Trio Indicted In Stoll Kidnaping

Court Indicts Robinson Jr., Father, Wife

Death Penalty Possible Under Amended Lindbergh Kidnap Law

LOUISVILLE, (AP)—Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., father and wife were indicted in federal court here Saturday in connection with the kidnaping of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll.

LOUISVILLE, (AP)—The government sought indictments Saturday against Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., former insane asylum inmate and his wife and father, relying largely upon Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll's maid to tell of the kidnaping.

Death penalty is possible upon conviction under the amended Lindbergh kidnaping law, provided the government can prove its claim that Mrs. Stoll was injured. Federal warrants charged, she was alleged, Federal Judge Charles L. Dawson, charged the grand jury to indict all persons they believed to be involved in the kidnaping.

WASHINGTON By GEORGE DURNO

Projects

Harry Hopkins, relief administrator, has a plan for employment of unskilled men as substitutes for CWA, but he isn't ready to make it public.

In the darkest days of last winter about 4,000,000 men were kept eating through Civil Works. The work accomplished didn't amount to much because the Relief Administration was forced to do something in a hurry.

Strong appeal has been made to Hopkins to turn his unskilled army loose on elimination of railroad grade crossings. His suggestion that the Relief Administration might pay half and the railroads half, on money borrowed from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

Two obstacles stand in the way. First, grade crossing elimination called for too big a proportion of skilled labor. Second, railroads haven't enough security to offer to Jesse Jones for loans from RFC. Jesse doesn't lend much without a chance of getting it back.

Public Works administration has a huge pile of projects not acted upon, but they are mostly unskilled labor because they require time for engineering, title technicalities, etc. Secretary Ickes has separated the cream from the skim-milk projects. He has stuck pretty closely to the rule that projects must meet a long-felt want to deserve PWA funds.

Smokes—The bright leaf tobacco belt is getting prosperous. As a result President Roosevelt is being hailed as a true savior and anyone who pans the AAA is in for a fight.

Prices paid the farmers—after many lean years—have reached incredibly high levels. Growers hardly can believe it's true. Down in North Carolina they're calling it the "Tobacco Renaissance."

RANSOM NOTE IN STOLL CASE

THIS INTERMEDIARY MUST HAVE ABSOLUTE FREEDOM FROM POLICE. HE MUST NOT EVEN BE QUESTIONED BY ANYONE. YOU MUST NOT CORRESPOND WITH HIM. IF HE IS PUT UNDER THE DEATH IS OFF, AND WE WILL BRING OUT OUR THREAT AS TO STOLL. We must have a clear opportunity to contact the intermediary. We cannot do that with police surrounding the house. If they do, you can take our word that we will know of this fact in advance and then we will make no effort to collect the money, but will then do what we have said we would about Stoll.

SPENDING THE DAY AFTER THE KIDNAPING, WE GIVE YOU 5 (five) DAYS (not including a Sunday) TO GET THE MONEY INTO THE HANDS OF THE INTERMEDIARY. THIS MEANS THAT IT MUST BE BEST OF THE FOURTH DAY IN ORDER TO ARRIVE ON THE FIFTH. Do this sooner, if possible, as the sooner Stoll is returned, the greater it will be on his.

THIS, JUST AS SOON AS WE GET THE MONEY INTO OUR HANDS, STOLL WILL BE RELEASED UNHARMED. To this we give you our word.

We will call Express Agency in Nashville and see when your package arrives. (We will call from a pay station far from where we hold Stoll.)

Do not take the aerial number of the money if you make any publicity of this case AFTER STOLL IS RETURNED OR TRY TO CATCH US IN ANY WAY. AFTERWARDS, WE WILL SHOOT DOWN YOUR FAMILY FROM OUR CAR WITH A 30-30 RIFLE.

Do not waste our time or yours trying to reduce the ransom. You can get $20,000 of this—

THERE CAN BE NO OTHER NEGOTIATIONS. WE DO NOT HAVE TIME TO BARGAIN. IF YOU DELAY AND STALL FOR TIME, WE HAVE TOLD YOU OUR POSITION, AND WHAT MUST HAPPEN TO STOLL. We have no other alternative if we do not receive the money. THIS IS NO STRENGTHENING OF THE STOLL. THE STOLL WILL BE KILLED IF WE DO NOT RECEIVE THE MONEY. WE WILL SHOOT DOWN YOUR FAMILY FROM OUR CAR WITH A 30-30 RIFLE.

Explain Stoll's absence as illness or say he is out of town. IF THIS IS GIVEN TO POLICE OR PRESS, NOTHING CAN SAVE STOLL.

NAME OF INTERMEDIARY (to be filled in by Stoll) Mr. J. H. ROBINSON Street 1716 Ash Wood Ave. Town Nashville, Tennessee

WE ASSURE YOU THAT PACKAGE OF MONEY WILL NOT GET INTO WRONG HANDS, SO DO NOT TRY TO CONTACT THIS MAN, AS IT MAY UPSET PLAN OF PAY-OFF.

This is a reproduction of the last few paragraphs of the neatly typewritten note which demanded $50,000 ransom for the return of Mrs. Berry V. Stoll of Louisville. Officers scoured the midwest for traces of Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., sought as the kidnaper and author of this note. A typewriter identified as the machine on which the note was written was found in the Indianapolis apartment where Mrs. Stoll was held captive. (Associated Press Photo)

Negro Defendants Held Without Bond Following Hearing

Two negro defendants, W. H. "Mobile Baptist," surname not known by his parishoners, and E. N. Nicklesberry, were held without bond following the shooting of Willie Smith, Odessa negro, following examining trial Friday in Midland.

The shooting, which occurred in a Midland negro hotel, is said to have arisen out of Smith's irremediable attitude toward having his family increase in number while he was serving a prison term.

Questioning Friday tended to show that Smith was shot in a fracas with two men, neither of whom he scarcely knew. His father-in-law, Fred Phillips, at first questioned for complicity in the crime, was absolved by testifying witness.

From a reliable source it was learned that Smith was extremely displeased to learn on his return from prison, where he served a two year term for an assault on a white man, that another child had come into the home. Accordingly, he is alleged to have mad threats.

His father-in-law was reputed to have appealed to his lodge brethren for protection. Although the lodge took no direct action, a clique held an informal session and appealed to the Ector county sheriff.

The sheriff solved the situation for the time being by ordering Smith out of town, but when he went the wrong direction, the lodge committee is reputed to have followed him. The shooting followed a brief scuffle when they met Smith in Midland. All principals explained their presence in Midland as being occasioned by "lodge business."

RECYCLED PAPER

Northwest Texas Conference Of Methodist Church To Convene In Abilene Nov. 14 In 4-Day Meeting

By HAMILTON WRIGHT
Special Correspondent.

COAHOMA—Approximately 500 Methodist congregations of the Northwest Texas conference will be represented at the twenty-fifth annual session of that body which convenes in Abilene Nov. 14 for a four-day meeting. It will bring together approximately 250 itinerant ministers, 100 elected delegates, 40 supernumerary preachers, and 40 itinerant clerical and lay visitors. Sessions will be held in the auditorium of the First Methodist church, presided over by Bishop Hiram Abiff Boas of Houston, Texas.

The sessions will be featured with addresses, reports from the pastor of every charge, voting on constitutional amendments, and the assignment of itinerant ministers to posts for the ensuing year.

Numerous shifts among preachers are forecast from advance information received, including the appointment of five new presiding elders. Elders scheduled to be succeeded by reason of the fulfillment of quadrenniums comprise Rev. L. N. Lipscomb, Amarillo district; and Rev. R. A. Stewart, Vernon district. It is intimated numerous changes will be made in the larger pulpits, while a general movement is forecast for many circuits. Since appointments are made by the bishop and his cabinet of nine presiding elders, the prospective new presiding elders and shifts in conference line-up are withheld until actual official notice is given.

Pre-conference reports rendered at preachers' meetings held in most districts indicate that a better financial report will be made at this session despite the exigencies of the year by reason of worldwide drought. Last year preachers in this conference received approximately 50 percent of their salaries. The benevolences are expected to reach a high figure as last year. Increase in membership is expected to surpass that reported at the annual session last year at Clarendon, both in regard to those received by baptism, on profession of faith and by certificate. Outstanding revivals in many areas of the territory had something to do with this.

The Northwest Texas Conference—the baby conference of Texas—last annual conference reported 65,570 members, a gain of 2554 for the year, including 172 "local" preachers. Of this gross increase 3,315 were received by baptism and on profession of faith and 4684 by certificate and otherwise. During the year 6445 were removed from the rolls by death and otherwise. Forty-three persons were licensed to preach; 2188 adults and 494 infants were baptized.

The Northwest Texas Conference has 446 Methodist congregations, 319 church buildings, an increase of three; valuation, $3,957,875, with an indebtedness of $456,739. Preachers occupied 200 parsonages valued at $573,960, with indebtedness of $42,122. Value of other church property was listed at $3,650. Insurance carried on church property totaled $1,938,350. During the year loss by fire or otherwise was only $386.

The conference possessed 225 women's missionary societies with 6423 members; 335 Epworth league chapters, with 9057 members; 332

Sunday schools with 51,037 members. Salaries apportioned for the nine presiding elders aggregated $47,031, of which amount $30,261 was paid. Preachers were promised $257,844 and paid $214,739, or approximately 80 percent. The church raised $11,353 for the orphanage at Waco. Grand total raised by all the churches of the conference for all purposes reached $291,045.

During their stay in Abilene ministers and delegates will be entertained on the Harvard plan—free lodging and breakfast furnished by Abilene homes, the conference funds providing for the other two meals. Official announcement of the assignment of itinerant preachers for posts for the ensuing year will be made by Bishop Hiram A. Boas on the evening of Sunday, Nov. 18th. A number of candidates for admission on trial into the itinerancy is anticipated. After this year, according to a general conference law enacted early this year, all candidates for admission must have passed a standard and accredited college four-year course.

sold but $3,579,780 pounds so far this year but have been paid $10,157,844. It is estimated another $5,000,000 will be netted from the 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 pounds of the crop remaining.

At Wilson the 1932 price average was $12.34, in 1933 it was $16.82, and up to Oct. 6 the '34 average was $27.99—although the Oct. 5 daily average was $34.88. Pounds sold this year will be well below 1933 but the revenue will total much better.

Rooters— Farmers, bankers, newspaper publishers and others in the tobacco belt attribute their good fortune to AAA production and marketing agreements, a short crop and the high bidding of big manufacturers in the fact that that short crop. One Greenville bank reports its deposits have increased by $100,000 a day.

More merriment is due to fall. Next spring after the season is over, growers will split up around $1,250,000 in bonuses from the government.

Growers in eastern North Carolina signed up about 99 per cent in the production limitation agreements. Next year it is predicted they all will be in the fold. Those who didn't sign this time are getting a 25 per cent tax deducted from their warehouse checks and their more fortunate brothers don't hesitate to give them the Bronx cheer.

Choice— Political scouts returning from tours of the country are warning headquarters that President Roosevelt is going to have quite a few wild men on his hands after next month's congressional elections. "The people in many sections," reports one, "are far wilder than even the opposition cracks up the administration to be. The boys who are going before the voters are politicians. It is their job to

STAGE HIT IN FILMS

"She Loves Me Not," the smash comedy success of the current Broadway season, comes today to the Hils Theatre in the Paramount film adaptation starring Bing Crosby and Miriam Hopkins, shown above with Edward Nugent who plays a featured role.

Navy Defeats Lou Little's Columbia Squad Saturday

BAKER BOWL, New York—When two undefeated teams meet one is supposed to fall and that is exactly what happened here at a stadium filled from end to end, but hardly anyone suspected that last year's eastern Ross Bowl representative would go as they did in meeting Navy here Saturday.

Led by a sensational Buzz Borris, the Sailors turned in a startling performance and succeeded in coming from behind, after Lou Little's boys had scored in the first seven minutes of play, to cross Columbia's goal three times and take the long end of an 18-7 count.

It was a battle from start to finish between Borris and Al Barabas, Columbia mainstay, but with the aid of a solid trenchment in the Sailors front lines, Borris succeeded in gaining the upper hand. Barabas put Columbia ahead in the first seven minutes of play with a spectacular running and passing attack that had the Seamen momentarily baffled. After marching down the field with six straight first downs, Barabas went over from the two yard line. The junior back then kicked goal to give the Lions the lead.

Hardly had the Sailors received the kickoff when they marched back up the field and over the goal line under the direction of Borris. Buzz went over from the one yard stripe to start the Marylander's scoring.

Navy's 6-2-1 defense halted the touted Columbia attack and took the ball on downs to allow Borris, with the aid of "Wingback" Clark, to march back to the Lion goal line. A lateral pass from Clark to a wingback to Borris accounted for the score. Borris studied every man on the Columbia eleven and raced forty-five yards for the marker.

Third period play was even, but the Navy returned in the fourth to score again and cinch the game. After Barabas had run to the Navy one yard stripe, the Sailors took the ball on downs and kicked out of danger. Later in the period Borris slipped through the whole Columbia team and raced twenty-five yards for the third Navy counter.

something to be encouraged on principal but not worthy of their personal attention. Now they see it as a vital instrument in restoring banking to the good graces of government and public. You can paste it in your hat that the impressive New York delegation will not be there to throw monkey-wrenches. They've even withdrawn their former heated opposition to Rudolph Hecht of New Orleans as the incoming president.

The second key development in a nifty piece of inside politics. Tom K. Smith of St. Louis—former aide to Secretary Morgenthau—will be named second vice-president of the organization.

W. R. Morehouse—a Los Angeles banker—has been designated for the office but was persuaded to withdraw. This means that Smith will become president of the ABA in the crucial year 1936. He has a sympathetic understanding of the administration's attitude on banking and currency matters. In effect the bankers are making a subtle but effective gesture to convince FDR that they sincerely want to work with him.

Smith has also been chosen head of an important sub-committee on the revision of banking laws. Winthrop Aldrich of the Chase—original New Dealer among New York bankers—is another member. This is further striking evidence of the ABA's desire to cooperate with Washington in planning additional alterations of the banking structure.

Hot— New York insiders don't care for the French political situation at all. They get word that the changes necessitated by Barthelemy's death and Sarraut's resignation have weakened Premier Doumergue's already precarious position.

A banker who knows his France acutely remarks that Pierre Laval—the new Foreign minister—can't fill Barthelemy's shoes in the capital any more than a midget could fill Carnera's. Laval is rated purely a politician—and a rather undependable one at that.

A shift in French policy toward Germany is indicated. Barthelemy's major aim was to encircle Germany with a ring of steel. This is no longer feasible with Poland already disaffected and Yugoslavia's future uncertain. Moreover, Laval is friendlier toward Germany than his predecessor. If the results of the Saar plebiscite are not too alarming to French munitions makers you may see gestures of conciliation.

Sarraut's resignation is full of political dynamite. He represents the powerful Radical Socialist party of the cabinet. Now that he's out he'll be free to mobilize his followers in an embarrassing opposition to the government. His successor—Paul Marchandeau—is a political nonentity.

These factors—plus the loss of Barthelemy's harmonizing and stabilizing influence—leave Doumergue walking on red-hot bricks.

Wake— Britain's indirect influence will have quite a bearing on the gold bloc conference which opens today in Brussels.

The British are anxious to have France stay on gold. An embargo would cripple the operation of the London gold market. France for her part has urgent need of British backing in international politics. Her precarious internal condition and the increased European tension make it dangerous for France to stand alone. Keen New York observers believe, an agreement has privately been reached whereby France will maintain the status quo of gold in exchange for British support in other directions.

It is possible that gold may not even be mentioned at Brussels for this reason. Wall Street comments that that would be like a crowd of mourners attending a wake and talking about everything but the corpse.

Judge Elect

J. S. Garlington, Vincent, will become the next county judge of Howard county January 1, 1935. In the Democratic primaries this year he became a dark horse and showed surprising strength to finish with a substantial margin of victory. Garlington has experienced a varied career that has carried him from the banks of a farm hand in Alabama to a county judgeship in Texas.

Varied Career Back Of Next County Judge

J. S. Garlington Has Been Farmer, Printer, Merchant And Rancher

A varied, rapid-fire career will be behind J. S. Garlington when he takes office as county judge of Howard county here January 1, 1935.

Farm helper, printer, cowboy, student, merchant, rancher—Garlington has been each of these. Now he will become county judge by virtue of his nomination by the Democratic party this summer.

The nomination insures his election November 6. Garlington was born April 9, 1877 in Chambers county, near Lafayette, Ala.

When 17 years of age, he left the farm and came alone to Texas. Not long afterwards, he became an apprentice printer and worked for some time at Bowie in Montague county.

From this position he went to Armstrong county to work for two years on a ranch. Then he returned to Bowie where he entered the public schools for two years, finishing the high school course.

Garlington worked his way into the old Polytechnic College at Ft. Worth and went to school for two more years. In 1906 he was married to Miss Louise Eady, a student teacher in the old Fort Worth University. Five years later he returned to Bowie to go into business.

With two brothers, he organized the Garlington Grocery company and did a successful wholesale grocery business for several years. He moved his family to Wichita Falls where he went into the automobile and grocery business.

With his brother, G. W. Garlington, he came to Howard county in 1918 and bought the W. B. Creighton ranch near Vincent. Since that time he has lived on that place.

He became a candidate for county judge this year and ran second in the first primary, but added much strength to with a substantial lead in the run-off primary and captured the Democratic nomination, tantamount to election.

A very active campaigner, Garlington has retired to his ranch since the elections and has engaged in routine work, awaiting time for his inauguration as county judge.

Film Version Of Broadway Play Success, "She Loves Me Not" At Ritz Theatre Today And Monday

A brand-new, popular, starring combination comes to the screen in Paramount's "She Loves Me Not," the film version of the smash Broadway success. The picture comes today and Monday to the Ritz theatre, with Bing Crosby and Miriam Hopkins in the principal roles.

Acting the role of a love-sick, chivalrous Princeton student, Crosby sings and wows his way to the great romance, with the daughter of the university dean, after Miriam Hopkins, as the madcap, flamboyant little night-club dancer, enters his life, and leaves him a sadder but wiser college lad.

Beginning with an utterly fantastic and ludicrous situation, the film in its rapid progress takes the audience to the motion picture industry, the newspapers, communists, gangsters and most of the familiar American institutions. Yet there is not a trace of rancor or bitterness in its sparkling comedy.

A distinguished cast, including Warren Hymer, Lynne Overman, Judith Allen, George Barbier and Vince Barnett, support Crosby and Miss Hopkins. "She Loves Me Not" also features several brand new tunes by Rainger and Robin, and Gordon and Revel and a number of duets by Crosby and Miss Carlisle. Elliott Nugent directed.

"Footlight Parade" At Queen Theatre Sunday, Monday, Tuesday

Twelve of Hollywood's brilliant stars head the tremendous cast of noted players who appear in the Warner Bros. mammoth spectacle, "Footlight Parade" which comes to the Queen Theatre today, Monday and Tuesday.

The two principals are James Cagney and Joan Blondell who played together on the stage and rose to stardom side by side on the screen, playing together in "Sinners Holiday," "Blonde Crazy" and "The Crowd Roars" before they began to star separately. And now they are united again in "Footlight Parade" as one of the greatest team of wise-cracking, fast-tongued players that ever to appear on the screen.

Then there is that wholesome, singing, dancing team of Ruby Keeler and Dick Powell who have made three, distinctive hits in musical spectacles with "42nd Street," "Gold Diggers of 1933" and the current production. The two make so perfect a team as screen lovers that Warner Bros. plan to continue them also in such roles as musical comedians.

Other noted comedians are Frank McHugh, Guy Kibbee, Ruth Donnelly and Hugh Herbert supply the comedy in the hilariously funny situations in "Footlight Parade." Claire Dodd, as the vamp, Gordon Westcott and Arthur Hohl as the two villains with Philip Faversham complete another quartet of recognized players.

Lifting songs that everyone will be humming and which were written by two teams of song writers Harry Warren and Al Dubin, and Sammy Pain and Irving Kahal, add greatly to the entertainment furnished by the mammoth musical and dancing spectacle.

90th Division Reunion Nov. 10 At Fort Worth

Plans have about been completed for the Annual Re-Union of the famous 90th Division, which will meet in Fort Worth, Texas, on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, November 10, 11 and 12, and renew experiences of the World War. Reports from Texas and Oklahoma, the two states from which the Division secured the majority of its personnel, assure the local General Arrangement Committee that a record barking attendance will be secured.

The Blackstone hotel has been selected as General headquarters, registration taking place there Saturday from 10 a. m. until 8 p. m., leaving the day open for individual and organization gatherings, with a picture show, a dance and party that night at the recreation hall. The annual memorial service will be held Sunday morning at the First Christian church, with the pastor, Dr. I. D. Anderson in charge, and Judge Frank P. Culver, Jr., a former battery commander in the division delivering a tribute to the departed comrades of the 90th. At six o'clock the same evening, the annual reunion banquet will be held, followed at 8 o'clock by the business session and election of officers. Registration will also be held all day Sunday to allow late comers to participate in the various meetings and entertainments. A dance will be given starting at 12:30 a. m., Monday morning and continue until 3 a. m. Through the courtesy of the different Fort Worth veteran organizations, the 90th Division will be the leading unit in the big Armistice Day parade Monday morning, with Major Aubrey G. Alexander, former C. O. 1st Battalion, 357th Infantry, acting as grand marshal.

A big barbecue for all registered veterans and their families will follow at noon, and close the three day festivities. Ed. C. Hand, general chairman of the local committee will speak over the Southwest Broadcasting chain on Wednesday, October 24, from 7:15 to 7:30 p. m., and on Wednesday, October 31, at the same period Marvin H. Watts, of Tulsa, Oklahoma, will be the speaker, both of these former 90th Division veterans urging attendance at the gathering.

Mrs. Joe Fisher and Mrs. Will Knox Edwards gave two piano numbers. Mrs. Ellen Gould read a poem and Mrs. Moseley sang as a solo, "I Love You Truly."

During the refreshment hours Mrs. Currie was assisted by Mrs. C. W. Cunningham, Louis Paine, W. G. Wilson, Jr., R. T. Piner and Doc Foster in serving a salad plate in Halloween colors.

Forty members and guests were present.

Rev. Robinson To Speak At Methodist Church Tuesday Night

Robinson will fill the pulpit at the First Methodist church next Tuesday evening at 7:30, at which time he will bring a message concerning his trip through the Holy Land. Rev. BOOKS

SEVEN GOTHIC TALES

By Erik Dinesen, Smith and Haas.

"It is not a bad thing in a tale that you understand only half of it," says Lincoln Forster as he begins "The Dreamers," sixth of the seven tales, but my estimate is that author Dinesen, now de plume for Baroness Blitzen of Denmark, has followed a ratio of about four to one in favor of that which is understood. The book is everywhere meaty, a fact which in no way detracts in value from the story interest of the tales, and on the whole it is the finest bit of writing I have seen from a contemporary author. I do not hesitate to venture the opinion that it is sure to find a place among the very few books of the first half of this century.

Many will see in it additional evidence in support of the often-heard critical statement that the Scandinavian writers are without equals in twentieth century letters, but it would be quite unfair to award Denmark all honors in the matter. The Baroness has chosen English for her medium, so that British and American readers of the Tales have the original version and not an inadequate translation. In a sense, then, it is no less a part of English literature than are the works of Irishman Shaw.

I find it impossible to be definite in a description of the tales. The title is pleasantly suggestive of stories of exploits when our linguistic kinsfolk roamed through the wilderness of a very young Western Europe. It is misleading, with not one exception, the nineteenth century Europe serves as a background. When one has finished the book, he has read nearer twenty tales than the seven, for often the reader is following a story that is three times removed from the original tale.

A few quotations will best serve to illustrate the poignancy and directness of the author's style, as well as her yen for characters of a philosophical turn. Mira, an Oriental slave, offers a conjecture about the nature of the thoughts in the mind of his silent companion: "There are only two courses of thought at all seemly to a person of any intelligence. The one is: What am I to do the next moment?—or tonight, or tomorrow? And the other: What did God mean by creating the world, the sea, and the desert, the horse, the winds, woman, amber, fishes, wine?" The third member of the group asks, "What is life, Mira, when you come to think upon it, but a most excellent, accurately set, infinitely complicated machine for turning fat playful puppies into old mangy dogs, and proud war horses into skinny nags, and succulent young boys, to whom the world holds great delights and terrors, into weak old men, with running eyes, who drink ground rhinoceros?"

An old Italian Prince has been killed in an accident following a duel. As he is being carried away, an observer says, "That old man was great and might well have been loved. While he was alive we wished for his death, but now that he is dead I think that we all wish that he were back."

"That," said Augustus, "may make us realize that every human being whom we meet and get to know is, after all something in our minds, like a tree planted in our gardens or a piece of furniture within our house. It may be better to keep them and try to put them to some use, than to cast them away and have nothing at all in the end."

"SILVER HAT" BY DANE COOLIDGE (E. P. Dutton and Co.) Everybody who knows Dane Coolidge's books knows he uses each of them to tell, in a rapid, thrilling manner, some actual fact of pioneer life.

"Silver Hat" deals with the covered wagon days when the Indians were the menace of the trail on the one hand, and good scouts on the other.

The plot of this western centers itself around a beautiful golden-haired English girl who sees no harm in riding into Indian territory. Her curiosity is concerned with one particular tribe that uses golden-haired women in its religious rites.

All of Uncle Sam's soldiers and stalwart scouts cannot make this heroine stay in a place of safety. She causes a scout, a white man brought up by an Indian, to fall in love with her and adds more trouble to the fort.

The story is a round of adventure and breath-taking episodes, with the end all one desires.

In the first tale, Miss Mallin imaginatively suggests that perhaps we shall wake up in hell, surprised to find that we have been there since birth. The Cardinal, with whom she is talking, answers, "Madame, . . . you have a great power of imagination, and a fine courage. . . . But are you not a

Billie "M.C.T." asked the old lady, "I thought you were aware of that, My Lord."

In publishers' extravagant way, the jacket for the book announces that critics have compared this work to the works of Shakespeare, Boccaccio, De Maupassant, Cervantes, and a half-dozen more immortals, including Byron, Poe, and Goethe. Any comparison with the poets of the group is sure to be far-fetched. There is no satisfactory basis for comparing a wheelwright and a clock maker.

Personally, I think of Conrad as parallel to the author of the tales. I could not suggest the reasons for this intuitive comparison unless it is that both authors are to whom the language is a native tongue.

Whoever reads the book is likely to come away fully convinced that the tale is infinitely superior to short fiction in the half-bound formula-built short story of today.

THE INVESTMENTS OF LIFE INSURANCE

The splendid investment record made by the life insurance industry may be laid to two related factors: First, is the fact that every investment is first judged on the grounds of safety—while income yield is considered afterwards. Second, is the diversity of investment—an average life insurance company's portfolio includes securities in every part of the country, which produce a thousand basic commodities and services the public buys.

"Next to Advertising Matter"

THERE used to be a favorite phrase of advertisers. They asked to have their advertisements placed "next to reading matter" in the belief that such a position would assure more attention.

But today the editor might well ask to have his news items placed "next to advertising matter," for very definitely the advertisements have a tremendous reader following. Today's advertisements win eager attention because they help people buy intelligently, quickly, without waste of time, and get full value for the money spent.

That is the great function of advertising—to guide you swiftly and surely to wise, economical buying. The best advertisement is always the one that gives you the facts you want—simply, honestly, without exaggeration.

PLOT OF "OH PROFESSOR" ANNOUNCED; PLAY TO BE GIVEN WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Matinee Performance Scheduled For Afternoon At 4 o'Clock For School Children

Rehearsals are under way for the play, "Oh Professor" to be given Wednesday at the Municipal Auditorium, the play that starts off the local show season in Big Spring.

Ray Simmons is the professor who is oled all over the stage and Miss Dorothy Jordan is the comedienne who does the oling.

While all this is going on Arthur Middleton as a bashful college boy is making ardent love to Mrs. Ray Lawrence, because he thinks she is a brother of his friend dressed as a Spanish show girl.

Story of Play
The plot of the play centers around a college called Clinton College and most of the scenes take place in the room of a fraternity house at Clinton college. Bob Davis, popular college shok, has invited his brother Dave to come up dressed as a Spanish dancer just to fool his friend.

Dave is off doing something else and sister Williams decides she can be a Spanish dancer. Bob turns her over to his bashful chum, Steve Crandall.

Steve would run a mile from a real girl, but he thinks he can be a pretty hot papa when it comes to making up to a fake one, so he makes ardent love to the dancer.

Then Dave, dressed as a Spanish dancing girl, comes in and exposes the situation.

What happens next is the big moment of the play.

This is a bare summary of the play proper. The details that will make it unusually entertaining are a group of catchy songs by the local chorus of high school beauties, the college boys and girls and other extra numbers.

There will be two performances, one Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock for school children and adults who prefer that hour and another in the evening at 8 o'clock.

A different detail in connection with the play will be the Children's Parade that will take place before the show opens. Children of 3 to 6 are engaging in a popularity contest; the most popular child and the child's sponsor will receive prizes on the night of the show.

CENTENNIAL means 100th BIRTHDAY

The stout-hearted Texans who declared Independence on March 2, 1836, at Washington-on-the-Brazos would be filled with pride to know that their efforts have not gone unrequited. Texans, today, are stout-hearted! Today they prepare for a birthday of a hundred years of achievement on the battlefield and in peaceful achievement.

Texas is a land of romance, love and adventure; of progress and memories. This hundredth anniversary will link its airways, seaports, highways and railroads of today with the oleander and jasmine of old-world towns of yesterday!

Texas started on its road of independence at San Jacinto. She fought valiantly through the years for worldly recognition and now is going to give a birthday party for the world, whose respect she has earnestly desired and so courageously won!

All Americans everywhere revere the memory of the men who contributed to the growth of our common country. We invite them to join us in holding a fitting celebration of the one hundredth birthday of Texas.

Texas is the State it is! Because Texans have made it so! This is YOUR Celebration! It is YOUR State!

PONIES FALL BEFORE STEER ATTACK

First Victory FROGS SLASH WAY TO 13 TO 0 VICTORY

In Four Years

It was Sweetwater's first quarter and part of the second, but the Steers tightened considerably about midway of the game and realized a long hoped for victory over dear Hennie's Sweetwater Mustangs here Friday, taking the game 10-0.

Had Sweetwater an experienced backfield combination, the story might have been quite different, but the ball carriers failed to take full advantage of great maps torn in the Steer forward wall by the Pony line.

Blocking Good Blocking and interference was good, and the Mustangs marched dangerously near the local's pay-off stripe as Billings and Barnett juggled the leather. Early in the fourth period they took it to the Herd's eight yard line before losing it on downs. In yards from scrimmage they out-gained the locals fifty-five to twenty-five, and took a wide margin in first downs.

As the second quarter opened, George Neel replaced Cagle for Big Spring, and shortly thereafter the Herd began a march that took them across the visitors' goal line.

Turning Point The turning point in the game came about midway of the period when Jones blocked a punt by Billings on the Steer 46. The actual drive started when Bob Flowers recovered a fumble by Billings on the Pony's 30 stripe.

Cordill leaped high into the air to snag a pass from Neel on the fifteen for a first down. From then on Hare stole the show with his powerful drives into the Mustang line. He hit left tackle for about six yards, and then went back through the same place for about six more to the enemy four yard marker. Then he whipped through tackle like a bullet for three more, and on a reverse went over for a touchdown. Neel failed to convert. The half ended three or four minutes later.

Mustangs Threaten As the third quarter opened the Mustangs took the ball to the local's six-inch mark but lacked the drive to go over and lost the leather on a snappy formation during the half.

While the Sweetwater high school band played spirited tunes, a long line of pretty high school girls marched happily upon the field and formed a huge "M" for Mustangs. At the inner point of the "M" stood three leaders and a sponsor with a crimson horse shoe. Simultaneously, the entire squad whirled around, bursting a dash of white into the moonlight setting.

Behind the strutting and prancing of P. Bright, drum major—who literally stole the show—the Big Spring high school band, clad in new black and gold uniforms, swung up the field. The band was met in mid-field by the pep squad, new uniforms of its members glittering in the sunlight. A series of rapid formations ended in revolving crosses, made all the more effective by virtue of the pretty glossy gold and black uniforms.

Whatever feats were accomplished on the gridiron were somewhat dimmed by the antics of Whirlwind. Starting down the field he whirled his baton with lightning-like rapidity, strutting and prancing every step of the way. After the game he led the band up the field in his victory strut, throwing his stick into the air and catching it on the jump.

Downtown Big Spring, congested with press of traffic, paused to watch students celebrate the first victory over Sweetwater in five years. The band and pep squad held a rally on one of the busiest street intersections, attracting a large crowd.

Students weren't the only ones jubilant. Most of the citizenry was all smiles. It didn't matter much if they weren't confirmed fans. Sweet revenge had been meted out.

Not such a gray picture existed in Sweetwater. Big Spring fans rushing to Abilene to see a collegiate clash reported extreme quiet in the Nolan county city. But of course that was before the special train, which bore 450 persons here, returned.

Jim Lawrence Is Star Of Game

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—A slashing and passing Texas Christian gridiron team ripped through and over the Texas A. & M. Aggies in the first and fourth periods Saturday for a 13 to 0 Southwest Conference victory.

It was the Christians' game from the start to finish. They scored twelve first downs against three for the Aggies. Not once did the Aggies seriously threaten the Christian goal.

In the first period, Jimmy Lawrence, hammering Christian backfield ace, swept around end for a first down on the Aggie ten yard line, and a couple of plays later chased through for a touchdown. Baugh passed in the fourth period over the line of scrimmage to Vic Montgomery, who stepped across for the second score. Montgomery kicked extra point.

CHAPTER 13 SEVERAL AGAIN

"Would you like to stop dancing?" Lon inquired solicitously. "No," she answered, "not ever." "That's all right with me," Lon answered. "I might speak to the orchestra leader and suggest he arrange for relays of music."

"Be sensible," chided Marian laughing. "With you in my arms?" he queried and he wasn't laughing, "impossible." Then a few moments later, "Jan, do you have to dance with Hamlin?"

Marian paused. She had seen Silver.

"Of course, Lon, what a question to ask." "Well I don't know that I like him." "Yes you do." "Yes, I know I do, but I'd like him better if he didn't make such a play for you."

"Lon, he doesn't" and she smoothed an impulse to add, "not half so much as Silver made for you."

"Yes he does and I don't blame him, but if he tries to wangle a ride home with us tomorrow I'm going to—"

Marian couldn't resist the next impulse—"have shattered nerves?" she suggested and was relieved that she laughed heartily.

They danced on silently.

Hunt Former Insane Patient As Kidnap

When the hour was late enough they began a round of the casinos. Lon and Marian too engrossed in each other to appreciate the glamour.

Hamlin played recklessly and won amazing sums of money. Lon played carefully and lost.

"Lucky in love," consoled Hamlin, and added "I always win when I feel as I do tonight."

"I should think it would pay you to feel that way," remarked Lon. "That's where the laugh comes in," the other man remarked. "I don't need the money now."

Marian understood. Now that his wife's desertion had created the bitterness which seemed to bring money in its wake, she wasn't there to share the one thing that would have held her loyal to him.

They had reached an imposing, looking place, the entrance a maze of full length mirrors. Hamlin started to pilot Marian through the door swung open by a liveried attendant, then swiftly turned her about, but not before she had seen what he saw.

Thomas H. Robinson, Jr. (above), 27, of Nashville, Tenn., former inmate of an insane asylum, was named by department of justice agents as the kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Speed Stoll, returned to her home in Louisville after being held captive six days. Agents said they had been hunting Robinson since Mrs. Stoll was seized in her home. (Associated Press Photo)

"Nothing much here," he was saying, "suppose we go where we can dance. And I imagine you'd be wanting to get back to your hotel early."

Marian had paused. To the other she seemed engaged in the pure, feminine habit of primping before the most available mirror. In reality she was regaining the poise which had deserted her when she looked into the gaming room to see Silver London, the center of a gay crowd, feverishly raking in a pile of colored chips.

Why had Hamlin turned away? Marian knew he had recognized Silver. Had he had Marian's interests at heart would he have done that, or would he have walked in to let Lon see for himself that this "poor little thing" as Lon had called her, was quite capable of forgetting a dying man who had been her husband, while she made merry with a crowd of friends.

Well, she could do it. She could insist upon seeing this famous renegade. She could show him the pink and tinsel-clad Silver, gazing over her winnings. Perhaps then he would understand why she had seemed so heartless at the cabin that morning. Perhaps then he would realize Silver had been acting a part.

Lem Sutherland had said it was biologically impossible for women to be honorable with each other when a man was involved. Silver had no sense of honor. She knew Lon had driven to Reno to see Marian and yet she had deliberately pretended she must hurry to catch a train, in order to inveigle a solitary ride with him. Why should she

'Nigger Shooter' Used By Boy To Kill Coyote

COLORADO—A son of Zeke Smith of Seven Wells community credited with having slain a coyote with a "nigger shooter." The boy accompanied his father to haul some fire wood and as they drove along through a pasture the wolf had been hiding in some nearby brush. A well placed shot from the youth's arm brought down the animal.

Philadelphia Navy Yard Building Two Destroyers

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Construction of two 1,500-ton U. S. destroyers is under way at the navy yard here.

The vessels, Cassin and Shaw, will be high-speed destroyers, each with armament of four five-inch guns. The hull and machinery in each case cost $2,700,000.

Assisting in the ceremonies at the start of construction was J. I. Shaw, great grandson of Captain Shaw, war hero of 1812, and for whom the second of the destroyers is named.

The Cassin will be completed Jan. 1, 1936, and the Shaw three months later.

Favors Making Children Fear For Their Safety

CLEVELAND (UP)—Patrolman Henry Kendall, of suburban Cleveland Heights police force, believes it pays to "bring fear" into hearts of school children when their safety is concerned.
For 12 years of the time Kendall has been on the suburb's force, he has been assigned to safety duty. In that time, not one of his charges has so much as suffered a scratch by an automobile.
Kendall has a big, booming voice. He yells, "Com'on now, Go. Or, if the light isn't right, 'Tey, you stay on the curb." He isn't gentle, but he makes a point of being careful.
Dr. George E. Smith, director of night school work in Buffalo, N. Y., reports adult applicants for educational work in Buffalo's 17 night schools have increased 1,774 over last year.
Tunnels bored in the Boulder dam project are so large an average five-story house could be moved through them without touching the roof or scraping the sides.

Purina Mills Experiment With Feed

West Texans Go To L 7 Ranch To Study Results

About 200 cattlemen and women of West Texas attended the Purina Mills feeding experiment conducted Friday on the L 7 ranch near Midland.

This was the end of a two-year feeding conducted by the Purina Mills and part of a five-year plan. Five different feed pastures in which creep feeding and range feeding were compared, were part of the experiment.

The program was made through cooperation of the Purina Mills, in creep feeding of calves and the feeding to cows and rations estimated to put on the most gain at a minimum cost. The chemistry of range grass was considered in balancing the rations, officials informed.

The experiment was made thru the aid of W. W. Brunson of the L 7 ranch and Mrs. Dora Roberts of Big Spring. A big barbecue meal was served at noon.

H. M. Neel said of the experiment, "men and women interested along this line, missed the greatest educational feeding experiment that has ever been pulled in West Texas."

Avoid Disappointment
Cheap paints are really not cheap in the long run, it's just plain common sense that it takes good material and reliable painting to get a first rate painting job. Pea Green Paint may cost you 50c a gallon more than inferior material and a good painter will cost you a few dollars more than a dober but the difference is in the job.
