State AAA Committee Hopes For Big Vote

The outcome of the cotton marketing quota referendum Saturday, December 7, will have a direct effect on every cotton farmer in Texas and the rest of the South.

For the votes of the hundreds of thousands of cotton producers in nineteen states will determine whether quotas will be in effect in 1941, whether the farmers who cooperate with the Agricultural Adjustment Administration program will be protected from those who refuse to comply, and whether non-cooperators will be penalized for their failure to plant within their acreage allotments.

That's what the Texas AAA committee, meeting in College Station, pointed out to the cotton producers of Texas, all of whom are eligible to vote in the referendum, in a final statement before the voting begins at 9 A. M. Saturday.

"It is not necessary at this late date to point out again that we have on hand a two-year supply of cotton or that the war has deprived us of nearly all of our export market, but every cotton farmer should bear these important facts in mind when he goes to vote," the committee said. "Ample information has been supplied all farmers in regard to these factors. All farmers already are familiar with quotas and know how they operate. Understanding these matters, they will realize why it is so important that all who are eligible to vote do so."

The committee reminded farmers that everyone who shared in the proceeds of a cotton crop in 1940 is eligible to vote, regardless of whether he is complying with the AAA program. Two exceptions to this rule were mentioned: (1) those producing cotton 1 1/2 inches or more in staple length, which is not subject to quotas, and who are not producing other cotton, and (2) those, such as husbands, wife and children, who participated in the production of cotton under a single rental or cropping agreement or lease. In the latter case, the person who entered which will then transmit them eligible but the others are not.

No absentee voting by mail, proxy or agent will be permitted, but the voter who is outside his own district on referendum day may deposit his ballot in any authorized marketing quota ballot box.

No farmer whether an individual, partnership, corporation, association or other legal entity, shall be entitled to more than one vote, even though he may have been engaged in the production of cotton in 1940 on two or more farms or in two or more communities, counties, or states. In case two or more persons were engaged in producing cotton in 1940 not as members of a partnership but as tenants in common or joint tenants or as owners of community property, each such person is entitled to one vote the committee declared. No poll tax is necessary.

After the balloting the votes in each community will be reported to the county committee which will then transmit them to the State AAA office where they will be tabulated and reported to Washington. A two-thirds majority of all votes cast favoring quotas is necessary for quotas to be in effect in 1941.

COTTON AND ITS QUALITY

The 1940 United States cotton crop will exceed last year's harvest by one million bales and stand only 700,000 bales below the ten-year average, the Agricultural Marketing Service reports.

From this source prospects for a yield of 12,317,000 bales is reported, exceeding the Department of Agriculture's October 1 report by 100,000 bales. Factors responsible for the increase shown in the November 1 forecast include maturing of the bolls in the Carolinas due to unusually favorable weather in October. This resulted in an increase of 105,000 bales in the two states over prospective production a month ago. Favorable weather also boosted yield prospects by 115,000 bales in Missouri, Arkansas and Oklahoma. Large crop outlook in the five states more than offset poorer prospects in Georgia, Alabama and Mississippi, the Agricultural Marketing Service reported.

Ginning is behind the corresponding period of last year over much of the cotton belt, but the crop's quality, on the basis of cotton ginned, is showing somewhat better than at the same time in 1939, the Service reports. A large portion has stapled at medium lengths, and there has been some increase in the proportion stapling at 1-1 1/2 inches and longer.

C. G. Hobgood and a crew of nine men arrived in Coleman for assignment with the United States Department of Agriculture flood control survey in the middle Colorado watershed.

Heart o' Texas News Briefs

The Citizens National Bank, of Brownwood which remains open Saturday nights to cash checks of Camp Bowie workers, has refused an offer by Brownwood merchants to compensate the bank for the additional expense of this unusual banking service.

About 10,000 men now are at work in the rush of completing Camp Bowie, where thousands of National Guardsmen will train for the army.

Facilities for the men and officers of the 11th Observation Squadron soon to be stationed at the Brownwood municipal airport, are rapidly nearing completion. Construction of the hanger which will house the observation planes of the Houston air squadron has not begun, but it is understood that steel for the hanger has been ordered.

Facilities for the 36th Division first unit to move to Camp Bowie is now 85 per cent complete. The pay roll last week was $337,720 with around 10,000 men employed. The Brownwood C of C has been asked to secure 700 acres of land adjoining the camp on the south, to be used for facilities of corps troops that will be assigned to Camp Bowie.

Brownwood union carpenters are cooperating 100 per cent and will continue to cooperate with officials of Camp Bowie toward speedy completion of the project, according to a statement by J. H. Wade, financial secretary of the Brownwood union.

Fourteen men have been certified for work in the Brownwood post office since the rush of business occasioned by the army camp's coming. Postmaster J. Edward Johnson announced.

Snow-white Creameries have been awarded the contract at Camp Bowie, Brownwood on 125 gallons of Dairyland Ice Cream this vicinity. Mr. Grantham has stated that he plans to run similar sales during the year, offering comparable savings to his customers.

Funeral services were held at Brownwood Friday for Dr. Ned Snyder, prominent Brownwood Physician, who died late Wednesday following a heart attack an hour earlier. Rev. E. P. Harrison officiated and burial was in Greenleaf Cemetery.

The airport, a 250-acre tract purchased from K. W. Huffman, is located on U. S. Highway 283, three miles north of Brady.

The army camp boom at Brownwood may produce 500 houses there. The firm of Moulden & Lovett is rushing plans on 20 houses for a development program that may include 150 residences. A corporation similar to Lipan Building Corp. there has been formed and it is putting up houses for army officers on the Boughten Subdivision. Plans have been drawn for 31 houses in the subdivision to date. The houses will range from four rooms to seven rooms. Brick and tile construction with steel windows indicate the class of building.

SANTA ANNA HAS ANNUAL CHRISTMAS OPENING

Judging from the number of children at his heels Friday evening, December 2, Santa Claus looked like a holiday Pied Piper. Merchants and parents as well as the kiddies were on hand to greet Santa and see the decorated windows unveiled and the band parade. The Christmas lights were turned on and although this was an early visit, it was a lucky one because it means that Santa Claus will be around several times before his special trip on Christmas Eve.

Editorial

HITLER HAS FORMALLY inducted some more little countries into his Axis. But that doesn't mean a great deal. Rumania, Bulgaria and the other minor Balkan countries are in peril of their lives. They must do what Hitler demands, or submit to military conquest. It is one thing to force foreign ministers to sign pacts—it is another thing to get the people of those countries to avow the Hitlerian philosophy. And, according to all the experts, the Balkan people hate Hitler even as they fear him. Worst blow to the Axis has been Italy's fiasco in Greece. This has reduced Italian prestige to the vanishing point. And, say some, it has brought with it the possibility of internal dissension in Italy. The Italians didn't want war. They are suffering seriously from the British blockade. And a considerable proportion of the Italians heartily dislike Germany. It is noteworthy that the German press has lately begun to denounce Greece. Hitler may be coming to the conclusion that he will have to pull his friend Mussolini's irons out of the Athenian fire. And, in the past, press attacks in the German press against other European countries have been the prelude to military action. In the long run, the Greek situation may prove a great boon to England. Reports say that the English are doing far more to help the Greeks than they admit. They have been swiftly developing important air and naval bases on Greek land, where their planes and battleships can strike against Italy. Britain's big trouble at home now is said to be lack of sufficient anti-aircraft equipment. Most of it has been concentrated about London, which explains why Germany has been able to carry on tremendously severe raids over the Midlands and elsewhere with few plane losses. It is believed the lack will be made up by spring.

MOUNTAINEER

Santa Anna Defeats Cross Plains 26-13

The Santa Anna Mountaineer remained undefeated on their home field by beating the Cross Plains Buffalos 26-13, Friday afternoon.

The Mountaineers starting line up was as follows: RE, Shelton; RT, Cupps; RG, Turney; C, West; LG, Hartman, LT, White-Lie, Box; Q, Speck; half, Horner; half, Watson; full, Pope.

The Mountaineers kicked the ball on first downs. The Buffalos started a drive, with Pope and Speck carrying, that didn't stop until it reached the one yard line where they lost the ball on down. Cross Plains punted and this time the Mountaineers did not stop until they had crossed the goal line with Speck carrying the ball over. Pope drove over center for the extra point.

The Mountaineers were unable to score again in the first quarter but soon after the second quarter started with Speck and Pope carrying, drove for the second tally, with Speck carrying the ball over. Speck ran around right end for the extra point. Cross Plains received and started a fierce drive but a line that was played its best game of the year stopped the Buffalos soon after they crossed mid-field. The Mountaineers again took over but were forced to kick after a short gain. Santa Anna regained the ball on a fumble and again, with Speck, Pope and Horner carrying the ball crashed over and around the Buffalo line for a touchdown. Speck carried the ball over. The half ended Santa Anna 20, Cross Plains 0.

The Buffalos came back with plenty of hustle and before the Mountaineers could stop them, passed over for a touchdown. Try for extra point was successful.

This stirred the Mountaineers up and they went on another touchdown spree by scoring again with Speck carrying the ball. Pope failed to make the extra point. Again Cross Plains started a drive for a touchdown and made it on an end-run. Turney and West blocked try for extra point. The Mountaineers were unable to score again but held the Buffalos back.

The stars of the game were Speck, Pope and Turney. Speck made four touchdowns and one extra point. Pope, who has brought the Mountaineers out of many a tough spot, with his educated toe, was forced to kick only one time. Turney played the hold line and was the defensive star.

Suppose We Start Studying

Football season is over! One third of school is over! Most outside activities have ceased until spring. Now is the time to get in those good ticks for passing grades.

The next one-third of school might very profitably be spent in studying, by those who coasted the past one-third and those who expect to coast the last. No one really wants to fail. Concentrated study for two six week periods might form a habit that would enable one to pass.

The emphasis will be on school work entirely for a while. There will be nothing more important and interesting to do. For our own sakes, suppose we start studying.

Trickham News

H. D. C. Club News

"In loading your washing machine, put only 6 or 8 pounds of dry clothes. For example: 2 sheets, 4 shirts and 2 bath towels," Mrs. Marvin Whitley told members of the Trickham Home Demonstration Club in a discussion on, "Your Laundry Needs," when the club met Thursday, November 23 at the club room.

Mrs. Whitley also stated that it is best to iron in straight strokes with the thread of the fabric, bringing the material over the board toward you as it is ironed.

Plans were completed for the Christmas party, Thursday, Dec. 5, at the home of Mrs. Harry Wilson, when the Trickham Club will entertain the Brown Ranch Club.

There were 12 members and one visitor, Mrs. Ross Shields, of Brooksmith present. The next regular meeting will be in January, when the New Year's work will begin.
