Heart o' Texas News Briefs

Lieut. Col. Kearnie L. Berry, who came to Camp Bowie when the state's largest military training center was more like the state's largest mud puddle, left Tuesday for San Antonio where he will be assigned to an unnamed post. Saturday Lieut. Col. Berry relinquished command of the huge camp to Lieut. W. Eggers, executive officer at Bowie since May.

Bids will be opened this week on a $85,000 project to remodel a Brownwood four-story building into a deluxe recreation center for soldiers.

West Texas shooters got their last crack at doves Monday, when the season closed at sundown, having been open since Sept. 16. Hunters have 20 days in which to dispose of any birds shot Monday.

The retirement Nov. 23 of Lieut.-Col. Frank Pugh Culver, Jr., of Fort Worth because of overage for his grade was announced by Brig.-Gen. Fred L. Walker, commander of the 36th Division at Camp Bowie.

The 36th division of Camp Bowie will participate in Brownwood Armistice Day parade in Brownwood, sponsored by the Isham A. Smith American Legion Post of that city. Details of the military participation will be announced later, but it is believed the tall branches of the armed forces represented at Camp Bowie will be represented in a parade of national defense significance. The program will start at 10 a. m. on Nov. 11.

Open house will be held at Camp Bowie, Sunday, November 16, when your favorite soldier will be proud to show you how he makes up his bed and stores his clothes. He will show you the entire camp which will give you a better idea as to just how big a city Camp Bowie is.

Fourteen hundred Future Homemaking Girls of Texas, members of chapters in twenty-one counties gathered at Howard Payne college Saturday for the fall meeting of the FHT, Area V. The theme of the meeting was, "American Youth and Defense."

Sgt. Hensley is Seeking Day Room Furnishings

First Sgt. John Hensley of Santa Anna's guard company in the 30th Division—now Anti Tank Co. of the 142nd Inf. at Camp Bowie—is here seeking contributions of furniture, more especially couches, tables and desks, for the Company's Day Room. It is felt that many of the older homes have broken or worn furniture stored away, items no longer of value to the owners, but which can be repaired and put to appreciated use. There is an upholsterer in the company and the company has funds available for repairs but not for purchases. Over-stuffed chairs would be appreciated. They have plenty of the common variety of chairs. Santanans should by every means get behind this proposition. Most of the boys in the company are from this town, and our pride in and loyalty to them should cause us to not let them down in a little thing like this. Dig in and dig out your contribution. Drop a card to 1st Sgt. John Hensley, Anti Tank Co., 142nd Inf., at Camp Bowie, and a truck will be along to pick up the articles donated.

Pork and Butter Added to November Food List

Fresh pork and butter have been added to the list of foods obtainable by Stamp Program participants during November in Coleman County it was announced today by H. Brelsford, Jr., area Supervisor, Surplus Marketing Administration. Except for the addition of these two staple food items, which appear on the Stamp Program food list for the first time since July, the November list is the same as that for October. These foods are obtainable in local stores throughout the month of November.

Commenting upon the return of pork products and butter to the list of foods available with blue stamps, Roy F. Hendrickson, Administrator of the Surplus Marketing Administration, said:

"It is doubly fortunate that we are able to return pork products and butter to the Stamp Program list at this time. It not only makes it possible for us to provide wider markets for farmers to move increased supplies, but it also will make important food commodities available to millions of low-income people. Farmers need these wide markets in order to get a fair return on their full production. Needy families must have the food for a balanced diet. An adequate selection of foods for distribution to supplement the limited food supplies low-income families are able to buy is especially important in these days of emergency, when we must plug all the weak spots in our national health defense. Consumer buying power, has been increased materially by defense and other employment, but there are still millions who need help. Supplying these people with foods they need and keeping open markets for increasing farm production are twin objectives of national concern."

The complete list of blue stamp foods for the period November 1 through November 30 in all Stamp Program areas is as follows: Butter, fresh pork, (except that cooked or packed in metal or glass containers), fresh pears, apples, oranges and fresh vegetables (including potatoes), corn meal, shell eggs, raisins, dried prunes, hominy (corn) grits, dry edible beans, wheat flour, enriched wheat flour, self-rising flour, enriched self-rising flour, and whole wheat (Graham) flour.

Dist. A.A.A. Meeting Is Held

Farmer-committeemen of the AAA and representatives of the government agricultural agencies from Coleman County are meeting in Abilene yesterday and today, October 30 and 31, to lay plans for the Food-Freedom campaign in this area, according to G. E. Abbey, chairman of the Coleman County USDA defense board.

The district meeting will be one of 12 similar meetings being held throughout the state at the same time to get the food production campaign into high gear, the defense board official said. Representatives of Coleman County who will attend are: All members of the County USDA defense board, which includes G. E. Abbey, representing the AAA; Wm. E. Selman, of the FSA; S. P. Horne of Farm Credit Administration, F. E. Tutt, Soil Conservation Service; D. D. Steele, County Extension Service and John L. Wilkinson of the REA. Members of the AAA who will attend are Ozro Eubanks, George W. Pauley, Joe K. Taylor, Faye Kinney and Ruth Conley.

Following the district meeting, the county USDA defense board, working with AAA committeemen, will undertake a farm-to-farm canvass in the food production pledge sign-up. Farmers in the county will be asked to produce their share of the foods which are needed for defense and for aid to the nations resisting aggression. "We are undertaking the greatest food production job in the history of the world," Mr. Abbey declared. "We have the goals to meet and we will meet them. I believe the farmers of this county will go all-out in their effort to do their share in the Food-Freedom campaign."

Mr. Abbey explained that the USDA defense board would announce definite plans for carrying on the campaign in the county after the district meeting, but it is anticipated that county and community meetings to explain what is needed will be held in conjunction with the farm plan and pledge sign-up which will be handled by AAA committeemen.

New 4-H Group Formed at New Central

A small but enthusiastic group of 4-H club members met at the New Central School last Wednesday to organize a 4-H Club. A great deal of interest is being shown in the program which will include the study of livestock, poultry, field crops, and other agricultural subjects. The following officers were elected for the present year: Chas. Dean Whittington, President; Creed Williams, Vice President; James Robert Henderson, Sec.-Treas.

Rockwood 4-H Club Reorganized

Bureau of Reclamation to Study Coleman County Irrigation Prospects

There's a possibility some irrigation projects might be sponsored in Coleman County by the Bureau of Reclamation, Department of the Interior, Field Engineer, P. L. Sharkey of the Bureau indicated at a meeting of the Central Colorado River Authority's board of directors last week at Coleman.

It is almost a certainty Mr. Sharkey declared at the board meeting, that a thorough investigation of several Coleman County streams will be made by his department.

In order to come into the county, it would be necessary for the area to be served to first have plenty of water for municipal and livestock purposes. Should a project be established any one land owner could own not more than 160 acres of irrigatable land in any one project but is not limited on the other kind of land in his possession. Land owners could obtain loans through the Bureau for a period of 40 years at no interest.

Cooperation of the CCRA board was pledged to the Bureau. Mr. Sharkey gave high praise to the CCRA and the farmers of Coleman County for the work already done in flood control and water and soil conservation.

Your Money's Worth

With food prices soaring from week to week, Texas' people who can't produce and conserve most of their food at home need more than ever to get full value for their money when they buy canned foods.

Grace I. Neely, specialist in food preservation for the A&M College Extension Service, points out that whether the consumer's pocketbook is plump or lean, it pays to buy canned goods wisely.

Since there are thousands of brands available in retail stores neither the homemaker nor the retailer can be sure of the quality each brand is supposed to represent. That's where the Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service has come to the rescue. Regardless of the brand name, the quality classes for canned fruits and vegetables established by the Department of Agriculture provide a reliable means of identifying quality. Only products packed in plants under the "continuous inspection" of the Agricultural Marketing Service can be labeled as a "U. S. grade."

Here are the four grades, guideposts to consumers:

GRADE A (Fancy)—Only the finest canned fruits and vegetables are in this grade. They are carefully selected as to size, color, degree of maturity and freedom of blemishes.

GRADE B (Choice)—Products in Grade B are of excellent quality but not so carefully selected or so tender and succulent as those in Grade A.

GRADE C (Standard)—Products in Grade C are of good quality but not uniform in color size and maturity as B.

Below GRADE C—Some canned fruits and vegetables which fail to meet the requirements of Grade C in certain respects may be wholesome, nutritious and acceptable in flavor. If labeled to meet regulations under the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act they may be sold on the retail market.

Texas Turkey Crop Valued at $9,000,000

Texas turkey growers will gross more than $9,000,000 from their 1941 crop, figuring that the price this year will be about 20 cents per pound, slightly more than last year, and that the U. S. Department of Agriculture's estimate of 3,100,000 birds in Texas is correct. The turkeys will average about 15 pounds each.

Chamber of Commerce Notes

By Howard Pearson, Secy

TEAM WORK GREAT ASSET

Every successful business is in a constant state of reorganization. It is a sign of weakness rather than strength when the management is completely satisfied with methods and policies for any considerable length of time and this is true of the Chamber of Commerce just the same as any business. What we are all trying to do is secure co-operation, to secure community effectiveness, to secure the adoption of sane industrial and commercial plans and to secure adherence to such plans with the least amount of agitation, envy and discord.

Unless you are a teamworker you have little chance of succeeding in any business. Teamwork has given us homes, business building, modern equipment, all trade, all commerce, all industry, schools and churches sprang from teamwork.

One secret of the successful teamworker is that he doesn't wear a chip on his shoulder; he doesn't look for slights; he is not constantly on the alert lest his dignity be insulted. Yet he need never compromise his self-respect nor sacrifice his principles but he must be every inch a MAN. Teamwork calls for a certain amount of unselfishness, tolerance, good fellowship and companionship. Teamworkers in the Chamber of Commerce move things ahead. Are you a TEAMWORKER?

Trade at Home

The City has received approximately $3,000 worth of cast iron and transit pipe for piping water from the New Lake to the settling tanks. This material was furnished by the government.

Trade at Home

The Poultry and Turkey Show booklets are being printed this week and will be distributed to all producers of Coleman County and will be sent to every community in the county. You can help make this show one of the best by talking it to your customers, reminding them of the date and encouraging them to take an active part.

Trade at Home

Miss Margaret Bruce, Santa Anna High School student, will represent this city in "My Home Town and Defense" contest, sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, at Stephenville, October 29th. We also want to send a delegation to the WTCC convention in Midland, November 3-4. If you can go be sure and call the city hall this week and leave your name in order that we may know how many will go.

Trade at Home

New Autos Must Be Unornamented

Defense officials told the automobile industry this week that the use of scarce metals—such as chrome, nickel, and aluminum—for passenger car ornaments must be discontinued after Dec. 15.

Effective immediately, under an order by Donald M. Nelson, OPM priorities director, production of such ornaments was prohibited except in amounts required to complete cars which will come off the assembly lines prior to Dec. 15.

Boast your home town.

Coleman County Compulsory School Law Begins

The Coleman County School Board met in a called session Thursday, October 28, and set Monday, November 3 as the official beginning date for the compulsory school law in the schools of Coleman County coming under their jurisdiction. This date is much later than in previous years, however, due to the fact that so many children were needed to work at home during the cotton picking season, the Board thought it wise to wait until this late date. By law, all children six years of age before September 1 and not yet sixteen years of age are required to attend Public School for 120 days. Children that are not physically or mentally able to attend schools and children who live 2½ miles from a bus route are excused by law. Any parent failing to comply with the provisions of this law may be fined $5.00 for the first offense, $10.00 for the second offense, and $25.00 for each subsequent offense. Each day that a child remains out of school may constitute a separate offense.

Mr. W. L. Futch has been appointed as Probation and Juvenile Officer for the entire county. All cases where children are not enrolled in school by Monday, November 3 will be checked by the school officials and reports of violation will be investigated by Mr. Futch.

County Superintendent Terrell Graves stated that it had been his experience that most of the parents were anxious to get their children in school at the very earliest date, and that he does not look for many violations in light of the fact that the Board has been so liberal in setting a late date. He wished to ask all families that have not enrolled their children to cooperate by doing so by Monday, November 3.

ONLY "RIPE" TURKEYS SHOULD BE SOLD

The year's biggest demand for turkeys is in the offing. It is timely, therefore, for producers to go over all marketable birds carefully, such as livestock cut out their cattle, says George P. McCarthy, poultry husbandman of the A&M College Extension Service. Only those turkeys often referred to as "ripe" are in best condition to go to market.

Growers can determine whether their birds have developed well in flesh by feeling the keel and along the shoulders and thighs. If they are well fleshed then examine further to see whether they have put on fat. This is best indicated by lawers of fat found along the thin feather tract of the breast and on the thighs. Examination should continue to see whether they have developed pin feathers.

Pin feathers, McCarthy explains, cut a turkey in grade probably more than any other thing. If a turkey has not developed pin feathers to the point where they protrude thru the skin and have taken on a fanlike shape, then it can easily be classified as green. Should a turkey of this kind be dressed out a heavy scattering of pin feathers would be found over the breast and on the thigh. The degree of pin feather development easily can be determined by folding back some of the feather tracts along the breast to see whether feathers have developed well in the area then looking on the inside of the wing to see whether the pin feathers have protruded thru the web part of the wing. If the thigh is rather smooth to the touch, when pin feathers have developed and taken on a fanlike shape and the turkey will dress out as a good market bird, McCarthy says.

"I find that lots of our toms are marketed too early. If they had been kept off the market another three or four weeks they would have topped the market in quality. So, in select-

Jack Snodgrass, 29, former Coleman high school and Daniel Baker College football star, died last Thursday morning in San Angelo, following a long illness. Survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Snodgrass, three brothers, Gus, Jim and Mac and four sisters.

Harry Hammill, operator of Coleman Flying School, announces that he has secured two auxiliary landing fields of about 150 acres each. Practice landings and take-offs are to be made on these fields. One field, on the Mrs. Purcell place is located about five or six miles out on the Abilene highway on the west side of the road. The other is on the Weathered place, southwest of Coleman, above the old city lake.

Band Director J. E. King of Coleman last Saturday was honored by the University of Texas band in ceremonies on the University campus. He was given a certificate and made a life member of the band.

A plea that Coleman be placed in a National Defense area soon will be forwarded to the Federal Housing Administration coordinator, according to S. W. Cooper, Chamber of Commerce secretary of that city. If Coleman is placed in such an area Coleman people would be able to obtain building material and equipment easier than is now the case. The brief will point out the need of Coleman being so designated, showing the establishment of a flying field there, the establishment of a CCC camp in the city and expansion due to the oil activity in the western part of the county.

Information has been received that Captain L. H. Dalton, commander of the U. S. Army Air Corps at Coleman Flying School will be transferred to San Angelo in the near future.

Turkey Co-op. Makes Money

By Harry Holt
In Abilene Reporter News

Let's talk turkey. Along about this time of the year, there's nothing more talkable. Especially when you start thinking about those big, brown roasted bogglers that will appear on the Thanksgiving tables.

But, there's another angle about this turkey business here that is of great interest and vast possibilities. It concerns the business of furnishing eggs for middle west hatcheries.

And to carry out this program more effectively the Coleman County Turkey Breeders association was formed, with headquarters at Santa Anna. There are sub-stations in Rockwood and Coleman. B. T. Wiley, who had wide experience at the Brady co-op, is manager. Last season the 67 members of the association shipped approximately 250,000 eggs to hatcheries in Minnesota, Iowa and Pennsylvania for an average price of 14 cents per egg. The total income was $35,000.

There in a nutshell is the amazing story of a peculiar setup, but it's only the beginning.

In the words of Bill Griffin, Santa Anna hatcheryman and member of the association's board of directors, "We've only scratched the surface."

One Minnesota hatchery alone, bought 400,000 eggs last season nearly twice the total shipped from the Coleman County association. And that's just one hatchery.

California is the nation's leading turkey egg producing state. The eggs are marketed by extensive individual operators and by two co-ops. West Virginia entered the scene last year. Other than those two states, Texas is the only remaining source of eggs for the middle west and east.

To meet the increasing demand for turkey eggs of higher quality, the association's membership has been stepped up to 75 and the number of hens kept increased to 10,000. In addition prize broad-breasted toms from Oregon—home of the Baby Beef turkeys—have been imported this year. They will be mated freely with hens of laying flocks in the association.

An increase of two to three cents per egg, is expected this year to meet the higher feed costs.

This being one of the leading sheep producing counties in Central West Texas, people naturally think of terms of sheep and the income thereon.

As a matter of comparison, one turkey hen will make more clear profit for her owner in 6 months than a ewe will make in a year, Griffin says.

And the matter of looking after the hens is kinda a lazy man's job, to hear the enthusiastic supporters of the program tell their story. The owner selects his eggs at marketing time puts them on a feed of half laying mash and half grain, after they have been blood tested and wormed.

From there on, it's only a matter of keeping feed out and the eggs gathered up. Little housing facilities are needed as it has been found that turkeys do better in the open. Sandy land and rocky hills are the preferred sites as turkeys must have their feet dry to do well. A "norther" break often is all that is used.

There have been none of the sweeping diseases of the old days since growers have started vaccinating their birds for all the known diseases.

C. G. Scoggins of Winchell (Brown county) is one of the most illustrious members of the association, having cleared $3,000 on a flock of 600 hens the past season. That is a net profit of $5 per hen, while the average for the association is $4 per hen.

Many members sell their birds after the laying season, thus having them on hand only for six months. Others keep the hens in production late and raise a crop of birds after the eastern egg market closes.

One member at Dublin provided the wisdom of raising birds having already contracted his 3,500 birds at such a price that he has a net profit of $2 per bird, or $7,000. That ain't hay. That member keeps 300 hens.

When hens are in 50 percent production, the per-egg cost is only three cents Griffin says.

And the matter of getting the hens to lay isn't so complicated now that the REA lines have provided farmers with "self-starters." When growers get ready to start gathering those precious eggs, they just give the hens the "go-ahead" sign by turning electric lights on early in the morning.

Laugh if you want to, but that is the truth.

Ask any poultryman. Lights will throw the hens into production within three weeks. They are placed on feed Dec. 15, and usually are producing by January 9.

It takes little money to finance the co-op. It usually borrows $200 from the local bank at beginning of the season. That is paid after first egg checks are received. The manager gets one cent per egg for his services and the association takes another cent for packing costs etc., and usually returns a large portion of that. Last year it required only one-third of a cent.

This business of selling turkey eggs was started at Brady about 10 years ago by a county agent, J. D. Prewitt, now a district agent. During the first few years he served as manager and secretary of the association.

That plant now sells over a million eggs each year; has a co-op hatchery, a large storage plant and other facilities.

R. C. Straughan of Rockwood is president of the board of directors. Other members of the board in addition to Griffin are H. T. Crenshaw of Valera, O. C. Lovelady of Santa Anna, Sam Estes of Rockwood and Raymond McElrath.

FATTENING YOUR TURKEYS

With the event of cold weather turkeys should be fed a fattening mash to have them ready for the first market. Mr. Geo. P. McCarthy, Extension Poultry Husbandman, states the following:

The formula given below is satisfactory for fattening turkeys for market. Some people prefer to give a wet mash feeding to the turkeys for a period of three weeks before they go to market. If this is done they should be given two wet mash feedings a day all that they will clean up in about 20 minutes, and four wet mash feedings a day the last week, all that they will clean up in about 20 minutes. In addition to this the grain should be kept before them at all times and at no time should the wet mash be left before the birds to sour, as that will throw them off feed.

TURKEY FATTENER—Finely ground corn, 30 lbs., finely ground mlo 19 lbs., wheat gray shorts, 20 lbs., pulverized whole oats, 15 lbs., meat and bone scraps, 5 lbs., dried milk, 10 lbs., salt, 1 lb.

EDITORIAL

Hallowe'en is a time for ghouls and pranks, a night to pretend that we are witches, fairies and ghosts. We go to a lot of trouble just to make our neighbors angry by scratching on their screens, throwing on the house and across the front porch, ringing door bells, or by tying two cats together and hanging them across the clothes-line to make plenty of noise. Such harmless pranks are all right so long as the neighbor is good humored and is not the "hard-bolled" kind. But when it comes to dragging off the cow or carrying off the front gate we have gone too far.

The name "Hallowe'en" means "Holy Eve", a time originally set apart to honor the memory of all saints. It is the eve of Christian festival. The building of bonfires, telling of ghost stories and fortunes, cracking of nuts, bobbing for apples in a tub of water and getting a ducking in the attempt are all handed down as customs from the pagans or the Jews and Mohammedans. The pagans celebrated "All Spirit's Day" on November 1, about thirteen centuries ago, when both good and evil spirits were believed to be on earth. Of course we are not pagans, but still we try to make all the spirits walk October 31. It seems we have forgotten about the good spirits. All we see Hallowe'en night are the witches and ghosts. We are out to have fun and be good spirits so we adopt the name and shape of a bad spirit that night just to make our friends "jump out of their skins."

Did you know that in the Roman Catholic countries, Hallowe'en is the occasion for visiting the cemeteries and laying flowers on the graves of friends and relatives? But in the United States and England that is about the last thing we think of. We consider it a time to have all the fun we can at our friends' discomfiture or our own.

We have a silly freshman boy? All the girls are crazy about Eugene Harris? Billy McCormick is a woman hater? Mr. Davis has been ill? Doris McGahey gets mail from a boy in New York? Margaret's last name isn't Griffith any more? The Mountaineers are going to beat Coleman Friday night?

Mountaineers vs. Bluecats

The Mountaineers are going to play the Coleman Bluecats, Friday night, October 31. The game is to be played in Coleman on Hufford Field.

The line-up is the same as usual.

- Garland McCarroll, No. 88
- James Dixon, No. 83
- James Avants, No. 73
