WTCC Wartime Program For 1943

ABILENE, DEC. 6 -- The West Texas Chamber of Commerce organizational plan for 1943, with its wartime program of 40 major activities ordered by the recent executive and referendum session has gone to 176 directors in 145 affiliated towns and members of committees. Directors have received credentials and commended their certifications of consent.

The WTCC plan was drawn up after meeting in Lubbock of the executive committee composed of C. Ulmer, President; Geo. A. Simmons and E. W. Hardin, vice-presidents; Malcolm M. Meek, Treasurer; and D. A. Bandoen, general manager. Transmitting it, the officers said two fundamental objectives had been kept in mind. The first was "to carry out the policies which by referendum and conventions have been so democratically and comprehensively expressed by our constituency in the 132 counties" -- referring to the 145 town meetings held during October. The second was "to provide administration and execution of the program in keeping in tune with conditions necessitated by our all-out offensive global war."

Commission created

The administrative program for the coming year calls for a greater centralization of responsibility and leadership. Ten commissions and five staff bureaus have been created. The commissions, with chairman, are:

- National Security and Defense
- C. M. Caldwell, Abilene. Public Expenditure, Taxation and Debt
- Jas. D. Hamlin, Farwell. Rationing
- G. H. McKinney, Fort Worth. Agricultural and Livestock Parity
- C. M. Francis, Stamford. Oil, Gas and Natural Resources
- Joe A. Clark, Albany. War and Postwar Industries
- H. Y. Overstreet, Texico. Transportation
- H. S. Hilburn, Plainview. Postwar Economy
- Houston Harte, San Angelo. West Texas Charter
- J. Thos. Davis, Stephenville. Cooperative Activities
- J. S. Bridwell, Wichita Falls.

The staff bureaus will do research and planning; handle organization and finance; edit West Texas Today and otherwise publicize the activities and work program; and do the detail work in the organization's campaigning for freight rate parity.

There are 81 members of the ten commission and 35 on six committees grouped under the Cooperative Activities. Commissions:

These are the Freight Rate Equality Federation, J. M. Williams, State cotton allotment committee, G. A. Simmons, Lubbock chairman; and the groups operating the West Texas Resources and Museum Institute, which was founded by and is affiliated with the WTCC. The Institute is divided into West Texas resources, museum exhibits, area literature and art. Museum, literature and art chairmen are Dr. C. N. Ray, Abilene; Dr. R. N. Richardson of Hardin-Simmons University; and J. D. Hamlin.

War Activities

The work program stresses West Texas' fullest participation in the war effort. The officers committee asserted that "although other items on our long range program will not be forgotten, we will, nevertheless, measure our major efforts by standards of West Texas' war contributions and welfare." Listed as work to be done through the commissions, among many other activities, are:

Sponsoring the inter-community War and Preservation contest, recently continued for the war's duration, at the end of which $1,000 in prize money will be awarded. More than 100 towns are competing.

Reporting to President Roosevelt the area's war contribution to date. This memorialization is being prepared, based on reports submitted by contesting towns.

More Youths Needed In Training

Three hundred youths, both young men and young women, and particularly the girls, are wanted by the NYA division of the War Manpower Commission for industrial training.

Boys and girls 17 to 25 years old can confer with Katherine Kinsley, counselor for the West Texas Area at the United States Employment Service office, located in the Coleman County Agriculture Building, each Monday or list their names and address any day in the week for later contact.

Training is provided by NYA in sheet metal, welding, machinist and radio work, with concentration now welding in view of the need to assist Consolidated Aircraft in building up a payroll of 50,000 persons at the firm's North Texas plant. 70 per cent are expected to be girls.

Economic condition is not considered. Applicants must have an eighth-grade education or the equivalent, Latin-American youths also are being given the training.

At the NYA project the boys have their barracks and the girls their dormitories, with a supervisor for each. While in training the youths receive room, board, medical attention, uniforms and $10.80 which is for expenditures of their choice.

Three Young Men Enlist In Navy

Yeoman Vance Nichols, recruiting for the U. S. Navy, recently transferred from Brownwood to Abilene, was here Monday en route to Brownwood where he has appointments each Monday at 2: p. m. Boys under 18, and men from 38 to 50, can still enlist in the Navy, under certain conditions. Any physically fit, carrying his birth certificate, may enroll for examination. Applications will have attention if mailed to Yeoman Vance Nichols Recruiting Office, Abilene, Texas.

A good subscriber coming in Saturday to supply himself and family with plenty of reading matter for another year, finally, after being quizzed, imparted the following bit of news. Yes, we have four boys in the service: Zachariah T. Stuart, in the U. S. Navy; Coy Stuart, in the U. S. Army; W. R. Stuart, Jr. U. S. Navy; H. T. Stuart, veteran of World War No. 1, recently enlisted as a shipbuilder and is now doing his bit for Uncle Sam. So goes the story of W. R. Stuart of Whon.

Santa Anna Loses Teacher

Frank E. McCreary, Jr., coach and teacher in the high school for the past two years has resigned and joined the Army. Dorothy Sumner who has been teaching social studies in the elementary school has been moved to high school. This created a vacancy in the grade school that has not yet been filled.

The Victory Club of the Fifth grade met last Friday. The Stamp Stickers did not win the race week before last, so they put on a program, which was very interesting. First Doris Jo Unsell told a story, then B. L. Young read a poem, Martha Priddy read a poem, B. L. Young read another. The stamps Stickers bought $1.65 worth of stamps and the America's Helpers bought $5.00 worth of stamps. We are very proud of our club and we are glad to help win this war.

Insurance Commission Warns Against Christmas Fire Hazards

AUSTIN, Dec. 12. -- The Christmas tree, that delight of every child, can become a serious fire hazard.

"An evergreen tree," says Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner, "while growing from moist ground, is relatively hard to ignite. However, when it dries out the tree becomes a serious fire hazard in the home."

"For this reason, Christmas trees should be safeguarded. We must not allow a disregard of the rules for fire safety to transform the radiant atmosphere of the holiday season from joy to that of grief and despair."

In order to reduce the hazard of fire from an evergreen tree, Hall recommended the following procedure:

Use only a fresh tree; saw trunk diagonally an inch or more above the end, then stand the tree in water, keeping its level above the cut. Sprinkle the tree branches frequently, and leave it out-of-doors until actually needed. When placed in the home the tree should be kept in water and in a room where it is as cool and moist as possible.

Another fire prevention suggestion of the Commissioner is to avoid placing combustible decorations near electric light bulbs, electric appliances, stoves or other heating equipment.

Keep Dairy Cows Comfortable

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. -- A comfortable cow puts more milk into the bucket!

A shelter shed deep enough to keep cows dry in cold, rainy weather is the best means of providing comfort, says E. R. Eudaly, dairyman for the A. and M. College Extension Service.

Good dairy cows need to rest, but they won't lie down in mud unless they are exhausted. Exhaustion lowers milk production about as much as wet and cold do. On that account the floor or earth under the shed should be higher than the ground outside and slope outward so that rain which blows in from the open side will run back into the gutter at the outer edge. To assure dryness the floor should be of sand, gravel or shell. Keep the gutter open.

Eudaly says it is a good rule to make the depth of the shed twice its height at the front. The length should be regulated by the number of cows and whether they have horns. Dehorned animals need 30 square feet of floor space each, but those with horns should be allowed 45 square feet. Dairy cows require somewhat warmer shelter than fattening steers. They have no protecting fat, their coats are scantier and their hides usually are thinner than those of steers.

"It is not possible to get maximum milk production unless cows are sheltered from cold," Eudaly explains. "It is not necessary to build anything expensive--a shed which will keep the cows dry and warm will do. But it will not do much good to give the cows shelter and no roughage to eat. Cows were made to eat roughage--meaning silage and hay--and best production cannot be had without it. Texas is short of corn. It is highly important to keep the cows on the job this winter."

As we approach this Yuletide season, it naturally comes to us that this is the season of good cheer, good will and joy. We try to bury the unhappiness, sadness and overcome it with joyful greetings, typical of the spirit of Christmas. When we think of the blessed event that prompted the birth of our Lord, it makes our hearts glow with joy and hope. The spirit of good cheer and joy should spread as far as our opportunity allows. This year it is different with us to any previous years. Our hearts are sad and heavy, but we pray the Lord for strength, courage and guidance to help us overcome sadness with courage and good cheer. There is so much to be thankful for, so much to rejoice over, so much yet to live for. It behooves us all to make of this Yuletide season a happy one in so far as we can, God being our helper to do so.

Every day we have opportunities to spread happiness, joy and glad tidings. May the unfortunate circumstances throughout the world that bring sadness to our hearts soon end, and hostilities cease. If it be God's will that it should be done. May the victory we all hear about and talk about, and look forward to be a victory for God and Righteousness when it does come, and may it come soon. If we are not right at heart before God, may He lead, guide and direct us in the right path, that we will be able to intercede with Him in the right and acceptable manner, and at the close of this war, it will be a joyous time to kind could be worth the price we are paying, but a victory short of a victory for the Right, God and righteousness is too high at any cost. May the unseen hand of God be the guiding hand in this world conflict, and when the end comes, may the cause of God and righteousness be glorified throughout the world.

This Christmas business is a funny thing. So is an editor a funny being. Some times we are tempted to print a column of comment, such as we hear and sometimes have to listen to, by some people who are funny beings.

Sure enough, some people have funny ideas. Whether or not, the 25th day of December is the exact date of the 1942nd anniversary of the birth of Jesus Christ, it is personally used as the anniversary of the greatest event that ever happened on this planet of the Heavens. The birth and all things that have happened since that time, are all due to the birth of Jesus Christ. The world is a better place because of His coming. He is the one who has made it possible for us to have a personal Savior and Redeemer. It is a time to be glad, and be glad, God, in His great mercy and love, gave to the world His beloved Son, that whosoever believeth on Him, shall not perish, but have eternal life. We accept Him as their personal Savior, in recognition of God's love, it was a wonderful gift, and if conceived in the true spirit, should make every Christmas want to give something to make the occasion cheerful and full of love. God is love, and to know Him is to love, and if we love Him, you will love all His children, and want to do something to make them rejoice in His love.

POINTS GIVEN ON FUMIGATION OF STORED GRAIN

At this time of the year when grain is being stored, it is very necessary to protect it against damage from weevils and other destructive insects.

The Division of Entomology of the Texas Experiment Station has done some experimental work on protecting grains and makes the following recommendations:

Bins used for storing grain should be thoroughly cleaned of grain and dust to reduce infestation before storing the new crop. Sprays are useful in eliminating infestations in cracks and pockets of the bins. Pyrethrum sprays and thiocyanates sold under trade names are good for this purpose. Small quantities of old grain from the previous season should be fumigated before or otherwise disposed of before harvest.

The sides and floors of the bins and cribs should be made as nearly airtight and rat proof as possible. The sides should be at least six inches higher than the grain after leaving off.

Fumigation is the best and most economical method of protecting grain in storage. Temperatures of 65 to 75 degrees F. are best for fumigation.

Where bins are not built of concrete, tarpaulin or other such sheets can be used to cover the surface of grain.

An ethylene dichloride-carbon tetrachloride mixture is cheap, non-inflammable and effective, and does not harm germination regardless of dosage, exposure or moisture content of the grain. It is made up of 3 parts by volume of ethylene dichloride and 1 part by volume of carbon tetrachloride.

The mixture weighs about 11 pounds per gallon and can be purchased in 55-gallon drums for about 6 or 7 cents per pound. It is applied with watering can or sprayer on the surface of the grain at the rate of 6 gallons per 1,000 bushels or 5 gallons per 1,000 cubic feet. If the temperature is a little higher some of the liquid should be poured directly into the grain.

The ethylene dichloride-carbon tetrachloride mixture does not taint the grain which remains palatable and safe for both livestock or human consumption.

Inspect the grain in storage at least once a month and fumigate if it is found infested. Accumulation of waste grain and feed around the farm building should be removed.

Caution: If signs of dizziness should occur the operator should get into fresh air immediately. When much is to be applied a gas mask should be worn.

Whose Savings Are Invested

...in Your Electric Servant?

The list of stockholders in this company is a cross-section of West Texas. Many of them are women. Others are retired persons, and skilled technicians such as carpenters, electricians, mechanics. Some are farmers and stockmen.

Still others are architects, physicians, nurses, bookkeepers, librarians, stenographers, contractors, merchants, restaurant owners, teachers, salesmen, mailmen, firemen, policemen, railroad firemen, conductors, and ticket agents. Some are in the Army, the Navy, and the Marines.

Besides these direct investors, there are thousands more whose interest is indirect but no less real. Very likely your savings bank and other institutions such as lodges, colleges, churches or your life insurance company, for example, have put a large part of your money into sound electric securities.

In a very real sense, Your Electric Company represents the savings of the people it serves... people who have entrusted their savings to business management under public regulation — the same business management that has given the average West Texas home twice or three times as much electric service for its money in the last 10 to 15 years.

This company is acsising with the heavy burden on taxpayers by contributing $1,200,000 in 1942 taxes to the various local, state, and federal governments. It is co-operating with America's many other electric companies, under free enterprise, to provide over 90 per cent of the Nation's vast supply of power.

"When Government Goes Into Business"

(Excerpts from an editorial in the Southwestern Railway Journal)

A retired railroad man*, of Little Rock, Ark., invited 600 other stockholders of a local utilities company to attend a meeting to "see what we can do to protect our stock" following announcement that a hearing had been set on applications by two government projects to start a Federal power development program.

This man and the other 600 Little Rock stockholders are a small part of the total number of citizens owning stock in the established utilities affected by the hearing. Holdings of some of these no doubt represented the savings of a lifetime. They know that their securities are in jeopardy... This is FACT, not fancy...

...The point we want to make here is that government has gone too far in going big scale into business in competition with free enterprise through direct operation or through subsidization...

When government, through adventures into business destroys properties, wipes out the savings of workers and the holdings of financial enterprises in which savings of workers and others are invested, it does seem that it is about time the people awaken to a realization that there is something wrong with the theory that the remedy for our economic ills is to destroy the enterprises which have made this the greatest country in the world...

Plenty Feeding Space Important

The U. S. Government has recently reminded poultry raisers how important it is to let nothing stand in the way of producing 52 billion eggs or more in 1942. To do this, W. B. Griffin of the Griffin Hatchery says poultry raisers will need to take good care of their pullets this winter. He points out that eggs are made from the feed and water the birds eat and no chickens can maintain a high level of production unless they eat and drink sufficient quantities of feed and water.

Mr. Griffin suggests several things which he says are necessary to keep hens in good condition and to maintain good production.

Provide 40 feet of feeding space for every 100 birds on an all-mesh ration and 25 feet for every 100 hens receiving half mash and half grain.

Supply two, three-gallon water fountains for every 100 birds to give them sufficient drinking space as well as plenty of water. Three-gallon fountains Mr. Griffin says are the most convenient, although five-gallon fountains per unit may be used. Keep the water at 50 to 55 degrees Fahrenheit, since birds like water best at this temperature, authorities claim.

Keep the water fountains and feeders close together so all birds can turn from feed to drink and back again with the least effort.

Set the feeders parallel with the windows to keep plenty of light on the feed throughout the short winter days. An electric light or safety lantern may be used over the feeders and water fountains on dark days to encourage greater consumption.

Check several birds each month or so for lice and weight. An infestation of lice is possible even in winter and often is the cause for low winter egg production. If birds in the flock are losing weight and are not laying, Mr. Griffin suggests treating the whole flock with a good conditioner that may be given in the regular mash.

KEEP THE CHICKENS IN LAYING CONDITION

If you want eggs in winter you've got to keep old man winter on the outside, according to W. B. Griffin of the Griffin Hatchery.

"Provide the layers with a good warm laying house which is well ventilated and has a deep covering of straw or other suitable litter on the floor to keep their feet warm," he suggests.

"I consider lack of sufficient, good egg-making feed one of the main reasons why many of the flocks in this area do not lay a profitable number of eggs in winter," Mr. Griffin said, "and this year flocks can be made profitable a lot more easily than formerly because egg prices are much higher. If possible, lights should be provided to give the birds a longer day."

He explained that ice water is no more desired by hens in winter than it is by people. "Warm it up to 50 or 55 degrees," he suggests, "as chickens like it best at this temperature. And don't let ice freeze over it, as even hens can't scratch through ice."

Mr. Griffin stated that chickens which are closely confined in winter often experience periods of sluggishness. "Pep them up by stimulating the appetite. Add a conditioner to the regular mash. This keeps up feed consumption. Throwing part of the scratch grain in clean litter at night also helps the birds to activity."

"Clean houses are even more essential in winter than in summer," he cautions, "since the hens live there day and night. Clean often and disinfect after each cleaning. Never allow the hen house litter to become soggy. Stir it daily to keep the air circulating through it. During damp weather stir it several times a day."

"If serious trouble breaks out in your flock don't hesitate to consult someone who can help you control it, as prompt action may save you much grief and loss of profit," Mr. Griffin points out. "Often in disease outbreaks flocks that receive prompt treatment respond quickly and resume laying," he says.

WILLIAMSON—RIDDLE

On Sunday Dec. 13th, at 10: A. M. Miss Glenda Williamson of San Angelo became the bride of Pat. Alex Riddle of Midland Flying School, Midland Texas. They were married at the home of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Williamson of Santa Anna. Rev. M. L. Womack read the impressive single ring ceremony before an altar formed of baskets of white Gladioli flanked by tall Candelabra, in which white tapers were burning.

The brides brother and sister J. G. Williamson Jr. of Santa Anna and Miss Kathryn Williamson of Fort Worth lighted the tapers. Miss Williamson wore a costume suit of powder blue and her corsage was of salmon pink gladioli.

The couple were attended by Sgt. Leo Goss of Los Angeles Calif. stationed at Camp Bowie, and Miss Ruby Cille Perry of San Angelo. Miss Perry's dress was teal blue, with silver sequin trim and her Corsage was of salmon pink Gladioli. The brides mother was attired in a black dress with bracelet length sleeves and also wore a corsage of Salmon pink gladioli.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a Classic Costume suit of gray-blue, her corsage was of pink sweetheart rosebuds. She chose black accessories and carried a white Bible "borrowed" from Mrs. Eddy Farren.

For "something old" she wore a Cameo ring belonging to her mother.

The bride was reared in Santa Anna, where she graduated from high school with the class of 1929, after which she attended Shannon School of Nursing in San Angelo and received her R. N. last August.

The groom, son of Mr and Mrs G. W. Riddle of Glen Rose Texas is a graduate of Glen Rose High School, and N.T. A. C. of Arlington. He also attended Texas A. & M. College one year.

After the ceremony the happy couple cut the beautiful four tiered wedding cake, which was served from a large mirror, placed on a white laid table. Wedding cake and coffee were served to about 15 guests.

The couple left Sunday for Midland, where the groom is now stationed.

For "going away" the bride wore a black tailored gabardine suit and a black hand-made hat with a light blue feather flower trim and carried a black kid purse and gloves.
