

Humble Weekly F'ball Broadcast

Humble Oil & Refining Company inaugurates its twelfth consecutive season of football broadcasts this Saturday at 2:20 p. m., when Kern Tops gives a play by play report of the game between the Texas Longhorns and the University of Missouri Tigers. Assisting him with the color highlights will be Alec Chesser, another well known Humble announcer.

Stations carrying the game will be KPRC, Houston; WOAI, San Antonio; WFAA-WBAP, Dallas-Ft. Worth, and KNOW, Austin.

Throughout the 1946 season, Humble will bring Texas fans all the Southwest Conference games as well as all the important intercollegiate and inter-sectional games in which conference teams play. Further announcements of stations carrying each game, times of the broadcasts, and the announcers will appear in this newspaper each week and will be posted in all Humble stations.

With scores of scrapping, battle hardened GI's in the starting lineups of almost every team, fans can look forward to the most exciting football that they have had an opportunity to enjoy for years.

Amateur Rodeo At State Fair

The First Annual Southwest Amateur Championship Rodeo will be held in Dallas, October 5 to 20, at the grandstand on the state fair grounds, it has been announced, and dates run concurrently with those of the 61st annual State Fair of Texas.

Contestants and champions from famous cowboy reunions such as those held at Stamford, Snyder, Matador and other Texas towns, as well as the famous ones of Oklahoma will compete for the Southwest championship. Entries of more than 200 "cowhands from Oklahoma" have been made, according to Pat Hamilton, proprietor of the famous Hell's Half Acre ranch at Fargo, Oklahoma, who will produce and direct the championship contests. Mr. Hamilton said that he expected more than 500 contestants in the championship events. Any cowboy wishing to enter the contests may do so by registering with the entry department of Dallas Rodeo Association, Fair Park, Dallas, 10, Texas.

An Indian village will be included in the rodeo presentation, it was announced. The Indian village will be open at all times during the day. Special presentations of Indian riding, lassoing, and other events will be included in the special features offered during the rodeo programs.

Many special events — most of which have never been seen in professional rodeos are included on the program. Among these are wild cow milking contests, wild mare milking, a free for all scramble for a greased steer offering, and the regular bronc riding, steer riding, bulldogging, calf roping and other events.

A group of teachers with members of their families enjoyed a picnic at Lake Sealy last Thursday night. There were about 20 present.

Mac Marney has gone to Dallas where he will enter S. M. U. and study engineering. He attended S. M. U. before his military service.

$15,982,150.66 In 1946 March of Dimes

An audit of the 1946 March of Dimes shows $8,184,595.80 was realized by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to carry on its programs in research, education and emergency epidemic aid, and $7,797,554.86 by chapters for care and treatment of patients, making a total of $15,982,150.66. Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation, announced September 16.

"The American people," Mr. O'Connor declared, "may well take satisfaction in the knowledge that their generosity will help save lives, alleviate pain and bring hope to thousands, mostly young children, who have been or will be stricken by this dread disease, which seldom kills but frequently cripples for life."

"The highest praise must also be accorded to the 55,000 volunteer workers who gave unstintingly of their time and effort to make the 1946 March of Dimes a huge success."

"Mr. O'Connor said that the highly successful drive will make possible greatly increased efforts in the field of research that were, of necessity, curtailed during the war years when hundreds of scientists and the nation's laboratories were mobilized for military projects.

"This year," Mr. O'Connor said, "expenditures for the care and treatment of infantile paralysis patients are running higher than ever before in the National Foundation's history." He pointed out that by mid August reports for the U. S. Public Health Service showed new polio cases occurring at a rate far higher than any year other than 1916, the worst on record.

Fifty per cent of funds raised during the March of Dimes is retained locally by chapters to carry on the sound care and treatment of those affected by this disease and to equip hospitals in their communities with the proper facilities to care for polio patients. The other half is allocated to national headquarters to finance research into the cause, prevention and treatment of polio, to provide a broad educational program and to maintain an emergency fund to aid local chapters hard hit by epidemics.

Go to Church Sunday.

Mrs. C. A. White of Farwell, who attended the funeral of her sister, Mrs. T. T. Ratliff in Hillsboro last week has been visiting with her mother, Mrs. C. M. Wood, since then and left for home Sunday.

Miss Charlotte Moseley made her first solo flight at Brownwood airport last Wednesday. Mr. C. M. Moseley made his first solo flight Monday. They received their instruction from H. T. Furry of Willis Aviation Co.

TO THE 15,490,000 WORKERS WHO DON'T WANT TO QUIT AND GO FISHING

If you're a working woman, you're part of that statistic. And you're sure as sunshine looking forward to the day you can quit. To marry, or travel, or just stay home and enjoy your friends. Whatever you dream of—it's going to be a lot easier with money. M-o-n-e-y... what you spend for a trousseau, or steamship tickets, or a mortgage-free cottage and groceries. Money, how to save it? About the best way any woman (or man) can save is through U. S. Savings Bonds. Lots of women workers found that out during the war. U. S. Savings Bonds pay fine, fat interest—4 dollars for 3 after only 10 years. They're good as cash, sixty days after purchase. They're safe as the credit of the United States. They're easy to buy through Payroll Savings—easy and automatic! Fact is, ladies, they just keep piling up like old newspapers, except they're considerably more valuable. They're an investment and a way to security no working gal can afford to overlook.

Hall of State Seeks County Histories

DALLAS, ----The Texana Reference Library in the Hall of State, Dallas, wants materials on the History of Coleman County, and officials of Dallas History Society are appealing to citizens of the county to help locate the needed items.

"Copies of these books and pamphlets are in the hands of pioneer citizens and their descendants," Director Herbert Gambrell said, "but they are not to be found in bookstores. Placing them in this great shrine of Texas History for the use of the public, will not only be a permanent memorial to the donors, but a genuine service to those seeking accurate information about the county."

Information regarding available county materials should be addressed to the Director, Hall of State, Fair Park, Dallas 1. Biographical directories, booklets on the histories of towns, churches, schools and other institutions, are also desired for the library, along with histories of the county itself. Special anniversary numbers of county newspapers are also wanted.

A special museum display of Texas County Histories is planned for the Hall of State during the State Fair of Texas in October. The Hall of State occupies the center of the Fair Park, and will be open daily, free of charge, to visitors.

In addition to items published during the past three years, the following older materials listed in 1943 by Dr. H. Bailey Carroll in his Bibliography of Texas County Histories, are particularly wanted to complete the Hall of State's collection:

"Into the Setting Sun, a History of Coleman County" by Beatrice Grady Gay, Santa Anna, 1936.

"Soil Survey of Coleman County" by H. W. Hawker, 1926.

Meat Supply Dwindles Fast

The United States today was fast becoming an almost meatless nation. Across the country, the lowly hotdog rose in importance. Fish, poultry and cold cuts were at a premium. Cheese and eggs bulked large on homemakers' menus because there just wasn't enough fresh meat. Packers and butchers alike were pessimistic. The packers said they couldn't get livestock for slaughter, and butchers couldn't get meat from the packers. Then poultry dealers reported their supplies of chicken will be gone in about two weeks because of the heavy demand. Samplings of community situations throughout the country yielded almost identical — and discouraging — reports. They included: Washington, D. C. — Meat supply getting slimmer with packers offering poultry, eggs, lamb and little else. Dallas, Texas — Supply of meat to packers very light; retail markets have no fresh meat generally. Omaha, Neb. — No meat. About half Omaha's 10,000 packing-house workers laid off, crowding

U. S. Employment Service offices for other jobs. Wichita, Kas. — Fresh meats scarce. Kansas City, Mo. — Majority of stores have only lunch meat and fish. Seattle, Wash. — A few scattered markets have some mutton, lamb and poultry and hold-over storage meat but supplies are extremely short. There was virtually no meat in Mobile, Birmingham, Atlanta, Nashville and Memphis, but the poultry and fish supply was reported generally fair in the South. In Topeka, Kansas, the plant of John Morrell & Co., packers, which has been closed a week for lack of livestock, reopened today to process a few animals, mostly obtained from purchase of 4-H stock at the Topeka Free Fair last week. The meat situation in Santa Anna is not at present as bad as some of the above, but may in a short time become that way. In a survey of the meat counters Tuesday there was some beef in some of the counters, but no pork was available. Cheese and lunch meat seemed to be the most plentiful.

Mrs. L. W. Guthrie sold her place, formerly known as the Sparks Dairy, to George Brooks, who, with his family are moving there this week. Coy Brooks and family, who were living there, have moved to one of the Stovall apartments.

Edwin Hunter left Sunday for Austin, where he is attending the School of Pharmacy at the state university there.

Better Parents

William Heirens, the 17 year old Chicagoan who got 60 years in prison for three murders and 20 odd burglaries and assaults (at least he will be eligible for parole in 60 years), issued a statement upon entering prison telling American youths how to avoid trouble. "Confide in your parents or those close to you," urged William Heirens. "I never had the opportunity to be close to my parents. I was sent away to boarding schools when I got into trouble. I was always away from home when I needed their confidence. But I don't blame my parents."

Dr. Galiup recently discovered that eight out of ten people in this country's towns and cities thought parents' guidance classes were good things. These classes are designed to teach parents of delinquent children how to handle their offspring properly. The plan has worked wonders in San Francisco and other places where tried. The idea has spread to other urban centers, with equally gratifying results. Most people believe that child delinquency begins in the home, that it is, mostly the parents' fault that the cure or prevention of child delinquency must begin and end in the same place. That many parents are unconscious of the part they play in the child's delinquency goes without saying. That is the first object of the parents' classes — to break down parental ignorance, to teach parents how to handle their children. Being a successful parent is no bed of roses. It takes time, patience, firmness, sympathy, understanding and imagination. It isn't simply a matter of loving the children, for most parents do that instinctively. If love leads to indulgence, that's misplacing a grand emotion. For better kids the nation needs better parents. — The Abilene Reporter News. Mrs. Aubrey Petree and little daughters returned to their home at Merkel Monday after visiting for several days with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. E. H. Wylie. Mrs. Lonnie Sykes of Bangs accompanied them home.

Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D., Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, Released by Western Newspaper Union

Lesson for September 22

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

JESUS AND THE LAW OF THE STRANGER

LESSON TEXT—Exodus 22:21-23; Deuteronomy 24:14, 15; Matthew 23:34-41. MEMORY SELECTION—The King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me.—Matthew 25:40.

There is as much need today for the words of counsel and admonition regarding strangers which we find in our lesson, as there was in the days of Moses, for there seems to be an almost complete breakdown of neighborliness both between nations and individuals.

I. The Law Required Neighborliness (Exod. 22:21-23; Deut. 24:14, 15).

Our heavenly Father as revealed to us in his Word is a Father indeed, one greatly concerned about his many children; but especially does he care for those who are weak and needy.

The laws of ancient Israel made provision for the feeding of those who had no fields. The corners of the field were left uncut at harvest-time, some of the grapes were to be left on the vine, etc., so that the poor could enjoy the sense of self-respect as they picked for themselves what God had provided (see Lev. 19:9, 10; 23:22; Deut. 24:19-21, and other passages).

The poor man who found work was to receive his pay when needed. For the one who hired him to do otherwise was to bring upon himself the judgment of God. He listens to the cry of the hungry worker and his family (Deut. 24:15).

Strangers were in a peculiar way subject to the possibility of extortion. They are even today the easy mark of the one who lives by his wits, the "confidence" man and sneak thief.

If any such person reads these notes let me warn him solemnly to keep his tricky hands off the stranger, for God is watching and will hear their cry (Exod. 22:23).

The same is true of widows and orphans. God is their keeper and their defender.

Someone may say that all this is Old Testament in its background and principle. What about the follower of Christ in our day? The answer is that

II. Christ Expects Neighborliness (Matt. 25:34-41).

This is a prophetic picture of a great judgment scene. It is not, as many suppose, the same as the judgment of the Great White Throne of Revelation 20.

The scene here is not in heaven, but upon the earth. It is not individuals who are being judged, but the nations of the earth. They are not being judged regarding personal salvation, but for their treatment of Christ's brethren.

Who are his brethren? First we think of his brethren, after the flesh, the people of the Jewish race. Scripture reveals again and again that God is watching over his chosen people, even though they are now scattered in judgment for their unbelief. He will not hold any guiltless who harm his people (Gen. 12:13).

The word "brethren" is also used in such a passage as Matthew 12:46-50 to include all who do the will of God. That suggests a broader application of these words.

Our attitude toward God expresses itself in our attitude toward our fellow man. That which we do toward those about us is not a matter of indifference, but is the basis for God's judgment of our lives. Each of us must answer for the deeds done in the flesh whether they be good or evil. That is true even of the believer (II Cor. 5:10), whose salvation has already been determined by his faith in Christ.

Here in our lesson, however, the failure to do that which shows forth God's law of love is made the ground of eternal judgment. This is not because an act of kindness itself can be regarded as the ground of division, but because the failure to give it or do it reflects an attitude of heart toward our God and his Christ which is in reality a rejection of his way of salvation. Judgment is thus a revelation of the attitude of the heart, which marks a man or woman as being either saved or lost. It may be possible to so becloud the thinking of our friends and neighbors that we may go through life looking something like a Christian, but when Christ judges, it will all be revealed.

County Agent's Column

The first truck load of fish, ordered by Coleman county farmers and ranchers, was delivered at the Post Office in Coleman, Monday of this week. Those receiving fish should be very careful in handling them until they are placed in the tanks. At least ten gallons of water, in a covered container, should be brought along and the fish transferred from the truck

Notice the importance of a proper attitude toward those who need our kindness and help. All too often the only concern of men and women is to look out for "number one" and let the rest of the world shift for itself.

Observe also that the Lord identifies himself with his brethren—what is done to and for them is counted as done to and for him. Compare the experience of Samuel (I Sam. 8:7) and of Paul (Acts 9:5). Touch God's people and you touch him. Fall them and you fall him. Serve them and you serve him.

to the tank in as short a time as possible. All persons, who have an application for fish on file with the Game and Oyster Commission, will receive a notice from them several days in advance of delivery.

Farmers all over the county are taking advantage of the dry weather and idle land period to get their terracing work done. Lines have recently been run, by the county agent, on the following farms: T. C. Hall, Henry Horne, Rayford Evans, R. S. Adian and Cal Averett.

A considerable amount of vetch and some Austrian Winter Peas will be planted in the county this fall. The Production Marketing Association, Soil Conservation Service, Coleman County Veteran's Vocational School and the Extension Service are all cooperating in this program. Harold Prater, instructor for the Coleman County Veteran's Vocational Agricultural Class, reports that they have purchased 2,150 lbs. of hairy vetch seed. The following men will plant this seed: Wm. J. Jones, Haskell E. Clevenger, Kenneth D. Ray, E. W. Ward, all of Coleman; H. P. Odom and Joseph Key of Burkett; W. U. Hodges, W. B. Horner, Carson Horner, Carl Benton and Byron McDonald of Santa Anna; Odell E. Collins of Silver Valley, Charles L. Scott of Glen Cove and Ernest Broyles of Talpa.

Five hundred pounds of vetch seed, ordered through the county agent's office, was received this week for Ben F. Cox, C. F. Sappington, L. W. Mayo, and Otis Powers. Those who will plant Austrian Winter Peas are Blake Williams, R. F. Blackwell, Bill

Bryan, Uless Maness and Arthur King of Rockwood and Raymond McElrath, Ivan Hill, Ogden Brown and Leonard Jameson of Coleman.

Stinking smut, says E. A. Miller, agronomist with the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service, is the most serious wheat disease. The smut spores on the seed germinate at the same time the wheat does and at heading time the smut forms masses of spores in the grain heads where wheat kernels should be. You can often detect the smut through the foul odor it gives off. The disease does not destroy the chaff, so it may sometimes be hard to notice.

Oats and barley are often affected by loose smut which is easily noticed by the black barren stalks in the field, says Mr. Miller.

To control these winter grain smuts, except loose wheat smut, treat each bushel of seed with one half ounce of New Improved Ceresan. Copper carbonate was used a great deal in the past, but it often causes trouble by caking in the grain drill.

Loose smut of wheat which you can detect by looking for the empty black stalks it causes, can only be controlled by a hot water treatment which is hard to handle properly. Best method is to get your seed from growers who do not have loose smut in their fields.

Remember that grain smuts causes losses by reducing grain yields and by dockage on the market. Treating the seed you plant is good insurance against these losses.

The strike stranglehold clamped on America's maritime fleets for 13 days were broken Tuesday by a voluntary shortening of CIO seamen's picket lines so AFL sailors and longshoremen could return to work.

Within a few hours after Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union (N.M.U.), announced his decision to restrict pickets to CIO contracted vessels, thousands of AFL maritime workers reported for duty in New York, Boston, Baltimore, Portland, Maine and other ports.

Q. How can nutritional scours in calves be kept down?

- A. To keep nutritional scours in calves down, watch all these points:
1. Feed limited amounts of milk for 30 days rather than over-feeding on milk.
 2. Feed proper balanced dry calf feed, block salt, good quality hay, and plenty of fresh water.
 3. Thoroughly wash all utensils after each use.
 4. Keep calves dry and free from drafts.

Q. Are blind or inverted teats inherited?

A. Yes. Blind or inverted teats are a heritable physical defect which will handicap production. When a high rate of production is reached in a hog breeding herd, such as the record of ten pigs per sow farrowed, weaned and marketed from each sow in the Purina herd at the Ralston Purina Company's Research Farm, all defects, large and small, must be constantly watched for and eliminated from the herd. This is only one point to be considered in a program of good breeding, sound management, careful sanitation, and good feeding.

Q. Are goat kids difficult to raise?

A. Problems occur in getting goat kids off to a good start as with other young animals. They should be removed from the mother at birth and placed in separate, clean, disinfected pens. When kids are 4 to 8 hours old, they should be pan fed the mother's milk. Then small amounts of milk at (100° F.) should be fed often for the first week. Milk can be replaced at one month with a reliable dry feed for goat kids.

Q. What size should the slats of a floor of a turkey porch be? My birds are kept on slats until they go to market.

A. 1" x 1", or 1" x 2" slats, spaced one inch apart, seem to be the most practical.

State Department Of Health Letter

The State Department of Health has just issued a warning in regard to scarlet fever, as the number of cases usually increases during the fall months. The majority of deaths from this disease occur from October through February.

Scarlet fever is a very contagious and serious disease. Grown people may contract it, but children under 15 years are especially apt to have it, if exposed. It is especially dangerous for children under 5 years, and Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, warns mothers to "not let your children take any chances with scarlet fever. Call the doctor as soon as the first symptoms appear."

If your child has contracted scarlet fever, the first signs you may notice are that he seems tired, restless and out of sorts. Usually, there is a sore throat, chills, vomiting, or convulsions and fever. His skin is dry and hot. His tongue is furred, and under this white covering, it is red and swollen. In ordinary cases, these early signs are followed in a day or two by a rash. Little flat red points, close together, appears first on the neck and chest and soon the rash, very red in color, spreads over most of the body.

The doctor is required by law to report the case to the local health officer. Do your part by following carefully the quarantine instructions which the health officer will give you, since a severe or fatal case of scarlet fever may develop from contact with some one who has only a light attack. Children who have had scarlet fever, or who have been exposed, must not return to school until permission is given by the health officer and physician.

State Fair to Entertain Twenty Millionth Visitor

The State Fair of Texas will entertain its twenty millionth visitor sometime during the exposition this year, Oct. 5-20, W. H. Hitzelberger, executive vice president and general manager of the State Fair Association, predicted this week.

Since 1916, the first year of official records on attendance, 19,520,312 spectators have gone through the gates to view the great harvest festival of Texas. The total does not include visitors to the Texas Centennial and of 1936 and 1937.

Of the 22 state fairs held since 1915, seven have drawn over a million visitors. Six have pushed close to that mark with the last state fair before the war holding the all time high of 1,252,527.

The 1946 state fair, first since the ending of hostilities, with exhibits, shows and attractions greater than ever before, is expected to set new records in every department, Mr. Hitzelberger said.
