

This Week in Our Town

OF ALL UNIFORMS in the town the past week-end, including several military schools, the most spectacular was that of Sergeant Claude Reid of the Marine Corps. The dark blue coat and light blue trousers, the white belt and mostly white cap, with polished brass buttons and emblems, made him an outstanding figure on main street, but despite his marineristic sartorial perfection he couldn't by any means wheedle a tulip salutation from one of the local beauties.

AMONG THOSE who got themselves tangled up with the red traffic lights Saturday were the C. C. secretary, Mr. Motley, who got half way across and then stood in the center of the street until the light changed and he could go serenely on his way, and the Mr. and Mrs. Editor who as unintentionally as Mr. Motley got caught by looking too little and talking too much.

SHOULD YOU DESIRE to see Ed Purdy at the store before dinner time, get there before 10 a. m. He gets up early and it appears his rising hour is a few minutes earlier each day. If he doesn't apply the brakes, one of these days he will meet himself going to dinner when he goes to work.

DR. MCDONALD, was able to leave the hospital in Fort Worth Wednesday and went to the home of his parents in Dallas to recuperate a few days before returning home. He is expected the last of this week.

A. D. DONHAM WHO IS ILL in the Methodist Hospital, Fort Worth was reported better as we go to press. It is not known, however, how long it will be before Mr. Donham is able to return home.

Sgt. Claude B. Reid, Marine Recruiting officer recruited a young Mr. Elkins of the Buffalo community while here over the weekend. Mr. Elkins was reared near Coleman. If he passes his final examination he will be sent to the Marine base at San Diego, Calif., for basic training.

HATS OFF TO SANTA ANNA artists. A good example of what Santa Anna can do is displayed in the old Garrett store building on Main Street, where a number of paintings are displayed. These pictures are the work of local ladies, under the supervision of the WPA department.

Again we find it necessary to ask all our correspondents, club and school reporters to please, try to get their copy to us as early in the week as possible. We find we are compelled to either leave some late news out or work our force well into the night Thursday because too many send their notices and news in too late, when it could have been turned in earlier.

Local firemen threw their annual party Wednesday night at the City Lake—a barbecue with a meeting afterwards at the City Hall. A number of Bangs firemen were guests.

4-H Dairy Demonstrations
For the fifth consecutive year wider use of approved dairy practices, especially among rural youth, will be encouraged under the national 4-H dairy production demonstration program, according to L. L. Johnson, state boys' club agent of the Texas Extension Service. 4-H boys with the supervision of county extension agents will learn more about feeding, growing, breeding fitting and judging of dairy cattle and the production of high-grade milk and cream on farms. Winners in state eliminations will attend a national dairy show in Memphis Tenn. next October.

McDonald, Neal Oakes, Vernon Parker, D. O. Lane, Newman Upton, J. E. Brand, J. W. Zachary, R. L. Brand, H. K. Harrison, M. L. West, M. F. Lane, J. T. Garrett.

No other form of recreation furnishes a man closer communication with nature and his God than fishing. It develops an inspirational mind that is clean, wholesome and healthy. Fishing creates a love of country. Health, cleanliness and satisfaction accompany angling. No person could possess or wish to possess a greater gift than this, which makes for better citizenship and the realization of the phrase, "Fish and Feel Fit."

SANTA ANNA INVITED TO DUBLIN RODEO, APR 25, 26, 27

The spirit of the old West was revived Wednesday when fifty-two cowboys and cow-girls from Dublin invaded Santa Anna and invited our city to the World's Championship Rodeo. The delegates arrived at 10:55 and a cowboy orchestra led by Benny Thompson entertained the crowd as the gaily dressed good will trippers passed out folders and souvenirs.

Plenty of thrills, spills and action is promised at the World Championship Rodeo in Dublin April 25, 26 and 27th, in the largest outdoor arena in the South west. Everett Colborn's World Championship Rodeo Stock will be rounded up and brought in from the Lightning C ranch thirteen miles from Dublin. The Lightning C, operated by the World's Championship Rodeo Corporation which supplies stock to the Boston Garden and Madison Square Garden Rodeos is the largest ranch in the world devoted exclusively to rodeo stock, brahma bulls, bucking horses, brahma coys and calves, Mexican steers and longhorn cattle.

The Texas Legislature unanimously passed a resolution last week setting aside April 25, 16, and 27th as "Pioneer Days of Texas" in recognition of the revival of the spirit, folklore and sport of the pioneer cattlemen of Texas. These dates were selected because of the Dublin rodeo, which were endorsed by the state representatives as the dates on which the roughest, toughest rodeo tock performs in practically their native surroundings.

Mayor Geo. Johnson of Santa Anna has been invited to attend the rodeo Friday night and to ride in the parade before the first performance in recognition of Mayor's Day at the rodeo will be held Saturday afternoon and night, and Sunday afternoon.

EGG PRICE SET AT 22 CENTS BY FIAT

The Department of Agriculture began expansion of the ever-normal granary program to assure ample supplies of pork, dairy products, eggs and poultry by buying in the open market to support long-term prices at these levels: hogs cwt, $9.00; dairy products (butter pound basis), 0.31; chickens (#) $0.16; eggs (doz.) $2.22. The President explained the program was primarily a stabilization matter—to present reasonable assurance to hog producers, for example, that the price of pork will be at a fair level when specially fattened animals are ready for market.

The President combined the Defense Commission divisions of price stabilization and consumer protection into an office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply. The new agency is designed to prevent rising cost of living, hoarding and profiteering and provide for the necessary supply and equitable distribution of materials and commodities for civilian uses. The President cited the "draft industry" clause of the Selective Service Act as authority for enforcing orders of the new office.

Consumer Commissioner Elliott stated the cotton textile industry is able to meet all possible military and civilian needs, shoe prices will rise only moderately, and there are sufficient supplies of raw materials for most other consumer goods. Maintenance of living standards, however, Miss Elliott said, requires cooperation between consumers and retailers in resisting unjustified price rises and "buying hysteria" and promoting the use of substitutes.

Editorial

FOR NEARLY A QUARTER of a century, smart boys and girls who write books and deliver lectures have been telling us of the great things to be expected from Soviet Russia. It was to be a workers' paradise. The capitalistic system was destroyed. The government became supreme, and the individual was the pawn of the state. A quarter of a century is a long time. But if you can believe the record, results in Russia have been in reverse rather than forward. The principal idea of Russian communism is that government should own all means of production and distribution—all natural resources were taken from private enterprise and left to government to develop. Russia seized everything from private individuals. What has been the result? Want, starvation, stagnation, terrorism. And yet here in our own country, with Russia as an example to go by, we have those who would do, slyly and gradually, what was done in Russia ruthlessly and at one bold stroke. Government ownership, instead of fair and reasonable government regulation of private activities, is being promoted here in a subtle manner by tying up natural resources to the exclusion of their development by private enterprise. It's all done in the name of the dear people, the same as it was done in Russia. As officialism gains control, individual opportunity disappears and a state of slavery with mental stagnation appears.

ITS AN ALGEBRAIC PROBLEM, says a recent writer on farm production: "Want farming and prices of produce, in explaining how our farmers are becoming multimillionaires almost overnight. Maybe it was an understandable equation to him, but to us it looked more like a canned heat pipe dream. If x equaled the number of farmers, y the amount of produce necessary to feed the nation, and z the amount of money it brought in 1932 when farmers went broke and farming became an unknown art because of tractor farming on a large scale to reduce prices and get the volume cream, then how comes the present equation, x divided by 2 equals the farmers, y divided by 2 equals the demand, 2z divided by 3 is income, fails to explain how the farmer is a multimillionaire when he can't earn a decent living on a farm. We agree that when conditions are so adjusted that WPA and all the parasitic government bureaus that run your business are stopped, leaving only the voluntary dependents left, the government demand to continue the program, then we'll have a lot of tenant farmers, operating farm owners, good prices and prosperity. But as long as the parasitic bureaus exist in Washington and over the country, the people must be kept on WPA and the dole in order for the parasites to keep their jobs. Most people on relief want to get back to regular jobs and back to the soil, but even if the present economic set-up for defense was to require the services of every man and woman at a good salary the bureaucrats would find some way of keeping enough on the public payroll to enable them (the bureaucrats) to refrain from honest toil to earn their own livings. The public slop troughs have a powerful influence on the seekers after power and patronage.

THIS WEEK IN DEFENSE

Information Released by the Government and Reviewed by the National Defense Advisory Committee of the National Editorial Association.

President Roosevelt, in a press conference, said that although the U. S. rearmament program is being greatly accelerated, he is still not satisfied with the rate of production. Director General Kudsens of the office of Production Management said that "during the last seven months we have actually started, and more than 60 percent completed 784 new factories," employed thousands of contractors, commandeered all existing shipyards and ordered seven new ones. He itemized progress and needed production increases as follows: 30 cal. machine guns — "ahead of schedule," need 500 percent increase; 50 cal. machine guns — 3 percent ahead of schedule, "need 1000 percent increase"; 13-ton tanks — "fair rate," need 100 percent increase; 26-ton tanks — "production deliberately held up" by the Government; powder production and TNT — "on schedule"; rifles — "ahead of schedule," need 100 percent increase; machine guns — "ahead of schedule," need 500 percent increase aluminum — "production increase from 25 million pounds a month a year ago to 40 million pounds a month," need 70 million pounds a month; magnesium — "production doubled," "need six-fold increase; supplies and equipment — "satisfactory;" Army and Navy housing — construction over half completed; need 44,500 buildings and 95,000 tent frames. Vice President Wallace, speaking in New York, said, "we are not working hard enough. We do not realize that our very lives are at stake and that speed now may make the difference of millions of lives in this hemisphere."

Help To Democracies The British 10 U. S. Coast Guard cutters under the terms of the Lend-Lease Act. He also pledged ed Yugoslavia "the U. S. will speedily furnish all material assistance possible". The President reopened by proclamation the Red Sea and the Gulf of Aden, permitting U. S. commercial vessels to come up the East side of Africa to the Suez canal. The President also signed an agreement with the Danish Minister to classify Greenland with Canada, Martinique and other foreign possessions in the Western Hemisphere which the U. S. would defend from foreign attack. The State Department recalled instances of German activity in Greenland as recently as March and said the agreement gave the U. S. the right to construct air bases.

Selective Service Selective Service Headquarters amended regulations to permit 10 days instead of five days notice of induction to registrants and a postponement of induction for 60 days when necessary to avoid "unusual individual hardship". The System also advised local boards to request registrants who are doctors to apply for commissions in the Medical Corps Reserve and ruled that registrants who are seamen may be deferred when they are essential to a ship.

The Army The War Department estimated Army strength at 1,185,600—68,611 officers and 1,117,000 enlisted men, as follows: 487,000 Regular Army, 289,000 National Guard, 38,000 Reserves, 374,000 in training. In an Army Day radio speech Chief of Staff General Marshall said: "Remarkable progress has been made in our men, have drilled and worked through all kinds of weather and under all sorts of conditions. The Army now emerges as an organized force." General Marshall quoted Rep. Wadsworth of New York (R) as telling Congress with respect to food, order and absence of disease. "I think there has been nothing like it in military history. No Army has ever made such a record."

Labor The U. S. Conciliation Service announced settlement of 54 strikes during the current week, including the Ford Motor Company controversy. Secretary of Labor Perkins certified the following strikes to the Defense Mediation Board: Phelps-Dodge Copper Products Corporation, Elizabeth, N. J.; Seas Shipping Company, New York City; J. Sikler Manufacturing Company Long Island, New York; and the Cowles Tool Company, Cleveland, Ohio. The Board announced settlement of the Allis-Chalmers and Seas Shipping Company strikes at West Allis, Wis., and New York City.

THE STORY THE MEDALS TELL

By R. A. JEFFREYS, Editor
The Santa Anna (Tex.) News

The second category of American decorations, which make up the first division of U. S. medals, is comprised of six medals awarded upon the recommendation of the superior officers of the recipient. These six medals are as follows: Distinguished Service Cross, the Distinguished Service Medal, the Silver Star, the Purple Heart, the Soldier's Medal and the Distinguished Flying Cross. The Certificate of Merit awarded soldiers after March 3, 1847, was abolished by Congress in July 1918 and holders of this award exchanged it for a Distinguished Service Cross.

Distinguished Service Cross Awarded for individual acts of extraordinary heroism in connection with military operations against an armed enemy. The medal is a cross with an eagle superimposed; the ribbon is a deep purple with narrow outer border of red with a white separating stripe.

Distinguished Service Medal An American eagle with outspread wings within a circle of blue enamel lettered "FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE MCMXXVIII." This medal is swiveled to a double cross-bar, the ribbon running through the space between the bars. The ribbon a medium stripe of red, a narrow stripe of blue, a wide center of white. Medal awarded for specially meritorious service in a position of great responsibility.

Silver Star Awarded for individual cita-

Soldier's Medal Awarded for acts of bravery in peace time. On an octagonal disc the American eagle, wings uplifted, 7 stars at either side and suspended from a ribbon the center of which is 6 red and 7 white narrow stripes between medium width blue stripes.

Distinguished Flying Cross Awarded to any person serving with the air branches for heroism or any extraordinary achievement while participating in a flight. A green gold four-blade propeller upon a square of the same fluted to the corners, in turn superimposed upon a maltese cross of the same. The medal linked to double crossbar suspended from ribbon with a narrow red center stripe and outward a fine white, medium width blue, narrow white and a narrow blue stripe. Decoration established in July 1918.

Persons wearing any of the above decorations who were entitled by subsequent citations to additional decorations of the same grade, were awarded oak leaf clusters to attach to medal ribbon and ribbon bar to indicate such subsequent decoration. Next week the 12 service or campaign medals issued to our soldiers prior to the World War will be described. The Victory medal with its numerous battle clasps offers sufficient material for one article in itself. It will be noted that the army medals are covered in these articles.

RECREATION

Love, work, worship and play are said to be the four elements of human life. If a person becomes absorbed too closely in one of these developments and welfare, thereby failing to grow in a balanced life. According to Richard Cabot, "Play is as necessary in the proper development of the well rounded life as love, worship and work." Thoughtful planning of the leisure time of a person, a family, or a community is important, because recreation is such a natural and essential part of every normal life. It is recognized as a constructive force in education, it builds a positive attitude of doing something beneficial, enjoyable and worthwhile. Recreational activities develop resourcefulness, alertness, friendliness and sportsmanship as well as afford opportunity for rest and relaxation from work and routine. It is a healthy sign that fuller and saner provision is being made for the play side of life. It should not only make people happier, but better amusement and happiness contribute to normal living. People who play in order to live more fully, live the best.

PEANUTS FOR COTTON

Cotton farmers who want to reduce their cotton production in 1941 may grow peanuts for oil on any part of the cotton acreage allotment which is not used for cotton production with out incurring deductions from agricultural conservation and parity payments.

Under this amendment to the 1941 Agricultural Adjustment Administration program, cotton farmers in areas adapted to peanut growing will be able to produce a new cash crop on acreage taken out of cotton production. E. F. Vance, administrative officer in charge of the AAA in Texas, declared. He emphasized that peanuts produced on the cotton allotment acreage can be sold only for crushing for oil if the grower is to comply with the program.

Diversion of cotton acreage to peanuts in 1941 will not affect either the cotton or peanut allotments in future years, Vance said. The new ruling will not affect the operation of peanut marketing quotas if they are approved by growers in the referendum to be held all over the United States April 26. The amendment to the program offers farmers an opportunity to further reduce acreage planted to cotton by making it possible for them to grow peanuts for oil in lieu of cotton on any part of their cotton acreage allotment. Any additional reduction in cotton production under this amendment would be in line with the purposes of the 1941 supplementary cotton program. In effect, this means that for every acre by which a farmer underplants his 1941 cotton acreage allotment, he may overplant his 1941 peanut acreage allotment for the purpose of selling such peanuts at their market value for crushing for oil, and still qualify for full payments under the AAA program.
