HAUPTMANN INDICTED

WASHINGTON By George Durno

Prints—

If the American criminal element continues to be so bold as to kidnap the sons and daughters of wealthy people, the "snatchers" will find themselves running into a new protective development.

In the personal identification unit of J. Edgar Hoover's Bureau of Investigation there are reposing at this moment the fingerprints of over 2,000 children of the well-to-do. The idea is simple, but ingenious. In event any of these children are kidnapped, the parents can demand their fingerprints as proof that negotiations are being conducted with the persons actually holding them.

Assemblage of these tell-tale records has been on a purely voluntary basis. So far, the parents of most likely victims have been contacted—and in almost every case have jumped at the chance to have their offspring thus put on record.

The opportunity is open to all parents. They need only to take their children to the Department of Justice agent in their district and he will file their fingerprints. Government sleuths point out that if this practice can be made sufficiently widespread, innumerable false leads and false pretenses will be obviated in kidnap cases.

The Bureau of Investigation has now collected over 4,500,000 fingerprints. No other detective agency in the world, official or private, can approach these records. Police officials all over the world constantly call on Washington for aid in identifying suspected criminals.

Department of Justice men are hoping the day will come when everybody in the country is on record with his fingerprints. That would make possible comparatively rapid identification of amnesia victims, unrecognizable bodies, etc.

Voluntary examinations throughout the nation are taking up the idea. You'll hear a good deal about it now that the solution of the famous case is in the bag.

Reward—

The D of J boys don't want to complain unduly but you don't have to be around long to learn they think the federal agents didn't get all credit deserved in the apprehension of Bruno Hauptmann for the Lindbergh kidnaping.

New York City Police Commissioner John F. O'Ryan was spokesman for his force, the federal men and the New Jersey State Police in announcing the break of the case. Rightly, O'Ryan made it a joint proposition. The three forces have had a long-standing agreement to work together and share all information instantly upon receipt. It seems that Walter Lyle, the gas station attendant who took the ransom bill from Hauptmann and then noted the German's auto license turned both over to the New York office of the Bureau of Investigation. A federal man made most of the preliminary investigation thereafter which led to tying Hauptmann up with the Lindbergh kidnaping.

Government men are rooting to see Lyle collect the $25,000 reward if Hauptmann is convicted.

Strikes—

When Henry Ford got the bright idea of buying the broadcast rights to the World Series for $100,000 he let himself in for a lot of unexpected grief.

After signing up with the big leagues, Henry bought time on the Columbia Broadcasting network and the red network of National Broadcasting for the purpose of bringing all of us the play-by-play. Immediately the stations on the blue network of NBC let up a howl—in which they were joined by almost all of the big independent stations.

That left the auto magnate in a tight spot. Having taken the situation over as an advertising proposition, he could ill afford to offend anyone.

But all the potential grief does rest with Ford. The two big broadcasting systems are worried already about future years.

This is the first time a World Series broadcast has ever been sponsored. In the past, both NBC and CBS have made it available as a sustaining feature. All independent outlets could cut in by means of actual transmission costs.

Meat Canning Production Increasing

Federal Plant Turns Out 16,000 Cans Daily, Mc-New Announces

Production of the federal meat cannery here has been sharply increased. Production is now 16,000 cans per day as compared to an average 10,000 before, County Administrator R. H. McNew said Wednesday. Total output of the plant since its opening here is approximately 600,000 cans. It was learned authoritatively that operation of the cannery would probably cease within thirty days with the conclusion of the government cattle buying program. McNew has been informed that the Big Spring plant would be allocated something like 4,000 head of cattle when the final quota of 100,000 head of cattle is bought. This, he estimated, would suffice the demands of the plant for approximately a month.

During operation of the cannery here, wastage has been kept at a minimum and production costs are low by comparison with other canneries.

Ferguson Says Relief Funds Insufficient

Six Million Appropriated By Special Session Will Last Past October

AUSTIN, (AP)—James E. Ferguson, spokesman for Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, indicated Wednesday another special session of the legislature might be called soon. In an interview with his wife present, the former governor said the relief funds appropriated by the extraordinary session just ended would be insufficient to care for needs past October.

THIRD CALLED SESSION ADJOURNED WEDNESDAY

AUSTIN, (AP)—The third called session of the forty-third legislature adjourned at 2:47 o'clock Wednesday morning after accomplishing the chief purpose for which it met—authorizing the sale of six millions in relief bonds for care of the needy this winter.

The house session ended in a wrangle between members of the conference committee on the Colorado river bill to set up authority for power and conservation purposes on the stream. The bill died when three members refused to sign a conference report. Two favored it.

GOV. FERGUSON SIGNS BILL PROVIDING RELIEF

AUSTIN (AP)—Governor Miriam Ferguson Wednesday signed the bill passed Tuesday by the legislature to authorize issuance of six millions in state bonds for winter relief. The bill became effective immediately.

Hugh Johnson Resigns Post As NRA Head

Long - Expected Resignation Of Recovery Head Accepted By FDR

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—The long expected resignation of Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson came late Tuesday and was immediately accepted by President Roosevelt.

The resignation will become effective October 15. For the present the president has no other job for the recovery administrator who has served 15 months under the New Deal, and whose work created the blue eagle of the NRA.

The resignation came in the form of a letter to the president and was accepted by Mr. Roosevelt in another letter which complimented Johnson on his hard work and assured the NRA chief of continued friendship.

It was made plain the resignation was far from the first time the NRA chief has tried to quit. Several times before, Johnson has submitted informally and verbally to the president his resignation. It was never before accepted.

Tuesday the recovery leader revealed his reasons in some measure for giving up his job, pointing to pressing private work.

Johnson in his letter called the president's attention to the fact that the NRA was being reorganized and under the scheduled reorganization setup he felt his own job was superfluous. He assured the chief executive that he would have his (Johnson's) continued friendship, and that should he be called on again to service the New Deal, he would be ready to do so.

President Roosevelt, in accepting Johnson's resignation, said that he felt that the NRA had fulfilled its first phase of usefulness and that the time has come for revision. It was made plain that this reorganization will come perhaps within the next few days. It was indicated that the president plans within the next few days, after he arrives in Washington, tomorrow, to see Johnson and have a talk with him concerning the NRA.

Detroit Girl Is Found Murdered; Body In Trunk

DETROIT, (AP)—Lillian Galbraith was found Wednesday, on her 11th birthday, apparently strangled to death and her body stuffed into a trunk—undoubtedly the victim of a degenerate, police said.

The trunk was found in an apartment, six blocks from the home where Lillian's parents awaited her return since last Thursday. The body was tied, and a towel gag across her mouth.

Due to decomposition, it was difficult to tell whether the child was strangled.

Police said the apartment was occupied recently by a man giving the name of M. W. Goodrich, trap drummer, and a woman.

Police are hunting the couple. The child disappeared while selling chances on a punchboard, as a school benefit, from house to house.

70th Court Moves Thru More Cases

The 70th district court moved through more criminal cases Wednesday.

Ynez Ynez was assessed two years in the state prison for concealing stolen property taken in a haul on J. & W. Fisher company department store.

A jury hearing the case of burglary against Alvin "Buddy" Baker reported Wednesday morning that it was hopelessly deadlocked. However, Judge Charles Klapproth had not dismissed them at the noon hour.

Shortly before noon the court delivered a charge in the case of the State against Sammy McGee. District Attorney R. W. Hamilton prosecuted the case on the first count of the indictment charging transportation of intoxicating liquor.

The state called W. W. Legg, state highway patrolman, to the stand. He testified to seeing liquor in the car and making the arrest. Fred Ratliff, Glasscock county sheriff, said he saw one of the men in the car throw a bottle of liquor out of the car after Legg had brought them to the courtroom.

W. D. Miller, operator of a stand, was introduced as a defense witness and testified that the defendant never got out of the car as had been alleged.

Jack Prescott, occupant of the car, told the court he had been picked up only a short time before. James Story and Carl Broughton of Tyler testified as to the actions of the patrolman to substantiate the defense contention that the officer was exceeding his authority in making the arrest as defense witnesses declared.

The case was in the hands of a jury Wednesday noon.

Sam Buchanan Is Injured On Farm Northeast Of City

Sam F. Buchanan, well-known farmer residing eight miles northeast of Big Spring, suffered a serious cut on his left leg between the knee and ankle Wednesday morning when he was engaged in cutting Sudan grass with a large bladed knife. In some way the knife slipped and struck Mr. Buchanan's leg, severing the main artery. He was rushed to Big Spring hospital, where he received medical attention. Although he suffered loss of considerable blood, Mr. Buchanan's condition was said to be satisfactory this afternoon.

Extortion Charged By Bronx Jury

Indictment Contains Only One Count, That Of Extortion

NEW YORK (AP)—The Bronx county grand jury Wednesday indicted Bruno Richard Hauptmann on a charge of extortion as the alleged receiver of the $50,000 Lindbergh ransom. The indictment contained only one count—extortion.

2840 MORE RANSOM MONEY DISCOVERED

NEW YORK (AP)—Four rolls of bills, estimated amounting to $540, were found Wednesday in the garage at the home of Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

District Attorney Samuel J. Foley announced it was identified as part of the Lindbergh ransom. The money was found by police dismantling the garage. In the same garage last week was found $13,700 secreted. The bills found today had been carefully rolled and stuffed in four holes on the side of the garage. In another hole police found a loaded German automatic pistol.

The money was rushed to the grand jury which is investigating extortion charges against Hauptmann as received of the $50,000 ransom.

Col. Lindbergh, father of the kidnaped and slain baby, appeared before the grand jury to tell his story of the tragedy. Lindbergh spent thirty minutes in the jury room, then left for the county building.

Nervous and shaky, Hauptmann was taken to the district attorney's office. He spent Tuesday night weeping and being his cell. Foley said Hauptmann admitted the money found Wednesday was part of the ransom.

Arrival Of Cook Body Is Delayed

Funeral Postponed Until Thursday Morning At 10:30; Eberley Chapel

Funeral services for Audrey Cook, CCC worker who met death a week ago in a mountain stream near Cody, Wyo., were delayed Wednesday when the remains did not arrive.

The funeral was to have been held Wednesday afternoon. It was likely that the body would arrive here Wednesday afternoon or evening and it that event the service will be held Thursday at 10:30 a. m. from the Eberley chapel with Melvin J. Wase, Church of Christ minister, in charge.

Autrey was the only child of Mrs. Lillie Cook, 405 Gollad street.

Oil Quotas Are Lowered

Howard - Glasscock Field Allowable Reduced To 14,000 Barrels Daily

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas railroad commission Tuesday ordered the state's allowable oil production reduced to 929,552 barrels per day starting Oct. 1. The commission's allowable was 26,548 barrels daily under the allowable recommended by the federal oil administration.

The East Texas field allowable was slashed by 30,500 barrels daily to 400,800 barrels; the Yates field was cut by 9,330 barrels to 37,170; Coonroe by 9,240 barrels to 38,180; and Van by 8,550 barrels to 34,200. The reduction in East Texas was from four per cent to 3.6 per cent of the average hourly potential.

71,570 Barrels Less

The cut represented a reduction of 71,570 barrels daily under the current production, estimated by the commission at 1,000,222 barrels as of Tuesday.

The commission stressed its setting of an allowable materially less than recommended by the government.

"This is to insure Texas production being well within the demand and allow for development of new fields and wells and pools and to allow for the additional production in fields where the potential method of allowables is in use," the commission stated.

The commission moved to control production from discovery wells in the new field and ordered their production limited to 150 barrels daily.

Reductions ordered for other fields and their new allowables were: Scarborough, 800 barrels to 2,200; Penn, 1,200 barrels to 5,600; Howard-Glasscock, 3,200 barrels to 14,000; Barbers Hill 4,000 to 18,000; High Island 1,700 to 6,800; Thompson 2,400 to 9,600.

No changes were made in the remaining fields.

CHEMISTS BRING HOPE, MORE THAN DESPAIR
The chemist has been getting a bad name for himself lately. It sometimes seems as if he never gets his name in the paper except when he invents a new kind of poisonous gas, or devises a new industrial process which will put more men out of work.

Not enough is known, yet, to enable one to say what importance this discovery may eventually have. But there is just a chance that the great war on cancer is appreciably nearer final victory because of it.

Another group of research specialists tell how they have developed a drug which deals out death to pneumonia germs. This drug, seemingly effective against all types of pneumonia germs, is a derivative of an earlier-known compound which, while fatal to the germs, was also very destructive of human tissue—and, therefore, too dangerous to use medically.

The Steers and Austin High Panthers clash on the local turf at 8:30 p. m. Friday. Admission tags will go on sale at fifty and twenty-five cents.

The matter of officials for the game is still unsettled. It seems fairly certain that Jim Cantrell will be one of them with the other two out of Abilene.

The El Paso stadium is quite an attractive affair but apparently was built with an eye for beauty rather than from a business standpoint.

Another thing we particularly didn't like was the fact that no press box is provided, which forces the scribes to gallop up and down the field with the players.

One of the local grid fans stopped in this morning with an interesting note on the Steer training situation. We know nothing about the situation, personally, but believe our visitor honest.

Charles Akey, Mundy golf pro, says he plans to stage three tournaments regularly—one in the fall, one in the spring, and another in the summer.

Still another chemist reports that the use of copper and iron salts will cure nutritional anemia in infants.

We seldom hear of this work. The chemist goes his way unsmiling, and most of us connect his name chiefly with death and destruction. It is only fair to remember that there is another side to it.

Clubmen Take STEERS IN FAIR SHAPE FOR PANTHERS Carter 5 To 2

Teams Stage Heated Tilts In Softball Play-Off Series
By HANK HART
The Anderson Music Company pushed across three runs in the ninth after the Herald Type Lice had counted five times in their half, and defeated the luckless Newales 8-7 in the first game of Tuesday night's bargain bill.

After several days of intensive training, Coach Obie Bristow is confident his Steers will be in much better shape physically to clash with Thad Steele's El Paso Austin High Panthers here Friday afternoon than they were to battle Lubbock last week.

The stiff work has brought out bruises and sprains, Obie said, but nothing of such a serious nature as to keep a player out of the game. However, little George Neel, who got buffeted around considerably by the Westerners, will be confined to the sidelines because of injuries received last week.

Although the Panther line-up shows only a very few lettermen and just a fairly hefty club, they are the powerful Bowls Bearers as determined battle last week before sinking 13 to 0.

Cards Slash Giants' Lead

St. Louis Defeats Pittsburg Three To Two Tuesday
By The Associated Press
The St. Louis Cardinals slashed the New York Giants' lead in the National League pennant race to a single game Tuesday when the Cards defeated Pittsburg, 3 to 2, behind Jerome (Dizzy) Dean and the Giants suffered a 4 to 0 setback from the Phillies and Curt Davis, who limited the league leaders to four hits.

In the five days which remain before the season ends, the Giants have three games to play and the Cardinals five. Should St. Louis beat Pittsburg again tomorrow and then sweep its four-game series with Cincinnati, the Giants would need to win all three games, one from Philadelphia and two from Brooklyn, even to tie for the title.

The slider member of the pitching firm of Dizzy and Paul Dean was in fine form as he scored his 28th victory of the season. A three-run attack in the first inning off Southpaw Larry French gave Dizzy an early lead and he held it and kept the Pirates scoreless until the ninth when Paul Waner beat out a slow bouncer to Durocher and "Arky" Vaughn hit a home run to the roof of the right field pavilion.

PHILLIES 4, GIANTS 0
NEW YORK—Young Curt Davis of the Phillies, one of the season's outstanding first-year pitchers, took a terrific slash at the Giants' hope of remaining in front in the National League pennant race when he shut them out with four hits Tuesday, the Phils winning 4 to 0.

CUBS 1, CINCINNATI 0
CHICAGO—Nineteen year old Phil Cavaretta, recent graduate of Chicago's prep ranks, making his first start as a big league first baseman, hit a second inning homer that gave Guy Bush and the Cubs a 1 to 0 victory over Cincinnati.

BRAVES 9, DODGERS 6
BROOKLYN—Three runs in the ninth off Tom Zachary gave the Braves a 9 to 6 victory over the Dodgers Tuesday in a free-hitting contest in which Brooklyn made 15 blows and Boston 14.

ST. LOUIS 3, PITTSBURGH 2
The fast-flying Cardinals, behind six-hit pitching by Dizzy Dean, defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 3 to 2 Tuesday and moved within a game of the National League-leading Giants, who lost to Philadelphia.

Badgers Out After Alpine

Coaches Busy Ironing Out Kinks; Players On Injury List
McCAMEY—After the heart-breaking defeat by a score of 6 to 2 at the hands of the Pecos Eagles last Friday night, the McCamey Badgers are making ready to meet another Class B team from Alpine. The game is to be played on the Badger gridiron at 8 o'clock Friday night.

Coaches Hayshurst and Bardin are busy ironing out the kinks made evident through the game with Pecos. McCamey probably will go through the game without the services of Sherrard and Belcher, members of the Badger backfield, who were injured in last Friday's fray. Many improvements are expected during the week.

After the game Friday night, the Badgers will take to the road for a couple of week-ends, going to Lamasa Oct. 8 and Colorado Oct. 12, then an open date before hitting the San Angelo Bobcats on the Badger field.

SENATORS EXAMINE 'TOMMY' GUN

Senator Bone (left) and Senator Nye (center) seem to be much interested in the workings of a sub-machine gun exhibited before the senate committee by a witness, John W. Young (right), Pittsburgh arms dealer. In front of Senator Nye are two tear gas bombs. Young told the committee sales of tear bombs and nausea gas by his company had increased from "5 to 10" per cent during the present textile strike. He also told of the influence his firm wielded in Cuban affairs. (Associated Press Photo)

W. Lawson Little (right), strapping 23-year-old Stanford university student, became the third golfer in history to win the British and American amateur titles in the same year when he defeated David Goldman (left) of Texas in the finals of the national championships at Brookline, Mass. The finalists are shown with the trophy. (Associated Press Photo)

Favors Farm Strike

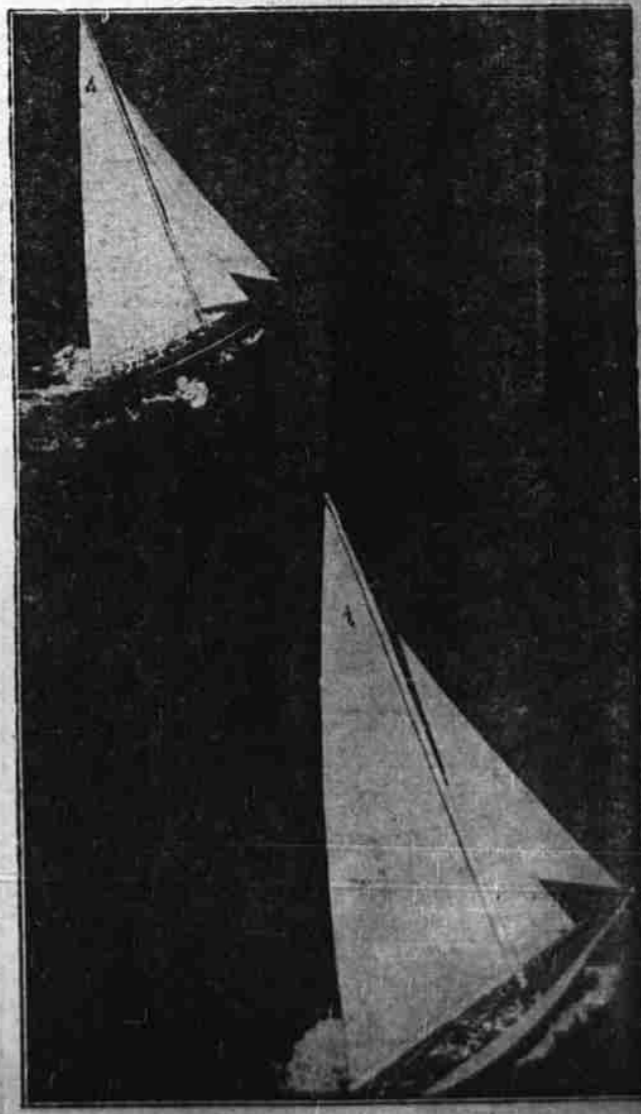

John Chalmers (above) of Madrid, Ia., vice president of the Iowa Farmers' union, proposed that a farm strike be called because the farm administration is "putting the farmer in a straight jacket," but the national farmers' holiday association voted not to call a strike at this time. Steam Engine Progress Vividly Shown at Fair

New and old types of passenger locomotives used in the service of the Northern Pacific railroad are shown on the same stage at Wings of A Century at the World's Fair. The old Minnetonka, of the vintage of 1882, is pictured in front with the latest type of monster iron horse in the rear. The latter, first of ten completely equipped roller-bearing engines built for the road, at a cost of $1,500,000, is 110 feet long and weighs, including tender, 845,000 pounds.

Endeavour (upper left), British challenger for the America's cup, looked away opening honors in the first of four races for the historic trophy by beating the American ship Rainbow (lower right) by two minutes around a Shonk's course. This striking view shows the boats at a moment when Rainbow held a slight lead. (Associated Press Photo)

Chapter 25 BOLDERO'S END

Helen reached her mistress's cabin and there, in the rack where it had rested ever since the beginning of the voyage, was her own little red suitcase which the callous human things in their gross unthinking selfishness had left behind.

Ivy and Bowers had no more than reached the head of the cabin stair than Helen, suitcase in hand and screaming now not with rage but with triumph, and wet to the skin,

The Boldero went down by the head was half up it. A moment more and she was in her mistress' arms, suitcase and all, and telling everybody all about everything.

The diversion was fortunate. A heavy cargo-hatch, immediately opposite the moored raft, had yielded at last to the terrible pressure of air and burst with a sound like the explosion of dynamite. Anyone in the vicinity of the flying fragments and splinters might have been most seriously hurt.

The Boldero, arrested in her sinking now, began to make up for lost time. From the ship to the raft was now no more than a big step. Ivy, encumbered by Helen, did not even need a helping hand.

They cast loose and for a time, not wishing to be anywhere near the Boldero when she made her final plunge, Bowers paddled frantically with the blade half of a broken oar. He made his offering and the breeze, strong enough at moments to ruffle the surface of the sea, caught them and had soon carried them beyond any possible reach of suction.

Bowers, his back to the Boldero, steered for the volcano. But Ivy kept him posted. Presently she said:

"You had better look now, if you want to see the last of her."

The Boldero was going down by the head and the end came very suddenly. The ship's stern rose until the propeller showed half clear of the sea, and the bows sank until the fore-castle-head would never be anything to anyone but a memory of a great happiness.

BRONX HOME OF LINDY SUSPECT

Here is the home in the Bronx at New York City where Bruno Richard Hauptmann, seized as the man who collected $20,000 ransom in the Lindbergh baby kidnaping case, lived with his wife and baby. Officials up to $13,750 of the marked ransom money in the floor of the garage in the rear and found some of the money on Hauptmann's person. (Associated Press Photo) ful, many things go over locked. The shipwrecked couple had tea and coffee. They had a variety of canned meats, vegetables and soups. They had some tins of biscuits. They had a bag of sugar and a bag of salt, matches and a fire-ax, some changes of clothes.

Bowers had the wherewithal to keep himself cleanly shaved for a number of months. Ivy had some face powder and a quarter-stick of rouge. It pleased Bowers to think that he had brought off his guns with plenty of ammunition. He was glad that his pocket-knife was not a toy.

But he dreaded the moment when Ivy should say that she was thirsty and he would have to confess that he had not thought to bring water. Suppose they reached the volcano island toward which they were headed and found no water? This was not likely, but was within the possibilities. He became unduly despondent, and then he remembered that there were sure to be coconut palms and this thought cheered him.

The coconut is not an occasional crop. Upon every tree in full bearing there are at all times nuts in all stages of development, from flower to seed. Each nut stays upon the tree for twelve or thirteen months, and the half-developed green nuts contain a water which is sweeter and more refreshing than the real thing, and which may be drunk. In substitution, for six months or more.

Ivy said she was thirsty and Bowers made his confession.

"There was plenty of time," he said, "to think about everything, but I just didn't, and all I can do is to be ashamed and sorry."

"Why isn't it just as much my fault as it is yours?" said Ivy. And of course it was, but the man would not admit it.

"I am afraid," he said, "that we shall be mightily uncomfortable and dry before we get ashore."

"How do you know," she asked "that we'll find water when we do get there?"

"There will be coconuts," he said. "There isn't any newly made land in this part of the world and all the old land grows coconuts. The nuts are washed overboard and drift all over the world and wherever they are washed ashore into suitable conditions of soil and climate they sprout and befriend man."

"But I brought along a chart. Let's have a look at that, and maybe we can find out something about the place we're heading for."

He had folded the chart twice and weighted it with a gun-case. He now unfolded it, and had presently located the one small body of land which had upon it an seographer's symbolization of an active volcano.

"This must be," he said. "No wonder Big Ben and Lurline made for it."

"I wonder why it is called Tiger Island?" asked Ivy.

"For some reason, you may be sure, that has nothing to do with tigers. Maybe from its shape. See, it has four distinct legs and a head. Maybe somebody thinks it looks like a tiger."

at Addis Ababa which turns out 40 tons of this high-powered stuff a year. The Japanese interests which control the factory are reported to be planning to increase their capacity to 100 tons. The American Medical Associations bars heroin. When one considers that dope addicts use it by the grain and less, 40 tons is quite a lot.

Our officials figure most of this stuff is now going to China but they know the American market is so tempting to the illegal peddlers that they are expecting some of it domestically before long.

Large numbers of Japanese have emigrated to Abyssinia in recent months in an apparent colonization plan of definite proportions. They are growing opium and cotton. Abyssinia is not a party to the Hague or Geneva conventions, which makes it difficult for Uncle Sam to head off anticipated dope traffic by making diplomatic representations.

Mistake

Certain members of the National Press Club have finally ascertained "what's wrong with the country". They were sitting around debating the question as usual the other night when one therefore silent man got the floor.

"I'll tell you what's wrong with this country," he said. "The United States unfortunately is going thru an era of pure democracy. Our forefathers promised us democracy but didn't expect to see it actually practiced. Right now, the majority is ruling. I am glad to predict things will soon be back in the hands of the minority—where they always were before."

High School Parent-Teachers Association Put On Social Tea

Supt. Blankenship and Prin. Gentry Address Mothers On Ways Of Meeting Problems Of Adolescent Children

About fifty mothers and teachers were present Tuesday afternoon at the membership tea which was given by the High School Parent-Teachers' Association.

The occasion was the introduction of new teachers on the high school faculty and securing new members among the mothers.

Supt. W. C. Blankenship and Principal George Gentry made two exceptionally good talks. Mr. Blankenship spoke on "Home and School." He urged cooperation and a happy home atmosphere for pupils. Parents should be interested in the school and become acquainted with the teachers, he said, to get the teachers' viewpoint. He also recommended a place and time for school study and exercise.

Mr. Gentry talked on "The Problems of the Adolescent Child." He said every adolescent child needed some hours of exercise in open air, a physical examination for correction of possible defects that were not known to the parents. He suggested, too, that meals should be served on time and should not be occasions for scolding. Parents should be a happy time. He said that children should have two hours time of their own each day; moreover that each child should have some home responsibility.

Alta Mary Stalcup, pupil of Mrs. Praeger, sang "Time to Rest" and "Winds of the South" for an encore.

Mr. Victor Mellinger presided over the business session. Mrs. Dee Hilliard had charge of the program and Mrs. Fred Stephens, the tea.

After the program, mothers and teachers went to the home economics room and were served tea. Mrs. George Brown presided over the tea table and was assisted in serving by Miss Adkins of the foods department and the home economics girls.

The P.T.A. will meet again on the fourth Monday in October.

GREATER MOTOR PROTECTION AND LOWER OIL CONSUMPTION

Proved

BY THE INDIANAPOLIS DESTRUCTION TEST..

DOES 59 years' experience in serving the public and knowing what they need and require mean anything to you? It should.

Continental Oil Company scientists have perfected an oil superior to anything known to our experience. The quality has been proven by 963,000 miles of actual road tests, years of experiments and finally a test with five highly advertised competitive motor oils at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

It took courage to drive six strictly new stock cars to destruction to prove to you the facts that had been proved to us.

The record shows that New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil successfully outdistanced its nearest competitor by 1,410.2 miles and that it traveled 3,015.8 miles farther than the poorest of the five.

If evidence of this claim does not cause you to drive into a Conoco station and fill your crankcase with New and Improved Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, there is no tangible evidence that can be offered you to prove anything.
