and all over the world to be used? How many people do you think are required to work the millions of pounds of wool and mohair sent from Texas into garments ready for use? How many people are needed to make the boots and shoes our hides supply? Think of it! Texas produces more raw materials, even agricultural products than Iowa and Illinois combined which are the two other largest producing states in America. What becomes of all this cotton, wool, mohair, cream, beef, pork and everything raised on Texas farms? Then there are all our mineral products that come from under the earth. Who works those products into finished products ready for the markets? Thus far Texas has the name and the glory of being the greatest producer of all Uncle Sam's sons. But what becomes of his products? Not one person in a thousand, even in Texas, ever thinks of Texas as a manufacturing State. DO YOU?

Just listen to this. These are the very words of G. M. Knebel, Executive Vice-President, Texas State Manufacturers' Association, with headquarters in San Antonio, Texas: "OVER FIVE THOUSAND INDUSTRIES IN TEXAS ARE PRODUCING OVER $1,000,000,000 IN MANU-FACTURED PRODUCTS ANNUALLY."

Think of it! Did you know that? Almost as much as the Nation's cigarette bill. As much as the whole Nation spends on the public free education of all its children. Almost as much as the Nation spends on candy. A little more than the women of the Nation spend on the outside of their heads and faces. More than the wheat crop of the Nation. Almost as much as the egg and poultry crop amounts to in the whole Nation. $1,000,000,000. One BILLION dollars worth of manufactured products are turned out annually in Texas from 5,000 different industrial plants in our own state. The finished products already made in Texas practically double the commercial values of our agricultural products which last year sold for a little more than a billion dollars. What could Texas do, and how many people would be furnished employment if even half of her raw products were manufactured into ready to use and ready to wear articles at HOME? This is one of the biggest problems of the future in Texas. And it is the school boys and girls of today that will have to solve Texas' great industrial problem. It is ripening for you. It is getting ready to be solved by you. It will be the problem of your generation. Are you being prepared for that day? Is the State of Texas doing all in her power to prepare the boys and girls of today for Texas' industrial day?

FACTURED PRODUCTS ANNUALLY

Here is one thing you can do for yourself. You can look out for industrial news. You can begin to think and study. Texas products, their great quantities and varieties. You can study the economic waste from field to

What our high school students need most is to review their old Ray's arithmetic for about four years and learn to compute interest, freight rates and transportation and study the multiplication tables and get a sufficient business foundation into their heads. TODAYS WORLD TOPICS

No One Can Place a Limit

Ezra, Meeker, who blazed the Oregon Trail in 1852, driving an ox team from the Middle West to the Pacific coast has just completed the return trip by airplane.

When he went West there were no stage coaches along the route; no railroad penetrating the forests and deserts. The airplane and the automobile had only been dreamed of. And perhaps these more modern means of transport would never have been devised and perfected had not such men as Ezra Meeker, pathfinder and pioneer, employed to the fullest capacity the thing at hand, emphasized the need of a better method.

Ezra Meeker retraces, in a day or two, the route which required months to cover seventy years ago. Men talk into a simple device and are heard half-way around the world. Seas are crossed and recrossed in comfort and comparative safety. And even greater and better things have been accomplished by contemporaneous thoughtful activity.

As men have been emancipated from tedious plodding, they have gained a clearer concept of their freedom. The manner of this deliverance has not been accidental or merely evolutionary. Thought, rightly directed, has become the agency. This being true, no one can place a limit beyond which much development and growth shall not go.

Its Easy to Spend the Other Fellow's Money

The National Industrial Conference Board asserts that Governmental expenditures, national State and local in 1923, were $10,045,000,000 or 15 per cent of the total national income of that year. This total represents $91 from every man, woman and child in the United States, a sum three and a half times greater than in 1902, and more than five times greater than in 1890. An idea of the magnitude of these figures may be gleaned from the fact that the combined disbursements of all Governmental units in this country in 1923 was equivalent to 93 per cent of the total amount paid out in wages and salaries in 1921 by all manufacturing plants in the country covered by the census of manufactures. Verily, it is easy to spend the other fellow's money.

The Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce calls attention to the fact that the people of the United States are just now preparing to waste $18,000,000 through the building of winter fires. This represents the annual fall losses by fires due to defective flues, clogged chimneys and carelessness.

General Leonard Wood has asked Attorney General Stone to review the decision of the State Department and the question of admitting liquor to the Philippine Islands. The State Department holds that ships carrying beverages to the Philippines shall be refused clearance papers, no matter from what part they sail.

The Railroad Administration

James C. Davis, Director-General of Railroads, reports that all war claims, counter claims and controversies between the carriers and the Government have been finally settled notwithstanding the fact that the roads were really "managed" by the former owners, they succeeded, as Mr. McAdoo has charged, in making the people pay a loss of $50,000,000 a month or a total of $1,500,000,000 for the 26 months of Federal control. This seems to indicate anything but patriotic service and loyalty during war time. The same report shows that the average wages paid during these war years was $1,468 per employee. In 1923 the wages paid averaged $1,619 per employee. Surely high wages did not cause the loss.

We insist on foreigners becoming posted in American law, but when eminent lawyers disagree one wonders how the foreigners may construe our constitution.

British Labor Party is Out

The English governmental system is quite different from that of the United States. In England if the political party representing the King meets a vote censure or a negative vote on some important government proposition, then the cabinet ministers all resign and a new parliament must be elected. It is a referendum back to the people. This is what has happened to Mr. Ramsay MacDonald and the Labor party.

The first political crisis was occasioned by the withdrawal of a prosecution against the editor of a communist newspaper. The second was because of the terms in the Anglo-Russian treaty. On both of these propositions the Labor party has met strenuous opposition and Mr. McDonald has asked for a new election.

The House of Parliament has 615 members of this number the Conservatives have 250 votes, the Liberals about 155, and the Labor party 200. It has been only by the support of the Liberals that the Labor party has been in power. England had a general election in 1922, another in 1923, and now must have another, though it is very doubtful if the election will give any party an absolute majority. The Labor Party derives its fighting strength from its program of radical industrial reform. Yet so long as it is a minority government it is debarred from attempting to carry out those policies which it has nearest at heart, and is compelled to behave as an orthodox liberal government. This, much Labor opinion thinks, is not only bad for its own morale but it is also bad politics. Its leaders think it is better for the party to be in a minority fighting for its own ideals than in opposition with its hands tied and welcomes the issue in the belief that the time will soon come when its majority will be a fact.

The country, and world in general, is well satisfied with Mr. Ramsay McDonald. He has done much for European peace, and most people would probably like to see him carry through the work he has begun.

An eastern investigator asserts that 80 per cent of the couples who attend movies do so because they have no parlors and the parks are too cold. A majority of these can't tell the name of the picture, and a good many of them are not sure whether there was one.

Notwithstanding the fact that the 19th Amendment to the Constitution places men and women on a footing of political equality, the Supreme Court of Idaho has ruled that women are not eligible to serve as jurors in that state. Most women will not protest against the decision.

Because the Courts have decided that pedestrians have rights on highways and street crossings, he will be a daring individual who undertakes to "stand" on his rights—unless he carries a substantial insurance policy.

The World Owes You a Living! Be Your Own Collector!

Since the building of the pyramids, there has always been and always will be an over-supply of mere workers—human hands and brawn to obey the orders of the Educated.

This is the routine worker—the taker of orders. He fulfills an important part of the world's work, but he is a poor collector. He combines hard work and poor pay together and never achieves anything. Examples of this is seen in everyday life. We see men and women of talent who never use it.

Out of ten men, nine labor for the tenth. It takes preparation to the tenth. What is the difference between the leader and the other nine? Simply the ability to do the things for which the world pays a premium. This ability is not acquired by luck. It is not acquired by inheritance, neither by gift. It comes thru THINKING. It comes thru training and it will come to you if you will train.

The best preparation has proven to be in the courses offered at Tyler Commercial College, Tyler, Texas, thru the General Secretarial, General Business, Banking, Railroad & Western Union, Bookkeeping, Shorthand & Typewriting, Business Administration & Finance, Civil Service, Cotton Cladding, Radio, Penmanship and Telegraphy courses.

FISHERMEN FIND OLD BUFFALO HEAD ON JIM NED CREEK

Head of Monarch of the Plains Picked up in Pasture; Was Shot Through Head.

While fishing on Jim Ned Creek in the north part of Coleman county the past week Jim House and Doug Gafford, of Rising Star picked up an old Buffalo head and brought it in and it is now on display in the offices of Brown & Robertson.

A bullet through the forehead laid the proud monarch of the plains low, and there is no telling how many years the head had lain partially buried in the pasture. It is almost petrified and almost as heavy as a rock. The horns are still well preserved and the head is said to be a good specimen. Uncle Jim Clark, Uncle George Hill and others of the old timers of this section say that buffalo used to be as thick as mosquitoes in New Jersey along the Jim Ned and that Callahah, Coleman and Taylor counties were the premier buffalo counties of the state, back in the '70s' when they settled in this part of the state.

The head is attracting quite a bit of attention and revives old memories among the old timers who used to enjoy the buffalo chase.—Rising Star X-Ray.

Good Manners

The ill-mannered boy invariably becomes an ill-mannered man and the girl who has no manners grows up to be a woman whom everybody dislikes.

An ill-mannered man is not often successful in a business which requires that he come into daily contact with the buying public.

An ill-mannered woman never has any friends and lives dissatisfied and discontented life.

School teachers are always endeavoring to improve the manners of their pupils but they find it difficult where good manners are not taught in the home.

Parents who wish a happy life for their children, both in a business way and socially, will begin to teach early that to have friends, it is necessary to recognize the wishes and privileges of others.

Santa Anna Is Victor of Rochelle Here Saturday 18-0

After having played three games in mediocre fashions the boys staged a real come back and out played and out fought the heavier team of visitors. There was more team play among the locals than has been seen on previous occasions and the team as a whole played their best game of the season. The efforts of some of the more bulky line men still look rather pitiable but the instilling of a little more pep and fight is expected to smooth out this weakness by the game with Ballinger Friday.

The game started with Sparks, Captain for Rochelle winning the toss and choosing to defend the east goal. Capt. Dick received at the west goal. Harvey playing center for the locals, received the short kick off and returned five yards before he was spilled. On the next play Arnold star half back brushed right end for 15 yards and a first down. Russell smiled and ran over the entire team of the visitors for another first down—it looked like a walk over but frequent penalties against different members of the home team saved the day for the visitors and their goal line remained un-crossed for the first quarter.

Early in the second quarter the home boys advanced the ball to the visitors ten yard line only to lose a chance for a touch down when Arnold fumbled and Rochelle recovered. After two hopeless attempts at the line the visitors quarter called for the ball intending to punt but the locals rushed him and he fumbled the ball which Phantom Wallace covered in a flash. Capt. Dick's drop kick was wild and he failed for the extra point.

The visitors presented their only threat early in the second half when they opened up with a series of short passes which the secondary defense was unable to solve—able to gain almost at will in the center of the field they hit a stone wall as they neared the Santa Anna goal and the ball went over on downs—an exchange of punts and a fumble gave the locals possession of the ball in mid field from where they plunged and passed it over for a second touch down. Capt. Dick again missed trial for goal. There was no further scoring in the third quarter, although a number of substitutes sent in by Coach Lowe gave the visitors a scrappy battle.

The fourth quarter saw more action as Captain Dick opened up on a series of passes. Repeated fumbles saved the visitors for the first part of the period but as the game neared a close a third touch down was scored as the result of a series of line plunges and end runs featuring Fulton and Captain Dick.

The locals meet the strong aggregation from Ballinger here Friday evening at 8:30 and would appreciate a liberal attendance from those interested in the success of the team. The boys are working hard, play clean fast foot ball and are deserving of your good will and support.

In this connection the management wishes to thank those firms and individuals who so liberally contributed to the purchasing of equipment and other necessary incidentals—a list of the above mentioned parties will be published at an early date.

HOME, SWEET HOME

When John Howard Payne wrote "Home, Sweet Home," he touched upon the tenderest sentiments which swell the human breast. But he probably did not realize that he was also writing a song based upon an economic principle. Every since man emerged from the nomad, he has held fast to the place called home. Whether it was a cave in the adjacent rocks or a log cabin on the hill, he has fought for his home. "Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home," but it expresses deep emotion, but it expresses real estate values as well.

If a man owes two debts of equal amount, one secured by collateral, and the other by a mortgage on his home, and if he were able to pay but one of the obligations, it is not difficult to guess which one he will pay. Men make all sorts of sacrifices to save the home, even though it be so humble. There are other diamonds, stocks and bonds, but "there is no place like home."

It is this principle of love of home which makes mortgages on dwellings the best security in the world. Building associations realize this. Seldom is there a loss on a building association mortgage, for the reason that nearly all their assets are invested in first mortgages on homes, occupied mostly by the owners. There are very few forced sales under building association mortgages, and hardly ever is there a loss. Most of these sales are caused by a death in the family. Until the home is broken up by death, there is no security like that of a mortgage.

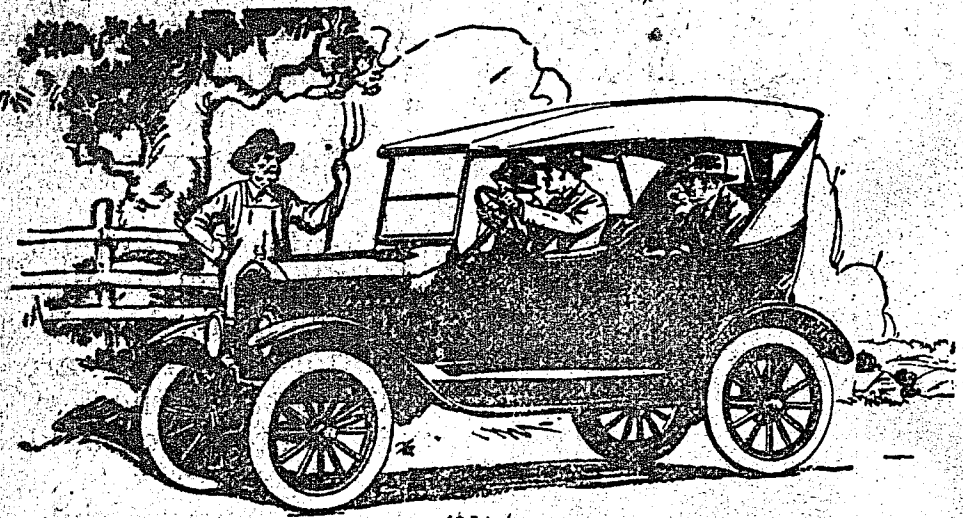

Most of us forget that there are only seven days in a week and that no month has thirty-two days.

A PROFITABLE PASTIME

Boosting, like an infectious disease, is "catching."

Those who boost find in time that their whole system is permeated with the spirit of boosting and that their viewpoint on every question is better.

Honest boosting is profitable.
It reacts favorably and brings results when everything else fails.

Boosting renders a service for the booster. It takes his mind off the petty things which occupy his attention and prevents him from developing a clear case of brain fog.

Even though it be for selfish reasons, boost and then boost some more.

And when you get the right
mental attitude for boosting,
take your early training in boosting for Santa Anna.

There is no better place in the world to live. We all believe that, but we don't think about it often enough.

This community which we call home may have some disadvantages. But when that idea works its way into your thoughts, push it out by enumerating in your mind some of the many drawbacks of communities you know.

Santa Anna never suffers by comparison. It always will grow in your estimation if you will take a few minutes now and then to think over some of its good points.

And its disadvantages? They will disappear when we boost together as we should for its betterment.

Nettie Turner of Santa Anna is one of the transfer sophomores in the University this year. Miss Turner was a teacher of public school music in the Austin grade schools last year and has taken extensive work along musical lines. She is both a pianist and singer, having studied under Professor Guion of S.
M. U. Her first year's college work was done in Trinity College.
Miss Turner is a member of the Girls' Glee Club, and also on the sophomore advisory council. She is taking a physical education course here in the University.
This summer she was a councilor of Miss Aden's Girls Camp on Lake Medina. Miss Turner is a Gamma Phi Beta Pledge.—Austin Paper.

The Santa Anna High School
Choral Club was organized on Wednesday afternoon with a membership of thirty-four. Mrs.
Denman of Daniel Baker is the director of the Choral Club.

The Fourth District Medical Association of Texas will meet in Brownwood October 29-30, in their annual session, and the medical profession is looking forward to a very profitable and pleasant meeting. Dr. J. G. Mc-Call of Brady is President and Dr. T. Richard Sealy of this city is Secretary. The News office will have the splendid program ready for distribution Friday of this week.

Post master B. F. Sullivan of Rockwood was here on business early Monday morning. It has been said that Mr. Sullivan came to Coleman county before it was finished and helped to build the Santa Anna mountain and dig the channel for Jim Ned Creek, but this is further back than any one here can remember, so we do not give this as being authentic. In so far as we know there was nothing here but a hole in the ground when Mr. Sullivan first landed.

Mrs. M. L. Hooper missed her Santa Anna News last week and called in Saturday to see what the trouble was. She stated she had been reading the News regular for 20 years and could not get along without it. Several others called for missing papers, and the only way we can account for it is, we missed a list of names on the galley in mailing out.

Where the fault is all on one side the quarrel doesn't last long.
