Large supplies of cotton, which may be increased through the less of foreign cotton customers while the war lasts, is a major phase of the cotton situation which farmers will consider before they vote on Saturday. December 7, to approve or disapprove marketing quetas for the 1941 crop. They must decide then whether they need the support of al features of the farm program, or whether they can get along without quotan and loans. The Agricultural Adjustment Act provides that loans can be made available, under certain price and supply conditions, if two thirds of the voting farmers in the referendum approve markeling in However the Act also provides that, if quotas are rejected, as withhir during the following marketing year.

_ (1) -Stand Together. The strength and security of our nation depends on national unity. There is no room in this country now for narrow parti sanship, for class hatred, for exploiting old grudges and differences. But unity must be more than a slogan, more than a vague and appealing word. It can be achieved only by action. Unity calls for fair dealing between industry and labor, for a policy that neither favors nor penalizes either side. It calls for an attitude on the part of both labor leaders and industrial managers that will make possible frank and honest arbitration, with each understanding the problems of the other. The nation cannot afford exploiters now—the industrialist who would grind down labor, or the labor leader who would disrupt industry to gain his ends. Unity calls for a government policy of honest cooperation with all industry. The need of the hour is production—and still more production in the interest of our ordinary needs no less than in the interest of our extraordinary defense program. The country cannot afford that kind of politician who fights industry, reviles industry, and who attempts to ruin industry in reaching out for more and more power. Nor can it afford costly and unnecessary government competition with industry, which means the evertual extinction of private enterprise. Unity calls for a tax and spending policy which will get maximum results in the least possible length of time with minimum waste. Taxation must be distributed equitably over all income groups, and all industries and businesses. We are willing to spend every dollar that is needed for real defense. We can have unity. We must have it, if we are to survive as a pree people. Now is the time to put into effect a program that will really achieve it.

· People don't associate a lumber yard with Christmas gift buying

Because

You can't put a pile of lumber under a Christmas tree and no one wants a bundle of shingles, a window, or adoor stuffed into their stocking

But

There ARE many items we sell that do make splendid Christmas gifts for the whole family, for instance:

Made to order KITCHEN CABINETS NEW HARDWOOD FLOORS ... NEW GARAGE ... Built in BREAKFAST SET or IRONING BOARD or even a PING PONG TABLE ... LUMBER, PAINT, or VARNISH for that remodelling and renovating job you promised the Better Half last year. Make this a Practical Christmas with lasting GIFTS.
