Local service station operator Sye Burden has been nursing painful burns on his arms this week. An over-heated car radiator exploded as he was servicing the vehicle and the boiling water burned his forearms.

We are glad that the injuries were no more serious and that he is back on the job downtown.

Rehearsals are well underway for the Prof Strumaline's Medicine Show which will be presented in Santa Anna on Saturday night, September 1.

You'll have to see to believe the agility of the dancing troupe which includes five of Santa Anna's most athletic boys. Coaches Williams and Allen may have more than they bargained for!

Everyone has been eager to help with the community production, and more help is needed. Large scraps of fabric are needed to make bustles for one set of costumes, and also needed are several long skirts or fabric to make them.

If you are void in the fabric department, perhaps someone could do one small errand—transport lighting equipment from Dallas on or before August 17. Anyone going that direction? Call Jimmy Benton.

We mentioned in this column recently about the new "right turn on red light" law which was passed by the Texas Legislature. We should have mentioned that the law will not go into effect until Monday, August 27.

Floyd Marshall, local driver education instructor, called this to our attention and reminded us that it's not legal yet.

Maize Harvest Is Underway In Community

A big maize crop is almost ready to harvest in this area, and combining is getting underway this week if the weather remains dry. Although a few fields have already been harvested, moisture content is still high in the grain. Helped by recent rains, the yield is expected to be good this year and market price for the maize is higher than ever recorded.

The Central Texas Grain Forwarding Co. is operating at the former Santa Anna Co-op elevator and opened for business Monday. Grady McIver of Trickham will be operating the business during the harvest.

I must apologize for the length of my column this week, but this week has not exactly been the greatest as far as excitement goes. . . and so I will close and remind my fellow scouts to follow the scout motto and BE PREPARED!

In Our Opinion

By W. T. HAYS

THE FIRST PHASE of the Watergate hearings are scheduled to end this week.

Some people have followed the television coverage of the hearings faithfully and have possibly learned a lot about some of the things that go on in the nation's capitol.

Others have continually complained because regular programing has been interrupted on the TV networks. The loudest complaint has come from the soap opera addicts, and from our point of view no program on the air could have a better soap opera plot than Watergate.

Just watching and listening would leave the impression that Washington was rampant with corruption, and there is no doubt that there is plenty going on that we don't approve of. However we must not lose sight of the fact that we have some good men representing us. This district has been very fortunate in being represented by some good men, dating back to the days of O. C. Fisher, followed by Omar Burleson and now Bob Poage. If other districts had been represented as well, then we can't help but believe that this country would be in better shape than it is now.

In fact, the entire Texas delegation is above average, and most all of them are men of character, serving their constituents in a manner that reflects the point of view of this area.

There was some enlightenment in the hearings when it was stated that some members of Congress enter the floor in no condition to serve their people. It was indicated that some "tottered to their seats too drunk to make a competent decision on anything."

Even though congressional districts are large and it is hard to really know our representative, it seems to us that the voter could remedy that situation. It is hard to believe that such conditions would not be known to the people of the district represented by such a congressman or senator, and that the people would send a better representative to the national body.

Of course Washington isn't by itself when it comes to corruption. We have had our share in Texas and probably there is no government body of any stature that does not have its share.

What we, as voters, need to do is learn our candidates and when we cast a ballot for any official for any office, we should be reasonably sure that he is the type of man we want to represent us, regardless of office.

If we have let our elective offices be filled with dishonest people, we can blame no one but ourselves. They get into office one way—that is through disinterest of the people.

Sooner State Strategy— Strip-Tease Tactics Being Used On Bugs

In Oklahoma, they're dusting off an old conservation practice and putting it to work in cotton fields to obtain better yields at lower risk to the environment.

The practice being revived is strip-cropping, reports the National Cotton Council, but in the Sooner State it's being given a new twist.

In four years of tests, Oklahoma State University researchers have found that planting strips of sorghum with cotton increases the population of beneficial insects and reduces the need for spraying.

What happens is that harmful insects build up in the sorghum and beneficial predators move in to eat them. Later, the predators follow the remaining insects into the cotton.

Scientists believe strip-cropping can eliminate at least two or more sprayings a season. While they view the practice as a major advance in cotton pest management, they point out that it is not effective in controlling the boll weevil.

Experiments are under way to breed cotton plants with some resistance to the weevil, but researchers say many problems are yet to be resolved in this time-consuming approach.

Fraud By Mail

To Eddie, the idea seemed like a sure thing. He mailed out phony invoices to a number of businessmen, billing them for ads they had never ordered, and waited for the money to roll in.

Some money did. But so did two federal investigators, who haled Eddie into court on a charge of "using the mails to defraud." In short order he landed in jail, following the path of countless get-rich-quick artists who have run afoul of the United States Post Office.

Under our legal system, most crimes are local. Robbery and riot, murder and mayhem ordinarily come under the jurisdiction of local governments.

But mail fraud is federal business, because the Constitution gives exclusive control of the postal system to the federal government.

Of course, to constitute the crime, the fraudulent scheme must include some significant use of the mails. However, that need not be the central feature. Consider, for example, the case of a man who used chicanery to sell lots in a cemetery. All of his sales were made in person, not by mail.

But he followed up with letters to his customers, partly to allay their suspicions and partly to discourage them from taking him into court. Such use of the mails, a court ruled afterward, was enough to support a federal charge against him for fraud.

Still, there must really be fraud, not just deft salesmanship. In another case a woman was accused of mail fraud because she had been selling "lucky stones" through the mail.

But at the trial, she pointed out that she had made no claim of magical virtues for her product—beyond the name itself. Dismissing the charge, the court said:

"There is nothing immoral in the belief that amulets affect the wearer's fortune. If (the defendant) wishes to sell lucky stones for what they are, without lying about them, she is not acting fraudulently in so doing."

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

When the month of August rolls around, thousands of Texas mothers suddenly realize that only a few more weeks remain until school begins.

Parents with youngsters beginning school for the first time this September, look forward to school with a little more excitement, and many mothers whose first-born are going off to school may be a bit bewildered by it all.

In addition to the million-and-one chores that must be performed in getting the youngster ready for school—new shoes, clothes, health examination—most school districts require proof of age for beginning students. A certified copy of a birth certificate is usually requested, reports the Texas State Department of Health.

This fall there will be 221,100 new first graders in the schools throughout Texas, with the total public school enrollment expected to reach 2,805,300. Continued growth of the school population is expected for the next two to three years, according to the Texas Education Agency. In addition, there will be 78,700 children enrolled in public school kindergartens.

Anticipating the rush of birth certificate requests, the Records and Statistics Section of the Texas State Department of Health has been prepared for it. Requests already are pouring in.

It takes a sizeable staff just to open the thousands of letters received daily, let alone search out a requested certificate, remove it from the thick volume, make a certified copy, mail it out and then return the original certificate to its proper place.

Years of experience have eliminated nearly every bottleneck. The operation is smooth and fast. Usually the copy is mailed within 3 or 4 days after the request is received.

One bottleneck still remaining, however, is the individual who makes the last-minute request. Parents are requested to stop now and write for a certified copy of the birth certificate, or contact either the city registrar where the child was born or the county clerk in the county of birth.

In most cases it is an easy matter to make a trip to your county courthouse or registrar and personally request a certified copy of a birth certificate. The county clerk's office has birth records on file, as well as countless other documents.

If you write the Texas State Department of Health, Bureau of Vital Statistics, the address is 410 East Fifth Street, Austin, TX, 78701. Be sure to include the child's name, his place of birth, the date of birth, and names of the parents—including the mother's maiden name. The State Health Department fee for a certified copy of the birth certificate is $2.

Filing of birth certificates is just one function of the Records and Statistics Section of the State Health Department. Records also kept of deaths, diseases and other public health information.

There are more than 13 million birth certificates on file in the state office, and the tabulation of birth certificates is a never-ending process. Last year, for example, there were just under 222,000 live births recorded in Texas.

Largest number of live births for Texas in one year was recorded in 1957. That year 249,567 babies were born alive in Texas, and their births are recorded in the Records and Statistics Section.

Just maintaining records of current births and deaths is a mammoth task. In order to do this, the statewide system includes 1,000 local registration officials who collect these records. All of these must be carefully indexed to expedite the hundreds of thousands of searches that must be made each year to process applications for birth verifications and certification.

This sounds complicated, and it

Cemetery Assn. Gets Donations As Memorials

The Santa Anna Cemetery Association has received several donations as memorials during the past week. Those making contributions in memory of the late Mrs. James W. Leigh have been Mrs. and Mrs. J.W. McClellan; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Walters; Mr. and Mrs. Tode Hensley of Coleman; and Mr. and Mrs. E.E. Cook and Richard of Coleman.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilburn Anderson made a donation in memory of the late Alton Taylor; and Mrs. Lura Winger gave a gift in memory of the late Mrs. J.W. Parker.

is. But to a person who needs a birth certificate for a passport or to prove the age of a child entering school, it is a vital service.

Not only are these records helpful to you and necessary for legal proof in many instances, but they furnish—as a group—information of great value to the state. To best use this wealth of statistics, data is transferred from records to magnetic tapes and a computer converts these into tabulations. From these charts and reports come information enabling staff statisticians to read and interpret the very pulse of the state's health.

Church Ceremony August 4 Unites Miss Baugh, Mr. Lowry

A double ring ceremony united Nancy Lee Baugh and Lonnie Lowe Lowry in marriage Saturday night August 4, at 8:00 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church in Santa Anna. The Reverend Louis J. Shambeck, pastor of the church, officiated. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick S. Baugh, and the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lowry all of Santa Anna.

The altar setting focused on the communion table which held the large white memory candle and the two small white worship tapers. A pair of candleabra entwined with boxwood, polished ivy, and white bows flanked each side of the communion table. White gladioli and gypsophila arrangements stood in front of each candleabra. White satin bows and trailing ivy marked the family pews. Polished ivy rest on the altar railing.

Miss Sheryl Lowry of Plano, niece of the groom, presided at the register table which held a single rose tied in azela ribbon. Her sister, Donna Lowry, distributed wedding programs.

Jimmy Benton was organist, and prelude selections included "Berceuse," "Clair de Lune," "The Swan", and "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring." He also accompanied Miss Mersha Elliott of Deleon who sang "Wedding Song", and "O Christ Who Hath Deigned" preceding the traditional processional.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Baugh chose an ivory embossed floor length dress of knit with three-quarter length sleeves accented with miniature self-covered buttons. Her accessories were bone and gold, and she wore a corsage of pink sweetheart roses. Mrs. Lowry wore a pink floor-length knit dress with front lace panel. Her accessories were bone and silver. Her corsage was a pink cymbidium orchid.

Jamie Joe Bible of San Angelo and Jim Reid of Teague, nephews of the bride, lighted candles.

Mrs. James Bible of San Angelo served as her sister's matron of honor. She wore a sleeveless azela gown fashioned of crepe with high rise waistline and stand-up collar. The waist and neckline was accented with deep azela braid and seed pearls. In her hair she wore a spray of gypsophila, sweetheart roses, and gypsophila collared in lace with pink velvet streamers. Bridesmaids were Miss Joellen Flores of Andrews, cousin of the bride, and Miss Kathie Reid of Teague, niece of the bride. They wore dresses in identical style to that of the matron of honor but in a pastel pink hue. Their colonial bouquets were held by azela velvet streamers, and they also wore gypsophila in their hair. Each bouquet contained a flower from the bride's grandmother's garden.

Mr. Billy Wayne Lowry of Plano was his brother's best man. Bascom Lowry, also a brother of the groom, of Bastrop and Randal Lovelady of Santa Anna, were groomsmen. Neil Fitzpatrick and Mark Wise ushered.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of silk organza with sheer Victorian neckline accented with Venise lace and seed pearls. The empire waist was banded by the lace and seed pearls as were the full sheer sleeves. A deep ruffle extended around the bottom of the skirt and the chapel length train. The finger-tip veil of illusion was attached to a caplet of Venise lace petals and pearls. Her jewelry consisted of a diamond necklace belonging to the groom's mother and diamond earrings. Her colonial bouquet contained pink sweetheart roses and gypsophila encircling a white orchid touched with lace and velvet ribbon. She also carried a white linen handkerchief edged with crocheted lace belonging to her mother.

Following the vows and exchanging of rings, the bride and groom participated in lighting the single memory candle to signify their unity. During the candle service, Miss Elliott sang "One Hand, One Heart". Benton played the recessional and a postlude, "Air" from Water Music.

A reception hosted by the bride's parents was held immediately following the ceremony in the fellowship hall of the church. The serving table was laid with silk organza and lace over pink linen. A silver candelabra held pink tapers and the bridesmaid's bouquets and was centered on the table. The wedding cake, a white four-tier confection, was served by Mrs. Billy Lowry of Plano and Mrs. D. Carroll Holt of Brownwood ladled punch. Appointments were silver and crystal. The serving table was flanked by gladiola arrangements. Other members of the houseparty were Mrs. James

Reid of Teague, sister of the bride, Mrs. Louis J. Shambeck of Santa Anna, Miss Lisa Spurgin of Anson, and Miss Nancy Horton of Brownwood. The white memory candle from the service was encircled by a ring of carnations, sweetheart roses and gypsophila and placed on the white satin register table. Miss Deborah Bible of San Angelo, niece of the bride, distributed azela and pink scented rice bags. Honorary houseparty members were members of the MYF Singers Choir.

For the wedding trip Mrs. Lowry chose a sleeveless knit dress of pink plaid. She wore white accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Lowry will reside in College Station where he will attend A&M University and she is employed by the Hearne Independent School District as a teacher. The bride is a 1971 honor graduate of Santa Anna High School, attended Angelo State University, Howard Payne College, and will receive a Bachelor of Science degree from McMurry College in Abilene later this month. White at McMurry, she was a member of the Chanters College Choir, Kappa Delta Pi Education Honor Society, Wah Wahaysee Service Organization, Student Education Association, the Dean's List, and president of Marlin Dormitory Council. For the past year, she has been organist and youth choir director of the First United Methodist Church in Santa Anna, and was employed by the Associate Dean of Students at McMurry.

The groom, a 1972 graduate of SAHS, attended Tarleton State University where he was a member of the Rodeo Club, Alpha Phi Omega National Service Fraternity, and named to the Dean's list. He will enter A&M as a junior student.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the Santa Anna - Community Center. An orange candle and ring accented the buffet serving table. An arrangement of yellow and gold flowers and candles in wooden holders were also used as decorations in the party room.

STATE Capital NEWS
By BILL BOYKIN

AUSTIN—Rewriting the nearly-century-old Texas constitution is turning out to be stickier job than many figured. The Constitutional Revision Commission went into overtime at a recent three-day meeting near here, but still failed to complete its agenda and slated another August 10-11 cleanup meeting. Meanwhile, legislative planners for the 1974 Constitutional Convention, at which lawmakers will actually propose a revised constitution, disagreed on routine stage-setting.

House members suggested a new voting machine (which was later ordered) and new desks for delegates. Senate planning committee spokesmen indicated they would be satisfied to bring their own desks over from across the capitol rotunda and set them up in the House middle aisle.

The revision panel agreed: To keep the provision for real property taxation in the constitution for state purposes, but leave it to the legislature to write separate laws governing personal property taxation.

To retain the state highway users gasoline tax, with three-fourths to the revenue earmarked for highway building and one-fourth for public schools. A provision was made for abolishing the highway fund levy on statewide referendum with support of two-thirds of the legislature.

To keep the Permanent University Fund and Permanent School funds in the constitution. The university fund would be altered somewhat to include present and future branches of the University of Texas and Texas A&M University.

To add to the constitution a guarantee of "equitable" financial support for all schools and districts rich and poor.

To retain as constitutional elected members of the executive branch only the governor, lieutenant governor and attorney general, with the legislature empowered to decide if the comptroller, treasurer, secretary of state, land commissioner and railroad commissioner should be elected or appointed by the governor.

"HOUSES" CLOSED—Two landmark bawdy houses—in La Grange and Sealy—were closed by local officials on request of state officials.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, Atty. Gen. John Hill and Department of Public Safety Director Wilson E. Speir sought action after reports aired by a Houston television station.

Briscoe acknowledged he had received calls from La Grange area citizens both supporting and opposing the action. He said he had been told he would be petitioned by a group who want the famed "Chicken Ranch" reopened.

Hill and Speir said they found no link with organized crime in operation of the houses, but Attorney General Hill added: "It is an illegal operation. The local officials were requested to take action. They took it."

RATE RAISE EXPECTED—An increase in some workmen's compensation insurance rates is due under a new law increasing benefits for those injured or killed in job accidents.

An average 19.5 per cent hike in the rates employers must pay for the coverage is anticipated under a State Insurance Board staff proposal, which would become effective if approved between September 1 and September 15.

Rates would have gone up 22.8 per cent in the absence of the federal anti-inflation program, a Board actuary indicated.

Under new law effective September, an injured worker can get up to a maximum of $63 a week in benefits, an increase from the present $49 top.

AGOPINIONS—A national bank does not come under definition of governmental bodies or institutions which are required to comply with the new open records act, Attorney General Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

A Laredo fireman injured in Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, while on duty is entitled to benefits under the state Firemen's Relief and Retirement Law.

State government branches and their services (excepting political subdivisions but including hospital and colleges) are covered under the Texas Unemployment Act.

Subordinated capital notes of part of its indebtedness and are not to be considered capital in determining value of shares for taxation.

School trustees are authorized to purchase insurance to cover cost of litigation and award of damages growing out of official acts.

The Amusement Machine Commission has power to promulgate regulations to cover the number of machines owned by the holder of a permit to sell alcoholic beverages for on-premises consumption.

Qualifications for Texas Air Control Board membership are set by Article 4477-5, Vernon's Civil Statutes. Conduct in office will be governed in part after January 1 by provisions of the 1973 ethics law, and members could be removed from office for violations.

The State Commission for the Blind is not authorized to require employees to deposit with it salary warrants issued to them or to charge a fee to employees for making the advances.

A district attorney can be removed only under special statutes and not by an ex parte order of district courts. A county attorney (in some counties) will serve during temporary disqualification or absence.

A court reporter who prepares the Harlingen National Bank are the narration of the facts from a hearing on a writ of habeas corpus is entitled to be compensated for preparation by the state or county.

APPOINTMENTS—Thirteen representatives of industry and the general public were named by Governor Briscoe to serve on the Governor's Energy Advisory Council.

They are L. H. True, Wimberly; T. L. Austin Jr., Dallas; Willard Barr, Fort Worth; George R. Brown, Houston; H. Will Cain, Houston; Thomas B. Cowden, Austin; Edwin L. Cox, Dallas; Michael T. Halbounty, Houston; Dr. J. R. Maxfield Jr., Dallas; Dr. John J. McKetta Jr., Austin; Sam Naifeh, Orange; and P. H. Robinson, Houston.

G. R. Stanford of Houston is deputy executive director of the Texas Offshore Terminal Commission.

Sens. W. E. Snelson of Midland and Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells were appointed to the Legislative Budget Board, Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston was appointed by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby to succeed former Sen. Charles Herring of Austin as chairman of the Senate Jurisprudence Committee.

SHORT SNORTS

A low bid of $721,625 has been accepted on a new computerized voting machine for the Texas House of Representatives.

Disaster area designation has been requested for Limestone County as a result of rain, wind and hailstorm damage.

Texas Republican leaders are trying to get GOP National Chariman George Bush to come home and run for governor.

House committee investigations of child care, education and guidance facilities switched to Corpus Christi this week.

Coleman County Has First Case Of Screwworms

Coleman County has recorded the first case of Screwworms this year. The confirmed case was southwest of Coleman near Valera.

Texas recorded well over 600 cases of screwworms by the end of July, and indications are that the number will climb during the next few months. Hot summer weather and recent rains have spurred the spread of screwworms throughout the state.

From now until mid-November is considered the crucial time for the screw worm program. Livestock and pet owners are urged to be alert for infestations and send worm samples of suspected cases to the Mission, Texas laboratory.

Infested herds of livestock are being sprayed free of charge, and sterile fly drops are being made in the areas where cases have been reported.

Collection kits for suspected screwworms are available at the county extension office and from livestock inspectors and veterinarians.

63 Years Ago . . . in The News

The following story was clipped from an early issue of the NEWS, probably published about 1910.

A HORSE THIEF

Last Saturday afternoon a man giving his name as John Taylor and his place of residence Rogers, Texas, rode into the city on a nice looking bay horse which he endeavored to sell to 2 or 3 different parties. Finally he heard that John Banister was wanting to buy a horse and went out to his place to see him. In the meantime Hiram Wilson saw the horse and recognized him as one that he made an unsuccessful attempt to buy from Elmer McCoy of Brownwood. He called McCoy up by phone and was informed that he had hired his horse, saddle and bridle to a young man in Brownwood that day and said he would not sell the animal at all. This information was communicated to Constable Jim Scott, who went in search of the stranger for the purpose of arresting him. Pretty soon he rode up on Main street and stopped in front of Kirkpatrick's feed store. Scott walked out and caught the horse by the bridle bit with his left hand and at the same time grasping his quarry by the arm with his right hand and commanded him to dismount. Instead of obeying the command, he struck Scott over the head with his bridle reins and attempted to run the horse over him. Jim held on like grim death until J. R. Banister appeared upon the scene and helped take the man off the horse to land him in city holder.

Brown County deputy Allen carried his prisoner to Coleman and placed him in jail. Sunday morning, seeing that the coast was clear, climbed on top of his cell and with the aid of a shovel soon punched a hole through the ceiling and climbed up through it to the attic, and walked across girders to a scuttle hole which opened an avenue of escape down the stairway. Reaching the large outer door of the jail he unlocked it and walked out.

At the time of his departure Sheriff Futch was out of town and the jailer was at the depot awaiting the arrival of the morning train. LATER—Since the above was put in type we are informed that Sheriff Futch after a chase of about 85 miles, recaptured his prisoner and now has him safely housed in the county bastille. The sheriff of Callahan County assisted in the capture. Foot sore and weary from constant walking, the fugitive had sought rest in a farmer's hack and was within eight miles of Baird when the officers appeared on the scene and took him in charge. Sheriff Futch is rather small in stature, but he is of elephantine proportions when it comes to executing the mandates of the law.

Price Controls Encourages Black Market

Omar Burtleson, M.C.
17th District, Texas
WASHINGTON—A law which is unworkable and not generally acceptable to people is mostly unenforceable.

Although the ceiling on beef at the retail level is not a law passed by the Congress, it is a regulation imposed by the Cost of Living Council. The Administration which the Cost of Living Council represents, is empowered under the law to impose price controls.

The affluent society in which we live is going to buy beef somewhere or somehow. Beef consumption in the last few years has increased from 155 pounds to 234 pounds per capita in the United States. With population increases and with individual incomes up, consumption has soared. This does not mean, of course, that everyone can afford it and is going to pay any price demanded, but it is the average and the average has to be depended upon.

Some meat wholesalers are calling the meat sales in some places as coming from the "black market." Others prefer to say it is only, as yet, a "gray" market but predict that transactions in this area will become more numerous. Other ways are being found in the trade to compensate for what they can sell a steak for and what it would bring without a ceiling price by simply letting the steak carry a tale that somehow appears on the scales.

By whatever name, reports or illegal beef sales and purchasers are numerous and are predicted to increase as cattle slaughterers and meat supplies shrink under the Administration's continuing beef price freeze.

One gimmick being worked is the practice of buying cattle in the United States, shipping them to Canada for processing then selling dressed carcasses in the United States as "imported" meat which is uncontrolled by Phase IV ceilings. The legality of such transactions is under discussion at the moment. The chief legal advisor of the Cost of Living Council is reported to consider the finished beef brought back from Canada as illegal and not "imported" if it originates in the United States livestock markets.

There are other "gray" market transactions, some of which appear to be legal, others questionable and some apparently illegal. When no objection is raised by either the purchaser or the seller, it is pretty difficult to get at enforcement. It becomes sort of a "hear no evil and see no evil" approach. If the purchaser of a steak wants it enough and has the money, he is not likely to pester the retailer to bring the price down. Like some other unpopular laws, most everyone involved quietly avoids discussing the legality of the transaction and, in instances, does not really want to know.

Other methods of avoidance are reported, such as ordering 1,000 pounds of choice beef cuts at ceiling prices but being billed for additional poundage to make up for costs not allowed by the ceiling.

The practicalities of the situation must cope with ways to circumvent the price ceiling. Meat wholesalers are telling the Cost of Living Council numerous ways to get around their regulations. One, for instance, says that he can order choice, well trimmed brisket at a certain price. He will be told that they are out of it but that they have some "special brisket" available at 20 cents over the ceiling price for well trimmed meat. So, the purchaser gets the brisket but it is the same well trimmed quality available before.

The serious part of the whole business is that cattle will be held off the market, beef processors will curtail plant operations to wait to see what happens. Shortages follow and the scarcity runs up prices. Controls can not go on forever but when they are lifted a short supply will run prices still higher.
