NUMBER 28.

This Week in Our Town

THE NEWS APPRECIATES THE fact that another town's newspaper saw fit to reproduce an editorial in a recent issue of the News on its front page and use the article for pepping up its home folks.

WILBUR CLARKE MAY FEEL a bit peeved at Sister Edna when she learns she has named her new pup "Buck Private" in his honor. Wilbur is a long way from home just now, with the army in Louisiana, and can do nothing about it.

THE LIONS CLUB MET AT THE Ranger Memorial Building this week, with the NYA girls serving the dinner. On the question of how well the Lions liked the dinner, a 100 per cent vote of appreciation was rendered.

CANTALOUPE KELLY, Champion melon raiser of West Texas, was in town Tuesday morning displayed samples of his wares. Last year he brought in many a load of green flesh honey dew melons and had more demand than supply. Hope he has plenty of both cantaloupes and "mushmelons" this year.

HUNTER BROS. RED & WHITE Store has qualified for official time keeper for the Santa Anna night life with an illuminated electric clock right where every one can see when it's time to go home. Little conveniences help the public and repay the business firm conferring the favor sooner or later.

OVER AT THE CARNIVAL WE visited Mrs. Estes' "Lilliputian Village" to see the human-acting dolls at work. The display is interesting and instructive. It took Mr. Estes, a resident of Humbel, Texas, three years to build his display, which has been operating for a quarter of a century. It's worth the price of admission to see the display.

AND IT RAINED QUITE A BIT Thursday afternoon. Wind for ten or fifteen minutes was quite strong. Probably settled the little heat wave we have been enjoying for the next few days.

FEEDING AND CARE OF MILK GOATS

Six to eight milk goats can be kept upon the feed required for one cow.

G. G. Gibson, assistant extension dairyman, says that the goat, often characterized as the poor man's cow, will supply sufficient milk for the average family and be kept where it would be impossible to keep a cow.

But to produce, the goat must be fed properly and when does are in milk they should be allowed all the roughage, such as alfalfa, clover, or mixed hay and fodder, they will consume. Also they should receive a liberal quantity of succulent food, such as silage or root crops. The Bureau of Dairy Industry has found, Gibson says, that 1.2 pounds of grain feeds best suited for the ration of goats are corn, oats, bran, barley and linseed, or cottonseed meal.

A WELL TRAINED SERVANT

There is this to be said for newspaper advertising: It does not shout at you when you are trying to concentrate on something else; it doesn't obscure the view and mar the landscape; it doesn't interrupt your enjoyment of a good grand opera program; it doesn't clutter up your mail and your wastebasket; it doesn't make you turn to page 37 and then shuffle through 18 more pages to finish your story. It doesn't mess up your front yard or obstruct itself onto the seat of your motorcar on Sunday afternoons. It is like a well-trained servant—never intruding or making itself obnoxious, but always quietly at hand ready to give service when called upon.—Ethelbeck (N. Y.) Gazette.

WHEAT

Farmers should get a larger return by feeding to livestock wheat which will not qualify for government loan than selling it on the market.

According to E. R. Eudaly, dairyman for the A. and M. College Extension Service, ground wheat is equal to corn, pound for pound, for feeding dairycows and is a satisfactory feed even over a long period provided it is fed in a suitable concentrate mixture and in a properly balanced ration.

Wheat should not be ground too finely on account its tendency to cake. It is best to mix it with a bulky concentrated feed, such as ground ear corn or ground maize heads. Ground wheat can be balanced with cottonseed meal, Eudaly says, and then mixed with some cottonseed hulls or ground bundle feed to make a bulk feed. Since wheat and cottonseed meal are both high in phosphorus and low in calcium two pounds of oyster shell flour or limestone flour should be included in each 100 pounds of this mixture.

If the low grade wheat is fed properly it should bring as much a bushel as number one wheat on the market will.

Present indications are that oats may be out of line in price as compared to corn, at least for a while. When corn is worth 50 cents a bushel and cottonseed meal $1.50 a hundred, oats are worth 28 cents a bushel. When corn is worth 75 cents a bushel and cottonseed meal $2 a hundred, oats are worth 39 cents a bushel.

It is Eudaly's opinion that it would pay to feed more oats in the ration to dairy cows when that grain sells for less than these comparative prices. Ground oats are very palatable feed, but should be ground to a medium fineness for dairy cows. They need not be ground when fed to calves up to six months of age.

FIRE BOYS MEET

On Tuesday evening of this week the local Fire Boys entertained some invited guests (local and some visiting fireboys from Coleman Brady Brownwood and Bangs) with a barbecue lunch in the Heffington pasture northeast of town. It was a stag affair, given in the interest of good fellowship and besides the good eats, singing and various pranks were enjoyed.

The boys later retired to the City Hall for a meeting. Some of the boys were quite surprised to learn that our C. of C. Secretary, J. D. Motley, could make some of these "drug store" cowboys look like "sissies" when he started "whanging" a guitar.

SANTA ANNA NYA HOMEMAKING NEWS

The local NYA project reopened Thursday, July 10, after being authorized to close for a period of two weeks by government officials. Because of the splendid and helpful work rendered by the girls and Mrs. Hettie Faye George, project supervisor, the Santa Anna project was one of the three projects to re-open in this area. The girls feel they can make the project an asset to the city of Santa Anna and community.

We were sorry that several of the girls were not given employment when the project re-opened. They had completed their 12 months of work.

Hospitalization practice has been included in the work schedule of the girls. Two girls are employed in the local hospital instead of the home. They are taught the work of nurses, making beds, preparing and applying bandages and the general work of the hospital. Each girl employed at the project will be rotated into the training.

The NYA girls, with the help of Mrs. George, prepared and served meals for the Ex-Rangers when they had their reunion at the Ranger's home the latter part of June. They were served a delicious supper served on the porch of the home one evening. The menu consisted of barbecue meat, ranch-style beans, potato chips, pickles and cookies and coffee. The following day dinner was served to approximately 60 persons in the large living-room of the home. The table was attractively decorated with white daisies. The menu consisted of fried chicken, cream potatoes, English peas, tomato-lettuce salad, and ice cream.

Miss Cozce, area health nurse will begin this week giving the girls a physical examination, serum, x-rays and laboratory tests will be required of each employee.

The making of blue denim trousers for the NYA boys of Big Spring is in progress again. Approximately 30 pair have been completed up to date. The girls have also been constructing aprons for each individual. They have been busy cutting the weeds and cleaning the yard around the home.

The project was proud to receive a new table-top kitchen stove. The stove is a "Roper" and is white enamel with white handles with chromium trim.

The girls with the supervision of Mrs. George, prepared and served a luncheon to the local Lions Club Tuesday of this week at the home. The table was centered with zinnias. The menu was, meat loaf, green beans, corn on cob, lettuce and tomato salad, hot rolls, ice tea, cream and cake. Each Tuesday the girls will serve the Club at the home.

A new council was organized this week with Mrs. George acting as chairman. The following officers were elected: president, Ouida Leady; sec-treas., Katherine Manley, reporter, Faye Johnson. Duties and improvements for the project were discussed. Plans were made for entertainment for the girls.

Visitors in the home were: Mrs. F. A. Rollins, Santa Anna; Kathryn Williamson and Beckie Harris, Santa Anna; Alwilda Karnes, Denton; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Cole, Mrs. Annie Meadows, Robble Cole, Bobbie W. Hayer, Maurice Hayer of Athens, Alabama; S. O. Durst of Junction; Mrs. H. Sebik, Brownwood; Mr. Jim Gilbert, Com Legion Post 308 and Mrs. Jim Gilbert of Bangs. All visitors are welcome to the home at all times.

DR. LOVELADY DELEGATE TO LIONS' CONVENTION

Dr. R. F. Lovelady was appointed at a recent meeting of the local Lions Club to represent that body at the annual convention, held this year at New Orleans.

Dr. Lovelady and family leave Sunday for New Orleans.

Two-thirds of the families in the United States live on less than 1,500 per year and are dressing their families on less than $100 per year, or $40 per person.

ALUMINUM

An appeal to rural people to contribute aluminum, in a drive announced recently by the Office of Civilian Defense, has been made by Director H. H. Williamson of the Texas Extension Service. Governor W. Lee O'Daniel has called upon county judges to assume leadership of the campaign.

County Extension agents have been asked to assist with this work as it relates to rural areas. Gathering of aluminum is to be in during the week of July 21, and according to the plan, local committees of 4-H Club members, home demonstration clubs, and use planning committees and other groups will call on farm homes in the community to collect the aluminum scrap.

Anything which is made of aluminum will do. Among the items suggested for donation are pots and pans, radio parts, toys, shakers, screening, old washing machine parts, picture frames, book ends, ice trays, measuring cups, camera equipment, kettles and double boilers, bottle and jar caps, refrigerator plates and electric appliances of all sorts.

Earlier the Office of Production Management had asked the citizens to defer collecting scrap aluminum until the week of July 14 and warned against "sharpsters" posing as legitimate government purchasers buying up scrap. It is estimated that the campaign to collect secondary aluminum will result in obtaining 20 million pounds throughout the nation. This would result in the release of 20 million pounds of first-class metal for use in 2,000 fighter planes.

The metal collected will be sold to smelters at a special uniform price fixed by the government. Entire net proceeds will be available to the Office of Civilian Defense for expenditures required in the proper defense of the civilian population.

Brady Sale

Sixteen breeders from this section of Texas have entered registered sheep and goats in the annual Brady Sheep and Goat Sale, which will be conducted at Brady, Texas, July 25 and 26 by the Brady Chamber of Commerce. P. E. Guley of Uvalde, has been engaged as auctioneer for the sale.

The above breeders have thus far entered 132 billies and nannies and 81 rams and ewes. This number will continue to increase with no deadline on entries, according to Dick Moseley chairman of the Live Stock Committee of the Brady Chamber of Commerce.

The two day sale will be held at Richards Park grandstand, where pens will be arranged for the sheep and goats, and where the auction will be held.

THREE YEARS OF COLLEGE

A streamlined program of study is being emphasized at the University of Texas to allow students to complete a college education in three years instead of four.

By attending each regular term, from September to June, and the 12-weeks classes each summer, a student can telescope his four-year degree requirements into three years.

The intensive course of study has the advantage of allowing many men to finish college training before reaching 21 and draft age, University President Homer P. Rainey pointed out.

Texas ranchmen and AAA officials who attended the recent National AAA Range Conference and Tour in Idaho inspected range conservation work in that state and compared it with work done in their home state. Here are Charles McCann, ranchman from Victoria, extreme left, is seen with M. C. Puckett, ranchman and state AAA committeeman from Fort Stockton, R. M. Evans, national AAA administrator, and Howard T. Kingsbery, ranchman and state committeeman from Santa Anna.

COTTON

It's time for American industry to come to the aid of the American cotton grower, to rescue over a million Southern families from loss of employment and income, a University of Texas cotton marketing expert believes.

"Powerful industrial interests in the United States government have refused to let industrial countries of Europe and Asia pay for United States, grown raw cotton with manufactured goods—their only means of payment," Dr. A. B. Cox, director of the University's Bureau of Business Research, asserted.

"This has so cut off the world market for Southern cotton that the immediate opportunity for exporting cotton from this country is just about zero," he said.

He called for an immediate get-together between national leaders and policy makers and leading cotton growers to relieve the situation.

The cotton industry is now in the position the northern and eastern manufacturers found themselves in 1916, when the citizens of Pittsburgh requested aid to protect their industry from disaster, he added.

"Is it not now time," he asked "for the tariff-protected industries to subordinate their selfish interests to the general good, as the cotton planters did in 1916?"

"Science, technology, economics, and business organization must be used to secure a wider market," he declared.

He cited the funds recently appropriated by the Texas Legislature for cotton research as a long step in this direction.

WPA ENGINEER DUNLAP LEAVING SANTA ANNA

Due to reduction of the number of WPA projects and curtailment of personnel, changes in local lineups are being made over the country. This was impressed on Santanans last week with the announcement that J. A. Dunlap, who has been the WPA engineer on the city lake and street projects, was being superseded by Sonny Duggins, a former Santanan, but of late engineer on one of Ballinger's projects.

In the engineering staff there are no layoffs after so many months on the rolls and the seniority rule applies. Where Dunlap will go, and who he will replace is not yet known. He has made a wide circle of friends during his stay, and wherever he goes Santanans know he will be an asset to the town or district with which he is associated. Old friends welcome Mr. Duggins back to his old home town.

Editorial

WHEN YOU DRIVE YOUR CAR along the state highway toward Coleman, Brady or Brownwood and come across a car parked in the highway—not off on the shoulder, but on the pave—when there is plenty of room off on the shoulder, and you see no evidence of a flat, busted engine or of a sick driver, you use a few choice cuss words of choice vintage and potency to describe the kind of so and so who would park on the highway instead of the parking space alongside the highway. You've cussed those fellows many times, and fervidly. Ever consider that you need the same cussing yourself occasionally? It's a fact. There is no sign at either side of town that says "State Maintenance Ends", so the state highway goes right through the town and if you park in the two through lanes instead of driving to the curb it's just the same as parking on the pave a mile out of town. If you park that way in town, with or without someone in the car, with or without the engine running, those you inconvenience cuss you just as forcibly as you cussed the fellow who parked on the pave a few miles out of town. Even you ladies are described as so-and-so of this or that kind. In fine, failing to drive to the curb to park classes you with the road-lawbreakers, road hogs and those who don't give a whoop about the other fellow's rights, no matter how loud you yell and cuss the other fellow for interfering with your use of the highway. Next time you run across a car that's parked on the highway and you get up a full head of steam to cuss the driver, if you are the same kind of a parker on the highway in town go ahead and do the cussing but wind up by saying "That's me all over, Mabel!" If you cuss and raise the devil when others interfere with YOUR road rights just consider that others think the same thing of you when you interfere with their rights. In the application of road laws, fair play and plain justice you and I are no better than any one else. The roadway was not built for just you and me, or just you or just me. All the other have rights—let's let 'em have them—if we want ours rights.

FARMERS URGED TO GIVE COTTON A CLOSE EXAM.

From a survey and examination of cotton fields in several sections of the county, the County Agent reports severe damage from both cotton flea hoppers and weevils. In some cases immediate dusting will be necessary to insure even a fair crop.

Farmers are urged to check their fields carefully for the presence of insects. In examining the cotton for the flea hoppers a net is used. It is made as follows: use a broom handle or a hoe handle about 2½ feet long, and to this attach a stiff wire loop 16 inches in diameter. A funnel shaped bag 24 to 30 inches deep should be attached to this loop. It is suggested that the bag be made of blue or black percale to enable one to see the small light colored flea hoppers better against a dark background. A check may be made by examining one hundred terminal buds with both hands—pull apart the small leaves of the bud and count the flea hoppers present. In using the net make one hundred sweeps, brushing the top of the cotton plants. In either case if from 15 to 25 flea hoppers are found, it is time to begin dusting. In checking for boll weevils, examine 100 squares on consecutive plants. If ten or more punctured squares are found per 100 examined the infestation warrants poisoning the cotton. Several parts of a field should be examined to secure an accurate estimate of the infestation.

The cotton flea hopper is a small green gnat-like insect that is very active.

The following is taken from a report on "Cotton Insects" by Cameron Siddall, Entomologist of the A. and M. Extension Service:

BOLL WEEVIL—Experiments previously described show that the mixture of calcium arsenate and sulphur gave larger yields and greater profits than calcium arsenate, alone, when used against high infestations of the boll weevil and low infestations of other insects.

COTTON LEAF WORM—When the flea hopper occurs with either or both the leaf worm and boll weevil, the mixture of calcium arsenate and sulphur is recommended. When the boll weevil or boll worm occurs along with the leaf worm, calcium arsenate such as spraying with lead arsenate, may be economical.

BOLLWORM—The mixture of calcium arsenate and sulphur is not recommended for the control of the bollworm. Calcium arsenate and sulphur is not recommended for the control of the bollworm. Calcium arsenate applied as a dust is used. The control of the insect depends on the timeliness of application and the use of at least 8 to 10 pounds of dust per acre per application. Regular applications for several weeks are often necessary to keep this insect under control.

RATE OF APPLICATION—From 12 to 15 pounds of the mixture should be used per acre per application. Twelve pounds will usually be satisfactory.

SCHEDULE OF DUSTING—Dusting should be done at 5-day or weekly intervals, depending upon the intensity of the infestation. If an application is washed off within 24 hours, it should be repeated.

TIME TO DUST—The ideal condition for dusting is when the air is calm and the cotton is damp, although satisfactory applications may be made in the middle of the day and without the presence of moisture, provided the air is calm, or nearly so.

KIND OF MACHINE—Most of the dusting machines that will properly distribute calcium arsenate will also satisfactorily distribute sulphur of the mixture. In dusting for flea hoppers and bollworms it is important that the dust be directed to the tops of the cotton plants where most of these insects are to be found. Side delivery machines do not usually give as good control of these insects as machines with a nozzle for dusting each row. Equal distribution of the dust over a number of rows is also very difficult to obtain from side delivery machines. The size of duster or dusters should be determined by the acreage to be cared for. Air-plane dusting is practical on large acreages.

"Circular No. 92 of the Texas Experiment Station" gives further information on cotton insects. Copies are available at the County Agents Office.
