Faculty For Next Year Completed

At this week's meeting of the Board of Education the remaining teachers required for a complete faculty next year were elected.

Brownlee Hunter was elected to teach in the high school and assist in the physical education for boys. He holds his B. A. degree from Baylor University, and intends going to the North Texas State Teachers College this summer where he will pursue courses which will further equip him for efficient service. He played on the Mountaineer squad while here in high school, and is completing this term's work left incomplete by the resignation of Scott Jackson some time ago.

Terrell Davis of Winters was elected as head coach and teacher in high school. He will succeed John E. Little who was elected some time ago, but declined acceptance. Mr. Davis takes his B. A. degree from T. W. C. of Fort Worth in June, having majored in Physical Education and lettered on the Rams football squad there the past four years. He was a star player on the Winters Blizzards champion teams several years ago, and comes most highly recommended by those who know him. Said one school man of him: "He is as clean as a hound's tooth and you just can't beat him."

Mrs. Gladys Davis was re-elected as teacher of the Colorado School, she having taught it the past two years, and is closing a successful term this week.

Funeral Services For Ernest Switzer At Valley View

Ernest C. Switzer, 47, died at his home in Valley View, Texas Wednesday morning, April 26, and was buried Friday afternoon. Funeral services were held at the Presbyterian Church of that city with Rev. Evans, pastor, officiating.

Mr. Switzer attended the Santa Anna schools when a boy, having moved away from here in 1914.

Survivors include his wife, four children, Marshall, Edward, Billie Earl, Wanda Lou and Betty Sue; two brothers, Arthur Switzer of Santa Anna and Roy of Baltimore, Md.; and one half-brother, Clifton Switzer, Santa Anna.

Local people attending the funeral were Arthur and Clifton Switzer, Mrs. Annie Burden, and Alpheus, Lee and Jessie Boardman.

ANGLERS MAKE EARLY RUN

When the fishing season opened Monday morning, May 1st, it was reported several parties were lined up ready to go.

This scribbler didn't see the performance, but according to current reports, as soon as the clock struck twelve, several mattocks, spades and other rusty implements were put to use in search of bait, and all roads leading out toward creeks, rivers and lakes were soon lined with courageous anglers seeking places where the finny tribe were hungry and in great numbers. So far, however, all the fish stories reaching us are tinged with last year's or other back models too much to be very interesting. A very interesting fish story for an editor would be something like the following:

"Well, Mr. Editor, we just returned from a fine fishing trip, drove by your place and left you a real fish. It is not the largest one we brought in but it will weigh five or six pounds and we trust you and your family will enjoy it very much."

Now that sure would be a real interesting story, but we doubt if such a one ever happens.

One fellow said the fish bit so fast he had to hide behind

ANNIE NICKENS IS HONOR STUDENT AT TEXAS TECH

Miss Annie Nickens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Nickens, is one of the women students of Texas Technological College who will be honored on the afternoon of May 16, at 5:30 o'clock. The students to be honored in this special service were chosen because they have demonstrated during the past year outstanding accomplishments along the several lines of endeavor for which the college stands.

Each honoree is to select a page from a list of eligible freshmen women who were judged by the same standards as the students of the upper classes.

Approximately 75 school children are due to board the Santa Fe passenger train here Friday morning for an educational train tour to Coleman. Students will be accompanied by their teachers.

C. C. Stovall of Hobbs, N. M. visited friends in Santa Anna Sunday and Monday.

A large pecan tree to bait his hook. But others, probably less fortunate, seem to think someone had fished or something, for the fish where they went apparently were not hungry.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thate of Comanche spent Tuesday in the city visiting friends.

Lions Hear Home Talent Tuesday

Among the interesting items on the program at the Lions Club Tuesday were two of the High School students, who delivered their very timely orations, prepared for special contest events.

Miss Wanda Sanders rendered her speech to be delivered at Abilene during the annual West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention in the "My Home Town Speaking Contest," which is well prepared and inspiring. To hear this splendid description of Santa Anna should inspire and encourage people to strive to make our home town a still better place in which to live and rear a family. Miss Sanders is a fine declaimer, using the natural poise graced with proper dignity.

James Moore gave a splendid rendition on Agriculture, which he was to deliver in a district FFA Contest at Abilene Wednesday of this week. His speech was well prepared and well rendered, and if we are not disappointed some one is going to have to do some splendid, well prepared oratory, or Santa Anna will bring back some more laurels. Let's give these young people a lift and encourage them.

Jimnie Lankford and F. M. McKinney of Coleman were guests of the Club. One Bill Mills, a former convict who has spent most of his life since developing into manhood, was a guest of Prof. J. C. Scarborough, and talked briefly on the doings at the state penitentiary, also of the reform school at Gatesville, Texas. His picture of the treatment of inmates of either place is enough to cause anyone to try to travel the straight and narrow path. It is another evidence that crime does not pay. Mr. Mills also spoke to the student body of the Santa Anna High School.

Dr. T. Richard Sealy, who has just returned from the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., was present, and delivered to Band Master Willis the Texas Ranger Star awarded by the Texas Ex-Ranger Association to the band master of the Texas Ranger Band. (All Mr. Willis needs now is my sawed-off shotgun to put on a real show). W. T. Stewardson of Shield was a guest of the Club. Members present were D. L. Pierat, president, Hardy Blue, Secretary, J. C. Scarborough, T. Richard Sealy, M. H. Wohlack, Claude Reid, E. W. Willis, C. F. Campbell, D. D. Byrne, W. R. Mulroy, Neal Oakes, W. B. Griffin, R. L. Hunter, Rex Golston, Herman Spencer, R. E. Dunham, O. A. Ebergrade, John E. Little, Geo. M. Johnson, R. R. Lovelady, Lion Lovelady also had as his guest W. H. Thate of Comanche, whose home should still be in Santa Anna.

They will return Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thate of Comanche spent Tuesday in the city visiting friends.

Santa Anna F.F.A. Boys Win 3 First Places In District Contests

Large Class To Graduate Here

Thirty-four splendid young girls and eighteen boys are preparing for graduation at the close of school May 19. This is one of the largest classes of seniors in the Santa Anna High School, the students representing the best families in the community.

We believe it would be very fitting for the business people of Santa Anna to throw a congratulatory page in the Santa Anna News, bidding the students onward and upward to higher and nobler things in life.

Several will use their high school education for a stepping stone or platform upon which to build a much higher education by going on to some of the several colleges and universities available, while others will probably stop at the close of school. Education is worth fighting for, and we have our first one yet to express regret for the time, energy, effort and endurance necessary to procure a higher education. To some the way may seem dark but that old saying "Where there's a will there is a way" is still true, and here's hoping that all will take courage and find the way.

First Carload of Wool Sold Monday

The sales committee for the Santa Anna Wool Warehouse Association, Inc., made their first sale Monday, May 1st, selling a carload of wool to Henry Stallings & Co., Lucius M. Stephens, buyer for the Stallings firm, inspected the wool and did the buying.

The largest clip was brought in by Tom and Robert Stewardson. Seventeen thousand five hundred pounds was a clip from a cross-bred Delaine and Carriedge flock. The second largest clip was brought in by W. T. Stewardson, and H. E. Stewardson, six thousand five hundred pounds straight Delaine. Both of the above clips brought 22¢ net. Other mixed lamulus clips were sold for 21 and 22 cents.

The prices paid here were equal to the prices paid in other sections for similar clips. Buyers are here daily and growers wishing to dispose of their clips now can sell to as good advantage in Santa Anna as at other points.

Flower Lovers Enjoy Show at Ranger Building

The flower show sponsored by the Santa Anna Garden Club at the Ex-Ranger building Tuesday afternoon was a real treat to our flower lovers as evidenced by the fact that one hundred fifty people called to see the display during the hours from three to six o'clock.

The array of flowers so beautifully arranged, with roses and iris leading in abundance, included daisies, larkspur, columbines, petunias, phlox, lilies, geraniums, cornflower, snapdragons, sweetpeas, pinks, mock oranges, carnations, poppies, wild daisies, Indian paint brush and others.

As the guests entered they were greeted by the club president, Mrs. Clinton Lowe, and directed to the guest register. An unusual arrangement of red verbenas and blue and white larkspurs forming the lone star flag placed on the same table immediately attracted the attention of every one.

Mrs. R. R. Lovelady, Mrs. A. R. Brown and Mrs. R. L. Todd presided at the punch bowl which was carved in a huge block of ice.

Out of town callers included Mrs. E. H. Flewelling, Mrs. T. J. Allen, Mrs. W. M. Weathered, and Mrs. C. W. Woodruff of Coleman; Mrs. J. S. Wall, Mrs. C. P. Gray, Mrs. Elma Campbell and Mrs. Lewis Brook of Brady; Mrs. R. L. Lowe and

Twenty-eight local boys, accompanied by their sponsor, A. D. Pettit, went to Abilene Wednesday to compete in the Central West Texas district contests of the Future Farmers of America, held in the Abilene High School auditorium. Eighty boys representing three counties vied for honors in the contests.

Following is a list of winners taken from the Abilene Reporter-News Thursday morning:

First place in the senior chapter, conducting contest went to the Roby group of boys with Merkl taking second, Abilene won third and Santa Anna was fourth.

In the junior or "green hand" division of chapter conducting, Rotan won first, Roby second and Abilene third.

Sam Connor of Abilene was awarded first place in public speaking, with members of the Santa Anna and Rotan teams taking second and third, respectively.

Santa Anna was first in the one act play contest and Rotan was second. The play, "An FFA Member Pals the Villain," dealt with struggles of an FFA boy in saving his tobacco harvest and his girl friend from the dastardly villain.

Debate honors went to Willard Wilson and Feltton Martin of Santa Anna by default and O. A. Cheaney of Santa Anna qualified for extemporaneous speech.

All first place winners will compete in the state contests to be held in July at Huntsville. From there winners will go to regional meets and then to the national contest.

Soon To Open For Business

The editor has been exceedingly busy the past three weeks doing some repairs and preparing to open up a new little industry in Santa Anna. In a very few more days we will have open and ready for service a handy little sandwich shop where our friends can crop in at will for a nice sandwich, cup of coffee, hamburger, and some other light lunches.

When open give us a call, inspect the premises, and if hungry try a lunch with us.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Galloway of Grandfield came last week-end for a visit with her mother, Mrs. M. D. Eubank, who says Mr. Galloway has returned to his home but Mrs. Galloway remained for a longer visit.

Miss Edith Brannon of Brownwood, Mrs. Bill Thate, Comanche, Mrs. Ed Baxter, Albany, and Mrs. H. O. Newman of Alpha.

THE CHALLENGE OF CRIME

James A. Johnson, Warden of the United States Penitentiary, Alcatraz Island, California, after quoting statistics from many sources tending to show that crime begins early in life and is associated with early leaving of school, presented the following challenge to teachers at a recent meeting of the National Educational Association.

"Youth imitates. Youth emulates. Youth is active. Youth is restive. Youth is curious. Youth is venturesome. Youth is rebellious. Youth is the time of lawlessness. Criminal tendencies assert themselves early in life. The neglected youth, the unsolved problem child, is the genesis of crime. It is not beyond our ability to discover the tendencies and to treat them in school days. All we need is the courage to do early what we are obliged to do late.

"I believe the greatest opportunities are in the schools, and that progress made in educational programs and teaching staffs offers our greatest hope. There is room and there is need for the establishment of child guidance clinics, diagnostic schools, individualized attention, psychological testing and psychiatric services. There is need for drill and discipline in duties and obligations; there is need to inculcate self-reliance and impress the worth of character. There is need for the development of continuation schools and vocational guidance coupled with recognition of the fact that many children are not abstract learners but gain knowledge and skill by doing."

Austin H. McCormick, Commissioner of Correction, New York City, declared that "the challenge of crime can be met, but only by the long and hard way of sustained social thinking and social action. A typical burglar or robber is a youth in his late teens. He comes predominantly from the underprivileged groups."

The Fourth Grade reported a very interesting train ride to Coleman last Thursday. Arrangements had been made by the local Santa Fe Agents to have the general passenger agent, Mr. Swinny of Houston, to be on the train to extend every courtesy and privilege possible to make the ride an educational and enjoyable one for the fifty children. Mrs. McSwain, a room mother, and home room teachers, went with the children. Other room mothers and parents who met them at Coleman to bring them back to school were: Mesdames Golston, Archie Hunter, Dick Teague, Petty, Guthrie, Horton, C. Stephenson, Overby, and Hill. Bro. Dunham and Georgia Frances Barlett also met the train at Coleman. Pupils and teachers are grateful to all those named above who helped to make their sight-seeing ride a worthwhile one. Especially do they thank Mr. Smith and Mr. Nickens, agents, for making it possible for each child to ride for the fare of nine cents, and for the privileges afforded them by Mr. Swinney.

Carroll Holt went to San Antonio Thursday to help the natives celebrate Fiesta Week. A thing of much interest to him was the Sunken Garden which he had the opportunity to see for his first time.

Hal Hill was also in San Antonio Friday. He thought the Battle of Flowers very beautiful. The Buckhorn Saloon had many attractions for him.

Others from Ward School who saw the Battle of Flowers were Mesdames Turner, Riley, Harris, Byrne, Evans, Parker, Misses Eunice Wheeler, Nathalie Nabers, Ouida Casey, Cody Wallace and Mr. Byrne.

Posters made by the Fourth Grade and sent to the District Meet of P.T.A. at Ranger won ribbons as follows: P.T.A. invitation, blue ribbon, Evelyn Bruce; citizenship, red ribbon, Alice Anna Guthrie; safety, white ribbon, Evelyn Bruce; and P.T.A. invitation, red ribbon, Barbara Bruce.

The Seventh Grade are very busy practicing an operetta "The Gypsy Picnic" which they expect to give for their seventh grade program before school closes.

All of us are waiting and watching for the announcement of the two honor pupils of the seventh grade this year.

The 6-A class are studying angles in their arithmetic now. They say they find it very interesting. We wonder!

At this writing grade school pupils have only eleven more recitation periods in each subject. Then comes the final tests.

Pupils of the Fifth Grade, sponsored by Mrs. Parker, home room teacher, expect to enjoy a train ride Friday morning.

OUR TRAIN RIDE On Thursday morning the students of our room and the Four-A room with our teachers

Miss Casey and Miss Wheeler met at the depot at seven o'clock.

We entered the front and were met by a special agent who treated us very nicely. He showed us everything and explained things to us as we went through. We had the privilege of going through the drawing room, compartment car, the men's smoking room, ladies and men's dressing rooms, the restaurant car on through the kitchen, and we had the unusual experience of getting off at the back of the train. We all had a most enjoyable time. And I'm ready for a long, long trip on the train.

Dear Parents, I want to thank you for coming to meet the train at Coleman and making it possible for us to get back to school in time for classes Thursday. We enjoyed both the train ride and the car ride home with you.

MY TRIP TO SAN ANTONIO

We left Santa Anna at 6:20 a. m. and arrived in San Antonio at 11:30 a. m. Our crowd separated. My group went window shopping first. Then we went to see the Alamo. From there we went to Woolworth to eat lunch. Next we went through the Buckhorn Saloon and saw many mounted animal's heads. There were many curios in there. We stayed there until about an hour before the parade. We went to Kress's and the women bought some camp stools. I bought a box for a dime and sat on it to watch The Battle of Flowers parade. It was pretty. We got home at 12:30 a. m.

Senate Committee Recommends Cut In Appropriation To Dept. of Public Safety

Austin, May 2—The public safety commission today studied the possible remnants of the department of public safety after the senate finance committee recommended appropriation slashes totaling $550,000 annually.

The results of the survey revealed that: One hundred fifteen patrolmen-examiners and 46 patrol stations would have to be eliminated.

The entire narcotics division that has, in its two years of existence, dug deep into the profits of the illegal dope trafficking gangs was scheduled to be wiped out.

The driver's license administration set-up would be so badly crippled that the licensing law, that figured prominently in the 21 percent reduction in traffic fatalities last year, could not be enforced nor could driving permits be re-issued.

Investigators assigned to the ranger division, who have solved hundreds of baffling crimes and recovered property valued at thousands of dollars, were not provided for in the senate body's requests.

Personnel in the bureau of identification and records would be depleted to the extent that this efficient clearing agency for local officers and enforcement officials could not effectively operate.

Revenues collected through the efforts of state police in the enforcement of the registration and licensing laws would be greatly reduced.

In a report on its findings the safety commission said patrol stations in the following places would be vacated:

Alice, Brady, Big Spring, Bowie, Beaumont, Brenham, Bryan, Beeville, Childress, Coleman, Corsicana, Cameron, Dalhart, El Paso, Eastland, Fort Stockton, Fredericksburg, Graham, Greenville, Huntsville, Lufkin, Lampasas, Laredo, Maria, Mineral Wells, Marshall, McAllen, Orange, Plainview, Pampa, Paris, Palestine, Port Arthur, Sonora, Shamrock, Stamford, Sherman, Seguin, Texarkana, Temple, Uvalde, Van Horn, Vernon, Victoria, Waco and Wharton.

Mrs. Winston Magill and little son of Alice are visiting her father, Mr. Sam J. Smith and other relatives at Whon and Rockwood. She will also visit friends in Santa Anna and Brownwood.

THE FUTURE OF AMERICAN AGRICULTURE

The following oration was delivered by James Moore of the Santa Anna High School, one of the FFA boys, before a meeting of several hundred persons at Abilene Wednesday, the occasion being a district Future Farmers of America contest.

"In the year 1930 it might have been said that agriculture was at the crossroads—and all roads ahead looked bleak indeed. The golden era of farming seemed behind. As the gloom of the general depression settled over the world, in penalty for its past misdeeds, economic and otherwise, an even deeper pall darkened the agricultural landscape.

The farmer was told that his ancient creed of plentiful yields spelled his ruin. The hungry cried for food, yet the farmer heard incredulously that his own salvation lay in producing less. Lean days and strange ways were upon the agriculturist and apparently they have come to stay, seemingly, because his cows supplied too much milk, because his acres yielded too abundantly and his hogs multiplied faster than the dollars needed to buy them. For the first time in American history, the last basic industry of agriculture came under government control. It was a situation without precedent.

Today, such has been the change in the national consciousness toward agriculture that even a casual review of developments presents a totally altered picture. We still have a farm problem, so called, but factors that point to the permanent satisfactory solution of that problem are now at work on a widely flung front. But the future augurs not a control to curtail but a control to augment.

The most important agencies to the farmer in the not distant future are going to be those represented by the industrial purchasing agent, the research chemist and the agricultural engineer. And it will be the task of the engineer to see that the farms acreage of the land produces handsomely. We have become accustomed to pessimism in speaking of agriculture. Nevertheless, time and progress alike have been moving on and the situation of yesterday is not longer that of the present.

America's Gift To The Queen

WHEN they meet in Washington in June, Queen Elizabeth of England and Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will wear summer-weight wool dresses,—the Queen's a gift from the wool growers of America, and Mrs. Roosevelt's from growers of the British Empire. Material for the Queen's dress, woven from the finest virgin wool from the 34 wool growing states, is shown here being given to Captain Irving of the S.S. Queen Mary for delivery to Buckingham Palace. Left to right are Senator Clark of Idaho, Senator Schwartz of Wyoming, Captain Irving, Christopher Kemble, representing the British Consul General, and G. W. Cunningham, Secretary of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association. Simultaneously, Mrs. Roosevelt announced that her dress will be of light weight summer wool in a shade called "Azure Blue" and that the Queen's, also light weight, will be in a new color called "Queen's Blue."

constructive changes have been under way. Industries rise and in their wake others decline and perish, but it is almost a law that the new is greater than the old. There is the making of a new and radically altered agricultural industry, the birth throes of which may be painful for a time, but which should not be mistaken for other than what they are. By every precedent this new industry should, in scope and importance, far exceed the old. First and by far the most significant of the recent changes bearing upon the future of American Agriculture has been the rise in this country of an organic chemical industry. What is most important here, however, is that the raw materials of the organic chemist are chiefly organic things that grow from the soil. The organic chemical march toward change is over a road paved largely by the products of American forests and farms. The seeds of cotton were once a waste and a nuisance. Today, thanks to the organic chemist, the seeds in a billion and a half dollar cotton crop have a value of over $200,000,000 to the farmers. Cotton seed oil goes into soaps, candles, lamp oil, cooking and other uses. Cotton lint, another farm waste, are now an initial material in the manufacture of rayon and in coated fabrics which go into handbags, wall coverings and upholstery. Billiard and golf balls, hair brushes and combs, electric insulators, photographic films and the unseen binder that makes safety glass safe, all contribute their tithes to the Southern cotton farmer. Another development is also taking place, which is an outgrowth of this first and only slightly less than it in significance to the farmer. Large influential corporations are becoming interested in the agricultural puzzle. Of course the manufacturer has always been concerned over the farmer as a market but a new note is now evident. An unstable farm situation is a constant threat to business stability. Moreover the manufacturer likewise has a production problem no less acute than that of his rural neighbors. The factory capacity to produce is also beyond the existing market to consume and one big reason is that the farmer has not the means to buy his share, due in a large part to wastes and losses. The annual waste in agriculture, or to put it another way, the loss suffered by farmers yearly for which there is no return amounts to almost unbelievable figures. More than 6,000 known species of insects are costing growers each year something like $2,000,000,000. Thirty-four insect species alone cause a known damage of $924,440,000. Losses traceable to weeds are estimated at $3,000,000,000. Add these figures to another billion and a half chargeable to plant disease and the total of $6,500,000,000 is staggering. This is apart from the huge loss that piles up yearly in the wastage of now unmarketable by-products.

Almost, may it be said, that for every dollar the farmer earns he has another taken from him by enemies against which he must wage a ceaseless war. Any substantial reduction in that loss could mean two things: a greater return to the grower for his labor and a lower price for the consumer. Lower prices on farm products, in turn, should lead to greater consumption both by factory then and the human stomach. In the prosperous year of 1929, according to studies made by the Brookings Institution, an impartial scientific fact finding agency, almost three-fourths of our non-farm population lacked the means to provide itself with an adequate diet at minimum cost, and 90% of those not living on farms were unable to afford the food they would have liked, classed as a liberal diet. Twelve per cent of these families had only enough food to keep them alive. Thus it is apparent that we are not producing all the food we need.

True, American industry wants to buy from the farmer, because it knows that the farmer with money will buy more from industry. But if farm products and by-products are to be consumed to the maximum, they must become cheaper. If they are to become more efficient and be relieved of at least a portion of its tremendous losses, new insecticides, new fertilizers, new methods of combating disease, more economical methods of production on farms, all designed to cut the huge farm loss, are today the subject of intensive inquiry in the vast laboratories of industry. Also onto our farms, too has been moving a new type of farmer, college trained, fully alive to the difficulties inherent in his job and confident of his own ability and resourcefulness to cope with them. He is not wedded to tradition, on the contrary he is itching to blaze new trails.

Not only have new pioneers come to the land, but the government, backed by the resources of the land, and the nation is making the farm its Problem No. 1. If these new factors do not spell a new agricultural industry within the next generation, then the past is no longer of any significance in charting the future. This new agriculture may be vastly different from that which we have known. The crops of today may not be the crops of tomorrow. But the golden era of agriculture is not behind.

Deaths From Cancer Have Increased

Austin, Texas—The fact that cancer ranks second as a cause of death in Texas, that 4370 Texans died of cancer last year and that the death rate has increased 172 per cent in the last fifteen years makes cancer one of our greatest medical and public health problems," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"Cancer is not a hopeless, incurable disease. It is not contagious or in itself hereditary. There are thousands of men and women in this country who have been successfully treated for cancer. Yet the death rate continues to rise year after year. The important thing in curing cancer is to discover the disease early and begin treatment during its early stages. Cancer announces itself by symptoms that are frequently painless and apparently trivial, thus giving the disease an unseemly advantage. Early diagnosis is the one powerful antagonist." Doctor Cox lists cancer danger signals as: any lump in the breast or other part of the body; any persistent sore, particularly on the face or mouth; any unusual discharge or bleeding from any part of the body; such as vomiting of blood, passage of blood from the bowels, or unusual bleeding of any bodily passages, especially after middle-age. These symptoms may be from some other cause but should be diagnosed by a physician. Two fundamental rules should be followed in cancer treatment. First, have an annual physical examination by a reputable physician. In this way incipient cancerous condi-

Last Sunday was a great day with many in the Trickham community. The spirit of such a meeting must have been inspired for it was a great day. People came from far and near to meet once more while here. This editor had planned for weeks to attend the full day services, but circumstances ruled against us and we were permitted to witness only the closing of the services in the late afternoon.

The following is an expression of one good reader who wishes others to know the glory such an occasion brought to her. In her own words, Mrs. J. V. Kingston writes as follows:

Editor of Santa Anna News, Santa Anna, Texas.

Dear Sir: I am sending you a short piece to have published in the paper of what our Home Coming meant to me. Will you please publish it?

Some one I am sure will send in a full report of how many were here and further information but to me it was worth so much that I felt I must express myself thru the paper to others.

I have lived here 59 years this month. My father, H. R. Bingham, came here from Miss. in 1877, and settled here at Trickham.

My grandmother, Grandma McElwreath as she was lovingly known to every one for miles and miles around was a mid-wife. Doctors were so few and far away that they most always sent for Grandma when a baby was to come. She too, came here in 1876 or 1877 from Georgia.

Thanking you I am Mrs. J. V. (Beula Bingham) Kingston

What Our Home Coming At Trickham Meant To Me

Oh, it was the most wonderful, happy meeting I was ever in. Especially so in meeting up with loved ones, friends and neighbors of the long-ago, childhood playmates, school chums.

Those dear "old timers" who once lived here some 40, 50, 60 and 70 years ago. Some so feeble could hardly walk. Some could scarcely see how to get around. Hair white as snow. But how glad they were to come back home. Some driving three or four hundred miles just to meet up with those they knew years and years ago.

As we would walk up and look in the face of different ones and say "Who are you?" they would say, "I am so and so." The ladies usually said, "I am" calling their maiden name. And then to realize we were together again. Looking into each others face after years of separation was joy untold. One lady said, "I have been gone 45 years. But oh, how good it seems to be back home again."

Well, just to stand aside for a few minutes and look at different ones meet up with each other, see that expression come over their faces as they recognized each other, see them shake hands, hug each other. To me it was a foretaste of what it will be when we get to heaven. You know God's word says, "They shall come from the east and the west and shall sit down with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob in the Kingdom of heaven."

Up there we won't have to say, "Who are you?" Because we shall know as we are known. No, there won't be any one there who because of disease and old-age has changed until we can't recognize them. But there will be a perfect body. God will give us a body as he sees fit. And it seems I can almost hear the cries of joy as we meet and clasp glad hands, never to separate again.

Oh, let's be ready to go when the time comes. Some of you missed this great-gathering. But don't fail to be ready for the great home coming in the skies.

Mrs. J. V. (Beula Bingham) Kingston

Mrs. W. C. Lockett, Luster Lockett, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Lockett and Mrs. Ellen Trott, all of Eden, visited Miss Josie Baxter and Mrs. J. W. Kirkpatrick, a short while Sunday. Miss Baxter then went with them to Trickham for the homecoming day services.

Mr. Preston Bailey of Austin spent the week-end with Mrs. Bailey and children.

itions can be discovered and by proper treatment the disease can be conquered. The second rule is to steer clear of "cancer quacks and amazing cures." The control of cancer depends above all else on an intelligent and alert public.

Mrs. C. B. Verner was impressed with the number of bridge parties and entertainments that were given here and decided that there was a need for a place for women to give their entertainments.

She began toying with the idea of a hostess room, and visualized a place where people could give a party and not have to bother with the "fixings" that come before and after, but yet would have a home-like atmosphere.

"I just put myself in their place and figured if I lived in an apartment or boarded somewhere, I would still like to entertain and would like to have a home to entertain in."

She voiced the idea to several of her friends who were immediately enthusiastic about it and urged her to try the idea. As a result, Mrs. Verner opened her Colonial Hostess Room in December, 1938.

She had had no previous experience of this kind but she loves to cook and has a knack of fixing fancy dishes that tempt the 4 o'clock appetites of bridge fans. Her favors are usually the "piece de resistance" that make a party a success. Then too, she likes to try to carry out the motif of the seasons in sandwich and salad courses.

To aid these natural assets, Mrs. Verner keeps a scrapbook with recipes and menus of new dishes. Then she experiments with new ideas in order that her parties will not duplicate each other.

She also keeps a guest list of all her parties with the hostesses' names and menus served. Then if some one calls and says she wants a salad like she had before or one entirely different, all Mrs. Verner has to do is to refer to the last party the woman gave and comply with the order.

She is also a memory jogger when it comes to flowers, favors, or prizes. She reminds busy hostesses of those extra niceties and has saved many a party from turning up short with some feature. There isn't much chance to forget some vital thing with Mrs. Verner to suggest.

Mrs. Verner does all her own cooking, no matter how large the party. Cakes, pies, sandwiches, and salads are arranged into tempting dishes and are done by her personally. Also, Mrs. Verner thinks the party will look much "nicer" if her own china and linens are used instead of renting or borrowing for large parties. She also keeps plants and ivy for emergency occasions in case flowers don't come. In fact, Mrs. Verner doesn't stop to think of the wear and tear on her own belongings in trying to make each party better than the one before.

In the Colonial Hostess Room, where the ceilings are high and the rooms large, Mrs. Verner can accommodate as many as twelve tables of bridge and can also handle two small parties at the same time without either one being aware of the other's presence. She gives showers, class parties, bridge parties, and luncheons and whether the party is big or small she is vitally interested in its success.

All the hostess has to do is to come with the prizes and a mind-free of wondering how the cake is going to taste. She can breeze in a step ahead of her guests without the conventional flushed face and dish-pan hands of advertising fame, and be sure that with Mrs. Verner on hand to take charge, things will be going smoothly.

Mrs. Shockley Is Chosen Artist of Month By Art Club

The Brownwood Bulletin for Monday, May 1, carried the following story about Mrs. G. A. Shockley, one of our local citizens who has distinguished herself by her art productions of the past few years.

Mrs. G. A. Shockley of Santa Anna has been chosen artist-of-the-month for April by members of the Brownwood Art Association.

It is said that she once stood in a corner for drawing pictures in her new book in school, but years later she satisfied that longing for expression of her artistic ability by painting china. For years she dropped her art work but took it up again in earnest about four years ago.

Mrs. Shockley now operates a Ready-to-wear shop in Santa Anna and exercises her good judgment of color and arrangement by helping others choose clothes for themselves. "I paint simply because I love it," she says. On dull days she works in her shop during business hours and sometimes gets her orders mixed with the paint.

An active member of the Brownwood Art association, Mrs. Shockley never fails to have the required two pictures at each meeting. She often has to paint at night to get them finished and on Sundays she paints for quiet recreation. No meeting of the association finds Mrs. Shockley absent unless it is absolutely impossible to leave Santa Anna. She braves the heat in summer and blizzards in winter to drive here for the meetings.

Still life is her choice in painting and she does fruit and flowers, but she thinks she would like landscapes just as well if he had a chance to do some.

"It is as easy to lose your place in painting as in reading a book," Mrs. Shockley remarked, and her pet peeve is someone distracting her attention while she is working and causing her to forget where she was in her picture.

Whistler is her favorite artist and her favorite pictures are two: Whistler's mother, and Rosa Bonheur's "The Horse Fair." Mrs. Shockley's ambition is to continue painting as she believes she is happiest when she is at her art work.

A window at McLean's studio has been devoted entirely to a display of this artist's work during the coming week. Other artists who have been honored by the association include Mesdames D. S. Camp, Balie Griffith, G. B. Bohannon and Henry Stallings, and Gaitia Browning.

Artist-of-the-year will be chosen from this group and a few others.

Home Accident Sources Discussed By Club Women

A study of home-accident sources was the theme of the program led by Mrs. W. B. Griffin Friday afternoon, April 28, when Mrs. W. A. Standly was hostess to the Santa Anna H. D. Club.

Accidents do not "just happen." They are always caused, so get to know the cause of accidents and eliminate them. The two "F's", find it—fix it. Are the key notes to prevention of accidents in the home. Mrs. Griffin emphasized. Too much cannot be said about the necessity for having an alert, constructive attitude toward safety conditions in the home. Darkness is a real home menace. The person who successfully gets rid of its danger not only will make his own home safer but will render a service to humanity which could command a generous award. Always observe this as the first law of safety at night—"Light the way." Keep rugs tight on floors. Carelessly dropped shoes, clothing, children's toys, stools, chairs, etc., should be put in a secluded place at night. The background of a rumped room is tidiness. If "light the way" be the first law of home safety then the second law most certainly is "be tidy," she stressed.

Electrocutions, poison, cuts, fires, burns and scalds are accidents that can usually be avoided by the observance of some precautions. The thing to bear in mind is to get the habit of looking at every situation with the eye to the safety angle, Mrs. Griffin further pointed out.

Especially club officers are urged to attend the District meeting to be held in Brady May 12. Miss Ellen Richards was made arrangement committee chairman for this occasion. Mrs. Clinton Lowe gave the club a cordial invitation to meet at her home Friday, May 26. Members cheerfully accepted.

Mrs. Joe Harvey and Mrs. Dan Blake assisted the hostess in serving plate refreshments to 15 members and Mrs. John Ford, a visitor. The next meeting will be Monday, May 15; with Mrs. John Lowe. County agent will give a demonstration on "Serving Fresh Fruit."

As an outstanding activity, the club sponsored the luncheon served to the Lions Club Tuesday of this week. Proceeds will be used for the benefit of the Ranger Museum Fund.

A RESOLUTION

Inasmuch as one of those long numbered with us has departed this life in recent days, we the Lion's Club of Santa Anna hereby express our tribute in this resolution.

Mr. Jess Garrett was a charter member of our club, served as president of the club and for many years thereafter served as Secretary of the club. In his official capacity as well as in the capacity of an individual member he ever exemplified the true spirit of Lionism, or the spirit of unselfish service. His service was varied, and always efficient. He was well informed on all Lion's International matters, served as a member of the Volunteer Fire Department for 19 years, and on various club committees. Forced by ill health and its attendant conditions to withdraw from active membership for the past several months, he was nevertheless always friendly and sympathetic with the work being done. He was always cheerful, optimistic and friendly. We shall miss him often in Lionism, but we feel that he has wrought well and deserves the promotion and reward that has been accorded him. Our sympathies are with the wife and children he has left behind, and our assurance to the children is that we have confidence in their prospects of success in life, because we know the type of man their father was.

We therefore offer this tribute for publication in the Santa Anna News, for spreading on the permanent records of the Lion's Club and to the bereaved family of our departed friend and fellow Lion.

AIN'T IT SO - THIS FARMER SAYS MULE GETS BEST OF DEAL Over the hill trailed a man behind a mule drawing a Dixie plow. The farmer was broadcasting: "Bill, you are a good mule, the son of a jackass, and I'm a man made in the image of God. Yet, here we work hitched together year in and year out. I often wonder if you work for me or I work for you. Sometimes I think this is a partnership deal between a mule and a fool. For surely I work harder than you do. Blow me here we cover the same distance, but you do it on FOUR legs and I do it on TWO. So, mathematically speaking, I do twice as much work as you do."

"See, we will be preparing for a corn crop. When the crop is harvested I give one-third to the landlord for being kind enough to let me use this corner of God's universe. The other third goes to you and what is left is my share. But while you consume all of your one-third, with the exception of a few cobs, I divide mine between seven children, six hens, two pigs, two ducks, one goose and a banker. If we both need shoes, you are the one who gets 'em. Bill you are getting the best of me. I'm just fair for a mule, the son of a jackass, to rob a man, the lord of creation, of his substance. And come to think of it, you only cultivate the corn after that I cut and husk it while you look over the fence and let it blow at me."

The program included a talk on safety in the homes by Mrs. Tom Rutherford, two piano solos by Mrs. Birl Shannon, two vocal solos and a poem, "Every Dog Has His Day," by Mrs. Tom Rutherford. "Is well to remember as you jog along." That a frown is not half so sweet as a song. The man who can smile when he meets with defeat. And gives a warm handclasp to those he may meet. Is sure to find sometimes, things coming his way. 'Tis odd, but it's true—'Every dog has his day.' Now I've not lived long on this great earth, 'tis true. And praps haven't seen as much of it as you. But one thing I've learned in its wonderful school. Is this, friend—the grouch is always a fool. He never is happy and seldom can claim, That he is successful in Life's rugged game. So, when you are feeling a bit out of gear, Don't growl and complain when others are near. All folks have their troubles, but those liked the best. Are the men who can button them under their vest. Wear a smile for the workers; the children at play. And you will win out—'Every dog has his day.'

LOWE AND FULTON MAKE A BIG CATCH MONDAY

On the opening day of general fishing season, Monday, May 1, when restrictions prohibiting the catching of black bass and crappie were lifted Lake Santana was alive with anglers trying their skill. John Lowe and J. W. Fulton are the only men who are boasting of a heavy catch. They report the fishing so good around four o'clock that they did not have time to string the fish as they caught them. Their total count showed twenty-five crappie and three bass.
