SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY OF 1939

The day was done and the darkness fell from the wings of night.

As a feather is wafted downward from an eagle in its flight.

So, I, half inclined in my easy chair, sat dreaming day-dreams while the quiet hours passed away.

And upon that midnight dreary as I pondered weak and weary.

Over my prophecy and forgotten lore.

While I nodded nearly napping, suddenly there came a tapping.

As of someone gently rapping, rapping on my front hall door.

'Tis some visitor I muttered tapping on my front hall door.

Only this and nothing more.

Open here I flung the shutter when with many a flutter,

In there stepped a mountain nymph of those saintly days of yore.

Not the least obeisance made she, not an instant stopped nor stayed she.

But with mien of lord and lady sat on the sofa near the door.

Here she sat and nothing more.

Presently she began to speak telling me of the future of each of my friends so dear, saying:

Ouida Leady will be a farmer's wife and will always keep her house looking nice.

With eggs, butter, cream and milk to sell, will always keep her dear hubby Byrnes Calloppin fed well.

Rowena Goad a famed musician erud, will join a wonderful jazz band.

Such music as she'll be able to play is the kind that isn't heard every day.

June Kirkpatrick will keep a black cat that will sleep in the band box on her best hat.

Because an old maid she is sure to be, and live in a cottage by the sea.

H. Burn Henderson, owner of a drug store, will never do any thing but walk the floor.

And keep up with all the news but will make as much money as he can use.

Clem Shelton's very fond dreams will come true as she need to hope and trust they would do.

She in society will be a queen with beauty that shall be called supreme.

Buddy Lovelady will surprise you indeed for in his life he is sure to succeed.

He, as policeman will boss a whole street and the woman he marries will be hard to beat.

Doreen Tucker, a dandy school teacher, will bring out well every feature.

And tho' she may never grow very tall, will always be honored and loved by all.

James Everett a great orator will be, famed over the land from sea to sea.

This fame will vanish, never no never, tho' Webster's renown be lost forever.

Alice Jane Lovelady a great cosmetician, will command a very high position.

With twinkle of eye and smile on her face, she in every heart will win first place.

Evelyn Haynes as a science teacher will among women be a great leader.

And such great lives as she shall soon find true, they will be wonderful as well as new.

Oran Henderson will fail as a lawyer, for he'll lose out in the case of Gale Collier.

He'll be a book agent and call at each door while upon him cold water ladies will pour.

Margaret McDonald will inherit a great fortune from an uncle who gained it by extortion.

She will establish a magnificent orphanage and care for children who are unfortunate.

Lucille Lancaster will marry in 1948 and spend her life banishing hate.

Always pressing onward with strength and vim will surely lift all to a higher realm.

Ira Niell a grand seamstress of note, will into high society float.

And drift along thru the years to come, till at last she finds her ideal home.

Roxie Lane surely will never marry, tho' asked by every Dick and Harry.

She will live in a small western town and as usual will never be seen to frown.

Willard Wilson will soon be a famous preacher and carry out plans of every teacher.

For he will make all the large throngs rejoice with pleasure at hearing his most charming voice.

Eva Mae Herridge will know pangs that will hurt her heart will be broken by a young flirt.

She will go to Chicago and set up a store and the flirt will be thought of no more.

Dorothy Pettit is soon to be a bride with joy that she can never hide.

She will go through life making others smile, with gladness beaming on her face, all the while.

Merle Wolfe, who was built for work and not play, of course must come to town nearly every day.

A farmer he will ultimately be, but all the sights he will be sure to see.

Ruth Vanderford will write a famous novel, one that shall make all the world marvel.

And tho' she goes marry a preacher's son, she'll say, "Never mind, the best has come."

Henriette Ashmore succeeds very well and to you this story I will tell.

She will marry a man and live with his ma, who will make known to her all points of law.

Winnie McIntyre, an old maid school teacher, will at thirty-eight marry a preacher.

Who as a minister will win great fame; Rev. Billy Teel will be his name.

Burton Gregg, a professional flirt, who is always present with joy and mirth.

Will sooner or later find him a wife, and with her be happy the rest of his life.

Vernon Fivash, now the pride of Whom, lives a life of quiet and ease.

Has seven children to mow his lawn and serve him drinks out under the trees.

Wyndell and Warda not it is said, have gone to the city, there to wed.

He is still trying to overtake success as a coach in college at Key West.

On an island, and just the two, lives Ara Belle Raggsdale and J. Q. Barnes the third.

They were ship-wrecked really, 'tis true, and Ara Belle is still getting in the last word.

Dorothy Sumner and Voncille Taylor are in Africa to stay, a sermon to the natives they give each day.

A missionary's wife they have vowed to live, to the rest of you girls the men they give.

Turner, the lad we knew as Bill, risks his life daily, (the crowds to thrill.

So, Willie Mae and Junior tensly stare from the stands, for daddy in his plane-to-safely land.

On the great white way of pay Parce, if you chance this way you're sure to see.

Pinkie Parsons and Billie Burk Pope, clothers delux, from ladies finest to the gentlemen's tux.

"Cut," cried Palmage, "we must have a retake, you are not actors, you're a great mistake."

Such is the life of a director of art, Turner you know had pictures at heart.

The great architect Bartlett Lamb, has just finished the Garner Dam.

His fame is known both far and wide, but at home with Glenda is his joy and pride.

Lee and Mary Louise are famous you know, on their first appearance they stole the show.

The greatest dance team in these parts, in Trickham tonight they display their arts.

Evelyn Haynes, the song bird of the West, sings nightly for Myrons Rhythm Band.

This is strictly business, 'tis bet, but business and pleasure like this won't stand.

Joyce Hensley and Louise Holland are hair dressers of renown, say men are foolish to have around.

So it's off to the city they go, and to the local beaux it was really a blow.

Katherine Manley and Emma Sue McCain, neighbors are they and happy old maids, too, so they say.

Live luxuriously and content from their oil, they've never cared for a man on their soil.

Joe Mae is an ice skater of great fame, the lights of the cities flicker her name.

She has never married, I'm sure, she likes men, but her profession is truer.

Before I could ask as to my fate, she was gone again from her resting place.

So I must patiently wait and see, what the future may have in store for me.

PICK & PAY GROCERY

To The Citizens and Gas Patrons Of The City Of Santa Anna

Under the rate recently adopted by the City Commission of the City of Santa Anna the commercial and domestic rates prescribed are as follows:

- (1) Minimum charge $1.00 for any part of first 2000 cu. ft. gas
(2) 50c per thousand cu. ft. first 10,000 cu. ft.
(3) 45c per thousand cu. ft. second 10,000 cu. ft.
(4) 40c per thousand cu. ft. third 10,000 cu. ft.
(5) 35c per thousand cu. ft. next 45,000 cu. ft.
(6) All over 75,000 subject to contract

10 percent penalty M A Y be added for accounts not paid within 10 days after monthly billing.

Under this rate a domestic consumer cannot get the benefit of a 35c rate accorded to the patrons of Coleman Gas & Oil Company in Coleman until their monthly bill exceeds $29.25 and then only for the excess over this amount.

The Coleman Gas & Oil Company has spent a good deal of money and also engaged in considerable litigation in an effort to accord its valued patrons in Santa Anna the same rate that it gives to its patrons in Coleman, and after establishing this right in the Supreme Court of Texas and also in the Federal Courts, an appeal was taken by the City Commission to the Railroad Commission to force the Coleman Gas & Oil Company to raise its rate from 35c to 50c.

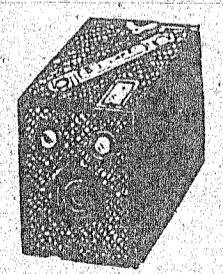

Afterwards when the rate making power was conferred upon the city, the city has now again to some extent increased this rate and we are forced reluctantly to obey the City Ordinance.

Respectfully,

Coleman Gas & Oil Co.

We were such small tots with faces that only a mother could love! How stunning we girls were with big straw sailor hats with streamers down our backs, and of course, you can picture such huskies as little Talmage in knee pants and anklets. How we loved to dance around the May Pole and pose as angels and fairies, but time changes the hoy-denish looks of a child in a year or two.

Our second year under Miss Wheeler was one of joy as well as activity. The next few years we spent working hard learning the elements of arithmetic, English, etc. under the able direction of such capable leaders as Mrs. Evans, Miss Dora Kirkpatrick, Miss Volentine, Miss McCreary, Mr. Byrne and Miss Pearce. Our first tinge of jealousy came in the sixth grade when we had to sit back and watch the seventh grade step out in evening dresses and new suits. We just couldn't wait for our time to come to go on parade. Finally, the time arrived when we could be looked up to as superior seventh graders. We were even taken to high school and called "junior high" students, so of course, we felt as important as anybody in that new high school building.

Our graduation exercises carried out the Texas Centennial theme and we really "tripped the light fantastic toe" around the May Pole. Helen Oakes was valedictorian of the class and Dorothy Sumner was salutatorian. They made the main speeches on the program.

This year opened our minds to a few evils yet unheard of by us. We girls even ventured to accidentally stray out of classes and hide from teachers in lockers. We just couldn't contain our pride when we went on our annual picnic to Hot Wells. This was too much for us. We had really set our best foot forward into real society. Dates marked the social calendar. Imagine such budding couples as Helen Oakes and Jim Tom Lawrence, and our feminine little Arabelle. Ragsdale holding hands with Leon Copeland. A-h-h-h, wasn't first love grand!

The year ended finally. We had high hopes of our really entering high school. We'd be grown then and we knew that we were so important that we'd cinch all student body offices and popularity contests. Imagine how our feathers fell when they nicknamed us "slimes" and "fish" on the following year. We were lower than snakes stomachs to upper classmen and our cats' lives began. We spent the first few days visiting in classes in which we did not belong. Once I waked up in an English III class and didn't know the difference. We spent all our extra pocket change for chapel seats and were threatened with execution if we failed to support the Junior class in all elections. We suffered as much as poor Julius Caesar, with whom we labored and we thought all upper classmen were Shylocks in the raw. As far as we were concerned, the juniors reigned supremely that year (to the utter disgust of the seniors) and nothing serious happened to any member of our class.

Miss Agnes Hays, our sponsor, left us, and we were recipients of another new sponsor, Miss Randolph, of Huntsville, Texas. Two artists were clearly developing—Arabelle was trying to imitate Don Budge and Talmage took Paderewski as his ideal. A new club sprang up, "The Gold Diggers." P. S. We're off the gold standard.

Several members had been mildly stung by the microbe of love which will develop into a serious subject in a few pages. After a delightful summer, we overgrew our slimy stage and became sophomores. This is when things start happening. Constant companions those days were Alice Jane and A. L. The hedges interfered with love once in a while. Mary Louise and Jack (still a current couple) were just discovering a spark of affection for each other. Dot Pettit had just joined our sophomore circle and just couldn't figure out the Santa Anna boys. A fly couldn't begin to make headway up her boyish hair cut which has since been converted into long curls.

A little excitement happened when we started on our annual picnic. A few were in the back of a pick-up and, child-like, started swaying, as all rhythmic students will do. This ended by turning the pick-up on its side. There were a few scratches and bruises as a result. The students who knew how to ride and some who did not, returned home and rented bicycles. So ended our sophomore career.

Little by little we were progressing and how grand we felt when we were signed up as juniors. We had a few new interests also. Again we have Arabelle Ragsdale appearing on the scene and this time who is her big moment? Well, she says Talmage Turner will do. This was quite a busy year. The juniors decided it would be very easy to sort of have the officers elected by the student body from the junior class, so with the help of the freshmen, we succeeded.

One very romantic couple began their crooning, could you ever guess? It was the blond who joined our class from Childress and the young gentleman who works at Phillips Drug. The greatest attainment was the planning and finishing of the Junior-Senior banquet. A nautical theme was carried out, and were our heads sailing and swimming when we got through? Just a few couples for a romantic element — Dorothy Ross and Jake Barnes, Arabelle Ragsdale and Talmage Turner, Dorothy Pettit and T. L. Reid, Helen Oakes and Monte Guthrie. Senior Day is always eventful. Just a few clothes which were lost were used to a great advantage by the seniors — as souvenirs.

The girls felt very proud again as they wore their long gowns to the baccalaureate sermon and some who were chosen to usher at the commencement exercises. And now the scene changes. We are very dignified seniors. A few new sparks have ignited. For instance, Elsie Haynes and Charles Brown and June Kirkpatrick and Myron Hays. Some attended the Daniel Baker and Howard Payne Proms. We were well represented at Howard Payne College by our charming duchess, Helen Oakes.

Senior Day was the eventful day of the year. The wonderful task of putting up the flag was unhampered by the juniors who were all in early, getting a good night's rest. At nine o'clock the next day the merry group left for Christoval where boating, swimming and bowling were enjoyed. A few attended the show in San Angelo on the return trip. The tired, sleepy group returned at midnight.

The juniors gave for our entertainment the Junior-Senior banquet. We really felt the call of spring because many flowers were blooming there, and so was love. Imagine such lovers as Dorothy Sumner and Ford Holt, Mary Jo Shield and Buddy Lovelady, Henrice Ashmore and Merle Wolfe, Dorothy Pettit and Talmage Turner.

So grief must come. The greatest tragedy that ever occurred in the schools was the morning after the Junior-Senior banquet when news reached us of the death of our beloved superintendent, Mr. Scarborough, and the serious injury of Mrs. Scarborough.

As the scene closes we hope that the future may hold, if possible, more pleasant happenings than the past.

SANTA ANNA H. D. CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. LOWE

"The permanent exclusion of pests such as flies, rats, ants and the clothes moth involves primarily the proper construction, repair and upkeep of buildings and keeping the premises in sanitary condition," stated Mrs. John Williams at a meeting of the H. D. Club Friday afternoon, May 26, when Mrs. Clinton Lowe was hostess.

Mrs. Williams stated the rat rodents are probably decreasing in numbers in the U. S. and the chief factor responsible for any diminution is present day sanitation.

Furthermore, as facts relating to the spread of communicable diseases have become better known, more general interest in rat control has been stimulated, more effective means of destroying rats have been developed, and information regarding these methods has been widely distributed. Traps and poison are the most efficient ways of destroying the rodent. In spite of all that has been done to combat this pest, it is still mankind's greatest enemy in the animal world.

The logical method of fly control is to prevent the multiplication of these pests by proper destruction of or treatment of their breeding places.

Both the housefly and blowfly may be captured in traps or killed by uses of various kinds of fly spray and sticky fly paper. A formula of 2 pounds of resin boiled with 1 pint castor oil until the mixture looks like molasses, smeared on newspaper and placed about the room helps in controlling the fly. It is a necessity that all outdoor premises, lots, drainage, etc. be

Miss Ashmore and Mr. Elton Terrell Wed In Lubbock

The marriage of Miss Carlene Ashmore and Mr. Elton Terrell took place at the home of the groom's parents in Lubbock, at 8:30, Thursday evening, May 25. Dr. Lipscomb, pastor of the first Methodist church, read the ring ceremony in the presence of about thirty people.

For her wedding the bride wore a dusty rose frock with navy blue accessories. She carried a bouquet of roses.

Iris Dunlop, attired in blue with white accessories, served as bride's maid, while Montford Jennings was best man to the groom.

A reception was held at the Terrell home following the wedding ceremony. Ferns, roses and other spring flowers were used to decorate the reception rooms.

After the reception, the young couple were honor guests at a dinner party given by Lewis Terrell, brother of the groom, at one of the cooperative houses adjoining the college campus. Places were marked for twelve people.

Mrs. Terrell, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ashmore of Coleman, is a graduate of the Santa Anna High School and the past two years has attended Texas Technological College in Lubbock.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Buford Terrell of Lubbock. Since graduating from the Lubbock schools he has attended Texas Tech three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Terrell visited in Santa Anna and Coleman Sunday and Monday. Mr. Terrell returned to Lubbock Monday from where he went to Denver, Colorado to attend the ROTC camp for six weeks. Both the bride and groom will re-enter Tech in the fall.

Miss Erin Ashmore attended the wedding in Lubbock, returning with the couple Sunday.

kept in a sanitary condition to prevent breeding of this pest, Mrs. Williams further proceeded in the discussion that the house ants and ants of all kinds are a nuisance invading houses and food supplies. Ideal control is based on destroying the ant colony and destruction of the queen and young ants by using poison baits.

The clothes moths are very troublesome and exceedingly destructive. The damages and expenditure for their control amounts to several millions of dollars annually. Clothes should be stored in a clean and sanitary condition. Place woolens, furs and animal products together in a protected tight storage place that has been well fumigated for prevention of the moth, Mrs. Williams advised. Mrs. L. V. Stockard, president, had charge of the brief business session, during which Mrs. H. K. Harrison gave the Farm Banner report. A card from Mrs. W. A. Standly, read by Miss Ellen Richards, and a brief talk by Mrs. W. E. Vanderford expressed their appreciation to the club for the gifts presented them on Mother's Day.

Mrs. R. F. Watson led the recreation in the absence of Mrs. S. K. Moredock, "feather football" furnishing diversion. Miss Ellen Richards gave a "quiz" with honor score going to Mrs. Frank Goen.

An arrangement of sweet peas and Queen Annes Lace centered the dining table. The hostess served a delicious congealed salad with angel food cake and limeade to a visitor, Mrs. Clifford Lowe of Winters, and Mesdames L. V. Stockard, Frank Goen, J. K. Harrison, Collin Price, John Williams, W. E. Vanderford, John Lowe, R. F. Watson and Miss Ellen Richards.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the City Hall Friday, June 9. Mrs. M. A. Pritchard will discuss "Views from the kitchen window."

STATE HEALTH OFFICER DISCUSSES CONTAMINATION OF PERISHABLE FOODS

Austin, Texas, June 1.—"It is a matter of vital importance, particularly during the warm summer season, that sanitary measures be applied to prevent the contamination of perishable foods," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. Various intestinal disorders result from food which has in some way been rendered unwholesome. Summer diarrhea or "summer complaint," affecting young and old, is a serious type of stomach and bowel condition. So called "ptomaine poisoning," in nearly all cases, is none other than a food infection due to the presence in food of harmful bacteria or germs.

"Perishable food, if contaminated, endangers human health. This hazard is greater in warm weather, because germs or their products multiply or develop more rapidly at high temperature. Some of the most valuable foods are of perishable nature. Such foods demand the exercise of safeguards. Among well known precautions, which need to be used if perishable foods are to be kept wholesome, are the following:

1. Some form of modern refrigeration or cooling is necessary to preserve food from day to day. Lack of an effective cooling process causes meat to spoil and milk to contain a dangerously large number of bacteria.

2. Resort to thorough cooking or boiling is the simplest and yet most useful method of preventing illness of food-borne character. This precaution applies especially to food prepared for infants and children.

3. Contamination of perishable food is avoided through the constant exercise of cleanliness on the part of those who handle food.

4. Pastries and other food products make a far greater appeal to the consumer or patron if there is an entire absence of flies. Adequate provision for screens and application of every known means of fly and insect extermination are worthwhile."

Mrs. O. A. Etheredge and her mother, Mrs. G. C. Myers, spent the week-end visiting in Cleburn.

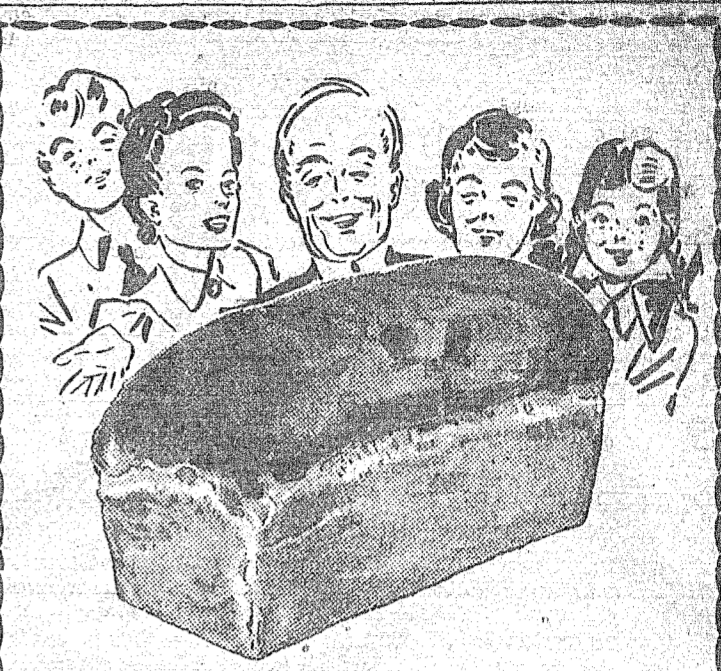

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sealy of Midland visited Dr. and Mrs. T. R. Sealy during the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holt of Sanderson are visiting relatives and friends in Santa Anna this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Buck Wheeler of Colorado, Texas, are visiting his mother and sister, Mrs. Taylor Wheeler and Eunice. Mr. Albert Shaw of Christoval is visiting Dr. Sealy.

Highway safety is the responsibility of each citizen—drive safely.

Glenn Schulle visited Bill Wood Saturday and Sunday.
